Aldermen will consider gift of land, wastewater agreement with Sanctuary

Village of Salado aldermen will consider a donation of land from The Sanctuary Development and the terms of a Wastewater Services Agreement with The Sanctuary Development Company following an executive session on Economic Development Aug. 6.

The donation of a tract of land for the construction of a sewer treatment plant and the transfer of a Texas Commission on Environmental Quality discharge permit have been part of the ongoing negotiations with The Sanctuary Development, a 300-acre mixed use development in the southern Extra Territorial Jurisdiction of Salado.

This summer, the Village signed a broad Letter of Intent to negotiate sewer, annexation and development agreements with The Sanctuary.

Work begins on I-35 mainlane detour at Salado Plaza

BY TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

James Construction crews began work last week on a temporary detour of I-35 mainlanes between Thomas Arnold and FM 2484 to divert traffic off of I-35 onto these temporary lanes.

The detour of mainlanes will allow for the destruction of the overpass of I-35 on the north end of Main Street and the construction of a new I-35 overpass over Salado Plaza Dr., which is being extended west to connect to Williams Rd.

Once the detour lanes are built in the current right-of-way of the project and between the current mainlanes and the east side access road, James Construction crews will fully concentrate their efforts on building the mainlanes from FM 2484 to Thomas Arnold including the new Salado Plaza Dr./Williams Rd. overpass.

This construction will include the destruction of the current overpass on the north end of Main St., (in front of Cowboy's Barbecue).

Salado Plaza Dr. will extend under the interstate mainlanes to the west side access road and connect to Williams Rd. at West Village Rd. The underpass of I-35 in that location will include turn-around lanes for both access roads and adequate turning lanes onto Main Street.

Drivers traveling north on either the northbound access road or N. Main Street will not be able to proceed west underneath the interstate during the construction of the new overpass of I-35 over Salado Plaza Dr./Williams Rd.

Drivers traveling south from Belton can connect to North Main Street at the entrance to Salado Plaza by taking the FM 2484 exit, crossing over the highway and traveling south on the eastside access road.

Drivers traveling east on Salado Plaza Dr. or Mill Creek Dr. can turn either south or north on Main St. Those who turn north can then travel north on the access road until they can enter I-35 northbound north of the FM 2484 overpass. Those who turn south on Main Street can reach the southbound I-35 main lanes by crossing over the interstate at the FM 2268 bridge and then turning south.

Construction on the Salado Plaza Dr./Williams Rd. section of the 3.4 mile project is expected to finish by December 2015, according to Mark Jones, area engineer for TXDOT out of the Georgetown area office, which is overseeing the Salado expansion project on behalf of the Waco District of TXDOT.

Jones told Salado Village Voice that the 3.4 mile project will be "substantially completed" by December 2015 and will be completed by March 2016. This expedited timeline has resulted in traffic flow changes that have made it more difficult for locals and travelers to maneuver through and to Salado.

The FM 2484 bridge is halfway complete. The Thomas Arnold bridge is completed but sidewalks are not accessible yet due to handrail issues. The FM 2268 bridge is completed with the exception of striping the traffic lanes.

Jones said that crews are working diligently south of the Thomas Arnold overpass to build the southbound access road bridge over Salado Creek as well as the southbound mainlanes bridge over the Creek.

TXDOT closed the southbound access road south of Thomas Arnold after the pavement there was damaged in May.

Family Relief serves 155 kids for back to school drive

Salado Family Relief Fund will provide gift cards to qualified families to buy supplies for their children.

The gift cards will be available at the Salado Presbyterian Church from 4-6 p.m. on Aug. 11 and 5-7 p.m. Aug. 13.

Families will need to bring the following items to show eligibility for a voucher.

- Proof of enrollment in Salado ISD.
- One of the following documents: Medicaid letter or S.S.I. Disability card, Texas Lone Star card, C.H.I.P. or W.I.C. card.
- Photo Identification.

Salado Family Relief will also establish a school supply bank at the schools, managed by Communities in Schools counselors.

Each year, Salado Family Relief provides gift cards that can be used for clothing and school supplies to qualified families with children enrolled in the Salado ISD. Last year, Salado Family Relief provided for 155 students in Salado ISD at a cost of more than $5,000.

"We never give out cash," said Mary Catherine Ervin, a longtime board member and director of the back-to-school project, "but we always try to work to find a solution or a way we can help."

In addition to the back-to-school drive, Salado Family Relief Fund provides Christmas presents to more than 140 local children each year.

