

TXDOT sets public hearing about Main St.

Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) will conduct a public meeting to discuss improvements to FM 2268 (Main Street) in Salado.

The improvements would extend from Salado Plaza Drive to College Hill Drive.

This project would consist of constructing sidewalks, providing pavement striping for bicycles, installing lighting and replacing the culvert at Campbell Branch Creek.

The proposed improvements would also address parking, drainage and driveway access to adjacent properties. No new right of way would be required for this project.

TxDOT will present the project information in a come and go format with a brief overview presentation at the beginning of the meeting.

The meeting will be held 5-7 p.m. Aug. 15 at Salado Intermediate School, 560 Thomas Arnold Rd.

The purpose of this meeting is to inform the public of the proposed project and provide an opportunity for interested parties to submit comments on the preliminary design that the department has developed.

This public meeting will be part of TxDOT's consultation process under Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act. TxDOT historians will identify and evaluate all historic properties immediately adjacent to this project to help project planners look for ways to avoid, minimize or mitigate any potential adverse effects to any significant historic resources. The public is encouraged to comment on the proposed sidewalk project regarding its potential to affect significant non-archaeological historic resources.

Exhibits showing aerial photography and schematic plans of the proposed project corridor will be present at the meeting. Representatives from TxDOT and its consultant study team will be available to answer individual questions. Public comments are encouraged.

All interested citizens are invited to attend the meeting and discuss the project. The meeting will be conducted in English. Those interested in attending who have special communication or accommodation needs are encouraged to contact Michael Rhodes, Environmental Coordinator at (254) 867-2739 at least five working days prior to the date of the meeting. TxDOT will make every reasonable effort to accommodate these needs.

Information about the proposed project is on file and available for inspection Monday through Friday between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. at 100 South Loop Drive, Waco, TX. TxDOT offices are open Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., excluding state holidays.

Written comments relevant to the proposed project may be mailed to: Michael Rhodes, Environmental Coordinator at 100 South Loop Drive, Waco, TX 76704-2858. Please submit written comments electronically or by mail by August 30, 2017.

The environmental review, consultation, and other actions required by applicable Federal environmental laws for this project are being, or have been, carried-out by TxDOT pursuant to 23 U.S.C. 327 and a Memorandum of Understanding dated December 16, 2014, and executed by Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) and TxDOT.

Road crews are at work along FM 2484 northwest of Salado this week on a safety project on FM 2484 from east two miles east of FM 3481 to I-35. ## Work crews busy on roads, highways around Salado

While the work on I-35 is purportedly finished in Salado, road crews have been busy around the area this summer, particularly this week with work going on in at least three areas.

The Waco District of the Texas Department of Transportation began temporary lane closures for the construction project area along FM 2484, northwest of Salado this week.

The temporary lane closures will allow the contractor to install guard rail at various locations between Union Grove and I-35. The work is expected to finish by the end of the week.

The installation of guard rail is part of a project that began in May of this year, to increase safety along FM 2484, and includes building safety end-treatments for culvert-ends at cross drainage locations under the roadway and at adjoining private driveways along FM 2484, from two-miles East of FM 3481 to IH 35. It is expected to be complete in early-fall of this year, weather permitting.

Closer to town, Bell

County road crews were to begin chip sealing roads in the Mill Creek area, including Old Mill Road, Chisholm Trail and South Ridge Rd. The work was slated to begin on July 24 and conclude by July 28.

East of Salado, TxDOT began a project to replace the FM 1123 Bridge at Salado Creek, northeast of Salado in Bell County.

The project, designed to increase safety, will replace the existing low-water crossing with a wider, longer, concrete bridge that meets current roadway safety and design specifications. The new structure will be constructed approximately 100 feet downstream of the existing crossing. The existing crossing will remain in partial use until the new structure is completed.

JD Abrams, L.P. of Austin, is undertaking this bridge replacement project at a cost of $2.9 million. It is scheduled for completion in the Spring of 2018, weather permitting.

Senate gives thumbs up to 6 bills in one day of special session

By RICHARD LEE
TEXAS NEWS SERVICE

After three days of weekend hearings, the Senate on Monday began to debate and vote on issues placed on the agenda for the 30-day session by Governor Greg Abbott.

The Senate gave tentative approval to a school finance reform bill that would create a system by which children with disabilities can apply for and receive money to attend private schools. SB

2, by Friendswood Senator Larry Taylor, would fund that program through donations to non-profit organizations from insurance companies in exchange for tax credits. Students with disabilities could receive up to $10,000 per year to pay for private school tuition. It would also allow students with disabilities who stay in public school to apply for smaller $500 grants to pay for approved academic expenses, like tutoring, transportation and instructional materials.

The fund would be capped at $75 million per year.

The bill also contains $212 million in additional educational spending. Most of that money goes towards offsetting revenue lost in 2006. Until now, the state has made up the difference in revenue caused by the 2006 property tax cut, but that fund is set to expire in September. $150 million in SB 2 would go towards helping districts that still rely on those funds to pay for expenses while a more permanent school finance system reform is considered in upcoming sessions. The remaining money goes towards facilities funding for traditional and charter public schools.

