KSB, PALS rededicate Sculpture Garden as a new Village Park

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Saladoans gathered for the Rededication of the Sculpture Garden as a Village Park Nov. 17, following actions by the Board of Aldermen that has brought what started as a private effort of Keep Salado Beautiful and Public Arts League of Salado under the umbrella of Village government.

Following the rededication and ribbon cutting by the Salado Chamber of Commerce and Tourism Bureau, supporters gathered for a reception in the warmth of Salado Wine Seller, where they enjoyed Texas wines and cheeses.

The action taken by aldermen is similar to that taken when the Village took over operations of Pace Park on behalf of the Pace Park Foundation. Yet, it is quite different in that the Village will contract with the KSB and PALS to continue their work in the Sculpture Garden, located on Salado Plaza Dr. on property owned by Salado Storage, LLC and the Presbyterian Church of Salado.

The Village will lease the property from the land owners for $1 per year. In a sublease, the Village will then lease out the property to KSB and PALS for the same amount.

Under the primary lease, the Village will maintain liability insurance under its umbrella policy, which was the motivating factor in KSB and PALS approaching the Village in July about the proposal. Another factor was the loss of income to KSB when the local Saturday recycling program came to an end.

Finally, a license for the use of the property allows KSB and PALS to place art on the property. KSB and PALS will maintain the property.

In an earlier vote on Nov. 6, aldermen approved an agreement with KSB to provide programs and services to the Village for $5.00 per year.

Keep Salado Beautiful, Public Arts League of Salado and the Salado Chamber of Commerce and Tourism Bureau rededicated the Sculpture Garden as a Village Park with Mayor Skip Blancett and alderman Amber Preston-Dankert present on Nov. 17.

Village aldermen approve financial agreements for sewer bond, road engineering contracts

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Salado aldermen at their Nov. 13 meeting approved agreements with SAMCO Capital Markets, Inc. for financial advisory services for the issuance and sales of bonds and with Andrews Kurth LLP to act as Bond Counsel on behalf of the Village and the Central Texas Council of Governments to act as grant administrator for $1.5 million grant from Economic Development Administration.

This was the board's first official action after members officially canvassed the results of the Nov. 4 election in which voters approved the proposition to allow the Village to issue $10.55 million in bonds for the construction of a sewer system.

The board adopted the resolutions that approved the agreements for the financial advisory services and for Bond Counsel as part of its Consent Agenda. In the agreement with SAMCO Capital Markets, Inc. for financial advisory services, SAMCO will be paid an hourly rate of $250 for services that include preparing information for an open market bond sale, funding through the Texas Water Development Board or any other funding source; surveying the financial resources of the Village to determine the extent of its borrowing capacity preparing recommendations and advice on current bond market conditions, forthcoming bond issues that will influence interest rates; coordinating the notice of sale and offering statement; making recommendations on the bond ratings; disseminating information to prospective bidders; delivering definitive debt records and coordinating the entire program of financing.

All financial advisory fees will be negotiated for each individual project by a committee of the Village that includes the Mayor and at least one aldermen.

Aldermen also approved a resolution to approve an agreement with Andrews Kurth LLP to serve as Bond Counsel for the Village.

Andrews Kurth will prepare legal proceedings and legal work for the authorization, issuance and sale of each series of obligation, evaluate legal matter, prepare ordinances, attend meeting to discuss the sizing, timing or sale of each series, supervise printing of each series, review certified proceeding, attend bond sale, closing and other meetings. Andrews Kurth will be paid fees for each series of obligations based upon $1 per $1,000 of proceed with a minimum fee of $25,000 for each series of obligations. For revenue or refunding bonds, the fee is $1.35 for each $1,000 proceeds.

Aldermen approved an interlocal agreement with CTCOG naming the CTCOG-Development

District of Central Texas as the Grant Administrator of the Economic Development Administration Public Works Grant for the Village of Salado should that grant be awarded.

In October, aldermen approved a resolution submitting an application with the Economic Development Administration for a cooperative agreement grant for $1.5 million and authorized matching local funds. This grant was prepared by CTCOG for the Village.