Since forming almost two decades ago, the Fund has helped families in the area in a variety of ways, including temporary assistance for medicines, rent, clothing, food and other necessities.

Renee Oas is the new President of the Salado Family Relief Fund board of directors, having served on the board for 10 years.

Oas also leads the Christmas drive project.

SISD proposes $13.2 mil operating budget

BY TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Salado ISD Trustees are proposing a $13.2 million operating budget for the 2015-16 school year, an increase of 12 percent in expenditures from the 2014-15 budget.

The proposed budget anticipates an increase in enrollment of more than 6 percent, to generate $4.7 million in state revenues based on the weighted averaged daily attendance. This increase in state revenues represents more than a 21 percent boost over the $3.7 million in state revenues last year.

During a special meeting Aug. 3 to discuss the proposed budget, school trustee Jeff Kelley asked if the anticipated growth in student enrollment was too high.

Superintendent Michael Novotny responded that the district has sustained a growth pattern in student enrollment to support the 6 percent estimate.

In 2014-15, Salado ISD had 1,546 students enrolled and an ADA of 1,469 students. The district is budgeting on an increase in enrollment to 1,622 for 2015-16 and an ADA of 1,571.

"Where does that put us on facilities," Kelley asked.

"We need to have the ADA and WADA to do the teacher pay but we need to be careful down the road," Dr. Novotny said. "We are in good shape for the next couple of years. We will have to open a couple of portables at the elementary school."

The district has eight portables that were used for classrooms before the high school was built on FM 2484. One of those portables is used for art class and the others for storage needs.

The junior high has six portables, one of which is used for art and another for music.

"We have stopped taking transfer in several grades," Novotny said, adding that the district will have a better idea of the enrollment this week following registration.

"We could add in more transfers if we are short," Dr. Novotny said.

In 2014-15, SISD had 199 transfer students. "We are projecting 226 for this year," Dr. Novotny told Salado Village Voice.

Every one percent increase in enrollment will generate approximately $100,000 in state revenues, Dr. Novotny said.

The proposed budget will maintain the local maintenance and operation (M&O) tax of $1.04 per $100 valuation and lower the debt service (I&S) tax from 25.14¢ per $100 valuation to 23.55¢ per $100 valuation.

Maintaining the $1.04 M&O rate will generate $7.23 million in local property tax revenues for the operating budget. Last year, the $1.04 M&O rate generated $7 million in local property tax revenues.

The district will see an increase in its taxable property values from $556,347,420 for 2014-15 to $573,439,934.

The budget increases instruction expenditures to $7 million to accommodate a new teacher pay scale that increased pay 1.8-9.4 percent, depending on years of experience. The average raise for the teachers was 4.1 percent this year, according to Dr. Novotny.

to 3,000 students in our area," he said. The district compared salary schedules from schools in Region 12 (Waco) and Region 13 (Austin).

Instruction expenditures are about $813,000 more than 2014-15, an increase of 12 percent. Instruction costs are 53 percent of the total budget.

Curriculum and Staff Development increases by more than 33 percent to $100,474.

School Leadership increases to $868,813, or 12 percent, due in part to the addition of an assistant principal at the intermediate school. School Leadership costs are 6.6 percent of the total budget.

Student Transportation costs increase to $566,961, about a 29 percent increase, and includes the purchase of a new full-size bus and a smaller bus. Transportation costs represent 7 percent of the total budget.

Co-curricular and Extra-curricular expenditures increase 22 percent from $772,926 to $907,855 in 2015-16. This represents 7 percent of the total operating budget.

Plant maintenance and operation will increase by more than 67 percent in the proposed budget. A large part of the $607,000 increase is due to the installation of a new phone system for the schools. Total costs for plant maintenance and operation is $1.6 million, or 12 percent of the total budget.

The budget cuts payments to fiscal agents from $651,075 to $225,750 in 2015-16.

In addition to the general operating budget of $13.22 million, the district will maintain a debt service budget of $1.36 million in expenses.

Revenues for the debt service budget at the 23.55¢ I&S tax rate will be $1.68 million for a surplus budget of $314,237.

The debt service budget has had a surplus of revenues to expenditures each year since 2012-13 school year. At the conclusion of the 2015-16 school year, the district will have added almost $1 million to the debt service fund balance in four years.

Darrell Street made the motion to approve the proposed budget. It received a second from Chris Seaton and passed unanimously with Street, Seaton, Kelley, Rodney Bell, Kristi Jarvis and Melanie Kirchner voting in favor.

