Salado aldermen back

Hidden Glen project again

BY TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Salado aldermen have put their support behind JES Development Corporation for Hidden Glenn, a 48-unit proposed affordable rental housing development at the northeast corner of Mary St. and Vanessa St. in the extra-territorial jurisdiction.

On a 5-1 vote Feb. 6 with Hans Fields voting against, aldermen adopted a resolution of support for the proposed development and a resolution that would provide property tax abatement for the development estimated at $13,950 over 15 years. In return, if the development is built, JES Development Corporation would then request annexation into the Village of Salado city limits. The value of the property tax abatement is based upon the current property tax of 12¢ per $100 evaluation. JES Development has made no appeal to the school district for property tax abatements.

The proposed development is valued at $6.5 million. This would generate $84,500 per year in property tax to Salado I.S.D. at $1.30 per $100 evaluation.

Hidden Glenn was a finalist for the $535,909 available in Region for the 9% Competitive Housing Grants in 2013. JES Developers had applied for $500,000 in tax credits in 2013, but did not receive the final award.

"I went past your development in Bastrop right after it was built 15 years ago," alderman Fred Brown said. "When it was first built, there was nothing around there at first, but it began building up around it." JES Development operates 13,000 units in Missouri, Georgia, New Mexico, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas.

When questioned about drainage off of the property, Mark Feaster with JES Development said that "water will release off of our property at a slower rate than it is releasing right now. We are doing as much as we can to alleviate the drainage flowing through the property."

Two citizens, Larry Sands and Jack Schrock, spoke in favor of the development. Schrock said that they would be "good neighbors" and "serve a need to the older citizens" of Salado. He lives near the proposed development.

Alderman Hans Fields said that he had received 43 emails from citizens against the proposed development.

Alderman Brown said that the email Fields sent out was ill-informed. Fields responded that he used the language that JES Development was using in applying for the tax credits: "Low Income Housing."

"This is not Section 8 housing," Brown said.

The top annual income to qualify for the low income housing is $32,000 per year.

The Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs has received a pre-application for Housing Tax Credits for the Royal Gardens to be located at unnumbered Williams Road (intersection of Williams Road and West Village Road) and Hidden Glen Development to be located at a tract east of the intersection of Mary Lane and Vanessa St. Both properties are in the extra-territorial jurisdiction of Salado.

Hidden Glen is proposed as a 55 unit development, all of which will be for low rent to the elderly. JES Development is applying for $510,000 in tax credits.

Royal Gardens is proposed to be developed by Winterberry Development, LLC and is applying for $500,000 in tax credits. It will have 49 total units, 44 of which will be low rent. Winterberry Development, LLC has made no requests of the Village of Salado to-date.

Both entities have self-reported scores of 120.

TDHCA will award announce the recipients of tax credits in July. Feaster told the board that if JES Development were to receive the award, it could begin construction as early as December 2014 and begin renting in late 2015.

After fatal house fire locals rally for families

A Salado man died in a house fire overnight Feb. 5 at Irene Lane that burned down a two-story house with multiple additions to it and a camper trailer. Another camper trailer ignited but was not lost in the fire.

The cause of the fire is under investigation, but Salado Volunteer Fire Department (SVFD) Chief Shane Berrier said that it may have started with space heaters in the bottom story of the home.

"The house was fully involved when we arrived," Chief Berrier said, adding that the second story had already collapsed into the first when Salado firefighters responded to the 11:25 p.m. call.

Alejandro Torres, a 2002 graduate of Salado High School, was killed in the fire.

Berrier said that over a dozen people lost their home as a result of the fire.

According to Superintendent Michael Novotny, two of the families to lose their homes have students in Salado schools.

One family, Dr. Novotny stated, has two high school students and an elementary student. The other family has a high school student.

Salado community responded to a call for support by supplying the families with clothing, furniture, cash and checks. One resident offered to pay for the funeral expenses for the family and also offered to donate $2,000 for each of the children affected by the fire.

While there have been plenty of clothes donated, the survivors are still in need of money and furnishings to recover from the loss of their homes.

At last report, the survivors of the fire are staying at the Holiday Inn Express.

Communities in Schools director Jessica Halfmann is coordinating the relief effort for the local students.

Gift cards, cash and checks can be dropped off at Salado Intermediate School.

If you are interested in donating, you can call Halfmann at 947-6949 or email her at jessica.halfmann@saladoisd.org.

Firefighters from SVFD and Stillhouse VFD were engaged in combatting the fire until 6:30 a.m. Feb. 6.

Chief Berrier and others returned to the scene on the morning of Feb. 6 to douse smoldering embers to prevent them from reigniting from the high winds that day.

