Salado aldermen came out from behind the dais at their June 19 meeting to thank Jay Smith and Karen Kinnison for the five years the two volunteers have given to man the Salado recycling center. Smith and Kinnison were regularly seen every Saturday accepting and directing the recycling effort of Keep Salado Beautiful. While that effort has come to an end, recycling will continue in Salado through a curbside service provided by Al Clawson Disposal Inc to its customers. Shown above are (from left) aldermen Fred Brown, Dr. Amber Preston-Dankert and Frank Coachman, volunteers Jay Smith and Karen Kinnison, aldermen Dr. Michael McDougal and Hans Fields and Mayor Skip Blancett. Clawson brings curbside recycling to Village

By TIM FLEISCHER

Al Clawson Disposal, Inc. (ACDI) customers in the Village of Salado will receive on June 30 a new, white 95 gallon container to be used for curbside recycling beginning in July.

Tanya Clawson informed Salado aldermen and the board voted 5-1 in support of the new program that will bring curbside recycling to Village of Salado customers of ACDI after Keep Salado Beautiful announced that it was closing its Saturday recycling operations.

ACDI will charge its customers $18.75 for weekly container garbage service that will include recycling pickup every other week. This is an increase of $1.50, an increase that Clawson said was planned for the Salado area.

"We haven't had an increase in price for Salado customers for more than four years," Clawson said, "and were planning for an increase this summer. When we learned that the recycling program in Salado was going to stop, we wanted to incorporate an added value to our Salado customers with the price increase."

The first collection date for the recycling is July 7 with pickups scheduled for every other Monday after that. Clawson said that customers will receive a calendar showing which dates the company will pick up the recycling containers.

Unlike many recycling programs that require users to sort their recyclables, the Clawson recycling will not require sorting. "Everything can go in the container," Clawson told Salado Village Voice. "We want to make it easy for our customers to recycle. The more that is recycled, the less goes into the landfill. This will reduce our landfill costs as well."

ACDI is partnering with Balcones Resources for sorting and separating the recyclables.

Within the Village of Salado limits, Clawson will also offer recycling pickup for non-garbage customers for a fee. Clawson said that she estimates the cost at $12 per month for non-garbage customers.

For those Clawson customers who do not want to recycle, they can call the company to have the container picked up. However, the rate of $18.50 per month remains the same.

Here is a list of what you can recycle and can't recycle through the curbside service for the Village of Salado customers:

Paper products, including newspaper, office paper, junk mail, phone books, brown paper bags, magazines, paperboard like cereal boxes and flattened cardboard. Please keep paper products dry.

Metal, including tin cans, aluminum cans, steel cans and aluminum foil. Please rinse cans and especially foil so there is no food contamination.

Plastic jars, bottles, etc.: #1PET, which is soft drink, water and beverage bottle, detergent and cleaning containers, peanut butter and other food containers and bottles; #2 HGPE includes milk and water jugs, laundry detergents and shampoo bottles; #3 PVC which is clear food packaging, cling wrap, detergents and window cleaner bottles, some plastic squeeze bottles, cooking oil and peanut butter jars;

Other plastics: #4 LDPE which includes bread, frozen food and most plastic wraps and some bottle; #5 PP which include deli soups, syrup, yogurt and margarine containers, clouded plastic containers, baby bottles and straws; #6 PS which includes CD cases, disposable cutlery, Styrofoam, food containers, packaging and egg cartons and #7 Mixed, which includes plastic baby bottle, 5 gallon water bottles, "sport" water bottles, clear plastic supply cups. Please rinse and remove lids.

Glass items: clear glass, green glass, brown glass and blue glass. This includes bottles and jars. Rinse and remove lids.

There are some things that cannot be recycled. These include plastic bags (these can be dropped off at the bin outside of Brookshire Brothers), light bulbs, mirrors, ceramics, motor oil, batteries and electronics.

Centex Scrap and Metal in Killeen will buy batteries, as well as many other metals: copper metal, aluminum, brass, stainless steel, aluminum rims, Christmas lights/extension cords, appliances, car bodies and batteries.

Frazier, Haag get All State nods from Texas Coaches

Salado graduates Casey Frazier and Cole Haag were both named to the Texas High School Baseball Coaches Association (THSBCA) All State Third Team last week at their positions. Frazier also announced that he has chosen to attend the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor next year where he will pitch for the Crusaders.

