Empty Bowl raises funds on Nov. 22

SFRF brings Christmas to many

For two decades, Salado Family Relief Funds has made the Christmas holidays better each year for Salado children and families.

The Salado Family Relief Fund tries to make it better for more than 50 Salado families each year by providing Christmas presents to their children. Last year the Salado community donated toys and gifts to Salado Family Relief Fund in order to provide Christmas gifts to 59 families for a total of 123 children.

Salado Family Relief will again be managing the Christmas Project, whereby qualified families will be presented with toys and gifts for Christmas.

"We cannot do this without the generosity of our community," said Renee Oas, a board member of the Salado Family Relief Fund and director of the Christmas project.

Civic groups, church groups and school groups are encouraged to adopt a family or a child during the Christmas drive. If you would like to "adopt" a child or family for Christmas, email Oas at cashmagnet@vvm.com or call her at 947-9471 for details. Contributions can be sent to: Salado Family Relief Fund, P.O. Box 461, Salado, TX 76571.

The SFRF protects the identity of the children receiving the gifts. No groups or individuals will know the names of the children they have agreed to adopt.

The Christmas drive, and other efforts of the Salado Family Relief Fund, benefits from the annual Salado Empty Bowl Project, which will be 11 a.m.-1 p.m. Nov. 22 at the Salado Civic Center on Main Street.

For just $20, you can purchase a handmade bowl by area potters, fill it with soup provided by area restaurants and help support the Salado Family Relief Fund. You can have all-you-can-eat soup for just $10 per person.

Local potter Titia Arledge, of Mud Pies Pottery, works with potters from around the state to provide the handmade pottery bowls for the event.

Attendees get to select handmade bowls as keepsakes and fill up on soup provided by local restaurants and bed and breakfast inns. Participating restaurants are these: Stagecoach Inn, Cathy's Boardwalk, McCain's Bakery and Cafe, The Pizza Place, Brookshire Brother's, Outlaws Cookshack, Salado Vintage Cakery, Inn On The Creek, The Shed, Johnny's, Stonecreek Settlement, Baines House, Inn at Salado, Ambrosia Tea Room, Salado Patio, and The Range at the Barton House.

The Empty Bowl Project comes at a great time for the Salado Family Relief Fund, according to President Mary Catherine Ervin. It helps replenish funds used for the annual back-to-school drive to provide school clothes and supplies to 150 Salado ISD students. The Salado Chamber of Commerce helped provide new shoes for students going back to school through the Midnight Madness 5K in August.

None of these projects would be possible without the support of local churches, civic groups, school groups and individuals who give of their time and money each year.

The annual Christmas drive began in the mid 90s. "I heard of a couple of school teachers and volunteers who were gathering things for kids in the schools. Dana Britt and the late Mary Ribeiro were doing this on their own for a long time without much help," founding president Marilyn Fleischer said of the beginnings of the Family Relief Fund.

The first year that the Fund began to take shape, collections of used toys and clothes were gathered at the fire station. "It was discouraging sifting for hours through used toys that were broken or should have been thrown away," she said.

The Fund continued its work at Christmas, but changed gears when the tornado ripped through Jarrell, causing such devastation to that small community. "We solicited and took donations for relief efforts in Jarrell, which was when we changed the name of the group to Salado Family Relief Fund," Fleischer said. "We collected several thousand dollars for those victims."

At that point, Fleischer said she realized it was time to organize the group formally. "We invited all of the churches and civic groups in Salado to join us in forming this organization," she said.

Since forming almost two decades ago, the Fund has helped families in the area in a variety of ways, including temporary assistance for medicines, rent, clothing, food and other necessities. "We never give out cash," said Mary Catherine Ervin, longtime board member and President of the SFRF, "but we will always try to work to find a solution or a way we can help."

The Fund has established a school supply bank at the school, administered by the Communities in Schools. The Fund also ensures that children get a hot meal at school by working with cafeteria staff.

In addition to the annual Christmas drive, the SFRF also sponsors an annual Back-to-School drive in which families are given vouchers for clothing and school supplies.

Highland Games and Gathering of the Clans

The 53rd Annual Highland Games and Gathering of the Clans featured athletic, dance and music competitions, as well as live music, Celtic food and fellowship in Salado Nov. 7-9. Events were held on College Hill and at the Salado Civic Center grounds, where contestants competed against each other in the Highland fling (above), the stone toss (top) and the caber toss (at right). 'Hey, Baby. What About Manners?'

Never before have so many people watched an expressionless woman in a non-descript outfit traipse through New York City. Millions of people viewed a viral video that showed the woman getting all manner of uninvited and unwelcome compliments during hours of walking in the Big Apple.

The video was a brilliant stunt by the anti-street-harassment group Hollaback! and prompted the Great Catcalling Debate of 2014.

The video was taken as an indictment of the boorishness of men, a charge for which millennia of human history had already provided more than ample evidence.

There is no excuse for catcalling. There is no reason to shout at random women -- ever. There is no reason to comment on a stranger's personal appearance -- ever. There is no reason to go out of your way to make someone else feel uncomfortable on the street -- ever.

