TxDOT may move big rigs onto just one lane

By TIM FLEISCHER Editor-in-Chief

TXDOT just finished a traffic study of the Salado project, according to Jodi Wheatley, Public Information Officer for the I-35 in the Waco District.

According to Wheatley, TXDOT may limit trucks to one lane, even when there are only two travel lanes. "In the last legislative session, an amendment was made to the law forbidding the restriction of trucks from a travel lane in areas where there are less than three lanes available," Wheatley told Salado Village Voice in response to an earlier query last week.

"A lane restriction can now be approved in a work zone if it is deemed to be necessary to improve safety," she stated. "The requirements for applying for a work-zone lane restriction included conducting a traffic study, which includes research into several areas of the vehicle types, roadway, etc."

The study, according to Wheatley, has been sent to TXDOT Traffic Operations Division for review. From there, it goes to TX-DOT Administration.

"Once it is approved, a change order must be negotiated with the project contractor, and after that is approved, the appropriate signs must be ordered and constructed," Wheatley stated. "Once the signs are posted in the work zone, the restriction can be enforced."

'We expect a quick initial approval process, but the negotiation, construction and posting of the signs could take several weeks," she added. "We will endeavor to complete the process as quickly as possible."

Wheatley said that TX-DOT has taken several steps to enhance safety in this section: lowering the speed limit, additional speed-limit signs mounted with a wide red border, speed-check trailers and an end-of-queue warning system.

"This system has helped prevent serious crashes and fatalities in those conditions," she said.

Earlier this week, James Construction repaired cracked pavement, move barrier sections to lessen some curvature of the lanes, and paint new stripes to help traffic move away from the barriers and stay within the appropriate

"We continue to look for more ways to improve safety," she said. "We have begun using portable message signs on each end of Salado to warn drivers to slow down before entering the construction area and, when conditions dictate, to slow down on wet pave-

She added: "We ask drivers to exercise patience and accept their responsibility to drive safely through this area."

Truck lost to fire

SVFD seeking donations to help replace rescue unit

By TIM FLEISCHER EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Salado Volunteer Fire Department lost its prime rescue truck this morning when volunteer Juan Castillo was driving it to the scene of an accident on I-35 in the Prairie Dell area at about midnight last night (March 30). The engine began smoking and eventually ignited into flames and engulfed the

SVFD Chief Shane Berrier was already on location at the accident when Castillo called him to tell him that the engine had started to smoke. Castillo was able to turn the truck, a 1995 International that the fire department bought new at the time, around and head back to Salado. He got as far as Thomas Arnold at West Village Road when he had to pull over. The engine then caught fire and spread to the cab of the rescue truck.

Fortunately, SVFD was able to get the rescue equipment off of the truck and there were no injuries to SVFD personnel.

"The truck is a loss, though," Chief Berrier said. He added that he is in contact with the insurance company to begin filing the claim. "I don't think we will get back the replacement cost of the vehicle, just the value of it."

This will put a financial burden on the SVFD when the department replaces the rescue unit. Chief Berrier estimates the cost to replace the rescue unit at $200,000. "We priced some used 2005 models and they are at least $160,000," Berrier said.

"I don't know if the insurance company is going to total the vehicle or make us reuse the bed and body and put it on a new chassis," he said. "We are waiting to hear back from them.'

The insured value on the rescue unit is $100,000.

If you would like to make a donation to help replace the rescue unit, you can mail payments to Salado Volunteer Fire Department, PO Box 503, Salado, TX 76571. You can also donate through gofundme at https://www. gofundme.com/saladofire. So far, $2,010 has been raised by two dozen contributors.

Aldermen mull Sanctuary design guidelines

Salado aldermen will consider adopting the proposed Design Guidelines of The Sanctuary as well as accepting the Waste Water Discharge Permit and donation of six acres of land from Sanctuary Developers at their 6:30 p.m. April 7 meeting.

The board will also consider accepting a Public Utility easement from Sanctuary for the wastewater improvements.

In other business, the board will review the contract with the Salado Chamber of Commerce.

