Momentum building for purchase of Mill Creek

Salado Golf Club leaders feel that momentum has been building toward reaching the ultimate goal of purchasing and repairing Mill Creek Golf Course to turn it into a member-owned course.

To date, the group has checks totaling $1,417,000 with other "soft commitments" yet to sign checks over to the Salado Golf Club.

"The smaller amounts have started coming in," treasurer Bruce Bolick said on June 18, adding that checks of $2,500 and $5,000 are "starting to add up to real money."

Salado Golf Club will host a gathering at the Mill Creek Pro Shop at 6:30 p.m. June 21 to answer questions of residents who are interested in making loans to the Club so that it can make the purchase of the golf course. "We will also be collecting checks from anyone who wants to give us one," Bolick said.

In addition to loans in increments of $2,500, Salado Golf Club will also accept donations in smaller amounts in order to reach its goal of purchasing the golf course.

Ultimately, all of the loans and/or donations will have to add up to $1.75 million to purchase the golf course property and operations outright from Morris Foster.

Otherwise, Foster has told

Salado Golf Club leaders and others in the community that he intends to close the golf course on Oct. 1.

Local business owner Dave Hermann is inviting businesses, residents and others who are supportive of the effort to gather with him at his restaurant at 7 p.m. June 20.

The Range at the Barton House will host a gathering for business owners and others to raise awareness and funds towards the purchase of Mill Creek.

"We are committed to the overall health and vitality of Salado," Hermann said, "and believe this is a very worthwhile venture."

"We have an opportunity before us to rally as a community," he said. "The revitalization of the Salado Golf Club can be a true cornerstone, helping our entire community come together for a common good. Homeowners and businesses alike benefit from a vibrant golf club."

Hermann will have a free fajita buffet for people to dine from while the discussion ensues about how the business community can get behind the Salado Golf Club effort.

Paul Cox will play for the group and will sell CDs with all proceeds going toward the Salado Golf Club.

Aldermen to get update on city administrator

Salado aldermen will hear an update on the city administrator job description and timeline during their June 20 regular meeting at the Salado municipal building.

No action will be taken on the report from alderman Michael McDougal, but the board will consider action at its next meeting on July 11.

In other business, the board will consider a request for a street light on Guess Dr., replacing or repairing the Municipal building phone system and the street resurfacing ratings and evaluations. The board will also conduct the first hearing on Zoning Ordinance Amendments, as well as reviewing year-to-date financials.

Prior to the regular meeting, aldermen will meet in workshop session at 5 p.m. June 20 to discuss a sewer system.

SISD hires new principal, counselor, new teachers/coaches also hired

Salado ISD Trustees on June 17 hired a new intermediate school principal, a part-time counselor and three new teacher/coaches during their regular board meeting.

Beth Aycock will officially begin her duties as Salado Intermediate School principal on July 15. She comes to Salado from Killeen ISD where she has been Curriculum Director for Killeen High School since 2010.

Aycock began her teaching career in Killeen as a history teacher in 2006. In 2008, she became the international baccalaureate coordinator at Killeen High School, where she was responsible for organizing and coordinating international baccalaureate testing among other duties.

She was a curriculum and instruction specialist with Killeen High School in 2009-2010, where she was responsible for the campus induction for all new staff, assisted with the creation and implementation of campus professional development, coordinated new teacher mentor/protege relationship, coordinated the Advance Placement program and organized and maintained supplementary instructional materials.

As the KHS Curriculum Director, Aycock was responsible for all grade reporting and University Interscholastic League (UIL) compliance, preparing and administering the instructional budget, creating the master scheduling board, serving as the campus alternate discipline hearing officer, supervising paraprofessional staff, managing the distance learning program, implementing the professional development calendar and assisting with interviewing and selecting new faculty.

Aycock holds a B.S. from Tarleton State University and an M.A. from TSU. She has gone through the Texas A&M Central Texas Educational Administration Principal Preparation Program earning her principal's certificate in 2010.

Forrest Mazey will teach high school health and physical education. He will be the Defensive Coordinator for the varsity Salado Eagles football team.

He comes to Salado from Pratt High School in Kansas, where he has been the head football coach and track coach and an assistant athletic director.

Mazey worked for Salado Athletic Director Brent Graham when Graham was head football coach at Tom Beam High School.

"Coach Mazey is a young, high energy coach that has a passion for leading young people," Graham said. "His background on both sides of the ball coupled with his experience as a head coach provides an extremely valuable addition to our staff."

"Naturally, having worked for me before," Graham added, "Coach Mazey understands our philosophy and expectations here in Salado."

Mazey was head football coach and assistant athletic director at Atoka High School, a 3A school in Oklahoma in 2007-2011.

He was assistant football coach for quarterbacks and wide receivers for Northwestern Oklahoma State University.

