Aldermen revisit request for Hay Meadow variance

Salado aldermen will revisit a variance request at their 6:30 p.m. April 9 meeting for property at 400 Hay Meadow for the placement of an accessory building outside of the rear yard.

At a Feb. 19 meeting, aldermen granted a 45-day variance with stipulations that property owners Curt and Laurie Ducet seek approval from the architectural review committee of the Salado Creek Place Subdivision off of Center Circle and Indian Trail. The Ducets were to seek approval from the architectural review committee for the entire project, including the expansion of the existing building on the property for use as a home, construction of a separate garage and permanent placement of the accessory building.

The drawings for the residential project were approved on March 25 and signed by Sam Pfeister of the architectural review committee, according to documentation received by the Village.

In other business, aldermen will consider a request from the Village Secretary for administrative leave as well as a request to reimburse volunteers in the village for $500 for gas and maintenance of equipment for mowing of public areas in the Village.

Following the regular meeting, aldermen will also meet in workshop session for discussion but no action.

Aldermen will discuss the proposed Bell County Municipal Utility District #3, a 1,221 acre development along FM 2843 and Triangle Road.

The board will also discuss the Stagecoach sewer, including establishing an operating budget, establishing user rates, obtaining operator services and effluent, contractual expenses and discharge alternatives.

They will also discuss terms and conditions for annexations of the schools.

An Open Exchange of Ideas

In Defense of Indiana

Indiana is experiencing its two minutes of hate. Indiana's sin is that its Legislature passed and Gov. Mike Pence signed into law a Religious Freedom Restoration Act, setting out a legal standard for cases involving a clash between a person's exercise of religion and the state's laws.

To listen to the critics, you'd think the law was drafted by a joint committee of attorneys from the Ku Klux Klan and the Westboro Baptist Church.

The enlightened are stumbling over themselves in their rush to boycott Indiana. Seattle and San Francisco are banning official travel, and Connecticut is following suit. The anti-Indiana backlash is a perfect storm of hysteria and legal ignorance, supercharged by the particularly censorious self-righteousness of the left.

All the Indiana law says is that the state can't substantially burden a person's exercise of religion, unless there is a compelling governmental interest at stake and it is pursued by the least-restrictive means. The law doesn't mandate any particular outcome; it simply provides a test for the courts in those rare instances when a person's exercise of religion clashes with a law.

Nineteen other states

have similar protections, and they are all modeled on a federal version of the law that passed Congress with near unanimity in 1993 (Indiana's law is arguably a little more robust than the federal version, since it applies to private suits). If these Religious Freedom Restoration Acts were the enablers of discrimination they are portrayed as, much of the country would already have sunk into a dystopian pit of hatred.

The religious-freedom laws once were associated with minorities that progressives could embrace or tolerate -- Native Americans who smoke peyote as part of religious ceremonies, Amish who drive their buggies on the roads, and the like. That was fine. It is the specter of Christian small-business people -- say, a baker or a florist -- using the laws to protect themselves from punishment for opting out of gay-wedding ceremonies that drives progressives mad.

Why? The country has an enormous wedding industry not known for its hostility to gays. The burgeoning institution of gay marriage will surely survive the occasional florist who doesn't want to provide flowers for a same-sex wedding for religious reasons

As a practical matter, such a dissenting florist doesn't make a difference; the affected couple might be offended, but can take its business elsewhere. But for the left, it's the principle of the thing. For all its talk of diversity, it demands unanimity on this question -- individual conscience be damned. So it isn't bothered when religious wedding vendors are sued or harassed under anti-discrimination laws for their nonparticipation in ceremonies they morally oppose.

It's not clear that Religious Freedom Restoration Acts will shield these kind of business people (they haven't, to this point). It might be that more specific exemptions are necessary. But the mere possibility that the Religious Freedom Restoration Act might protect a baker opposed to gay marriage is enough to create a furious, unhinged reaction.

Yes, there is intolerance afoot in the debate over Indiana, but it's not on the part of Indians.

Muzzling the Marketplace of Ideas

By Ed Feulner
THE HERITAGE FOUNDATION

"Congress shall make no law ... abridging the freedom of speech." The words of the First Amendment couldn't be plainer. Yet more than two centuries after the Bill of Rights was written, they remain the subject of fierce debate.