Community Foundation invites Saladoans to get involved

The first major project of the Salado Community Foundation will be seen by millions of drivers every year as they travel up and down I-35.

And the group is just getting started. To-date, the Salado Community Foundation has raised $21,850 toward the cost of the first sign.

Salado Community Foundation was founded in 2013 as a 501(c)3 non-profit with a single purpose: improving the quality of life in our community. It seeks to accomplish that goal through several projects and approaches.

One of those is to bring together groups, individuals and businesses in their own efforts of improving the Village of Salado, whether it is working with Salado Tourism to raise funds for the placement of gateway signs on the north and south ends of the Village or working with local businesses and Keep Salado Beautiful for a small project of placing planters with native plants throughout town.

Another way of reaching this goal is offering

Saladoans a way of investing back in the community. Residents may choose to donate every year to Salado Community Foundation and earmark those donations toward selected projects, to help raise further funds toward community projects or to give real estate, investments and other assets to the non-profit organization.

The Salado Community Foundation will meet at the Village of Salado Municipal Building at 8:30 a.m. Feb. 14 and invites community members

An Open Exchange of Ideas

On Keystone, Action Can Wait

President Barack Obama has urged that we make this a “year of action,” and he is going to do his part by acting with vigor and dispatch to continue to study the proposed Keystone XL pipeline project. The State Department just acted with an 11-volume, 7,000-page environmental review that concludes, like the several reviews prior to this point, that the pipeline poses no environmental hazard. You’ve got to hand it to the State Department -- when it is determined to act, it moves.

White House chief of staff Denis McDonough went on “Meet the Press” to explain all the dizzying activity taking place as the U.S. government marshals its resources to see that Keystone is perpetually reviewed.

“We have one department with a study,” McDonough explained. “Now we have other expert agencies, the EPA, and many others, who have an opportunity -- the Energy Department, an opportunity to look at this and make their determinations.”

For its part, the State Department still needs to evaluate whether the pipeline serves the national interest, necessitating another period of intense action that will include asking “for the views of eight federal agencies identified in [Executive Order] 13337.” The Keystone project would add roughly 800 miles of pipeline in the U.S. and carry more than 800,000 barrels of oil a day to our refineries in the Gulf from the tar sands of Alberta. It has been under consideration for more than five years, even though Hillary Clinton said in 2010 that the State Department was “inclined” to approve it.

And why not? Paul Knappenberger of the Cato Institute notes that a similar pipeline project, the Alberta Clipper, won approval in two short years back in 2009 with glowing marks from State -- it would “advance a number of strategic interests” and send “a positive economic signal.”

Keystone XL was different; it became a hate symbol for the environmental left. In its fevered imagination, stopping the pipeline became a way to stop the development of the “dirty” tar sands of Canada and to slow climate change. As Brigham McCown, a former administrator of the Pipeline and Hazardous Materials Safety Administration, puts it, opponents of the pipeline thought it was a Khyber Pass where a glorious stand could be made against Canadian oil.

This was always a childish fantasy. First, because the tar sands will get developed regardless, and more fundamentally, because the numbers don’t add up.

Conservative writer Oren Cass makes the point that the United States accounts for less than six of the 35 gigatons of carbon emissions worldwide, and our emissions growth has been flat, while India and China have been growing at a double-digit rate. We could end all our emissions tomorrow and the rest of the globe would quickly make up the difference. The oil that would be transported by Keystone is but a drop in a vast ocean.

None of this matters, though, because railing against Keystone is such a potent organizing and fundraising tool for its opponents. President Obama is loath to cross them, and so will take swift and certain action -- to keep examining the issue closely.

Not THAT Emperor, the other one

Dear Editor:

My letter to the Editor, published February 6 was a satirical interpretation of Hans Christian Anderson’s fairy tale, “The Emperor’s new clothes.” The target of the satire was, I thought, so obvious as to require no overt explanations. I was wrong. Several good people, including, apparently, the editor of the Salado Village Voice, did read into it, a direction I had no intention of going.

The Headline, produced, I assume by the paper’s editorial staff, read: Village needs more than emperor’s new clothes when trying to sell bond.” Further miss-direction was supplied by an adjacent Letter to the Editor that was directly critical of village leadership -- with specific reference to a pending bond election.

Your Voice

Letters to the Editor

My target was not local politics, where the democratic process plays out as it should, with the people getting involved, stating their case and having access to and impact on governmental process.

What struck me in H.C. Anderson’s story was the Emperor and his court’s total disconnect with the people and with reality, and the striking similarity this ancient fairy tale has to modern times in the USA. Stories of government disconnect equals, at least the number of people who might someday read these words. Supply your own example. They’re endless.