In other business, aldermen approved a professional services agreement with Kasberg, Patrick and Associates, LP for $61,500 for engineering services for the reconstruction of Salado Plaza Drive, Mill Creek Drive and Thomas Arnold Rd.

Aldermen approved an annual street maintenance program for 2014-15 at their Nov. 6 meeting that directed staff to secure the engineering contract proposal to design, prepare bids, perform bid analysis and perform reconstruction of Salado Plaza Drive, Mill Creek Drive and Thomas Arnold Drive; prepare an interlocal agreement with Bell County to perform seal coating on Royal Street, Baines Street and Chisholm Trail and to initiate and conduct a crack sealing program to prepare other roads for future seal coating.

The reconstruction of Salado Plaza Dr. Mill Creek Drive and Thomas Arnold Road is estimated at $300,000. An alternate bid will be sought for the construction of ribbon curbs on approximately 30 feet of Mill Creek Drive for heavy truck turning areas.

The cost estimate for the seal coating program on Royal and Baines Streets and Chisholm Trail is $60,000.

The road committee, chaired by Alderman Michael McDougal, determined that there are approximately 60 lane miles that should be crack sealed as a maintenance. The committee recommended that the Village undertake this over a three-year period, crack sealing 220 lane miles per year. The cost estimate for crack sealing is estimated at $10,000 per year.

In 2014-15, $200,000 was budgeted for street improvements, the same amount that was budgeted in 2013-14, but was not spent. The carry-over street funds will bring the total streets budget for 2014-15 to $400,000.

Aldermen also appointed Ron Coleman to serve an unexpired term on the Village Planning and Zoning Commission.

Aldermen will meet only one time next month. The board will meet at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 11 so that aldermen can participate in the Dec. 4 Salado Christmas Stroll Parade. Meetings are usually on the first and third Thursday at 6:30 p.m.

Texas key in effort to reduce premature births

By JOHN MICHAELSON
TEXAS NEWS SERVICE

HOUSTON - The latest figures show the pre-term birth rate in Texas continues to fall, but the progress is slow and that could hamper goals nationwide for healthier babies. As of last year, the U.S. premature birth rate had fallen to 11.4 percent. In Texas the rate was nearly a percent higher, says Dr. Charleta Guillory, neonatologist at Texas Children's Hospital.

"We have a very high rate of premature births," says Guillory. "Because you have about four-million deliveries in the country, 400,000 here in Texas, we knew we really had to make a dent in that number in order to decrease prematurity nationwide."

The March of Dimes is leading the campaign to reduce the nation's pre-term birth rate, with a goal of 9.6 percent or less by 2020.

Often, the specific cause of premature birth isn't clear, but factors that may increase the risk include smoking, some infections and some chronic conditions such as high blood pressure and diabetes. Guillory says further understanding of the risk factors and reducing the number of babies being born too soon can save billions of dollars in health and society costs.

"If you have a 24-week-old infant, that baby may stay in the hospital anywhere from three to six months - and if you have complications, even longer than that," says Guillory. "That means the parents are dealing with life and death almost every day in the neonatal intensive care unit."

Premature birth is the leading cause of newborn death, and babies who survive often face the risk of serious and sometimes lifelong health issues. They include breathing problems, developmental delays, vision loss and cerebral palsy.

Bigger threat than Ebola Factory farms are breeding antibiotic-resistant bacteria

By NICOLE McCANN AND ANNA MEYER

Despite all the panic, Americans don't face any great risk from Ebola right now. But we do need to worry about a home-grown medical catastrophe of our own that we're failing to address: the erosion of antibiotic effectiveness.

Doctors prescribe antibiotics to treat a broad array of infections that can otherwise prove fatal. While the drugs are being grossly overused, diminishing their power to heal, hospitals aren't to blame — factory farms are.

Most U.S. livestock are being raised today in concentrated animal feeding operations (CAFO). At these factory farms, antibiotics get routinely doled out to stave off the diseases that might otherwise quickly spread due to overcrowded, unnatural, and unsanitary living conditions.

This overuse is rendering these lifesaving drugs less effective by accelerating the evolution of bacteria that are resistant to antibiotics.

