Early voter turnout heavy, driven by $10.55 million bond election

Mid-term early voting has been heavy in Salado with 315 casting ballots in the first two days of early voting alone, driven by a $10.55 million bond proposal at the bottom of a long ballot of state and regional races.

The final town hall meeting on the proposed $10.55 million bond election to build a sewer system for parts of Salado will be held at 6:30 p.m. Oct. 27 at the Salado Intermediate School.

Early voting began on Oct. 20 with several locations at which Bell County voters can cast their ballots: Salado Civic Center, 601 North Main, Salado; Bell County Courthouse Annex, 550 East 2nd Ave, Belton; Bell County Annex, 301 Priest Drive, Killeen; Killeen Community Center, 2201 East Veterans Memorial Blvd, Killeen; Bell County Annex, 205 East Central Ave, Temple and the Parks & Recreation Center, 307 Millers Crossing, Harker Heights.

Salado's Tablerock Walking Trail will transform into a Fright Trail October 25 and Nov. 1, from dusk until 9:30 p.m. Tickets are $3 fee for children and $5 for adults to take a walk on the spectral side of Tablerock. The Bell County Sheriff's Posse will direct traffic, actors will guide and enlighten you with facts about respective authors as they lead you to scenes from Macbeth, The Invisible Man, Dracula, Frankenstein, The Mummy's Curse, Phantom of the Opera, Boo Riley from To Kill a Mockingbird, an excerpt from Edgar Allen Poe by Thom the World Poet from Australia, and more of America's most treasured classics. One section of the trail will portray Alice in Wonderland, Billy Goat Gruff and the Troll who guards the bridge, Dorothy and the Wicked Witch VS Glenda the Good Witch, elves and blithe spirits. Actors will enact scenes from chosen classical tales of terror and from Grimm's Fairy Tales to entertain and educate both the young and the young at heart. Again this year Andy Anderson, Chief Meteorologist for channel 6, will portray The Headless Horseman. Snacks and drinks will be available at the concession stand to refresh you. Smelling salts will be on hand for the weak of heart. Tablerock Trail is located in Salado on Royal Street, three blocks east of downtown. Sanctuary Town Square North Tract

The Sanctuary is a community being planned from the ground up in Salado.

The Sanctuary unveils plans

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Less a European invasion and more a European invitation. And what an invitation it is.

Principals of The Sanctuary, a 300-acre planned development, invited Saladoans for the first public unveiling of what the future development will look like as it is built over the next two decades. The Sanctuary will include restaurants, lodging, shops, offices, apartments, cottage homes and single family homes.

Robert Sulaski, the CEO of The Sanctuary development company, has built seven planned communities like this around the country, including communities at Biltmore in his home state of North Carolina. But as The Sanctuary is built, the North Carolinian told a group of more than 100 interested Saladoans that he would be joining them. "I will become a Saladoan," he said.

And The Sanctuary will become part of Salado. The development company is in discussions with the Village of Salado to have all 300 acres brought into the city limits. "This will bring sales tax revenues and much more to the Village," Sulaski said.

It will bring a community that has been planned from the ground up to be aesthetically and communally pleasing to its residents.

The development proposes a 15- to 17-year build-out program that will include 345,000 square feet of shops and restaurants, 65,000 sq. ft. of office space, 400 rooms of lodging, 350 units of apartments and 525 homes.

Madison Inselmann, development director, described the kind of residents that The Sanctuary will bring to Salado. They will be upscale, more interested in fine amenities and plenty of services than sprawling front yards.

He explained to the audience that The Sanctuary is being developed keeping in mind residents who want more than a place to lay their heads at night. "We want people looking for community, for belonging," he said, adding, "someone you might see in a suit at the coffee shop during the week and in shorts and running shoes at the same coffee shop on Saturday morning."

Active families, couples, retirees and young professionals will find themselves drawn to the trails, gardens and natural spaces that will take advantage of the natural beauty of the "Eight Lakes" on the south side of College Hill.

"There will be a lot of park areas," Sulaski said, "Play parks, parks for sitting and parks for planting." Community gardens are planned to bring people from the neighborhoods into each other's homes to share their mutual efforts.

Inselmann discussed the economics and demographics underlying the development of The Sanctuary. The group has examined the market in a small radius around Salado as well as looking around the nation at the type of buyers they hope to attract to Salado.

"The market for starter homes has been saturated," he said. The Sanctuary will have homes ranging from $225,000 for cottages of 2,200 sq. ft. to $750,000 or more for the manor-type homes planned for the development. The range of homes and styles of homes will be built in such a manner as to compliment each other and to compliment the retail, restaurant, hotel and entertainment district.

