Meet your newspaper staff

The Salado Village Voice newspaper has seen more than three decades of service to the Village of Salado.

During that time, the newspaper has always been a family affair, since its founding by Dayton Kelly in 1979. After Dayton's death, his sons Dennis and Bill operated the newspaper until the Fleischer family purchased the newspaper in 1988.

Salado Village Voice is locally owned and operated. "We are vested in Salado and invested in Salado," says publisher and editor-in-chief Tim Fleischer.

As we begin 2016, Salado Village Voice staffers would like to reintroduce themselves to the community they serve.

Salado Village Voice has a staff of four, including publishers Tim and Marilyn Fleischer. Other staffers are Stephanie Hood, advertising composition and Royce Wiggin, office assistant.

In addition to individual awards by staff members, Salado Village Voice has been honored by the community and state. The newspaper was the first-ever Business of the Year, awarded in January 2003 by the Salado Chamber of Commerce.

For more than 20 years, Salado Village Voice has published Salado: A Jewel in the Crown of Texas, a quarterly magazine. The newspaper also maintains an active website at www.saladovillagevoice.com and has electronic editions of the newspaper available for subscribers.

The newspaper joined the Texas Press Association in 2010.

Tim Fleischer

Tim Fleischer has been a newspaperman since he was 16, working for both weeklies and daily newspapers. "I got the Devil's Ink at an early age and haven't been able to get rid of it," he said of his 32 years in the newspaper industry.

For more than 28 years of it, he has been the editor of the Salado Village Voice.

But his love for Salado has been for more than three decades. "I came to Salado with my parents for the Art Fair and Gathering of the Clans when I was growing up in Coryell County," he said. "I drove through it every day on my way to run a small newspaper in Florence."

Tim and Marilyn Fleischer have published the newspaper since 1988. During that time, the newspaper has grown from an eight-page tabloid to a full-size broadsheet newspaper with four sections.

"We have grown with the community and are a reflection of it," he said.

In those years, the newspaper has won several awards from the Texas Community Newspaper Association, where Salado Village Voice competed against newspapers from San Antonio, Dallas, Houston, Austin and around the state.

Tim has won several TCNA awards: advertising design (third in state for large ad format and third in state for advertising series); editorial work (first in state for editorial writing, third in state for editorial writing, third in state for column writing) and second in state for community service (for articles during the incorporation election).

Fleischer has been named to the Texas Association of School Boards Media Honor Roll several times during his tenure at the helm of the newspaper, including the 2015 Honor Roll. Media are recommended and nominated for the Honor Roll by local school boards for their coverage of schools.

He has also served the community in a variety of capacities, including three different terms on the board of directors of the Salado Chamber of Commerce and six years on the board of directors of the Institute for Humanities at Salado. He was president of the Salado Chamber of Commerce and treasurer for two years of the Institute for Humanities.

Fleischer is in the third year of his third term the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors. He recently completed a one-year term as Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors during the transition period in which the Chamber and Village of Salado Tourism Department have partnered together.

He served a term on the inaugural board of the Salado Community Foundation. He was also on the first board that established the Mentoring program in Salado.

Tim is also a Mason and twice Past Master of the Salado Masonic Lodge #296. He served as District Deputy Grand Master for Masonic District #48 in 2011-12 and is the current Secretary for the Salado Lodge. He is the Lodge Flag Committee chairman.

Tim is also active in the Salado Rotary Club.

He is known to grandson Nate Timothy Potter as DoDo (like the bird).

He and wife Marilyn share responsibilities at the newspaper. "She runs the office and makes the business decisions and I make editorial decisions," he said.

Marilyn Fleischer

Marilyn got the Devil's Ink in her blood after meeting Tim 30 years ago. She is managing editor and advertising manager of Salado Village Voice.

She worked in the corporate world prior to the purchase of the Salado Village Voice in 1988.

She also owned and operated a business in the Killeen/Copperas Cove area for several years while raising her three children.

During their years in Salado, Marilyn has served the community in many ways. "I think I have been most satisfied with my work with the Salado Family Relief Fund," she said. In addition to her work to establish the Family Relief Fund, Marilyn has also been Art Fair chairperson for two years, and served three years as a Chamber of Commerce Director. She served two three-year terms on the Salado Civic Center board of directors.

She was on the founding board of the Salado Community Foundation.

She has also won awards from the TCNA. She has twice been honored. She won second place for Best Feature Photo and second place for Community Service for her work with the Family Relief Fund.

The Fleischers helped to establish what became known as the Public Arts League of Salado and the Salado Ambassador Program.

The Fleischers' children -- Royce Wiggin and Jenny Potter, both graduates of Salado High School -- have grown up in the eye of the community. Royce graduated in 2007, beginning in second grade in Salado schools. Jenny began her school career as a kindergartner at Thomas Arnold Elementary School and graduated in 2009.