Frazier played June 14 in the THSBCA All Star Game at Dell Diamond. Frazier was also selected, along with Haag and Britton Hawes, to play in two Area All Star games: the Austin Area Baseball

Coaches Association All Star Game June 9 at the Dell Diamond and the Central Texas All Star Game at Baylor June 10.

Frazier ended his season 11-2 on the mound and was named to the District 22AA All District Team as the Defensive Most Valuable Player for his mound performances during the Eagles' 28-9-1 run that ended at the Region III final.

Frazier pitched almost 90 innings with an ERA of .703. He struck out 116 batters, walked nine and hit nine with pitches. He allowed 55 hits, 21 runs (9 earned). Frazier also swung a heavy bat for the Eagles, with a hitting percentage of .271 and an on-base percentage of .367. Frazier had 29 hits on 107 at-bats, knocking in 35 RBIs and scoring 13 runs himself.

In addition to the All State nod, Haag was named District 22AA All District First Team Catcher. He led the Eagle starters with a batting average of 3.643 and on-base percentage of .493 in his 146 plate appearance. He had 41 hits and 26 RBIs, scoring seven runs. He had a fielding percentage of .996.

Divine Desserts, benefitting the Children's Advocacy Center of Central Texas, returned to Tenroc Ranch on June 21 for a delicious event in which party-goers got to sample some of the best confections in the county (at right) and listen to The GTOs belt out classic songs from the 50s, 60s and 70s (shown below).

I-35 meeting tonight

Texas Department of Transportation officials will give a look at what Saladoans should expect over the next 18 months with the expansion project of I-35 during a 6:30 p.m. June 26 town hall meeting at the Salado Intermediate School cafeteria.

While the south entrance to Salado is nearing completion, as well as the overpass on the south side and much of the work is completed on the north side of the project, the next 18 months will be crucial to the reconstruction of the ramps and underpasses at Salado Plaza Dr.

That portion of the overall project may be some of the trickiest part of the expansion of I-35 through Salado. Officials will have more information on what to expect in terms of begin and completion dates as well as impacts on traffic flows.

Officials will also point people to the TXDOT website for I-35 through Central Texas, my35.org and following TXDOT on Twitter for late-breaking news about closings and traffic changes.

TXDOT and construction officials will give an informal brief of plans beginning at 6:30 p.m. followed by an open session of questions and answers.

Officials will stay afterward for specific questions from residents, businesses and other interested parties.

Mayor Skip Blancett is working with TXDOT to organize the meeting.

Several, if not all, aldermen are likely to attend the meeting, but no action or discussion by the board of aldermen will occur. They are there for informational purposes only.

Moving on up(stream): Sirena to find new home

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Sirena may have a new home if aldermen vote in July to allow her to be placed on Village property just upstream from her current home in the springs of Salado Creek.

Artist Troy Kelley shared the history of the statue, which is one of the more photographed objects in Salado since she was placed in the Salado Creek at 12:01 a.m. Jan. 1 1986 as the first dedication of public art during the Texas Sesquicentennial.

Since then, she has been battered and beaten by rocks, trees and debris during the seasonal flooding of the creek. She is pockmarked by the gravel leaving its permanent trace. More than once she has been moved off of her foundation.

Now Kelley is seeking higher ground for her.

Of the Spring location where she now sits, Kelley says that "now there are large rocks surrounding her and I am afraid if they should ever give out during a flood that Sirena would be destroyed."

Kelley recently recast a new Sirena, using the molds he used in 1985 to cast her. Kelley original worked with local artist Lonnie Joe Edwards to melt down old brass water meters salvaged from Waco to cast the original life-size mermaid sculpture.

At that time, she was the first life-size mermaid sculpture in Texas. Now, there are three. Sirena has been featured in a calendar of mermaid sculptures: "She was Miss December," Kelley told aldermen.

In 1991, local author Jackie Mills was given permission by Kelley to retell the original legend of Sirena, which Kelley said his grandmother told him as a child.

"She has been the site of thousands of romantic proposals," Kelley said, "at least 50 of them for marriage."

In her 28 years in Salado Creek, Sirena has been removed for repairs four different times. Each time Kelley takes her out of the creek, there are always a ton of questions. "Where's Sirena?"