The flagship of the entertainment district will be a performing arts venue with 1,800 seats indoors and 2,500 capacity outdoors. A mixture of entertainment options will make The Sanctuary and Salado a destination every weekend of the year.

"It's not going to be Las Vegas," Sulaski joked. "It's not going to be Austin City Limits, but it won't be the Gatlin Brothers every weekend either. It will be a unique place" with a mix of live music, theater and other performing arts.

The live music facility will be approximately 20,000 sq. ft. and will be a showplace for The Sanctuary.

Walking trails and narrow streets will make The Sanctuary pedestrian and neighborhood friendly.

It will also be friendly to the current Village of Salado, by connecting in natural ways and melding into the historical nature of the Village.

"It is not going to be all Bavarian style architecture," he said, adding that the tight-knit style of European old towns would be an anchor of the development but would meld into other styles of architecture as it spreads out into the acreage.

The Sanctuary developers are working to host a number of workshops in the coming months to meet with residents and government officials to see that their development will fit best with the future plans of Salado.

They ask for workshops to begin on Nov. 11 and continue into January 2015.

Those workshops will likely include discussion of issues such as infrastructure. "We'll learn a lot more in two weeks," Sulaski said, referring to the Nov. 4 sewer bond election. The Sanctuary is in discussions with the Village to pursue partnering in some way with the development of the sewer system to serve the development area as well as the areas proposed in the bond election.

Developers already have a permit from Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TECQ) for a wastewater system on the location with a permit to discharge effluent into a tributary on the property. "We don't want to do that though," he said, "We want the effluent to use on

An Open Exchange of Ideas

A War only for Show

Compared with President Barack Obama, even Jimmy Carter is John McCain.

The former president practically synonymous with American weakness and retreat thinks Obama was too slow to act against ISIS and gives his current strategy only "a possibility of success," provided it involves (unspecified) ground troops.

When you are too passive for Jimmy Carter, it's time for some soul-searching in the Situation Room. The late-1970s are calling and want their foreign policy back.

The war against ISIS so far is desultory and occasional, a campaign of underwhelming force. ISIS has still been on the verge of taking the Syrian town of Khobani, abutting the Turkish border, and on the offensive in Iraq. The erstwhile JV team is defying all the military might that the world's lone superpower is willing to muster.

There has been renewed talk of how, as former Secretary of Defense Leon Panetta put it the other day, the fight against terrorism will be a 30-year war. At this rate, it will be a generational struggle merely to get ISIS out of Mosul.

To this point, almost everything has lent credence to the skeptical interpretation of Obama's war: That in reaction to a spectacular media event (the horrific ISIS beheadings), the president staged his own media event, an inconsequential bombing campaign accompanied by a tough-sounding, prime-time speech.

The experience of the surge in Afghanistan, the red-line fiasco and now this suggest that Obama is a hawk precisely to the extent he feels the politics don't allow him to wiggle out of it.

His talk of Afghanistan as the good war in the 2008 campaign was too fresh for him to countenance an immediate defeat. So he ordered the surge and tried never to speak of it again, and now wants to completely liquidate our military presence on the failed model of Iraq.

He had seemed determined to strike Syria after Bashar Assad used chemical weapons last year, then

Voting on sewer tops list of Top Five exciting events

I never thought voting on a sewer system would make my "Top Five List of Exciting Events in 2014." It has.

Looking back, it has not been an easy journey. Money was spent on studies that gave information and recommendations. Citizens asked questions; gave opinions but nothing came of the studies.

Then came the 2014 Forum when Mayor candidates were asked, "Will you support a sewer/water treatment plant initiative?" Remember the answers? That is when the sewer issue became a serious consideration, again.

When the Aldermen met for the first of two lengthy Saturday workshops, we decided there were 5 issues that must be addressed this year. Sewer and road repair shared the number one spot. Since it was a top Forum question, we agreed that citizens should be presented the facts through a Town Hall. From that early Town Hall, a decision was made to put it to a vote.

From that time on, it has been interesting. The newspaper editorials and articles, individual blogs, two Town Halls, and everything else have been extremely valuable in learning and understanding the citizens of Salado. Since village incorporation, no other issue has been so widely debated.

From day one, the Aldermen/Alderlady knew the risks and consequences. They also knew that this was not their Village to control or dictate our desires. If they were going to be effective, the citizens had to be heard. They had to know the direction the majority of the citizens wanted to go not only on sewers but in other areas as well.

