Salado Plaza underpass to open this week

Northbound I-35 main-lane traffic switched to the overpass over the weekend. Texas Department of Transportation announces that several other changes will occur over the next two weeks.

On June 12, James Construction, the contractor in Salado, switched northbound mainlane traffic from old pavement to new pavement.

The following activities are planned for the I-35 corridor in Salado:

- Salado Plaza Drive underpass will open to through traffic on June 16. Salado Plaza Drive and Mill Creek Drive will be staged with flaggers to guide traffic through the area while the switch is being finalized from 7 p.m. June 15 to 7 a.m. June 16.

- The northbound frontage road from Salado Plaza Drive to FM 2484 is to be converted to one-way north on June 17.

Message boards are currently displaying the upcoming switch to one-way traffic. The work to complete the switch will be finalized from 7 p.m. June 16 to 7 a.m. June 17.

The northbound off-ramp (Exit #286) to FM 2484 to reopen on June 20.

I-35 will have a one lane closure from 10 p.m. June 19 through 7 a.m. June 20.

All these activities are weather dependent.

TxDOT also announces that the deadline for the 3.5 mile project through Salado to be substantially complete by James Construction is October 2016.

James Construction began work on the expansion of I-35 through Salado in June 2012 with an completion date of May 2015.

If James Construction meets the latest deadline, it will be 17 months behind the original schedule, or 47 percent behind the original schedule.

Some skeptics have said that when the sun dies in five billion years, James Construction may have to finish the job in the dark.

Wylie gets past Salado 3-2 in finals

The 4A state baseball championship last week came down to a matter of inches, or perhaps even a fraction thereof.

Had Mack Mueller's fourth pitch to Chase Basham in the sixth inning been an inch lower, the ball would have laid down on the ground in front of the catcher.

Instead the squeeze play bunt popped up into Abilene Wylie third baseman John Tople's glove putting Basham out for the second out. Tople ran back to third, to force out Cody Wolf, who was dashing home to score what would have been the tying run, ending the inning.

Salado struggled with Mueller's pitching throughout the game, but in the sixth scored two runs and had the bases loaded with just one out.

Preston Payne ground out to first to start the sixth, Ryan Dunnahoo walked and was only the second Eagle to reach base so far in the state final. Phillip Ellis singled and Cody Wolf singled to load the bases. Drew Dobbins fought Mueller to a walk after getting behind in the count, forcing across the Eagles' first run. Jacob Wilk singled to score Ellis

Deer feeding on agenda

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Salado aldermen, at their 6:30 p.m. June 16 meeting, will conduct a public hearing on a proposed ordinance relating to "the Intentional Feeding and Disposal of Deer."

The board has been wrestling with the issue of deer in the Salado suburban landscape since last summer, when they rejected last July on a slim majority of 3-2 a similar ordinance that included limited hunts by bow of deer within the village limits.

Aldermen discussed the issue again in the early fall and heard from many residents opposed to the controlled hunting of deer within the village limits.

In November, the Village sponsored a round-table of experts from various states and local governments, including the Texas Parks & Wildlife, Bell County Master Gardeners and the city of Lakeway, to discuss deer populations in a suburban environment like Salado.

Earlier this month, aldermen met in workshop session to hone the proposed ordinance, which deals with the intentional feeding of deer and the disposal of the carcasses of deer that have died.

The ordinance puts in place a fine of no less than $75 or more than $125 per feeding offense. It also puts in place a $50 fee and process for the village to dispose of deer carcasses reported by landowners.

The five-page ordinance stops short of implementing a Managed Lands Deer Permit (MLDP) program, which was part of the failed ordinance last July.

"There is no quick fix. There is no cheap fix," Texas Parks & Wildlife biologist Derrick Wolter told a room full of Saladoans during a November forum on Suburban Deer Populations. "The problem will not go away. The longer you wait, the more expensive it will be."

Dog Daze is June 18

The Salado Chamber of Commerce would like to invite pet owners, their pets, and anyone else who loves animals for a day of doggone fun at the fifth annual Dog Daze of Summer Festival on the grounds of Salado Winery 10 a.m.-3 p.m. June 18.

Admission is free for all. Bring your furry friends and enjoy an array of animal themed vendors, music from a live jazz band, food and treats for you and your pets; as well as several contests.

