Village clean-up set Sept. 17

Keep Salado Beautiful and other volunteers will gather 8:30 a.m. Sept. 17 at the Salado Civic Center before dispersing to various parts of the village for the Fall Community Clean-Up.

"The Ladies Auxiliary is hosting Christmas in October on Friday and Saturday October 7 and 8 and KSB is joining them by hosting a Yard and Garden Tour on October 8," said Susan Terry, president of Keep Salado Beautiful. "We expect a lot of visitors to come and we want to look our best regardless of the TxDOT mess."

Volunteers will focus their efforts on waterways, brush removal, trash and litter pick and making new plantings along Main Street. Supplies will be provided by Bell County and TxDOT.

Local businesses, organizations and home owners are encouraged to dress up for Fall. Pocket garden sponsors are asked to tend to their areas at this time.

"Our goal is to have our village ready for the wave of visitors that will attend Christmas in October and the Fall Garden Tour on Oct. 7-8.

The community is invited to come and see the Salado Volunteer Fire Department equipment and meet the members during the annual Fish Fry on Sept. 24. (PHOTO BY ROYCE WIGGIN)

With original art dotting the landscape of Salado, including the Troll and Billy Goat Gruff by Troy Kelley, the Village of Salado has been designated as a Cultural District by the Texas Commission of the Arts. There are only 35 such districts in the state and Salado is one of seven designated this year. The lenticular green bridge is one of the public gardens featured on the Keep Salado Beautiful Garden Tour on Oct. 8. To see one of the private gardens, go to page 1C this edition.

It's official Salado earns Cultural District Designation

The Texas Commission on the Arts Commissioners approved the designation of seven new cultural districts at their meeting on Sept. 7. Salado is one of the seven new districts.

Cultural districts are special zones that harness the power of cultural resources to stimulate economic development and community revitalization.

These districts can become focal points for generating business, attracting tourists, stimulating cultural development and fostering civic pride.

The new cultural districts are the Amarillo Cultural District, the Arlington Cultural Arts District, the Downtown Plano Cultural District, the Rockport Cultural Arts District, the Salado Art and Cultural District, the Texarkana Arts and Historical District and the Waco Downtown Cultural District.

These designations bring the total number of cultural districts in Texas to 35.

SVFD will display vehicles during Fish Fry on Sept. 24

Come and meet the men and women of the Salado Volunteer Fire Department during their VFD's annual Fish Fry 5-7 p.m. Sept. 24 at Salado High School cafeteria.

Tickets are $12 for adults over the age of 12 and $6 for children 12 and under.

Salado families will have a chance to view all of the fire trucks that the SVFD has acquired over the years, including the newest addition, a 2016 International that replaced a 20 year-old truck.

The new truck was purchased through a $200,000 grant to the SVFD from the Texas A&M Forest Service through the Rural Volunteer Fire Department Assistance Program.

The SVFD took delivery of the new truck in July.

"The new brush truck is larger and has more options that make it safer for the firefighters," said Salado VFD Chief Shane Berrier.

The new truck has a 1,000-gallon water tank, 20-gallon foam tank, a bumper turret nozzle, and an assortment of hoses that increase the department's capacity.

"It also gives us the capability to begin fighting a wildland fire when there is only one volunteer available because the turret and the motor for the pump are controlled from the inside of the truck," explained Berrier.

"The challenge that we face in our rural area is lack of fire hydrants. This new truck will be a great benefit because of the amount of water it will haul," Berrier said.

Chief Berrier said that while the truck's primary use will be for wildland fire-fighting, it can also be used for structure or vehicle fires as well.

Salado VFD, one of the first volunteer fire departments in Bell County, has two fully-functioning fire stations. One was built in the mid-1980s and is on the northbound access road next to the Salado Church of Christ. The VFD built Station 2, which is much larger than Station 1 and has room to grow, on property on FM 2484, giving firefighters quicker access to both northbound and southbound I-35.

The SVFD has several vehicles, including these:

Rescue #2: 1992 International, Equipped with ALS equipment, Amkus extrication equipment including cutters, spreaders, and two rams. Swifoot water and Hazmat Equipment. Generator run Scene Lights.