The Senate also preliminarily passed SB 1 dealing with property tax reform (see story below).

The Senate tentatively passed these four bills on July 24. They are:

- SB 17 by Senator Lois Kolkhorst of Brenham, which seeks to improve rates of maternal mortality and morbidity in Texas by directing the Department of State Health Services to research and develop recommendations for policies to address the problem.

- SB 10 by Senator Donna Campbell of New Braunfels, would require that facilities that provide abortions report any complications from the procedure to state health agencies within 30 days, and doctors who perform abortions to report complications within 72 hours.

- SB 73 by Senator Bryan Hughes of Mineola, which would require that in the case of abortions where the mother is a minor, providers must report whether parental consent or judicial bypass permitted the procedure.

- SB 16 by Senator Larry Taylor of Friendswood, would create the Texas Commission on Public School Finance in order to research, recommend policy changes, and consider new methods of paying for public schools in Texas.

Senate preliminarily passes SB 1, reforming property taxes

The Texas Senate preliminarily passed Senate Bill 1 on July 24 to bring about property tax reform and relief for all Texas home and business owners.

The bill, sponsored by Senator Paul Bettencourt (R-Houston), will head to the Texas House after one final vote.

"Texans are crying out for property tax relief as home and business owners are seeing city, county, and special district property tax levies which have gone up twice as fast as ISD property tax levies from 2005 to 2015," said Senator Bettencourt. "That is an astonishing amount of money flowing from Texans' checkbooks into government's pocketbook."

Over the last three years in Harris County, property tax bills have increased 36 percent for the average home for just the county portion of the bill. Dallas County and Tarrant County have seen similar increases, with property tax bill increases of roughly 25 percent and 19 percent respectively.

Notably, Travis County

offers an example of how SB 1 can work, with the average home seeing a 0.7 percent reduction on the county portion of their property tax bills, due to property tax rate cuts, despite an appraisal increase of roughly 28 percent.

"The real problem is that when appraised values go up, tax rates never come down," added Senator Bettencourt. "When homeowners in the State's largest county are seeing a 36 percent increase in average tax bills in just three years it is time to act!"

Senate Bill 1 will lower the current rollback rate from 8 percent to 4 percent, and bring added transparency to the property tax process and eliminate confusion surrounding multiple protest deadlines. It would additionally create an automatic election provision in November in a taxing entity exceeds the rollback rate, and also establishes an office in the Comptroller's office for oversight and complaint resolution.

An amendment added by Senator Charles Perry

(R-Lubbock) was enacted that exempts taxing entities with under $20 million in tax revenue from the legislation, however, an amendment from Senator Dawn Buckingham (R-Lakeway) allows voters in exempt taxing entities to opt in to the legislation. Senator Brian Birdwell (R-Granbury) eliminated all petition requirements for rollback elections which prevented taxpayers from rolling back their property tax bills due to the higher number of required petition signatures.

Senator Bettencourt highlighted why the property tax reform opposition's arguments surrounding how local ISD property tax bill revenue is used are misguided when he declared, "regardless of what the tax split is on a property tax bill, the taxpayer has to pay 100 percent of it."

After one final vote in the Senate, Senate Bill 1 will head to the Texas House of Representatives.

An Open Exchange of Ideas

No, China Isn't Going to Lead

The world has had its delusions about China over the years, but none quite as fantastical as the notion of Beijing assuming the mantle of global leadership.

Ever since Donald Trump's election, it has been a journalistic trope to speculate that China is about to take the lead on globalization, climate change and international diplomacy.

Knowing his audience, President Xi Jinping has stoked this tripe by mouthing all the right cliches in front of the right audiences. He gave a speech at Davos heavy on the theme of openness and promised to help lead globalization. "Any attempt to cut off the flow of capital, technologies, products, industries and people between economies," Xi said, summoning his best Thomas Friedman, "is simply not possible."

Somehow, China manages the impossible nonetheless. When it comes to information (which Xi omitted from his litany), China cuts itself off from the rest of the world quite adeptly. According to the pro-democracy group Freedom House, China ranks last in the world in internet freedom, behind Iran and Syria. It blocks Google, YouTube, Facebook and Twitter, and jails people for spreading rumors online, i.e., criticizing government officials.

Rich Lowry

How about the free flow of capital? China has tight rules against capital outflows. Technology? China is an expert at stealing it, especially from foreign companies operating in China. Products? Despite its membership in the World Trade Organization, China is robustly mercantilist. Brad Setser of the Council on Foreign Relations points out that imported manufactures as a share of the Chinese economy peaked in 2003 and have been falling since. What Xi calls "win-win cooperation" is the rest of the world opening its markets to China while China refuses to reciprocate.

Xi also toes the Davos line on climate change, to the delight of credulous Westerners. China's leadership consists of making a pledge as part of the Paris accords to reach peak emissions in 2030 -- a goal consistent with the trajectory of its economy anyway -- and planning to make a mint by selling to the West green technology it has developed through its characteristic unscrupulous means.

There is no doubt that China, the world's second-largest economy, is much more assertive on the international stage than it used to be, but the idea of it as a global leader, or as a responsible power, or even as an admirable country is daft.