Marilyn welcomed her ninth grandchild to the world in 2015. Beren Crow Baggett was born on August 26, 2015.

Royce Wiggin

Royce Wiggin is one of those rare species: a native of Salado, born here in 1989. His first home was the historic Levi Tenney House in Salado's Pace Park.

He has attended school in Salado since second grade graduating in 2007. While in high school, he was a trumpet player in the Salado Eagle Marching Band and a tennis player.

He began work at the newspaper over the summer of his junior year in high school. His responsibilities include photography and reporting. SEE STAFF, PAGE 6A

BOA to consider variances to Subdivision Ordinance

Salado Board of Aldermen will discuss variance requests during a 6:30 p.m. Jan. 7 meeting at the Municipal Building, 301 N. Stagecoach Rd.

Among the requests for variance are these:

- Presentation, discussion, and possible action on reconsideration of a variance to Section 4.2b, Protection of Drainage and Creek Areas, of the Subdivision Ordinance in accordance with Ordinance 2008-20 Flood Damage Prevention Ordinance, Section 40 Variance Procedures, for the Creekside Meadow subdivision.

- Presentation, discussion, and possible action on a request for a waiver to Section 3.1 of the Subdivision Ordinance (road curvature) for Windmill Estates, a subdivision located in the Village's Extraterritorial Jurisdiction.

- Presentation, discussion, and possible action on a request for a waiver to Section 3.1 of the Subdivision Ordinance (cul-de-sac length) for Salado Country Estates, a subdivision located in the Village's Extraterritorial Jurisdiction.

In other business, the board will also discuss and possibly adopt a policy to set forth guidelines for the establishment, membership, scope, term, and conduct of existing and future Committees and Citizen Advisory Boards appointed by the Board of Aldermen.

The board will also have monthly reports from the Mayor, each alderman, department heads and city manager.

The BOA has scheduled public hearings on The Sanctuary, including annexation hearings on Jan.

14 and Jan. 21 at 6:30 p.m. and a public hearing on the P&Z recommendations on zoning and rezoning of The Sanctuary property within the current Village limits to Planned Development.

After the public hearings, the board is slated to approve the voluntary annexation request of more than 300 acres into the Village of Salado at a meeting in February.

The donation of land for a wastewater treatment plant, a discharge permit and the voluntary annexation requests hinge on the approval of the zoning requests by The Sanctuary. The donations were part of several agreements signed into effect in November that included tax abatements, rebates of hotel motel taxes and other economic incentives for The Sanctuary.

P&Z hearings set Jan. 12 for The Sanctuary

The Village of Salado Planning and Zoning Commission will conduct public hearings at 1:30 p.m., Jan. 12 at the Village of Salado Municipal Building to discuss and consider amendments to the Zoning Ordinance for The Sanctuary development.

The hearings will be conducted for the various properties that will be part of The Sanctuary.

The P&Z will hold a public hearing and consider zoning and/or rezoning of 55,499+/- acres to PD-MU (Planned Development Mixed Use), generally located at the northeast corner of FM 2268 and I-35 frontage road (map on display at city hall - Area A).

The P&Z will hold a public hearing and consider zoning of 211,587 +/- acres to PD-MU (Planned Development Mixed Use), generally located at the corner of Salado Oaks Drive and FM 2268, and the 700 block of Royal Street Drive, just east of Rose Way Circle (map on display at city hall - Area B).

The P&Z will hold a public hearing and consider zoning of 57,985+/- acres to PD-C (Planned Development Commercial), generally located at the southeast corner of FM 2268 and I-35 frontage road (map on display at city hall - Area C).

Finally, the P&Z will hold a public hearing and consider rezoning of 3.12+/- acres from HD (Historical District) to PD-C (Planned Development Commercial), generally located at 714 South Main Street (map on display at city hall - Area D).

Information regarding possible amendments to the Zoning Ordinance is on file for public examination in the City Secretary's Office.

Items recommended by the Planning and Zoning Commission will be forwarded to the Board of Aldermen for consideration and approval at its meeting 6:30 p.m. Jan. 21 at the Village of Salado Municipal Building.

The board of aldermen will also conduct public hearings concerning the annexation of more than 300 acres of land for The Sanctuary on at 6:30 p.m. Jan. 14 and Jan. 21.

Save us from ourselves

The article this week is written after much thought. If at all possible, the purpose is not to offend but be positive, encouraging, and informative as more than Village citizens read the Salado Village Voice; so do visitors and elected state/federal leaders. Salado is very special, wonderful and that should be highlighted positively and frequently. However this article is different and can possibly offend. At age 11, I read a 4 July, 1952, full-page-ad that published a prayer written by Conrad Hilton, founder, Hilton Hotel. As a new year begins, the prayer is as meaningful today as it was then. If prayer offends, please consider not reading it.

Mayor Skip Blancett

“Our Father in heaven, We pray that you save us from ourselves.