Kelley asked the board to consider allowing her to be placed on the Village property which was recently acquired through a gift from Morris Foster.

Because the agenda item on the topic did not state that the board would possibly take action on the item, City Administrator Jim Reed asked aldermen to postpone any action until the topic can be properly posted on the July 10 agenda.

Frederick Douglass, Self-Made Man

Frederick Douglass gave one of the great July Fourth orations in American history. Speaking in Rochester, N.Y., in 1852, he hailed the accomplishments and ideals of the Founders, before denouncing the nation's departures from the faith of the Declaration of Independence with the righteousness and fury of an Old Testament prophet.

Douglass is one of the nation's greatest champions of freedom. The former slave fought for it for himself and for others, and in his speeches and writings left a record of devotion to liberty that will echo through all time.

In his youth as a slave on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, Douglass looked at the sailboats on the Chesapeake with envy, as he wrote later in his first memoir: "You are freedom's swift-winged angels that fly round the world. I am confined in bands of iron! O that I were free! O, that I were on one of your gallant decks, and under your protecting wing!"

Douglass forged his own freedom through shrewdness and will. When the wife of a household he was serving began innocently to teach him to read, her husband rebuked her: "A n----- should know nothing but to obey his master -- to do as he is told to do. Learning would spoil the best n----- in the world. Now, if you teach that n----- how to read, there would be no keeping him. It would forever unfit him to be a slave."

That was all Douglass needed to know. "From that moment, I understood the pathway from slavery to freedom," he said. "I set out with high hope, and a fixed purpose, at whatever cost of trouble, to learn how to read." He traded his bread to white boys in exchange for their reading lessons, and devoured the collection of classic speeches, The Columbian Orator. Its writings in opposition to all oppression "gave tongue to interesting thoughts of my own soul."

In a turning point, he fought back against a slave breaker who sought to beat him. "You have seen how a man was made a slave," he writes of this act of self-assertion, "you shall see how a slave was made a man." All that was left was to make his escape.

In the North, he became a fierce abolitionist and an evangelist for work and self-improvement. In his most popular lecture, titled "Self-Made Men," he declared, "We may explain success mainly by one word and that word is WORK! WORK!! WORK!!! WORK!!!! Not transient and fitful effort, but patient, enduring, honest, unremitting, and indefatigable work, into which the whole heart is put."

In his legendary July Fourth oration, he said this holiday "is yours, not mine," and lashed the country for the national sin of slavery. But he honored the country's founding, in words that will always be true. "The 4th of July is the first great fact in your nation's history -- the very ringbolt in the chain of your yet undeveloped destiny," he declared. "Cling to this day -- cling to it, and to its principles, with the grasp of a storm-tossed mariner to a spar at midnight."

The NRA's Accidental Brush with Sanity

Whoa, that was close. The National Rifle Association nearly shot itself in the foot recently with a common-sense editorial it posted online.

The group of rootin'tootin', bullet-spittin', doctrinaire, guns-everywhere extremists finally saw something involving firearms that even it considered too extreme. In Texas (naturally), worshippers of the glorious gun god have taken to shouting out their ideological absolutism in coffee shops, museums, chain restaurants, and other public places by having a dozen or more of their ilk walk in together with shotguns, assault rifles and other weaponry strapped onto them.

"Any gun, anywhere," is their message, expressed in an unsubtle, don't-mess-with-us swagger.

"Scary," exclaimed the NRA editorial, calling the macho show counterproductive to the cause of gun rights, adding that such peacocking is downright "weird." That is, of course, a sane response.

Jim Hightower

The group blames an unnamed and lowly staffer for accidentally criticizing Texan gun advocates for hanging out at restaurants while brandishing assault weapons.

But sanity isn't comfortable turf for gun dogmatists. The NRA soon got hit with a barrage of fire from its own ranks, plus an explosion of rage from gun groups that are — believe it or not — even gunnier than the NRA.

So the big, bad, never-surrender rifle organization quickly threw in the towel. It recanted its momentary lapse into sanity, and cravenly blamed some unnamed lowly staffer for the ideological impurity.

The upshot is you can expect to see newly sanctioned NRA gun strutters parading into cafes near you. But let me ask this: How would those strutters react if a band of African-Americans or Latinos were to stride into one of their cafes, armed to the teeth?