On 4 November, citizens will give their mandate. This is a Village decision and it will be respected and honored regardless of outcome.

Remember, the last Town Hall had to be changed from 23 October to 6:30 p.m. 27 October, at the Intermediate School Cafeteria.

Voters continue to voice their support, opposition to sewer bond proposal

Dear Editor:

I am a senior citizen and exempt from my taxes increasing. However, I have a daughter and son-in-law who also own a home in Mill Creek. Like many young families they will be required to face increased property taxes to pay for the bond. I am saddened older neighbors and people living outside of Mill Creek are saying the burden of saving Salado falls on the few young Mill Creek property owners. Maybe these folks have forgotten what it is like to provide for their kids. These few property owners are being told they have to pay for a sewer system which will provide service for Main Street, Hidden Glen, two motels, businesses on West Village Road, the Salado Schools, and perhaps the brand new development, the Sanctuary. As Dave Broecker pointed out in the latest ad for Save Salado, "Current septic systems are aging and have failed or are facing failure. Today's stricter health regulations and concerns limit or prohibit individual remedies." He is correct in recognizing that each of these Mill Creek property owners are facing the challenge of older septic systems. No one from Salado is going to help any Mill Creek property owner take care of the bills they face from septic tank issues. I can't imagine the mayor, any alderman, or Mr. Broecker in my back yard taking care of my septic tank. We can't forget, the sewer system will require constant repair, manpower, and upgrading.. the financial cost will Never end. Of course, I want Salado to continue to thrive. But I do not want to place the financial burden of accomplishing this task on a few families. This scenario reminds me of Robin Hood in reverse.

Nancy Sneed

Dear Editor:

My wife and I have lived in Salado for seventeen years and love our village. After looking at all the pros and cons and studying the facts we will be voting for the bond issue. We encourage all voters to vote their convictions, whatever they may be, and let us move on after that discussion is made.

Respectfully,
Johnny &
Peggie Watson

To the Editor:

Over the last several months, we've listened to the comments made on the issue of the Sewer Bond proposal. Many cogent thoughts and passionate arguments have been made on both sides of the issue. Build it. Don't build it. Let somebody else build it. Let somebody else pay for it. Build it now. Build it later. After attending Town Hall meetings and other public venues in which the Sewer Bond issue was discussed, we have heard ramifications on all the above – and much more.

Letters to the Editor

We have yet to hear a serious attempt to argue the case that the business district simply doesn't need a sewer system. With rare exception, most acknowledge that a properly engineered sewer system is badly needed as a foundation for growth and prosperity for down town. There are many legitimate questions concerning the mechanics and logistics of the system, however, few of them can be satisfactorily answered now. So at this juncture, what emerges at the forefront of debate is this. How much will it cost and who will pay for it?

There seems to be considerable consternation over the probability that some may have to pay more than others – that some may benefit more than others. And some won't have to pay at all. We seem to be gnashing our collective teeth over a matter of potential inequity, rather than on how we can best meet our needs. Of course no one is immune to the thought, "What's in it for me."

Ask any realtor (anywhere) about the impact that a neighborhood has on the value of residential properties within that neighborhood. The answer will be universal: It's huge. If you own a home in a declining neighborhood, no matter what you do to maintain or improve your property, its value will go the way of the neighborhood. Our town is our neighborhood, and the only one we have. What happens on Main Street doesn't stay on Main Street. When it hurts, we hurt. More to the point, when it prospers, we prosper.

Salado is sitting on a gold mine. We're on a major interstate highway in the heart of the fastest growing state in the country – less than an hour from the capital. We're 20 minutes away from a world class medical facility. The interstate itself is only a couple of years away from a complete reconstruction. We have an extraordinary golf course, a marvelous school system, nearby lakes and natural beauty. All outside forces seem to be going our way. Yet we're nursing a business district that's gasping for air – and a whole community not far behind. Sales tax revenue has been trending down for years. On one side of the interstate, we have a sales tax fortune-in-the-making, but it can't make it because of ancient and crippled septic systems. On the other side of the interstate, we have acres and acres of property to be developed into more tax revenue (taxes not borne by the homeowner) but, by not having a proper sewer system, we're deliberately applying the airbrakes to future prosperity.