A pet costume contest, best trick contest, biggest dog contest, and smallest dog contest will take place for a chance to win prizes. There will also be a raffle every hour (must be present to win), that includes a round of golf for four. Raffle tickets are only $5!

The Salado Chamber will give a portion of the proceeds to the Operation K9.

"Bring all of your family and friends, furry or not, to a great day of fun in our community!" said Erin Klingmann with the Salado Chamber of Commerce and Tourism Bureau.

Museum curator speaks at annual July 4 picnic

Salado Historical Society invites you to its annual Salado Independence Day celebration and picnic at 1 p.m. July 4 at the Salado High School Auditorium.

This is a community wide celebration that will include music provided by the Salado Community Chorus, and a pot luck lunch. All Central Texas is invited.

The Salado Historic Society will provide fried chicken and drinks of iced tea and lemonade for the indoor picnic. Attendees are asked to bring a side dish, salad or dessert to share with the community.

A patriotic program is planned to celebrate the signing of the Declaration of Independence 240 years ago. The Salado Community Chorus, directed by the celebrated Jim Mohom, will sing favorite patriotic songs including tributes to the Armed Forces of the United States.

Following the Chorus, Coleman Hampton will give a short talk on the Central Texas Area Museum. Hampton is the new Curator of the Central Texas Museum.

"The Salado Historic Society is most grateful to Sterling Ambrose," according to member Knox Tyson. "Ambrose is a descendant of Sterling Robertson, an early pioneer and settler of Salado. Ambrose has sponsored the complete renovation of the Mansion, a reorganization of the Central Texas Museum and has sponsored Hampton as Curator, at no expense to the residents of Salado. Ambrose's generosity comes at the right time as the reconstruction of I-35 through Salado is coming to a much-needed end. This will be a significant addition as a tourist attraction to the Village of Salado."

Mill Creek hosts fireworks display July 2

Mill Creek Country Club invites you to its third annual Independence Day celebration, culminating with a professional fireworks show over the pond and fountain. The daylong event will be Saturday, July 2, so that otherwise working families can participate.

Bring lawn chairs and come early for good seats for the fireworks display which will start at about 9 p.m. when it gets dark enough.

Billy Helm invites Saladoans and visitors to the annual event, started three years ago by the new ownership group of Mill Creek.

"We started this event to bring local families together for a day and night of fun, safe Fourth of July weekend activities," Helm said. "We hire a professional fireworks company each year."

The country club also gets a waiver from the Village of Salado to conduct the fireworks display. Fireworks are prohibited within the city limits and homeowners are reminded not to "do their own" but instead to enjoy the free community fireworks display at Mill Creek.

Prior to the fireworks going off at dark, Mill Creek is providing free live music 6-9 p.m. July 2.

The day-long event includes a Golf Tournament teeing off at noon on July 2. Sign up at least two hours beforehand at the Pro Shop.

The Mill Creek Grill will also have Hamburger Plates for $10 including soft drink and Hot Dog Plates for $8 including soft drink available for purchase during the evening.

"We appreciate our corporate sponsors for this event," Helm said. "They help us to make it a better event for Salado."

"We approached the Chamber of Commerce and Village Tourism Bureau earlier this year for financial support of this community-wide event,"

Helm said, "but unfortunately were told that due to budget constraints, the Village would not be able to financially support us."

If you would like to be a sponsor or contribute to the community event, you can mail a payment to Mill Creek Golf Course, PO Box 159, Salado, TX 76571 or go by the Pro Shop.

Cooper to take up reins of SHS baseball

Kreece Cooper is the new head baseball coach at Salado High, chosen from a field of 63 applicants for the position, which was posted by Salado ISD six weeks ago when Chad Krempin announced he was leaving Salado ISD at the end of the season to become the head baseball coach in another district.

Kreece Cooper

Cooper has been the assistant coach under Krempin for one year.

A committee comprised of Superintendent Michael Novotny, Athletic Director Paul Baird, head softball coach Kory Craddock, head football coach Alan Haire and head boys basketball coach Kenny Mann interviewed 10 candidates in the first round of interviews. Two candidates were interviewed in the second round and Cooper was the unanimous selection of the committee, according to Dr. Novotny.

Cooper has a bachelor's degree in business administration and a master's degree in education and sports administration from the University of Mary Hardin - Baylor. He played baseball for the University of Mary Hardin - Baylor and with the Cal Ripken Summer Collegiate Baseball.