I'm with the president on this one: "There's no reason," he said, "why on the street today a citizen should be carrying loaded weapons."

Oh, that wasn't Barack Obama. It was Ronald Reagan, in 1967 — back when he served as the governor of California.

'I Believe'.... in Salado

When the Southwest Conference existed, the "power teams" were Texas, Texas A&M, Arkansas, and Texas Tech. It was a miracle if Baylor or SMU were Championship contenders. One year such a miracle occurred, Baylor was a Contender, and cars in Waco paraded a green and gold bumper sticker that simply said, "I Believe." The "religion of football" was alive and well in Waco that year.

Soon, two months will

mark being elected Mayor. Occasionally, that Bumper Sticker, "I Believe" comes to mind. Be assured, the "religion of politics" is alive and well in Salado. This being said, I am certain if an "I Believe" bumper sticker existed, it would be based on these facts:

. . . that given sufficient and correct information, Salado citizens will make the right decisions on village issues. Being intellectually sound and street-smart wise, they will examine, research, and discuss until a right, fair, and honest conclusion is reached.

. . . that the Aldermen are very conscientious, and strive to make the best decisions. In Workshop, they work hard to find right answers, and in the Board of Aldermen, if still unsure, they immediately vote to "postpone" an issue until adequate research is accomplished.

. . . that Salado citizens love their Village and want it safe, friendly, and beautiful in spirit and action. Their pride and excitement are real. Times may be different with new people making Salado home, but our goals are the same. Keep Salado safe, friendly, beautiful, and historic, but let it also have something for everyone – children, youth, families, and friends. Few want Salado to be a "bedroom community."

Knowing this, "I Believe" our future is bright and our issues will be solved in a manner that is fair, honest, and right. There is no place like Salado.

Thanks for recycling efforts

To the Editor:

I'm so excited to hear that Clawson Disposal will soon be providing CURBSIDE recycling bins to the Village of Salado residents. They will provide single-stream recycling, which means ALL recyclable waste can be dumped into one container with no sorting at all. Folks, it can't get any easier than this!

I, personally, have spoken with Tanya Clawson on several occasions asking her to provide recycling pickup for its Salado customers and know that she has worked hard to get this accomplished. The only downside to this new service is that it is for Village residents only. They eventually hope to expand it to all its customers, but only as participation grows. That means the ETJ subdivision where I live, and all other residents outside the Village, will not be able to enjoy this opportunity at this time.

Your Voice

Letters to the Editor

I'd like to thank the Keep Salado Beautiful volunteers for their time and dedication to the recycling program, which ended this past weekend. It amazed me how much stuff just my husband and I recycled weekly. And while I believe wholeheartedly in recycling, it will be difficult to continue doing so. Realistically, driving 20-30 miles to wherever the next closest drop-off center is will be even more time consuming and inconvenient. (I found that hard to do even when I worked in Temple.) I suspect we won't be alone when it comes to continuing our recycling efforts.

I encourage all the Village of Salado residents to jump on board with the upcoming recycling service, and those who (like me) are on the "waiting list" contact Tanya at: 512/677-0485 or 512/930-5490 x 6 or 7 (both are local numbers) or www.ClawsonDisposal.com and let her know you support recycling and want to be added to program.

Thank you.

Willingham Spring Baptist Church building to be restored

By STEPHANIE HOOD

A renewed effort to preserve the Willingham Spring Baptist Church and School is underway and interested community members are invited to tour the site and discuss the future of the 100 year old building. A meeting of descendants and preservationists will be held 2 p.m. on June 28 at the Willingham Spring Baptist Church on FM 2843.

The small wooden Baptist Church was built between 1911 and 1914 on land donated by Wilson Willingham. His grandfather Archibald Willingham was the first Anglo settler in Salado. What began as a church at the center of the Central Texas Community of Willingham Spring doubled as a one room school house in 1914. The Willingham Spring School was consolidated in July of 1929 along with Amity, Bell Plains, Elm Spring (Gooseneck) and Prairie Dell to form the Salado Rural School District. Later Cedar Knob, Cedar Valley and Union Grove School were added and the district would become the Salado Independent School District in 1934. The building of the red brick schoolhouse on Main Street caused the closure of the one room schools and many of the school buildings were moved.