Consider just these two: The Affordable Health Care Act which is neither, affordable, healthy or caring, serves only those who administer the mirage. Almost everyone sees through it, yet we trudge on. No one believes you can borrow yourself out of a debt crisis but at seventeen trillion plus and growing, we trudge on. One day, at this rate, we’ll all be out of clothes. I don’t know about you, but at my age, I don’t need the exposure. Well, maybe Obamacare will spawn a new wrinkle cream.

Dr. Charles H. Aiken

February 27, 1925-February 11, 2014

Dr. Charles H. Aiken DVM (Doc, Charlie, Dad) went to be with Jesus on February 11, 2014. Doc was a proud fourth generation Texan, a dedicated Aggie, and a Christian Cowboy to the end.

Doc was born in Salado, Texas, on February 27, 1925, to Carl H. Aiken and Annie Hamblen Aiken. After high school, he joined the Navy. He served his country as a medic stationed in the Aleutian Islands.

After the war, Doc attended Texas A&M and graduated from Veterinary School in 1951, the same year he married Anna Marie Bertram. They celebrated their 62nd anniversary in June 2013. Son John Edward (Eddie) was born in 1952. The Aikens moved to Georgetown, where Doc started his solo veterinary practice. Four more children — Clara Joy, Mary Lou, Charles Fred, and Ernest Gray — followed.

Doc was the only practicing veterinarian in Georgetown between 1952 and 1969. He practiced for 44 years, serving ranchers, farmers, dairymen, and pet owners throughout Williamson County as well as parts of Bell, Burnet, Llano, and Travis counties.

Doc is survived by wife Anna, daughters Joy (Monte Mann) and Mary Lou Dupuis (Tim), and sons Fred (Conny) and Ernie (Julie Weldon). He was preceded in death by son Eddie; parents; brothers Jim, Bill, Carl (Bunny) and Gray; and sister Lou (Cissy) Durham.

Services will be held at St. John's Methodist Church, 311 East University Ave., Georgetown, at 2 pm on Friday, February 14, 2014. A bereavement luncheon will be served at the church prior to the service. A private burial will take place later in the afternoon at the Old Salado Cemetery. Doc will be buried next to Eddie and near his great grandfather, Herman Aiken, who settled in Central Texas in the 1830s.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests that donations be made to St. John's United Methodist Church in Georgetown, to the Georgetown Public Library, or to one of the many wonderful Christian or animal charities.

Personal words of comfort may be sent to the family online at www.gabrielsfuneral.com

Girl Scout Cookie Sale Extended!

Girl Scouts of Central Texas extends its annual cookie sale through March 2, due to inclement weather.

Just when you thought you were almost out of time to stock up on your favorite Girl Scout cookies—you're in luck. Girl Scouts of Central Texas announces the extension of cookie sales. According to leaders, "The community has shown great response to this year's sale and we want everyone to get their fill! We would also like to remind the public about our "7th Box". This virtual box may be purchased as a donation and token of appreciation for our troops and local first responders. So if someone is on a diet or their cupboard is full, they can still support the Girl Scouts and our military and local heroes by purchasing the "7th Box". So, if you can't eat it, treat it!"

National Cookie Weekend, began February 7 and continues through March 2. Girl Scouts will be selling cookies throughout Central Texas season.

The Girl Scout cookie program is a financial literacy initiative intended to teach girls how to run a business and acquire 5 important skills that will serve them throughout life: goal setting, money management, decision making, people skills, and business ethics.

The money raised by the sale stays in the local Council.

Salado UMC group returns from Holy Land pilgrimage

Thirteen Saladoans recently returned from the Holy Land after taking part in a spiritual pilgrimage sponsored by Salado United Methodist Church.

Village residents Knox and Betsy Tyson, Rita Rice, Patsy Sanford, Dale and Charlotte Douglass, Bruce and Ellen Townsend, Rev. Travis Franklin, and Anna Tarbutton, along with Mrs. Tarbutton's daughter, Kathleen Nagel, and Becky Nussbaum of First United Methodist Church of Arlington began the journey on Jan. 14 led by Pastor Lara Whitley Franklin of Salado UMC.

This was Rev. Whitley Franklin's fourth trip to the Holy Land and a first for all the others.

Charlotte Douglass described the trip as, "an experience that literally brought the Bible to life before my eyes."

After arriving in Tel Aviv, Israel, the group traveled by bus to the region of Galilee where they experienced a boat ride on the Sea of Galilee, visited the sloping hills of the Mount of the Beatitudes on which Jesus delivered what has come to be known as the Sermon on the Mount, drank fresh pomegranate juice outside the church at Tabgha (the site of the miracle of the fishes and loaves), and the Chapel of the Primacy where Peter professed his devotion to the risen Christ. The tour of Galilee also included a visit to Capernaum, the center of Jesus' ministry in the region, and the synagogue on the site where Jesus taught. At the traditional site of Jesus' baptism in the Jordan River all members of the group reaffirmed their baptisms.