Coach Cooper teaches business classes at Salado High School and has been an assistant coach for football, girls' basketball, and baseball.

Courtnie Bagley

Local teacher to take part in College Board AP Reading

Salado High School history teacher Courtnie Bagley was selected to participate in the College Board's Annual AP Reading in United States History.

Each June, AP teachers and college faculty members from around the world gather in the United States to evaluate and score the free-response sections of the AP Exams.

AP Readers are high school and college educators who represent many of the world's leading academic institutions. The AP Reading is a unique forum in which an academic dialogue between educators is both fostered and encouraged. "The Reading draws upon the talents of some of the finest teachers and professors that the world has to offer," said Trevor Packer, Senior Vice President, AP and Instruction at the College Board. "It fosters professionalism, allows for the exchange of ideas, and strengthens the commitment to students and to teaching. We are very grateful for the contributions of talented educators like Courtnie Bagley."

The Advanced Placement Program® (AP®) enables willing and academically prepared students to pursue college-level studies - with the opportunity to earn college credit, advanced placement or both - while still in high school. Through AP courses in 37 subjects, each culminating in a rigorous exam, students learn to analyze complex problems, construct solid arguments, and see many sides of an issue - skills that prepare them for college and beyond. Research indicates that students who score a 3 or higher on an AP Exam typically experience greater academic success in college and are more likely to earn a college degree than non-AP students.

An Open Exchange of Ideas

Sage advise passed to you from your neighbors

During the week and meeting every Saturday morning with people individually has been a “stand-up-and-pay-attention” experience that produces thoughtful reflections. All live, work, and invest their lives in Salado and know how challenging these times have been. If you decide to continue reading, be prepared to stand-up-and-pay-attention, the truth of words will cause pondering in the midnight hour.

• “My mother taught me the first steps of a child are the hard ones. Living in Salado and making a difference has taken the courage to take the first step and that requires effort. I had to stop making excuses and realize that making a difference requires me taking the first step. The rest was easy.”

• “Lucy once told Charlie Brown, ‘You are the foul ball in the line drive of life.’ I actually moved to Salado thinking that. However, Salado taught me I am special and unique. I do not waste my time with negative thoughts, and people who try to make themselves look good by making me look bad.”

• “Owning a business is hard. I have learned tough times is an experience that gives the test first and the answers afterwards. Perseverance is not complaining but sustaining, and if that can be done, you will succeed and exceed. Stop blaming situations and others and get busy overcoming.”

• “My neighbor and I walk together. She is older and wiser. Her philosophy: ‘See the good because life is about perspective. Stop making mountains out of molehills. Give up judging, criticizing, and holding grudges. Earn your neighbors love and respect.’

For everything there is a season. We have walked through the fire, been through the winter, and weathered the storm. Salado’s Spirit is stronger, healthier, and more vibrant than ever. Not my words but those of your neighbors.

A safe space from Chaucer

Yale English majors are demanding a safe space from Chaucer.

In a petition to the English department, Yale undergraduates declare that a required two-semester seminar on Major English Poets is a danger to their well-being. Never mind that the offending poets, Shakespeare, Chaucer, Donne, Milton, Wordsworth, et al., are the foundational writers in the English language. It’s as if chemistry students objected to learning the periodic table.

The root of the plaint against the seminar is, of course, the usual PC bean-counting, where prodigious talents who have stood the test of time and explore the deepest questions about what it means to be human are found wanting. The petition whines that “a year spent around a seminar table where the literary contributions of women, people of color, and queer folk are absent actively harms all students, regardless of their identity.”

This is a variation on the widespread belief on campus that unwelcome speech is tantamount to a physical threat. In this case, the speech happens to be some of the most eloquent words written in the English language. One can only pity the exceedingly fragile sensibility it takes to feel assaulted by, say, “Lines Composed a Few Miles Above Tintern Abbey.”

The petition’s implicit contention is that the major poets are too circumscribed by their race and gender to speak to today’s socially aware students, when, in point of fact, it is the students who are too blinkered by race and gender to marvel at great works of art.

The poet Maya Angelou said in a lecture once that as a child she thought, “Shakespeare must be a black girl.” It was because, growing up in the Jim Crow South, a victim of unspeakable abuse, Sonnet 29 spoke so powerfully to her.