Engine 1: 1994 Freightliner, E-ONE Pumper, Equipped with 1200 GPM Pump, 750 Gallon tank, Amkus Multi-tool Extraction Tool, 4 SCBA, 2-200 foot preconnects and 1-100 foot bumper preconnect, Deck Gun, Positive Pressure Vent Fan. Generator run Scene Lights

Tanker 1: 1999 Freightliner 2350 Gallon Capacity Tanker, 1200 GPM pump, 3 SCBA, 3000 Gallon Portable Tank and Portable Floating Pump.

Boosters #5 and #6: Affectionately known by the firefighters at "The Twins" are two 1999 Ford F-550's 4x4's with 500 gallon tanks two-preconnected red lines and one 150 foot reeled red line.

Command #2 Rescue #1/Brush Truck: 250 gallon tank 4X4 Carries ALS & BLS equipment along with a Amkus power unit and Combi tool.

Booster 8 Booster 7 Brush Truck: 250 gallon tank 4X4

Tanker #2: 4,000 gallon tank

Brush #2

The SVFD also has a dedicated staff of volunteers, including Chief Shane Berrier, Asst. Chief Kenny Wigley, Fire Captains Ted Morris and A.J. Lopez and Lieutenants Al Califano, Jeff Booker and Steven Puckett.

Firefighters are these: Shawn Bolding, Brad Broussard, Juan Castillo, Mark Churchwell, Anthony Combs, William Dankert, Dacen Depoy, Mark Depoy, Alan Dillon, Kris Dyess, Christoffe Gieck, Alan Goodnight, Brad Goodnight, Karleigh Goodnight, Jeremy Hamilton, Bert Henry, Brandon Hollas, Nathan Houston, Rich Neagle, Reed O'Rear, Elizabeth Poole, Sid Post, Jerad Rogers, Sid Spindor, Nicole Stairs, Greg Tischler, Mark Tubbs, Ty Tubbs, Ty Tumej, Bobby

Whitson and junior firefighters Sophie Bourget, Kylar Combs, Chase Harwell, Noah Henry and Bo Whitson. Special events coordinators are Jenna Berrier, Tammy Goodnight, Crystal Henry and Patti Wigley.

The Salado Volunteer Fire Department was established in the mid 1960's and was one of the first volunteer fire departments organized in Bell County.

Since its inception, it has twice been named as the First Responders of the Year for the State of Texas.

The department began operations with one 1950 pumper truck located by Salado Creek in a two-door garage type building. At that time, the 911 Emergency System did not exist. Salado fire and emergency calls were telephoned to the local hotel, Stagecoach Inn. Firemen were telephoned at their homes or work to respond to calls for help. Some years later a siren was installed close to the fire station. When a call for help was made to the fire station, the entering call would activate the siren. The sound of the siren could be heard all over the village. When the volunteers heard the siren, they would come to the station and respond to the emergency.

Today Bell County has established a state of the art communication center that dispatches all fire, police, sheriff, and ambulance services.

Reversing course

District backpedals on traffic pattern changes for parents picking up kids at Thomas Arnold Rd. campuses

A change in traffic patterns for picking up students at the three Salado school campuses on Thomas Arnold was rather short-lived after parents complained to administrators and on social media that the process took more than a hour.

Superintendent Michael Novotny sent out an email late in the evening Sept. 12 to announce that the district would go "back to our original afternoon pick up process with the elementary, intermediate, and junior high schools." "The only exception is that we will continue to block the first (east) entrance to the junior high school parking lot," he added.

Dr. Novotny said that, "While all of our students did leave our school safely today, the process took entirely too long."

The process implemented on Sept. 12 required parents picking up their children from any of the three campuses to do so only from the right-side car lane in the traffic loop of Salado Intermediate School. No students were to be picked up at either Thomas Arnold elementary car lane or the Salado Junior High car lane.

The district quickly reversed course in an email sent out Sept. 12

Parents will be able to pick up their children from each of the three campus parking lots after school.

"The safest way to pick up and drop off your students is using the right (passenger) side of your vehicle in the right car lane (next to the curb and sidewalk) so that your students will never have to cross traffic to get to or from your car," Novotny stated.