In executive session, the board will review the evaluation of the Chief of Police.

Institute considers: Could Reagan win in 2016?

Ronald Reagan's name is frequently invoked during this political season. But could he even win if he were running this year? That's the question that the Institute for the Humanities will be examining at the Wilmer Memorial Lecture coming up this Saturday in Salado.

Renowned historian Dr. H.W. Brands will try to answer that question at the Wilmer Lecture at 4 p.m. April 9 at the Salado Civic Center. Dr. Brands is an award winning author who has written the recent bestseller, Reagan, The Life. His lecture entitled "Could Reagan Win in 2016?" is free and open to the pub-

Dr. H.W. Brands has spent his career studying, writing and lecturing about America's leaders. The Salado lecture will discuss his most recent book, Reagan, The Life, that focuses on former President Ronald Reagan and his impact on our country. This is his second trip to Salado to talk to the Institute. Several years ago he spoke here about President Obama's place in history.

Dr. Brands is an awardwinning author and a professor of history at The University of Texas at Austin. He is a prolific writer about American history and politics. A number of his books have been bestsellers, and two have been Pulitzer Prize finalists. Dr. Brands lectures frequently on politics, historical and current events, and is a popular guest historian and commentator on numerous national and international television and radio programs He received his undergraduate degrees in history and mathematics from Stanford. He taught those subjects in high schools and community college while earning graduate degrees in mathematics and history. He concluded with a doctorate in history from the University of Texas at Austin where he now holds the Jack Blanton, Sr. Chair of History and teaches history and writing to both graduate students and undergraduates. He taught at Vanderbilt University and Texas A&M University before joining the faculty at the University of Texas.

An Open Exchange of Ideas

Yes, the Delegates Can Decide

Donald Trump has made his first threat to sue over the procedures for selecting delegates to the Republican convention. It surely won't be his last.

The Wall Street Journal reported that Ted Cruz may come out of Louisiana with as many as 10 more delegates than Trump, even though the mogul narrowly beat Cruz in the popular vote there. In a tweet, Trump pronounced it "unfair," and worthy of litigation.

The Louisiana delegate picture isn't evidence of anything untoward. Trump and Cruz both won 18 delegates on election night. Marco Rubio, since dropped out, won five, and another five are uncommitted. The Cruz campaign has done the nitty-gritty work to see that those delegates are likely Cruz supporters.

The only scandal here is that the Cruz campaign, built on grass-roots organizing muscle, knows the process and is working hard for every advantage. Trump's plaint is a little like showing up at a cricket match and crying foul because the opposing team knows the rules and all you know is that you swing a bat.

The Louisiana flap is a window into the intricate, state-by-state process of picking delegates to a Rich Lowry convention in Cleveland where the allegiance of every last delegate might matter. If there is an open convention, Trump will argue that the voters should rule, not delegates no one has heard of, selected at obscure precinct, county, district and state meetings. He will, in short, declare the entire exercise of a contested convention illegitimate.

Is it? We are used to the voters directly deciding, and should Trump perform strongly enough to win a majority of delegates, 1,237, they, in effect, will. But if he falls short, the delegates enter the picture. If Trump has only won a plurality of delegates, a badly divided party would be nominating a candidate who couldn't reach a majority and, so far, has shown no general-election appeal. In this circumstance, delegates would be justified in looking to someone else better suited to win an election and protect the party's interests.

It's not unheard of for top vote-getters in America to fall short of the top prize. Otherwise, there would have been a Gore administration. Al Gore won the popular vote in 2000, but still fell short of George W. Bush, who won the Electoral College.

If you count Michigan, where Barack Obama's name didn't appear on the ballot, Hillary Clinton very narrowly won the most votes in the 2008 primaries. That was good enough for an appointment as secretary of state -- under President Obama, who understood the delegate-allocation rules much better.

Trump has thrived so far without an extensive, traditional political operation. But politics isn't only about TV interviews and big rallies. There is a reason that the system also rewards candidates who can motivate and muster people to do the grassroots activism involved in winning small victories at local meetings. This is literally getting people involved in the process, and it could take on an outsized significance in deciding the immediate future of the Republican

Trump would be well-served to complain less about the rules, and learn more.