It props up the lunatic regime in North Korea because it fears the prospect of a unified, democratic Korea. It is pushing for control of the South China Sea, ignoring a sweeping ruling by an international tribunal against its claims of sovereignty. It is investing massively in its military -- and not to support the cause of global openness. Clearly, one motive for the dewy-eyed press coverage of China's purported leadership is a distaste for Donald Trump, who wears his disregard for the global elite on his sleeve. The romance with Xi is a way to tweak him. But, whatever his views on trade or climate change, Trump doesn't run a repressive one-party state. It's perverse to be more comfortable with the president who bans Twitter over the president who uses it indiscriminately.

More than 250 attend Legends' 25th

Saturday evening over 250 people from as far away as Missouri attended the 25th birthday of Salado Legends, written by Jackie Mills. Over 25 actors who had performed in the play through the years were acknowledged and thanked for the play's success. Before the performance, past actors were invited to share a memory on stage. One recalled how he and his fiancé met while acting in Salado Legends and are to be married soon. Some spoke of making good friends. One said their son was small when as family they performed. Today he is 6'2" inches. Another said, he remembered the many, many mosquito bites he got practicing and performing the play.

This year, Salado Legends features 117 actors. Approximately 28 are appearing for their first time. Salado Legends is a delightful experience for all ages. Donnie Williams, director and actors make the history of Salado come alive. The next two performances are 29 July and 5 August.

On a different topic, the Board of Aldermen/Lady will be spending long hours in the coming months working on: the Sewer and Water Treatment Plant, the 2018 Budget, the Chamber of Commerce and HOT contract, Developer meetings, Code and Ordinance enforce-ing, low hanging tree limbs across roads and illegal dumping, developing a Pace Park committee of Salado Service Organizations representatives to plan and oversee.

The recent thefts are being closely investigated by our Police. Please lock cars and belongings every day. Report suspicious activity to the Police as soon witnessed. Good Surveillance cameras are worth the investment.

Weather permitting, the Chisholm Trail will receive a layer of Crack Seal. Please be patient and drive carefully.

Unsolicited remark from a Salado Legends actor who lives in a close-by town: "Salado is so beautiful. Wished our town was as pretty."

Our National Culture: What's Up, What's Down

Heritage Forum

by Edwin Feulner

One of the upsides to the Internet? All that information.

One of the downsides? All that information. Tons of it, spread all over the place. And who knows what's reliable and what isn't?

Say you want to know which direction the numbers in the U.S. are heading when it comes to welfare dependency. Or you're curious about the divorce rate, or how bad teen drug use is. Or you're wondering about unemployment or what the high-school graduation rate is.

Surprisingly enough, there's a one-stop shop for fully-sourced information on these questions, and many more: The Heritage Foundation's 2017 Index of Culture and Opportunity. I often describe it as a national dashboard of social indicators. And as always, some gauges this time out look pretty good. Too many others, however, are flashing red.

The Index isn't intended to be a deep dive into policy minutiae. It's a data-driven snapshot of where things stand, good and bad. But it's not just a collection of charts and graphs. Short essays by a range of policy experts are included to give the issues context.

So what's up, and what's down? Here's a sample of the bad news:

A declining marriage rate. The median age of marriage rose from 23.2 years in 1970 to 29.5 in 2016 for men and from 20.8 years in 1970 to 27.4 in 2016 for women. "Marriage has long been a part of the American dream," writes Rev. Derek McCoy. "People have an innate understanding that healthy marriages build healthy lives and families. But the declining marriage rate shows that the dream is fading."

Weekly religious attendance is down. It declined 2.1 percentage points between 2006 and 2016, continuing a gradual slide in recent decades. "The long-term decline in church attendance should trouble even those who are not personally religious," writes John Stonestreet. As the scholarly research shows, "the benefits of regular church attendance...are virtually impossible to dispute."

Teen drug use is up. Just under one-quarter of 12th graders reported current drug use in 2016, an increase of 13.5 percent since 2006. "Three main areas of concern are marijuana, opioids, and access to mental health/substance treatment," writes Christian Thurstone, MD. "Since 1999, the rate of people dying from opioid overdose has quadrupled."

On the good-news side, we have:

Teen abstinence is up. From 2005 to 2015, the percentage of 12th graders who had ever had sex decreased by 5 percentage points. "The 10-year decline in the percentage of high-school students who have had sex should be a cause for modest hope," writes Judy Romea. "This year's rate is lower than at any other point in the history of this indicator going back to 1991."

TANF participation is down. From 2006 to 2016, the number of individuals receiving aid from the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program decreased by about 727,000. "Trapping individuals in a welfare program that discourages work robs them of the chance for a better life," writes Nic Horton.

Fewer abortions. From 2004 to 2014, the abortion rate declined by 5 abortions per 1,000 women ages 15 to 44. After ballooning in the late 1970s and early 1980s, the rate is now lower than it was in 1973 -- the year of Roe v. Wade, the Supreme Court decision that made abortion legal.

More charter-school students. From 2006 to 2015, charter school enrollment increased by 1.7 million students.