Yale’s petitioners must consider Toni Morrison a traitor to her race and gender. She had an argument with a theater director years ago in which she defended “Othello,” and went on to write a production based on Desdemona, the play’s doomed female character. Or how about Derek Walcott, whom a Yale professor sympathetic to the petitioners suggests adding to the required course? He told The Guardian newspaper a few years ago it would be absurd to say, “Don’t read Shakespeare because he was white.”

Anyone reading widely in the English canon will encounter supremely talented female, black and gay writers. In fact, many other Yale courses feature them. But the creative stream began with so-called dead white males. It is their genius that their words transcend their time and place and have given us phrases, characters and stories that are still vital today.

An official description of the Major English Poets seminar says the classes seek to create a heightened “curiosity about the way language works,” as well as “a confidence in engaging with historically and formally diverse literary texts.” This is a reasonable enough academic goal -- unless the students involved are willfully incapable of curiosity or confidence.

There is an easy solution to the dilemma of the aggrieved petitioners: They shouldn’t study English, or anything else that might challenge their absurdly small-minded ideological hobbyhorses.

Reader expounds thoughts regarding Salado governance

Dear Editor:

My wife and I have lived in several different cities in our life time. Since our 2007 arrival into Salado, we’ve been continually involved with the village we love through volunteerism, engagement in community organizations and village government.

However, Salado has recently become the first municipality we’ve ever lived in where a citizen does not have the freedom to disagree with the Mayor and/or the elected officials. At a recent BOA meeting the Mayor again angrily threatened anyone who would dare question his or the boards decisions. He said to call him and he will tell you what you should think and say. (A friend tried calling him but his mailbox was full and message said not taking calls at this time).

In a democracy, the government answers to its people. Our elected officials need to get their own house in order before trying to instruct others. The Mayor needs to realize he isn’t in the military any longer and can’t order the citizens to obey.

Your Voice

Letters to the Editor

This Mayor and this board now own a Village divided, the sanctuary, sewer system, Main Street project, the dying economy, out of date ordinances, the worst permitting process in Central and Southeast Texas, the deer problem, Stagecoach Inn, Hidden Glen, the flooding problems, street repair (the recently repaired Salado Plaza Drive is crumbling already), employees with criminal records as no background check is required by Salado, a city administrator with a questionable work history, BOA members with conflict of interest, an incapable Chamber of Commerce, no Tourism Department, a village staff payroll of 250K and more. They own it all!!!

On June 14th the mayor, at his second State of the Village lecture in four months, will be spoon feeding carefully chosen information and stroking himself and his aldermen on the great job they are doing.

But the proof is in the pudding (Results). Town Halls, lectures, blogs, weekly columns, bureaucratic committees, ignoring the will of the citizens and higher taxes are not, in this writer’s opinion, resulting in any completed projects and are not bringing this Village back together.

Sincerely,
Hans Fields

Dear Editor:

Many thanks to whoever picked up seven or eight bags of leaves from the driveway at 2220 Indian Trail on Sunday afternoon. Such random acts of kindness are what make me realize how lucky I am to live in Salado.

Campaign honors fathers, supports needs of orphans

There are millions of orphaned children in the developing world, many of whom languish in sub-standard institutions without access to basic food, clean water, schooling, medical care and a stable, fun childhood. That's why The Miracle Foundation, a non-profit organization that empowers orphans to reach their full potential by turning orphanages into places where children thrive, is launching its unique Father's Day campaign. The 501(c)(3) charity, which revolutionizes the way orphanages are run, funded and managed, hopes to raise funds for sports and recreation equipment for the orphans it supports in India by Father's Day, June 19.

"This Father's Day, instead of giving him a tie, watch, or power tools, we invite you to honor Dad by spending the same amount of money in a much more meaningful way, one that gives children without dads a real, fun childhood, said Caroline Boudreaux, Founder of The Miracle Foundation.

Participating in our campaign will engage both of you in the lives of less fortunate children in the developing world. What better way to pay tribute to your father than by donating to those who don't have one?

To honor a dad, gift-givers simply visit www.MiracleFoundation.org/Fathers. There, for as little as $25, they can make a tax-deductible donation in the name of their father, a father figure, or special man in their lives. The gift-giver will receive an email with a certificate they can give their honoree for Father's Day, or can instantaneously download the certificate immediately after making their donation.