Arbitrary caps deny local governments flexibility ti-tax sentiment is all the rage these days. It has come to dominate political dialogue and, to an increasing extent, policy. Since Texas is heavily dependent on property taxes to fund local government and public education, rates here are higher than in states which rely more heavily on other sources of revenue, such as a state income tax. This has fueled cries for property tax relief and the Lieutenant Governor has identified this as a legislative priority. The discussion around this issue, however, has focused not on examining legitimate ways to reduce the costs of government, or alternative ways to fund essential governmental services, but rather on various devices to arbitrarily "cap" property taxes (affecting local governments only), either through modifications to the way properties are appraised for the purposes of taxation or through restrictions on the total amount of revenue local governments may receive. Both ideas will produce dangerous, unintended consequences but, since the focus of current discussion is on revenue caps, rather than appraisal caps, let's look at this concept more closely.

Anti-government, an-

Citing examples of double digit growth in the taxes as proof of "run-away" expansion of local government, proponents seek to impose a cap which would limit the rate of increase in the revenue a local government may receive to some defined measure of inflation. On its face this idea sounds sensible enough but is in fact problematic for several reasons.

First, the underlying premise is flawed. looking at growth in revenues from property taxes, proponents of caps fail to note that the bulk of the revenue increase in recent decades has come from growth in the tax base (total value of taxable property), not the tax rate, which is controlled by local officials. And this increase has been driven by population growth and the new construction that comes along with it - not from indulgent spending or hikes in tax rates by local governments. When the value of new construction is removed from the calculation, the rate of growth in local government budgets has been very modest. More importantly, they also fail to note that population growth brings with it an increase in demand for the basic services local governments provide more streets and highways to build and maintain, more police, fire and emergency services, more cases in the courts, etc.

Guest Commentary

Tim Brown, Bell County Commissioner Precinct Two

Secondly, limiting revenue to some benchmark of inflation requires defining what an appropriate measure of inflation is. For local government spending, no standard measure exists. Commonly cited indexes, such as CPI, measure the costs of consumer goods representing a cross section of normal domestic buying habits. But local governments have a different "shopping list". Our budgets are heavy in concrete, asphalt, steel, heavy equipment, specially equipped vehicles for law enforcement and emergency response agencies, information technologies, etc. - all expensive and subject to market forces not normally felt by domestic consumers.

Thirdly, an arbitrary cap denies local governments the flexibility needed to respond to major emergencies or swings in the economy. Counties impacted by natural disasters may encounter extraordinary costs that can't be covered by normal revenue streams. A major weather event or wildfire could literally bankrupt a city or county. Local officials' hands would be tied.

But there is a larger and more insidious aspect to this policy that isn't immediately apparent. Statutory restrictions on the authority of locally elected officials to make decisions about spending - and taxes - amount to a de facto transfer of authority from local governments to the state. This is the California model of government, put in place in 1978 with the adoption of the now-famous Proposition 13, an initiative designed to reduce property taxes there. History has clearly shown us that Prop 13 actually resulted in a loss of local control and an unprecedented expansion of state government. It gutted the ability of cities and counties to provide essential services and put in place an inefficient, top-heavy system of agency-controlled, formula and block grant based distribution of state funds for transportation, public safety, public health, public education, etc. and the measurable level of service or performance in each in each of those categories has declined steadily over time. By any measure, this approach to government has been a dismal failure in California and other states where similar initiatives have been tried.

Why would we take Texas down that road?