These are things that used to be self-evident to the gentleman, who not only wouldn't holler at a woman, but, once upon a time, opened doors for her and yielded his seat to her. The gentleman was a product of culture. He reflected society's interest in the imperative once identified by Thomas Sowell: "Each new generation born is in effect an invasion of civilization by little barbarians, who must be civilized before it is too late." Especially the males.

This is not the language of Hollaback!. It breaks out every "-ism" and phobia in the book to condemn catcalling. It can be, according to the aggressively politically correct feminist group, "sexist, racist, transphobic, homophobic, ableist, sizest and/or classist." That pretty much covers the bases. It would be much easier to say that it is rude and uncouth.

The left's decades-long project, though, has been to deconstruct cultural norms and the rules of common courtesy and then, as it suits its agenda, rebuild some of them on a stilted, politicized basis through coercion.

Viewed through this prism, politically correct speech codes can be seen as twisted mandates for a kind of politeness. The new rules on campus against sexual assault can be viewed as an indirect attempt to recover older attitudes toward sex. And the push by Hollaback! to criminalize catcalling can be considered an effort to impose basic propriety in public by force of law.

Of course, no legal regime can substitute for the web of informal rules and private institutions, family foremost among them, that are civilization's tried-and-true methods of inculcating standards.

And outlawing catcalling is obviously insane. Who determines the offense? Are we really going to have cops deciding if a "Have a nice day!" was overly exuberant and pointedly directed at an attractive woman, or an innocent expression of cheery good will? Maybe this can keep New York City police officers busy now that they are less occupied with trying to find illegal guns.

In making its case that catcalling should be illegal, Hollaback! drones on about the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission's definitions of harassment and other legalisms. Fundamentally, though, what it wants on the streets is something that sounds embarrassingly retrograde: good manners. Shouldn't we all.

Eagle Pride

To the Editor:

Living in America we value winning. Living in Texas we value winning football games. Often times we use the performance of football teams to validate our towns, universities and even our state. We use the ability to win football games to justify running educators out of our community, to rail against the funds we allocate towards the endeavor, to make arguments about building stadiums and as a reason to disparage the young men that have set out to accomplish it. What we don't take enough time to appreciate is the character that winning and losing football games reveals in both the players and the residents of a community.

Anyone that attended the last game of the season in Smithville could have easily seen the character that those wearing the red and white revealed. Once optimism began to fade in the second half and the outcome was inevitable in the fourth quarter an amazing thing happened in a small town nearly two hours away from Salado. The young men that have worked diligently and sacrificed weekly since August showed what Eagle Pride really looked like. Many of these kids have been through a coaching change in their playing careers, suffered through truly discouraging seasons, have been subjected to quite a bit of unwarranted criticism and have had their failures laid open every week in newspapers. However, through all the adversity in the past, they put on their jerseys with our town printed across their chests and went out and competed. In the final minutes of the game last night these same young men with a winless season dogging them and a zero on the scoreboard continued to fight. They played as hard as they've played all season to drive and score a touchdown and the

"Our Town" Salado

Do you remember Thornton Wilder's, "Our Town?"

"Well, I'd better show you how our town lies. Up here -- is Main Street . . ."

"Over there is the Congregational Church; across the street's the Presbyterian. Methodist and Unitarian are over there. Baptist is down in the holla' by the river. Catholic Church is over beyond the tracks. Here's the Town Hall and Post Office combined; jail's in the basement. . ."

"Here's the grocery store and here's Mr. Morgan's drugstore.

"Public School's over yonder. High School's still farther over. . ."

Driving through the village this weekend was like driving through Wilder's, "Our Town"

Downtown was busy; Christmas shopping, underway. Visitors going in and out of shops, some holding hands; others enjoying old-fashioned friendship; and everyone enjoying a wonderful fall day.

In the neighborhoods, people were getting-winter-ready-yard-work done; and talking to neighbors. Some took time for walking; biking for others; and a cool run for joggers. Deer stared defiantly at golfers: "you are trespassing on our property."

As the sun bowed gracefully in the west and stars appeared, friends gathered for food and fellowship.

Front porch lights beamed brightly; cars parked close to curbs; and house-gifts were clutched in hands.

Sunday morning came quietly as families gathered for breakfast. Church-goers journeyed for a visit with God; and others, tiptoed toward the Sunday paper hoping friends would not see them.

Salado is a very special village. It is Our Town; no other village compares. We must not lose it; let anything destroy our friendship; and we must protect the past, manage the present, and design the future, together.

Construction is ending; roads repair beginning; quality, cost-effective planning underway; and the holidays approaching.

Our Village -- A bit of heaven on earth.

Afghanistan's Poppy Output Hits New Highs

Even fields of flowers have gotten the best of us in that land

I have breaking news from the frontlines of the war.

No, not the new war in Iraq. That really is Iraq War III for us -- our nation's third trip there in just 25 years. Maybe the third try will be the charm, though I really don't think there's anything charming about it.

Nor do I mean our wars in Syria, Pakistan, Yemen, or . . . oh, who can keep up?