Kelley made the motion to approve the superintendent's recommendation of $1.2755 per $100 evaluation for the proposed tax rate, receiving a second from Jarvis. The board voted unanimously in favor of the motion.

Street and Jarvis proposed the motion to set the public hearing on the proposed budget and the public hearing on the proposed tax rate for 6 p.m. Aug. 31 at the Salado Civic Center.

In other business, trustees approved a bus fare system for riders who live within one mile of a school and who do not live on what is considered a "dangerous route," which includes having to cross or walk along state highways or crossing the interstate.

The district receives funding for bus routes that cross the interstate or travel along state highways.

Salado ISD is forming a strategic planning committee of 40 to 60 members to begin meeting with a facilitator this fall.

The committee will look at the long-term needs of the district in terms of facilities.

About a third of the committee will be composed of Salado ISD representatives, including teachers, administrators and school board members.

Another third will be composed of parents and a third will be composed of community members.

Since the 2013-13 school year, Salado ISD has added almost 300 students. Enrollment in 2012-13 was 1,356. Anticipated enrollment in 2015-16 is 1,622. Of that enrollment, more than 250 students are transfer students.

Salado ISD did away with student transfer fees in 2014 to increase the student enrollment and ADA in order to increase state funding to the school district.

Texas sales tax holiday is Aug. 7-9; savings on items priced under $100

(AUSTIN) — Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar reminds shoppers they can save money on certain items priced under $100 during the state's annual sales tax holiday. This year, the sales tax holiday is scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 7 - 9.

The law exempts most clothing, footwear, school supplies and backpacks priced under $100 from sales tax, which could save shoppers about $8 on every $100 they spend during the weekend.

"As the father of three young children, I know back-to-school expenses can really put a strain on family budgets this time of year," Hegar said.

"This is an opportunity for families to save some money and prepare for the start of the school year," Hegar said of the annual sales tax holiday.

Lists of apparel and school supplies that may be purchased tax-free can be found on the Comptroller's website at TexasTaxHoliday.org.

This year, shoppers will save an estimated $87 million in state and local sales taxes during the sales tax holiday.

The tax holiday weekend has been an annual event since 1999.

Correa attends constable training

Constable Rolly Correa from Bell County Precinct 2 recently completed a professional continuing education course at The Bill Blackwood Law Enforcement Management Institute of Texas on processing court documents, detecting deception during interviews, maintaining ethical standards and surviving critical incidents on the job.

"This course was created by the Legislature to help increase the level of professionalism among Constables statewide," Correa said. "I have enjoyed the course because it provides the opportunity to train on specific issues that are current to our jobs and it offers networking opportunities to share best practice approaches."

Constables from across Texas are required to participate in the five-day training every four years. There are more than 700 Constables in Texas, with many one-man operations in rural counties.

The sessions provide the latest legislative and procedural updates for processing court documents, including citations, writs, evictions, and executions. It also offered training on Officer Survival & Arrest Control Tactics and Civil Process Problem Solving.

The sessions focused on how to deal with the emotional stresses of the job, such as incidents involving active shooters, traffic fatality, evictions involving families, and reports of child abuse. It also provided survival tips on how to step back from the 24/7 role of a peace officer.

Finally, the Constables examined ethics in law enforcement and the professional nature of the job.

"They receive legislative updates and a refresher on laws and procedures," said Rebecca Bowden, Program Coordinator for Constables at LEMIT. "They can take this back to their county to implement what they learned on a day to day basis in their jobs."

Sometimes it must appear a bit bewildering, wondering why there are so many and why and how they're different. An Open Exchange of Ideas

The Immigration Secessionists

It turns out that everything we've heard about the evils of states and localities defying federal law is wrong.

So long as a jurisdiction is sticking its thumb in the eye of the federal government on behalf of illegal immigrants who have been arrested and jailed, defiance of federal authority is progressive and commendable.

Through the years, the left has created dozens upon dozens of so-called sanctuary cities devoted to frustrating federal immigration enforcement. On this issue, they are little islands of secession. Somewhere John C. Calhoun must be smiling -- although slightly puzzled -- over the renewed prestige of a version of his old, discredited idea of nullification.

Sanctuary cities have gotten renewed attention in the wake of a horrific murder in San Francisco, a case amplified by the bullhorn of Donald Trump. Kathryn Steinle, 32, was shot and killed by an illegal immigrant, Juan Francisco Lopez-Sanchez, who had a long rap sheet and had been deported five times. The murder was easily avoidable. A few months prior, the city had arrested Lopez-Sanchez on drug charges, but it simply released him when the charges were dropped, even though Immigration and Customs Enforcement wanted to take custody of him for deportation.