"We will continue to block the first (east) entrance to the junior high school parking lot," he said. "We will also continue to consider other changes that would improve student safety, while not slowing down the process like it did this afternoon."

Gault Site school named Preserve

America Steward

The Gault Site School of Archaeological Research at Texas State University and a historic garden designed by a landscaping firm founded by Frederick Law Olmsted have been both designated as Preserve America Stewards by First Lady Michelle Obama.

This brings the total of Preserve America Stewards nationwide to 58.

The Gault School of Archaeological Research is dedicated to research and education regarding the earliest peopling of the Americas. Since its founding in 2006, more than 2,000 volunteers have participated in excavations and laboratory analysis at the Gault Site and other archaeological sites. The Gault Site is famous for its concentration of artifacts from 11 archaeological cultures dating back 15,000 years.

FORUM

An Open Exchange of Ideas

Yes, America First

Donald Trump's speech in Arizona has occasioned wailing and rending of garments among the commentariat and "respectable" people everywhere. At bottom, the cause of the freakout is simple: Trump believes in immigration laws, and the country's elite really doesn't.

Minus a few trademark excesses that are too ingrained in the Trump shtick to abandon at this point -- e.g., we are going to build a wall and Mexico is going to pay for it -- Trump's speech was rock-solid on policy. The core of it represents what, more or less, any realistic regime of immigration enforcement would look like. That the opinion elite recoiled in horror shows how out of sympathy it is with borders and what it takes to enforce them. It was understandable that everyone felt whiplash. Trump had primed people to expect something different, both with his recent public wobbliness and his quick strike into Mexico, where he lucked out in a successful meeting with that country's hapless president, Enrique Pena Nieto.

And Trump didn't do himself any favors by giving the Arizona speech in a rally setting. When he is in his shouty mode, Trump could read the phone book and make it sound like an outlandish screed.

All that said, Trump nailed a few theses to the door of his promised great, impenetrable border wall that are important and too often neglected:

--Immigration policy should serve the interests of the United States and its workers. This should be axiomatic. Yet it has taken Trump to make the proposition central to the immigration debate. There is no doubt that illegal immigration is good for illegal immigrants, but the first obligation of the United States is to protect its citizens and legal residents.

--Illegal immigrants compete against low-skilled workers already here and are a net drain on the government. Even if they work hard (and most do), illegal immigrants are unlikely to earn enough to pay much in taxes, and their families access welfare benefits through their children.

--"Anyone who has entered the United States illegally," Trump said, "is subject to deportation." This sounds radical only because of the progress the left has made in dele-gitimizing deportation. If we aren't going to have a sweeping amnesty or tolerate the status quo, illegal immigrants must be subject to deportation.

--Legal immigration, too, should serve the interests of the nation. It shouldn't be out of bounds, as Trump suggested, to want to tap the brakes and adjust whom we are accepting to emphasize "merit, skill and proficiency."

Trump's speech was the soundest immigration speech ever delivered by a presidential nominee, and a total policy victory for restrictionists. There are two problems, though.

One is that it is such a tough-minded agenda, it needs to be presented with a deft touch. Instead, Trump seemingly went out of his way to make his policy sound as audacious and threatening as possible.

Two, if Trump loses, this agenda will be discredited, and restrictionists will instantly be as embattled as ever, once again fighting a desperate rearguard action against a political establishment and opinion elite that consider their priorities bizarre and hateful.

True/False: Here are the facts

Recently, I met with various citizen groups and county officials to discuss our issues. Without exception, their guidance was the same: "In all matters, present the facts and communicate often. Use the Salado Village Voice, SaladoMayorBlog.com, and all forms of Social media."

With that in mind, let's discuss some floating rumors:

False: Stagecoach is up for sale.

True: Dan Sharp, Stagecoach Landscape Architect wrote 1 Sep 3:34 p.m.: "In the next couple of weeks, we will generate a proposed sketch of the Stagecoach area for your review and would like to set up a time to present this proposal to the Mayor and TXDoT."

False: Holiday Inn Express is bankrupt.