All in all, 31 trends are covered in the 2017 Index of Culture and Opportunity. We clearly have our work cut out for us.

"The problems of culture and opportunity demand smarter and better policy at all levels of government, participation of civic institutions, and energetic private-sector players," writes J. D. Vance, author of "Hillbilly Elegy: A Memoir of a Family and Culture in Crisis," in the introduction to the Index. "But asking the right questions is a necessary first step, and this Index of Culture and Opportunity helps us to do so."

Going to College Hurts

Women owe 2/3 of nation's $1.3 trillion student loan debt

By JESSICAH PIERRE

Going to college is a good thing, right? That's at least what I was told as a kid, and what led me to get a college degree. I was the first one in my family to do so.

Yet new public opinion polling shows most Republicans think colleges have a negative impact on the country. Unfortunately, they might be right — but not for the reasons you might expect them to give.

Attending college has been proven to unlock opportunities. A report by the Association of Public and Land-Grant Universities found that college graduates are 24 percent more likely to be employed than high school graduates — and earn $1 million more over a lifetime.

Those with college degrees are also more than twice as likely to volunteer, and over three times more likely to give back to charity.

College educations also affect the way people vote. Three-quarters of bachelor's degree holders vote in presidential elections, compared to just over half of high school graduates.

So why might some view college negatively? Well, there's a lot of reasons — 1.3 trillion, to be precise. That's how much debt students, current and former, are carrying in this country: $1.3 trillion worth, and rising.

Who's hit worst by this skyrocketing debt? Women, who owe two-thirds of that amount — and especially black and Latina women.

A recent report from the American Association of University Women found that the average woman who graduated from a four-year university between in 2012 carried $21,000 in college debt. That's about $1,500 more than the average man. Black women are even more negatively impacted, averaging over $29,000 in student loans.

Worse still, women are paid about 80 cents to every dollar a man makes — a number that falls to 63 cents for black women, and just 54 cents for Latina women, when compared to white men. That means these grads start out deeper in debt and then have a much harder time getting out.

So, is rising Republican opposition to the academy a result of their concern for the economic well-being of black or Latina women? Doubtful.

After all, our GOP-led Congress refuses to engage with potential solutions to close the gender wage gap, which could make huge strides in reducing overall student loan debt. And not a single Republican senator supported the Pay Check Fairness Act, which would make it harder for employers to discriminate based on gender.

Same goes for the College for All Act, a bill put forward by Senator Bernie Sanders to create a debt-free higher education system and help student borrowers refinance their debt. A lot more effort is needed on the federal and local levels to remove this economic burden systematically placed on women.

Unfortunately, the Pew study that showed Republican opposition to universities didn't dive deeper as to why. However, an old quote from Karl Rove, the Republican mastermind responsible for bringing George W. Bush into office, offers a clue: "As people do better, they start voting like Republicans — unless they have too much education and vote Democratic."

What else about college might rub conservatives the wrong way?

Colleges provide a space for critical thinking where students can expand their minds and become more knowledgeable of the world. That might be why universities have historically played major roles in the resistance to bad public policy — from Vietnam to Iraq to today's #resistance to Donald Trump.

Fixing higher education means reducing barriers to college, not increasing them. Greater investment in debt-free higher education and debt relief for the most impacted students, including black women like me, is what's needed — not mindless broadsides against the idea of education.

Three gospel groups, 2 concerts all on 1 day at Taylor Valley Baptist

TEMPLE – Greater Vision, Mark Trammell Quartet and the Second Half Quartet will be together for two concerts on Aug. 5. They will be held at Taylor's Valley Baptist Church in Temple, beginning at 2 p.m. and 6 p.m. The event is sponsored by Crimson River Ministries.

For each of the past 27 years, Greater Vision has been the most sought-after concert in the yearly series produced by Crimson River Ministries. The trio from Morristown, TN is one of the most awarded groups in gospel music over the past 20 years.

"The first concert we ever promoted was in February of 1991, less than 45 days after Greater Vision came on the scene as a new group", said Tony Watson, Director of Crimson River Ministries. "Year after year, the people ask me at each concert when Greater Vision concert tickets are going on sale".

This will be the third consecutive year that they will be joined by the Mark Trammell Quartet and the Second Half Quartet.

"Mark Trammell was a part of the original Greater Vision, so he was here on that first concert as well. That always makes this special. He's been with us with his own group a number of times prior to this as well," added Watson.

The Second Half Quartet is made up of members of both Greater Vision and Mark Trammell Quartet, accompanied by Gerald Wolfe on the piano and Mark Trammell on the bass guitar. They sing many songs made popular by the legendary Cathedral Quartet, of who Gerald Wolfe of Greater Vision and Mark Trammell are both former members." They also sing other classic gospel songs as well as some newer songs written by group members.

A second concert has been added due to the demand. "We started out with just the 6 p.m. concert, but when it got to be 75 percent sold out with two weeks to go, the groups agreed to do a second concert on the same day because they love our people so much," added Watson.