Rather, I mean our oldest ongoing war and the longest in American history, now going on 13 years: Afghanistan.

This life-destroying, money-sucking, soul-sapping wreck of a military escapade hasn't gone at all well for Team USA. We've failed to crush the Taliban, plant the flower of democracy, or even slow the elite's culture of corruption.

And now I bring hard news about the most modest of American goals in Afghanistan, namely defeating the poppy flowers. Yes, even fields of flowers have gotten the best of us in that woeful land.

Jim Hightower

After the Bush-Cheney invasion, a top U.S. priority was to stop the planting of poppies -- the flower that produces opium and heroin. Afghanistan had become No. 1 in world opium production -- the sale of the drug financed the repressive Taliban forces we had come to defeat.

For a decade, our troops played a leading role in eradicating poppy fields, lectured farmers, paid officials and farmers to switch to alternative crops, and waged all-out war on the pretty flower that can turn lives so ugly.

Having spent more than 10 years and $7.6 billion on the war on Afghanistan's poppies, where are we?

More land than ever was dedicated to growing the flowers last year, reports John F. Sopko, the U.S. special inspector general for Afghanistan reconstruction. Those poppies yielded an all-time record harvest that generated some $3 billion in profits for the Taliban -- a $1 billion boost from 2012, Sopko revealed.

And Afghanistan remains the undisputed leader of the opium business, having provided 80 percent of the world's opium supply last year.

Just like the Iraq War, the war on Afghanistan's poppies looks like it will drag on for years without any winners.

It's time to take human trafficking seriously

By U.S. SEN. JOHN CORNYN

It is a horrifying story, but one that has become all too common.

By age 10, a young girl was being sold to men in bars. At 14, she escaped captivity as a sex slave and landed on the streets, penniless and alone, ultimately turning to a pimp who trafficked her for several years as a minor. This happened not in the dark corners of a Third World country, but right here in Dallas.

The victim was Melissa Woodward, and the details of her ordeal are harrowing. Today she is not a victim, but a survivor, and she shares her story with others in an effort to help both children and adults who have been similarly victimized. Her courage is remarkable, and her recovery, which she credits to "the grace of God," is nothing short of miraculous.

Melissa's story reflects a growing national crisis. All across the country — from Miami to Salem, Ore. — human traffickers have preyed on the most vulnerable members of our society. Indeed, the Global Slavery Index estimates that between 57,000 and 63,000 people are currently living in slavery in the United States. Additionally, experts estimate that close to 300,000 American children are now at risk of commercial sexual exploitation.

Unfortunately, despite these trends, trafficking is still not being treated as an urgent public concern. The people fighting to prevent this awful scourge, to stop it in its tracks, and to provide restoration to victims, still lack adequate resourcing and tools. For that matter, current law does not go far enough in bringing everyone responsible for these heinous crimes to justice.

With all that in mind, I have co-sponsored bipartisan legislation in the U.S. Senate that would shine a national spotlight on the crisis of human trafficking and take several important steps to apprehend the criminals and assist the victims.

The bill I introduced, along with Sen. Ron Wyden, D-Ore., is known as the Justice for Victims of Trafficking Act. It would boost federal support for the anti-trafficking work done by organizations such as For the Sake of One, the group founded by Melissa Woodward. The act would establish a Domestic Trafficking Victims' Fund, which would allocate tens of millions of dollars each year to combat human trafficking and to help the victims of these crimes rebuild their lives.

Our bill also would improve law-enforcement tools to crack down on criminal networks that engage in human trafficking, including those who knowingly contribute to the crime through the purchase of commercial sex with a child or victim. Too often, law-enforcement officials focus only on the sellers and suppliers of trafficking victims, while ignoring purchasers who create the demand that fuels this horrendous industry. My bill would help make sure that all human traffickers — buyers and sellers alike — are brought to justice.

Finally, it would improve the availability of restitution and witness assistance for trafficking victims by directing the proceeds of forfeited criminal assets to brave survivors in need of restoration.

The funding for this legislation would come entirely from the fines and penalties imposed on criminals convicted of child pornography, child prostitution, sexual exploitation, human trafficking or commercial human smuggling offenses at the federal level.

At a time when Republicans and Democrats cannot agree on much in Washington, the proposal has attracted broad bipartisan support. It was approved as an amendment by the Senate Judiciary Committee in a unanimous vote on Sept. 18, and a companion bill authored by Rep. Ted Poe, R-Humble, unanimously passed the House in May. I am hoping we can send it to President Barack Obama's desk as soon as possible.

Members of both parties understand that the fight against human trafficking is not a political issue; it is a humanitarian issue. We must do everything possible to support heroic survivors like Melissa Woodward as they help other victims break the cycle of exploitation, overcome the pain of their experiences, and start a new life.

crowd stood and cheered on every play. That touch-down made no difference in the outcome of the game, it made no difference in the grand view of their season but it made a difference to them. In my opinion, that was the epitome of Eagle Pride. The boys could've given up, mailed it in, accepted their fate and gone home but they chose to keep fighting. It was a very uplifting thing to witness and gave me such optimism for the character of our kids. My optimism isn't based on any hope for the football future of Salado, it's based on the character that our boys showed everyone. I'd like to see our boys wear their jerseys once more so that everyone in our community can have the opportunity to thank them for making us proud of something other than winning football games. We owe them a thank you for defining Eagle Pride and for fighting every week for the village they represent.