Now that they've infiltrated our food system, those bacteria are endangering human health and are taking a bite out of the national economy. Antibiotic-resistant bacteria cause prolonged infections in thousands of Americans each year, resulting in $20 billion in annual health care costs and over $35 billion in lost economic productivity, according to the Centers for Disease Control.

Nearly a quarter of these infections originate from food-borne pathogens.

It's not like no one warned us this might happen. In 1945, Alexander Fleming — the biologist who won a Nobel Prize for discovering penicillin — cautioned that misusing antibiotics would spur the development of superbugs.

As U.S. agriculture became increasingly industrialized, its leaders ignored Fleming's warning.

Agribusiness now uses antibiotics with abandon. Livestock and poultry consume an astounding 80 percent of the 29 million pounds of antibiotics used each year in the United States. Entire herds receive daily doses to stave off disease and promote growth — two things that would happen naturally if animals had better liv-

Extortion as Conciliation

In a fit of postelection modesty, President Barack Obama is offering not to take executive action to amnesty millions of illegal immigrants -- provided Republicans do his bidding on immigration.

It is extortion as conciliation. New Jersey Gov. Chris Christie often invites comparisons to "The Sopranos," but it is President Obama who is making a tactic out of the HBO mob drama his major postelection initiative. His bipartisan outreach now ends with a pointed "Or else ..."

This offer Republicans can't refuse includes the stipulation that the president will revoke his executive action in the event they pass legislation to his liking. How generous of him.

Obama's tack on immigration speaks to a president who is out of sorts and out of step, and recognizes his own political impotence. Unable to build a political case for one of his chief second-term priorities, he has to fall back on executive usurpation.

Prior to the election, the president delayed his threatened amnesty -- perhaps legalizing millions of immigrants -- because it might harm Democrats. It still became an election issue, with Republicans hammering away at it and winning resoundingly.

This electoral rebuke might give a less high-handed president pause. Not President Obama.

The president says that he'd still "prefer" that Congress itself change the immigration laws. For him, this is a positively Madisonian expression of respect for the American constitutional scheme.

President Obama is distressed that the Senate passed an immigration bill by a wide, bipartisan margin and the House refused to take it up. Fine. That is his right. He has legitimate means to respond.

For one, he could have barnstormed the country for amnesty during the election campaign, seeking to defeat officeholders and candidates who don't share his view on immigration. This is how legislative majorities are built. With the election past, he can still build the political case for an amnesty and pressure House Republicans to act. If he could turn up the political heat enough, he might make House Speaker John Boehner buckle.

When it comes down to it, fiat is the only means for President Obama to reliably get his way. His promised executive action is a substitute for democratic politics, not an exercise in it.

No matter how frustrated the president is, there is no Chagrined and Impatient Clause in the Constitution that allows him to effectively make his own laws when he is irked at Congress. If so, Congress would have been neutered at the beginning. American presidents have been irked at Congress for as long as there have been presidents and a Congress. What President Obama is threatening is not only politically graceless -- a rude gesture at the public, as Ron Fournier of the National Journal puts it -- it is a profound distortion of the mechanisms of American government.

Learn more about The Sanctuary

The Sanctuary Development meetings are important and offer a good venue to ask questions and offer suggestions. The first meeting was 11 November in the Community Room, Library. The room, packed with citizens and Sanctuary planners, asked 33 recorded questions that hit the full spectrum of community development. These questions were put into 6 themes by Madison Inselmann, Director of Development, Sanctuary.

Sanctuary and Salado. The Developer feels that linking Main Street to FM 2268 is very important. There will be roads, trails, and parks to achieve this goal.

Residences. Sanctuary is planning an assisted living residence as well as single homes designed around the Park System.

Mayor Skip Blancett

Homes range: $225,000 to $850,000.

Annexation. In the future Salado and Sanctuary will discuss annexation.

Active Life Style. Sanctuary is planning a pro-pedestrian design, with park and trail space that provides the circulatory system of the community as well as the connection to the Village. A Wellness Center and a community garden are planned. Medical facilities are planned.

Boutique Hotel. Sanctuary believes that such a hotel will stand as an anchor to Music Venue. They also believe it will expand multi-day-tourism in Salado.