The world that You have made for us, to live in peace, we have made into an armed camp. We live in fear of war to come. We are afraid of ‘the terror that flies by night, and the arrow that flies by day, the pestilence that walks in darkness and the destruction that wastes at noon-day.’

We have turned from You to go our selfish way. We have broken Your commandments and denied Your truth. We have left Your altars to serve the false gods of money and pleasure and power.

Forgive us and help us. Now, darkness gathers around us, and we are confused in all our counsels. Losing faith in You, we lose faith in ourselves.

Inspire us with wisdom, all of us of every color, race, and creed, to use our wealth, our strength to help our brother and sister. Help us to do Your will as it is done in heaven and to be worthy of Your promise of peace on earth. Fill us with new faith, new strength and new courage, that we may win the Battle for Peace.

Be swift to save us, dear God, before the darkness falls.”

For-Profit Colleges Are Scandal Machines

THIS CORRUPT HIGHER EDUCATION “INDUSTRY” OUGHT TO BE PUT OUT OF BUSINESS.

The nation’s for-profit, private college industry is a study in horror.

Start with the fact that it actually calls itself an “industry.” Excuse me, but education — not an industrial product.

Next, this so-called “private” industry depends almost wholly on government money. It generates practically none of its revenue from the free market. Instead, it cons students into taking expensive government-backed loans to invest in educations that seldom deliver increases in their earning potential.

“For-profit” colleges are just that. They maintain that their obligation isn’t to serve students or society, but to deliver profits to their corporate shareholders. These things are scandal machines, as proven by the latest for-profit college conglomerate to be exposed as a fraud.

Education Management Corporation operates four college systems, offering courses online and in office buildings in 32 states. EDMC gives its recruiters extravagant financial incentives to pressure low-income people into taking-out huge federal education loans in order to pay for courses at the cor-sters. EDMC is largely owned by Wall Street giant Goldman Sachs.

Thanks to some former students and a couple of corporate whistleblowers, EDMC has now been exposed and is paying a price for its extortion. Its stock price has fallen from $22 a share to — get this — 9 cents. And it’s also been poration’s colleges.

EDMC has been sucking up more than a billion dollars a year from these students, who generate some 90 percent of its revenue. But its courses are mediocre to worthless, leaving graduates in unbearable debt and unable to get jobs with salaries high enough to pay off their loans.

Bear in mind that this sleazy fraud isn’t the work of some fly-by-night huckhit with a $90 million federal penalty for fraud.

The whole system of corrupt for-profit colleges ought to be put out of business.

An Open Exchange of Ideas

The Year of Hysteria

We should be glad that 2015 has passed into memory, because it was a year when we could barely hold it together.

It was a year when we freaked out over symbols and scared ourselves with fake statistics. It was a year when the facts weren’t allowed to get in the way of a good, overwrought slogan. It was a year when we convinced ourselves that Earth was nearly beyond saving. It was a year of the safe space and micro-aggression.

It was, in short, a year of hysteria.

By now, we should be familiar with the workings of hysteria, since -- usually whipped up in social media and stoked by an inflamed left -- it has become such a familiar feature of our culture and politics.

Hysteria doesn’t know when to stop. After it was collectively decided that the Confederate flag shared responsibility for Dylann Roof’s hellish murders in Charleston, South Carolina, Confederate symbols were hunted down as if they were armed fugitives from justice. The Memphis City Council even voted to exhume Nathan Bedford Forrest and -- for good measure -- his wife.

Hysteria doesn’t care about the facts. In an extraordinary feat, Black Lives Matter protestors took something that didn’t happen from a case of justifiable use of police force in Ferguson, Missouri, and made it the slogan -- “Hands up, don’t shoot” -- of a movement alleging systemic police racism. The truth of Ferguson didn’t matter so much as the myth of Ferguson.

Rich Lowry

Hysteria will believe anything. After the San Bernardino attack, the media hawked the bogus statistic that there had been more than 350 mass shootings in the U.S. this year, an almost daily occurrence. A more careful measure at Mother Jones tallied four mass shootings in 2015.

Hysteria can be a powerful organizing tool. The entire world got together in Paris to sign on to a climate accord, based on the pretense that without immediate action Earth will be rendered all but uninhabitable by the ravages of climate change.

Hysteria is a weapon. On college campuses, students didn’t just seek safe spaces from speech they deemed uncongenial and decay inadvertent slights known as micro-aggressions, they terrorized anyone not with the program. A university president was fired for looking at protestors the wrong way (University of Missouri), and a prestigious college campus (Yale) was roiled by a dispute over whether allegedly tasteless Halloween costumes could be tolerated. Protestors hunted for university employees they could be offended by enough to get cashiered.