Moving south, the group saw Cana, visited Nazareth, the boyhood home of Jesus, and Tel Megiddo (or Armageddon). Several shed their shoes to put their toes in the waters of the Mediterranean Sea at Caesarea Maritima, the seaside palace of Herod the Great, the site of where the angel visited Cornelius, the first Gentile convert, and the place where Paul was imprisoned for two years. A visit to the oasis of Jericho, the "World's Oldest City," preceded a stop at Qumran, the home of the Essene community and site of the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls in 1947.

A tram delivered the travelers to the top of Masada where the Jewish Zealots took their last stand against the Roman Legion following the destruction of the Second Temple in 70 AD. After returning to the base, a visit to the lowest point on Earth tempted many to "bob like a cork" in the heavily salted water of the Dead Sea.

The journey included a visit to Bethlehem, including Shepherd's Field and the Church of the Nativity. In Jerusalem, the group experienced the Garden of Gethsemane, The House of High Priest Caiaphas where Jesus was questioned and held in the dungeon, and Herod's Antonia Fortress. They prayed at the Western Wall, sat on the Teaching Steps where Jesus once taught and walked the Cardo, the oldest street in Jerusalem. They viewed the Pool of Bethesda, sang a hymn in the Church of St. Anne and read scripture in the Upper Room. Walking the Via Dolorosa culminated in a visit to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, built by Helen and Constantine on the site where it is believed Jesus was crucified and entombed. The following day, the group shared in Holy Communion at the Garden Tomb adjacent to Gordon's Calvary, or Golgotha. At Ein Karem they visited the birthplace of John the Baptist and the place where the Virgin Mary visited her cousin, Elizabeth. An afternoon was devoted to visiting Yad Vashem, Israel's Holocaust Memorial.

On Jan. 23, some of the group returned home to Salado while the remainder continued on to Jordan via the Allenby Bridge for a three-day extension. They visited Jerash, one of the world's three best preserved Roman cities (along with Ephesus and Pompeii), Mount Nebo, where Moses looked out across the Promised Land he would never enter, Madaba, and Petra, the ancient city of the Nabatean culture and the backdrop for "Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade."

Since their return, Pastor Lara has received several requests to offer another opportunity for pilgrims to experience this "trip of a lifetime." She says there is conversation about doing so sometime in 2015 and that anyone is welcome to be part of the journey. She said, "When you arrive in Israel, one of the first words you hear from the guide is, 'Welcome home' because making this pilgrimage is literally visiting the home of our faith." Those interested in receiving information about a future trip can let Pastor Lara know by emailing her at lwhitley@saladoumc.org.

Eagles 8
Lorena 0

The Eagles shut out the Lorena Leopards 8-0 on their home field Feb. 7 to improve to 2-0 in district play and 10-3 on the season.

"The boys never let up once the first whistle blew," Coach Michael Goos said, "and their hard work paid off with a decisive win over the physical Lorena team. This persistence ensured they maintain a first place ranking for district play."

Goals were scored by

Brad Cosper, 3, Tristan Bragg, 2, and Dennie Barker, 2. Goals were assisted by Goalkeeper Mason Price, Dennie Barker, Tristan Bragg, Josh Rogers, 2, and Christian Martinez.

Outstanding Players of the Game were Clayton Cole, Defender and Daniel Lemus, Midfielder.

The Eagles shut out the Robinson Rockets as a good start to district play on Feb. 4, winning 7-0 on the road.

Outstanding players of the game were James Svadlenak, Outside Midfielder; Tristan Bragg, Forward; Chase Crenwedge, Defensive Midfielder.

"The boys took advantage of their chances after adjusting to the slick field conditions," Coach Goos said. "This was a good first step in our pursuit of another playoff trip and a shot at a district championship."

Connally 0

The Eagles shut out Connally 6-0 in their final non-district game on the road Jan. 28.

Tristan Bragg and Christian Martinez scored two goals each, and John Dawson and Dennie Barker contributed a goal each. Outstanding Players of the Game: Tristan Bragg--Forward; Christian Martinez--Outside Midfielder; Cameron Markham--Outside Back

"The Eagles worked hard and stayed organized in cold, harsh conditions to defeat the Cadets by a large margin," Coach Goos said. "It was an exceptional effort by a group of young men who get better each time they step on the field."

Ladies 1-1 in district play

Salado Lady Eagles split their district soccer games last week, shutting out Lorena and falling to Robinson.