Project Time Line – Sanctuary will begin construction in 2015 on Assisted Living, Town Core, and some Residential.

Sanctuary developers think it's absolutely critical to bring to the Village a development that amplifies the existing culture and history of the area.

They are publishing a Facebook page as well as working with their website so that each will have the meeting information as well as the meeting recaps.

The meetings, hosted by Sanctuary, are for sharing and gathering information. Concerns are voiced in a positive manner and answered as directly as possible. The first meeting set a high standard of discussion.

High-Status Sad Sacks America's overworked upper-1-percenters are stressed out.

Here's something that might not have occurred to you: It's not easy being rich.

Well, yes, there are all those things that money can buy to alleviate the burden of fabulous wealth — things like servants, summers in Provence, private jets, and such.

But as an article in the "Wealth" section of The New York Times reminds us, money buys things, not happiness — and America's poor upper-one-percenters aren't happy.

The chief source of super-rich sadness? Overwork.

It seems that vaunted CEOs and Wall Street titans feel as though they're always on the clock, expected to be in charge of every little facet of their business.

Before you fall into uncontrollable weeping over their suffering, let me give you the good news: Whole flocks of psychologists, neuroscientists, and other healers are rushing to conquer this tragic malaise of the rich.

They've even coined a term for it: the "stress of high status."

The main symptom, we're told, is "the feeling of always being rushed for time."

Excuse me, but if all these soothers of the elite think high status is demanding, they should get out more. Try being a single mom with a couple of kids who's juggling two part-time fast-food jobs, worrying about making the rent this month, and then having her car break down.

Yet the Times devotes a full page to the pseudo-misery of these pampered ones, even citing a prominent psychologist who laments that wealthy people "spend less time doing pleasurable things and more time doing compulsory things and feeling overwhelmed."

More time doing "compulsory things" than that single mom? Get a grip!

The sickness that has infected the wealthy class isn't stress. It's narcissism.

ing conditions and weren't crammed into factory farms.

Antibiotics abuse reflects the truly awful conditions farm animals endure today.

The extreme crowding of livestock increases animal stress, produces vast concentrations of manure, and makes good hygiene virtually impossible — all of which invite pathogens to multiply.

Throw in vast quantities of antibiotics, and it's no surprise that factory farms are hotspots for antibiotic-resistant bacteria. Moreover, since manure from factory farms is often used to fertilize fruits and vegetables, these bacteria can be delivered straight to the mouths of consumers.

Antibiotic-resistant bacteria have become so prevalent that even animals raised without antibiotics may still be carriers. That's why the Centers for Disease Control, along with many medical organizations, are calling for an end to the "non-therapeutic" use of antibiotics.

Many European nations have seen antibiotic-resistant bacteria decline since implementing such bans. The United States should follow their lead before we wind up facing an epidemic.

As a consumer, you can do your part by choosing to buy certified organic dairy products and meats, as the farmers who sell them don't use non-therapeutic antibiotics.

Every one has the power to put stores, brands, and lawmakers on notice that we need to save antibiotics for treating illnesses.

Art Wadford, Worshipful Master of Salado Lodge #296 A.F.&A.M., presented the award to Culbertson for his many years of service to the fraternity. The Golden Trowel is the highest award that can be given to a member by a Lodge. Culbertson was made a Master Mason on July 21, 1994 at Hancock Lodge #311 in Kansas. He joined Salado Lodge #296 on October 5, 1998. He served as Master of the Lodge in 2004-2005 and again in 2006-2007. He served as Secretary of the Lodge from June 2009 through July 12 2014. At every fund raiser, Will has been an integral part, whether it is lending a hand cooking, serving in the hottest part of the summer at the Salado Art Fairs, or the cold days of November for the Gathering of the Clans. He has handed out bookmarks to students, served up countless plates of fish and bowls of chili to raise funds for scholarships and school groups and been there whenever he was needed. ## CTC host Thomas and Roueche in concert

The Central Texas College (CTC) Fine Arts department will host its fall semester Guest Artist Performance 7:30 p.m. Nov. 24 featuring vocalists Michael Thomas and Michelle Roueche. The concert will be held in the LBJ auditorium (Bldg. 112) on campus.