It is always difficult to motivate people around careful reasoning about a problem, or to win a detached argument on the merits. It is much easier to create hate figures to attack, to demand immediate action as a sign of moral purity, and to short-circuit cost-benefit analysis with apocalyptic warnings. With the news cycle faster than ever and social media a constant accelerator, stopping to think, or to gather all the facts, or to consider possible downsides, feels more intolerable than ever.

This is the world we live in. 2015 was a year of hysteria, but why will 2016 be any different? Stock up on smelling salts and fainting couches.

Families advance with recent tax bill, but corporations got a lot more

By FRANK CLEMENTE

Surprisingly, Congress's $680 billion holiday-season tax deal will bring some cheer to working families and not just to big corporations this year. Refundable tax credits putting extra cash in the hands of hard-pressed workers and parents were included in a huge year-end gift-wrapped package of tax breaks—the type of bill that usually only offers big rewards to corporate fat cats.

Every two years for the past few decades, Washington has renewed a collection of about 50 temporary tax breaks, called "tax extenders." Even though some of them had been repeatedly renewed for 30 years, the giveaways were deemed temporary to hide their substantial $50 billion annual cost—80% of which benefited businesses. It's an accounting trick. Tax cuts supposedly expiring in a year or two don't make long-range budget projections look so bad, after all.

None of these corporate tax breaks are ever paid for—for instance by closing other corporate tax loopholes. All of the cost goes straight to the deficit.

Moreover, a repugnant double standard is at work. Any time our side wants even a little bit more in spending to improve public services, conservatives demand it be paid for. They even thumbed their noses at 9/11 responders recently.

Conservatives demanded that a renewal of the 9/11 first responders World Trade Center Health Program and a Victims Compensation Fund, costing a total of $8 billion, be paid for in order to be included in the year-end budget package that included $400 billion in unpaid-for corporate tax giveaways.

Tax extender legislation has always enjoyed strong bipartisan support. It's a veritable lovefest between both parties and their corporate contributors.

As usual, though, corporations wanted more. Objecting to the (theoretically) temporary nature of their special breaks, this year they pushed to make several of their biggest billion-dollar loopholes permanent. This gave our side leverage to demand major concessions in return.

Progressives rallied around two tax credits that are very important to low- and moderate-income households—the Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) and the Child Tax Credit (CTC). Improvements made to these pro-work and pro-family programs were scheduled to expire in two years. This would have pushed 16 million people—including 8 million children—into or deeper into poverty.

Advocates demanded—and won—that any corporate tax cut package had to also make permanent the improvements to these effective poverty-fighting programs. That means a single mom working minimum wage with two kids at home will have $1,725 more in her pocket, for example.

Another victory was the renewal of the American Opportunity Tax Credit. It provides a tax credit of up to $2,500 per year for expenses incurred while attending college such as tuition, fees and course materials. This will give a helping hand to millions of families struggling with the costs of higher education.

Altogether, the final tax package makes a $250 billion investment in America's working families.

Of course, corporations still got more: more than $400 billion in undeserved tax favors. Among them are two loopholes that make it easier for multinational firms to stash profits offshore in tax havens. The Active Financing Exception was permanently enshrined in law while the CFC Look-Through Rule was extended for five years. It was the AFE that helped General Electric to go five straight years without paying any federal income tax, and in fact get billions in refunds.

Together, the two tax breaks will cost the American people around $85 billion in lost revenue over the next decade. Alternatively, if we didn't plow $75 billion of that money back into overstuffed corporate treasuries we could guarantee preschool for every low-and moderate-income four-year-old in America for 10 years.

Another gratuitous gift called Bonus Depreciation—originally intended as a recession fighter, and not even good at that—will go on for another six years, losing $28 billion in corporate tax revenue.

Congress should not be making any corporate tax loopholes permanent or even temporarily extending them. It should be closing them.

Over the past half-decade of budget austerity, American families have withstood $2.7 trillion in spending cuts in everything from senior nutrition to college financial aid to affordable housing. America's corporations haven't contributed a nickel in extra tax revenue.

Moreover, while corporations enjoy record profits, workers continue to struggle in a slow economy. Working families need a hand. Corporations don't need handouts.

I'm not sugar coating our challenges with a lot of holiday cheer. Progressives won some, but lost a lot, in this big fight.

We have a long way to go towards the day when corporations routinely pay their fair share of taxes and families and communities get the public services they deserve. It may sound like a Christmas miracle today, but we can get there.

In 2006 3C Cowboy Fellowship began its journey with a small group of people. There have been some changes along the way but the one thing that has stayed the same is the purpose of the church to reach Cowboys and Cowgirls with the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

As the church grew they moved from renting a building to having their own land where they met in a tent, the members were faithful to attend even when the weather was bad. Eventually they were able to build a building to meet in that lead to building an arena to do events in order to help reach those in the Cowboy Culture.

As the church continued to develop the church decided to build a second building to continue its ministry. 3C works on the basis that God will provide and all these things have been accomplished by God using individuals in and around the area to the point that the church has never had to borrow any money to move forward with God's work.

