Packard owners from a dozen states came to Salado to share their love for the cars during the 37th Annual Texas Packard Meet April 10-12. The antique cars were on display for the public on April 11. The Stagecoach Inn has been home to the oldest regional Packard meet in the country since its beginning. It is one of the largest gatherings of Packards in the nation. The annual meet is sponsored by the Texas Packard Association, comprised of the four Packard Clubs in Texas.

Taste of Salado auction will feature new artists

Salado's newest ceramic artist Ro Shaw has donated a ceramic vase to the April 25 Taste of Salado, sponsored by the Public Arts League of Salado (PALS).

It is one of several works of art created by local artists that will be auctioned off at the Taste of Salado, which begins at 6 p.m. April 25 at The Venue by Inn on the Creek.

Ticket holders will enjoy a "taste" of the culinary and fine arts communities of Salado. Tastes from 12 local restaurants and businesses will be highlighted during the evening.

Tickets for the Taste of Salado are $29.95 and are available online at eventbrite.com using the keywords Immerse and Emerge Salado.

The vase is inspired by the ancient Greek amphora-shaped vessels and has been fired in the Raku technique. The lucky auction winner will take home a work of art that will enhance the decor of any room.

Ro Shaw is a Texas based artist directing his artistic focus in ceramics, wood and objects. He recently opened a studio and gallery at Peddler's Alley in Salado in the old Salado Glassworks location. Shaw received his B.F.A. from Texas A&M University-Commerce, and an M.F.A. from Texas Tech University. While at Texas Tech he had the opportunity to teach Ceramics, 3-D design and also managed the School of Art wood shop for a number of years.

Ro Shaw has opened a studio and gallery in Salado in Peddler's Alley.

The ceramic vase above, inspired by the ancient Greek amphora-shaped vessels, has been fired in the Raku technique. It will be sold at auction during the Taste of Salado in The Venue on April 25.

Shaw's work is included in many public collections and publications such as Raku, Saggart, Pit, Barrel: Alternative Firing Techniques by James C. Watkins and Paul Wandless, 500 Handmade Books by Lark Publishing and Ceramics monthly magazine.

The Taste is the closing event of the three day Immerse and Emerge Art Experience in Salado, April 23-25.

Costs of Stagecoach sewer could top $67K per year

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

While Salado aldermen are waiting for the results of a wastewater feasibility study that will focus on partnering with the City of Belton, they will have to consider what to do with the present wastewater system at the Stagecoach Inn and the estimated $67,000 annual costs to keep and maintain it.

City manager Kim Foutz told aldermen at their April 9 meeting that Kasberg Patrick and Associates (KPA) engineering firm may have a report within two weeks on the feasibility of connecting to the southern end of the City of Belton wastewater system when the city extends it to the Lampasas River.

As a preview of the study, she told aldermen that it looks as if most of the right of way needed to connect to Belton will be on the east side of the interstate. "It looks favorable that we can use the state right of way for alignment of the system," she said, adding that Belton has indicated that they would provide easements as necessary.

Depending upon the outcome of that study, "we will go back and start having conversations with Belton," Foutz said.

In the meantime, the Village will have to address the continuing operations of the Stagecoach Inn sewer system that was accepted as a gift from Morris Foster. During a workshop session on April 9, Alderman Hans Fields outlined for other board members what some of those costs could be.

Among the costs the Fields discussed for the Stagecoach sewer is $9,400 for annual testing costs, $9,000 for sludge removal, $12,000 for contracting operation services, $6,000 for electric utility costs and $6,000 per year for the current land lease of $500 per month, which will escalate to $5,000 per month ($60,000 per year) in the third year of the lease.

The board talked about how the city would have to take over the operations of the Stagecoach Inn sewer system at the end of the contract with Terry Potts in June.

In addition to the Stagecoach Inn motel, coffee shop and restaurant, the Stagecoach sewer systems serves about a dozen downtown retail businesses, a restaurant and a brew pub that is slated to open this year.

Aldermen reject variance request concerning accessory building

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

After a prolonged discussion April 9, Salado aldermen rejected a request for a variance from the Zoning Ordinance for placement of an accessory building for residential property located at 400 Hay Meadow in the Salado Creek Place subdivision.