Tickets are $25 for the middle two sections of pews (Artist Circle), and $22 for the outside two sections of pews (General Admission). If you purchase tickets for both events, there is a significant discount on the second concert, but you have to contact Tony Watson for the coupon code for stores.crimsonriverministries.com. ## LoneStar eBikes owners at ABWA

The program for the Aug. 3, meeting of Chisholm Trail Chapter of the American Business Women's Association meeting will be by Mary Ford, co-owner of LoneStar eBikes.

Mary and her husband Jay opened LoneStar eBikes in Salado earlier this month. Mary will discuss the benefits of renting or buying an eBike. An eBike is a bike with an electric motor powered by a lithium ion battery similar to one in a laptop. LoneStar eBikes has two different types of ebikes for rent or purchase. A pedelec is a bike in which the motor assists the rider. The second type has a throttle, similar to the one on a motorcycle where the rider may choose not to pedal. LoneStar eBikes also has a repair department for both regular bicycles and ebikes.

The social time of the meeting starts at 5:45 p.m. with the meeting commencing at 6:15 p.m. Visitors are welcome. The group meets at the Presbyterian Church of Salado, 105 Salado Plaza Drive. Light refreshments will be served.

Pints & Politics marks 4 years

Pints and Politics, an informal monthly gathering of conservatives from Bell County, will celebrate its fourth anniversary on Aug. 4, meeting at the Dead Fish Grill on Lake Belton.

The gathering will be 6-9 p.m.

"From Barb, Michele and myself, a heartfelt thank you for your support and above all your friendship, as we celebrate the fourth anniversary of Pints and Politics," said founding member Dave Swarhout of Salado.

He encourages others to bring their family and friends for the gathering.

Fourth Friday gospel singing at Cedar Valley

Cedar Valley Baptist Church invites you to their monthly Gospel singing beginning at 7 p.m. July 24.

The church is located about eight miles southwest of Salado at 12237 FM-2843.

"Please come prepared to sing a few special songs, or just to enjoy the wonderful music," says Donnie Jackson.

A covered dish meal will follow at about 10 p.m., so if you can bring a favorite dish or dessert.

Grace Church joins "Project Backpack"

Grace Church of Salado is joining the Women's Ministry at Salado United Methodist Church in this year's efforts to support the Salado Family Relief "Back to School" program, specifically the purchase of backpacks for school-age kids.

Project Backpack was started nine years ago and continues with the same tax-deductible donation request of $25 to provide a high-quality backpack for a Salado student.

All funds collected are used for the Back to School

Program, so if donations exceeded the amount needed for the backpacks, these funds are used for school-supply vouchers.

Salado Family Relief Fund provides assistance to Salado families and individuals in need and is completely funded by donations from the community.

Project Backpack kicked off on July 23 and runs through Aug. 6.

To make a donation to "Project Backpack", please call 254-947-5482 or email griffmr6@gmail.com.

OVID DOLAN WEAR

Ovid Dolan Wear, aged 85 years, died July 23, 2017 in the home of his birth near the village of Salado. Services will be July 27 at Harper-Talasek Funeral Home in Belton at 12:00 and burial will follow at Central Texas State Veterans Cemetery in Killeen at 2:00.

Mr. Wear was born to Thomas Calvin and Violet Irene Wear on August 5, 1931. His grandparents, of Scottish ancestry, brought the family to Texas in 1846 to what was then Comanche Territory.

Ovid Wear was preceded in death by his parents and all his siblings: Gladys Irene Smith, Thomas Calvin Wear Junior, Ruby Ione Buchanan, Othal Vernon Wear, and two infant brothers.

Mr. Wear retired as Master Sergeant from the Air Force in 1970 after proudly serving for 22 years and having been stationed at 21 duty stations, including several states as well as French Morocco, England, Libya, and Thailand. He later served for 19 years as a Civil Servant at Fort Hood.

Ovid Wear was a gifted athlete and is featured in a display at his alma mater, Salado High School. He played baseball, football, basketball and throughout life water skied, bowled, played a mean game of badminton, and happily challenged his family at the annual 'pasture croquet' game played after Thanksgiving dinner.

He loved the outdoors and was an avid hunter and fisherman, shooting a trophy deer two years ago. He could track a wild honeybee back to its nest and bring home a bucket of honey. He and Faye were happy campers with the Good Sam club until driving became difficult for him a few years ago.

Ovid Wear was a lifelong Christian and followed in his father's footsteps by becoming a deacon to the Cedar Knob Southern Baptist Church built on land donated by his family. He later served for over 20 years as deacon to the Miller Heights Baptist Church in Belton. He was a very active member of Gideons International until his health prevented him from handing out Bibles on college campuses.

He is survived by his loving wife of 66 years - Annie Faye Petty Wear, of Belton, who cared for him at their home until he passed away. His children are Dianna and husband Daniel Hodges of Lampasas, David Dolan Wear of Austin, and Donna and husband Bernie Koepsel of Buda. Grandchildren are Annah and husband Eloy Lopez, Karen and husband Andrew Limmer, Arica Anderson and partner Brent Golden. Ovid and Faye were also very proud of 4 great-grandchildren: Isabella and Olivia Lopez, and Henry and William Limmer.

In lieu of flowers it is Ovid Wear's request that donations be given to Gideon International and earmarked for the purchase of Bibles.

