Stagecoach Inn Agreement on aldermen agenda

Salado aldermen will consider amendments to the Master Development Agreement and Tourism Marketing Agreement with Stagecoach 1943, Limited Partnership for the redevelopment of the Stagecoach Inn and Restaurant that will push back the re-opening of the historic Stagecoach Inn restaurant to as late as March 2017 as the completion of Phase I of the two phase redevelopment of the Stagecoach Inn complex.

The minimum construction cost of Phase I for the restoration of the historic restaurant and the conversion of the retail spaces on Main Street into a multi-use convention and conference center is $1 million, according to the Master Development Agreement.

The amended Master Development Agreement pushes the date for completion of Phase II (Hotel Redevelopment) to June 30, 2021 at a minimum construction cost of $4 million.

Incentives outlined in the Agreement include the Village entering into a short-term lease of the parking lot along Salado Creek to Stagecoach 1943 and the eventual sale of that 2.88 acre of property from the Village of Salado to Stagecoach 1943 for $1. At one time, the parking lot as well as the Stagecoach Wastewater Treatment Plant were part of the Stagecoach properties until Morris Foster donated the property to the Village of Salado, such donation accepted by then-mayor Danney McCort as his last duty in office in May 2014.

The agreement calls for the replacement of the wastewater treatment plant

State grant funds SISD pre-K program

Salado ISD will receive more than $22,000 for its prekindergarten program as part of Gov. Greg Abbott's high-quality prekindergarten initiative.

Salado is one of 578 school systems that have been awarded a total of more than $116 million in grants through the initiative.

In 2015, Gov. Abbott declared early education a legislative priority. The 84th Texas Legislature went on to pass - and Gov. Abbott signed into law - House Bill 4, which established additional state support for all public school districts and open-enrollment charter schools seeking to expand high-quality prekindergarten programs.

"Implementation of this important grant program, which remains a priority of Gov. Abbott, provides important educational support to our youngest Texans," said Commissioner Morath. "By working to ensure and expand high quality prekindergarten programs across our state, we take an important step toward ensuring every child is prepared for the classroom from the very first day."

Following the application period, school systems have been formally notified by the Texas Education Agency (TEA) of the final grant awards. Funding will be used by districts to implement pre-k programs in the 2016-2017 school year.

Salado ISD will receive $10,946 for the 2015-16 school year and $11,082 for the 2016-17 school year.

Salado ISD prekindergarten program is implementing a program called CLI Engage. This includes professional development, classroom activities, and the CIRCLE Progress Monitoring System paid for by the grant.

"Our elementary principal, Lisa Nix, and our assistant superintendent, Burt Smith, did all of the work on the Pre-Kindergarten grant application," Superintendent Michael Novotny said. "We have two outstanding Pre-Kindergarten teachers - Vickie Frazier and Kristen Finch - and this grant money will enable them to even better prepare our students for kindergarten."

All districts are required to offer a Pre-Kindergarten program for four year old students," he added, "however, Salado ISD is one of the few districts that also offers a Pre-Kindergarten program for three year old students."

The high-quality grant program allows districts and charters to receive funding for qualifying prekindergarten students in addition to the half-day Foundation School Program funding that is already received for each eligible prekindergarten student. To receive the grant funding, a district or charter had to meet certain enhanced quality standards related to curriculum, teacher qualifications, academic performance, and family engagement.

House Bill 4 also added new prekindergarten reporting requirements for all public school districts and open-enrollment charter schools. In addition to implementation of the high-quality grant program, the statewide data collection required by House Bill 4 will begin in the 2016-2017 school year.

Fourth of July - Salado Style

More than a thousand -- some estimate as many as 2,000 -- Saladoans showed up for the Third Annual Mill Creek Fireworks show on July 2. The daylong event included live music, food and events for kids, as well as an early afternoon tournament. Fireworks lighted up the sky over the Mill Creek pond that evening. Bob Bradley and Billy Helm (center) are shown below with special guests Gen. J.D. Thurman and wife Dee Thurman during the Mill Creek Fireworks Show on July 2. At bottom, Salado Historical Society had more than 150 gather at the Salado High School for the annual Fourth of July Picnic, which included a performance of patriotic songs by the Salado Community Chorus.