Donors can honor their dads in several different ways:

$25 - Provides athletic apparel for a child

$50 - Provides a cricket set for an orphanage (India's most popular game!)

$85 - Provides a bundle of sports and recreation equipment for an orphanage (soccer balls, volleyballs, badminton equipment, board games, etc...)

$135 - Provides ALL the sports and recreation equipment for a home.

"We believe in quality over quantity, in supporting the whole child and breaking the cycle of poverty. The new Father's Day campaign represents a meaningful new way that every person can get involved and honor a father at the same time," added Caroline Boudreaux, Founder of The Miracle Foundation. Helping children go from hopeless and head-down, to empowered and standing-tall, with bright futures ahead of them, is one of the most fulfilling endeavors in the world. And having a real, fun childhood is a huge part of making sure that happens."

Launched in 2000, The Miracle Foundation turns struggling, institutional orphanages into stable, loving, nurturing homes where children thrive and truly change the story of their lives. For more information, visit www.MiracleFoundation.org.

time gospel during the revival days while his four children will be singing gospel hymns.

The Erwins started singing as soon as they were each able to talk. Appearing over 270 dates a year with their mother and father, who have been in full-time evangelism for 40 years, they have been traveling full-time their entire life singing in concerts, revivals, and conferences all across the country.

Three of the four siblings, Keith (born 11-12-92), Kody (born 4-26-94) and Kris (born 5-5-96) performed as a trio until 2013, when the group announced that their little sister, Katie (born 9-19-00), would be joining the group full-time on stage, officially making them a Southern Gospel Mixed Group. Their first nationally distributed CD, "Ready To Sail", was released February 3, 2015 and features the fresh and current sound of The Erwins, today.

Salado High gets an A from Children at Risk

Salado High School received an A from Children at Risk, which recently released its rankings of more than 7,000 Texas schools.

Salado Junior High School received a rating of B- and was 655th among 1,670 Texas junior high schools.

Salado Intermediate School received a rating of B+ and was ranked 1,073 among 4,188 elementary schools.

Salado High School was ranked #175 among the 1,159 high school ranked by the non-profit, non-partisan research and advocacy organization. It was the highest ranking among 15 high schools serving Bell County students.

Four of those area high schools, including three in Killeen school district, received an F from Children at Risk. Those were Killeen High, Killeen Ellison, Killeen Shoemaker and Rosebud-Lott.

Temple and Bartlett received D+ while Copperas Cove and Harker Heights High School got Cs and Troy and Academy both got a C+. Belton received a B while Rogers, Belton New Tech and Holland all got a B+.

The Children at Risk website states that the "school rankings strive to serve as an accessible guide for parents, educators and community members of the performance of local schools and to spark important community dialogue on the quality of public education in Texas."

The annual school rankings include the following measures by which schools are ranked: Student Achievement Index based upon on performance on the STAAR Reading and Math test;

Campus Performance Index, which is an adjustment of achievement indicator to eliminate bias toward campuses with low percentage of economically disadvantaged students; Growth Index, which is the improvement over time on standardized test scores in Reading, English and Math. Additionally, high school campuses had the added measurement of a College Readiness Index, which includes graduation rates, SAT/ACT participation rates and scores and AP/IB participation rates and scores.

All campuses were assigned a letter grade, based on their Composite Index. For elementary, middle, and high schools:

- Campuses at or above the 75th percentile (indicating they rank better than at least 75 percent of schools serving the same grade levels) received an "A."

- Campuses at or above the 55th percentile, but below the 75th percentile, received a "B."

- Campuses at or above the 35th percentile, but below the 55th percentile, received a "C."

- Campuses at or above the 15th percentile, but below the 35th percentile, received a "D."

- Campuses below the 15th percentile received an "F."

Once campuses are assigned a general letter grade, "A," "B," and "C" grades were further differentiated into plus/minus grades (e.g., "A+"). The range of Composite Index scores for each letter grade was divided evenly into thirds. The top third of Composite Index scores became "plus" grades and the bottom third of Composite Index scores became "minus" grades. The cut-points are different for elementary, middle, and high schools because they are based on the unique sample of scores for the year's schools at each level.

According to the website, "As a research and advocacy organization, the purpose of the rankings is not only to provide a tool for parents and students, but also to provide information for campuses and districts on how they perform relative to their peers, comparing them against successful models of high-performing public schools."