The family is grateful for Hospice, Home Health, Brother Albert Lopez, doctors, loving friends, and neighbors who helped care for him in his final months.

The family will receive visitors and friends from 6-8 pm on Wednesday, July 26, 2017 at the funeral home.

Obituaries

MELVIN ALFRED GROTH

Funeral services for Melvin Alfred Groth, 91, of Belton were held at 10 a.m., Monday, July 24, 2017, at the Dossman Funeral Home in Belton with Rev. Mike Randolph officiating. Burial will follow at the Bell Plains Cemetery.

The family received friends July 23 at the Dossman Funeral Home.

Mr. Groth died Thursday, July 20, 2017 in a Belton Nursing Home.

Melvin was born on a farm east of Olin, Iowa, on July 31, 1925. He was the middle child of five children born to Alfred Carl and Dora Benischek Groth. He graduated from Olin Consolidated School in 1943. He then completed his business studies at the American Institute of Commerce in Davenport, Iowa. He began his working career with International Harvester Company in Chicago, Illinois. While there, he met and married his wife, Mary Alice Vasek, on June 11, 1950. After eight years with International Harvester, Melvin moved his family to Indianola, Iowa to join Continental Belton Company. Three years later, he was transferred to the main office in Belton, Texas where he worked for the company for approximately 30 years. Later, he worked for Mallinger Truck Lines and KTON Radio Station. In 1980, he built Grothway Square in Belton. He continued to manage Grothway Square and his ranch well into his late 80s. He was a 60 year member of the Rotary Club and received the Paul Harris award. He was also a member of the Masonic Lodge in Belton and a lifelong member of the Solomon Lodge in Lamont, Iowa. He also was a longtime member of the Southwest Cattle Raisers Association.

His wife, Mary Alice Vasek Groth, preceded him in death on April 2, 2004.

He is survived by two daughters, Janet Rand, and husband Willard, of Belton, Sybil Collins and husband, Mike, of Salado, and son, Blair Groth of Belton. He is also survived by two grandchildren and three great grandchildren. He is also survived by one sister, Carol Groth Kennedy of Pella, Iowa and many nieces and nephews.

Memorials may be made to Kindred Hospice, 2626 S. 37th Street Suite B Temple, Texas 76503

515 E. VET. MEMORIAL BLVD. HARKER HEIGHTS
254-699-6105

Central Texas College (CTC) announced it has added new classes, class formats and programs to its curriculum for the fall 2017 semester. Several changes to class formats and the addition of new online, classroom and weekend classes will benefit working students and enable them to better fit school into their schedule.

For the upcoming semester, CTC has expanded its flexible class format offerings. Students can earn an associate degree in 15-16 months through a combination of online classes and evening/weekend classes at either the CTC central campus in Killeen or its Fort Hood campus. Degrees available in this format include interdisciplinary studies and business administration at the central campus and applied technology or general studies at the Fort Hood site.

Office Technology and Medical Office Technology students will now have a self-paced option to complete their studies. Classes in these areas as well as medical coding and billing courses are now offered in an alternative blended format. Students can attend classroom/lab activities for 3.5 hours and then work 3.5 hours from home or other location each week. They can set their own schedule between the hours of 8 a.m. - 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and 8 a.m. - 12 p.m., Friday.

The Hospitality department has added a new program, distance learning courses and a blended class. The new Baking and Pastry Specialization program includes 60 credit hours and leads to an associate degree in applied science. The new online courses are Introduction to Hospitality, Principles of Food and Beverage Operations, Hospitality Financial Management, Food and Beverage Management, Purchasing for Hospitality Operations, Hospitality Marketing and Sales and Introduction to Travel and Tourism. In addition, the Fundamentals of Baking class is now offered in a blended format combining hands-on classwork with online assignments that can be completed from home.

CTC also added a new associate degree program in the Business Administration program. The new Accounting Technician degree plan is a 60-credit hour program leading to an associate of applied science degree. Also added were new stackable Business Management Accounting Specialist and Human Resource Management certificate programs. Stackable programs provide students with immediate workforce skills. Those classes taken in the certificate program can then be stacked or applied to a degree plan should the student choose to continue their education. In addition the department now offers the Principles of Financial Accounting course on Saturday as part of CTC's Evening/Weekend College program.

In agriculture, CTC now offers a new Principles of Viticulture I class. As part of the horticulture studies program, the class includes the principles and practices of grape production, propagation, trellis and production systems, climate requirements, the economic factors affecting the choice of vineyard type and location, types of wines, proper storage procedures and the techniques of proper wine service.

The three credit-hour class offers both lecture and a hands-on training lab in the CTC greenhouse where students will plant, prune and care for the vines. During the semester, students will also tour several of the local vineyards to get an up-close look at the different types of vineyards and grape requirements. The tours will also serve to provide students opportunities to meet with and learn from local wine grape industry professionals.

The class was added to assist students looking for jobs in the fast-growing wine and vineyard sector of the agriculture industry. The knowledge and hands-on training provided by the new course will assist students be more employment-ready as they complete their degree or certificate program. Principles of Viticulture II will be offered in the spring 2018 semester.