True: Last year, the owners netted over $500,000 after paid in-voices. It is for sale because the three owners want to invest in other adventures. There are serious buyers.

False: Salado taxpayers are paying for Sanctuary's infrastructure, including sewer.

True: The contract is very clear: Sanctuary pays for Sanctuary's infrastructure.

False: The Stagecoach Wastewater permit will not be renewed.

True: "Just to let you know that we received the renewal for the Stagecoach permit." Rick Kasberg, Engineer.

False: If withdrawal of annexation passes, residents will be in Salado's ETJ.

True: The Board of Aldermen/lady voted that if it passes, the withdrawn annexed portion will be dropped from Salado's ETJ.

False: We will only gain if we reverse annexation.

True: If you withdraw annexation, you will lose your homestead exemption not lose your over 65 exemptions but it would be reduced by $40,000 lose your SISD over 65 exemption will remain responsible for Salado sewer debt.

Proof: Drive to Bell County Tax office and ask for 2015 Appraisal Roll - Tax Table.

Within the next 30 days, a Town Hall will be held for a question and answer session with the Board of Aldermen/Lady. Ask the hard questions and receive the straight answers.

Reader: Wise advise from Commissioner Tim Brown

Your Voice

Letters to the Editor

Prior to the last Village election, I observed the new ETJ/Economic Development joint committees meeting on Tuesday, May 3rd, 2016.

What a wonderful group of local citizens who are volunteering their time and expertise to support the Board of Aldermen in future decisions.

To my mind, too much of the meeting was run by the Village Manager Foutz who proceeded through all the possible laws pertaining to annexation by other than voluntary means. The presentation could have been done with handouts, if those attending were so inclined to ignore the will of individual land owners.

The best part of the meeting was our Bell County Commissioner, Tim Brown's wise advice....

SALADO must have a sewer....

SALADO must NOT count on more "rooftops" to solve financial issues....

SALADO must work at developing commercial/retail business to provide more sales tax....

Some individuals mentioned the dream of reaching a population of 5,000... note ((5000 population means ---

A. Tax cap may move from $1.50 to $2.50

B. Mayor may have a salary

C. Village ETJ moves from 1/2 to 1 mile

D. Village may force annexation on unwilling landowners))

Of course, some of those individuals promoting 5,000 do not live in the village and are not begging to be annexed, so I have to assume business interests motivate their dreams.

I personally love the idea of living in a village of two to three thousand. (Salado's Village population has stayed at under 2,200 since before 2001). The possibility of driving down the street and waving to a neighbor, or walking into a shop and visiting with someone I know, makes me feel like Salado is home for the rest of my life.

For Democrats, First Amendment Rights Stop at Climate Change

By JEFF STIER

Democrats' grand plan for this election year doesn't seem to include free speech. The group that drafted the Democratic Party platform recently called for the Justice Department to prosecute energy companies that don't agree with Democrats on climate change.

But is that wise? If the government is allowed to punish those who merely question climate change, it should also be allowed to punish climate alarmists for false doomsday predictions.

That reasoning doesn't make sense. Democrats should end their crusade before they start feeling the brunt of their own logic.

Unfortunately, silencing climate dissenters with laws didn't start with the DNC platform. It's part of a growing trend.

Twenty state attorney generals nationwide have started investigating oil companies. The AGs allege that to maintain high profits, Big Oil purposely misled investors and the public about climate change consequences.

Right- and libertarian-leaning policy centers -- such as the Heartland Institute and Competitive Enterprise Institute are also facing scrutiny. My employer, the National Center for Public Policy Research was even targeted on the Senate floor. The green crusaders claim we were all accomplices in helping oil companies obscure environmental threats.

Meanwhile, Attorney General Loretta Lynch recently acknowledged that the Justice Department may use a federal law originally created to fight organized crime to prosecute climate skeptics. In the Obama administration's distorted reality, the analogy isn't much of a stretch.

Ironically, the state AGs unveiled their crusade at a press conference in March with former vice president and climate Svengali Al Gore. Gore, who predicted that the North Pole would be ice-free by 2013, has repeatedly cried wolf about the coming environmental apocalypse -- while snatching millions by promoting dubious green investments.