The board reconsidered the variance request for the placement of an accessory building not in the rear yard followed a 45-day "temporary variance" approved by the board on Fred Brown's motion at its Feb. 19 meeting. Brown gave the motion to the variance "subject to a 45-day temporary variance for the neighborhood Architectural Control Committee to approve the plans for the total project." Alderman Fields seconded the motion and after a lengthy discussion approved it unanimously.

Property owners Curt and Laurie Doucet appeared before Aldermen during the April 9 meeting with plans for the construction of their home, separate garage and storage building that were signed in approval by Sam Pfeister, one of the Architectural Control Committee members.

The other ACC member is Tim Brown, who told aldermen in February, that he had not been called on to review plans for any projects in the subdivision in many years. Jack Buchanan, one of the original members of the ACC, passed away and was not replaced.

Alderman Brown said that he "specified that they form the committee with an additional person from the neighborhood" and that the plans be reviewed by the committee, not just one person. While there was discussion at the February meeting about the addition of a neighborhood resident, it was not part of the language of the motion adopted by the board in February and reflected in the minutes for the Feb. 19 meeting approved by the board in March.

"With you going to Pfeister instead of the whole committee," Brown said, "I feel like you have sidestepped the committee."

When questioned by Alderman Brown and later by Alderman Michael McDougal about why the ACC as a whole had not seen the plans, Curt Doucet replied that they took the plans to Sam Pfeister in Georgetown after calling Tim Brown about the plans. He said that Tim Brown told them to take the plans to Pfeister. "According to Pfeister, the architectural committee had not been active in many years," Doucet said. "He looked at them and signed off on them in the customary method he has done in the past. Tim has never been involved in approving any type of plans for Salado Creek Place."

City Manager Kim Foutz told aldermen that "We called Pfeister" about the other members and signatures. "He replied to me, 'I gave you the document. I gave you the process. You should accept it the way it is given to you.'"

Property owner and resident Anthony Fertitta told aldermen that he spoke to Pfeister after he signed the plans. "I asked why he didn't consider us and he said he didn't even think about it."

According to Fertitta, Pfeister "has turned the architectural committee over to three of us in the subdivision. We have three members and an alternate."

Caroline Markham, at 408 Hay Meadow, said that the residents "are looking for your support that the building does not stay improperly in the front portion of the property."

Alderman Frank Coachman said that the accessory building "will eventually wind up in the back yard and will meet the requirements of our ordinance so the question is this: are we willing to allow the building to be out of compliance until the construction of the home?"

Amber Preston said "They did what we asked them to do," adding that the accessory building will be in compliance at the end of the construction. "Are we willing to wait that long?"

"I believe we have heard that this is detrimental to the adjacent properties," alderman Hans Fields said. "I find it hard to approve the variance."

The motion to reject the variance request by the Doucets was approved 4-1 with Brown, Coachman, Fields and McDougal voting in favor and Preston voting against.

In other business, aldermen approved $500 to be paid to the Salado volunteers for reimbursement for gas and maintenance for mowing of public areas. Brown made the motion, seconded by McDougal. Fields abstained from the vote because he is one of the volunteers, but Brown voted for the motion. "Dadgummit I am proud of this," he said.

A special meeting of the board was called for 6 p.m. April 15.

On the agenda were these items to be discussed in executive session:

- Discuss personnel matters as authorized by Texas Government Code §551.074, Personnel Matters - Village Secretary's request for administrative leave and other related matters including unpaid leave, administrative leave with pay, authorized leave without pay, leave of absence, and paid leave during the first six months of employment.

- Discuss the Sanctuary project as authorized by Texas Government Code § 551.087, Economic Development

- Discuss possible acquisition of real estate as authorized by Texas Government Code §551.072, Deliberations about Real Property.

Following the executive session, aldermen will convene in regular session to consider action on "a personnel matter as it relates to the Village Secretary's request."

An Open Exchange of Ideas

The Age of the Anti-Christian Pogrom

We live in the era of the anti-Christian pogrom. The slaughter earlier this month at Garissa University College in Kenya that killed nearly 150 people was the latest example of the bloodlust.

Usually, such mass-casualty attacks are indiscriminate, but the killers of the Somali-based al-Shabab terror group sought to be exacting during their all-day assault on the largely Christian university.

A student told The Associated Press, "If you were a Christian, you were shot on the spot."