The CTC Kinesiology department has also added new activity courses to its program:

Eagle Fit, which is similar to CrossFit training, uses varied functional movements performed at high intensity in a team setting. Boot Camp Fitness incorporates High-Intensity Interval Training in a motivating boot camp setting with functional training exercises and partner and group training. Tae Kwon Do covers fundamentals in the Korean-style of martial arts. Also, the existing weight training class will now be offered in a blended format. Students will have both in-gym and online participation.

All courses, degree plan and certificate offerings can be found under the Academics tab of the CTC website ctcd.edu. Registration is underway now through August 25 and the fall semester starts August 28.

Heads up: Vaccine required for college-bound students

As recent high-school graduates prepare to move into a college dorm, Texas physicians remind them to make sure their vaccinations are up to date, particularly one that is required for college admission. Texas law requires almost all new and transfer college students under age 22 to be vaccinated against meningococcal disease caused by the most common types of bacteria — or “serogroups” A,C,W, and Y — at least 10 days before classes begin.

“If your vaccinations are current according to medical recommendations, you likely received your first dose of the required vaccine at age 11 or 12 years because it is required for middle school entry, and then got a booster at age 16 to provide protection through college,” said Jane Siegel, MD, Corpus Christi, a pediatric infectious disease specialist and chair of the Texas Medical Association’s (TMA’s) Committee on Infectious Diseases.

Check your vaccination record to make sure you had the two shots, said Dr. Siegel, because colleges require entering students to show proof of vaccination within the previous five years.

“College students are at increased risk of meningococcal infection that can result in very serious disease, including meningitis, and that can spread among people who live in close quarters,” said Dr. Siegel, who is a member of TMA’s Be Wise — ImmunizeSM Physician Advisory Panel. “This germ is spread through respiratory tract secretions, so living in close quarters like a dormitory increases the likelihood of spread of this organism and is the reason for this mandate to cover meningococcal types A, C, W, and Y.”

Meningitis strikes alarmingly quickly with fever, headache, severe muscle aches, and stiff neck. The symptoms can seem like flu but progress with vomiting, weakness, mental confusion, shock, and sometimes a purple rash. Emergency medical care is important because this illness can become deadly within hours.

Types of meningococcal disease include infections of the brain’s lining and spinal cord (meningitis) and/or the bloodstream (bacteremia or septicemia). Bacterial meningitis is a common term. The meningococcus bacteria spread through coughing, sneezing, sharing drinks or eating utensils, or kissing.

Additionally, a relatively new vaccine can safely prevent infection caused by a different serotype of the meningococcus organism, serotype B. This vaccine against serotype B is not required at this time because the infection is relatively rare. However, outbreaks of this infection have occurred on a few college campuses in the United States. For that reason, physicians and other health experts recommend families with 16- to 23-year-olds discuss the meningococcal group B vaccine with their physicians to decide whether to get this vaccine too.

MEANWHILE, A SHOT

TO PREVENT CANCER

Another vaccination to consider, said Dr. Siegel, is human papillomavirus (HPV) vaccine — a shot that can prevent cancers in men and women. “You may have gotten this vaccine at a younger age, but if not, start the three-dose series before heading to school, and complete the series at your college student health service,” she said. (Three doses are required if you get your first shot at age 15 years or older; only two doses are needed if you begin before age 15.)

Bottom line, she said, vaccines saves lives: “Immunizations are one of the 10 most important public health advancements of the 20th century. So, it is best to prevent what we can when safe and effective vaccines are available.”

STAY REGISTERED

Also, students who are 18 years of age should sign the consent form to keep their vaccination records in the Texas state registry. Having vaccine data in the registry allows adults to keep up with vaccinations throughout their lifetime.

“We know college students move around and participate in all kinds of special programs in the summer and throughout the year that require immunization records,” said Dr. Siegel. “Having the data available in the state registry is convenient and will allow you to get vaccine reports when you need them.”

TMA actively works to improve immunization rates in Texas through its Be Wise — Immunize joint initiative led by TMA physicians, medical students, and the TMA Alliance.

Salado Bone Marrow Registry Drive July 31

Logan Barrios of Georgetown is waiting for a bone marrow transplant from a compatible donor.

LeaderOne Home Loans will host a Marrow Donor Registry Drive at the Salado office on July 31. Representatives from the Scott and White Marrow Donor Program will be on site from 3 - 7 p.m. at the 113 North Stagecoach Road, Suite 1 location.

The Scott & White Marrow Donor Program is a network partner of the National Marrow Donor Program, which operates the Be The Match Registry, serving Central Texas and the Brazos Valley.

Potential donors should be between the ages of 18 - 44. Joining the registry requires a sample of cells, collected by swabbing the inside of your cheek. By joining the registry you are taking the first step to being the cure for patients with blood cancers like leukemia and other marrow diseases.

Logan Barrios of Georgetown is one of those patients. On June 12, Logan was diagnosed with Immune Dysregulation, Pooilyendocrinopathy, Entropathy, X-Linked Syndrome (IPEX). He is only the 71st person worldwide to have this condition. After determining that none of his relatives are a match, Logan's doctors are now looking to the national registry for a bone marrow transplant.

