The annual Empty Bowl project will take place 11 a.m.-2 p.m. Nov. 23 at the Salado Civic Center on Main Street.

Select a beautiful ceramic bowl and enjoy delicious soups from the many restaurants and inns of Salado. There will be a wide variety of bowls available. Take out is available.

Best of all, you are helping the Salado Family Relief Fund to raise money for its annual Christmas drive.

Tickets are $18 for all-you-can-eat soup and a keepsake bowl or $10 for just the all-you-can eat soup lunch.

The SFRF provides Christmas each year for more than 50 Salado families with more than 130 children receiving gifts at Christmas time. If you would like to "adopt" a child or family for Christmas, email Renee Oas at cashmagnet@vvm.com or call her at 947-9471 for details. All the gifts will be distributed in early December at the Presbyterian Church of Salado.

SFRF does not give out cash, but helps those in need in a variety of ways, including a back-to-school drive, helping with prescription costs, rent or utilities on a temporary basis.

Mary Catherine Ervin is president of the SFRF Board of Directors. She can be reached at 254-947-8230 or via email at scerwin345@aol.com.

Sales tax rebates drop 10% to Village

Sales tax rebates to Salado dropped by 10 percent in November, while rebates were up 5.4 percent statewide and up 7.2 percent in Bell County.

The Village of Salado received $29,198.10 in November, a 10.76 percent decline from the previous year's payment of $32,720.24. For the year, the Village is down 2.56 percent, having been paid $341,397.17 compared to $350,367.35 paid through November 2012.

The Salado Library District payment was also down this month, marking a change in the revenues to the Library. The District received $27,454.36 for the half-cent sales tax it levies, which is 9.13 percent less than the $30,215.05 paid last November. For the year, though, the Library district has received 18.38 percent more than in 2012. Through November, the Library District has received $347,447.12 compared to $293,482.34 paid through November 2012.

Bell County rebates were up by more than 7 percent as the county received $1.37 million in November, compared to the $1.27 million paid in November 2012. For the year, the county is up 4.37 percent. In 2013 the County has received $14.59 million, while in 2012 it received $13.98 million through November.

"Growth in sales tax revenues was led by collections from the telecommunications sector," Texas Comptroller Susan Combs said. "The construction sector also showed significant gains. State sales tax revenue has increased for 43 consecutive months."

Combs sent cities, counties, transit systems and special purpose taxing districts their November local sales tax allocations totaling $654.6 million, up 7 percent compared to November 2012.

The FM 2268 new bridge structure opened Nov. 12 after the old bridge was demolished overnight Nov. 11 requiring a mainlane closure. James Construction has set the date for the demolition of the Thomas Arnold bridge as Dec. 16. (PHOTO BY ROYCE WIGGIN)

Thomas Arnold bridge to come down Dec. 16, FM 2268 overpass open

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

The new overpass at FM 2268 opened for traffic and the old structure was demolished overnight Nov. 11 when all the mainlanes of I-35 were closed down.

The new structure was opened on the morning of Nov. 12 and the mainlanes reopened. During the closure, traffic backed up more than five miles in each direction.

Local residents and travelers can expect the same when the Thomas Arnold Rd. bridge is demolished in mid-December. After telling a group of citizens in October that the Thomas Arnold Bridge would come down before Thanksgiving, James Construction has informed local governing entities that the date for the demolition of the Thomas Arnold bridge is Dec. 16.

No date has been given or timeline of when the Thomas Arnold overpass will be constructed, but school officials have been told that it will takes months to construct the new structure.

In the meantime, traffic patterns on the access roads and the exit and entrance ramps leading to Thomas Arnold will change dramatically.

Before the Thomas Arnold bridge is demolished, James Construction will complete the construction of the east-side frontage road from FM2268 to Thomas Arnold Rd.

This southern section of the eastside access road will be two-way during the construction of the Thomas Arnold bridge. The northern section of the eastside access road will be one-way beyond the Thomas Arnold bridge.

On the west side, the northern section of the access road will be two-way until it reaches the Thomas Arnold bridge.

After the Thomas Arnold bridge is completed, the access roads will become one-way, according to TxDOT officials.

With the completion of FM 2268 on the south side of town, the FM 2484 bridge on the north side of town and the Thomas Arnold bridge in the middle of town, construction will begin on the new interchange at Salado Plaza Dr.

This will require a complete change in the traffic flows for these intersections.

No date has been given on when work on this section of the expansion will begin.

Or end.

