Museum hosts Burns Night

Scots and descendants of Scots around the world pay homage to their immortal bard on the anniversary of his birthday, January 25, 1759, in ceremony, speeches, pageantry, and partaking of the traditional Scottish meal of haggis. Since the first gathering of Burns' friends in 1801, over the years that evening has developed into the mystical ritual known as Burns night.

Robert Burns was born in the Ayrshire village of Alloway, Scotland where he spent 37 of his years working the family farm. Burns had an acute perception of life and everything around him. He was aware of the injustices as year after year of toil brought the family no relief from their hardship and threat of eviction always loomed over them.

In a country overrun by the English ways and customs and English government, Burns felt his way of life slipping away. This was the source of his moods, his depressions, and his melancholia. It was also the source of his creativity. Burns died on February 17, 1784 and is buried in Alloway Kirkyard. He is best known for penning "Auld Lang Syne," which is sung by everyone in America and around the world on New Year's Eve.

The Central Texas Area Museum will hold Burns Night at the historic Stagecoach Inn restaurant 7-10:30 p.m. Jan. 25. The program includes the "Piping in of the Haggis" and the ode "To A Haggis" followed by a formal dinner. Cost of the event is $55 per person. For information call (254) 947-5232 or email office@ctam-salado.org.

Mills on Salado Creek

(excerpts from History of Bell County, Third Edition George W. Tyler)

...mention should be made of the numerous small flour and grist mills which were to be found along the streams from the late sixties to the early eighties. They were nearly all run by water power. The Salado Creek was especially well adapted to milling, and more mills than any other stream in the county. The oldest one on this creek was Ferguson's Mill. It had first been built by Ira E. and Whitefield Chalk in 1849 or 1850 and after some years had been owned and operated by Jr. James P. Reed. The Reverend James E. Ferguson bought it in 1867 and ran it until his death in 1876. It was then carried on for many years by his family. In 1866 Mr. W.A. Davis formerly of Round Rock built a mill and dam on this creek a little way below the big springs at the town of Salado. At first it was a wool carding establishment but was later converted into a flour and grist mill. In the same year John Meyers erected a mill several miles further down on Salado Creek, which later passed through the hands of several owners but is best remembered as the Summer's Mill. Other mills built on this stream were Dulaney's (1867), T.J. Jones' (1869), Stinnett and Orgain's (1874) later known as Stinnett's and finally as the Highland Mill and "Ike" (Isaac V) Jones' Mill (1880) . On the Lampasas, after the little pioneer Children's Mill, built in 1848, came Guthrie's (1870) and W.K. Hamblen's (1871).

Annual Texas Rogue Wine, Art Festival is March 29-30

You'll find working artists under the oak trees at Salado Wine Seller during the Rogue Wine and Art Festival March 29-30.

When spring is in the air, that means it is time for outdoor festivals!

Celebrate spring by visiting Salado during the weekend of March 29-30 for the Sixth Annual Texas Wine and Rogue Art Fest set among the live oaks at Salado Wine Seller.

Twenty Texas wineries will be represented in addition to a tremendous viewing of artists who will be selling their works that they have created all around Texas. To complete the fest there will be live music and delectable food.

The list of participants is available at www.salado-wine-festival.com.

The festival will be held on the park like grounds of Salado Winery & Salado Wine Seller at 841 N. Main St., Salado, rain or shine. Hours are 12-5 p.m. March 29 and noon-4 p.m. March 30.

"I wanted to attract a different type of artist, so I named it 'Rogue' as in the artists are goin' rogue," Ritterbusch goes on to explain, "I find myself drawn to contemporary artists and we regularly hold art exhibits at Salado Winery that feature a more modern style. These Texas wineries are rogue entrepreneurs as well, and I think all the wine and art folks are going to create a great experience."

Just in time for the festival, Salado Winery will release their 2012 Diamond Back and the 2013 Night Flight. Both wines are 100 percent grown in their vineyard in Salado and made on the premise. These wines will pair well with the truffles being sold by Wiseman House Chocolates and the handmade cheese from Texas Cheese House. "In a Pickle" will be back this year along with "In Hog Heaven."

Also that same weekend, Johnny's Outback will be featuring a concert by Aaron

Following the show, Aaron Watson will perform at Johnny's Outback.