One witness described his best friend begging for his life, pretending to be a Muslim; when he couldn't recite a Muslim prayer, he was shot to death.

Another recalls seeing three girls praying for help: "The mistake they made was to say, 'Jesus, please save us,' because that is when they were immediately shot."

The Obama administration's reaction to this atrocity carried out by Islamic zealots for avowedly religious reasons was typically shorn of any specific reference to what had happened, or why. The administration reverted to its core strength of tightly scripted euphemism.

In his statement, President Barack Obama said that "innocent men and women were brazenly and brutally massacred." True enough, but he couldn't bring himself to say who had been shot by whom. He vowed to stand with the Kenyan government and people "in their efforts to bring communities together," the closest he dared step to the unmistakable religious dimension of the murders.

Secretary of State John Kerry urged steadfastness in the fight against "violent extremism," the administration's term of art for Muslim extremism.

President Obama can't restrain his anger over Bibi Netanyahu saying that Arab voters are turning out in droves prior to the Israeli election, but if coldblooded killers gun down Christians for their faith, he turns to careful verbal gymnastics.

As a matter of sheer intellectual honesty, we should be forthright about the religious hatred that motivates attacks on Christians. If the administration worries about playing into the Islamist narrative of the Western "crusaders," the 11th century wants its foreign policy back. In country after country, Christian communities are embattled and vulnerable, and obviously in no condition to crusade for anything. They don't want to take back Jerusalem; they want to survive.

At Garissa, it was the typical depressing story of insufficient protection from the government, either out of indifference or incompetence or both. Warnings of a coming attack on a university had been ignored. An elite police unit didn't respond to the attack on the university until hours after it had begun.

The least we can do is to speak up forcefully about the plight of threatened Christians and urge governments to do more to protect them. It is one of the scandals of our time that the president of Egypt has been a more courageous voice on this than the president of the United States.

There will be more Garissa-like attacks to come, demonstrating with heartbreaking starkness the disparity in martyrdom between radical Islam and Christianity. The "martyrs" of militant Islam strap on suicide vests and commit hellish acts of mass murder; Christianity's martyrs die as innocents, often with a prayer on their lips.

Heritage Forum

By Edwin Feulner

"They won't go to Indiana, but they will go to Saudi Arabia." That's Carly Fiorina speaking about Apple CEO Tim Cook and his well-publicized opposition to Indiana's religious-freedom law.

Fiorina, a former CEO herself, was underscoring what she quite rightly views as hypocrisy. Here Cook is, excoriating Indiana lawmakers for protecting the freedom of business owners to act according to their consciences. Yet he has no qualms when it comes to doing business in countries where homosexuality is a crime punishable by death.

The double standard is truly remarkable. Maybe the oxygen content in room air gets thin at the top levels of some corporations. Something has to account for this myopia. Whatever the cause, it's contributing to a level of near-hysteria about Indiana's law (and similar laws in 29 other states) -- and making it nearly impossible for its true goals to be understood.

Supporters of Indiana's Religious Freedom Restoration Act -- or RFRA, which is modeled after the federal version President Bill Clinton signed two decades ago -- aren't trying to protect discrimination. That makes for a catchy sound bite for the other side, and they're only too happy to throw it around in an effort to shut down debate before it can even occur. But they're wrong.

What if, they'll ask, a bed-and-breakfast owner believes homosexuality is sinful and doesn't want to rent a room to a gay couple? Wouldn't this law protect that?

No. Under RFRA, the couple could take the owner to court, and it would be up to the court to decide if the owners had a legitimate case. They may. They may not. But no one could simply refuse to rent a room to this couple and then that be the end of it.

The point is that those with legitimate religious objections -- as determined in a court of law, where a burden of proof is What else do we need to do?

What else do we need to do? Sometimes, we get so involved trying to solve the major issues of roads, sewer, annexation, I-35 Construction, economic development, and ordinances that we lose sight of other but equally important issues.

Saturday, after a great Salado Clean-up day, driving through Salado highlighted other issues needing attention.

There is a need for additional public restrooms as well as ensuring our present public restrooms are clean and operable.

For the safety of pedestrians using Main Street, additional sidewalks and lighting are needed.