Willingham Spring remained with its community and church services continued until the impact of World War II in 1941 caused the building to be shuttered for a time. The surrounding community came together in 1950 to revitalize the church and a tabernacle was added for open air meetings. Over the years Willingham Spring Church experienced declining membership and services haven't been held in the historic building for several years. Today the building lies ready and waiting for future generations to make use of it.

Preservation of the building has been an ongoing project for many generations. In 1999 a Texas state Historical Marker was placed at the building. Honored on the inscription are farmers Bennie Brooks, John and Zola Kidd Lankford, Mart and Minnie Brinegar Van Dyke, H. L. and Clemmie Kidd Thomas and Arthur and Eula Housewright who helped build the structure. Hanna Elizabeth Kidd Myers is said to have driven the first nail for the church building.

Current restoration efforts will insure that the Willingham Baptist Church remains as an example of what the book Pioneer Buildings of Texas calls "the simplicity of the western pioneers' Protestant churches. Like this one, the early western Protestant churches generally had no steeple and little or no ornamentation. Church was not a fancy affair in this place and that time."

Tablerock Song Circle features Jenna McDaniel and RpT onstage June 26

Jenna McDaniel and Richard Paul Thomas will perform at the first Tablerock Song Circle, beginning at 7 p.m. June 26 in the new Tablerock Conference Center. Tickets, which will include dessert after the performances, are $15 each.
For more information call 947-4717 or email rpt@tbc-group.com.

Sharing the stage with Jenna is Salado's resident songwriter, Richard Paul Thomas. Better known to his friends as RpT, has been making music since rock 'n' roll was young. Audiences describe his music as "joyful and filled, with emotions that travel from lighthearted and fun to serious and introspective. His thought-provoking examinations of life's joys and challenges come from the heart and speak to the soul. One of its songs, "Salado," is featured in Tablerock's Salado Legends has been adopted by the Village of Salado, which stated in an official proclamation that it "represents our community's spirit, character and history." www.richard-paulthomas.com

Community

Reunion brings friends home

Salado community members have met every year since 1926 to visit with neighbors and welcome home those who have moved away. The 88 year tradition continued on June 14 at the Salado Intermediate School.

The Annual Salado Reunion provides an opportunity for Salado residents, former students, teachers, families and friends a chance to reminisce.

The event is always held on the second Saturday in June. All residents and former residents are invited to attend.

What began as a pot luck event has evolved into a catered Chicken Fried Steak lunch from Captain Red's of Hutto.

Special recognition is given each year to Salado High School classes celebrating anniversaries and those who have passed during the year are remembered.

Dennis Cabiness, Salado High School graduate and current faculty member outlined the current successes of Salado ISD.

rent reunion committee are: Nancy Carter, Sherry Jackson, Virginia Cosper, and Linda Cawthon. For information about next years event call Sherry at 254-760-0663.

All photos by Linda Cawthon

Patsy Guest Sanford taught at Salado High School from 1957 to 1969. She was recognized as the oldest faculty member in attendance.

Kurt Vest traveled from Orlando, Florida to visit with old friends in Salado. He traveled the longest distance to attend the Salado Reunion.

Stoney Larue at Johnny's Outback

Stoney Larue will play at Johnny's Outback on June 28. Josh Grider will open for him. Gates open at 6:30 p.m. Tickets are $15 when purchased in advance or $20 at the gate.

Larue is one of today's top new artists having toured with Willie Nelson, Dierks Bentley, Miranda Lambert and many others.

Larue is an Oklahoma born singer/songwriter and reigning Male Vocalist of the Year for the Texas Regional Radio Awards. He recently signed with Entertainment One Music, a TV development, film distribution and worldwide music company with offices in New York, L.A., Toronto, Nashville and London.

Larue has teamed with well known award-winning producers Frank Liddell (Miranda Lambert, Lee Ann Womack, David Nail, Chris Knight) and Austin's Michael McCarthy (Spoon, Patty Griffin, Heartless Bastards, The Features) for his eOne debut, Aviators, which is set for an October 28 release.

Johnny's Outback presents Stoney Larue

Larue is no stranger to the spotlight as his 2011 self-released Velvet debuted at #3 on the iTunes chart, as well as top 15 on the overall Billboard Country Music Chart. Additionally, the Texas Regional Radio Awards named Velvet, Album of the Year, along with his Male Vocalist award in 2012. Stoney has sold more than 400,000 albums and tracks and has a large social media following.