A vote for Self-Government

Democracy is too important to be left to the people.

That is the global elite's collective reaction to Britain's vote to exit the European Union, which is being portrayed as the work of ill-informed xenophobes who never should have been entrusted with a decision of such world-historical importance.

Judging by their dismissive tone, critics of Brexit believe that the EU's lack of basic democratic accountability is one of its institutional advantages -- the better to insulate consequential decisions from backward and shortsighted voters.

Britain gave us the Magna Carta and such foundational thinkers on the road to democratic rule as John Locke and John Milton. It resisted centralizing monarchs in the turbulence of the 17th century, and defeated continental threats to its sovereignty emanating from Spain (King Philip II), France (Napoleon) and Germany (Hitler). Should it be shocking that it said "no thanks" to continuing to subsume itself in a budding European superstate?

Maintaining British sovereignty, broadly construed, was the overwhelming rationale for Brexit. According to a survey by Lord Ashcroft Polls, 49 percent of leave voters said the biggest reason for exiting the EU was "that decisions about the U.K. should be taken in the U.K." Another 33 percent said it was the best way to regain power over the U.K.'s borders, and 13 percent said they worried the U.K. couldn't control how the EU "expanded its membership or its powers."

All the critics of Brexit see in the vote, though, is hostility to immigrants. There is no doubt that immigration played a large role. But a country controlling its own borders is a necessary element of sovereignty. The foreign-born population of Britain has doubled in the past 20 years, with the government powerless to stop much of the influx. It, self-evidently, should be the right of the British people to decide whether they want less or more immigration.

A constant refrain of Brexit critics is that leaving the EU was much too complex and important an issue to put to a referendum. But at bottom the question was simple: Shall parliament remain the supreme lawmaking body in Britain or not? This is a foundational decision that it makes sense to put directly before the voters.

The British people voted to reject the EU superstructure that had been hoisted on top of their traditional political institutions.

The vote roiled the markets, and another theme of Brexit critics is that leave voters now regret their temper tantrum. But a poll for the Sunday Mirror newspaper found that 92 percent of leave voters were happy with the outcome of the referendum.

There may indeed be an economic cost to Brexit, but politics isn't reducible to a stock index -- something that Americans, having once made their own tumultuous exit from an offshore power, should flexibly understand. "You are not to inquire how your trade may be increased, nor how you are to become a great and powerful people, but how your liberties can be secured," Patrick Henry declared during a 1788 debate over ratifying the Constitution, "for liberty ought to be the direct end of your Government."

Rich Lowry is the editor of the National Review. (c) 2016 by King Features Synd., Inc.

Thanks You Mill Creek Club for fireworks; recent questions get answered

Last week's July 4th Celebration was spectacular, inspiring, and a memory-maker. Billy Helm and team had a weekend of golf tournaments, music, food, activities, and a firework display second-to-none. The Sunday God and Country Program, First Baptist, Belton, consisting of community choirs; used music and multi-media to present the spiritual-side of July 4th. Monday's traditional Salado Historical Society's lunch featured our Salado Community Choir who inspired attendees with patriotic music reminding us of our American heritage.

While attending these events, these questions were frequently asked:

What is happening with Stagecoach Inn?

Thursday, July 7, 6:30 p.m., the Board of Aldermen/lady (BOA) will discuss the Stagecoach Inn and Village Contract. Refurbishing will begin after signing.

Mayor Skip Blancett

Will there be traffic lights in Salado?

No. Stop signs will be used. However, at any time, the Village may request re-consideration.

Is TXDOT considering Main Street sidewalks and street lighting?

Yes, both sides of Main Street from College Hill to Salado Plaza. TXDOT requested a Village concept plan for engineering purposes. There are no plans to replace existing sidewalks or change the downtown-parking pattern. Main Street remains with TXDOT.

What is the latest on the sewer?

Rick Kasberg will present a progress report, July 14, 6:30 p.m., BOA workshop. Citizens invited.

Will Wildfire Roping arena be demolished for Sanctuary's Music Venue?

No, it will be part of the Music Venue. First music performance: December, 2017. Grand opening: Spring, 2018.

Other than the Sewer Bond tax, is there an additional property tax this year?

None is planned. Will I-35 Construction end this year?