This wasn't an isolated misjudgment. San Francisco has long been a sanctuary city that doesn't honor so-called federal detainers (i.e., notices that Immigration and Customs Enforcement wants to take custody of an illegal immigrant upon release from jail). It is a policy of calculated irresponsibility meant to create a zone of lawlessness. In this instance, the human cost was heartbreakingly high.

The immigration debate is famously fraught. Maybe we can't agree on building a fence. Maybe we can't agree on a pathway to citizenship. But surely we can agree that illegal aliens who have landed in jail should be deported? Apparently not. We have a "broken system," as the supporters of amnesty always like to say, in part because they took a sledgehammer to it.

The number of sanctuary cities has been increasing during the Obama years. The administration has thrown the book at states that have dared to aid in the enforcement of federal immigration law, but hasn't moved against jurisdictions acting at cross-purposes to the law. Indeed, it has eased the way for them.

It reinterpreted, with no legal justification, a federal regulation in order to make detainers voluntary. It kneecapped the successful Secure Communities program that shared the fingerprints of local arrestees with the feds, replacing it with a significantly watered-down program.

Obama has gutted interior enforcement. The former acting head of Immigration and Customs Enforcement said recently, "If you are a run-of-the-mill immigrant here illegally, your odds of getting deported are close to zero."

What to do about sanctuary cities? It is already against federal law for jurisdictions to forbid their officials from sharing immigration information with the federal government. Congress should tighten up the law by making it clear again that detainers are mandatory and withholding certain federal funds from jurisdictions that still won't comply.

Of course, it would take a different president to sign such a bill, one who cares about the laws he is pledged to enforce and who doesn't seek a sanctuary nation.

Sadly, not a satire

To the Editor:

In reading your recent issue of the Salado Village Voice, I was at first amused with the July 23 front page article on the proposed Landscape Regulations. To be totally honest, I thought it was satire! But, calling your office, I found this is a transcript from an actual Village Committee meeting!

My chagrin is experienced on two levels; one if the substance of the proposed ordinance. But the finite micro-management of a simple topic such as landscaping that a business must follow in order to obtain a permit from the Village is astounding.

Secondly, from where does such authority emanate? Normally, I wouldn't care too much because I do not own a business, nor do I plan to. But hidden at the very end of the news item is a paragraph that stated that a residential regulation is in preparation. From where did such prescriptive regulation come from? Who wrote this aforementioned landscape manual and for what purpose. There are a

Your Voice

Letters to the Editor

at least 16 rules to proposed landscaping plan that must be included in a permit submission. In order to prepare this submission one must employ; land survey skills, geometry, ratio and proportion calculations, botany recognition and classifications skills, chemistry analysis (for the soil and mulch composition), trigonometry (to compute sight visibility triangle), and construction engineering skills (for those berms in the historic district. In short, a landscaping firm cannot install my yard unless I engage an architectural firm to design this installation.

My next question is, to what purpose is this ordinance dedicated? Maybe, to make all landscaping uniform and cookie-cutter like. But doesn't that work against our pride, a village with unique character that we so often talk about?

It will insure more planting of trees along our streets -- but, remember in the future these trees will require trimming to maintain height clearance and visibility lines for vehicular traffic which will add to the trees that are not trimmed now and the existing visibility and clearance problems we have now.

Certainly, future businesses and home builders may think twice before coming to a regulation-rich environment. Regulations always increase costs and retard innovative.

Again, to what purpose are these regulation prescribed?

R. Michael Harwell
Salado

P.S. As I read the Mayor's Message on page 6A of the same newspaper's issue; ironically, he measures advancing progress as "relationship more than rules." As for me and my relationship with the village, I am feeling a little bruised.

No time to give up

George Washington won only three battles during the Revolutionary War? Yet, he never gave up, and when victory came, it counted. British General Cornwallis, who surrendered at Yorktown ending the war, said to Washington, "I salute you not only as a great leader, but as an indomitable gentleman who wouldn't give up."

Tenacious people do not rely on luck, fate, or destiny for success. When things get difficult, they just keep working. For thousands who give up, there is always someone like Benjamin Franklin saying, "I start where the last man left off."

Robert Strauss stated, "success is like wrestling a gorilla, you don't quit when you're tired -- you win when the gorilla becomes tired." If you want to succeed, push beyond what you think you can do and discover your real strength

This is not a pep talk; it is reality.