But what's to stop a newly formed league of climate-agnostic attorneys general, emboldened by the strategies of their green colleagues, from prosecuting those like Gore who have become rich off doomsday predictions?

Gore isn't alone. In 2008, ABC News predicted that because of climate change, New York City would be submerged by 2015. Concurrently, the United Nations warned that there were only eight years left to prevent a "dangerous" rise in global temperatures.

In 2007, the head of the organization's Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change cautioned that it would be "too late" by 2012 without immediate global action. Previously, the UN warned that

Clearing the Minefield of Political Correctness

There's been a lot of debate, appropriately enough, about University of Chicago dean John Ellison's letter warning freshmen not to expect "safe spaces" and "trigger warnings" on campus. Much of that debate has focused on free speech -- and rightly so. But there's a larger issue at play.

Ellison's defense of academic freedom raises an important question: What's a college education for? Is it simply for job training? Many people seem to think so. They go to get a certain degree that will enable them to pursue a certain career. Get in, study, get that sheepskin, get out, start making the bucks, right?

But that narrow view, however pragmatic it may seem, is a good way to cheat yourself. Because college should mean more than that. It should sharpen your intellect, expose you to new ideas, develop your ability to think critically, and enable you to reflect on the purpose of the well-developed life.

You can't do that in the cramped atmosphere created by political correct-

global warming was about to usher in a huge period of population disruption, creating 50 million climate refugees by 2010.

These are just a smattering of inaccurate predictions from environmentalists. Some utilized flawed models. Some were propaganda to influence public opinion and legislation. Others just wanted to get rich off government-subsidies for green technology.

Those motives are no better than the ones said to be driving oil companies. Were the tables turned and green zealots held accountable for misleading ness. You need academic freedom.

The brain isn't a muscle in the physical sense, but in the educational sense, that's exactly what it is. And a muscle that isn't exercised atrophies. It's weak and unable to do anything useful. You have to make it work.

So when you go into the gym, or slip on your jogging shoes, or do whatever exercise you do, you don't coddle your body. You push it. It will tell you it's tired, that the exercise is hard, that it wants to quit. It wants a "safe space," but you don't give it one, and why? Because you know it won't get stronger unless you challenge it.

That's exactly what a college education should do for your mind. You wouldn't work with a trainer who gave you a bunch of powderpuff exercises and made sure you never broke a sweat. And why? Because you know it would be a waste of time -- that you'd never improve, never get stronger.

Yet a lot of people expect a college professor -- a trainer of the mind -- to go easy on them. They demand "trigger warnings" before they encounter the horror of a different point of view. In fact, they prefer to be shielded altogether. They huff, they cry, they rage if they hear someone say something that doesn't align with what they already think.

Of course, "think" is too generous a word for what they're doing. They've adopted a certain worldview -- not through the use of reason, but through osmosis. Their opinions on every topic under the sun carry the same weight as the laws of physics. Someone who doesn't agree with them on, say, climate change, might as well be claiming the sun sets in the east.

It's a sign of how cod-these oil companies and think tanks is a flagrant attempt to bypass the Constitution and stifle political speech. It should be opposed regardless of their stance on climate change. It's shameful that a major political party has so little regard for free speech.

dled they've been since birth. Imagine going all the way through elementary and high school in a protective bubble. It's a shame that college professors have to engage in such remedial work, and I don't blame them for wanting to throw up their hands and pass the little darlings along. But just because everyone before them has abdicated their responsibilities doesn't mean they should, too.

"Don't try to shut folks out, don't try to shut them down, no matter how much you might disagree with them," President Obama said in a commencement speech at Howard University. "There's been a trend around the country of trying to get colleges to disinvite speakers with a different point of view, or disrupt a politician's rally. Don't do that, no matter how ridiculous or offensive you might find the things that come out of their mouths."

He's right. So is John Ellison, who's done his students a great favor. It's time to stop tiptoeing through the minefield of political correctness. It's time to read widely, listen carefully, debate respectfully -- and think.