Lady Eagles 3
Lorena 0

The Lady Eagles shut out Lorena on the road 3-0 to improve to 1-1 in district play and 7-6 on the year Feb. 7.

Goals were scored by Jessica Ringstaff (assisted by Kristin Crouch), Katey Ewton (assisted by Sara Wilkerson), and Annie Ewton (assisted by Kierstan Osborn).

"Using determination, organization, and effort, the girls secured the Lady Eagles' first ever win against the Lady Leopards," Coach Karen Ewton said. "They worked hard from whistle to whistle."

(Robinson in shoot out)

The Lady Eagles and Robinson Lady Rockets had to go to a shootout Feb. 4 in the opening game of district soccer play. The teams were tied at 1-1 at the end of regulation. Robinson won the shoot out 3-0.

Outstanding Players were Sara Wilkerson, Forward; Katey Ewton, Outside Back and Taylor Valeriano, Defensive Midfielder.

"The girls worked really hard in the district opener," coach Ewton said.

"When we went down to 1-0 before the end of the first half, the girls were determined to get back in the game, and they did it! After 20 minutes of extra time, it was tough to lose in penalty kicks."

Wimberly 2

Salado Lady Eagles were looking to even the score Jan. 31 against Wimberly after a hard loss to the Lady Texans at the Eagles Classic. "Unfortunately even though the girls fought hard, a couple of lapses in concentration cost us dearly and we fell again to an organized team," Coach Ewton said. "Hopefully we can regain our composure going into district."

Osbourne, Outside Midfielder and Katey Ewton, Outside Back.

Lady Eagles 1

The only goal in the game was scored by Kierstan Osbourne.

Outstanding Players of the Game were Kierstan Osbourne, Outside Midfielder and Anissa Peralta, Outside Back.

JV Girls
Salado JV Lady Eagles

Texas Prepaid Tuition program enrollment deadline approaches

Texas Comptroller Susan Combs reminds Texas families to enroll their children in the Texas Tuition Promise Fund® and avoid future increases in tuition and required fees at Texas public colleges and universities. The current enrollment period for the state's prepaid college tuition program ends Feb. 28.

The Texas Tuition Promise Fund allows participants to lock in the cost of undergraduate tuition and required fees at Texas public colleges and universities based on current prices.

"The future cost of children's college education can weigh heavily on families as they set their budgets," Combs said. "Fortunately parents can ease concerns about those costs by locking in prices through the Promise Fund. The prepaid tuition program gives families payment options as well as flexibility in choosing how much prepaid tuition they want to buy, which helps them set aside money to fit into their budgets."

Under the plan, families can prepay tuition and required fees for a four-year degree, two years of community college or just a few semesters at Texas public colleges and universities by purchasing tuition units.

Enrollment in the program at 2013-14 prices will close Feb. 28. This deadline extends to July 31 for children younger than 1. The next annual enrollment period begins Sept. 1, with new contract prices based on Texas public college costs for the 2014-15 academic year.

Complete plan information, enrollment forms and more are available online at www.TuitionPromise.org, or call 1-800-445-GRAD (4723), Option 5.

Soccer

Outstanding Players of the Game were Daniel Lemus, Center Midfielder; Chase Crenwelge, Defensive Midfielder and Mason

Price, Goalkeeper.

"The boys worked hard against an organized, confident, and persistent Wimberly team," Coach Goos said.

Mason Price made a save on a penalty kick and Daniel Lemus made a cross that forced an own goal by the Texan Defense.

"That is the beauty of soccer," Goos said, "it isn't predictable and effort pays off in the end."

JV Boys

Salado JV boys soccer lost 5-2 to Waco Feb. 3 at home. Daniel Magadan and Alex Carmona scored on assists from Raul Corrales and Joel Murillo.

On Feb. 8, the JV boys hosted their first tournament and Salado A and B teams took first and second place in the tournament. Salado JV A won their first match again Gatesville A 8-2. John Dawson had 2 goals, Raul Corrales had 2 goals and 2 assists, Camden LaCanne

Selections from Robertson Plantation displayed at Treasures of Texas Past Antique Show Feb. 22-23

A special selection of antiques from the E.S.C. Robertson Plantation will be part of the Treasures of Texas Past Antique Show Feb. 22-23 in the old Guest and Sanford Granary building (which once housed the Salado Silver Spur Theatre) at 108 Royal St. in Salado.

Col. E.S.C. Robertson gave the land for Salado College and the original town lots that were sold to raise funds for the erection of the College in 1860. In 1856, Col. Robertson began work on the 22-room Palladian-style mansion that has remained in the family for more than six generations.