First Baptist fills shoe boxes for needy children

There is still time to pick up an empty shoe box and fill it with gifts for needy children through the Operation Christmas Child program.

Last year, First Baptist Church and community members collected 427 shoeboxes full of gifts to send to needy children around the world as part of Operation Christmas Child.

For the past dozen years, Saladoan Ron LeGuin has been coordinating the local Operation

Christmas Child project through the First Baptist Church of Salado.

The empty shoeboxes with suggested gift items can be picked up at Outlaws Cookshack at 100 North Church Street. and Salado Fitness Center on Thomas Arnold Rd. Shoeboxes with gifts should be returned to Outlaws Cookshack or Salado Fitness Center by Nov. 15. The church will deliver to the processing center for distribution world-wide.

Each empty shoe box comes with a list of suggested gift ideas for children ages 2-14. Gift givers can also fill their own shoeboxes. Plastic shoeboxes make an excellent container as the receiving child will then have a long lasting box for future use.

For more information call Ron LeGuin at 947-3351 or Ruth Caskey at 947-3652 or visit samaritanspurse.org/operation-christmas-child.

Mental Health campaign for service to teens and young adults kicks off Nov. 17

The Texas Department of State Health Services (DSHS) beginning Nov. 17, will be launching a new mental health awareness campaign focused on teens and young adults in the Salado/Waco/Temple/Belton/Killeen area, called Speak Your Mind Texas.

The event "Community Conversation on Teen & Young Adult Mental Health" is being presented by Heart of Texas Regional Advisory Council 5:30-7:30 p.m. Nov. 17 at Temple High School, Freshman Cafeteria, located at 415 N. 31st Street in Temple.

Participants will discuss mental health issues affecting their community, the warning signs of mental illness, substance abuse and the resources available to help youth who are struggling.

Beginning with the event in Temple, DSHS will work with local organizers to conduct town hall-style community conversations around the state in the coming months. The campaign is part of a grassroots movement to remove barriers to treatment, particularly among teens and young adults.

The Texas Legislature added more than $300 million in additional mental health funding for 2014-2015. The funds are being used to expand services, decrease wait lists, make improvements at the state's mental health hospitals, and develop targeted efforts for veterans and young people.

An estimated one in five Americans will experience a mental health issue during their lifetime, and one in 20 people will develop a serious mental illness. Mental illness often strikes early, with half of all lifetime cases beginning by age 14 and three-fourths by age 24. That's why Speak Your Mind, Texas is focusing on our state's youth and the people and organizations that support them.

DSHS encourages anyone in the Salado/Waco/

Temple/Belton/Killeen area who works with teens or young adults—parents, teachers, coaches, community leaders, church representatives, law enforcement, community-based organizations, etc.—to participate in the Speak Your Mind Texas community conversation in Temple. Participants will discuss mental health issues affecting their community, the warning signs of mental illness and substance abuse and the resources available to help youth who are struggling.

For more information, contact Chris VanDeusen with the Texas Department of State Health Services at Chris.VanDeusen@dshs.state.tx.us or (512) 776-7753.

Registration is free and open to all community members. Your can register at <https://templecc.eventbrite.com>

Genealogical Society meets Nov. 18 in Temple Library

"A Genealogist Should Expect to Encounter Unanticipated Twists in One's Research" will be presented by Dr. David Yielding at the East Bell County Genealogical Society meeting Nov. 18, at the Temple Public Library.

Dr. Yielding, a member of EBCGS, was born in Brownwood, Texas, but grew up mainly in Abilene. He earned his B. A. and M. A. Degrees in history from Hardin-Simmons University, and his Ph. D. from the University of North Texas, majoring in history.

Dr. Yielding married Donnie Cook in Copenhagen, Denmark, when he was an administrator with Central Texas College-Europe. After they returned to Texas, Donnie obtained a full-time job teaching in the Communications Department at CTC.

Christmas 1983 marks the beginning of his involvement in genealogy.

His mother requested his assistance in order for her to join the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Dr. Yielding accepted the request, and quickly found himself "hooked" on family research. He soon proved his mother's lineage from a Revolutionary War patriot, deepening his interest in family history.

Dr. Yielding has "dabbled" in genealogy for over 30 years, and still relishes it. During those decades, he has had his quota of ups and downs in tracing elusive ancestors, clarifying some and remaining in a quandary about others.

The East Bell County Genealogical Society's meetings are held on the third Tuesday of each month, 6:30 - 8 p.m., in the boardroom, 3rd floor, Temple Public Library, 100 North First Street, Temple TX. Meetings are open to the public.

Laying of wreaths to honor the Veterans held Nov. 29

Show support of America's veterans by volunteering to assist the Friends of Central Texas State Veterans Cemetery (FCTSVC) for the annual holiday wreath project. Each year family members and community volunteers gather to prepare and then lay a wreath on each gravesite at the cemetery to remain on display during the holiday season.