Back to the question of the sewer bond and "what's in it for me." Answer: A thriving community – a destination instead of a dusty little town you drive through to get to someplace else. A place where people stop, shop, spend money, look around and think, "Wow. I'd like to live here. These people have it all." Equally important to the matter of community pride, is the knowledge that we could have a business district with a reliable income stream from sales tax – one that grows steadily instead of sliding into obscurity. We could, in time, produce an economic climate that depends less and less of the faithful home owner to foot more and more of the bills with property tax.

So I deliberately refuse to be influenced by those whose only vision for Salado is attained by wistful looks through their rear view mirror. I flat out will not listen to those shrill voices constantly crying "foul" and petitioning for "retreat."

I would like to cast my vote with the men and women of this village who have the vision to plan for the future – who have the wisdom to realize you can't go far into the 21st century with your head down reading moldy blueprints of the past. I want to be part of a generation that doesn't leave it to the next generation to pay our delinquent debt. Why should they, or we, spend the next twenty or more years playing catch-up, at forever escalating costs, to do what we have the opportunity and need to do now.

Let's trust our neighbors that we placed in office (and that walk with us every day) to oversee this vital project. Let's work together with them to insure that we invest every dollar wisely. Let's pool our town's considerable brain-power and will-power to build this sewer system and then rebuild Salado the way we all dream it can be. November 4, 2014 marks the beginning of our future. The direction we travel from that date forward is up to us. Sign me up for a "yes" vote.

found a way to crab-walk away from his own earnest warnings.

The war against ISIS happens to be just enough to placate the public's hawkish mood without getting too far out in front or taking actions that will fully commit the president.

The Powell Doctrine is to use maximum military power to achieve a clear objective; the Obama Doctrine evidently is to use minimal military power to create a vague impression. Message: I care about defeating ISIS, for now.

The anti-ISIS campaign is a brilliant tactical success, in the sense that we are hitting what we target.

But it is a strategic nullity.

It is too small to make much of a difference, and there are limits to how much can be done exclusively from the air anyway. We can bomb fixed targets, and perhaps tanks and large troop movements. The problem is that ISIS is a guerrilla force not highly vulnerable from the air, and it becomes even less so once it is entrenched in cities.

It caused a minor furor when Obama said a few weeks ago that he didn't have a strategy against ISIS yet. The scandal is that, with American planes dropping bombs in two countries, he still doesn't.

Volunteers and fleece needed for blanket project; deadline Nov. 26

What a blessing for Senior Citizens! Last year, individuals and organizations from surrounding communities donated fleece that was made into almost 100 blankets for local Senior Citizens. Once again, Visiting Angels is collecting fleece, with hopes of exceeding the number of Senior Citizens blessed by these hand-made gifts. "The gratitude shining from their faces...the tears of joy over such a gift...if everyone could have that experience such as I have had when making the deliveries on behalf of Visiting Angels, I have no doubt that donations of fleece would quickly come pouring in," said Sarah Potter Davison, Director of Community Relations for Visiting Angels. "We've been able to give many to veterans in VA facilities, and also provide for some to be taken on Meals-on-Wheels routes originating from local senior centers."

Visiting Angels is seeking community participation so that they may make as many blankets as possible this season.

Sarah Potter Davison gives a fleece blanket to a veteran.

Donations of two coordinating pieces of fleece, 1 and 5/8 yard each, or the donation of no-sew fleece blanket kits are suggested; the patterns should be appropriate for Senior Citizens. The fleece is needed as soon as possible, but preferred no later than November 26. Now is the time to buy as there is a lot of fleece and kits on sale. "We'd love to see individuals, departments, and organizations challenge each other to donate the most fleece. Just this week employees of a local non-profit donated fleece to make 10 blankets."

The project also provides for service hours for local high school students; they will prepare the fleece for assembly. Then, at the Visiting Angels Christmas Party, over 200 attendees will tie the coordinating pieces of fleece together to make the blankets.

Donations can be dropped off at the Visiting Angels office located at 2213 Birdcreek Terrace, Temple, TX; if you would like your donation picked up, please (254) 899-9400.

Semper Fidelis

Friends,

The Salado Chamber of Commerce through a survey of its members has overwhelmingly shown support for a sewer system in Salado.

The question was asked:

Do you wish for Salado to have sewer services available?

- 79% of those who responded answered 'Absolutely'
- 13% said 'Yes, but need more information.'
- 8% were neutral, needed more information or said no way.

The Survey demonstrated a very strong desire for Salado to grow commercially, 67% ranked this as very important. Project completion ranked 54% as very important. The cost associated with individual businesses, ranked 28% as very important. Although obviously important was not nearly as high as the desire to have Salado grow and complete this project.