People ask: "Is Sanctuary going to happen? Only Sanctuary knows. The Village and Sanctuary are striving to keep all doors and communication open, but if we cannot agree, we will part as friends. Are we wasting time talking and examining alternatives? No, if all options are not known, good decisions cannot be made. The options are known and we will work even harder to make things happen in a timely manner and at the best value.

Someone asked, "How soon will I-35 construction be completed?"

Answer: "December."

Will it happen? We will push, talk, and work with all our might to make it happen. And, if it doesn't we will push even harder, work longer, and shout louder until it is.

Tenacious people never give up and remain positive.

Decisions are difficult -- streets, construction, sewer, deer, ordinances, annexation to name a few -- but we are going forward. And, so should you with the confidence that the best is yet to be.

Common Sense with Willie Nelson

The legendary singer and activist is cooking up his own brand of sustainable legal pot.

With marijuana prohibition finally ending in states and cities across the land -- including full legalization in Alaska, Colorado, Washington State, Oregon, and Washington, D.C. -- who could be better than my friend Willie Nelson to lead the way for weed quality and social responsibility?

The iconic musician and intrepid fighter for justice has announced that he'll market his own marijuana brand, "Willie's Reserve," and open a group of stores selling top-quality pot and paraphernalia.

"I feel like I was buying so much of it, it's time to start selling it back," Willie said of his new weed venture. "I am looking forward to working with the best growers in Colorado and Washington to make sure our product is the best on the market."

Jim Hightower

A tireless champion of small farmers, civil liberties, the environment, common sense, and the common good, Nelson plans to start rolling out his stores and products this year, and he'll expand further as state laws allow. In the typical Willie way, the stores will be "the anti-Wal-Mart model," with a core purpose of helping expand the market for small, energy-efficient, environmentally sound growers.

Over the years I've cited Willie's work in calling for legalization and restoration of hemp farming in America. I've also called repeatedly for an end to the Orwellian, Kafkaesque drug war that's criminalized the cannabis equivalent of cocktail hour. Around 700,000 people are arrested each year for marijuana-related offenses.

And now, I salute the innumerable grassroots activists who've steadily pushed America from the darkness of reefer madness to being able to light up a Willie without getting busted. Find out more from the Marijuana Policy Project (mpp.org) and NORML (norml.org).

Creating a case for conservatism

Being conservative in a politically correct culture has never been easy. Whether you're a politician trying to explain a controversial sound-bite, or a voter attempting to defend your stance on a hot-button issue to incredulous co-workers, you either grow a thick skin -- or learn to keep quiet.

Sadly, you get used to having your motives impugned by people who assume that no one could possibly believe what you believe. You must have some ulterior motive, right? Say, for example, we need less regulation, and you'll be accused of shilling for some corporation. Call for more defense spending, and you're a war-monger.

It's an old trick, clearly designed to save the accuser from having to marshal any actual evidence for his position. But it usually works. Everyone retreats to their corners, leaving us with poorly thought-out policies that wind up helping no one.

Small wonder, then, that the phrase "compassionate conservative" entered the political lexicon at one point. The defensive character of that label is understandable, but think about it: It only resonates if you assume that conservatives lack compassion in the first place.

Yes, some of them do (you find flawed human beings on both sides of the aisle), but only the most superficial analysis could conclude that conservatism attracts only those who don't care about their fellow citizens. In fact -- irony alert -- conservative solutions often spring from a genuine desire to help people.

Take welfare reform.

If you criticize a huge government program that hands out checks with virtually no strings attached, opponents say you must hate the poor. On the contrary: If you care about your fellow man, you know that turning him into a passive welfare recipient robs him of his dignity and often dooms his children to a soul-deadening cycle of poverty. Making sure that welfare is a true hand-up and not a hand-out is, in fact, the true compassionate stance.

The problem is that many conservatives fail to frame the issues this way. As American Enterprise Institute President Arthur Brooks points out in his new book, "The Conservative Heart," we need a new approach.

"The only way to set things right is for conservatives to show we care and offer a new vision for the country," he writes. "This new vision must be guided by the optimism of opportunity. It must declare peace on a prudent, reliable safety net for those who truly need it. It must harness the tools of private entrepreneurship, acknowledge the profound value of hard work, and echo the moral clarity of the Good Samaritan."

Brooks introduces us to people who illustrate all too well what happens when government policies run amok. Take Jestina Clayton. When she moved to Utah from Sierra Leone, she decided to pursue her piece of the American Dream by starting an African hair-braiding business for children adopted from her native land.