"In laying a wreath in our cemetery, we lay a wreath for all veterans throughout the world," said Jean Shine, president of FCTSVC.

Saturday, Nov. 22 is the wreath preparation at 10 a.m. in the Killeen Special Events Center at 3601 S WS Young Drive. Community members gather and quickly prepare all the wreaths for the ceremony on the following Saturday. Preparation includes attaching the bow and assuring that each wreath is in proper condition for display.

The Saturday following Thanksgiving, Nov. 29 the placement ceremony will be held. The small, simple ceremony begins at 10 a.m. and then 3 separate groups of people lay wreaths on gravesites. The first group will lay large wreaths on the monuments that represent all of the Ft. Hood soldiers who died during the current wars – even those not buried at the cemetery. Next, family members will lay a wreath on their loved ones gravesite. Last of all, the group of community volunteers will fill in the thousands of graves that don't have representatives present.

Jean Shine wants to make sure everyone knows that volunteers are needed for this project. "Please help us ensure that everyone is remembered this holiday season," Shine said.

Before the ceremony the wreaths are escorted to the cemetery by various motorcycle clubs and community riders. Non-motorcycle escorts are welcome to join; anyone who wants to escort the wreaths needs to meet at Towne Services (3101 E Veterans Memorial Blvd in Killeen) at 8 a.m. Nov. 29. The wreaths will be retrieved for storage 2 p.m. Jan. 4.

This is an annual ceremony and the need for volunteers grows each year. The Central Texas State Veterans Cemetery opened in 2006 and currently is the resting place for approximately 6,000 veterans and family members. The cemetery serves a 100-mile radius which includes veterans in 44 counties. FCTSVC accepts monetary donations year round at www.wreathsforvets.org.

The Friends of the Central Texas State Veterans Cemetery is a non-profit organization that raises funds and donations to support the purchase, laying and storage of holiday wreaths.

Dearly Beloved takes stage

Salado High Theatre Department will present two performances of its fall comedy, Dearly Beloved, at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 13 and Nov. 20 in the High School cafeteria.

The play is a Southern comedy and is a family-friendly show. Tickets are $5 and help raise money for UIL One Act Play.

The Futrelle Sisters, Frankie, Honey Raye and Twink, are throwing a wedding. Frankie has almost made herself sick with elaborate preparations for her daughter Tina Jo's antebellum-inspired wedding, and the rumor mill in their small town of Fayro, Texas, is working overtime. No surprise there, the Futrelle Sisters have never been strangers to gossip. After all, they did survive the scandalous breakup of their almost-famous gospel singing trio, The Sermonettes.

Honey Rae (Kimberly Clay) prepares for the wedding dinner in the SHS production of Dearly Beloved.

FFA Students raise funds by selling holiday goods

Salado FFA is taking orders for meats, cases of fruit and desserts in time for your Christmas celebrations. Orders are due by Nov. 20.

Salado FFA has sold holiday hams and turkeys as a fundraiser since Salado High School was in the red brick school on Main Street. In recent years Salado FFA has partnered with River Star Farms in Mission, Texas to provide a selection of hams, turkeys, bacon and sausage products to Salado. Cases of fruit and bags of pecans and peanuts are available.

This year a selection of mini pizzas and desserts such as cake rolls, cheesecakes, cookie doughs and cobbles are also available.

This fundraiser pays travel expenses for the many competition teams of Salado FFA and chapter expenses such as materials and student awards.

Salado FFA students have order forms or you can email the FFA sponsors at tara.beaty@saladoisd.org to have a student contact you.

SHS softball sells brisket, turkey to raise funds for hitting areas

Salado Softball will raise funds this year to build eight new hitting areas around the batting cages and new bullpens for our pitchers.

The teams will be selling smoked turkey breasts and briskets for their fundraiser. Ranch Custom Caters who cooked for the Athletic Booster Club Reverse Raffle this year will also cook for the softball fundraiser.

Smoked Briskets for $75 and smoked Turkey Breasts for $45.

The first pick up date will be 4-6:30 p.m. Nov. 25. The second pick up date will be 4-6:30 p.m.

Dec. 22. Both pick up dates will be at the Softball field.

All orders including payment are due one week ahead of scheduled pick up: Nov. 18 or Dec. 15.

The Smithville Tigers ran over the Salado Eagles' hope of notching a win, beating the Eagles 48-7 Nov. 7 and earning a playoff berth from District 11-4A-II.

For the Tigers, it was their second win of the season and only win in District play. But UIL sends the top four teams in a district to the playoffs. Eight of the 16 4A-II districts across the state have five teams. The other eight 4A-II districts have six teams. Of the 88 teams in 4A-II football in Texas, 24 will be staying home this week.

The Tigers, as the fourth place team in District 11-4A-II will face the District Champions from District 12-4A-II, the Bellville Brahmas (9-1,4-0).