When an accident occurs on I-35, drivers try to make-up time by coming down Main Street causing safety issues. Since Main Street is a State Road, the Village cannot block the road without TXDOT permission. Even with permission, there are other issues of ensuring Salado residents and visitors safely navigate to their destination. TXDOT and the Village are discussing this issue.

Ending the Salado portion of I-35 construction is not the only solution to improving business. It is going to take all of us reaching out and reminding our friends and neighbors that Salado is "the must-place-to-visit." For instance, if all of us frequently reminded our friends on Facebook and Twitter how special Salado is, think how many people will be reached. Add this to frequent special events and soon our stores will be full of daily shoppers. With Social Media, large numbers of people can be reached quickly and often.

Cleaning the area around the low water bridge adjacent to Sherrill Park is another concern. The Permits and Permission are received and our plans are moving forward. These are just a few concerns in the Village. Thank you for helping us meet the needs. Regardless of age or status, It takes a Village to make a quality Village.

A new Little Caesars pizza might land you in the emergency room

Let me say one word to you: Bacon.

Not only is it delicious, it's practically irresistible — I even know vegans who sneak bites of the stuff.

And these days, it's hard to avoid the pork strip. It's in snack foods, on school lunch trays, and in bars, breakfast joints, food trailers, and fine dining establishments. Full-blown bacon festivals are the latest thing.

Whether you call it bacon, pancetta, pork belly, or whatever, it's everywhere — and it's big. Sales now top $4 billion a year, and they're still growing.

Unfortunately, bacon is also growing us, feeding the continuing expansion of America's midriffs — and with it diabetes, heart disease, and other health problems. Please don't get me started on the vile corporate hog factories, where most of the brand-name bacon comes from.

But a little discretion

and moderation can be a bacon eater's friend. You don't have to buy the industrialized brands. Nor do you have to eat a pound a day, or even a week.

Which brings me to the latest offering by the Little Caesars fast food chain: the "Bacon-Wrapped Crust Deep! Deep! Dish Pizza." Yes, the official name really includes those exclamation points.

One word of advice: Don't. It's a cholesterol bomb, thick with fatty "cheese" gooeyness and wrapped on all sides with strips of bacon. Lots of bacon, actually — a whopping three-and-a-half feet per pizza.

But this porker of a pizza doesn't stop at mere excess. Little Caesars crowns the monster with pepperoni and crumbled bacon.

The price is $12, but that's not the real cost. Each slice doses you with 450 calories, 23 grams of fat, 830 milligrams of salt, and 40 milligrams of cholesterol.

David Scrivano, the chain's CEO is unapologetic. "This is a more indulgent offering for a demographic that craves premium quality," he said.

Fastidious eaters can always get a veggie pizza, he added.

Excuse me, sir, but quantity isn't quality. They should name this thing "The Emergency Room."

required -- would have the opportunity to make their case. They won't be left with no choice but to violate their religious beliefs.

That's what is at issue here: a balancing test. We don't have a situation where the couple gets steamrolled with no recourse. But we also don't have one where the owner gets steamrolled. In the spirit of fair-minded American jurisprudence, we do our level best to make sure everyone gets heard, and no one's rights are arbitrarily infringed.

Unfortunately, our hashtag-addicted, ADD culture doesn't grasp nuances well. We'd rather, say, bully a pizzeria into closing for honestly answering a question about whether they'd be willing to cater a same-sex wedding. We won't listen. We'd rather shout.

Had we listened, we'd know the owners of Memories Pizza hadn't refused service to a soul. They were responding to a hypothetical situation. And they never said they'd turn away a customer who ordered a pizza. They said they wouldn't cater a same-sex wedding, which they feel would imply that they condoned the union.

Now, you can agree or disagree with that belief. But what could be more American than respecting their right to believe it and act upon it, free of persecution?

Now, if a case goes to court, and the government proves that it has a compelling reason to insist that they act in defiance of their beliefs, so be it. Due process has been followed. But to simply say their beliefs are garbage? That they aren't to be respected because they don't align with our own ideas of political correctness? That's wrong.

As founding father James Madison, our fourth president, put it: "The Religion then of every man must be left to the conviction and conscience of every man; and it is the right of every man to exercise it as these may dictate. This right is in its nature an alienable right."

RFRA is designed to protect this right and ensure that it remains "unalienable." The question now is, will we give in to the shouting heads? Or stand up for what's right?