Stoney has also shared the stage with Willie Nelson, Merle Haggard, Miranda Lambert, Gary Allan, Dierks Bentley and others over his continually rising career.

On his new record deal and album, Stoney Larue says, "I would like to say many many thanks to eOne for helping get our music become known to more people and homes. We are truly blessed to be surrounded by such supportive friends and folks and will continue to create new music for years to come."

The disappearing trick

Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker

Assume you're in four hearts and West leads the club jack. East takes dummy's queen with the ace and returns the queen of diamonds.

Making the contract appears routine, but when you win the diamond with the ace and play the king of trumps, West shows out, and all of a sudden your "sure thing" becomes not so certain.

It seems you'll have to find West with the ace of spades in order to eventually dispose of your diamond loser on one of dummy's high spades. But when you lead a spade to the queen, East shows up with the ace, and your chances sink even further. East returns the diamond jack, and there you are, faced with a loser in each suit and a totally unexpected defeat.

But bridge is a game of twists and turns, and you naturally start looking for a way to extricate yourself from the rapidly deteriorating situation. And, if you work at it, you ultimately find the answer. You win the diamond return with the king, cash the king of clubs and ruff a club. Then you lead a spade to dummy's king and ruff a spade. At this point, your remaining four cards are the Q-8-7 of trumps and nine of diamonds, while East holds the J-10-9 of trumps and ten of diamonds. So far, you've lost only two tricks -- a club and a spade.