Jestina had been braiding hair since she was five, and the business was soon providing a steady paycheck. Then someone told that it was illegal to do such work without a cosmetology license ... which would take 2,000 hours of classes and cost $16,000. And all for something she already knew how to do.

It took a lot of work and a successful lawsuit for Jestina to get her happy ending. (A federal judge ruled that such a requirement, which far exceeded the ones for many other professions, was unreasonable.) But as Brooks notes, she's one of the lucky ones.

"Millions of Americans with her drive, grit -- and the help of a law firm -- have little hope to rise in America," he writes. "Currently, all they are offered are promises that the government will stick it more to the rich through higher taxes and greater redistribution. But this will never help a poor American climb out of poverty, find a better job, and get a good education -- let alone start a business."

As conservatives, we know that our policies help provide opportunity for all. But we can never assume others know that. It's time to take "heart" -- and make sure they do.

Raney and Associates renovates old post office on Main Street

By LATRAYA LUKE
SALADO VILLAGE VOICE INTERN

For two decades, Anna Lou Raney has been helping people to find their dream homes. Now, she and her son Daniel Raney have found the dream home for their office on Salado's South Main Street.

Soon to be conveniently located on South Main St., Raney & Associates Real Estate will be moving into their new home, which was previously the old post office built in 1967.

With 50 years of combined Real Estate experience Anna Lou & Daniel Raney, along with Ann Carroll, are more than willing to help you with all of your Real Estate needs.

"We are working on the plans for the new location right now and I think it is going to take about three months to probably get it all together," she said of the new location.

Anna Lou started Raney & Associates Real Estate in 1996. Along with her son Daniel Raney who joined her some years later, she has been able to accommodate the needs of her customers. Texas born, Anna Lou first started her Real Estate career in Dallas before moving to Salado. Her son Daniel, who also lived in the Bell county area is a former student of University of Mary-Hardin Baylor.

"I came from Dallas 20 years ago ... I was in Real Estate in Dallas and ... came here and worked in Real Estate here.... Later I started an office out of my home. About two years ago my son joined me ... we continued to work out of my home. That's when this building became available."

Anna Lou and Daniel Raney plan to open the new location, Raney & Associates Real Estate, on South Main Street by the fall of 2015. Plans for renovation are already in the works. Her goal is to have the new location up and running and someday pass the growing business on to her son Daniel.

"Years ago it was the old post office, it intrigued all of us because it's just a neat building and we decided that it might be fun to open an office down on Main Street. What really made it special to me, was that ... it was my daddy's career, he worked at the post office in Fort Worth for many years. I thought he was just smiling down, because he did love the post office. We are definitely looking forward to doing some renovations on it and opening an office in there" Says Anna Lou.

The location of the old post office is the first stop for the Salado Historical Society historic tour.

"From my understanding the original building was one of the early merchants in Salado." Says Raney Located on South Main St., it sits between Salado's landmark hotel The Stagecoach Inn and the bronze statue of E.S.C. Robertson. Dedicated in April of 1967, it was Salado's post office for more than two decades until the current post office opened up in December, 1988.

"Our main concept is to always be available," Anna Lou said. "We show properties on the weekend, at night or whenever it is convenient for our clients."

veying dummy that a heart continuation cannot lead to more than three heart tricks and a diamond for the defense. He should therefore shift to a low spade -- not knowing whether West has the queen, but aware that a spade shift offers the only real chance to stop the contract.

Declarer is helpless against this attack from a new quarter. If he plays low, West wins with the queen and reverts to hearts. East takes the ace and returns a heart, and South goes down one, losing a spade, three hearts and a diamond.

If declarer instead goes up with the ace of spades at trick two, he runs into the same dead end. He tries the diamond finesse, and the defenders score two spades, two hearts and a diamond for down one.

West must, of course, also be agile in the defense after he wins the spade shift with the queen at trick two. He should return a heart, not a spade, but this is not really a hard play to make, as West should easily work out what his partner is up to.

Scenes From... set Aug. 9 to benefit Wags, Hope and Healing animal rescue

The Chapel at Caliber Oaks will host a benefit performance of "The Second Annual Scenes from..." Aug. 9 to raise funds for Wags, Hope and Healing, a central Texas animal rehabilitation facility. This benefit performance with Rick Thomssen, Denise Thomssen, Jody Askins and Gary Askins will feature readings from works by Neil Simon, Mark Twain, Miguel Cervantes along with a world premiere of some original scenes.

All four of the participants have performed in various local productions at Tablerock Amphitheater, the Salado Silver Spur and last year's delightful Caliber Oaks benefit for The Peaceable Kingdom Retreat.