Grant died April 7, 2015, at Seton Medical Center in Austin, Texas surrounded by four generations of family members.

He was born June 8, 1935, in Troy, Texas to Monroe Watson Grant and Birdie Marie Newby Grant.

Grant moved to Hood Village with his family in the early 1940's attending Camp Hood/Ft. Hood schools. He was football captain for the Fort Hood Leopards under coaches "Cotton" Adams and John Little. Boerne ends Lady Eagles' run in Region finals; girls begin work on next year

Salado Lady Eagles lost 4-2 to Boerne in the Region Finals on April 11 at Sharyland Stadium in McAllen, just their second loss of the year, ending an historic season for the soccer team.

Forward Annie Ewton scored a goal for the girls as did her sister, Outside midfielder Katey Ewton. Forward Sara Wilkerson gave an assist.

"This has been an amazing season because the girls made history with their run in playoffs," Coach Karen Ewton said. "These girls are incredibly dedicated, and something really special happened this year to make them more than a team. When they play, you can see their commitment to one another."

Next season started on the bus ride home from McAllen "The girls began to plan for next year," Ewton said. "There is a lot of character in this group, and it will be exciting to see how they build on this season's success."

Saxton led the girls past Rockport Fulton in the Regional Semifinal game April 10, scoring the first goal of the 2-0 win from her attacking midfielder position.

Wilkerson scored the second goal of the game. Outside Midfielder Jessica Ringstaff gave an assist in the game.

"I'm really proud of how we performed in this game," Saxton said. "We stayed aggressive and were tactically aware of what we needed to do the entire time. While goals are attributed to one person, it is really the actions of all 11 players that resulted in our win."

The girls ended their season at 25-2. During the season, they scored 104 goals on their opponents. They are the first soccer team to win a District Championship.

The Salado girls team is coached by Michael Goos and Karen Ewton.

With recent wins, girls hold on to fourth place

Malory Schattle scored the winning run on the road against Taylor April 10 on a sacrifice fly to deep center by Jenna Calder in the sixth inning.

The win puts Salado in fourth place in district with a 3-3 record (12-6 overall) behind #10 Burnet (15-3-2, 5-1), #8 Liberty Hill (18-3, 5-1) and #20 Lampasas (18-3, 4-2). Burnet eeked out a 2-1 win over Liberty Hill April 7 to hold the edge at the top of district despite a second-round loss to Lampasas 2-0 on April 10.

Salado scored three runs on six hits while Taylor had two runs on four hits against Meagan Hill. Hill struck out 12 of the 28 batters she faced over the seven innings.

Taylor took the early lead in the bottom of the first, scoring two runs. Teanna Lucio reached first on an error by first baseman Payton Dreitz. She stole second and scored on a double by Nicolette Neidig. Neidig scored on a single by Libby Fischer before Hill recorded her third strikeout of the inning.

Hill allowed only five Taylor batters to reach base over the rest of the game.

Salado knotted the score at 2-2 in the top of the third. After Taylor had recorded two outs, Hill singled. She went to third on a single by Kristen Oakes who then stole second. Schattle scored both runners with a double to

One in 5 Texas households went hungry, Food Research study claims

By ERIC GALATAS
TEXAS NEWS SERVICE

AUSTIN, Texas - While Congress considers cuts to safety-net programs such as food stamps - now known as SNAP benefits - a new report by the Food Research and Action Center shows that millions of Americans still are struggling to put food on the table.

The study, "How Hungry is America?," found that almost one in five Texas households went hungry at some point in 2014.

Even in an improving economy, said Celia Cole, chief executive of Feeding Texas, basic needs remain out of reach for too many people.

"It's surprising, I think," she said, "because I think most people think, well, we've come out of the recession, people should be doing better. And I think what we're seeing from this study is that people at the lower end of the economic ladder continue to struggle."

Texas ranked 16th among states with high levels of food hardship.

Cole said one in six American homes admitted there were times in the past year when they couldn't afford to buy food. Ninety-eight of the largest 100 metropolitan areas surveyed reported food hardship.

In Texas, hardship rates were highest in San Antonio at 21.3 percent. Dallas and Houston fared a little better, where 18 percent of households lacked money for food.