Over the decades, each generation of Robertson descendents have added their own pieces and touches to the home, resulting in an unsurpassed collection of antique furniture and decor. For the first time, many of those pieces will be on display and available for sale at the Treasures of Texas Antique Show.

The Antique Show will also feature antiques and collectibles on display and for sale by dealers from around the state.

Admission to the Treasures of Texas Antique Show is $2 per person. The show will be open 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Feb. 22 and noon-

Pieces from the Robertson Plantation collection of antiques will be on display and for sale during the Treasures of Texas Past Antique Show Feb. 22-23.

New book celebrates history of Salado

Salado is the newest addition to Arcadia Publishing's popular Images of American series. Mary Harrison Hodge and Charlene Ochsner Carson have authored this new book that tells the story of Salado through more than 200 vintage images, illustrating the frontier spirit of Salado's rich, diverse history.

The new book explores the formation of the small village in Central Texas, as well as one of the first colleges in the state of Texas, Salado College, founded the same year as the village in the late 1850s.

Through vintage images the book displays how it took vision, courage and determination to establish a college in a Texas frontier town. Images also depict one of the village's first homes, a 22-room Greek Revival plantation house which still sits today in the midst of a ranch covering more than a thousand acres.

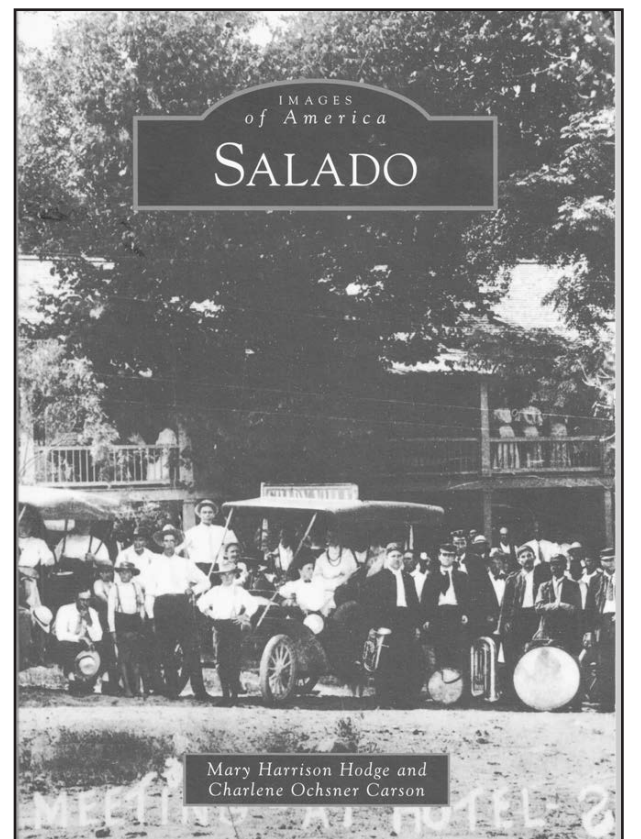

The authors state that they hope the new pictorial history book will help "readers realize that Salado is indeed a historic treasure that offers a lifestyle worthy of preservation."

Highlights of the book include these:

The Gault Site, which is thought to be one of the sites of the earliest humans in America.

Salado Creek, a favorite Indian campground due to its abundance and beauty, was also a stopping spot for early travelers and traders.

The Stagecoach Inn, the longest continuously

Salado is the newest addition of the Images of America series.

operating hotel in Texas and thought to be the oldest remaining structure in Salado dating back to 1852.

Coauthor Mary Harrison Hodge is a longtime resident of Salado and a published historian. She is involved in several historical societies and is a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Daughters of the Republic of Texas.

Charlene Ochsner Carson is also a published historian and is active in preserving the history of the First Baptist Church of Salado and the community. She is the archivist for her church and the Salado Historical Society.

Salado enjoys a classic history. Many stately Greek Revival mansions have been built in Salado, many of them bearing historical markers today. Herds of cattle followed the Chisholm Trail across the spring-fed waters of Salado Creek. Dusty cowhands rested and ate their fill at the old Shady Villa Hotel. The stage stops at the hotel always brought excitement and, occasionally, renowned visitors such as Stephen F. Austin, Gen. Sam Houston, and Gen. Robert E. Lee.

Copies of the book can be found at various stores and shops in town and at the Salado Visitors Center. The book is $21.99 and is 128 pages in soft cover edition.

You can order it by calling 888-313-2655 or order it online at www.arcadia-publishing.com.

Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker

The play of the cards in most deals is relatively simple. Both sides do all they reasonably can to accomplish their goal, and the play follows a predictable course.

But there are some hands that are not so simple, where a player must do something strikingly unusual to achieve the best result. Such hands are comparatively rare, but are of particular interest when they occur.