Yes. The schedule is holding for late Sept. or early Oct.

If you have questions, please ask. Accurate answers, not rumors, will be given.

Education regarding Salado Deer population essential to reader

Dear Editor:

"So we have an ordinance. Now what?"

DEER!! There is overwhelming evidence that we have an overabundance of these beautiful creatures in Salado! The goal of folks involved is to manage the herd but not slaughter all the DEER in our village. So, what next? I personally will push for education of our citizenry. We must all become informed about the issue. I will push for another town hall meeting and see that it is advertised. There are two excellent publications that folks can view on the internet: For questions regarding this position

A local insurance agent gave me these statistics this week. DEER-vehicle collisions lead to about 200 human deaths and $1.1 billion in property damage every year in the U.S. The average cost in property damage is $3,305 per event. "The Insurance institute for highway Safety (IIHS).

We the citizens of Salado should in all good faith try to abide by proposals of our elected officials. Folks understand what a double white line or yellow line in your lane of traffic means. Most obey. Some pass and get by. Others die, have critical injuries, and or kill others. So, lets work together for the good, health, and well being of Saladodians.

Best regards,
Lewis Raney, M.D.

Defining and Defeating the Next Strain of Terrorism

It's been only 15 years since the 9/11 attacks. But when you look at how the terrorist threat has evolved since then, it seems as if a century or more has gone by.

Things have been changing -- fast. And if our response doesn't change, and just as quickly, we're practically begging for trouble. Not another 9/11, necessarily -- but another Orlando. Another Fort Hood. Another San Bernardino.

Indeed, the sheer magnitude of 9/11 can almost blind us to the metastasizing danger out there. Most people are aware, of course, that attacks such as the one in Orlando have occurred, and that the attacker had terrorist connections. Few people are aware that Orlando was the 86th plot of Islamist terror in the U.S. since 9/11.

by Edwin Feulner

That's right: 86th. And only here in America. That number doesn't count the Paris bombings in 2015, or the Brussels bombings this year, and many others.

Part of the reason, no doubt, is that we're talking about plots, whether successful or not. Many, thank God, have been uncovered and stopped by law-enforcement agencies. But the fact remains that, either way, terrorists are making their plans, and they show no signs of slowing down. Indeed, they're stepping up their activities.

UMHB launches competency-based online degree program

The students in the University of Mary Hardin Baylor's latest program will never sit inside a classroom. That is because MyWay at UMHB is a completely online, competency-based program unlike any the university has ever offered.

"This program is not designed for the traditional student coming out of high school," Dr. Chrisann Merriman, Interim Director of Distance Learning, said. "It is designed for people who may have taken a number of college courses, possibly from multiple institutions, but never completed their degree."

The transfer-friendly nature of MyWay is one of its most unique features.

"Some competency-based programs will not allow students to transfer any credits," Merriman said. "We're going to work with our students based on what they already know and award them competencies accordingly."

Once they enroll in the program, MyWay at UMHB students do not pay for individual courses. Instead, the program is based on a subscription model.

"Students pay $3,000 for a six-month subscriptions," Merriman said. "During that time, the work is truly self-paced, and students have the ability to complete as many competencies as they are able to demonstrate they have mastered."

Nicole Fischer, the Assistant Director of Recruiting of Competency-Based Education, is quick to point out that those costs cover every facet of the program.

"It's completely inclusive," Fischer said. "Everything they need in order to be successful is included in that subscription. There are no books to buy or other fees."

The subscription includes all the materials for the competencies on which a student is currently working as well as those for every competency that came before it, including any for which the student transferred in credit from a previous program.

For students who suffer from test anxiety, MyWay may offer a degree of relief. MyWay competencies are demonstrated through authentic assessments called "badges."

"To be able to measure people's knowledge, you can't just give them a multiple choice test," Fischer said. "We ask them to create artifacts, be it a paper or presentation, to really show that they have mastered that competency."

Along the way, MyWay students have access to Success Coaches, Subject Experts, and Resource Coaches, all of whom are dedicated to helping students navigate the program and reach their goals.

Merriman says that, while MyWay students have a different format for their degree program, they will be viewed and treated like traditional students.

"They are invited to any and all activities happening on campus," Merriman said. "We'll be constantly having interactions with them throughout their program, and they are invited to participate in graduation after completing their degree."