He has a B.S. in Kinesiology from Northeastern State University and M.Ed. in athletic administration from East Central University.

Tara Hatfield will be a special education teacher at Salado Junior High. She will also be the Salado

High School head volleyball coach and a junior high school basketball coach.

Hatfield is certified to teach by the Texas Teachers program. She has a B.A. from Southern Methodist University and a M.A. from the University of Texas at Dallas.

She has coached volleyball since 2004, when she began as a volunteer assistant coach at SMU. In 2009 she was an assistant volleyball coach at Southwestern University through May 2011.

She has been the head volleyball coach for Austin Performance Volleyball Club since Aug. 2007. She has also been a volleyball coach for the past year at Brentwood Christian School.

Hatfield was a substitute teacher in Round Rock ISD for the past year as well.

Marcos Rene Garcia will teach high school and junior high school math. He will also be a high school assistant football coach and a high school assistant softball coach.

Garcia is a 2010 graduate of University of Mary Hardin-Baylor, earning a bachelor of science degree. He completed the UMHB Teacher Certification Program and is certified to teach 8-12 grade mathematics. He has a Masters of Science in Education from UMHB as well.

He was a graduate assistant coach at UMHB in 2010-2012 and a student assistant coach in 2009. He completed his student teaching in Belton and Temple school districts in 2009 and 2010.

Laura N. Novotny will be a part-time counselor at Thomas Arnold elementary school. She has been an elementary counselor in Plano ISD (2003-2004), working for more than a decade in that school system. She taught sixth grade math in McKinney ISD in 1995-99 and was a substitute teacher/homebound teacher for Salado ISD beginning in 2011. She holds a M.Ed. in counseling and student services and from University of North Texas and a B.A. in elementary education from Bethel College.

ENROLLMENT INCREASES

AT END OF SCHOOL YEAR

In other business, trustees reviewed enrollment comparisons for the year and saw that the school closed the year with a slight uptick in growth.

The enrollment for June 2013 total 1,368 with an average daily attendance of 1,301. This is an increase of almost one percent over June 2012 enrollment of 1,356.

The district trailed last year's enrollment throughout the year, due mainly to a small Kindergarten class enrollment in 2013. The Kindergarten class for 2012 was 108 students, while the Kindergarten class this year totaled only 70 students.

This caused Thomas Arnold Elementary to be the only school campus to be smaller than last year's campus enrollment: 302 compared to 324.

Salado High School saw the largest increase in enrollment: 449 from 426 last year. This is due in large part to a larger senior class. In 2012, the graduating class was 86 students. In 2013, it was 102 students.

Salado Junior High increased its enrollment slightly, from 206 students in 2012 to 210 students in 2013 (almost a two percent increase).

Salado Intermediate School saw its enrollment increase from 400 to 407 in 2013.

The Country Boy's convenience store at 1208 N. Robertson Rd. is one of 139 properties that 7-Eleven, Inc. is selling.

7-11 puts Country Boy's property up for sale

The convenience store located at 1208 N. Robertson Road is for sale again and will be sold by sealed-bid auction in June.

The property was purchased in late 2012 by 7-Eleven, Inc. and is now part of the sale of 139 gasoline stations and/or convenience stores across the nation. Of the properties for sale, 83 are located in Texas.

NRC Realty & Capital Advisors, LLC (NRC) has been retained again by 7-Eleven, Inc. (7-Eleven) to coordinate the sale of 139 gasoline stations and/or convenience stores, 83 of which are located in Texas, 31 in Florida, 11 in Ohio, eight in Pennsylvania, five in Utah and one in Wisconsin.

Of the 83 Texas sites, 43 are located in the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolitan area, 10 are in the San Antonio market, 10 are near Austin, and the remainder are located throughout east Texas.

In announcing the sale, Robbie Radant, 7-Eleven vice president of mergers and acquisitions, said, "There are some terrific properties in this package that simply don't fit 7-Eleven's business model. All of these stores were part of the more than 1,000 sites we've acquired in the past three years and should provide great opportunities for the right buyers."

Lot sizes range from approximately 10,000 to 75,000 square feet, while store sizes range from kiosks to 6,700 square feet.

The Salado property is one of the 118 sites that are fee-owned properties.

The property is 24,829 square feet with a 3,360 square foot building. It was opened as Country Boy in 1977. It has a fuel supply term of 10 years.

All sites are being sold without 7-Eleven branding. Most sites are being offered for sale with fuel supply, which will be provided by SEI Fuels, Inc.

The properties will be sold using NRC's well-known "buy one, some or all" sealed-bid sale process.

Property Specific Packages (PSP) are now available with a bid deadline of June 27. Interested parties may view a complete site list and register online for sale updates at www.NRC.com/1305, or by calling the NRC Customer Service Center at 800-747-3342, extension 1305.