The answer is purely political. Proponents of caps conveniently point to local governments as the villains responsible for high property taxes. This is a deliberate application of an old magicians' device known as misdirection focus your attention over there so you don't notice what's going on over here. Advocates of caps fail to note that in Texas, most essential governmental services are provided through local governments, and the costs of these services comprise the bulk of local budgets. This is particularly true for counties, whose duties and responsibilities are narrowly and specifically defined by state law. The costs of these services are tied directly to market forces and population-based demand. Moreover, in recent years notable increases in local government spending have actually been driven by the state. For example, following the economic downturn in 2008, the legislature, desperate to not raise taxes, slashed funding for state mental health services. This forced an influx of patients with chronic mental disorders into county jails where local tax payers are legally required to pay the bills. The result was a significant increase in jail costs, a situation counties continue to struggle with today. This is just one of many examples. And, remember, these mandates do not go away when Austin politicians tweak the mechanisms of the tax system.

I encourage everyone to examine this issue very carefully and recognize it for what it is - a disingenuous effort by a few to curry political favor by championing a flawed populist notion with no regard for the long-term consequences. There may indeed be some minor benefits for certain classes of tax payers in the short term, but, make no mistake, the end results will be a loss of local control, reductions in essential services and bigger government in Austin.

Village of Salado status update: Sewer and Sanctuary

The background and the status of various issues relating The Rest of the Story to the sewer and the sanctuary.

Three Options:

In the beginning stages of the sewer project there were 3 options:

- (1) Run lines to the Lampasas river and connect with the Belton-Temple waste water facility.
- (2) Build a plant on the east-side
- (3) Build a plant on the west side

The Belton-Temple Option

The Belton-Temple option was discussed and an engineering study was done. The report to the council concluded that all of the approved bond money would have to be used to

- (1) Build the initial lines to the Temple/Belton plant
- (2) Construct parallel lines at a future date to accommodate needed capacity

The end result: Insufficient remaining bond funds to pay for collection lines to build the system in the city limits.

The East Side Option

Sanctuary offered free land and a permit for a treatment Currently: facility resulting in much negotiation. The Board of Alderman decided an agreement was not possible and broke off all negotiations.

The West Side Option

Land was found on the West Side and plans to purchase it were made

Thirty days after ending the negotiations, Sanctuary called and offered to meet the terms of the Board of Aldermen:

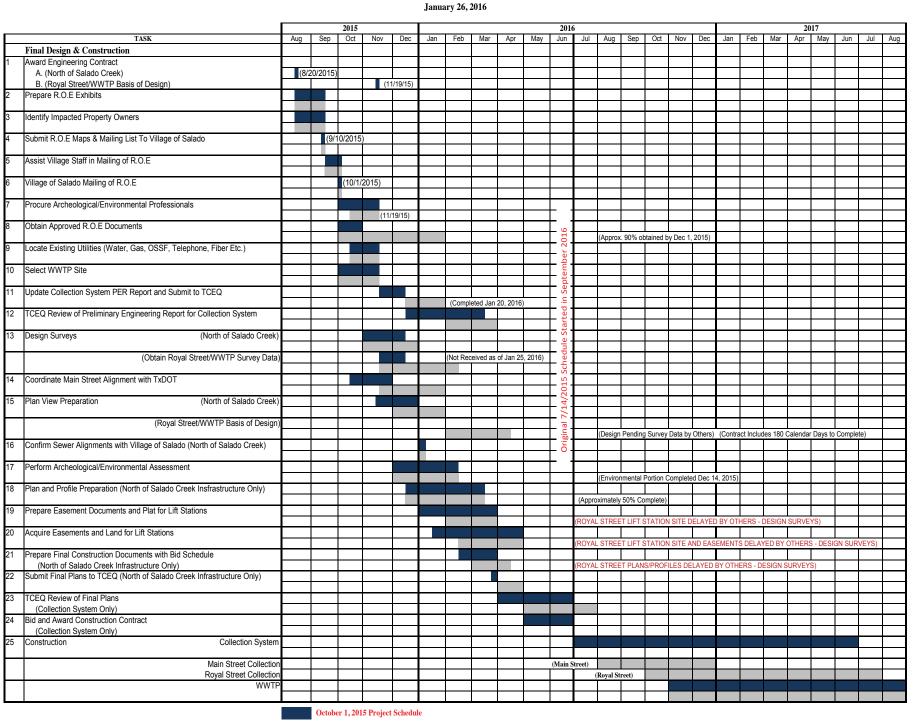

- (1) 6 acres, valued at 120 thousand dollars, would be donated for the wastewater treatment facility
- (2) no requirement for us to reserve any capacity for their development
- (3) the wastewater permit, valued at $130,000, would be given to Salado
- (4) all development property would be annexed into the Village immediately
- (5) village would not pay for any of Sanctuary's sewer infrastructure and Sanctuary would pay for all sewer services including hook-up fees.