Salado Strong meeting slated Nov. 22

Salado Chamber of Commerce invites community groups and volunteers to Salado Strong 8-10 a.m. Nov. 22 at the Stagecoach Inn conference center.

"We are trying to be sure that all of the different groups and organizations are working in cooperation with each other and pulling in the same direction for a better Salado," Chamber President Nicole Stairs said.

Representatives from each group, club and organization are invited to come to the Salado Strong meeting and give a short presentation (three minutes) about the goals and purpose of that group.

Then those groups with similar interests and goals can find way to work together and work with other groups to complement each other in their efforts to improve Salado.

"We all love Salado and we all want what is best for our village," Stairs said, "by pulling together we can get where we are going more quickly."

NEW DIRECTORS ELECTED

The Chamber recently elected four new directors for three year terms to begin in 2014: Tim Fleischer, Melanie Kirchmeier, Lynette Jones, Jon Moore.

Alternate directors will be Pat Posvar, Dave Swarthout and Larry Wentreck.

Texas oldest Scottish gathering kicked off with a torch lit ceremony atop the ruins of Salado College Hill. A parade down Main Street to end at the Salado Civic Center grounds welcomed visitors to Salado for sharing of a common heritage. Dancing, bagpipe, caber toss, hammer and sheaf throw, as well as other competitions were held throughout the weekend. Visitors were able to delve into their Scottish ancestry with Clan representatives gathered under the oaks, while others browsed the many vendors and artisan tents for Celtic treasures. The 2014 Gathering of the Scottish Clans will be held Nov. 7-8. For more information visit www.saladoscottishgames.com or call the Central Texas Area Museum at 254-947-5232.

An Open Exchange of Ideas

The Obamacare Whiners

Rich Lowry

Henry Waxman made a plea at the end of a House hearing grilling Health and Human Services Secretary Kathleen Sebelius. The California Democrat asked Republicans to reach across the aisle to work with Democrats to improve Obamacare.

Yes, Henry Waxman, who has made a career of ideological witch hunts and smash-mouth partisanship, wants a cease-fire over Obamacare, or so he says.

He was picking up a common liberal theme: It's not fair that Republicans continue to oppose the president's eponymous health-care law and pick at its failures, deceits and irrationalities. If only they were more reasonable, Obamacare could be tightened up with a few technocratic fixes and go on to its glorious destiny.

It's a little late to get Republican buy-in, though. That would have required serious compromise back in 2009, when Democrats, at the high tide of their power in the Obama era, saw no reason to make any.

They insisted on this particular law, at this particular time. They own it. They own every canceled policy, every rate increase, every unintended consequence and every unpopular intended consequence. It is theirs, lock, stock and two smoking barrels.

But they can't stop whining. They complain that Republicans aren't as cooperative as Democrats were when the Medicare Part D prescription-drug plan had a rocky start. This is absurd. The Part D website experienced what could be accurately described as "glitches," rather than the meltdown of HealthCare.gov. And Democrats supported the basic idea of the prescription-drug benefit.

They complain that what they really wanted was single-payer, but had to settle for the unsatisfying second-best of Obamacare. Paul Krugman calls the health-care law "a clumsy, ugly structure that more or less deals with a problem, but in an inefficient way." The reason they couldn't get single-payer, though, is that there weren't enough Democratic votes for it.

The White House is loath to give up the falsity about everyone keeping their current insurance. White House aide Valerie Jarrett tweeted that it is a FACT that "nothing in #Obamacare forces people out of their health plans."

Never mind that the entire architecture of the law is based on forcing people in the individual insurance market out of their existing plans and onto the exchanges.

In a health-care speech in Boston, President Barack Obama didn't say anything about how his prior declarations had been misleading. Instead, he tweaked his dishonesty for a different positive spin: "For the fewer than 5 percent of Americans who buy insurance on your own, you will be getting a better deal." Not if they are forced -- as many of them will be -- to buy benefits they don't need at a price they don't want to pay.

From the beginning, Obamacare has depended on a political ethic of doing and saying whatever is necessary. The falsehood about people keeping their coverage was essential to selling the legislation. So the president repeated it relentlessly.

The president got his law, and it's possible more people will be uninsured in 2014 than if it had never passed. That's on him, no matter how much he and his supporters want to evade responsibility for their own achievement.

5 Million Missing American Workers

We need a national "milk carton" campaign to spread awareness of workers who are not counted

Wall Street analysts, corporate lobbyists, and front groups like the U.S. Chamber of Commerce form an exuberant cheering squad for maintaining the status quo of America's do-nothing jobs policy.