The LaGrange Leopards (10-0, 4-0), the District Champions for 11-4A-II and ranked in the top five in Texas 4A football, will face the Columbus Cardinals (3-7, 1-3), the fourth-placed team from District 12-4A-II in the first round of the playoffs. The Cardinals qualified for the playoffs with a win over Brookshire Royals. They lost to LaGrange 29-6 in the second week of the season. Caldwell (6-4, 3-1) will face Sweeny (6-4, 2-2), the third-place team from District 12-4A-II in the first round. Giddings (6-4, 2-2) will face Wharton (7-3, 2-2), the second place team from 12-4A-II.

In beating Salado last week, the Tigers had 370 yards total offense, 216 of it on the ground. They scored touchdowns in every quarter, including three in the second quarter for a 27-0 halftime lead. The Tigers scored on short runs by D.J. Chandler, Dameron Zapeda and Garrett Mathis. Marvin Lewis caught a 23 yard pass from Mathis in the second quarter.

Mathis connected with Zapeda for an 11 yard touchdown and Chandler scored his second touchdown on a three yard run in the third quarter to give the Tigers a 41-0 lead.

Jatorre White scored on an 8 yard run in the fourth and Jesus Velez kicked his sixth extra points of the night for the 48-0 lead.

Salado got on the board when Jacob Wilk found Jacob Quick on a 12 yard pass late in the game.

The Eagles had 113 yards total offense, 63 on the ground. Kyle King carried the ball 13 times for 40 yards to lead Salado. Cade Courtemanche led the Tigers with 122 yards on 10 carries.

Wilk was 5-of-14 passing for 50 yards and two interceptions. Mathis was 9-of-12 for 154 yards passing.

Quick caught three passes for 37 yards for Salado.

Freshmen win

Salado Freshmen Eagles finished their season with a big win over the Smithville Freshmen Tigers, beating the 46-28 on Nov. 6.

Trey Sheppard scored five of the six touchdowns for Salado and all of the two point conversions. Armando Castillo scored a touchdown. Sheppard was the offensive MVP. "He ran like a beast," Coach Jacob Wilk breaks away from the Smithville defense.

Chad Krempin said.

"It was a true team effort on defense," Coach Scott Ringo said of his players.

"We were almost always the smallest team on the field, but we always had the largest will to win," Coach Kenny Mann said. "This freshmen class is a group of winners. They finished the year 7-3.

Due to injuries, Salado JV players were moved up to the Varsity team to play the last two games of the season for the Eagles. The JV team closed their season out with two wins and eight losses.

Bell County Youth Fair preparations, 4-H enrollment

Bell County Youth Fair is an important part of the Bell County 4-H program! Bell County Youth Fair is a great way for 4-H members to use all the skills they have learned in 4-H and make and exhibit those items. The Bell County Youth Fair is one of the largest Youth Fairs and Stock Shows with over 3,456 Agriculture Exhibits and 3,545 FCS Exhibits each year. The Bell County Youth Fair is February 7-14, 2015.

Preparation for these events is year round. As soon as the BCYF is done for the year, many of the 4-H members are already planning for the next year. Here are a few things each 4-H member needs to consider before the Bell County ty Youth Fair is here:

All 4-H members must be enrolled no later than Dec. 10 to participate in the Bell County Youth Fair. Their entries will not be accepted at the County level if they are not enrolled by this date. There is a 2 meeting rule also in effect for all 4-H members. They must attend two meetings from August to December in their primary 4-H Club. This is the club they sign up for in 4-H Connect (and selected as primary in the system).

Validations are also an important part of your project. All animals have to be validated to enter the Bell County Youth Fair. Some of these validations have already taken place, but some are still going on and will continue throughout January. Swine validation is 4-8 p.m. Nov. 24-25 at the Bell County Expo Center. Get your animals now and get them validated to show! All these rules are included in your Bell County Youth Fair rulebook that you receive from a 4-H Club Manager. Heidi Prude is the Natural Resources Agent and works directly with all 4-H animal projects, so if you have any questions, please contact Heidi and she would be happy to help you.

Remember that enrolling on 4-H Connect does not mean you are register and entered for BCYF. Entries are due to your club manager by their set deadline. They have to have their entries completed and turned in the first part of December. Make sure you have completed all your entry forms and given your money to your club manager to enter by their deadline. Also if you have any food items, you will receive a food container for your food. Those will be sorted and given to Club Managers as early as Dec. 12.

If you have not started preparing for the Bell County Youth Fair, Thanksgiving and Christmas is a great way to try new recipes and practice with friends and family members. You can take some great pictures during the holidays. Practice making your food so you can make it better.

Make sure and weigh your animals regularly so they are at the weight they need to be. Pay attention to withdraw times for medications for your animals. You should already have canned your foods or you probably need to get it done now. Those that sew or do arts and crafts should start so you are not sewing up until that last hour of turning it in. It is great idea to also practice by making those arts and crafts as decorations for Christmas or as gifts for friends and family.

NEW this year! After completing your entries and turning them into your 4-H club manager, you will need to upload your photographs online. This entry process will be open from Jan. 5-12, 2015. You are required to have an entry ID number to enter and you cannot enter a photo you did not enter through your entries. This will be a significant cost saver for all 4-H families because you will not have to print the photos and put on foam board and velcro them.