The next step in their journey is the opening of the third building a brand new sanctuary. Everyone is invited to attend; the Grand Opening will be January 10, at 10 a.m. Marlon Sharp and the Cowboys at the Cross will be providing the music. Gary Patterson will be preaching and the celebration will end with a FREE BBQ lunch. 3C is looking forward to many great years to come in fulfilling God's purposes through them right here in Salado, Texas.

Stephanie is a hometown girl at heart and a third generation graduate who is raising a fourth generation of eagles.

"I am a country kid, I was 'raised here' as they say. The history of Salado and Bell county is intertwined with the history of my family. With that comes a certain respect for the old buildings, farms and the old timers who built the community we now call Salado."

"The creek was the favorite swimming hole when I was a kid and not just for Salado," she said. "The tree lined banks were the perfect place to find a cool retreat from the sun. You had to behave though, if you acted up your parents would get a phone call before you even thought about going home."

Stephanie joined the newspaper in 2006 as the composition person. With a background in photography and documentary style videography she excels at conveying ideas with concise images.

Stephanie is an active community volunteer, serving on the board of Salado Historical Society and the Public Art League of Salado. She also volunteers as a superintendent for the Bell County Youth Fair, coordinating judges and checking in entries for the annual event.

She enjoys spending time with her granddaughters Roselynn Rogers and Sarah Trujillo. "It is nice to have them close enough to spoil. I grew up with my cousins nearby and it is nice to see that kind of family connection continuing."

(Austin) - January 2016 is School Board Recognition Month, a time to thank the more than 7,100 locally elected citizens who deeply care about the success of all Texas children. These dedicated men and women serve without pay on local school boards. Each year the Texas Association of School Boards (TASB) encourages parents, district staff, and community leaders to show appreciation to board members for their unflinching commitment to the future of Texas schoolchildren.

"The full potential of our state and nation depends on how well our students are prepared to embrace and master the challenges ahead. Critical to achieving this goal is ensuring excellence in public education. In communities across the state, school board members willingly step forward to tackle serious issues, deal with financial uncertainties, and provide excellent educational experiences for all of our children," said James B. Crow, TASB executive director. "These local trustees embrace hard work as they demonstrate compassion and concern for the well-being of every student."

"Please join me in recognizing the important role that school boards play in providing a quality education for young Texans. We applaud them for seeing that our students have the tools necessary for success and building an even stronger foundation for the Texas of tomorrow," he said.

Salado ISD Board of Trustees members are these:

Dr. Kim Bird, Community Volunteer/Homemaker and Former School Administrator - 8 years

Rodney Bell, Senior Vice President of Technology Services for First Community Services, school board vice president - 8 years

Kristi Jarvis, Community Volunteer/Homemaker and Former Registered Nurse, school board secretary - 2 years

Jeff Kelley, Owner of Salado Plumbing - 9 years
Melanie Kirchmeier, Broker/Owner at Century 21 Bill Bartlett - 4 years

Chris Seaton, Mechanical Engineer - 10 years

Darrell Street, Retired from General Mills - 11 years

"Our children benefit every day from the hard work and long hours contributed by our trustees. Serving as a crucial link between the community and classroom, this board is responsible for an annual budget of $13 million, 1,669 students, 200 employees, and four campuses. Please take a moment and tell school board members 'thanks for caring about our children and giving so much to our community.' Let them know we support them and that their dedicated service is recognized and truly appreciated," Superintendent Michael Novotny said.

TASB is a nonprofit association established in 1949 to serve local public school boards. School board members are the largest group of publicly elected officials in the state. The districts they represent serve more than 5.2 million public school students.

Report: Texas isolation policies dangerous for kids

By ERIC GALATAS
TEXAS NEWS SERVICE

AUSTIN, Texas - Texas is one of only 10 states that allows juvenile justice centers to use solitary confinement indefinitely to punish children, according to a new report.

The survey by the national law firm Lowenstein Sandler found 21 states now prohibit punitive isolation and 20 others impose time-limits.

Patrick Bresette, executive director with the Children's Defense Fund of Texas, says time-outs to separate a juvenile from the rest of the population can be useful, but solitary confinement isn't the answer.

"But the practice that has no real limits in law that allows administrative approval to just kind of snowball and add up to hours and hours and hours and days and days of solitary confinement, that's clearly damaging," he says. "And it would be good for us to have a policy that really restricted that use as much as possible."

Bresette notes the report's in-depth research can be an important tool for state legislators already committed to juvenile justice reform and says the Children's Defense Fund will work with other Texas groups to advance the issue in the next session.

Texas is one of the last remaining states in the nation to allow indefinite solitary confinement as punishment. (ALEXRATHS/STOCKPHOTO)

Half of all suicide victims in juvenile detention nationally were in isolation at the time they took their own lives, according to the report, noting concerns expressed by former Attorney General Eric Holder, and 62 percent had a history of solitary confinement.