Fischer has been talking to students as they register for the program and says that the feedback has been inspiring.

The first MyWay at UMHB will begin on Monday, August 15, but, due to the customizable nature of the program, new students will be able to enroll on the 15th day of every subsequent month. The program will be limited to just 50 students during its first year.

For more information, visit the MyWay at program's website at MyWay.UMHB.edu.

with a low pressure pump at that location that will tie into the main sewer line for downtown Salado to convey untreated wastewater to the new wastewater treatment plant to be constructed on six acres of property donated to the Village by Sanctuary.

Demolition of the Stagecoach plant and the construction of a lift station or other delivery system was part of the preliminary plans of the Salado sewer system when voters approved a $10.5 million bond in November 2014. The Agreement incorporates that plan.

The purchase of the parking lot includes a perpetual easement for public access to Salado Creek and future park improvements as well as utility easements for the sewer conveyance system.

An incentive is the Hotel Occupancy Tax Marketing Agreement in which the Village would rebate hotel motel revenues generated by the reopening of the Stagecoach Inn motel in 2021 over a 10 year period. The revenues generated by the property over the historic benchmark of $44,000 per year would be rebated at 70 percent in year one, 65 percent in year two, 55 percent in year three, 50 percent in year four, 45 percent in years five through seven, 40 percent in years eight through 10.

The Village would also provide a Tax Abatement Agreement on Real Property Improvements associated with the Hotel Redevelopment and the Mixed Use Development for a period of 10 years beginning on January 1, 2017. In years one through five, the abatement will be 100 percent. In year six, the abatement will be 80 percent; in year seven, the abatement will be 60 percent; in year eight, the abatement will be four percent and in years nine and 10, the abatement will be 20 percent. The Village will additionally draft a letter of unqualified support to assist the owner in securing tax abatement from Bell County.

The Village will provide wastewater rates of $500 per month for two years from the date of execution or until the Village wastewater plant comes on line, whichever is later.

The Village will provide a letter of unqualified support to assist the Owner with acquiring fee title of the water well located on College Hill.

The Village will provide limited police protection before and during construction by providing regular patrols of the property.

The Village will also assist the owner in securing a license through the Texas Department of Transportation for full design and landscaping control of the Main Street right-of-way adjacent to the premises. This is similar to the license the owner obtained from TXDOT on another development through the assistance of the City of Georgetown.

Aldermen, prior to discussing the economic development agreement, will adopt amendments to its Economic Development Policy as a part of the Consent Agenda. The proposed changes bring the Economic Development Policy into agreement with the Policy for Committees and Advisory Boards, which was established by Resolution R-2016-134, Establishing Committees and Advisory Boards on Jan. 7. All references to the "Chamber of Commerce Business Development Committee" have been replaced with "Economic Development Committee." In addition, the composition of the Economic Development Committee, as defined by the Policy for Committees and Advisory Boards, was inserted.

In other business, the board of aldermen will conduct a public hearing on an ordinance implementing Industrial Waste Provisions on dischargers in the city limits; and providing for the following: Findings Of Fact; Enactment; Provisions, Including: Definitions; Purpose; Scope; Prohibitions; Chemical Discharges; Hazardous Metals; Maximum Particle Size; Stormwater and Unpolluted Drainage; Temperature; Radioactive Waste; Impairment of Facilities; Compliance; City Requirements; Review and Approval; Traps; Building Sewers; Sampling; User Surcharge; Power To Enter; Disconnect; Notice; Continued Prohibited Discharges; and Enforcement, including Criminal Fines not to exceed $2,000 and Civil Penalties not to exceed $2,000 per violation; Repealer; Severability; Effective Date; and Proper Notice & Meeting.

Songs of Leiber and Stoller at Palace

The stage at Georgetown's Historic Palace Theatre has been transformed into a café: Smokey Joe's Café, to be precise, where The Songs of Leiber and Stoller will be rockin' and rollin' on weekends from July 15 to August 14.