Watson on March 29. Watson will be taking the stage at 8 pm. Known as the "Honky Tonk Kid," Aaron has spent countless hours on the road and many more still spent toiling away at his guitar, writing songs with Jesus on one shoulder and the ghost of Waylon Jennings on the other, making the country tunes he was born to play. - See more at: <http://www.aaronwatson.com/about.html>

The number of wineries in the state of Texas has grown to over 300. The wine and grape industry in Texas has contributed greatly to the economic strength of the state with an economic impact of $1.7 Billion. Most surprising though is how many are close by in Central Texas. At the Texas Wine & Rogue Art Fest, there will be wineries from Florence, Waco, Meridian, as well as from around the state, such as Dallas, Spicewood, Poteet, Grapevine, & Santa Fe, TX. For more information about Texas wineries, visit www.gotexanwine.org.

Selections from Robertson Plantation will be displayed at Treasures of Texas Past Antique Show Feb. 22-23

A special selection of antiques from the E.S.C. Robertson Plantation will be part of the Treasures of Texas Past Antique Show Feb. 22-23 in the old Guest and Sanford Granary building (which once housed the Salado Silver Spur Theatre) at 108 Royal St. in Salado.

“This will provide an opportunity for people that would like to own a piece of history to purchase furniture, china, crystal and other items that were part of the Plantation’s history,” said Judy Fields, one of the event organizers.

Col. E.S.C. Robertson gave the land for Salado College and the original town lots that were sold to raise funds for the erection of the College in 1860. In 1856, Col. Robertson began work on the 22-room Palladian-style mansion that has remained in the family for more than six generations.

Over the decades, each generation of Robertson descendants have added their own pieces and touches to the home, resulting in an unsurpassed collection of antique furniture and decor. For the first time, many of those pieces will be on display and available for sale at the Treasures of Texas Antique Show.

The Antique Show will also feature antiques and collectibles on display and for sale by dealers from around the state.

Admission to the Treasures of Texas Antique Show is $2 per person. The show will be open 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Feb. 22 and noon-4 p.m. Feb. 23. Refreshments will be available in the foyer, provided by the Salado Chamber of Commerce Ladies Auxiliary.

Sunset on Snowflake Lake

The snowy wonderland is decorated for Christmas with the town's residents skating, sleighing, making a snowman and enjoying a fresh blanket of snow. As the sun sets early in the winter, the rose-colored sky highlights a train passing through the snowy mountain-scape on its way to deliver travelers to loved-ones for the holidays. Sunset on Snowflake Lake is the second heart warming image in The Legend of St. Nicholas Circle collection.

New ownership returning golf course to excellence

By Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

Over the winter months, when golf slows down, Mill Creek Country Club will be pressing forward with a new golf pro and an expansion of the grill and pro shop itself.

David Preston, golf operations manager for Mill Creek, said that the board has interviewed three Professional Golf Association pros with experience as head pros.

"Each of them brings their own skills to the position and are excited about the opportunity to come to Salado," Preston said. "They see the potential we have here and want to build on what the new ownership has started."

The new golf pro will be "integral to the promotion of golf in the community and around the state," Preston said.

Mill Creek is working with lodging facilities to partner together on Stay and Play packages.

"We are also going to have a huge emphasis on junior golf. The golf pro will be working more directly with the schools and coaches to get young players on the course," Preston said.

"We want them to compete at every age level and develop a love for the game," he added.

Since a group headed by Billy Helm purchased Mill Creek in 2013, the membership has grown from under 100 to more than 170.

"The board feels that with the expansion of the grill and pro shop and the improvements to the pool area over winter that we will be able to grow our family memberships," Preston said.

Building permits were issued in November for the expansion of the grill. Preston said the work will take six to eight weeks. The old deck will be torn out and the building will be extended toward the pool. At the same time, the pool will get a face-lift, Preston said. "It will be resurfaced and re-tiled and a fence will give the pool privacy from golfers passing by. It will be a more family-friendly atmosphere by summer time."

The golf shop will be expanded by about 30 percent, but the floorspace will be redesigned to allow 50 percent more merchandise space. "This will reflect an emphasis on selling Mill Creek and golf merchandise to customers," Preston said.

In addition to the expansion of the pro shop and grill, the club will also reline the pond over the winter months.

Then the work will begin on holes #1 and #9 on the Creek 3 set of holes.

The greens will be repaired and ready for grass to be planted by late April so that the grass will have a chance to grow over the warm summer months.

Completing repairs on these two holes is important to give Mill Creek a contiguous 18 holes of golf play.

With the Creek 2 and Creek 3 holes in play, efforts can then be focused in 2015 on the Creek 1 holes that were so devastated by the 2010 flood.

Preston said that the greens of Creek 1 will be resurfaced with TIF Dwarf in June-July 2015.

"In the meantime, we will be maintaining those holes," Preston said.