"Last year's performance was to a full house and we were able to donate a significant amount to a local charity and I hope we can continue having as much fun this year." stated the director Gary Askins. "We tried to pick some theatrical pieces that are humorous and that allow us to enjoy a delightful evening of good conversation, socializing while at the same time expressing an appreciation of how words can heal and enlighten us on our human condition...but mostly it's about the fun while doing something to give back to our community." The social will begin at 6:30 p.m. immediately followed by the performance at 7 p.m. and a post-performance reception with liquid refreshments, snacks and adult conversation. Tickets are $25 per person, seating is limited so reservations are suggested. Contact the Chapel at (254) 718-0680.

Star parties set for Aug. 8

The Central Texas Astronomical Society will host free public star parties on Aug. 8 from 8:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. at Overlook Park near Belton, the Waco Wetlands outside Waco, and at the Hubbard City Lakes Park in Hubbard.

CTAS members will provide telescopes to view the visible planets and a selection of stars, star clusters, nebulas, and galaxies.

Saturn is now 90 degrees past opposition, a point referred to as eastern quadrature. Light from the Sun hits Saturn at the greatest angle as viewed from the Earth, enhancing shadows and giving the ringed planet more of a 3D look. Dwarf planet Pluto is located in the constellation Sagittarius this month. Search for "new horizons pluto" with your favorite Internet search engine to see the latest images provided by the NASA New Horizons

Saturn will have more of a three-dimensional look at this time of year.

Orange-yellow Arc-turus, in the Constellation Bootes, is the 4th brightest star in the night sky, is 27 times larger than our Sun, and only 36 light years distant. Antares is a red supergiant star in the constellation Scorpius, located at the heart of the scorpion. Globular cluster Messier 4 is located less than 2 degrees west of Antares. M4 is 7200 light years distant and 75 light years in diameter.

Members will look at these and many other celestial objects this month. Please check the web site, <http://www.centexas-astronomy.org>, for more information and directions to the site closest to you. A flashlight, lawn chair, and mosquito repellent can make viewing more comfortable. In the event of unfavorable weather, a cancellation notice will be posted on the CTAS web-site homepage by 7 p.m.

DPS Offers Tips to Avoid Auto Theft This Summer

The Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) is reminding Texans that vehicle thefts and vehicle burglaries tend to increase during the summer months – especially July and August – and is encouraging individuals to take necessary precautions to protect their vehicles from potential thefts.

“The summer months in Texas typically are one of the busiest times for vehicle thefts, and DPS is urging Texans to take preventative measures to secure their vehicles and avoid possible thefts and burglaries,” said DPS Director Steven McCraw. “Individuals can do their part to help ward off criminals this summer by always locking their cars and keeping valuables out of sight.”

DPS offers the following tips that Texans can follow to help guard against vehicle theft:

Never leave your car running unattended, even for a quick visit to a business or store.

Never leave keys in the car or ignition, inside a locked garage, or in hide-a-key boxes.

Always roll up your windows and lock the car, even if it is parked at your home.

When possible, always park in high-traffic, well-lighted areas.

Install an anti-theft device that locks the steering wheel, column or brakes, especially if your vehicle is considered to be at increased risk for theft.

Never leave personal documents, vehicle ownership title or credit cards in your vehicle.

Always keep valuables or property hidden out of sight or locked in the trunk.

If your vehicle is stolen, report it to the police immediately. DPS also encourages individuals to keep a copy of their license plate and vehicle identification number on hand in case of theft, since police will need this information to take a report.

For more information about auto thefts and burglary, see <http://www.txdmv.gov/motorists/consumer-protection/auto-theft-prevention>.

Feral Hog Workshop Sept. 4

By: BLAIR FANNIN

A Feral Hog Management Workshop will be offered from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Sept. 4 at the Brazos County Expo complex, 5827 Leonard Road in Bryan.

The program is free, but $15 for a catered lunch. RSVP for the meal by Aug. 28 by calling 979-823-0129. Five Texas Department of Agriculture continuing education units will be offered: one integrated pest management, one laws and regulations and three general.

“Feral hogs continue to be a primary issue in terms of damage to pasture and rangeland for landowners across Texas and certainly in the Brazos Valley,” said Dusty Tittle, Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service agent for Brazos

County. “This workshop will help landowners gain a better understanding of feral hog biology, methods that we can incorporate to better control and manage feral hogs on rangeland, plus laws and regulations of hunting the feral hog.”