Dennis Ruben, executive managing director of NRC, said, "These properties are located in major metropolitan areas in Texas and other prime markets. This sale will provide great opportunities for others already operating in these markets as well as for those looking to enter them."

LUTHER MERTON
"JUNE" BREWER, M.D.

Luther Merton "June" Brewer, M.D., age 76 of Temple, died Friday, June 14, 2013 at his residence. Services will be held at 11 a.m., June 17, at Grace Presbyterian Church. Burial will be private. The family will receive visitors after the service at the church.

Dr. Brewer was born on February 2, 1937 to Luther M. Brewer Sr. and Loyce Brewer in Paris, Texas. He graduated as valedictorian from Clarksville High School in Clarksville, Texas. He earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Texas, where he was a member of the Phi Beta Kappa academic honor society. After college, he earned a Medical Degree from Southwestern Medical School in Dallas and was elected to Alpha Omega Alpha. Dr. Brewer completed his Internal Medicine training and a chief resident year at Parkland Hospital in 1965. After completing medical school, Dr. Brewer served as chief of pulmonary disease at Wilford Hall, U.S. Air Force Hospital, San Antonio.

Dr. Brewer worked at

Scott and White Hospital from 1967 until 1995. During his tenure, he guided the creation of many programs at Scott & White, which are now essential to the institution's success. He helped establish the Scott & White Community Internal Medicine Division in 1975, and served as its director until 1980. Additionally, he served as program director for the Internal Medicine Residency Program from 1974 to 1980. He also served on the Scott & White Clinic Board of Directors from 1979 to 1993.

Under the leadership of Dr. Brewer, the Scott & White Health Plan was established and grew to a significant regional entity. By the time he retired from Scott & White in 1995, the Health Plan had increased in size to include more than 107,000 members and became one of the largest pre-paid health care systems in the nation.

Dr. Brewer was a volunteer all of his life. He served as President of the Salado Chamber of Commerce and President of the Salado Public Library District Board. He was a driver for Meals on Wheels and a member of Grace Presbyterian Church in Temple for over 40 years.

Dr. Brewer was preceded in death by the love of his life, Marilyn Reveley Brewer and grandson Isaac Luther Brewer. Dr. Brewer is survived by his three children, Chris Brewer, his wife Robyn and their four children Abigail, Elizabeth, Rebecca, and Derek of Ann Arbor, Michigan; Nancy Brewer Flores, husband Joe and their daughter Susana, of Houston, Texas; and Tim Brewer, wife Shari and their three children, Erin, Clay, and Melanie of Beaumont, Texas. He is also survived by brother-in-law Michael Reveley and his sons, Colin and Tom Reveley, all of England.

In lieu of flowers, memorials may be given to the Salado Public Library, 1151 N. Main St., Salado, Texas 76571 or to Scott & White Cancer Institute, 2401 S. 31st Street, Temple, Texas 76508.

EMOJANE STREET FULLER

Emojane Street Fuller, 91, of Temple passed away June 17, 2013 at a local hospital. She was born on February 25, 1922 to William E. "Bunk" and Fannie Maie (Hodges) Street at Gooseneck Community near Salado, TX.

Emojane attended elementary school at Gooseneck and then graduated from Salado High School in 1941. She was a member of Salado United Methodist Church. She worked at American Desk Manufacturing and at a garment factory. Emojane was an accomplished seamstress and made many quilts.

She was preceded in death by her parents; one brother, William E. (Sonny) Street, husbands James B. (Buck) Adams, John E. Oakley, and James W. Fuller; sons in law John Kellog and Curtis McAdoo.

She is survived by two sons, Coleman K. (Donette) Street and Miles E. (Sandra) Oakley ; two daughters, Janie Beth Adams Kellog and Marsha A. Oakley McAdoo; step-son Lynn Fuller and step-daughter Jan Goodwin; sister Elisabeth S. Mosley; ten grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren, two great-great-grandchildren and numerous nieces and nephews.

Services were held June 19 at Heartfield Funeral Home. Burial followed the service at the Salado Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, donations be made to the Salado Cemetery Association or to Scott and White Hospice.

Heartfield Funeral Home is in charge of the arrangements.

THOMAS ALLEN HARPER

Thomas Allen Harper, of Salado, passed away June 16, 2013. He was born on April 14, 1941, in Botetourt, Virginia to Carl and Lottie Harper, the fifth of ten children, with five brothers and four sisters.

A visitation and church service will be held at the First Baptist Church Killeen 3 p.m. June 22 with pastors Dave McMurry and Stephen Watson of Grace Bible Church officiating. A reception will follow.

Tom is survived by his wife, Dawn, of 24 years, three children, Tracie, Tom Jr., and Heather and grandson, Dustin Collier.