Consider this deal from a team-of-four match where, at both tables, South got to four spades and West led the queen of hearts.

At the first table, East took the queen with the ace and shifted to his singleton club. Declarer won the club in dummy and returned a trump, East playing the ten, South the queen and West the ace. West returned a club, ruffed by East, and declarer later lost another trump trick to West's nine for down one.

At the second table, East also won the heart lead with the ace and returned a club. Declarer took the club in dummy and led a trump, just as at the first table. But when East produced the ten of spades, this declarer played the deuce from his hand! As a result of this remarkable play, South could not be stopped from making the contract.

South's duck of the ten of spades, though highly unusual, was extremely well-reasoned. He recognized that if West had three trumps to the ace, which to him seemed likely, it would be suicide to cover the ten with the queen in view of the impending club ruff. He was perfectly willing to lose two spade tricks, but not three.

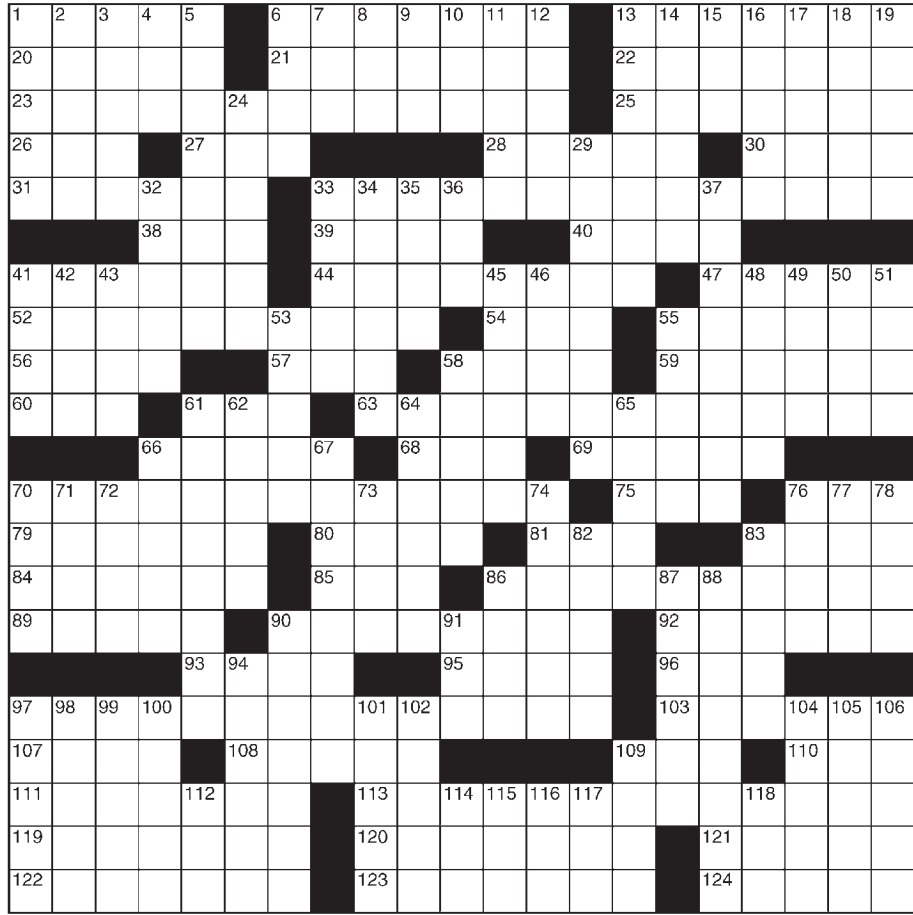

Of course, South could not be absolutely certain of how the missing trumps were divided, but he backed his judgment to the hilt and came away with flying colors.

A Nuclear Power Resurgence?

Dear EarthTalk: I thought Japan's 2011 Fukushima nuclear plant meltdown would have sealed nuclear power's fate, but I keep hearing otherwise. Can you enlighten? -- Jacob Allen, New York, NY

The 2011 Fukushima nuclear disaster did cause many nations to reconsider their nuclear commitments, though many European countries—Switzerland, Belgium, Austria, Germany, Italy, Spain and Sweden—had already begun phasing out nuclear power decades earlier. After Fukushima, Germany, Belgium and Switzerland all moved to decommission their nuclear facilities altogether by 2022, 2025 and 2034 respectively.

Japan's nuclear program, which provided 30 percent of the country's electricity needs before the March 2011 disaster, is now essentially non-operational due to public safety concerns. Furthermore, Japan announced in November 2013 that, due to the shuttering of Fukushima and other nuclear facilities, it was backpedaling its on prior commitments to cut greenhouse gas emissions 25 percent from 1990 levels.