Until the Creek 1 holes can be added back into the rotation of play, some of those holes will be used to practice short game.

The Club will pursue a three-year plan of re-seeding all 27 holes with TIF Dwarf grass to provide for a most consistent play.

Plans are to have Creek 2 greens resurfaced in 2016 to bring all 27 holes to the TIF Dwarf grass.

Returning to a 27 hole golf course is the long range goal of the new ownership because it will give the course freedom to host large golf tournaments and groups, as well as balancing the desires of daily players with Stay and Play traveling golfers and the needs for day-to-day maintenance.

During the winter you can hunt wild hog and in spring you can hunt Rio Grande turkey at many ranches in the Salado area, including the 8,000-acre Solana Ranch. Hogs hunts will be Jan. 31-Feb. 2, Feb 28-March 2, March 28-30 and April 25-27. With the abundance of spring fed creek the Rio Grande turkey are thriving at the Solana Ranch, where Robert Mitcham shot the #2 largest turkey in the world as recorded by the Wild Turkey Federation in 2010. Solana Ranch offers only one spring turkey hunt a year, April 4-6, so book early. You can also hunt exotics, including Fallow, Sika, and Axis deer, Blackbuck antelope, Mouflon, Dall, Corsican and Black Hawaiian rams. With game ranches and nearby Stillhouse Hollow Lake, Salado is an outdoorsman's dream.

Historic bridges over Salado Creek

For several years after the town was laid out, the citizens of Salado crossed the shallow creek by stepping from rock to rock, or on logs laid across the wider places. These logs were chained to the rocks and would sink down stream during freshets and be replaced when the flood subsided. But when in 1866 a dam was thrown across the stream at the lower end of the village, the water was backed up over the rocks. Then for a time "foot-logs" raised on legs standing in the water and chained to the rocks below were used; but they were narrow, rickety and unsafe, and pedestrians not infrequently tumbled off into the water. A general demand arose for a bridge. To meet this problem as well as others, it was decided to incorporate the village. Application for incorporation was made under the general law and the county court in January 1867, authorized an election for town officers. On February 23, Judge O.T. Tyler was elected mayor and a board of aldermen was chosen. These officials appointed the other officers, among the Colonel Thos. H. Jones as treasurer. The town officials first tried to raise funds for a bridge by voluntary donations, but finding they could not raise enough by this means, on December 3, 1868, they ordered an issue of bonds...

The bonds were purchased by the citizens of the town. With the proceeds and subscriptions amounting in all to some $2,500, the municipal authorities proceeded to build a wire cable suspension foot-bridge of substantial construction of unique design and graceful proportions. Two large galvanized rope-wire cables, anchored at each end in strongly built stone abutments, were carried over two double-turreted dressed-stone piers of towers. From these suspended cables wire cords extended down to catch and support the ends of sawed cedar cross bars or joists on which the plank floor was laid. It was one of the first of its kind in the Southwest and was designed, engineered and constructed entirely by home talent—Judge Tyler, Colonel Thos. H. Jones, Judge Wm. H. Garrett, Wm. A. Davis, John Hendrickson and others. It swung some twenty feet above the water and although it could be made to sway enough from side to side to frighten timid souls—especially groups of squealing girls when mischievous boys chose this method of teasing them—it served the people well for more than thirty years. After the county built a combination wagon and foot bridge a few yards upstream the suspension bridge gradually fell into disuse. In 1913 it was finally swept away when a cloud burst in the upper water-shed of Salado Creek sent down a terrific flood that carried away the county bridge as well. The latter was promptly rebuilt, only to be carried away again in the still greater flood of September 9 and 10, 1921.

Eggheads coming to Salado

Big Green Egg enthusiasts return to Pace Park March 15

Used to be, if someone called you an egghead, you might want to crack their head open like an egg.

Not anymore. Now the term has come to represent the proud owners of a Big Green Egg®. Salado will have about 300 of them this weekend for the third annual Salado Eggfest March 15 in Pace Park.

Eggheads have been described as “cult-like” in their enthusiasm for the Big Green Eggs®, which they use to cook everything from Korean barbecue to chocolate chip cookies to smoked salmon to pizza.

The Eggheads will gather in Pace Park, where they will swap recipes and friendship without the stress of competing for awards or recognition.

There will be four Mini-Eggs given out during the weekend. Two will be given out through drawings from the registered cooks and two will be drawn from the names of all other registered attendees. The Mini-Eggs will have goodies, including rubs and sauces.