After working many years with national home building corporations, Tom and Dawn founded Symphony Homes 8 years ago. He was on the Board of Directors for the Central Texas Home Builders Association, supported Peaceable Kingdom Retreat for Children, and worked with Habitat for Humanity. Tom's involvement at Grace Bible Church included: Deacon chair, church plant launch team member, small group leader, Celebrate Recovery program ministry leader and Building Committee chair. He was also an avid golfer.

Interment will be in Roanoke, Virginia.

Memorials may be made to Peaceable Kingdom Retreat for Children at 19051 FM 2484, Killeen, TX. 76542.

Services are in the care of Broecker Funeral Home, Salado.

Obituaries are posted to the www.saladovillage-voice.com website daily.

Tribute to Janelle Burson

Janelle Cospers Burson: Definition - Strength of character; unconditional love of family; true kindness; passionate love of God and country; beautiful; rich and warm smile; generous;

Janelle - those you loved were blessed by you and they knew it... whether you were a Mimi or a Mom, a Friend or a Wife, a shop owner or business partner... you were special... your glorious spirit lit up a room when you entered it... your smile was always one of understanding with a tad of humor for the quirkiness of life.

You always understood... whatever the situation... you always understood and that understanding made every situation better.

You will be missed and the world will not be the same... but you of all people left this physical world better than you found it . You did it with love. The stars are brighter, the birds sing louder, the flowers are more colorful now. Your spirit is free and in the presence of God.... and you are still blessing those you loved.

You know how a young person looks up to a star athlete and believes them to be thier hero? Well.. for me it was you. You called me a friend... but you were many things... a friend, a teacher, a business partner, a mother, a sister, a safe haven...but most of all you were one my life's greatest teacher.

God called you home.... but you will always be at home in my heart and the hearts of all of those you touched.

Your Forever Friend.... Vikki Aulie

Why President Obama Became a Snoop

Rich Lowry

Before Barack Obama became president, he revealed in the irresponsibility of his powerlessness. He could denounce Bush administration counterterrorism initiatives from a glorious position of civil-libertarian purity and posit the need to strike a perfect balance "between privacy and security."

Then he got elected president, and the mere posturing had to end. He had to grow up. Invested with responsibility for keeping the country safe and, no doubt, informed of potential threats in hair-raising terms on a daily basis, he jettisoned his innocent civil-libertarianism. In light of what were dire and real threats to our security, he had no choice but to use the surveillance powers of the government to foil them.

Now, President Obama thinks the Goldilocks balance he has always spoken of is struck by a vast National Security Agency monitoring program that vacuums up the phone records of all Americans. There is poetic justice in hearing the president excoriated in exactly the same terms as President George W. Bush by the very same people who worked to get him elected to end the terrible abuses of the Bush-

Cheney regime. But the fact is that -- in least this respect -- Obama grew up and they didn't.

As president, he didn't have the luxury of turning his back on Bush policies merely because they were Bush policies. In his press conference, he said of the NSA program that upon taking office, he concluded "on net, it was worth us doing." Whereas his allies can either pretend that the terror threat doesn't exist or that there are easy and simple ways of combatting it, he has to deal with it in the real world. As he said of the programs, "My assessment and my team's assessment was that they help us prevent terrorist attacks."

There seems little question that the NSA programs are constitutional and legal. The Internet element is directed at foreigners overseas to whom our Fourth Amendment doesn't apply.

As for the phone program, it involves metadata -- i.e., phone numbers dialed, and for what duration, and from where -- that courts have held aren't protected by the Fourth Amendment the same way that the actual content of conversations are. Congress authorized the program, albeit somewhat vaguely, in Section 215 of the USA Patriot Act. The question here isn't if Obama is lawless or shredding the Constitution. It is whether the program is proportionate and wise.

The metadata are fed into the maw of government algorithms. It is only anomalies that, assuming a court warrant can be obtained, get more attention. But the government is nonetheless sweeping up the records of Americans who have done nothing to earn anyone's suspicion. The information lands on the desktops of the likes of whistleblower Edward Snowden, who it turns out isn't a very reliable custodian of sensitive data.

The Snowden leak was wrong, but at least it makes possible an open debate about the program that might lead to useful tightening and new controls. Years ago, Barack Obama's contribution to that debate might have been as hyperbolic and irresponsible as that of his disappointed friends. Now, evidently, he knows better.

CATCHING MONSANTO'S DRIFT

Frankenwheat crops are sprouting like weeds in Oregon

Bob Dylan once sent a two-word lyric to Ben Harper, a talented songwriter he admired. "Well well," was the lyric, and Dylan challenged Harper to make a song of it.

He did! By adding another "well" to the title, Harper wrote "Well, well, well" -- a stinging lament about America's clean-water well going dry due to waste and greed.