Advantages that the BOA saw in receiving this land and permit donation were:

- (1) Salado would not have to compete with another community named Sanctuary just south of our corporate limits that had their own municipal utility district and would keep all property taxes and sales taxes.
- (2) The Sanctuary permit would save the village 12-months, the amount of time needed to secure a permit, and the savings of $130,000, the cost of the permit.

- (1) Extensive engineering work and survey work is completed
- (2) An accurate and detailed Time-Table be agreed upon.
- (3) A Sewer Plant and line on East and West sides of I-35 will be completed and operating October, 2017, if not sooner. Note: Each stage of the construction must be approved by TCEQ and various other state and federal agencies; therefore, it takes a year to build it. Both the sewer lines and the building of the plant will occur at the same time.
- (4) As soon as the new plant is built, all of main street and west side of I-35 will be connected to the new plant, and the stagecoach plant will be torn down.

Playoff run has been one of revenge for Salado girls

By Tim Fleischer Editor-in-Chief

To get back to the Region IV tournament where they saw their playoff run end last year, Salado Lady Eagles had to get through the #1 Giddings Lady Buffs on April 5, beating them 2-1 at House Park in Austin.

Ashlen LaCanne scored both goals that lifted the Lady Eagles to the Regional tournament. In the first round of the Region IV tournament, they will face Rockport-Fulton, the winner of District 30-4A. which beat Port Isabel 6-0 April 5. Joining Salado and Port Isabel will be Pleasanton, which beat King 3-2 in the Region Ouarterfinal and Boerne. which put a 10-1 beatdown on Canyon Lake.

Boerne ousted the Lady Eagles last year in the final round of the Region IV tournament. But this playoff run has been one of revenge. The Lady Eagles beat Wimberley in the Area Round to avenge their only loss. Salado carries a 24-1 record into the tournament and are the highest ranked team left in the playoffs.

But getting to McAllen has not been easy.

Against the top-rankied Giddings Lady Buffs, Salado fought a tightly contested match. The Lady Eagles carried a 2-1 lead into the second half.

Salado drew blood first when LaCanne took a blocked shot on goal off of a Giddings defender in front of the goal and rocketed it past the goalie with 25:46 left in the first.

She scored again about 11 minutes later, despite having two other shots on goal go wide earlier in the period, taking an assist from Annie Ewton and hitting the lower left hand corner of the goal with 14:33 left in the first.

Up 2-0, Salado goalie Sam Isbell had to block three shots on goal in less than four minutes under the relentless attack of the Lady Buffs. The Lady Eagle defense went from sideline to sideline defending against the speedy girls from Giddings.

The Lady Buffs finally converted their pressure with 4:19 left in the first when Megan Rangel needled the ball past two Salado defenders and shot it into the upper left of the net.

Giddings threatened again with just two minutes left in the first when Rengel shot the ball over the net.

Earlier in the period, Salado missed two scoring opportunities when shots by LaCanne went wide for her at 20 minutes and 17:40 in the first.

Although the second was scoreless, it was not without drama, as Giddings maintained pressure on the Lady Eagles and held the ball on the Salado side of the field for what seemed an eternity of the final five minutes of play. With 4:50 left in regulation, a shot by Rangel went wide right. When the Lady Eagles kicked the ball back toward the Giddings net, Sara Wilkerson saw a shot that would have sealed the game for Salado go wide left with just a minute left.

Giddings then attacked again, but Annie Ewton twice defended the ball in the final half-minute for Salado before Morgan Bird provided the last defense needed, kicking the ball past midfield as time ran out.