"Hooray!" they shout to our lawmakers. "The unemployment rate is improving!" Waving pom-poms of campaign cash and doing statistical backflips, the pep squad instructs Congress to forget a national jobs program, raising the minimum wage, extending unemployment benefits, etc. "Push 'em back, Push 'em back!" they yell.

Well, yes, the official jobless rate has edged down to 7.2 percent, but don't get giddy, for that's not the total score. In December 2007, when Wall Street's reckless greed crashed our economy, the unemployment rate stood at only 5 percent, the average length of being unemployed was half of today's, and far fewer people were forced into part-time work or had to find multiple jobs to make ends meet.

Plus, family income was higher back then for all but the richest 1 percent of Americans.

But there's an even more telling statistic that we rarely hear about: the employment/population ratio. This indicator tells us the number of working-age adults actually in the workforce, meaning they're employed at least part-time or are looking for jobs.

This important number has plummeted by five million people since the crash. They're not working, and they're not counted as unemployed.

That's five million American workers who — poof — have just disappeared. If we added these "missing workers," as they've been dubbed, to the number of unemployed and underemployed Americans, no one could cheer Washington's do-nothing jobs policy.

We need a national five million missing workers milk carton campaign so that even Congress would finally recognize that it must do something to boost jobs and wages in our country.

Budget battle around Corsicana facility harms youth, taxpayers

By DEREK M. COHEN

Suppose you own two automobiles; a brand-new, 8-seat SUV and an old, broken-down coupe. The SUV is more than capable of safely and conveniently transporting your family to their individual destinations, while every trip with the coupe is a roll of the dice. Would you pay to keep it running in its current state? Moreover, would you borrow money from your neighbor to do so?

The current notion of keeping open an unneeded, and ineffective state youth lockup that was budgeted for closure is no less senseless.

On August 30th, the Texas Juvenile Justice Department (TJJD) recommended that the Corsicana Residential Treatment Center (CRTC) be shuttered pursuant to provision in the state budget that called for the closure of at least one youth lockup.

The CRTC is home to the Texas Juvenile Justice Department's specialized treatment accommodations for adjudicated delinquents who are mentally ill, sex offenders, substance abusers, or sentenced under a serious violent or capital crime. However, due to the success of Texas' recent efforts to strengthen community-based juvenile justice programs and the precipitous drop in juvenile crime, Texas has only about 1,300 youths locked up at the state level compared with about 5,000 in 2005. Therefore, state taxpayers stand to benefit from the closure of another lockup with those incarcerated there being redistributed to other facilities.

The CRTC campus, having once served as a 19th century orphanage, is strewn with dangerous debris, including broken glass and sharp rocks. Despite efforts to remove the hazard, inclement weather frequently unearths harmful objects. Couple this with an impulsive population at elevated risk for self-injury and you can imagine the additional medical costs and chaos.

After looking at many factors including the costs of operating each facility, projected capital costs, and the quality and effectiveness of programming, the highly respected head of the Texas Juvenile Justice Department, Mike Griffiths, along with Governor Rick Perry and Senate Criminal Justice Chairman John Whitmire have determined the CRTC campus is the one to shutter. However, the Texas Tribune reported that leaders who represent the area around the CRTC have prevailed upon House leaders to hold up the closure.

This is a costly mistake for Texas taxpayers. In terms of capital expenditures alone, the CRTC will require the immediate investment of over $35.5 million, almost $312,000 per each bed of residential capacity, just to bring its physical plant and buildings up to standards. This is over 50 times greater than the required per-bed capital need of the next-highest facility, and over 128 times greater than the combined average of the five other facilities. If the plant and buildings were to be replaced with modern structures and amenities, these multiples jump to 79 and 201 times greater, respectively.

The yawning gap in un-addressed capital expenses does not account for the additional $37,000 per day in operational costs needed to keep the facility open past October 31st. The trending decline in capacity needs (driven mostly by increasing use of more cost-efficient community corrections programs) was accounted for in the budget which assumes $23 million in facility closure savings. Failure to close the CRTC will either result in busting the budget or curtailing critical security, treatment, and educational operations that are needed to promote public safety and rehabilitation.

In addition to the fiscal benefits of closing the CRTC, doing so is likely to increase the quality of care. One of the key fac-

Denmans named Downtowners of the Year by the Texas Downtown Association

Robert and Doris Denman were named the 2013 Downtowners of the Year, a special category of the Texas Downtown Association (TDA) Presidents Awards Program. Since 1998, the Awards Program has recognized more than 150 projects, events and people that make a difference in Texas downtowns.