Democratic Women meet Sept. 17

The September meeting of the Bell County Texas Democratic Women will be held 9:30 a.m. Saturday, September 17 at the Texas AgriLife extension building located at 1605 N. Main St., Belton

The guest speaker for this month is Judge Van Orden. The meeting is free an open to the public.

Genealogists by Appointment to help with family research

Genealogists Danny Leshikar (cq) of Liberty, Missouri and Richard Lesikar (cq) of Granbury, Texas will offer free help for descendants of Czech immigrants looking for information about their families.

"We will help people begin building a family tree or add to their own information," said Richard Lesikar. "We will not post this information to social media or on websites such as Ancestry.com," he said.

Danny Leshikar presently has a database of more than 81,000 entries which includes names, information and photographs. He and Richard Lesikar use this information to build family trees at no cost.

"We are blessed that some Czech genealogists such as Edmund Hejl, Albert Blaha, Jim and Mildred (Skrabanek) Hejl had the foresight to gather, translate and publish information of our Czech heritage," said Richard Lesikar. "These people, who are now all deceased, helped lay the foundation for Danny's work."

The two genealogists will be in Temple from October 4 to October 10 and are taking appointments now. "We'd love to have the opportunity to visit you in your home, share the data and or photographs Danny has of your family and at the same time gather data that are missing from your family tree," said Richard Lesikar. They will also meet participants at the Czech Heritage Museum in Temple if that is more convenient.

For appointments and more information, contact Richard Lesikar at rlesikar@charter.net or call 682-936-6034.

Eagles trounce Hyde Park 28-9

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

"They did that tonight," Coach Alan Haire said with a big smile after the Salado Eagles dominated the Hyde Park Baptist Panthers 28-9 tonight at Eagle Field.

"They were explosive coming off of the line," he said.

Explosive is right. The Eagles had 393 yards of offense, all of it on the ground.

"Willy Wigham did a great job tonight at center," Haire said. It was Wigham's first game to start at the position. "Noah Barker had a terrific game, too on the line."

Jake Harvey, who had three rushing touchdowns and 83 yards rushing, pointed out the blocking of the offensive line and fullback Trey Sheppard. "It really felt good after all the work we have been putting in to have it finally pay off."

Yet when speedster Kyle Granger took the opening kickoff back for an 82-yard touchdown, a collective gasp could be heard in the Salado stands as the Panthers put six on the board before everyone got seated.

But that play was about the only bright spot for the visiting Panthers, who averaged 46 points per game in their opening two weeks.

Andrew Sniggs sacked Panther quarterback D.J Bolger three times and the Eagles defense got to Bolger just about every time he dropped back to pass.

"Salado FC again jumped out to an early 5-0 lead and this time with coaching adjustments the Wolfpack was able to respond and make a good game of things," he added. "The boys from Salado were able to play as a team and hang on for the win."

Quade Brown intercepted a Bolger pass on third and one to give the Eagles the ball at the Hyde Park 20 yard line.

Facing a third and 14, Hayden Haire gave the ball to Harvey as he sped around the end for a 24 yard touchdown at 2:54 in the first. His brother Tate Harvey ran in the conversion to give the Eagles their first lead of the season, 8-6.

A Sniggs sack in the second ended a Panther series.

With the ball at their own 38 yard line, Salado took nine plays and three minutes off the clock to score their second touchdown. Harvey scored on another run around the end, this time from 20 yards out with 9:28 left in the half. The drive was marked by big runs by Aaron Torczynski of nine yards and Jake Elliott of 24 yards on a fourth and two. The point after failed.

Jacob Daniels fielded Jake Walrath's kick off at the Hyde Park 35 and ran it to the Salado 22 to set up the Panthers' second and final score of the game. Brandt Peterson kicked a 29 yard field goal to bring the score to 14-9 Salado.

The rest of the game was all Salado as the Panthers could neither run nor pass against defensive coordinator John Kirk's quick linebackers.

Salado added a touchdown in the final minute of the first half. Wyatt Bagley and Ashten Sniggs sacked Bolger for a 12 yard loss on a third and 10 to force the Panthers to punt at their own 30 yard line.