For more information about Bell County 4-H, please call the Bell County Extension Office at 933-5305 or email Micah Holcombe, 4-H Agent, at mlholcombe@ag.tamu.edu. You can also look up 4-H on the internet by going to: <http://agrilife.org/bell4h/>. On the front page will be instructions on how to enroll in 4-H for the new year!

Report finds 900,000 Texas kids are without health insurance

By JOHN MICHAELSON
TEXAS NEWS SERVICE

AUSTIN, Texas - The number of Texas children without health insurance continues to slowly drop, but a new analysis also shows the state continues to have one of the highest rates of uninsured children in the nation - and warns that trouble could be on the horizon.

A main concern going forward is whether Congress will vote to extend funding for the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP). Laura Guerra-Cardus, associate director of the Children's Defense Fund-Texas, says the situation is critical.

"We've really had a generation of kids who have benefited from CHIP," she says. "We should make sure the next generation of kids gets the same opportunity so that they can succeed in school and in life."

Joan Alker, executive director of the Georgetown Center for Children and Families, says the rate of uninsured children in Texas fell from 13.2 percent to 12.6 percent between 2011 and 2013.

Despite that small decline, Alker says there are still nearly 900,000 children in the state without health insurance, according to the Children's Coverage at a Crossroads report she co-authored.

A new report finds that close to 900,000 children in Texas are without health insurance, although the rate did fall slightly over the last few years.

"Children in working families living on the brink of poverty are those that have the highest rate of 'uninsurance,' compared to other income groups," says Alker.

According to Guerra-Cardus, children in those high-risk families could be helped if Texas were to accept federal funding to expand Medicaid - as uninsured children with parents who are covered are more likely to receive needed preventive care along with other health services.

Salado Historical Society

St. Joseph's will be on Christmas tour

The storybook presence of St. Joseph's Episcopal Church takes its place on the 2014 Christmas tour Dec. 5-7 sponsored by the Salado Historical Society.

The beautiful courtyard and cozy interior of the church had humble beginnings, but the gleaming stained glass windows set amongst the wooden ceiling and pews lend an atmosphere of reverence and beauty, reminding visitors of the true meaning behind the celebration of the Christmas holiday. The church has experienced quite the transformation during its short history.

Tyler Fletcher was instrumental in getting the Salado church started. The church is located just behind Fletcher's Books which also includes his private living quarters.

St. Joseph's Chappel and the adjacent meeting hall (inset) welcome visitors.

Fletcher, who was youth director for St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Belton in the mid-1990s, talked about having a chapel in Salado for the use of the E.Y.C. (Episcopal Youth Churchmen) of St. Luke's. In the summer of 1995, he converted a storage shed behind Fletcher's Books into a tiny chapel. Four antique pews from the original St. Luke's church and a simple altar made up the furnishings. In 1996, The Rev. Joseph Sheldon celebrated the Ash Wednesday liturgy in the little chapel. This was the beginning of the weekly celebration of the Eucharist in quiet, contemplative services each Tuesday at 9:30 a.m..

During the spring and summer of 1998, members of St. Joseph's met in private homes while the building was being enlarged under the direction of Tim Brown of Salado. Additional pews, and a suspended sanctuary lamp made by Lonnie Edwards of Salado were acquired with funds gathered by the congregation. Father Joe and Mildred Sheldon presented a hand-made ceramic paten to the chapel. A pair of antique French Eucharistic candle sticks were placed on permanent loan by Sandra and Lonnie Edwards. Sandra also carved the threshold stones and donated them to the chapel. A large antique plaster statue of St. Joseph was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Les Johnson of Austin. A statue of St. Mary, formerly in the Incarnate Word Academy in San Antonio, was given by Fletcher in memory of his grandmother, who was an alumna of that institution. On Saturday, March 20, 1999, St. Joseph's Chapel was dedicated as a Parish Mission of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Belton.

The stained glass windows were purchased from various churches throughout Central Texas and incorporated into the chapel as though they were specifically made for it. The chapel grounds include a walking path frequently used for meditation. Despite the proximity to the busy I-35 corridor, the path provides an air of peace and tranquility. The bell tower and its surrounding foliage offer picturesque opportunities for memorable photographs.

Currently, the church is realizing a growth in its congregation. A Parish Hall, located on the adjacent property, was recently purchased and renovated to accommodate large meetings and assemblies. Renovations included extensive remodeling to a now very modern kitchen with state of the art appliances.

St. Joseph's Episcopal Church is one of seven stops on the Homes Tour. Other stops include these: the home of Drs. Gene and Susan Terry, the home of Jack Husung, the historic Farr Home owned by George and Laura Kocian, the home of Joe and Dottie Oliver, the home of Garrison Kent and Marty Ross and the historic Boles-Aiken Cabin and Denman Cabin on the grounds of the Salado Civic Center.