Actually, I should amend that (no pun intended). These words would be the subject of debate ... if debate were permitted. But these days, apparently, we're all so thin-skinned that we can't bear to hear an opinion that challenges our worldview.

This is even true, ironically, at our institutions of higher learning. Some colleges are far more interested in swaddling their students in a protective bubble than in teaching free speech.

Consider what happened to Omar Mahmood. The University of Michigan student last year wrote a satirical piece for the campus newspaper, the Michigan Daily, listing the ways that the pervading culture of right-handedness victimizes left-handed people.

"The biggest obstacle to equality today is our barbaric attitude toward people of left-handyness [sic]," he wrote. "It's a tragedy that I, a member of the left-handed community, had little to no idea of the atrocious persecution that we are dealt every day by institutions that are deeply embedded in society."

Anyone familiar with the political correctness that pervades so much of society will recognize what Mahmood was lampooning. The victim mentality is particularly acute on many campuses, with professors nursing and even inflaming cultural conflicts on every level, leaving everyone walking around on eggshells.

In such an environment, Mahmood's column could have served a valuable purpose. An actual debate -- imagine! -- could have ensued.

But no. The Daily's editors couldn't risk damaging the precious little psyches of his fellow students with anything as retrograde as a dissenting point of view. Mahmood had created a "hostile environment" for those hothouse flowers, he was told. Why, an unidentified staffer "felt threatened" by his column. Somebody pass the smelling salts!

Mahmood's apartment was vandalized. He was

Salado is no ordinary show on I-35; Village of personality, charisma

Cherie Carter Scott writes: "Ordinary people believe only in the possible. Extraordinary people visualize not what is possible or probable, but rather what is impossible. And by visualizing the impossible, they begin to see it as possible."

Salado is not ordinary. We are extraordinary. That is why we are at the top of every list as one of the best villages in Texas.

Recently, in a meeting with people from outside our community, the remark was made, "we've worked with many communities like Killeen, Belton, Florence, Temple, and other towns. You are no different."

Yes, we are. We do not want to be like other communities. We are different; we have our own brand; and we work to maintain our distinction.

Walk through our shops and you see "extraordinary." Look at our art and experience "extraordinary." Drive through our neighborhoods and realize, "extraordinary." Talk to citizens and hear "extraordinary." It is that "extra" that makes Salado special. We are no ordinary show on I-35; we are an extraordinary village with personality, charisma, pride, and self-confidence.

Please hear testimonies of people who recently made Salado their home.

A young couple sold all they had and moved here to start a business because they believed in Salado. Another family moved here and said frankly, "Do not tell our friends about Salado. They will want to move here. We love Salado." And, yet another family, "We like our small village; feeling safe; and peaceful surroundings. This is heaven on earth."

We are not ordinary; we are extraordinary -- a beautiful community of bright colors filled with life and promise. No matter who comes; now matter what is offered; we will not lose our identity or the characteristics that make us special.

Celebrate Salado! Our cup runs over with promise, hope, and memory-making life.

A Thumping Cruz-a-palooza

THE TEXAS SENATOR AND PRESIDENTIAL WANNABE CAN'T EVEN IMAGINE THE TRUTH.

Senator Ted Cruz's recent announcement of his presidential candidacy was a real Cruz-a-palooza.

It was part Ronald Reagan, part Elmer Gantry, part John Lennon, and part Jerry Falwell -- yet it was totally Ted Cruz, full of blather and bloat.

Cruz thumped the word "liberty" again and again during his speech, like a televangelist thumping the Bible. "We stand together for liberty," the candidate declared one final time at the conclusion of the show, which was staged at Falwell's Liberty University.

That was more than a little cynical.

While the mass media reported that Cruz drew a packed house of 10,000 Liberty students, few news stories mentioned a pertinent fact about the crowd: The budding scholars were not at liberty to avoid his speech. Their school made attendance mandatory.

Jim Hightower

Another word reprised throughout the event was "imagine." Cruz uttered it 38 times in a sort of dreamy imitation of the John Lennon song. "Imagine health care reform that keeps government out of the way," warbled the senator.

Imagine, indeed. Cruz's family once received free, platinum-level coverage from Goldman Sachs, where his wife was a top executive. But when she took leave from the Wall Street giant to join Cruz's anti-government crusade, they were suddenly left with no health coverage.

No problem for a hypocrite like Cruz. The day after his big speech, he said he plans to sign up for Obamacare, the very program he demonized and once shut down the government in an attempt to kill.