"Each year, Children at Risk reexamines its methodology of ranking schools," the website further states, "to ensure that the rankings most accurately reflects school performance, utilizes the most appropriate data available, and incorporates feedback from educators, researchers, and service providers."

and keep the bases loaded.

The Eagles rattled Mueller, but the pitcher maintained his perfect record and earned the Most Valuable Player award after holding Salado scoreless in the top of the seventh. Garrett Lightfoot walked to lead off the inning. Grant Taylor popped up to second and Preston Payne grounded out to third, advancing Lightfoot to scoring position. Mueller was able to force Ryan Dunnahoo into grounding out to short to end the game.

Mueller had just three strikeouts in the game, counting on Tyler Henson to grab four grounders to throw the runners out at first and grabbing two himself. The Bulldog defense allowed just one base runner through the first five innings. Lightfoot was able to turn an error by shortstop Zach Smith into a two-bag effort with one out in the second. However, he got caught stealing third.

The Bulldogs scored a run in each of the first three innings. Zach Smith led off with a single. An errant throw by Chase Basham to first allow Lane Bourland to get to scored and Smith to third. Mueller hit a sacrifice to shortstop to score the runner. Before Chase Basam forced John Tople into grounding out to third and struck out Bryce Gist.

With one out in the second, Cameron Hanna singled and scored on a booming double to left by Riley Hedge.

Mueller singled with one out in the third. He went to second on a passed ball and stole third. Gist singled, scoring Mueller.

Salado Head Coach Chad Krempin called Wolf in to relieve Basham on the mound midway through the fourth inning, when Wylie threatened to score again, having a runner on second and just one out.

Wolf, who had thrown about 100 pitches the day before struck out lead-off batter Smith and caused Bourland to ground out to short. Wolf allowed no Wylie batter to reach base over the next two innings, striking out three.

For his efforts, Wolf was named to the 4A State All-Tournament Team as the pitcher. Joining him were Salado second baseman Ryan Dunnahoo and outfielder Phillip Ellis.

Salado Eagles faced Bulldogs for the state championship after beating the #4 Robinson Rockets 7-1 at Disch Falk Field in the semi-finals on June 8.

Salado exploded for four runs in the third inning and Cody Wolf held the prolific lefties of Robinson to just five hits and one run. Wolf, who will play in the Texas High School Baseball Coaches Association All-Star game on June 18, struck out six batters in his complete-game appearance.

Robinson started their second pitcher, Dru Dziedzic, who gave up five hits and five runs before being replaced by ace Zach Boyett in the sixth inning. Salado hit Robinson's ace pitcher for three hits and two earned runs.

Salado had a total of seven hits in the game with Drew Dobbins driving in three runs for the Eagles. Garrett Lightfoot also had an RBI for Salado.

Ryan Dunnahoo had two hits for the Eagles and a walk. Other Eagles getting hits were Jacob Wilk, Cody Wolf was named to the UIL 4A State Baseball Tournament All-Tournament team as pitcher for his efforts pitching a full-game win in the semi-final and pitching in relief for the Eagles in their 3-2 loss to Abilene Wylie. (PHOTO BY MARILYN FLEISCHER)

Preston Payne, Phillip Ellis, Dobbins and Lightfoot.

Robinson was quick to get on the board, getting an unearned run when Zach Boyett got on base with a well-laid-down bunt. He went to second on a passed ball and third on a wild pitch before scoring on a booming triple to the right field wall by Tanner James.

Wolf struck out Braxton Ashcraft and beat Dziedzic to the bag for a forced groundout to first baseman Preston Payne.

Payne led off the top of the third with a single to deep left. He advanced on a walk to Dunnahoo and both runners advanced on a bunt plopped down the third base line by Ellis. Robinson walked Wolf to load the bases and Drew Dobbins grounded into a fielder's choice in which none of the runners were forced out and an error allowed the three runners to score.

With Dobbins on third, Chase Basham reached on an error and then stole second to put both runners in scoring position. Lightfoot singled to score Dobbins, but Basham was tagged out trying to reach home.

In the fourth, Salado loaded the bases, but could not convert the opportunity into runs. With two outs in the inning, Dunnahoo and Ellis singled and Wolf walked before Dobbins struck out for the third out.