I thought of his song when I heard that a wheat farmer in Eastern Oregon had gotten an unpleasant surprise in May: Some of Monsanto's unapproved, genetically manipulated wheat suddenly cropped up in his field. He'd never planted any of these Frankenwheats, which have a foreign DNA spliced into them by Monsanto's biotamperers.

Field tests of the altered wheat were last done in Oregon in 2001, and the seeds never have been cleared for commercial use anywhere in the world. But there they are, sprouting like weeds.

Well, well, well. Ever since Monsanto, backed by its political protectors, began messing with the very DNA of our food supply two decades ago, the company line was that it was all perfectly safe and under tight control.

Farmers, however, warned that these corporate and political powers were a bunch of profiteering ignoramuses who knew nothing about such basic realities as pollen drift. Pollen from mutant plants can -- and does -- move many hundreds of miles across state and national borders to contaminate the crops of unsuspecting farmers living far away.

Ninety percent of the wheat grown by Oregon farmers is exported to Japan and other nations that don't let their consumers serve as lab rats for agribusiness hucksters. So the escape of Monsanto's wheat into the wild endangers both wheat exports and the purity of organic corps -- along with human health and our environment.

To follow this story's drift go to Organic Consumers Association: www.organicconsumers.org.

Time to support golf course effort

Dear Editor:

I wish to applaud the efforts of all who have worked to find a solution for the purchase and restoration of the Mill Creek Golf Course. Residents of Salado, business people and area citizens have come together, understanding the value in preserving this beautiful course and have shown support by investing in this project. By supporting this project, a unique and very special part of Salado's history, growth and progress will continue to add to the quality of life we all enjoy and impact Salado in a positive way.

The mere fact that so many have rallied behind this effort is evidence that the citizens of this Village desire to see this course restored. I am excited for the future of Salado, as we all join together encouraging one another to step forward and make a difference.

I, too, fully support this project and invite anyone who might want to discuss its merits to contact me at the Strawberry Patch on Main Street. I feel my long-time association with Mill Creek enables me to answer questions which might help others make a decision to support this community effort.

Debaters need local support to attend camps

In order to attend summer camps, the nationally-recognized Salado Speech and Debate Team is seeking contributions from the public.

The team plans to attend the Texas Debate Collective, the University of Texas National Individual Events Form, and the Championship Group. However, the most expensive of these camps costs $1,550 per person.

"Attending camp is vital to the debate program because this allows students to refine skills in a more in-depth format," Debate coach and teacher Tim Cook said.

So far, the team has raised $345. To make contributions, contact Tim Cook at (254)-947-6984 ext. 1161, or tim.cook@saladoisd.org.

Bell Museum hosts summer camps in July

The Bell County Museum still has space available for youngsters for one of two camps this summer.

The first E.A. Limmer, Jr. Summer Camp will be held July 9-12 for youth ages 9-12. The second camp will be July 23-26 for children ages 6-8. The cost is $30 per camper, limited to 30 campers.

Both camps will feature games, craft activities, snacks, and lots of creative learning opportunities. Topics to be covered include the Chisholm Trail, pioneers, geocaching, and exhibits in museums.

To register call the museum at 254.933.5243 or email troy.gray@co.bell.

Salado's Billy Golding and Bridgette Gloria participated in the 5th Annual Fellowship of Christian Athletes Victory Bowl at Floyd Casey Stadium June 15. They are 2013 graduates of Salado High School. They were nominated by coaches and selected by the FCA committee. They both were on the Blue Team, which won 35-21. Over 2,000 were in attendance and over $60,000 was raised by the event. Central Texans now have a chance to view the game on KWTX News 10, the local CBS affiliate: at 11 a.m. June 22 and at noon June 23.

SVFD Family Fun Day promises free fun for all

Salado Volunteer Fire Department is hosting a Family Fun day for the community from 1 - 5 p.m. on June 29.

Salado Fire Station #2 on FM2484 will feature free food, games and activities for the community. There will be a chance to win gift cards and prizes from sponsors Johnny's Outback, Eagles Inflatables, 121 Towing, The Play Yard, Accents of Salado and Don Ringler.

Educational exhibits include a live extrication with the jaws of life and tours of the Temple Fire Department smoke house.

Everyone will get a chance to meet the members of the SVFD and the dunking booth will give some a chance to cool off a fire fighter.

Members of the SVFD are: Jerad Rogers, Kim Rogers, Johnny Davidson, Dawne Engleke, Don Engleke, Grainger Esch, Nathan Houston, Wayne Taylor, Will Dankert, Nicole Stairs, Anthony Combs, Mark Tubbs, Jerad Alford, Alan Goodnight, Ty Tumey, David Kite, Brandon Russ and Gregory Tischler. They are led by lieutenants: Mike Meritt, Al Califano, Steven Puckett, Jeff Booker, AJ Lopez, and William Cline; fire captain Ted Morris, Assistant fire chief Kenny Wigley and fire chief Shane Berrier.