We know that the costs associated with this project are daunting. However, our membership has shown a resounding rally for supporting this initiative. Each and every property owner will be bearing significant costs simply to tap on to the sewer (some more costly than others). We do not take this lightly. The Chamber board serves its members and the results are clear. The Salado Chamber of Commerce endorses the sewer bond and wants to see it passed this November.

The Chamber focuses to be inviting and hospitable to those coming into our community whether visiting or looking to make Salado home. We want to show Salado as a vibrant community with tourism, business services, and residential community. Being that Salado is on the I-35 corridor, we are destined to grow. The Chamber feels that the best way for the Village to grow is to focus on infrastructure. The sewer is the next step. The Village of Salado has had two town hall meetings. The meetings were progressive. The information given at the 2nd meeting was more refined information than the first one.

So, as your board of directors, we endorse the sewer bond election on November 4, 2014.
Respectfully submitted,

YES WE CAN.

We will be the thriving, beautiful, activity filled village we were just a short time ago. Did the flood hurt us, yes it did. But we bounced back. Homes restored, and look at our beautiful golf course. Has the economy and I-35 construction hurt us, yes it has, but think of how nice it will be when this multimillion dollar project is complete. We are on the thoroughfare of Texas. To the doom and gloomers, I say yes we can. We will be better, more profitable, growing and where people again say "wow you live in Salado, I wish I lived there". Vote for the growth not decline. I support a sewer system because I know Salado's best years are ahead.

VOTE YES.

After 56-0 road loss to Giddings, Salado Eagles get a Friday night off

Salado Eagles get a much-needed week off after falling to the Giddings Buffaloes on the road Oct. 17, losing 56-0 and dropping to 0-8 on the year and 0-2 in district 14-4A-DII play.

The Buffaloes returned two interceptions for touchdowns in the first quarter en route to building a 28-0 lead in the first 12 minutes of play at home against the winless Salado Eagles Oct. 17. The Buffaloes improved to 5-2 and 1-0 in district play.

Jason James returned a pass interception 40 yards to score for the Buffaloes. Raylon Hickey ran the ball in from the Eagle six yard line to push the score to 14-0 and then returned a pass interception 33 yards for two quick scores in the first quarter.

James added a three yard touchdown to move the score to 28-0 late in the first.

The Buffaloes added another three touchdowns in the second quarter all on big plays: a 20 yard pass from Kyle Jones to Brook Namke, an 82 yard punt return by Hickey and a 93 yard pass from Jones to James.

yard run for the final 56-0.

Salado's defense couldn't catch the speedy backs and the offense couldn't move the ball as the Eagles had 65 yards total offense in their worst performance of the year. The Eagles had just 23 yards in the air on three completions. Salado turned the ball over five times on four interceptions and a fumble.

The Buffaloes had 131 yards rushing and 215 yard passing and committed no turnovers.

Giddings Buffaloes defeat JV - lose to Freshmen

JV Football

Salado JV lost to Giddings 0 - 35 at Eagle Stadium.

Just two minutes into the first quarter Giddings put in a touchdown and extra kick which set the tone for the game.

A penalty would force Giddings to repeat the kick off. Dakota Volk caught the second attempt for a 10 yard gain. Giddings held the Eagles out of scoring position.

The game advanced with a series of fumbles and errors by both teams.

Allen Sirois was able to knock the ball out the receiver's hands to recover for Salado but a sack on Quarterback Parker

Seaton turned the ball back to Giddings just two plays later to set Giddings ahead by 14.

Volk returned the kick off for 35 yards but Sirois, Tate Hill and Nolan Maldonado only advanced another five yards and the ball returned to Giddings and the score increased to Salado 0 - Giddings 21.

Salado held on to the ball for three plays before a turnover, touchdown and extra kick by Giddings increased their lead to 28.

A 55 yard run put Giddings back into the end zone for the final score Salado 0 - Giddings 35.

The Salado JV will play Jarrell 6 p.m. Oct. 23 at Jarrell Stadium.

Freshman Football

Salado Freshman defeated Giddings 12 - 6 at home. "It was an all around great effort" said Coach Krempin.

Ryan Kyburz scored on a quarterback sneak from the 1 yard line in the first quarter.

Cade DePoy intercepted a pass by Giddings in the fourth quarter to score again for the Eagles.

Cutter Hudgens intercepted in the fourth quarter to remove any chance of a Buffalo comeback. Eagles 13 - Giddings 6.

Salado Freshmen will host St. Dominic Savio Catholic High School 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 23 at Eagle Stadium.