It is said that Jerry Leiber and Mike Stoller, American songwriting and record producing partners, virtually invented rock 'n' roll, and now their songs provide the basis for this electrifying show that illuminates a golden age of American culture. Smokey Joe's Café, The Songs of Leiber and Stoller features Kansas City, Fools Fall in Love, On Broadway, Yakety Yak, I'm a Woman, Love Potion #9, Jailhouse Rock, Stand by Me, and many more. Leiber and Stoller won a Grammy award for Is That All There Is? in 1969 and a Grammy for the cast album of Smokey Joe's Café on Broadway in 1995, where it was also nominated for seven Tony awards and became the longest-running musical revue in Broadway history.

Lannie Hilboldt, currently the Director of Music for the Palace Theatre, admirably fills the role of Director for Smokey Joe's Café. Lannie also wears many hats for Smokey Joe's Café: Music Director, Conductor, and Pianist. He is an Austin-based performer, educator, composer, and arranger whose career has spanned the worlds of jazz, classical, and musical theatre. He is the 2015 recipient of the Broadway World Austin Award for "Best Musical Direction." Vincent Sandoval, as Choreographer, has pursued a professional dance career in New York City with performing credits for Radio City Christmas Spectacular, Radio City Easter Show, Radio City Spring Spectacular (Featured Dancer), and many European and American tours. At the Palace, he has also provided his talented choreographic direction for CATS, SHREK, and (among others) The Full Monty.

Smokey Joe's Café, with a suggested rating for General Audiences, runs five weekends from July 15 to August 14. Friday and Saturday shows are at 7:30 p.m.; Sunday shows are at 2:00 p.m.

Ticket prices for the 2015-2016 Season are $28

General Admission, $26 Seniors (55+), $15 Students (10-22) and Active Military, and $11 Children (9 & younger). All individual ticket prices include a $1 Historic Preservation Fee. (Season Tickets do not assess the Historic Preservation Fee.) Group rates are available for 20 or more. The Palace seats about 295, with reserved seating paid for in the ticket price. The Palace office in the lobby of the theatre is open Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. (except for some holiday dates). Purchase tickets and select seating online at www.georgetownpalace.com or by calling 512-869-7469. (Please call ahead regarding special needs seating.) Visa, Master Card, Discover, and American Express are accepted.

As terrorism expert James Carafano recently testified to Congress, the frequency of plots has dramatically increased. There have been 22 successful or interrupted terrorist plots in the U.S. since 2015.

Worse, the overwhelming number of these plots are emanating from the home front. Twenty-one out of 22 involved American nationals. All involved a homegrown element.

Another common thread: ISIS. It has become the most dominant influence, by far, on aspiring terrorists. At least 18 out of 22 plots I just mentioned have a connection of some kind to ISIS, either by affiliation, support or inspiration.

A final disturbing trend is the fact that the threat is getting deadlier. Five out of the 11 successful Islamist-related terrorist attacks have been in the last 12 months, resulting in the greatest loss of life from Islamist terrorism on U.S. soil since 9/11.

The question is, what can we do about it? We can never remove the threat entirely, but we can greatly reduce it.

The best measures, according to Carafano, would focus on the individuals most likely to cause us harm rather than on whole classes of people. This is one potential advantage, for example, of the Visa Waiver Program. VWP provides a cost-effective and efficient means to capture more useful data on travelers in real time.

If implemented correctly, VWP can be a very effective tool for identifying perspective security risks including known and suspected terrorists. The Obama administration should be a better steward of the program and ensure that the information-sharing provisions are rigorously enforced.

Speaking of information sharing, one obvious but under-utilized solution is to ensure that the FBI does more of it with state and local law enforcement. Despite the lessons of 9/11, the Bureau still resists doing so. Once it learns to treat state and locals as true partners and as critical teammates in the fight against terrorism, we'll become more effective in this fight.

Other steps include expanding active-shooter threat training nationwide (to help the public defend itself in the crucial minutes before police arrive), expanding community outreach to ferret out possible "lone wolves," and maintaining legitimate surveillance programs.

We also need to reach out militarily. Driving ISIS from its conquered territories will hurt its legitimacy among would-be jihadists. We should also do more to work with our allies to shut down the foreign-fighter pipeline. This means doing a better job at intelligence-gathering and coordinating information between countries to identify any suspicious travel.

Perhaps the easiest, quickest and best thing to do right now would be to call this hydra-headed monster by its rightful name: Islamist extremism. We won't have a prayer of defeating it if we're afraid to speak its name.