Hudgens waved for the fair catch to give Salado the ball at their own 31 yard line. On first down, Torczynski blasted through the line to get the ball to midfield. He then pushed the ball to the Panther 40 yard line for a second and one to go. Harvey took the ball around the end for a 40 yard touchdown. Walrath booted the extra point to give Salado a 21-9 lead at the half.

Hudgens intercepted a pass by Bolger with 7:18 in the third to set up another sustained scoring drive by the Eagles, the final one of the night.

After an eight yard run by Elliott, back-to-back false start penalties moved the ball to the Salado 34 yard line. Cade Depoy bulled up the middle for runs of nine and 13 yards to give Salado a first down in Panther territory. He then plowed over the gassed Hyde Park defense for a 22 yard run.

Trey Sheppard took a hand-off from Haire into the end zone for a 21 yard touchdown with 3:51 left in the third. Walrath added the extra point for the 28-9 lead.

Mercifully, the officials managed the clock for the fourth quarter to give Salado its first win of the season at about 9:45 p.m.

An Artistic Texas Native Garden

BY MARGARET B. WILLIAMSON

Coming to Salado about five years ago, Nancy and Owen Messenger, both with Texas roots, bought a beautiful home overlooking a private pond. Nancy, with her artist's touch and with the help of Ariah Cole of Compass Landscaping, began transforming the gardens into a visual and sensual wonderland expressing a unique sense of place. The home is located on a hill surrounded by large native live oaks and cedar elms. A cedar post stockade was constructed to add to the privacy on one side of the property and vines, shrubs and trees were added to the east side. Foundation plantings near the front door consist of boxwood with Turk's cap and coralberry providing a red burst of color with their flowers and berries. There is also a small red Japanese maple that brightens up the shady garden bed.

The front yard slopes away from the house and plantings are tightly massed in beds. The beginning of the slope has a curved stacked rock wall that entwines under the oak trees. There are gravel paths that glide down the hill where there is a diverse abundance of native and adapted plants, perennials, ornamental grasses and herbs such as rosemary, salvias, lantana, bottlebrush, Gregg mist-flower, thyrallis, Turk's cap, sages, Artemisia, Mexican petunia, copper canyon daisy, cotoneaster, esperanza, bamboo muhly, yuccas and cacti. Within the garden beds are Crepe Myrtles, Texas red bud and a dwarf pomegranate producing stunning blooms in the spring. One needs a landscape guide to identify all of the plants in the lavish display.

On the eastern side of the home is a serene spot, again under the canopy of oaks and elms, with a wooden deck, seating and hot tub. The layout is a natural design with its use of stones, rocks and trees linked together. One thinks of purposeful privacy in this courtyard with artistic touches. A winding path travels to the back garden where the artist studio is located and you can find a "Peggy Martin" climbing rose bush. "The "Peggy Martin Rose" was one of only two plants surviving 20 feet of salt water over the garden of Mrs. Peggy Martin, Plaquemines Parish, Louisiana, after the destruction of Hurricane Katrina in late August, 2005. Since then, it was introduced into commerce and has become a symbol among gardeners and rose lovers of a tenacious plant associated with a spirit of renewal and re-growth." Loquat trees line the back fence and a whimsical metal grouping of serenaders add color and fun. Look for the crow in the fig tree. There are lots of things to see and enjoy throughout this garden; take your time to experience this amazing yard.

Other private home gardens on the tour are the yards and gardens of Linda and Mickey Rawls, Shirley and Bill Pinkston, CR and Joyce Pennington and Alice and George Romfh. Also on the tour are six public gardens. Tickets for the tour are $15 and can be purchased online at www.keepsaladobeautiful.com or at the Chamber of Commerce located at 813 N. Main Street. Gardens will be self-guided with Master Gardeners and Master Naturalists as docents located at each location. Tours will be conducted rain or shine. Wheelchair accessibility is limited and strollers and pets are not permitted. All proceeds from the tour will go toward future improvement of the Salado Sculpture Garden. For more information, please visit the website at www.keepsaladobeautiful.com. Additional articles and photos of the gardens can be found on The Village Voice website: www.saladovillagevoice.com

Everyone is dealt 13 cards

Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker

When declarer has a two-way finesse against a queen, he should try to avoid making a decision until after he has gathered all the information he can about the defenders' hands.