But it was in the speech's finale that Cruz reached his crescendo of cynicism: "It is a time for truth," he bellowed.

Truth? This is a guy who fabricates facts to foment fear among the fringe right-wingers. The good news is that the more he campaigns, the more obvious it will become that he can't even imagine the truth.

fired from the Daily, of course.

Unfortunately, this isn't an isolated incident. Hardly a week goes by without news about one campus or another preventing unpopular views from being expressed. According to the Foundation for Individual Rights in Education (FIRE), which tracks such violations, most U.S. colleges are guilty.

And "this isn't just an American problem," Jim DeMint, president of The Heritage Foundation, noted in a lecture at Yale University. "Academia spans nations, and its diseases can swim across oceans." Thus, for example, Oxford University canceled a pro-con debate about abortion "because, apparently, men aren't allowed to have opinions on such things anymore." Even the pro-abortion debater found that ridiculous.

But more and more, this is our world. We don't debate, we demonize. The New York Times Magazine documented this trend in a chilling article titled "How One Stupid Tweet Blew Up Justine Sacco's Life." It showed how Sacco and others have lost jobs, endured vicious threats and been forced into hiding for daring to make ill-conceived jokes or off-the-cuff remarks that others found offensive.

Part of the problem, surely, is rooted in basic ignorance of American history and our founding documents. That's why I opened by quoting the First Amendment. It may strike some readers as too basic to even mention, but numerous surveys show an alarming degree of ignorance and illiteracy.

Heck, you don't even need a survey. Jimmy Kimmel and other late-night comics often mine this ignorance for laughs with their man-on-the-street interviews.

But there's nothing funny about the underlying cause. Or with its effect: a society where political correctness makes debate impossible and only those who express the "accepted" opinion are permitted to speak.

"You don't communicate with anyone purely on the rational facts or ethics of an issue," wrote Saul Alinsky in "Rules for Radicals," the bible of the so-called progressive left. "Pick a target, freeze it, personalize it, and popularize it."

Personally, I'll stick with the First Amendment.

Father-son partners honored by Hutto Chamber of Commerce

BY TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

The Hutto Chamber of Commerce honored Beau's Specialty Meats and Deli as the Small Business of the Year during its annual awards banquet and gala Feb. 28 just a year after the business owned by father and son team Gary and Beau Bartlett.

Gary is a longtime Saladoan and Beau is a rarity as a native of Salado.

Opening the business, located at 109 Front Street in Hutto, where Beau's maternal grandmother Helen Williams and great-grandmother Esther Pearson grew up and graduated from high school, was the culmination of more than four years of work.

Beau is a graduate of Le Cordon Bleu College of Culinary Arts in Austin. He and his father partnered on the specialty meat company and deli that quickly became a favorite gathering place in Hutto.

ance between meat market with specialties ranging from hand-stuffed chickens to eight different flavors of sausage, and deli with lunch favorites such as their Reuben sandwich with house-smoked pastrami, sauerkraut, Swiss and Russian dressing on rye.

It offers the best of both worlds giving customers a chance to enjoy a terrific lunch, including crawfish boils and gumbo on Saturdays, and more than enough specialty gourmet stuffed meats to take home to stuff your freezer.

On a recent Saturday visit, we found Gary and Jane Bartlett (neither of whom have met a stranger) greeting customers while Beau was making sure that pounds and pounds of crawfish were delivered to hungry customers.

Cajun flavors run rampant throughout Beau's, from the gumbo or crawfish to boudin sausage, boudin balls, jambalaya-stuffed chicken and crawfish-rice stuffed chicken breasts.

Beau and Gary invite you to come down to Hutto to find out why they were named the Small Business of the Year.

Beau's Specialty Meats and Deli is located at 109 Front Street in Hutto. Hours are 10 a.m.- 7p.m. daily. Phone is 512-846-1515. Visit the website at beasspecialtymeats.com or find them on Facebook.

Ewton's early goals lead Lady Eagles past Billies

Katy Ewton got two quick goals in the early part of the first period to lead the Salado Lady Eagles past the Fredericksburg Battlin' Billies 3-1 in the Region IV quarterfinal soccer match April 7.

The first came just two minutes into the first period when Ewton took an assist from Jessica Ringstaff and put it past Fredericksburg's Taylor Kitchens.