Potential donors who cannot make it to the Salado drive can go online to join. marrow.org/logansarmy and register with the Scott & White Marrow Donor Program.

To follow Logan's progress, more information is available on Facebook at: Logan's Army and His Fight Against IPEX. Friends have set up a donation page at <https://www.gofundme.com/babyloganb> to help with expenses.

Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker

This deal occurred in the semifinals of the 1992 playoffs to select a team to represent the United States at the World Team Olympiad later that year. When Eric Rodwell and Jeff Meckstroth held the North-South cards against David Berkowitz and Larry Cohen, the bidding went as shown. Cohen's two-diamond opening showed a weak two-bid in either major. Meckstroth's two-notrump overall was natural, ostensibly describing a hand of opening notrump strength. He was gambling that Berkowitz wouldn't know which suit his partner had and would lead the wrong one. North-South then settled into three notrump after Rodwell's Stayman inquiry did not bear fruit.

As Meckstroth had hoped, Berkowitz did indeed lead the wrong suit, opting for a low spade. Declarer took East's nine with the king and immediately returned a spade, hoping Berkowitz would duck. If the king of diamonds was favorably located -- and it was -- nine tricks would be there for the taking.

But Berkowitz had been paying close attention to the proceedings and was not about to let Meckstroth steal the game-going trick. Knowing full well at this point that his partner's suit was hearts, Berkowitz rose with the ace of spades and accurately fired back the queen of hearts to cater to the possibility that South might hold the singleton jack. When the smoke cleared, declarer was down three for minus 300.

At the other table, North-South wound up in four diamonds, making five for a score of plus 150, which gave their team a combined pickup of 450 points (10 IMPs) on the deal.

The Gray Wolf has been reintroduced to other states. PHOTO COURTESY THE EL PASO SIERRA CLUB

Gray Wolf has disappeared from Texas

The main purpose of this column is to educate readers about the marvelous world of nature that can be observed around them. But occasionally it is appropriate to learn about animals that cannot currently be seen in their natural settings due to human interference. One such animal from west Texas is the Gray Wolf.

The Gray Wolf (Canis lupus) is a large carnivore that is one of six species of the family Canidae that has

Wild About Texas

at one time called this great state home. Other members of this family include the coyote and foxes. Gray wolves have been eliminated from the wilds in this state, with the last confirmed sightings occurring in the early 1970's near the west Texas town of Alpine. During the time before man settled into this land, the Gray Wolf inhabited the western two-thirds of the state, roughly west of an imaginary line drawn from Wichita Falls to Laredo. It preferred to live in the open country of the brushlands and grasslands, choosing the broken areas to provide cover and suitable denning sites.

Gray wolves were large predators, with adult males attaining lengths of nearly five and one half feet from the end of the snout to the tip of the tail. Females were the smaller of the two sexes, only reaching lengths of a foot less than the males. Being larger in length also meant that the males were heavier than the females, with adult males tipping the scales at almost one hundred and eighty pounds; females topped out at one hundred thirty pounds, measly by comparison.

Gray wolves were very dog-like in appearance, with broad shoulders and a wide skull structure. The front legs were longer than the back legs which gave the animal a hunched appearance. The coloration was very similar to that of the Coyote, being grayish brown with an obscure undertone of black along the upper parts, while the underside was off-white in tone. The face, including the thick muzzle and broad ears were more brownish, occasionally with a cinnamon tone. The black-tipped tail was proportionately short, only about one quarter of the canine's total length and colored like the body.

This species of canine would mate for life, and the pups were generally born during the spring months. Both parents played a vital role in the rearing of the young. The pups were taught how to chase prey when at only a few weeks of age, and most achieved adult size by their eleventh month of life. Females attained sexual maturity at about two years of age, while it took males approximately one additional year.

Unlike the much maligned Coyote, who is a true dietary generalist, the Gray Wolf was much more prone to attacking and eating larger prey items. Before man moved into the territory, the wolves fed primarily on the herbivorous deer and pronghorn antelope, occasionally taking rabbits, rats and ground squirrels. However, when the ranching industry began its boom in this region, the wolves would often turn their attention to the livestock that was introduced, viewing such new prey items as manna from heaven. Herein began the struggle between man and predator in west Texas.

Gray wolves were not solitary hunters but rather traveled and hunted in large packs of up to twenty animals. This pack was dominated by only a couple of individuals. The stamina and endurance of the wolf is well documented. Packs could travel for hours without rest, and their main hunting technique was not to ambush their prey, but rather to pursue it until it dropped from fatigue. Once worn down, the prey item was no match for the sheer numbers of the pack.

With the removal of this large carnivore from the wild, predatory pressure on big game animals such as deer was released. With no major predator other than man, the deer population in this state has become a serious problem, with many counties reporting severe overcrowding issues.

Gray wolves have been successfully reintroduced into the bootheel region of southwestern New Mexico, and there has been persistent talk for the past decade of reestablishing a population in Big Bend National Park. This act, however, seems unlikely of ever taking place due to intense political pressure from several prominent industries. For now, it appears that the Gray Wolf in Texas will simply remain an item of legends and folklore.