The SVFD events committee are: Jenna Berrier, Tammy Goodnight and Patti Wigley.

The SVFD was established in the mid 1960's and was one of the first volunteer fire departments organized in Bell County.

The original station was a white garage building on Main street, near the First Baptist Church and the first fire truck was built by the members.

Today SVFD has two stations that serve Salado. Station #1 faces I-35 and is next door to the Village of Salado offices. Station #1 faces Salado High School on FM2484. A fleet of modern fire fighting vehicles are maintained by the department.

More information on the event can be found at SaladoFire.com.

Johnny's Outback brings John Conlee to Salado

In the face of passing fame and passing time as careers have come and gone at whirlwind speed from the national spotlight, John Conlee has remained firmly rooted in the heart of country music buyers like a fine, well rooted oak tree.

Release of his latest project "Classics"—featuring 19 of his greatest hits plus three new songs—has been embraced by yet another new generation of music lovers for whom traditional country music never goes out of style.

The new album features digitally re-mastered versions of his biggest hits. Songs such as his signature "Rose Colored Glasses," "Lady Lay Down," "Backside Of Thirty," "Common Man," "I'm Only In It For The Love," "Friday Night Blues," and "I Don't Remember Loving You,"—like fine wine all have only gotten better with age. Not to mention the technology that captures every fiber of John's well woven rich tapestry of a voice.

"Some things never go out of style, and a good country voice, I'm glad to say is one of them" noted Conlee in a recent interview. "I think we can look at George Jones and see what a timeless voice sounds like." Like George, John has been blessed with a voice that doesn't quite sound like anyone else—it's been something that has helped him endure a lot of passing fads in the music business.

Since hitting with "Rose Colored Glasses" in 1976, John Conlee's career has been anything but a passing fad.

Born and raised in the rich farmland of Kentucky, John grew up close to the earth and those that make their living from it. It's a loyalty that has carried over into his career. Through his efforts the Family Farm Defense was created in the mid-'80's and John became Honorary Chairman. When Willie Nelson announced his plans to stage Farm Aid, John volunteered his services. He has since participated in nine Farm Aid concerts and assisted in raising over 13 million dollars to aid the American farmer.

Following "Glasses," John struck gold again—this time with "Lady Lay Down," which reclined in style at the #1 spot. He matched that success just a short few months later with "Backside of Thirty," which also reached the top of the charts. With two more hits in rapid succession—"Before My Time," and "Baby, You're Something," the Academy Of Country Music presented John Conlee with their coveted "Best New Male Vocalist" Award in 1979.

As the '80's dawned, John's success made him one of the most consistent male artists of the decade. Early in the decade major chart toppers such as "Friday Night Blues," and "She Can't Say That Anymore," rode him through the era of the "Urban Cowboy" changes that swept the artist landscape.

In a decade of dashing young men in cowboy hats, Conlee more than held his own. "John Conlee's voice makes him the tallest, darkest, most handsome man in country music," noted a national reviewer. Obviously, record buyers by the droves came out in force to agree. As the '80's progressed, John scored major hits with a Red Lane song—"Miss Emily's Picture,"—following it with his version of "Busted"—a hit for Johnny Cash and Ray Charles in the 60's and the song that has helped raise tens of thousands of dollars for Feed The Children.

John hit his high-water mark—pulling off a remarkable four #1 hits in a row. "Common Man," "I'm Only In It For The Love," "In My Eyes," and "As Long As I'm Rockin' With You" all topped the charts as successive releases. To further add some potent ingredients to his mix as a young country music singer on the way to legend, John added additional gems: "Working Man," "Old School," "Got My Heart Set On You," (which stayed on the charts a remarkable 5 months), "The Carpenter," "Domestic Life," and "Mama's Rockin' Chair," forever wrote his name in the history book of country music. RIAA gold certification of his "Greatest Hits" album is among the accolades that line the walls at the Conlee farmhouse.

John has enjoyed the fruits of his success. Today he continues to be an always popular addition to the stage of the Grand Ole Opry—where he was bestowed the honor of membership in 1981—the fulfillment of the ultimate dream he held as a farm boy back in Kentucky.

For relaxation these days, he goes back to the "farm"—this time his own pristine 32 acre spread outside of Nashville that's become home to John, his wife Gale and their three children—Rebecca, Jessica, and John.

The imperfect endplay

Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker

A declarer who tries to eliminate the element of luck on every deal does not always find the adverse cards distributed exactly the way he'd like them to be.

For example, take this case where South is in four hearts and West leads the king of spades. Declarer sees at once that he might lose a spade and three clubs and go down one if West has the ace of clubs. But having been to the wars before, he sees the possibility of an endplay against West to nullify an unfavorable location of the club ace.