Both singers will present a recital program highlighting the vocal music of different eras and genres. Works performed will be from oratorio, opera, art song and musical theatre and include compositions by Handel, Mozart, Brahms and Ravel.

Thomas, a lyric baritone, has sung with symphonies and opera companies across the country. He has performed with composer Paco Peña, appeared with the Phoenix Bach Choir and was a guest artist with the prestigious Bach Aria Institute in New York. His repertoire includes Count Almaviva from Le Nozze di Figaro, Masetto from Don Giovanni, Bluebeard from Bluebeard's Castle, the Vicar from Albert Herring, as well as the baritone solos from most of the oratorio repertoire. Most recently, he has performed the baritone solos in Brahms'

Michael Thomas and Michelle Roueche.

Requiem, Orff's Carmina Burana, Haydn's Lord Nelson Mass, Handel's Messiah and Beethoven's Ninth Symphony. Thomas currently serves as director of the CTC Chorus and adjunct faculty member of the CTC Music department teaching ear training, sight singing and individual voice lessons.

Roueche, director of choral studies at the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor, began accompanying professionally at the age of 12 and earned a vocal coaching degree with John Wustman, Luciano Pavarotti's coach and accompanist. She has collaborated with some of America's foremost opera singers including Susan Graham, Mary Jane Johnson and Kristin Clayton. Roueche also performed in Carnegie Hall under the baton of Robert Shaw and appeared as an artist-in-residence at North Carolina State University.

Tickets for the CTC Guest Artist Performance are $5 at the door and proceeds benefit the CTC Concert Series Music Scholarship fund.

Chorus director, Jim Mohon, said the concert will feature a variety of holiday music that promises to put the audience into the Christmas and holiday spirit. Visits from Frosty The Snowman and The Grinch will be a highlight of the concert as well as an audience sing-a-long. Beverly Meade is the chorus pianist who works with Jim Mohon to prepare the chorus for concerts. The concert is free to the public.

Prior to the concert, The Range Restaurant is offering a gourmet meal for $20 per person. The meal begins at 5 p.m. on Dec. 11 and reservations may be made by calling 254-947-3828.

The Christmas Concert is the second concert of 2014 for the chorus. Traditionally, the chorus performs two annual concerts; one in the spring and one in December. The chorus also performs during the annual July 4th Picnic, Christmas in October and the Salado Community Thanksgiving Service. Throughout the year, chorus members provide special performances for various community activities. This year, the chorus will perform for the Gold Star Christmas Dinner at Ft. Hood. All concerts are free to the public.

CTC to offer Evening College for degree program completion

Starting with the spring 2015 semester, Central Texas College (CTC) will offer degree programs through its new Evening College program. Students will be able to complete a degree or certificate program through classes offered in the evening.

Initially, CTC will offer evening courses allowing students to complete associate of arts degree programs in business administration, general studies and interdisciplinary studies; associate of applied science degree programs in business management, office technology, computer electronics and vocational areas such as welding, graphics and printing, automotive, diesel, building trades and heating, air conditioning and refrigeration. Certificate of completion programs are also offered through the Evening College in business management, office medical technology and the other vocational studies.

"Before, several classes within these degree or certificate programs were only available during the day," noted Jan Anderson, dean of CTC's central campus. "With the new CTC Evening College program, all courses for these degree plans will also be offered as night classes. This should enable anyone with a busy work schedule during the day to conveniently start and complete their degree or certificate studies."

Class offerings for the CTC Evening College will include classroom courses, online courses and blended courses (both online and classroom work). "Many of the vocational degree programs offer students the chance to earn certificates of completion while working toward the associate degree," noted Anderson. "This will increase their marketability in the workplace as they continue with their higher education."

New students interested in the CTC Evening College can apply now online at www.ctcd.edu/academics/college-on-your-time. Once the application process is complete, students can register using the CTC online WebAdvisor system. Anderson added, "Current students who want to take CTC Evening College courses do not need to apply as they are already accepted as CTC students. However, we recommend these students talk with their academic advisor to ensure they are in step with their current degree plan."