The Eggfest officially kicks off at 9 a.m. March 15 in Pace Park. Early check-in for registered cooks will be at 7:30 a.m. Drawings will be held at noon, 1 p.m., 2 p.m. and 3 p.m.

Throughout the day, more than 40 registered cooks will be sharing 100 different snacks with other attendees.

For more information and to register, visit saladoeggheadgathering.blogspot.com or call Keith's Ace Hardware in Salado, which is one of the primary sponsors of the event. And if you want to purchase your own Big Green Egg®, Keith's Ace Hardware has a selection of them available.

Founded in 1974, Big Green Egg has come to symbolize outdoor cooking. The Egg is modeled on a traditional Asian ceramic cooking concept that has become one of the fastest-growing segments of the U.S. barbecue industry. Originally constructed with clay, the Egg is now man-

Packards return to Salado

The 37th Annual Texas Packard Meet will be held April 4-7, 2014 in Salado.

It is the oldest regional Packard meet in the country and one of the largest.

This meet is sponsored by the Texas Packard Association, comprised of the four Packard Clubs in Texas.

It again will be held at the Stagecoach Inn in historic Salado approximately 50 miles from Austin on Interstate 35.

Typically there are 40 to 70 cars and well over 100 master registrations. Being the 37th edition of this great meet will likely increase the numbers! Last year, there were over 60 Packards on display with collectors coming from 11 states.

Participants enjoy a tour, all Packard swap meet, people's choice competition, seminars, and awards dinner. Packard lovers from all over the country compete for the long distance award.

Fees for registration vary according to activities selected but fees are among the most reasonable for like events.

Viewing for the public is free on Saturday morning April 6 on the grounds of the Stagecoach Inn.

Packards were once seen as some of the most prestigious on the market. The founder of the company, James Ward Packard, was an engineer by trade and began producing automobiles as early as 1899. The first Packards were designed as luxury automobiles and were priced much higher than the competition. In 1902, the Ohio Automobile Company was renamed The Packard Motor Car Company and moved to Detroit. The last Packard came off of the assembly-line in 1958.

For three decades Salado Village Voice serves community; Fleischers have published Jewel magazine for over 20 years

While the Salado Village Voice is not the first newspaper in Salado, it has had the longest life-span, since being founded in 1979. The Fleischer family bought the newspaper in 1988 and marked 25 years in Salado this spring.

When historian Dayton Kelley published the first edition of the Salado Village Voice on February 17, 1979, it was the first time in more than 100 years that the village had a newspaper.

The first newspaper known to be published in the village was the Salado Newsletter. Published by E.W. Billings, the first edition came out on August 25, 1874. Only one copy of the newspaper exists at the newspaper collection of the University of Texas at Austin.

The Grange published another newspaper, The Texas Farmer in Salado, but it was later moved to Dallas.

Reference to a third Salado newspaper has been found on a letterhead in the Rose Papers at the University of Texas at Austin. The Salado Sentinel was published by A.S.

Hornbeck. No copies of the Salado Sentinel are known to exist today.

Salado Village Voice founder Dayton Kelley was a native of Bell County, a journalist and a historian. He taught journalism at the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor for 12 years before accepting a position as Director of the Texas Collection at Baylor University in Waco. When plans were being made to erect the Texas Ranger Hall of Fame in Waco, Kelley was employed as director.

During his years at the helm of the Salado Village Voice, the newspaper emphasized the history of the village and the area. Kelley later founded the Morgan's Point Mariner and the Bell County Independent.

After Dayton passed away, his sons Dennis and Bill ran the Salado Village Voice, selling it to the Fleischers in 1988.

In the mid-80s, Salado had two newspapers. But, just like Dallas, San Antonio and Houston, Salado proved to be too small to support two competing newspapers.

The late Ken Clapp, executive director to Gov. Dolph Briscoe, opened the Salado Post-Dispatch in the Vickrey-Berry house. The Post-Dispatch, though short-lived, is well-remembered by many in Salado.

Since the Fleischer family purchased the newspaper, a week has not passed that the newspaper has not published. Tim and Marilyn Fleischer purchased the newspaper outright in the early 1990s.

Salado Village Voice also publishes the quarterly Salado: A Jewel in the Crown of Texas magazine. The newspaper office has a gallery of original pen-and-ink, pencil drawings and watercolors by Ronnie Wells of the historic homes and buildings that were featured on the covers of the early editions of the Salado: A Jewel in the Crown of Texas magazine.

Salado Village Voice launched its website as a complement to its weekly newspaper and quarterly magazine. Be sure to visit saladovillagevoice.com. Follow Salado Village Voice on Facebook for late breaking updates.