About 10 minutes later, Ewton scored when a corner kick bounced off a player, giving her a second shot on goal, which she made good with about 28 minutes left in the first period of play.

Throughout the first period, Salado dominated the Billies, maintaining control of the ball on Fredericksburg's side.

scored, but missed the goal, turning the ball over to the Lady Eagles.

After that, it wasn't until the final two minutes of the period that the Billies were able to maintain possession for long on the Salado side.

A foul against Salado gave the Billies a penalty kick, which the Lady Eagles defended, but Fredericksburg's Day Flores took the deflection and put past Salado's Sam Isbell.

Burnet hands Lady Eagles 3-1 defeat

The Burnet Lady Bulldogs held the Lady Eagles to just one run and two hits in their April 2 district game in Salado. Meanwhile, the Lady Bulldogs ratcheted nine hits and scored three runs for the win.

Burnet scored a run in the top of the first. Natalie Frank singled to right with one out in the inning and went to second on an error by Malory Schattle that let Shelby Wilson get to first. Frank went to third on a passed ball and a walk issued to Makenzie Carpenter loaded the bases. Vanessa Escamilla bunted into a fielders choice that scored Frank and put the runner out trying to reach third for the second out. Rose Bailey hit a grounder to third baseman Cece Cantu who threw her out across the field at first base, leaving two runners stranded.

After Carpenter struck out Salado's top of the order in the bottom of the first, the Lady Eagles were able to tie the score in the second. Bailey Tindell hustled out a single and Jenna Calder bunted for a single. An errant throw allowed Tindell to get to home and Calder to second. Carpenter then went on to record 11 more strikeouts for 14 in the game.

Abbie James was the only Lady Eagle to reach base in the latter five innings, getting to first on an error by third baseman Escamilla.

Frank singled again to lead off the third, stretching the hit to second base on an error by right fielder Madeline Murray. Shelby Wilson singled to left sending Frank to third. Carpenter singled to center, scoring Frank. With bases loaded, Cantu caught an infield shot by Escamilla and put the runner out trying to get back to third for a single-handed double play. Calder caught a pop up to end the inning with the bases full.

In the top of the fifth, Rose Bailey rocked a triple to deep center field, turning it into the third run on an error by Cantu.

to score again when a Olivia Radles was able to break past the Salado defense before Morgan Bird took the ball back for the Lady Eagles and kicked it to the Fredericksburg side of the field.

Salado took 10 shots on goal in the first, as they spent most of the period on the Billies' side of the field. Kitchens had 8 saves in the first period and 10 in the game before Kinsey Stevens finished out the game at goalkeeper for Fredericksburg.

Salado's goalkeeper Isbell made 7 saves in the game, most of them in the second period of play.

China Saxton scored the final goal in the game with about 12 minutes left on the clock, taking an assist from Reagan Morreale on the left side as she ran down the middle for the final score of 3-1.

Early in the second, the Eagles defense defended a shot on goal and back-to-back corner kick opportunities as Fredericksburg held the ball on the Salado side at the outset of the period.

But Salado would bounce back from the threats to tie and continue to play ball control and stifling defense in the second period to hold on for the win.

Salado will face Rockport-Fulton on April 10 at 2 p.m. at McAllen High School stadium in McAllen. Rockport-Fulton beat Jones High School.

Ladies beat Wimberly

The top-ranked Salado Lady Eagles soccer team are Area Champions after squeezing out a 1-0 win over Wimberly at Fredericksburg on April 2.

Forward Reagan Morreale scored the single goal for Salado on an assist from Outside Midfielder Ashlen LaCanne.

Outside Midfielder Katey Ewton and Midfielder China Saxton also had outstanding performances in the game.

"These girls continue to work so well as a team," Coach Karen Ewton said, "which is a huge advantage and this effort was rewarded last night in our first-ever Area Championship."

Little's homer sinks Burnet Bulldogs

Jacob Little's solo home run in the fourth inning, gave the Salado Eagles a 2-0 advantage over the Burnet Bulldogs in their district home game April 2. The Eagles held on to win 2-1.

Cody Wolf allowed five hits in his fourth win on the mound for Salado as Burnet scored an earned run in the sixth inning.

Burnet's Colton Barksdale singled to lead off the sixth and went to second on a passed ball. Mason Campbell grounded out to second baseman Little to move Fisher to third.

Taylor Barksdale grounded out to short to score C. Barksdale.