The report warned that food hardship poses risks for children, working-age adults, people with disabilities and seniors. Going hungry also increases stress levels, it said, which is bad for health, learning and productivity. Cole said that drives up health costs for Texas families, employers and government.

"In the long run, with one in five families struggling to afford food consistently," she said, "we're talking about a significant economic impact on the state."

The report's recommendations to reduce the number of Americans struggling to find their next meal include a move toward full employment, strengthening wages and investing in effective programs, such as SNAP and school breakfasts.

State Senate approves changes to teacher training

By RICHARD LEE
SENATE MEDIA SERVICES

(Austin) Prospective teachers would have a more rigorous path to the classroom and stronger continuing education under a pair of bills passed by the Senate last week.

Forty percent of Texas public school teachers are certified under the alternative certification program, where people who have college degrees but didn't study education can learn how to become classroom teachers.

Under current law, a candidate for alternative certification need only have a 2.5 grade point average and 15 hours of classroom training to get into a teacher preparation program.

Amarillo Senator Kel Seliger thinks those standards need to be higher. "We need ever better, more motivated teachers," he said.

His first bill, SB 892, would increase standards for prospective teachers using the alternative certification route. While individual candidates could still have a 2.5 GPA, the entire entering class must have an average GPA of 3.0. The requirements for classroom training would double to 30 hours and all of those training hours must happen inside of a classroom. The bill would also put a limit on how many times a program graduate can take the certification test. Today, a candidate can attempt that test as often as they want, but Seliger's bill would limit that to five attempts. Finally, the bill would require teacher certification programs to report how many candidates successfully complete their programs and how well they do in the classroom, to allow the state to determine the relative quality of certification programs.

Seliger's second bill, SB 893, is aimed at maintaining teaching standards and development throughout a teacher's career. Seliger doesn't think that the current evaluations are frequent enough or helpful enough for teachers. "Current law requires teachers to be evaluated as infrequently as once every five years and post-evaluation, teachers are provided often with very little constructive feedback," he said. "Professional development is often delivered on general subjects in a one size fits all manner and the salary schedule mandated by law is rarely used and is antiquated."

His bill would require annual evaluations of classroom teachers, and would rate teachers by discipline standards, student success, and the teacher's efforts to improve professionally. Continuing education would be aimed at specific needs determined through the evaluation process, and would be offered in a variety of formats. It would give teachers more flexibility to pick their preferred professional development programs. It would eliminate the current salary schedule but keep in place the minimum salary requirements for teachers. "This bill places such value on teachers that it puts together evaluation and remediation measures so that each teacher can be the best teacher they can possibly be," said Seliger.

Also Tuesday, the Senate approved a measure that intends to keep doctors educated in state medical schools practicing in Texas. SB 18, by Senator Jane Nelson of Flower Mound, would do this by creating a granting framework for new residency programs. Nelson, who chairs the Senate Finance Committee, said that the Senate version of the state budget already earmarks $60 million for improving the residency system in Texas, and SB 18 would set the guidelines and parameters under which this money would be awarded. Nelson also said the program would prioritize residencies in geographically underserved areas and understaffed specialties.

Taylor takes Salado to extra innings, wins despite being outhit by Eagles

Barrett Snyder dives safely back to first base after the Taylor pitcher tried to pick him off. Despite outhitting the Taylor Ducks on April 10, the Eagles lost in eight innings 3-2.

The Taylor Ducks took Salado to extra innings, scoring a run in the bottom of the eighth to win their district game against the Eagles, despite being outhit by the visiting team April 10.

The loss dropped Salado into a mosh pit with Lampasas and Burnet all knotted at 3-2 in district play in second place. Taylor sat alone in first place as of press time with a 4-1 district record while Llano and Lampasas are in the cellar at 1-4.

Taylor jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the first. Designated hitter #6 led off with a single and stole second base. He scored on a double to deep left by #18. #16 followed with a double to score #18 but was left stranded when the Eagles defense put out the next two batters.

Salado tied the score in the third inning. Garrett Lightfoot knocked a double into deep left and went to third on a single by Keaton Mims. Mims stole second to put both runners in scoring position. Preston Payne flied out to deep right, allowing Lightfoot to score and Mims to go to third after tagging up. Mims would score on a passed ball before Taylor got out of the inning.