Take this deal where South is faced with the question of where the queen of diamonds is located. West leads the K-A and another spade, East ruffing the third spade and declarer overruffing. Since he must lose a trump trick sooner or later, South's only concern is to avoid a diamond loser. This would be easy enough to do if the location of the queen were known, but, lacking that knowledge, the best South can do is search for clues that might point the way to the habitat of the missing damsel. So at trick four, he leads the queen of hearts, which holds,

West dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

Opening lead — king of spades.

next try to learn whatever he can about West's other four cards. He does this by cashing the A-K-Q of clubs, and when West follows suit to each of them, South's problem is solved.

He leads a low diamond to the king as West follows with the only diamond he can hold. South then continues with a diamond to the ten with a 100 percent certainty that it will win the trick, and the game is home.

Red-eared Slider

Red-eared Sliders are native Texans

Many people have an aversion to reptiles, particularly snakes. However, when they come to the realization that turtles are reptiles as well as their legless cousins, their stance on this group of ectothermic animals shifts. Many people recall fond memories of when they were kids the “five and dime” stores selling little green turtles as pets. These little green turtles were in actuality the common Red-eared Slider that thrives in this state.

Red-eared Sliders (Trachemys scripta elegans) naturally occur in just about every area of this state, with the western edges of the Panhandle and far west Texas being the exceptions. From here, they range all the way east to the Mississippi Valley. However, they have been introduced into just about every state in the Union through careless pet owners who have released them into the wild. In fact, they can now be observed in every continent on this planet, save Antarctica.

This species of aquatic turtle occupies just about any lake, pond, canal, river or even spring-fed creek in its range. All that is required for their survival is there must be at least a minimal amount of vegetation available for cover and feeding.

Wild About Texas

As the common name implies, the most diagnostic characteristic used in identifying this species is the broad red stripe that runs diagonally from the corner of the eye to the back of the head, where the ear is located. This red “ear” is most visible on younger turtles. The carapace, or top shell, is olive, green, or brownish, with many yellow lines that run vertically on the scales. The bottom shell, or plastron, is yellowish with many irregular circles than are on each scale. The legs and neck are green, and like the carapace, are marked with many thin yellow lines. Occasionally, all of these colorations on older adult males will fade to the point that the turtle is just olive-black in overall coloration, including the tell-tale red “ear”.

This native turtle is medium sized, with sexually mature adults ranging in carapace size from seven inches to one foot in length. Females are the larger sex, attaining lengths of up to one foot, while the males are much smaller, only attaining a carapace length of about eight inches. Mature males also can be distinguished from the females by the presence of elongated nails on the front legs.

Mating in this species occurs in the spring, beginning with males stroking the females along her head with his elongated nails in a bizarre, yet romantic courtship.

After mating, the female will lay her clutch of eight to seventeen eggs in late spring. To do so, many females will travel long distances over land to find a suitable nesting area. Many are killed along roadways during this time, and many more are picked up by well-to-do persons who want to re-release them back into the water, all the while unknowingly disrupting her nesting pattern. Once the eggs are laid in the nest, which is dug out with the hind legs of the mother, they incubate for approximately two to three months. Once the young hatch, they must make the perilous journey back to the water on their own.

Red-eared Sliders are by far the most commonly noticed aquatic turtle in the state, with large groups often congregating in the same area to bask on logs, rocks and other debris in the water. They are also a good example of how animals that have been in captivity should not be released back into the wild, especially in an area where they do not naturally occur. This species has been propagated and sold commercially for over six decades, and most these specimens have either died or were released into areas where they were not native to, and the local wildlife is now suffering in certain areas. For example, the presence of Red-eared Sliders in places such as the pools at Cuatrocieneegas, Coahuila, Mexico has taken a toll on the native slider turtle that occurs there and only there. It is now rare to find an endemic slider in Cuatrocieneegas that does not have the genetic influence of the non-native Red-ear. It is always the responsible duty of a pet owner to find a foster home for their pet when they become unwanted.