Salado Lady Eagles will face Rockport-Fulton in the semi-final round of the Region IV 4A Soccer Tournament at McAllen Veterans Memorial Stadium on Feb. 8. The game time is to be announced.

Salado Lady Eagles avenged their only loss of the year, when they beat the Wimberley Lady Texans 2-0 in the Area round of the 4A UIL Girls Soccer playoffs.

Jessica Ringstaff scored in the first half for the Lady Eagles, on an assist from Annie Ewton.

In the second half, China Saxton scored with 21 minutes left in regulation to give Salado a 2-0 lead, which the girls never relinquished.

Eagles lose in Area match

Salado Eagles varsity soccer season came to an end in Burtnet April 1, where they lost to the Fredericksburg Billies 3-1 in an Area Round match.

Constantinos Loullis scored the only goal for Salado with an assist by Daniel Magadan Salado and Liberty Hill were both ousted in the second round of playoffs. The Panthers lost to Boerne in the Area game 3-1. In the bi-district round, the Panthers crushed La Grange, the fourth place team in 26-4A by a score of 9-0.

In the first round, Giddings, the runner-up in District 26-4A beat Lampasas, the third place team in District 25-4A by the score of 9-0. Gonzales, the winner in 26-4A, beat Little River-Academy, fourth place team in 25-4A, 6-0.

Eagles 3-0 in 25-4A baseba

By TIM FLEISCHER EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Salado Eagles are 3-0 in district play after beating the Burnet Bulldogs 4-1at home on April 2, a game that was postponed from the day before due to rainy weather.

Salado needed only five hits to plate four runners in the effort.

Lightfoot Garrett scored in the second inning for Salado. He walked to lead off the inning and went to second on a sacrifice bunt by Grant Taylor. Jacob Wilk clobbered the ball to deep right to bring Lightfoot home.

Philip Ellis and Preston Payne were both hit by the pitcher, loading the bases, but Hunter Reagor was able to strike out the next batter to get out of the inning with three runners on base.

Dunnahoo Ryan walked and went to second on a fielders choice. An error on fielding a short in the sixth inning. Steven to right by Wilk allowed Dunnahoo to score in the third inning for a 2-0 lead for the Eagles.

Ellis led off the fourth by hitting a single to deep left. He advanced on a single by Payne and went to third on a passed ball. Drew Dobbins laid down a short grounder to third base that score Ellis and moved Payne to third. Payne scored on a single to left by Cody Wolf.

Burnet's only run came

Gallardo led off with a single and went to second on a passed ball. A groundout by Reid Dalrymple moved Gallardo to third. He scored on a sacrifice fly to the right fielder by Dylan

Wolf pitched all seven innings for the Eagles. He allowed four hits and one run. He struck out five batters and walked one. Wolf is 5-0 on the mound for the Eagles. He has an ERA of 1.19 and has struck out 41 batters in seven appearances on the mound.

Lady Eagles come home after 3-game skid in 25-4A

BY TIM FLEISCHER EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Salado Lady Eagles struggled at the plate against dominating pitcher Makenzie Carpenter on April 2, losing 1-0 to the Burnet Lady Bulldogs.

Carpenter struck out 15 Salado batters to earn the win, allowing just three hits and walking none.

The Lady Bulldogs scored with two outs in the first inning on back-to-back-to-back singles by Carpenter, Alex Barry and Natalie Frank. Carpenter scored on the single to center by Frank.

Twice more in the game, Burnet put runners in scoring position, but losing pitcher Bailey Tindell was able to get out of trouble. In the fourth inning, Burnet had the bases loaded with two outs, when second baseman Meagan Hill caught a foul fly to end the inning without a runner scoring. In the fifth, Ashley Hallmark walked for Burnet and went to second on a passed ball. Carpenter was hit by a pitch but both base runners were put out in a double play that allow Barry to go to first. A pop up to shortstop Malory Schattle ended the inning.

Salado had runners in scoring position only once in the game when Tindell and Lindy Martin singled with one out. Carpenter then struck out the next two batters. Rebecca Dockray had the other hit for Salado, a single with two outs in the inning.