Prospects for deer season good across the state

If early field reports by bow hunters and those hunting on Managed Lands Deer Permit properties are a sign of things to come, Texas hunters should see deer in good condition and above average numbers of mature bucks when the general season kicks off Nov. 1 statewide.

"I had a report of a bow hunter in Walker County connecting on a buck that scored 163 B&C (Boone & Crockett scoring system)," said Alan Cain, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department White-tailed Deer Program Leader. "It turns out it was the hunter's first time to bow hunt. I got another report of a 183 B&C buck harvested in Atascosa County on a low-fenced MLD property."

Cain noted he's received several reports indicating decent antler quality this year so hunters should be in for a nice surprise with the quality of bucks they are seeing.

The general season runs through Jan. 4, 2015 in the 209 counties that comprise the North Zone and through Jan. 18, 2015 in the 30 counties of the South Zone. For county specific regulations, check the 2014-15 Outdoor Annual - Texas Hunting and Fishing Regulations available at hunting license sales outlets, online at www.tpwd.state.tx.us and as a free mobile app download on iOS and Android platforms at www.txoutdoorannual.com/app.

When it comes to deer, wildlife biologists use rainfall as a barometer for gauging hunting season because of the direct correlation between rainfall and impacts to habitat during certain times of the year (primarily as it relates to nutrition and cover deer need). Rainfall or a lack thereof can significantly impact deer body condition, antler quality and fawn production – the end results are what hunters see each fall.

According to Cain, most crops (acorns, mesquite beans, etc.) that provide a good forage resource to help deer meet the demands of raising fawns and growing antlers during the stressful part of the summer have been in good supply this year.

Those native food sources appear to be carrying over into the fall, which means some hunters may have to contend with native food sources competing with artificial feeders early in the season.

"Precipitation has greened up vegetation around much of the state in the last month and with green conditions deer aren't utilizing feeders as much," Cain added. "The green vegetation and warm temperatures in October have made hunting a little tough, but there are a few folks having some luck."

Texas whitetail population estimates have remained fairly stable over the last few decades at around 4 million deer. Hunters can expect to see about the same number of deer as in 2013. Bottom line from a hunter perspective is there will be plenty of animals to pursue.

HITTING A LOB WINNER

Don't let your opponent continue a winning game. For instance, if your opponent is hitting winning volleys, try pushing him back with a lob. Lobs will keep him from enjoying the net.

By hitting lots of lobs, you will disrupt an opponent's volley rhythm and tire him out. Try hitting the lob over his backhand side, since it makes it a particularly difficult overhead for him.

Salado Eagle Marching Band earned Division One at the District Marching Contest Oct. 18 and advanced to the Area contest, which will be held Oct. 25. Advancing to Area in marching band happens every other year for a classification. Since Salado High School moved up to AAAA, we were eligible to advance for a second year in a row. There are three levels of advancement in band: region, area, and state. In area, bands move from a ratings based judging panel to a ranking system. Bands that make the top 10 at area, advance to the area finals that night. Then they take the top five to state. The Salado band program was "Clue!" based off the music from Serenade for Strings- Tchaikovsky, Air for Strings, Elgar, Serenade for Strings, Dvorak. Drum Majors are Norelli Gonzales, Rene Phillip and Maddie Suhling; Color Guard Captain is Katie White. Band members are shown above with their trophy from District and below in marching formation for the show.

Boles-Aiken Cabin

Dec. 5-7 Homes tour features Boles-Aiken Cabin and Moses Denman Cabin

The Christmas Tour of Homes hours: 5-8 p.m. Dec. 5, 10-5 p.m., Dec. 6 and 1-5 p.m. Dec. 7. Tickets (and reservations for tickets) for the tour are available at the Salado Tourist Office (831 N. Main St., Phone 254-947-8634). Tickets purchased before Thanksgiving (11/27) are $12 while children 11 and under are free. After Thanksgiving the ticket price will be $15.

Visitors enjoying the 2014 Christmas Tour of Homes can experience a virtual trip into the past when they “discover” the village’s hidden treasures, authentic 19th Century log cabins. The cabins are located behind the historic Civic Center. For a tranquil moment, before returning to the main tour, visitors can experience the quiet ambiance of the cabins on Main Street.

The Boles-Aiken cabin truly was a “hidden treasure” discovered between the walls of a house on Center Circle that was being demolished. Disassembled, its logs carefully numbered, the cabin was stored until acquired by the Salado Historical Society and rebuilt on its present location.