Mark Soler, executive director with the Center for Children's Law and Policy, says isolation has an especially profound impact on young people.

"Solitary confinement causes a variety of harms to children," he says. "Including psychological and emotional harm, increased anxiety, depression, psychosis on some children, increased risk of suicide and self-harm."

Soler adds increasing staff at facilities is also important. He says after 14 hours on the job, staffers have no patience when children act up, and lock them up instead of taking time to de-escalate a situation.

The report found young people have been held in solitary confinement for up to 23 hours a day, often with no human interaction and, in some cases, children were held in small rooms with windows that were barely the width of their own hands.

Salado Chamber of Commerce, Tourism Bureau introduces staff

The Salado Chamber of Commerce and Tourism Bureau starts the new year with a new staff, including new Executive Director Mary Poché.

Mary Poché

Mary Poché started work in November at the Salado Chamber of Commerce and Tourism Bureau as the new Executive Director.

She returns to her Central Texas roots after two years as Executive Director of the Decatur Economic Development Corporation. During her time in Decatur she and her team supported local business through a retention and expansion program. Retail support was a specific focus and it included programs and training geared to business growth.

She was also successful in the recruitment of a desired hotel to the city's Civic Center complex which is scheduled to break ground in early 2016. This was a jump start to the re-branding of the complex in conjunction with the hotel's marketing assistance as a Conference Center, thus allowing the securing of multi-day events including regional trade shows and corporate meetings previously not possible.

Poché has many years of experience in private and nonprofit enterprises specific to events including the successful development and execution of dental office design conferences in strategic U.S. cities, citywide Christmas events, symphony and theater galas and wine festivals.

Prior to working in Decatur, Poché was the Assistant Director of a 4B economic development organization in the Austin suburb of Pflugerville.

While at the Pflugerville Community Development Corporation, she led the business recruitment and marketing program and enjoyed engaging with the business community to support them in various ways including collaborating with the Chamber and other city entities for a "Come Home to Shop" campaign.

She managed many award-winning marketing campaigns that included integrated marketing and public relations strategies resulting in Pflugerville being named by Money Magazine in their Top 100 fastest growing mid-size cities.

Previous to her Pflugerville position, Poche served as Director of Marketing for the Temple Economic Development Corporation in Central Texas.

In this role she worked specifically in marketing the Parks at Central Pointe.

Erin Klingemann

Erin Klingemann joined the Salado Chamber of Commerce and Tourism in late December as the Marketing and Events Manager.

She was previously working at the Hutto Economic Development Corporation.

Erin was in charge of maintaining the business outreach program and providing assistance to local companies which included creating and keeping relationships with community members and leaders. She was responsible for responding to potential leads for the Hutto area, developing the monthly newsletter, updating the EDC website, assisting in developing and maintaining the annual budget.

Prior to working at the Hutto EDC, she worked at the Austin American Statesman where she was part of the Marketing Department and assisted in the coordination of the Capitol 10,000 (the largest 10K race in Texas) and the Auto Show. Erin received her Bachelors in Psychology from Southwest Texas State University. Her continuing education includes the Texas Economic Development Basic Course and the International Economic Development Business Retention and Expansion. She serves on the Hutto Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors and the Community Marketing Team.

Paulette Chandler

Paulette Chandler has joined Salado Chamber of Commerce and Tourism Bureau as Business Operations Administrator after working in the legal community for 35 years.

She retired from the law firm of DuBois, Bryant & Campbell as a legal assistant/paralegal in their real estate, corporate and litigation department.

In 1992, she completed the Legal Assistant Program from the University of Texas after 7 years of working with the Texas Aggregates & Concrete Association as their Administrative Manager. She planned their annual convention of 500 people, the yearly short course and several other meetings throughout the year.

Her duties also included financial planning as well as the yearly budget.

 Opening lead — queen of clubs.

Undoubtedly, your batting average as declarer would rise appreciably if you could see the defenders' hands instead of having to guess the location of the missing high cards and the distribution of the suits. Sometimes, though, it isn't easy to find the winning line of play even with all 52 cards in view. Admittedly such hands are rare, but they are fascinating when they do arise. Here is such a case. West leads the queen of clubs against your four-heart contract, and you win with the ace. Probably the instinctive play at trick two is to lead a low diamond and finesse dummy's nine after West follows low. This play does not succeed in the actual deal, because East wins with the ten and returns a trump. Eventually you lose actual case, East covers the nine with the ten, you play the queen. (It does East no good to rise with the king because the most you could then lose would be two diamonds and a heart.) West takes the queen with the ace but is stymied. He cannot afford to lead a trump, so let's say he returns a club. You ruff and lead another diamond. East wins and returns a trump, but you don't jeopardize the contract by taking a finesse. Instead, you win with the ace and ruff your last diamond to assure making four. In fact, this is the right line of play even if the East-West cards are not known, but it is hard in actual practice to resist leading diamonds initially from the South hand. ## CHOCOLATE STOUT CAKE WITH FRESH FIGS

Serves 16

The dark and spicy molasses notes of stout beers play beautifully with chocolate and fresh figs. This show-stealing cake needs nothing more than a dusting of cocoa powder, but you can also serve it with whipped cream — and mini steins of creamy stout to wash it down.