A problem of logistics

Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker

Solving an entry problem is often the critical factor in the play of a hand.

Consider this case where the defense starts off with two rounds of diamonds. South ruffs and would like to take two heart finesses, as well as lead a club toward his king. But since he has only two entries to attempt these three plays, South has a logistical problem to solve. The best way to proceed is to lead a trump to the king at trick three and return a low heart, finessing the jack after East follows low.

West takes the queen and can do no better than return a diamond. South ruffs, crosses to dummy with a trump and leads the ten of hearts, finessing again after East plays low. This is declarer's second lead

East dealer. Both sides vulnerable.

Opening lead — king of diamonds. from dummy, and when the finesse succeeds, he discontinues hearts and leads a club to the king. Since East, as expected, has the ace, South accomplishes his mission; his only losers prove to be a heart, a diamond and a club. Note that if East covers the ten of hearts with the king on the second round of the suit, South can then return to dummy's nine to make the crucial club lead toward the king.

Note also that if South starts playing the hearts by leading the ten from dummy, instead of the deuce, he later runs into a dead end. The next time he gets to dummy with a trump, he can lead a heart or a club -- but he can't do both, and, as a result, he will finish down one.

The 'horny toad' is actually a lizard

For the most part, here in west Texas reptiles are not anything more than an afterthought at best, and reviled at worst. However, there is an endearing reptile that can make even the most staunch "reptile-hater" smile and that is the Texas Horned Lizard.

The Texas Horned Lizard (Phrynosoma cornutum) is one of three species of "horny toads" that live in Texas, and it has the largest area of distribution. It can be observed statewide, save for a small portion of the Texas and

Wild About Texas

Michael Price

Louisiana border. It also occurs north to central Kansas, west to southeastern Arizona, and southward into the central plateau of Mexico. The habitats that this lizard prefers are arid to semi-arid sandy areas in prairies and grasslands, as well sand dunes and areas of open scrubland. Many can be seen basking on paved roads in the morning and late afternoon hours.

The Texas Horned Lizard is a flattened reptile that has scaled, horny skin. It is the largest horned lizard that inhabits this state, with adults reaching a total length of six inches, although the average is between four and five inches. The background coloration is tan, brownish or even reddish, many times matching the soil color. There are two large, dark brown blotches on the neck, followed by four pairs of light-edged dark spots on each side of the white mid-dorsal stripe along the spine. It also has a row of scales along the sides of the body. There are nine horns that adorn the head with the two center horns being significantly larger than the others. The belly is white and is occasionally peppered with black spots. Texas Horned Lizards, like other lizard species, are "cold-blooded", or ectothermic. This means that they do not generate heat from the inside of their body, as mammals and birds do, but rather are dependent on outside sources for heating and cooling. They are active throughout the day in the spring and fall, adjusting their schedules to the morning and afternoon hours during the heat of the summer.

This species of lizard has a very specialized diet. It's preferred choice of food is the large harvester ants and many times this lizard can be seen dining in the vicinity of large, round nests of the ants. An adult Horned Lizard can feed upon as many as 100 harvester ants in one day. Unfortunately, the imported fire ant is not on the Horned Lizard's dietary menu. The Texas Horned

Lizard is oviparous, which is a fancy way of saying that it lays eggs. After emerging from the winter-long brumation period (reptiles do not hibernate in the true sense of the word), males will search out females to mate. After mating, the female will lay anywhere from ten to thirty eggs in moisture retaining soil. After approximately fifty days of incubation, the tiny one-inch long young emerge prepared to fend for and care for themselves.

Populations of the mis-named "horny toad" (they are not amphibians, but rather reptiles) had been decimated over the past several decades, although in many areas they are apparently stabilizing. There have been numerous theories presented as to the reasons for the decline, ranging from man's use of pesticide to collection for the pet trade. However, many studies have shown that the appearance of the imported fire ant has had the most influence. The Texas Horned Lizard is the official state reptile of Texas, and it is listed as Threatened by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, and it may not be collected or harassed in any way.