Believed to have been constructed before Salado’s founding, the structure is thought to have had three different “lives.” It has served as a stagecoach stop, as a post office—possibly Salado’s first—and as a school. Presently those three phases are represented with appropriate furnishings.

The Moses Denman cabin, though not original to Salado, had a justifiable place in Village history as it was the home of Salado resident Robert Denman’s great-grandfather.

Built in the 1860’s, it was discovered by Denman and moved to the site of the Barton House, A well-known historic home in which Denman and his wife, Doris, lived for many years.

When they sold the Barton House (now The Range Restaurant), the Denmans donated the cabin to the Historical Society. The building was moved without any disassembling, with the exception of the chimney, to become a neighbor to the Boles-Aiken cabin. With the chimney restored, it was furnished with primitive antiques provided by the Denmans.

Opened on previous Homes Tours and when special events are held, the cabins do not always draw the visitors their history justifies. When school children visit the cabins, they are amazed at the cabins’ size and simplicity, which shed light on the hardiness and tenacity of our ancestors, lessons needed for today’s technology saturated generation.

Card-reading

This deal occurred in the Life Master Pairs at the 1992 Summer North American Championships. It features an unusual play by one declarer, who succeeded where many others in the same contract failed.

South arrived at four spades as shown, and West led the K-J of diamonds.

Declarer played low from dummy on the second diamond, but East overtook the jack with the ace and continued with a third diamond, bringing South to the critical point of the play.

Given the bidding and play thus far, it was clear that West had started with only two diamonds. If declarer discarded on dummy's established diamond queen, or if he ruffed low, he was virtually certain to lose the trick to a low trump in West's hand.

This was an acceptable loss if West had started with three spades to the king, since a subsequent spade finesse would allow declarer to pick up the rest of the suit. But if East started with the spade king, discarding or ruffing low at trick three would ultimately lead to defeat.

The question, therefore, was who had the spade king? Based on East's overcall and the fact that West had already turned up with the K-J of diamonds, South decided East was far more likely to have the king of spades.

Accordingly, he ruffed the third diamond with the jack. After this held, he led a spade to the ace, disdaining the finesse, and returned the spade four. East won with the king, but no matter what he returned, dummy's queen of spades would sooner or later capture West's ten, and the contract was home.

Tricks and Treats

(StatePoint) Halloween comes but once a year. So make it extra spooky with ghosts, goblins and ghouls galore -- and don't forget all the great treats. While all this fall fun does come at a price, you don't have to spend a pirate's booty if you plan carefully.

For more treats than tricks this year, make a budget and stick to it. The shopping experts at Dollar General are sharing great ways to celebrate Halloween affordably.

Clean Up
Before the trick-or-treaters are at your door, spruce up your house with a few household cleaning supplies. Stock up on paper towels to use for clean-up after pumpkin carving, or pick up a new broom for all those fall leaves that are bound to make their way into your house. These fall months lead right into the holiday party season, so make sure you have all the tools you need to be party ready for your guests!

Decorations
Give your home a fresh fall update. Evoke the harvest season in the entryway with an autumn wreath. Buy one or DIY the project with supplies like glue guns, ribbons, faux leaves and flowers. Use seasonal placemats, runners and pumpkin pie scented candles to accent your home with fall flair.

Stock up on spooky supplies, too. Skeletons, cobwebs, ghosts and other festive supplies will make your home a favorite in the neighborhood.

Treats
Whether you're hosting a Halloween bash or just preparing for a crowd of trick-or-treaters, think frugally when stocking up on treats. Buy candy, chocolates and treats at a discount store such as Dollar General. If you're ordering online, consider buying in bulk to save further, as many retailers offer free shipping on large purchases.

Make Halloween party snacks for less by buying peanuts, pumpkin seeds and candy corn, and creating your own seasonal trail mix. For dessert, bake a cake and decorate it creatively with gummy worms and colored icing to scare your guests.

With more holidays on the horizon, be sure to stay within your budget this Halloween season. Take steps to celebrate affordably.

Artificial Turf Issues

Dear EarthTalk: Is it true that playing on artificial turf fields can cause cancer? If so, how can I minimize exposure for my sports-loving kids?

-- Melanie Witmer, Syracuse, NY

Just when you thought it was safe to play soccer on that brand new synthetic turf field, it may be time to think again. Those little black dirt-like granules that fill up the space between synthetic blades of grass and make up some 90 percent of today's artificial turf fields are actually ground-up car and truck tires. As such they contain a host of potentially noxious chemicals that can lead to a wide range of health problems.