The Christmas Tour of Homes hours: Friday, Dec. 5: 5-8 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 6: 10-5 p.m., and Sunday, Dec. 7: 1-5 p.m. Tickets (and reservations for tickets) for the tour are available at the Salado Tourist Office (831 N. Main St., Phone 254-947-8634). Tickets purchased before Thanksgiving (11/27) are $12 while children 11 and under are free. After Thanksgiving the ticket price will be $15.

SERVING CENTRAL TEXAS FOR OVER 38 YEARS

November CTAS Public Star Parties

The Central Texas Astronomical Society will host free public star parties on Saturday, November 15, 5:30 - 8:30 p.m. at Overlook Park near Belton, the Waco Wetlands outside Waco, and at the Hubbard City Lakes Park in Hubbard. CTAS members will provide telescopes to view the visible planets and a selection of star clusters, nebulas, and galaxies.

The four bright stars Alpheratz, Scheat, Algenib, and Markab form an easily recognizable square pattern in the night sky known as the Great Square of Pegasus. Red giant Scheat is 100 times larger than our sun and changes brightness on a 30 day cycle. Globular cluster Messier 15 is one of the most densely packed globulars known in the Milky Way Galaxy, with more than 100,000 stars located in a sphere 150 light years in diameter. M15 is located in the constellation Pegasus and was the first globular cluster found to contain a planetary nebula.

Bright star Almach, in the constellation Andromeda, is actually a beautiful double star, consisting of one red giant and a greenish-blue star that slowly orbit each other. The Andromeda Galaxy (M31) is the most distant object visible to the naked eye. M31 is 150 light years in diameter and 2.5 million light years distant. Messier 33 is a face-on spiral galaxy located 3 million light years away in the constellation Andromeda.

They will look at these and many other celestial objects this month. Visit www.centexastronomy.org, for more information and directions to the site closest to you. A flashlight and a lawn chair can make moving around easier in the dark and viewing more comfortable. If this event is cancelled due to weather, a cancellation notice will be posted on the CTAS website homepage by 5 p.m.

Gault School Memberships

The Gault School of Archaeological Research has had a productive year in 2014 and expect 2015 to be even better. This year GSAR began working in earnest on a publication that will cover the oldest technologies at the Gault site, surveyed and tested more than 20 sites in Central Texas, published and presented more than 40 times in conferences, books and journals, gave talks and tours of the Gault site to 5,000 people, and gave more than 2,000 hours of lab and field experience to students. In 2015, GSAR expects to start at least three new projects; one looking at Older-than-Clovis, one at the Continental Shelf, and the third on a possible bison jump.

In addition, there are many new writing projects in the works and several outstanding grant proposals that may bring new equipment and techniques to the lab. Becoming part of the GSAR team, will help change how archaeologists view the prehistory of the Western Hemisphere and giving valuable new insights into human behaviors.

Memberships and donations can be made on the website at www.gaultschool.org, download a membership form and mail it in or contact the GSAR office directly at PO Box 2620 San Marcos, TX 78667 512-245-8734. The Gault site is located southwest of Salado.

Keep Pets Happy and Healthy this Holiday Season

(StatePoint) The holiday season can mean new routines, new décor and new foods in your home. While these temporary changes can be exciting for people, they can be hazardous to pets.

"The extended holiday season is no excuse to take a vacation from being a great pet parent," says Dr. Jeff Werber, Hollywood's Vet to the Stars.

Keeping your dog happy and healthy this holiday season is easy, Werber says. He is sharing some seasonal tips.

- Keep curious pets focused: Most pets will be curious about the tinsel, ornaments and ribbons of the season. Since most decorations are not pet-friendly, keep them beyond reach and take necessary precautions and keep your pets focused on something they truly enjoy.

If your dog begs at the table every night, chances are they'll be begging at the holiday dinner table. With new people over and different kinds of food falling to the floor, it'll be important to prevent distractions during dinner. Use healthy treats, such as Greenies, as a training tool to keep your dog away from guests' dinner plates.

- Give recognizable gifts: A whopping 85 percent of pet parents buy their dog a holiday present, according to the 2014 Greenies: Dog Owners Survey. In order for your pet to be as thrilled about their stocking as you are, give them the same treat before the holiday -- so that it's more familiar and better received.

This year, consider giving a gift that promotes good health. While nearly half of all dog owners have turned away from a kiss from a dog because of its bad breath, more than a quarter say they don't brush their dog's teeth at all. And bad breath isn't just unpleasant; it can be a sign of poor dental health or dental disease. Consider giving your dog a dental chew that carries the Veterinary Oral Health Council Seal of Acceptance for control of plaque and tartar, such as Greenies Canine Dental Chews. They are the number one veterinarian-recommended dental chews and are available in special Season's Greenies holiday packaging around this time of year.

- Give your pet extra love: During the holidays your routine will likely change. Your dog will be able to tell, but not know why. As you are out shopping or attending a holiday party, your pet might be missing out on his usual attention. Show your pet some love by setting some time aside for daily play time or an extra walk. Or give them their favorite treat.

More pet health tips and resources can be found at www.Greenies.com.

The holidays are all about sharing time with friends and family. In the shuffle, don't forget your beloved pet!