Salado scored in the first when Keaton Mims led off the bottom of the inning with a walk. He went to second on a passed ball and Chase Basham went to first on a walk before Cody Wolf laid down a sacrifice bunt to advance the runners with one out. Little flied out to deep right to score Mims after he tagged up at third.

Mims, Zach Marsh, Garrett Lightfoot and Wolf all hit singles in the game.

Eagles fall to Bandera 2-1 after two overtime periods

It took two overtime periods to put an end to the Salado Eagles soccer season, as they lost to Bandera in the Area game April 2 in Fredericksburg.

Salado held a 1-0 lead in the game when Bandera was given a penalty kick that shifted the game.

After two overtime periods, Bandera scored a goal that the Eagles couldn't answer.

"This has been an amazing season and this team has developed a tremendous work ethic based on the standards set by our departing seniors," Coach Michael Goos said of the team.

Forward Daniel Magadan scored the single goal for Salado in the game. Goalkeeper Luis Pena defended seven shots on goal during the game.

Also having outstanding games in the Eagles' finale were Defensive Midfielder JP Michael and Defender Cameron Markham.

"The boys played this game with true grit and heart," Goos said.

The Eagles ended the season with a 10-12 record overall; 2-4 district.

Bandera faced Fredericksburg April 7 while Liberty Hill faced Giddings.

The Lost Track of Time

Local author returns to Salado April 11 to sign debut children's book at Fletcher's

Paige Britt will return to a place that she says that as a kid was "full of magical treasures" when she comes to Salado's Fletcher's Books & Antiques to sign her recently-released debut book, "The Lost Track of Time."

Britt will be at Fletcher's Books and Antiques 4-6:30 p.m. April 11 to sign the book which was officially released March 31 and was dubbed in a Publisher's Weekly starred review as "an exuberant homage to the power of imagination and creative problem-solving, as well as the importance of making time for oneself, one's dreams, and one's friends."

"I was lucky enough to grow up in a town with a bookstore," Britt says of Salado, where she moved with her family in 1974 to live in the Barton House. Her parents are Darwin and Carolyn Britt. Her father moved the historic storefronts from Santa Anna, Texas that have become a landmark in Salado best known as Salado Square.

Paige attended elementary school in Salado and high school in Belton, where she was influenced by English teacher Weeta Sue Evans. Britt graduated from Belton in 1987 and earned a bachelor's degree in journalism from the University of Texas at Austin in 1991.

After graduation, she became an editor at the Institute for the Humanities at Salado, working alongside Dr. Harry Wilmer and Nancy Lefler to produce educational programs for adults. While at the Institute, she edited a series of essays from famous thinkers, teachers and writers on spirituality and religion. She fell in love with the topic and a few years later enrolled in graduate school. Paige received her master's in the theology from Fuller Theological Seminary in 1996.

She eventually returned to central Texas and taught creativity and spirituality classes at the University of Mary-Hardin Baylor in Belton. She also began her career as a writer and instructional designer at Enspire, an e-learning company in Austin.

She eventually left the corporate world to pursue her passion for writing children's literature. The Lost Track of Time is her first book.

The Lost Track of Time is described as a magical fantasy, an allegorical cautionary tale, a feast of language and a celebration of creativity.

In it, Penelope is running out of time. She dreams of being a writer, but how can she pursue her passion when her mother schedules every minute of her life? And how will she ever prove that writing is worthwhile if her mother keeps telling her to "get busy!" and "be more productive?"

Then one day, Penelope discovers a hole in her schedule--an entire day completely unplanned--and she mysteriously falls into it. What follows is a mesmerizing journey through the Realm of Possibility where Penelope sets out to find and free the Great Moodler, the one person who may have the answers she seeks. Along the way, she must face an army of Clockworkers, battle the evil Chronos, take a daring Flight of Fancy, and save herself from the grip of time.

At 320 pages with illustrations by Lee White, The Lost Track of Time is written for children ages 8-12.

Paige will read from her book at 4:30 and 5:30 p.m. There will also be games and giveaways.

KEEP THE LIGHT ON PUBLIC NOTICES

When government officials make decisions, they must let their citizens know. That's why the state requires them to publish their actions through public notices in newspapers.

But some politicians would prefer to bury public notices on little seen, rarely visited government websites - away from public scrutiny!

If it is not in the newspaper, you won't know about it.