3/4 cup (1 1/2 sticks) plus 2 tablespoons unsalted butter, divided, plus more for the pan
3/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons unsweetened (not Dutch process) cocoa powder, divided, plus more for dusting
2 cups stout beer (such as oatmeal or chocolate stout)
1 cup turbinado sugar
1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1/2 pound fresh figs, stemmed and quartered
1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper
3/4 teaspoon plus pinch fine sea salt, divided
2 cups all-purpose flour
1/8 teaspoon ground cloves
3 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla bean paste or pure vanilla extract
1 cup dark chocolate discs or bittersweet chocolate chips
1 1/2 teaspoon baking soda

Preheat the oven to 325°F. Butter a 10-inch springform pan and then evenly coat with 2 tablespoons of the cocoa powder, tapping out excess.

Combine beer, 3/4 cup of the butter and remaining 3/4 cup cocoa powder in a medium heavy saucepan and heat over low heat, whisking occasionally, until butter is melted, about 5 minutes. Add sugars and whisk until dissolved. Transfer mixture to a large bowl and cool.

Meanwhile, melt remaining 2 tablespoons butter in a large skillet over medium heat. When butter starts to sizzle, add figs and season with pepper and a pinch of the salt. Cook, stirring gently, until figs begin to soften and release their juices, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and cool.

In a bowl, whisk together flour, baking soda, remaining 3/4 teaspoon salt and cloves. In a separate bowl, whisk together eggs and vanilla.

While whisking, slowly drizzle egg mixture into cooled chocolate mixture until combined. Add flour mixture and use a wooden spoon or spatula to stir until smooth (don't overmix), and then stir in chocolate discs.

Pour half of the batter into the prepared pan. Arrange figs evenly over batter and top with remaining batter. Bake until a toothpick inserted into center of cake comes out mostly clean, 50 minutes to 1 hour.

Cool cake in the pan on a wire rack for 10 minutes. Remove the outer ring and cool completely, about 1 hour. Dust with cocoa powder just before serving. Store in an airtight container at room temperature for up to 1 day or in the refrigerator for up to 1 week.

GARLIC-ROASTED BEEF BRISKET

serves 8

This festive entrée is as easy as it is delicious and will fill your house with the wonderful aroma of roasting garlic.

3/4 teaspoon coarse sea salt
1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/4 teaspoon grated nutmeg
1 (4-pound) beef brisket, excess fat trimmed
14 cloves garlic, peeled
3/4 cup low-sodium beef broth

Preheat the oven to 325°F. Combine salt, pepper and nutmeg in a small bowl. Sprinkle mixture all over brisket and place in a roasting pan. Scatter garlic around beef, add broth and tightly cover the pan with aluminum foil. Roast for 2 hours; remove the foil and continue to roast until beef is browned and very tender, 30 to 40 minutes more.

Place beef on a cutting board and let rest for 20 minutes. Use a slotted spoon to remove garlic from the roasting pan and set aside. Pour pan juices into a glass measuring cup and let juices and fat separate; spoon off fat and discard. Thinly slice beef against the grain, transfer to a platter with garlic and pour pan juices over the top.

WARM MUSTARDY BRUSSELS SPROUT SALAD

Serves 4 - 6

This crunchy salad, which combines Brussels sprouts' bright green leaves with a tangy mustard vinaigrette, will win over even skeptical diners. Serve as an impressive side dish for the holidays or a weeknight meal with your family.

1 pound Brussels sprouts, trimmed
1/2 cup blanched hazelnuts, toasted and roughly chopped
1 shallot, finely minced
2 tablespoons champagne vinegar
2 teaspoons Dijon mustard
1 teaspoon whole grain mustard
1/2 teaspoon fine sea salt
1/8 teaspoon grated nutmeg
2 tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil

Using a paring knife, carefully core Brussels sprouts. Pull apart the sprouts, separating the leaves from one another and place in a large bowl. Toss with hazelnuts.

Combine shallot, vinegar, mustards, salt and nutmeg in a small saucepan and let sit for 5 minutes. Add oil. Place pan over low heat and whisk slowly until vinaigrette is emulsified and warmed through, about 3 minutes.

Pour vinaigrette over Brussels sprouts and toss to fully coat leaves. Serve warm. Crack an egg into the center of each ramekin and bake until whites are almost set, about 20 minutes. Set aside to let cool briefly then serve.