Here in the U.S., Fukushima has not had any major effect on our nuclear industry. No nuclear plants have been closed, license extensions for existing facilities continue to proceed, and the federal Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) has even greenlighted construction of two new reactors at a nuclear power plant in Georgia. But public concerns over the safety of nuclear power and what to do with spent fuel indicate that nukes will likely become a smaller and smaller slice of the U.S. energy pie moving forward.

Elsewhere, however, many countries are looking to nuclear power as a way to increase energy production without adding to greenhouse gas emissions. Casey Research reports that developing countries are increasingly relying on it to supplement coal and other fossil fuels. The International Energy Agency predicts global electricity demand will grow 70 percent by 2035, with the majority of the increase coming from developing countries—China and India combined will account for half of the projected growth.

“Serious pollution problems mean that those developing countries cannot produce all that electricity by burning coal,” says Amir Adnani, CEO of Uranium Energy Corporation, a uranium mining company. “The plans to develop nuclear power in China and other countries are very much driven by a set of realities that is very different and very acute. People are dying every year in China, literally choking to death, because of all the toxins that are being put into the environment by burning coal.”

China now has 17 nuclear plants in operation and another 29 underway. India has 20 plants running and seven more being built. And the Russian Federation operates 33 and has another 11 in the works. So while it might be premature to call it a “nuclear renaissance,” much of the world doesn't seem too worried about what happened at Fukushima. Indeed, nuclear power looks like it could be around for a long time.

According to MIT's

Center for Energy and Environmental Policy Research, the real impact of Fukushima has been to remind us all to take safety much more seriously: “While the international nuclear industry appears so far to have dodged being hit square in the head by a bullet from Fukushima, it should not expect that it will get another chance if there is another serious nuclear accident anywhere in the world.”

Wintertime Roof Leaks

This is a Hammer

By SAMANTHA MAZZOTTA

THIS IS A HAMMER
By Samantha Mazzotta

Q: This has been a winter of unusually stormy and snowy weather, and it looks like my house isn't holding up too well. After noticing a water stain on an upstairs ceiling I went into the attic and found water stains on several boxes and a general damp smell. Trouble is, there is still ice and snow coating the rooftop, and I don't feel safe going outside. How can I deal with this? -- George in Virginia

A: Climbing onto the roof is definitely not safe in the midst of ice and snow, but you do need to stop water from entering, of course. You can set up a temporary patch from inside the attic, but keep in mind it is very temporary -- you'll need to check it frequently until warmer weather comes and the roof can be properly repaired.

In the attic, trace the water leak to its source. A leak can occur farther up a pitched roof and trickle down the rafters to drip elsewhere. If the water stains follow a path, trace that path upward to where the water marks end and check that area of the roof's underlayment for damage, holes or apparent water entry points.

Sometimes as the sun melts the ice and snow on the roof, you will be lucky (or unlucky) enough to see water actually dripping through.

Now that you've located the leak (or leaks), you need to control the direction of the drip, so it no longer runs down the rafters but instead into a bucket to catch the water. Do this by placing a large nail in the center of the leak and tapping it through the roof's sheathing until it reaches the shingle outside.

"But Sam," you say, "I'm trying to fix the leak, not create one!" True, but the damage is already done. For now you need to contain it until a better repair can be made.

Underneath the nail you just punched through the underside of the roof, place a bucket to catch drips. Now the water isn't running all over the attic. Next, put on a dust mask and cut away water-damaged insulation from around the hole. This clears the area you need to patch and helps prevent mold growth.

Let the area dry for a day or two; hopefully much of the ice and snow will melt from the rooftop during this time. At any rate, you need the underside of the roof to be fairly dry so that a patch will hold. Once the area surrounding the hole is dry to the touch, you can patch it.

Remove the nail from the hole. Make sure the area is very dry. You also might want to warm the area slightly with a hair dryer if it's a cold day, so that the patch material adheres.

Fill the hole with roofing cement or roof patch compound (available at home-improvement stores -- you'll need just a small amount) and smooth out to the sides. In some cases, with spring coming, this small plug is all you need. But some DIYers add a little insurance by cutting a thin sheet of plywood into a square that extends a couple inches beyond the hole on each side, and tacking that tightly against the hole using roofing cement (not nails).

Mark the patched area with brightly colored chalk or some other easy-to-see material. When the weather warms, you or a roofing professional must inspect the roof to locate and repair the damage, as the patch will give you only a few months' reprieve. The roof may be damaged in other areas, or there could be undetected water problems as well.

HOME TIP: Proper attic ventilation is important at all times, but especially when the roof is leaking, as the airflow helps reduce mold growth. Make sure the attic vents aren't blocked by boxes or deliberately closed off.