Dearly Beloved

SHS Theatre presents Fall comedy tonight

Salado High Theatre Department will present the second performance of its fall comedy, Dearly Beloved, at 7:30 p. m. Nov. 20 in the High School cafeteria.

The play is a Southern comedy and is a family-friendly show. Tickets are $5 and help raise money for UIL One Act Play.

The Futrelle Sisters, Frankie, Honey Raye and Twink, are throwing a wedding. Frankie has almost made herself sick with elaborate preparations for her daughter Tina Jo's antebellum-inspired wedding, and the rumor mill in their small town of Fayro, Texas, is working overtime. No surprise there, the Futrelle Sisters have never been strangers to gossip. After all, they did survive the scandalous breakup of their almost-famous gospel singing trio, The Sermonettes.

But Twink's desperate attempts to get her boyfriend of fifteen-and-one-half years down the aisle, Frankie's ongoing conversations with their dead mother, and Honey Raye's tendency to race to the altar at every opportunity have kept tongues wagging for years. In spite of her own marital problems, Frankie has held steadfastly to the hope that she can pull off one "final Futrelle occasion" with elegance and style with the help of the cantankerous wedding coordinator, Miss Geneva, who runs the local floral shop/bus depot. On the day of the nuptials, Frankie's hope begins to dim when she discovers Twink's alternative solution to an expensive catered wedding dinner is a potluck supper sponsored by Clovis Sanford's House of Meat. When the prodigal Honey Raye arrives at the church in skintight gold lamé, consumed by hot flashes and a steely determination to right old family wrongs, Frankie's hope is shaken. It is lost completely when word reaches the church that Tina Jo and her fiancé have fled Fayro and eloped. The sisters ultimately pull together to find ways to keep the unsuspecting guests in the pews while a highway patrolman races off to track down the runaway bride and groom. As a last resort, and to the delight of the citizenry of Fayro, Texas, The Sermonettes reunite and sing again.

Tablerock Festival's 22nd annual performance of A Christmas Carol takes stage Dec. 5, 6, 12, 13

Shannon Ashe will direct Tablerock's 22nd Annual performances of Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol at the Goodnight Amphitheater on Royal Street in Salado. Dates for the production are Dec. 5, 6, 12 and 13. The curtain goes up at 7 p.m.

Ashe has served as Assistant Director and portrayed Mrs. Cratchit for nine years. She was elected to the Tablerock Board of Directors in 2007. Ashe, a Theater Education Major, has acted in Waco Civic Theater, Salado Silver Spur and Temple Civic Theater productions.

She was an Alderman for the Village of Salado and is married to Rick Ashe, the former Mayor of Salado. The Ashe's daughter, Addie, plays Belle in this year's production.

A Christmas Carol has a cast and crew of 60, some newcomers to the play and a handful who have been associated with the play since its inception, 22 years ago.

A Christmas Carol was adapted to the stage by Harry Sweet. Sweet, director of A Christmas Carol for 15 years and a retired Ethics Professor at Mary Hardin Baylor said, "No one can improve on Dickens's works," so the show remains pure Dickens, to the delight of all who come back year after year to enjoy the production.

Performance will begin at 7 p.m. each evening at Tablerock's Goodnight Amphitheater located on Royal Street in Salado. Tickets are available at the gate:

Tiny Tim (Ethan Flowers) helps Scrooge (Jaden Puckett) find the true meaning of Christmas in Charles Dickens' holiday ghost story, A Christmas Carol.

$10 for Adults, $5 for students and $3 for children under 12. opens at 6:30 p.m. for sandwiches, cold and hot drinks, chips and candy.

DPS Urges Texans to Prepare for Winter Weather

The Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) is urging Texans to begin preparing for possible winter weather, which can impact the state during the coming days and months.

"Winter weather can disrupt and endanger the lives of Texans in all parts of the state, and residents should prepare their cars and homes now for possible storms and freezing temperatures this season," said DPS Director Steven McCraw. "The best defense against a potential dangerous situation is early preparation."