Wilk led off the fifth with a single and went to second on a sacrifice bunt down the first base line by Basham. Lightfoot grounded out to third, advancing Wilk to third. Wilk scored on an error.

The Eagles loaded the bases again in the sixth. Payne walked and Dunnahoo singled to left. Ellis reached on a fielder's choice in which no runner was put out as the shortstop held the ball.

Wolf hit into an odd double play as the pitcher threw out the runner trying to get home and the catcher then threw out Wolf trying to get to first. The other runners advanced to second and third and both scored on a shot to deep left for a single by Dobbins.

Author Cashion signs book June 24-25 at Fletcher's

"We can't look backward," Dr. Richard Cashion writes in his new book The Road from Troas. "We must look forward with optimism, faith, and trust in the idea that if healthcare workers follow the fruits of the Spirit, we will succeed.... Return to the road from Troas where the evangelist Paul and the physician Luke joined forces and changed the world."

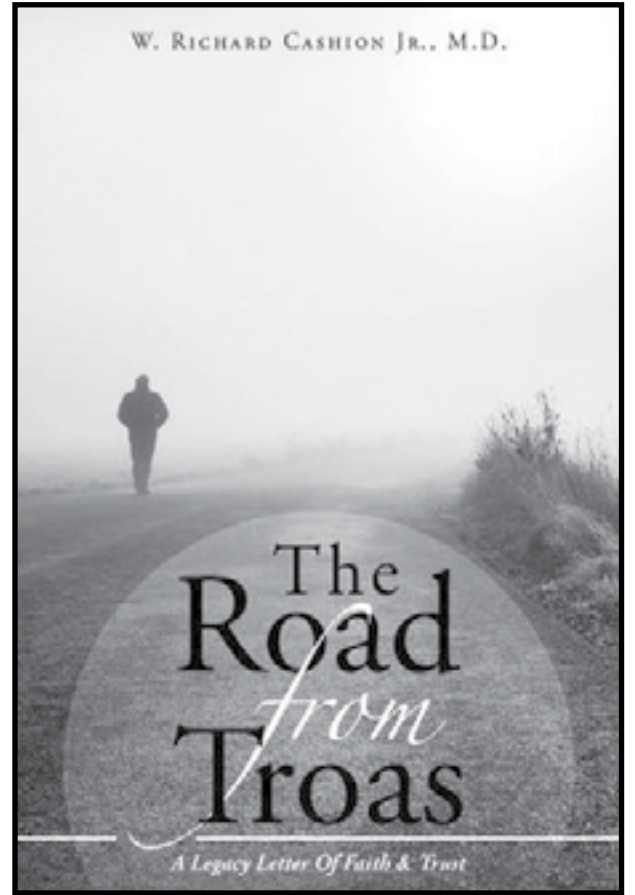

Dr. Richard Cashion

Dr. Cashion will be at Fletcher's Books and Antiques 6-8 p.m. June 24 and 3-5 p.m. June 25 to sign his new book, The Road from Troas: A Legacy Letter of Faith & Trust.

The legacy letter alluded to in the subtitle is

Dr. Cashion's life story. Dr. Cashion overcame a learning disability as a boy to become a leading physician who would become involved in the development of a community hospital in Harker Heights (Seton Medical Center Harker Heights).

Dr. Cashion has been a physician for 50 years. He attended medical school at the University of Texas medical Branch in Galveston. He did internal medicine training on the Harvard Medical Service of Boston City Hospital. Cardiology training was completed at Georgetown University Hospital in Washington, D.C. He returned to Harvard Service at Boston City Hospital and served as the chief medical resident.

During the Vietnam War, Dr. Cashion served in the U.S. Air Force on active duty at Scott Air Force Base. Following discharge, he practiced cardiology with Waco Cardiology Associates in Waco. He then worked with an academically-affiliated group at Methodist Hospital in Houston.

After nearly two decades in Houston, he started a cardiology program in College Station that grew from a small community hospital to one doing intervention cardiology and open heart surgery.

In 2005, Dr. Cashion was recruited by Austin Heart to start an interventional cardiac program without surgical backup in Killeen.

He was involved with the development of Seton Medical Center Harker Heights, a community hospital with a four-star CMS rating. He currently serves on the board of trustees of that hospital.

Dr. Cashion retired from Austin Heart to return to full-time cardiology at Olen E. Teague Veterans' Medical Center hospital where he is involved with direct patient care and in teaching medical residents and cardiology fellows in training.