Other topics to be discussed include population dynamics and research update; water quality in the Brazos Valley, agricultural regulations regarding feral hogs; feral hog control and trapping; feral hog transportation regulations and disease concerns.

Scheduled speakers are:

– Mark Tyson, AgriLife Extension associate, wildlife and fisheries science, College Station.

– Brad Tullis, Texas Department of Agriculture inspector, Austin.

– Nikki Dictson, AgriLife Extension program specialist, Texas Water Resources Institute, College Station.

– Linda Tschirhart-Hejl, Texas Wildlife Damage Management Service biologist, College Station.

– Danny Williamson, Texas Animal Health Commission, Austin.

– Dornell Crist, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department game warden, Brazos County.

The program is sponsored by AgriLife Extension and a Clean Water Act Section 319(h) non-point source grant from the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

For more information, call 979-823-0129.

KEEP THE LIGHT ON PUBLIC NOTICES

When local governments make decisions they are required to publish a newspaper notice to let you know. But that could change. Local governmental entities across the state want to bury their public notices on little seen, rarely visited government websites. What you don't know will affect you personally! If it is not in the newspaper, you won't know about it.

New Master Gardener Class

The Master Gardener Program is a volunteer-based development program offered by Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service and is designed to increase the availability of horticultural information to the community and improve the quality of life through horticultural projects. We currently have over 130 members who participate in many different capacities, such as the service hours to maintaining gardens around the Bell County area, or educational hours teaching and training new members and local school teachers. In the 2014-2015 year, they have contributed more than 10,600 hours of volunteer service to the citizens of Bell County from certified volunteers.

As incoming Master Gardeners, the volunteers complete 75 hours of classroom instruction covering many horticultural topics to earn the status of Intern. Topics include basic botany, soil science, and information on specific plants, trees, grasses, pests and diseases, fire ant control, organic gardening, Earth kind landscaping and fire-wise gardening. Each Master Gardener Intern then completes 50 hours of volunteer service within the one year of instruction. Upon completion of instruction and service, the interns earn the designation of Certified Master Gardener. The volunteer aspect of the program allows individuals to dedicate time and talent to educate, enhance, and beautify their local community utilizing the science and art of horticulture.

The Bell County Master Gardener Class of 2016 is currently taking applications to become a Certified Master Gardener. The 2016 class will be limited to 25 applicants who submit their application and class fee of $250 prior to Orientation on Wednesday, January 6, 2016. The remaining applicants will be placed on a waiting list for the class of 2017. The official first day of class will begin on Wednesday, January 13, 2016, at 1-5 p.m. The class will then meet each Wednesday through May 13, 2016.

Anyone interested in this fun organization can contact the Bell County AgriLife Extension Office for additional information at 254-933-5305, or visit the Bell County Master Gardener website found on the Extension website TXMG.org/Bell.

Educational programs of the Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service are open to all people without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, genetic information or veteran status. Emancipet Killeen holds Howl at the Moon Glow Walk Emancipet Killeen is hosting its inaugural charity event "Howl at the Moon Glow Walk" 5 p.m. - 10 p.m. Aug. 29 at the Community Park in Harker Heights. The park is located at 1501 E. FM 2410.

profit low cost veterinary organization located in downtown Killeen. Their main mission is to provide compassionate, high quality, affordable and accessible spay/neuter and healthy pet services to pet owners.

The family-fun, dog-friendly evening will include vendors, food music and demos.

They first opened the clinic in February 2014, operating out of a state-of-the-art mobile clinic. Pet owners throughout Bell and Coryell counties flocked to the clinic to take advantage of low cost preventive care services. Some clients even brought their pets from as far as Holland and Lampasas, to include municipal shelters. Our preventive care services include vaccinations, microchips, heartworm testing, feline leukemia testing, flea/tick and heartworm preventive medications, and, of course, low cost spay/neuter surgeries.

Contests with prizes is open to walkers. The Howling contest will be held for pets and their people. The Glow Glitz costume contest is also for pets and their people. First 200 to register on-line will receive a free goodie bag at the event.

Register on-line at <http://emancipet.org/events/howl-at-the-moon-walk/>, onsite site registration $30.

This fun family, dog-friendly event will not only provide much needed funding to support Emancipet Killeen, but also promote the health and well-being of pets and their owners. Walking regularly with dogs benefits the dogs and owners, and strengthens the human animal bond.

"We've been incredibly busy this past year. We have performed nearly 6,000 spay/neuter surgeries, and have seen over 10,200 healthy pet services visits. We have moved the clinic into a brick and mortar building this past May," said Grazyna Musick Community Director, Killeen.