Tindell was issued the loss on the mound for Salado. She faced 26 batters, walking four, striking out five and giving up four

The Lady Eagles have a three-game home stretch, playing the Llano Lady Jackets on April 5 (after presstime), the Taylor Lady Ducks on April 8 and the Lampasas Lady Badgers on April 12. The Lady Eagles are 3-1 in District 25-4A.

Austin Folksinger Steve Brooks to Perform at Tablerock April 9

Acclaimed Austin folksinger, and author of the song The Mermaid of Salado Creek, Steve Brooks will bring his Texas balladry to Salado on April 9, in a special event titled Brooks by the Creek. The 6:30 p.m. dinner concert will be held at Tablerock Amphitheater's indoor stage.

Known as a cross between two famous guys named Brooks – Garth and Mel – this Brooks has released six albums over 20 years, while having more than a dozen songs recorded by folk and Americana artists like Slaid Cleaves, Christine Albert, The Flyin' As, Danny Santos and Oscar-winning actor Russell Crowe. His Mel side wrote a satirical song-aweek for Jim Hightower's nationally-syndicated radio show, as well as appearing on "I've Got a Secret" as six-time World Pun Champion. He is also a former reporter for the New Orleans Times-Picayune and a spiritual speaker who has spoken at more than 30 Unitarian churches. Austin folksinger Jimmy LaFave calls him "a wordsmith of the first order.'

Brooks is known in Salado for his annual performances at the Tablerock Poetry Festival, and for opening for performances of the summertime musical Salado Legends. He was inspired to write a song about the legend of Sirena after hearing it at his first Tablerock Festi-

His new album, I'll Take You Home, was released in January and debuted at #51 on the Folk DJ Radio Chart. Crowdfunded by the faith of more than 160 fans, it promises to spread Brooks' songs even farther beyond the borders of Texas. Writes Stave Magazine; "He is simply the most clever man you'll hear with a guitar." You can sample his songs, puns and more at stevebrooks.

Reservations for the $15 adult dinner/concert may be made by calling Tablerock at (254) 947-9205. Couples reservations are $25 The concert and dinner will be indoor at the room behind the stage. Seating is limited.

Steve Brooks will present 'Brooks by the Creek' at Tablerock's indoor theater. Call to reserve your space for the dinner theater performance.

Pocket Music launches April 9

The Salado Chamber of Commerce/Tourism Bureau is co-sponsoring the Pocket Music Artists' Series on the 2nd Saturday of the month starting in April and going through September.

The first program in the series will be held from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. on April 9. You will find the musicians in the Courtyard of Salado Square (behind Magnolia's) at 21 North Main Street.

Richard Paul Thomas will perform from 10 a.m. until Noon, Amara will perform from Noon until 2 p.m. and DJ & Brandy take the stage from 2 until

Richard Paul Thomas, better known to his friends as RpT, has been making music since rock 'n' roll was young. One of his songs, "Salado," has been adopted by the Village of Salado, which stated in the official proclamation that it "represents our community's spirit, character and history." Salado is also one of three of Richard's songs included in Tablerock's Annual Production of Salado Legends. www.richardpaulthomas.com

Amara is an indie folk songwriter who emerged from the Kerrville Music Camp after learning to write songs and play guitar at the age of 13. She's performed at the Kerrville Folk Festival, Southwest Regional Folk Alliance Conference, and Threadgill's in Austin, as well as other events at her university. Amara has a voice that is reminiscent of Jewel, slightly unrefined but pulls you in with her heartfelt lyrics and emotional stage presence. In addition to her studies at Southwestern University, she shares her talents with aspiring songwriters as a Songwriting Teacher at Boys & Girls Clubs of America. https://soundcloud.com/musicbyamara

DJ & Brandy - This duo acoustic bring smiles and fun to listeners throughout the Central Texas area sharing their music with their new found friends. David Johnson, (better known as "DJ"), and Brandy Harlan, met in the Open Mic circuits of Central Texas in 2013. With DJ's extensive repertoire of songs, talent on the acoustic guitar and Brandy's ear for harmonic vocals - they found it easy to work with each other. Eventually, they hit the Central Texas live music scene as a fully fledged musical duo. Their status for quality performances is renowned amongst the area's music venues and festivals.