Water Quality Program to be held in Killeen in July

A free Texas Watershed Steward workshop on water quality and management related to the Lampasas River and other area watersheds will be held from 1:00 p.m.-5 p.m. at Texas A&M Central Texas on July 12. A free sandwich lunch provided by HEB will begin at 12:30 p.m. for attendees who preregister by July 10.

The workshop will be held in the Founders Hall Building of Texas A&M Central Texas located at 1001 Leadership Place in Killeen.

The workshop will be presented by the Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service and the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board in coordination with Texas A&M AgriLife Research and the Lampasas River Watershed Partnership.

Anyone interested in improving, or learning about, water quality in the Lampasas River and surrounding area is welcome to come, said workshop coordinators. Participants are encouraged to preregister online at <http://tws.tamu.edu>.

The Texas Watershed

Steward Program is funded through a Clean Water Act nonpoint source grant from the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, said Michael Kuitu, AgriLife Extension program specialist and coordinator for the Texas Watershed Steward program.

"The workshop is designed to help watershed residents improve and protect their water resources by becoming involved in local watershed protection and management activities," said Lyle Zoeller, AgriLife Extension agent in Bell County.

Zoeller said the workshop will include an overview of water quality and watershed management in Texas and will primarily focus on water quality issues relating to the Lampasas River, including current efforts to help improve and protect the health of important area water sources.

A discussion on watershed systems, types and sources of water pollution, and ways to improve and protect water quality will all be included in the program. There also will be a group discussion on community-driven watershed protection and management.

"Surface water in the Lampasas River is a critical source of water in the area," said Lisa Prcin, research associate with AgriLife Research in Temple. "Stakeholders need to be armed with the knowledge to protect and restore water quality in the watershed."

Prcin said a Watershed Protection Plan now developed for the Lampasas River will also be discussed. The plan includes several best management practices to reduce pollution in the watershed and potentially lower the bacteria levels in the Lampasas.

Attendees of the training will receive a copy of the Texas Watershed Steward Handbook and a certificate of completion. The program offers four continuing education units in soil and water management for certified crop advisers, four units for professional engineers and certified planners, four credits for certified teachers and two credits for nutrient management specialists. A total of four professional development hours are available for professional geoscientists licensed by the Texas Board of Professional Geoscientists.

There are also three general continuing education units for Texas Department of Agriculture pesticide license holders, four for certified landscape architects and three for certified floodplain managers. Four continuing education credits are offered for each of the following Texas Commission on Environmental Quality occupational licensees: wastewater system operators, public water system operators, on-site sewage facility installers and landscape irrigators.

Kuitu said he wants to encourage local residents and other stakeholders throughout and beyond the area to attend the workshop to become better informed about their water resources and how to manage, improve, and protect them.

For more information, go to <http://tws.tamu.edu> or contact Kuitu at 979-862-4457, mkuitu@tamu.edu; Lisa Prcin at 254-774-6008, lprcin@bcr.tamu.edu; or Lyle Zoeller at 254-933-5305, l-zoeller@tamu.edu.

Weather Whys: What exactly is a heat burst; how much can temp rise?

Q: What is exactly is a heat burst?

A: It is an odd weather occurrence that happens during thunderstorms when temperatures can quickly rise 25 degrees or more in just a few minutes, says Brent McRoberts of Texas A&M University. "Heat bursts usually happen in the evening," McRoberts explains. "It is a strong burst of hot air that is pushed down very quickly and is warmed all the way down to the surface, often originating from 20,000 feet or more. When the air reaches the ground, it is very hot – in some cases well over 100 degrees. Heat bursts are odd because usually during thunderstorms, the air will become cooler. The air in a heat burst is not only very warm, but it is very dry and sometimes this hot, dry air can create damaging winds in excess of 75 mph."

Q: How much can the temperature rise during a heat burst?

A: There have been some amazing documented examples of rising temperatures caused by heat bursts, McRoberts adds. "In 1993 in Glasgow, Mont., the temperature was recorded at 67 degrees at 5:02 p.m. during a thunderstorm. By 5:17 p.m. – just 15 minutes later – the temperature had shot up to 93 degrees. In 1960, a reported heat burst in Bosque County, Texas briefly raised the temperature to a mind-boggling

140 degrees and it melted crops in the area. The intensity of a heat burst depends on the size of the thunderstorm and how much the air can heat up before descending down to the ground."