Taylor retook the lead in the sixth. After the third strike was dropped, #9 beat the throw to first. He advanced on a single by #18 and scored on a single by #16 for the 3-2 lead.

Salado tied the score in the top of the seventh. Lightfoot again led off the record with a double and went to third on a sacrifice bunt by Mims. He scored on a passed ball before Payne flied out to center. Cody Wolf singled and stole second to put the go-ahead run in scoring position but relief pitcher #16 got the final strikeout.

Salado pitcher Cody Wolf kept Taylor from reaching base in the bottom of the seventh to keep the score tied.

After Taylor put the Eagles out three straight in the top of the eighth, #8 led off with a single and went to second on a sacrifice bunt by #6. #9 took a Peyton Kyburz pitch to deep right for the walk-off double.

Wolf pitched seven innings, striking out 10 batters and allowing six hits and two earned runs. Pitching in relief, Kyburz allowed two hits and an earned run.

Salado scored three runs in the top of the first in their road game with Llano and went on to 10-run rule the Yellowjackets on April 7, winning 13-2.

With an out in the first, Preston Payne doubled. He went to third on a double by Cody Wolf and scored on a single by Jacob Little, who went to second on the throw to hold the runner at third. Chase Basham singled to score Wolf and Little before a double play ended the inning.

The Eagles added three in the third. Keaton Mims led off with a single and went to third thanks to two wild pitched. He scored on a single to deep left by Payne. Wolf hit a hard grounder to center to single, Payne scored on an error by Llano's center-fielder. Little grounded out to the shortstop allowing Wolf to go to third. Wolf scored on an error by the left fielder.

In the fifth inning, the Llano pitcher loaded the bases by hitting Payne, walking Wolf and hitting Little. Chase Basham single to score and keep the bases loaded. Barret Snyder hit a grounder to the pitcher and all runners reached safely on the fielders choice, scoring Wolf. Zachary Marsh singled to deep left, plating Little and Basham. Colton Price grounded to the pitcher, whose errant throw allowed Price to reach and Snyder to round third and score.

Llano pitcher #14 was able to retire two batters on strikes before picking off Mims, who he had walked to load the bases, for the third out.

Salado added two more in the sixth to stretch the lead to 13-2. Wolf led off with a single and went to second on a wild pitch. He advanced on a ground out by Little, scoring on a single by Snyder. Snyder went to second on the attempted throw. Snyder scored on a single to deep right by Marsh.

Llano scored two runs in the fourth. #22 was hit by a pitch and #9 walked. #7 singled to score both runners.

Junior Varsity

Salado junior varsity Eagles took advantage of 12 hits and eight walks in a lopsided 18-5 over Llano April 7.

Recording hits were Parker Seaton, three singles, Dobbins, double and single, Cl. Kunz and Combs, two singles each, Ch. Kunz, a double and Cantu Oakes, a single each.

The JV boys lost to Taylor 8-3 on April 10. The three runs were unearned.

Conserve Time and Water while Growing Beautiful and Productive Gardens

By MELINDA MYERS
Reduce your workload, increase productivity and be water wise, whether you are planning, planting or already harvesting produce or enjoying beautiful floral displays from your garden.

Drip irrigation and soaker hoses are also a great way to water in-ground plantings. These irrigation systems apply the water directly to the soil which reduces water lost to overspray, evaporation and runoff. They also reduce the risk and spread of disease by preventing water from settling on the leaves of the plants.

Always water thoroughly and only as needed to encourage plants to develop deep root systems that are more drought-tolerant. Be sure to avoid high nitrogen, fast release fertilizers that promote lush succulent growth which needs more frequent watering.

Further conserve water and time spent watering by grouping moisture-loving plants together. You can provide needed water more efficiently and avoid overwatering nearby drought-tolerant plants.

And remember to mulch your garden. A thin layer of shredded leaves, evergreen needles or other organic matter helps conserve moisture and reduces erosion. As the mulch breaks down, it helps improve the soil, while decreasing its' water needs.

KEEP THE LIGHT ON PUBLIC NOTICES

When local governments make decisions they are required to publish a newspaper notice to let you know. But that could change. Local governmental entities across the state want to bury their public notices on little seen, rarely visited government websites. What you don't know will affect you personally! If it is not in the newspaper, you won't know about it.