So after he takes the king of spades with the ace, he plays the K-Q of trumps, hoping to find them divided 2-2. In that case, he would next cash the A-K of diamonds and ruff a diamond before putting West on lead with a spade to force a losing return.

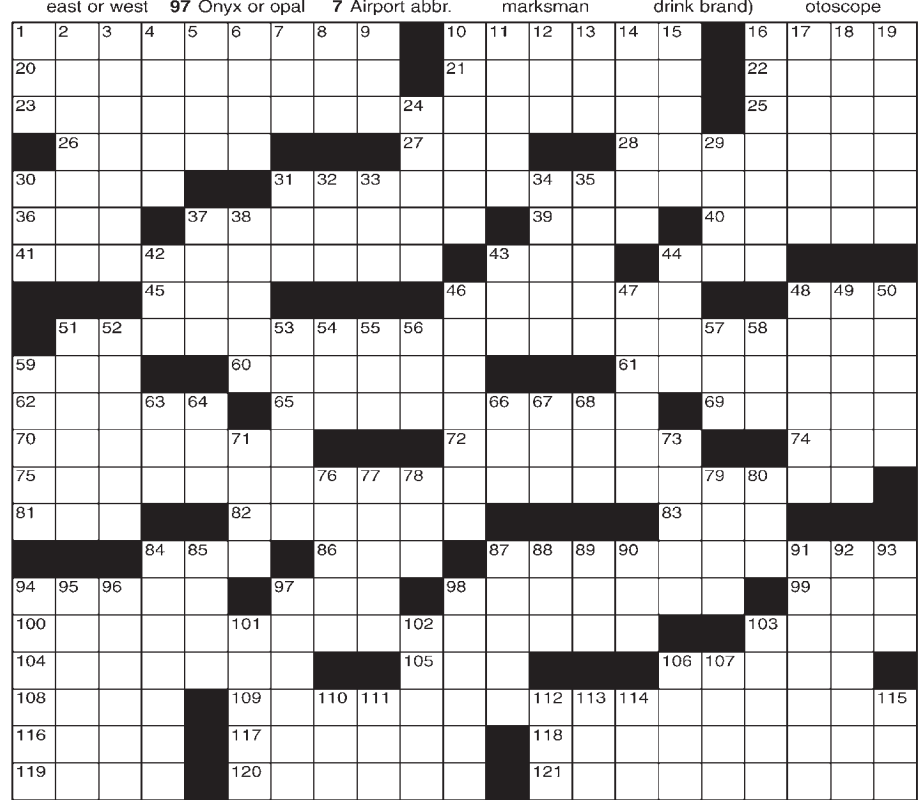

When East turns up with three trumps instead of two, declarer remains unfazed, as this development provides no reason for him to alter his initial plan. He simply stops drawing trumps for the moment, cashes the A-K of diamonds and ruffs a diamond, as originally planned, and then exits with a spade, also as originally planned.

West unhappily finds himself on lead and must hand South the contract. If he returns a spade or a diamond, declarer ruffs with dummy's jack of trumps while disposing of a club loser from his hand. And if West returns a club instead, he makes declarer's king a trick.

This method of play -- where declarer executes an endplay while one opponent still possesses one or more trumps -- is called a partial elimination. When it works, though, it is just

Just say cheese

TURKEY, TOMATO AND EMMENTALER BREAKFAST SANDWICHES

Mornings will be easier than ever with these melted Swiss, smoked turkey and tomato English muffin sandwiches. Add a fried egg to the stack, if you like.

2 whole wheat English muffins, split and lightly toasted
2 slices 365 Everyday Value® Sliced Emmentaler, halved
4 slices Applegate Smoked Turkey Breast
2 thick slices tomato

Preheat toaster oven or oven to 425°F. Arrange muffin tops and bottoms on a small baking sheet. Top each with a piece of cheese, and then the turkey and tomato. Toast until melted and hot throughout, about 5 minutes. Assemble sandwiches and enjoy.

270 calories (90 from fat), 10g total fat, 5g saturated fat, 30mg cholesterol, 620mg sodium, 32g carbohydrate (5g dietary fiber, 8g sugar), 17g protein

ZUCCHINI AND FETA CHEESE PIE

Though ideal for picnics, you'll think of any excuse to make this rich, savory pie, especially when zucchini is in season.

5 small zucchini (about 1 1/4 pounds), divided
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
3 eggs
1 (6 ounce) container 365 Everyday Value® Feta Cheese Crumbles, divided
1 frozen (9-inch) regular or whole wheat pie crust squeezing it by the handful to remove as much liquid as possible. In a large bowl, whisk together flour and eggs. Reserve 1/2 cup cheese, and then stir grated zucchini and remaining cheese into egg mixture. Transfer to pie crust, top with sliced zucchini (arranging it in circles, if you like) and reserved cheese and bake until firm and golden brown, 50 to 55 minutes. Set aside to let cool, and then serve warm or cold.