Nutritional Info: Serving size: 180 calories (130 from fat), 14g total fat, 1.5g saturated fat, 0mg cholesterol, 330mg sodium, 11g carbohydrates, (4g dietary fiber, 2g sugar), 4g protein.

BBB's top 10 scams of 2015

BBB releases top scams of 2015 in 79-county service area

It's a new year, but unfortunately scams that happen every day are not. Better Business Bureau serving Central, Coastal, Southwest Texas and the Permian Basin serves businesses and consumers, and is a resource for unbiased information on scams and other marketplace issues. BBB also hears from thousands of business owners and consumers about several scams and frauds.

Scams work because there is a "science" to it. First, scammers gain your trust by building a relationship with you so you won't question their motives. They use a lot of techniques to make themselves look credible and claim to be with a legitimate business by using a website, business cards, email address or phone number, all of which are fake.

Scam artists also use emotions to get you to make quick decisions in an "emergency" scenario, which usually results in a victim giving that scammer money. In some cases, the scammer will pretend to be a family member or friend in need of help immediately.

These were the top 10 scams of 2015 from your

BBB:

IRS imposter scam – This scam topped the list with your local BBB and BBB nationally. How this scam works: an imposter, someone claiming to be with the IRS, will call you and tell you that you owe money to the government and if you don't pay now, you will be arrested. Scammers threaten you to send them money via a prepaid debit card or wire transfer, and many people pay out of fear. BBB advises you to hang up – the IRS and other government agencies won't call you to collect money or ask you to make a payment via a prepaid card or wire transfer.

Government grants scam – This scam comes in the form of a phone call, email or letter informing you qualify for a government grant. In order to receive the grant you must first send a processing or delivery fee, usually by wire transfer or a prepaid debit card. BBB advises you to never send money by wire transfer or a prepaid card to someone you don't know or haven't met in person. It's almost impossible to trace this type of payment once it's gone.

Debt collections scam – You receive a phone call from someone claiming that you have an unpaid debt. You are threatened with garnishments, lawsuits, and even jail time if you don't pay right now. The scammer will often use Caller ID spoofing and pretend to be a government agency or law enforcement in order to further invoke fear and make you send money.

Sweepstakes, prizes or gifts scam – With this scam, you receive a phone call, email or letter claiming that you've won a prize in a sweepstakes, perhaps that you've never entered. In order to receive the prize, you're instructed to send a fee to cover expenses associated with processing, insurance or delivery. However, this prize is not real. If you've really won, you should never have to pay money to claim a prize. Phishing scam – Phishing is an attempt to acquire personal information, such as usernames, passwords and credit card numbers by claiming to be a trustworthy person or business. You may receive an email telling you that you've won a contest or that a business needs to verify your personal information. However, links in the email can take you to a site that downloads malware on your computer to search for your sensitive data. BBB advises you to never open emails or click on links from sources you don't know. Keep in mind that legitimate businesses won't ask you to confirm your personal information through email.

Tech support scam – You get a call or a pop-up on your computer claiming to be from Microsoft (or Norton, or Apple) about a problem on your computer. They say if you give "tech support" access to your hard drive, they can fix it. Instead, they install malware on your computer and start stealing your personal information. Advanced fee loan scam – An advanced fee loan may seem like an easy way to get cash fast, but may end up being a burden because of high interest rates and unaffordable payment terms. Advanced fee lenders charge an upfront fee and will "guarantee" you a loan despite your credit history, and chances are, you won't get your money back. Also, real lenders, like banks or credit unions, will check your credit history – even if your credit history is good. A lender who isn't interested in your credit history is an immediate red flag.

Fake check or money order scam – This scam can happen any time someone is paying you for goods or services, even when you are selling something online. You receive a check in the mail that is larger than the amount owed and you are asked to deposit the check and wire the difference. However, the check ends up being a fake and when it bounces, you are the one out of the money.

Employment scam – Scammers may say they have a job opening or can guarantee job placement if you first pay a fee to cover the cost it takes to place you in a job. However, after you pay, the job doesn't materialize. If a potential employer asks you to pay the company to cover the costs of testing, training or background checks, consider it a red flag.

Lottery scam – Like a sweepstakes scam, you receive a letter or an email message that claims you've already won a foreign lottery. The letter may be from a government agency, a bank, a well-known national company or a company you have never heard of. To collect your winnings, you must send a check or wire transfer to cover fees.

However, it's illegal to play a foreign lottery and any lottery that asks you to send money in order to claim your prize is a scam.

BBB offers these tips to always keep in mind:

If you are unsure about a phone call, email or letter that claims to be from your bank, utility company, government agency, etc., call the business directly using the number on your bill. Take the time to research the business or organization reaching out to you.

To find or report scams, (even if you haven't lost any money), go to bbb.org/scamtracker.