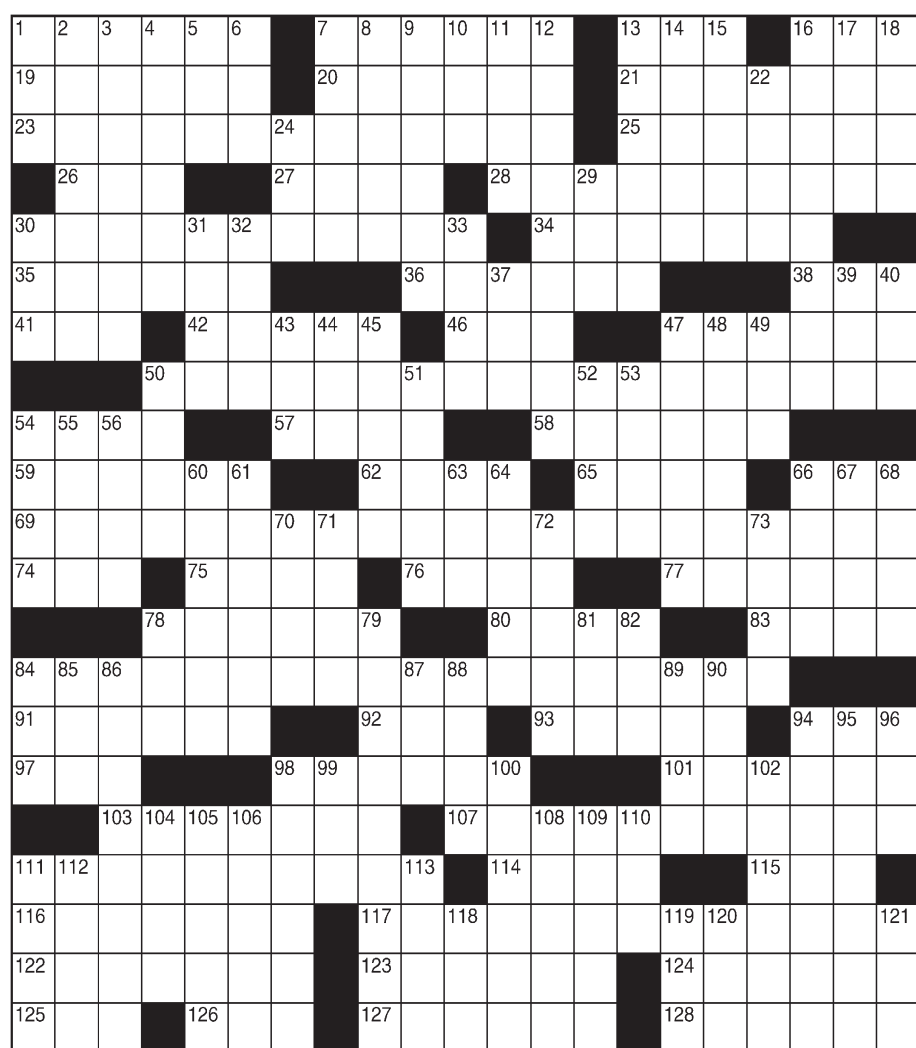

You next lead the seven of trumps to dummy's ace and play the six of clubs, placing East in a hopeless position. If he discards, you ruff with the eight and lose only a diamond. If East instead ruffs the six of clubs with the ten or jack of trumps, you discard your diamond loser and win the last two tricks with the Q-8 of trumps. Either way, East is a dead duck.

CONSUMER CONFIDENCE REPORT (CCR)

PWS ID # TX0140035

SALADO WATER SUPPLY CORPORATION

Annual Water Quality Report for the period of January 1 to December 31, 2013

This report is intended to provide you with important information about your drinking water and the efforts made by the water system to provide safe drinking water.

For more information regarding this report contact:

Name SALADO WATER SUPPLY CORPORATION

Phone (254) 947-5425

SALADO WSC has Purchased Surface Water for 123 customers west of Salado. The CCR for this area was provided by Kempner Water Supply

Sources of Drinking Water

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally-occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the EPA's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at (800) 426-4791.

Contaminants that may be present in source water include:

- Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife.
- Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally-occurring or result from urban storm water runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.
- Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban storm water runoff, and residential uses.
- Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban storm water runoff, and septic systems.
- Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally-occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations which limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water which must provide the same protection for public health.

Contaminants may be found in drinking water that may cause taste, color, or odor problems. These types of problems are not necessarily causes for health concerns. For more information on taste, odor, or color of drinking water, please contact the system's business office.

You may be more vulnerable than the general population to certain microbial contaminants, such as Cryptosporidium, in drinking water. Infants, some elderly, or immunocompromised persons such as those undergoing chemotherapy for cancer; persons who have undergone organ transplants; those who are undergoing treatment with steroids; and people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, can be particularly at risk from infections. You should seek advice about drinking water from your physician or health care providers. Additional guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. We are responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but we cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at <http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead>.

Information about Source Water Assessments

A Source Water Susceptibility Assessment for your drinking water source(s) is currently being updated by the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality. This information describes the susceptibility and types of constituents that may come into contact with your drinking water source based on human activities and natural conditions. The information contained in the assessment allows us to focus source water protection strategies.

For more information about your sources of water, please refer to the Source Water Assessment Viewer available at the following URL: <http://gis3.tceq.state.tx.us/swav/Controller/index.jsp?wtrsrc=>

Further details about sources and source-water assessments are available in Drinking Water Watch at the following URL: <http://dww.tceq.texas.gov/DWW>

2013 Regulated Contaminants Detected

Lead and Copper

Definitions:
Action Level Goal (ALG): The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. ALGs allow for a margin of safety.
Action Level: The concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.

Lead and Copper	Date Sampled	MCLG	Action Level (AL)	90th Percentile	# Sites Over AL	Units	Violation	Likely Source of Contamination
Copper	2013	1.3	1.3	0.26	0	ppm	N	Erosion of natural deposits; Leaching from wood preservatives; Corrosion of household plumbing systems
Lead	2013	0	15	4.19	0	ppb	N	Corrosion of household plumbing systems; Erosion of natural deposits.

Water Quality Test Results

Definitions:	The following tables contain scientific terms and measures, some of which may require explanation.
Avg:	Regulatory compliance with some MCLs are based on running annual average of monthly samples.
Maximum Contaminant Level or MCL:	The highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.
Maximum Contaminant Level Goal or MCLG:	The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.
Maximum residual disinfectant level or MRDL:	The highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.
Maximum residual disinfectant level goal or MRDLG:	The level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.
MFL:	million fibers per liter (a measure of asbestos)
na:	not applicable.
NTU:	nephelometric turbidity units (a measure of turbidity)
pCi/L:	picocuries per liter (a measure of radioactivity)

ppb:	micrograms per liter or parts per billion - or one ounce in 7,350,000 gallons of water.
ppm:	milligrams per liter or parts per million - or one ounce in 7,350 gallons of water.