GOAT CHEESE SPREAD WITH HEARTS OF PALM AND SWEET CORN

This addictively delicious, lemony goat cheese spread is packed with sweet nibbles of fresh corn and hearts of palm. Serve with ciabatta bread, spread onto sandwiches or serve as a dip with whole grain pita chips.

1 ear yellow corn, husked
1 (6 ounce) container Whole Foods Market™ Goat Cheese Crumbles
Zest and juice of 1 lemon
1/4 cup flat-leaf parsley, chopped, plus more for garnish
1 (14.1 ounce) can 365 Everyday Value® Whole Hearts of Palm, drained and finely chopped

Carefully remove corn kernels from the cob and set aside in a small bowl. Working over a large bowl, use the dull edge of a table knife to scrape down the length of the cob on all sides to remove as much "milk" as possible; discard cob. To the large bowl, add cheese and lemon zest and juice and mash with a fork until creamy and well combined.

Stir in reserved corn kernels, parsley and hearts of palm. Garnish with more parsley and serve. Or, cover and chill before serving.

Serving size: about 1/4 cup, 70 calories (40 from fat), 4.5g total fat, 3g saturated fat, 10mg cholesterol, 230mg sodium, 4g carbohydrate (1g dietary fiber, 1g sugar), 5g protein

BRIE PIMIENTO CHEESE

Decadent and fun, this pimiento cheese is a new classic, turning buttery Brie and sweet pimientos into a tasty spread.

1 (350 gram) package Isigny Sainte Mère Bon Homme Brie
1 (4 ounce) jar pimientos, drained and chopped
1 tablespoon grated yellow onion
1 teaspoon ground mustard seed
1 pinch cayenne
6 slices Seeducation bread

Bring cheese to room temperature and remove the rind. Place it in a bowl and use the back of a spoon to mash it. Stir in pimientos, onion, mustard seed and cayenne. Spoon onto quartered and toasted slices of bread and serve.

100 calories (70 from fat), 7g total fat, 4g saturated fat, 20mg cholesterol, 140mg sodium, 7g carbohydrate (0g dietary fiber, 1g sugar), 3g protein

GOAT CHEESE BAKED IN TOMATO SAUCE

This appetizer of toasted garlic bread dipped in creamy baked goat cheese and tomato sauce is inspired by the classic Spanish tapas, Queso de Cabra con Tomate.

2 cloves garlic, minced
1/4 cup olive oil
Baguette of bread, sliced
8 ounces goat cheese
1 cup marinara or pasta sauce
Basil leaves (optional garnish)

over bread slices and place on a baking sheet.

Pat goat cheese into a 1/2-inch pancake and place in shallow baking dish. Ladle tomato sauce into dish to come up to top edge of cheese (do not cover the cheese with sauce). Bake, uncovered, until sauce begins to bubble at edges and cheese is hot, about 25 minutes. During last 10 minutes of baking, toast bread until golden brown. Garnish cheese with basil if using.

Dented Wood Floor Can be Repaired

THIS IS A HAMMER
By SAMANTHA MAZZOTTA

Q: My room has this cool original wood floor made up of wide pine planks. They're painted over, so scratches haven't been a problem. But there are a few spots where heavy furniture or dropped items dinged and dented the wood. Is there a quick way to repair these spots? -- Carla in Taunton, Mass.

A: There's an interesting fix you can try, using a clothes iron and a damp towel to try and bring up the dent. Because the dent is a compression of the wood, using dampness and heat may help the wood to expand and minimize the dent.

This technique is not one that I would recommend for floors with a heavy coat of wax (as some older floors do), because the heat may discolor the finish, but since your wood floor has just a coat or two of paint, you shouldn't have much of a problem. However, the paint may bubble or crack due to the initial damage and the expansion of the wood, so have some matching paint handy in order to touch up the area afterward. (As always, test a less-conspicuous area of the floor before making the repair.)

First, dab the dent with a wet rag to soak the wood a bit. Wait a couple of minutes. While you're waiting, fill the reservoir of your clothes iron and turn it on high, with full steam setting.

Once the iron is hot, place a damp towel over the dent. Place the iron atop the towel, holding it directly over the dented area and trying to avoid the surrounding floor. Move the iron in a circular pattern while applying full steam, for about three minutes. Lift the towel to check your results. If the dent appears to be less deep, reapply the iron for a minute or so, checking each time until the dent is almost level with the rest of the floor.

Once the area has cooled, repair the cracked or bubbling paint over the dent. Sand away the damaged paint, wipe clean with a damp cloth, and touch up the spot with matching paint.

HOME TIP: Placing runners or area rugs in high-traffic areas of your home can reduce minor damage to hardwood flooring.