"I love my profession, as most health care workers do," he writes. "All the current rules, regulations, and malpractice litigations have a tendency to pull us down."

"I feel these problems can all be improved if our profession allows for the development of the basic commandment of putting God in front and loving your neighbor as yourself."

HOT Corvettes meet at Mill Creek Club

Heart of Texas Corvette Club will gather at Mill Creek Club House 10 a.m.-noon June 25.

The members will be there, showing off their enviable rides. The group members will have brunch in the Club House grill.

The Chevrolet Corvette, known colloquially as the Vette, is a sports car manufactured by Chevrolet.

The car has been produced through seven generations. The first model, a convertible, was introduced at the GM Motorma in 1953 as a concept show car.

leads the ace of diamonds or a low diamond, South can hold himself to two diamond losers with proper play. How can West know that the jack of diamonds -- and only the jack of diamonds -- is the right play? West sees that declarer has five trump tricks, the A-K of hearts and the ace of clubs. It is also fairly obvious that South took a club finesse at trick five with a holding that included the K-J. This brings declarer to nine sure tricks.

For example, consider this deal where South is in four spades and West leads the queen of hearts. Declarer wins with the king and draws three rounds of trumps, ending in dummy. The three of clubs is then led to the jack, losing to West's queen. What should West play next? Actually, there is only one card he can return to defeat the contract: the jack of diamonds! If he leads that card, South goes down; if he leads any other card, South makes four spades.

The bidding: North East South West 1 NT Pass 3 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Opening lead -- queen of hearts. then avoid the loss of three diamond tricks regardless of what he does. But if West

The Great Blue Heron is strictly carnivorous

Some of the birds that we observe in their native habitats look as though they just don't fit in with the other "normal looking" birds. Sometimes their tails are shorter than what we expect, sometimes their legs look too long, or their bill is a different shape. Occasionally we see a species that has several "goofy-looking" characteristics, and one of the most familiar types is the Great Blue Heron.

The Great Blue Heron (Ardea herodias) occurs in every state of the continental United States during the summer months but can only be observed in the southern states during the wintertime. It is a habitat specialist, rarely being observed far away from permanent bodies of water, something that is not overly abundant here in west Texas.

Wild About Texas

It is a large bird, with a total length (body and tail) of just over 50 inches. The wingspan can approach 80 inches, making this species one of this state's largest birds. This avian species has a blue-gray body (hence the name) with a long, black-and-white streaked neck and a disproportionately short tail. The face is white and there are two bold black lines on either side of the crown of the head. The bill is long and powerful and is more often than not yellowish in coloration. The long legs, which are utilized for wading in shallow water as it searches for prey, are colored a dirty yellow. In flight, the legs are stretched straight out while the neck is pulled back into a S-shape. The flight pattern is a simple one, consisting of a straight path with slow, strong, and steady wing beats.

Great Blue Herons are strictly carnivorous, feeding primarily on fish, although other vertebrate animals such as aquatic snakes, turtles, frogs, and mice are opportunistically preyed upon. This "long-legged wader" employs two different strategies when hunting prey. The first consists of the bird just standing still in the shallow water for long periods of time, allowing prey items to familiarize themselves with it and even get comfortable with its presence. It then waits for the right moment to capitalize on its prey's complacency, grabbing its food with a lightning quick jab of its stout bill.

The second method involves the bird walking slowly along shorelines, lily-covered shallows, or grassy meadows, methodically waiting the opportune moment to grab whatever it perceives as potential prey.

During the vast majority of the year, this aquatic species is solitary. However, during breeding season, it will congregate into massive colonies, with males adorned with long, thin black plumes selecting a single female with which to mate with. Pairs are monogamous, and the male collects the supplies needed for nest building while the female utilizes the twigs, sticks, leaves and grass for the actual nest construction. Most nests are built in trees anywhere from twenty feet to fifty feet above ground. One to two broods per year are produced, with two to seven blue eggs being the norm. Both parents incubate the two inch long eggs for about one month. The young are semialtricial, which means they are incapable of fending for themselves. Both parents feed the young, which stay in the nest for almost three months.

Populations of this subtly colored but beautiful bird are stable due to its widespread distribution. Many times this species is referred to by locals as the "blue crane".