DPS offers the following tips for staying safe during possible winter weather:

Monitor local weather broadcasts and follow up-to-the-minute weather conditions, at <http://www.weather.gov/>.

On icy roads, drive slowly and increase distance required for stopping, and avoid using cruise control. Watch for downed trees and power lines across roads. If power is out, treat all intersections as four-way stops.

Make sure your vehicle is properly maintained before any trip.

Keep your gas tank full.

Avoid traveling when sleet, freezing rain or snow is predicted.

Winterize your vehicle by checking the battery, windshield wipers (including appropriate freeze resistant-fluid), tire pressure, tire tread, fluid levels, and lubricate door and trunk locks to prevent freezing. In addition, here is a list of emergency supplies drivers can keep in their vehicle:

Blankets/sleeping bags and extra clothing, mittens and hat.

Cell phone, radio, flashlight, extra batteries.

First-aid kit and pocket knife.

High calorie, non-perishable food, bottled water.

Sack of sand or cat litter to provide traction for tires.

Windshield scraper, tool kit, booster cables, tow rope and shovel.

Here are some additional steps to prepare for winter weather:

Insulate outside faucets and pipes near outer walls.

Make sure that furnaces, heaters, fireplaces and wood stoves are clean, well-ventilated and in good working condition.

Make arrangements for proper shelter and an emergency supply of food and water for your pets and livestock.

Stock up on firewood and supplies, including canned goods and bottled water.

If you will be away from home for a long period of time, set your thermostat to 55 degrees or higher and open cabinets under sinks.

Check on friends and family members whose health or age may put them at greater risk from cold weather.

Also visit <http://www.txdps.state.tx.us/dem/ThreatAwareness/winterstorm.htm> for additional information regarding winter weather prepared-

Dermatophytosis

Dermatophytosis, otherwise known as "ringworm," is a fairly common fungal infection that can affect dogs, cats, and other animals.
 "The term 'ringworm' actually comes from the circular, ring-like lesion formed on the skin of infected people; however, the disease itself is not caused by a worm at all," said Dr. Alison Diesel, clinical assistant professor at the Texas A&M College of Veterinary Medicine & Biomedical Sciences.
 Dermatophytosis is a zoonotic disease, meaning it not only can be transmitted to other animals, but to people as well. An animal or person can become infected with dermato-phytes from contact with another infected animal, transfer from infected materials such as bedding and grooming equipment, or from the soil.

 "Very young animals and older animals with other underlying illness are at higher risk for dermatophytes," said Dr. Diesel. "Additionally, certain breeds of animals, such as Persian and Himalayan cats, and Jack Russell and Yorkshire terriers, have a higher tendency towards disease development."
 Dermatophytosis is the most common cause of alopecia, or hairloss, in cats. In addition to poor hair coat, it can also cause reddened skin, hyperpig-mentation, and lesions.

 "Lesions will often involve little red bumps called papules, scabs, and circular areas of hair loss. Anywhere on the body may be affected by hair loss, but face and paws will often have lesions," said Dr. Diesel.
 Because of this infection's ability to spread all over the animal's body and infect others, you should be sure to see your veterinarian for a proper diagnosis. A common way for veterinarians to diagnosis dermatophytosis is with a Wood's lamp exam. This involves passing a fluorescent light source, or Wood's lamp, over the animal and looking for glowing hair shafts. However, only a few strains of dermatophytes may glow, so this is not always considered to be the best approach.

 "A better option for diagnosis is to perform a culture for the organism," said Dr. Diesel. "Infected hairs or material may be collected by plucking hairs or brushing the animal with a new toothbrush and then submitting these hairs to a laboratory for fungal culture/isolation."
 Although your pet may be able to self-cure the disease on their own, therapy is typically recommended to minimize the amount of infective material present and thereby minimize spread of disease to others.

"Treatment may involve strictly topical therapy with antifungal agents (such as lime sulfur) or may also involve oral antifungal medication as well," said Dr. Diesel.
 Treatment of exposed animals and other animals in the household should be considered in order to prevent the spread of infection. If you are concerned that your pet may have dermatophytosis, particularly if skin disease is noted in people in the household, you should contact your veterinarian immediately.