Four of the constituent chemicals in these "tire crumbs" (or "tire mulch") as they are called—arsenic, benzene, cadmium and nickel—are deemed carcinogens by the International Agency for Cancer Research. Others have been linked to skin, eye and respiratory irritation, kidney and liver problems, allergic reactions, nervous systems disorders and developmental delays.

While the risk came to light recently when a University of Washington women's soccer coach began to think it might be more than a coincidence that two of her goalies were stricken with cancer, researchers have known about such potential links for years. A 2007 report by the Connecticut-based Environment & Human Health Inc. (EHHI) looked at several scientific studies and found definitive connections between various health problems and exposure to synthetic turf.

EHHI also reported that kids on playfields are likely to face similar risks as line workers in the rubber fabrication and reclamation industries, where they say health reports show the presence of multiple volatile organic hydrocarbons and other toxic elements in the air. "Studies at tire reclamation sites report leaching of similar sets of chemicals into the ground water," says the group.

The Synthetic Turf Council, an industry group, maintains that there is considerable evidence pointing to the health safety of synthetic turf. But the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) isn't taking sides, leaving it up to state and local jurisdictions to decide whether or not to allow artificial turf. The EPA would like to see more research done so parents everywhere can have a better idea of the risks involved.

Of course, synthetic turf fields aren't all bad. For one, they don't need frequent watering (a grass playing field typically requires 50,000 gallons of water per week during growing season) and doesn't require the application of potentially toxic pesticides. Furthermore, turf is much more durable and less costly to maintain than grass, and players suffer fewer injuries on it since it doesn't turn to slippery mud when wet.

Do these pros outweigh the cons? Some schools don't think so and are turning back plans to convert their grass fields to turf. Where it is too late for that, parents should warn their little athletes to stay upright as much as possible—turf-related cancers seem to be most common in goalies who spend the most time down on the turf surface. Also, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommends that those playing on synthetic turf avoid eating or drinking on the field where toxic dust can contaminate food and liquids, wash their hands and body aggressively with soap and water afterwards, and remove clothes worn on the field and turn them inside out before washing them separately from other items.

Salado Village Artist featured Artist for the month is Anita Johnston. Find out more about Johnston at saladovillageartist.blogspot.com. Her carvings are now on display at the Salado Public Library. The Village Artists meet every Tuesday morning at the Village Art Center on the grounds of the Salado Civic Center.

Fall inspires creativity at Village Artist workshops

That cool fall weather has hit Salado Village Artist in full force. The anticipation of upcoming holidays spurs creative ideas in abundance. If you are feeling the itch to learn, create, and awe your neighbors with your creative brilliance, it is time to join Salado's finest, the Salado Village Artist (SVA).

Mondays are dedicated to quilters, sewing, and knitting/crocheting. From 9 a.m.-noon, you can learn, watch, sew, and create with talented individuals. They might even be able to show you a thing or two.

If your interest is toward painting, drawing, jewelry making, scrap booking, crafting, sculpting, etc. Tuesdays between 9 a.m.- noon. is the place you need to be. It isn't just the spacious area that you can spread out and work on your individual projects, but it is the interaction with the talented individuals to inspire new ideas, share old ideas, and learn. Once a month, there will be a still life session where an arrangement is provided for you to draw and paint.

Every other Tuesday evening from 6 p.m.-7:30 p.m., there is live figure drawing. Nov. 4 will be the next opportunity to learn, practice, and enjoy drawing live models. They will start out with quick sketches in different positions to help with proportions of the body, then they will move onto longer poses where the artist can work in the details. The human form is one of the most difficult challenges for an artist but it is essential for growth. This is an opportunity for an artist of any age or ability to participate in SVA. Volunteers are welcome for the live model sessions (no nudity). If you are interested in participation or being a model, contact Hollye at 254-541-4098.

The workshop of the month is slated for Nov. 10. Jerry Goodman will be demonstrating making table runners out of sample material. Jerry will bring samples to choose from 10 a.m. Oct. 27 in the SVA building located behind the civic center. It is also acceptable to bring your own fabric on Nov. 10. Cost is $20.

The board members of the SVA have selected individuals who have demonstrated outstanding artwork as the artist of the month. Their works are displayed through at the Library and the local banks in Salado. The artist of the Month for November and December are as follows:
Anita Johnston
Joan Hoffman
Marie March
Cathy Neese

You can find biographies and information about our artist of the month on our blog: saladovillageartist.blogspot.com.