Amara

Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker

The main reason why some players win more national and world championships than others is, without question, superior skills. But on occasion, luck -- in the form of being in the right place at the right time -- can play an important role.

of how the luck factor works. Bob Hamman, one of the world's best, was playing in the 1983 Life Master Pairs, and on the first of two deals opened the bidding with two notrump. The next player doubled, everybody passed, and although the defenders could have taken the first six tricks with a different opening lead, Hamman wound up making nine tricks for a score of 890 points.

On the second deal, the one shown, Hamman held the South hand and got to four hearts doubled. Offhand, it might seem that West douEast-West vulnerable. NORTH bled once or twice too often, but be that as it may, he exercised his constitutional right to free speech and followed this by leading the jack of spades.

It did not take Hamman long to teach West a lesson. He won the jack with dummy's king, cashed the A-K of trumps and A-Q of spades, discarding two diamonds from dummy, and then led the five of diamonds toward dummy's singleton nine. West compounded his previous felonies by following low, and the outcome was that Hamman made the doubled contract with three overtricks to score another 890 points!

One important principle that emerges is that if your opponents are trying for a slam (which is what Hamman's four-diamond bid suggested), it's poor policy to double them when they stop at a mere game. (c)2016 King Features

Birdwatching is a popular hobby

Generally speaking, most people have a hobby or two in which they enjoy participating in aside from their daily routines. For some it is sports, for others it may be something like stamp collecting or coin collecting, and for others it may be fishing or hiking. There is a hobby that has really taken hold in the United States over the past several decades and that is birdwatching, or birding for short.

It has been estimated that more than sixty million people in the United States participate in birding annually. And this great state of ours is a prime area to birdwatch due to favorable weather conditions, as well as geographical placement.

As I begin to generalize a short overview about this hobby, let me just say that the space allotted for this column is not nearly enough to cover all of the how, what, when, where and whys of birding. It is meant to literally be an overview of a tremendous opportunity to get outdoors!

Michael Price

If one is interested in birding, there are several items that can be considered necessities to obtain before beginning. The first is a good bird identification book. There are several quality books to choose from, and making that selection depends largely on how serious you see yourself participating in the hobby. One of my favorites is the Birds of Texas by Fred J. Alsop III. This is one of several field guides by the Smithsonian Handbook series. The next item to obtain would be a good set of binoculars. These are needed for those hard-to-see species that are small or too far away to make a positive ID. Another item would be a good digital camera. A few years ago, a digital DSLR with a large telephoto lens was the way to go. Now, there are several point and shoot cameras that have up to twelve times zoom capabilities, as well as several megapixels, available for a third of what a single DSLR telephoto lens costs. Digital cameras are really good to use in the field as they allow you to photo a bird, then zoom in for a closer look to aid in the identification.

Open Daily

(254) 947-1909

560 N. Main, Suite 10

Wild About Texas

When in the field birdwatching, there are several questions to ask and answer about a bird's body to assist with making a positive identification. First impressions are the most important in making that ID. Is the head striped, crested, or capped? Are markings present on the face, such as masking, eye rings, or ear patches? Is the color of the body plumage red, blue, or brown? Are the underparts spotted or streaked? Is the tail forked, rounded, long, or short? Are there distinctive markings on the tail such as spots, bands, or bars? What about the bill? Is it needlelike, or is it hooked, or is it cone-shaped?

There are also other things besides physical attributes to observe. What is the surrounding habitat like? What kind of voice does the bird utilize? What is its behavior? Does it hop on the ground, does it fly from bush to bush, or does it soar? What is its flight pattern? Does it exhibit a direct straight line flight? Or does it hover or zigzag?

As you can see, there are several key elements in learning how to be a birdwatcher. But with the mastery of these elements, then you are well on your way to become an experienced birder. Happy birding!