The Denmans have been helping Salado with the revitalization of downtown for over 30 years. They have hosted meetings for community organizations, served as unofficial ambassadors to shoppers at their businesses, facilitated the transfer of the historic vernacular bridge on Main Street from TxDOT to the village, and actively supported the Salado Historical Society in addition to many more contributions. Judges were impressed with the Denmans' dedication and commitment to the Village of Salado and their enduring spirit.

Winners were announced on November 7 at the Presidents Awards Gala held in conjunction with the 2013 Texas Downtown Development and Revitalization Conference in Bastrop.

The Texas Downtown Association, established in 1985, is an independent, statewide nonprofit organization comprised of almost 400 members involved in downtown revitalization projects. TDA provides resources to members through networking opportunities, marketing, education and advocacy to achieve community goals. To learn more, visit www.texas-downtown.org.

tors the TJJD's recommendation to close CRTC is the scarcity of qualified mental health professionals in Navarro County. Accordingly, CRTC has a psychiatrist vacancy rate of about 60 percent. The suggested new location of the specialized treatment unit, McClennan County, has nearly 5 times the population and a top-tier research university.

The consequence of closing CRTC is not that these youths will be released or go untreated, it is that they will receive treatment elsewhere than in Corsicana where mental health professionals are more prevalent.

Policy decisions concerning correctional institutions must be made with a focus on achieving the greatest public safety with every taxpayer dollar spent. Texas taxpayers should not be required to sustain a facility simply because it employs people. Just like a second car that rarely starts and is never driven, an unneeded lock-up is a luxury Texans cannot afford.

Christian band The Digital Age brings 'Evening : Morning' tour to Baylor

Christian rock band The Digital Age, along with special guests Luke Hicks and Manifest Music Company, will perform at 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 22, at Waco Hall on the Baylor University campus.

The Digital Age consists of four members: Mark Waldrop (vocals/guitar), Mike Dodson (bass/vocals), Jack Parker (guitar/vocals) and Jeremy "B-Wack" Bush (drums). All of the members are from Waco and were formerly part of The David Crowder Band.

After releasing their first full-length album "Evening : Morning," the band wanted to go on tour so people could hear their new music.

"Finally having a record out of new material and get to play all of the songs, it's going to be great," Waldrop said.

Interacting with their fans is something The Digital Age takes to heart, and going out on tour is one way the band hopes to connect with their fans on a deeper level.

"We've always cherished our interactions with our fans. We are the ones posting on our Facebook, Twitter, YouTube etc., not some social media company," Dodson said. "We just want to be able to get in the same room with folks and sing with one voice to our God. It's why we do what we do."

Tickets are available online at <http://www.baylor.edu/studentactivities/> ticketoffice/ and at the Bill Daniel Student Center (SUB) ticket office on the Baylor campus. Student tickets are $10, while general public tickets are $13. Tickets bought on the day of the show are $15 each. For more information, contact the ticket office at 254-710-3210.

Salado defender Kyle King tries to block a pass by McGregor quarterback Troy Allison to the Eagles' final game of the football season. The Eagles lost 32-17 to finish the season 1-9 under first-year head coach Brent Graham.

Turnovers doom Eagles' hopes against McGregor

By MASON SIMMONS

As the cold air began to settle in McGregor, the Eagles had one goal in mind: finish the season with a win against the second place team in the district. The Bulldogs' one loss for the season was against #1-ranked Cameron Yoe earlier in the season, and nothing would have been sweeter than to hand them one more as Salado finished the 2013 football season. However, it was not meant to be as Salado lost to McGregor 32-17. Nov. 8.

Offensively, the Eagles were able to move the chains and keep the ball moving, but six turnovers throughout the ballgame would prove too much to overcome. The Eagles kept fighting as senior running back Ryan Simmons had a very productive night while both running and receiving the ball effectively. Ultimately, he would run the ball twenty-three times for 110 yards and two touchdowns, while catching the ball seven times for seventy-one yards. Senior running back Chase Crenwelge had a similar performance

SHS debates go 1, 2, 3 at Groesbeck

The Salado High School Speech and Debate Team competed at the U.I.L. Congressional District 12 at Groesbeck High School on Nov. 9 where 11 schools competed.

Sydney Walter placed first, Rachel Evans placed second and Robert Cortes placed third. Tyler Hubbs reached the final round of competition.

The top three competitors from each congressional district qualified for the inaugural U.I.L. Congress State Meet to be held Jan. 7-8, 2014 at the University of Texas.

According to University Interscholastic League, "Congress is an individual contest in a large group setting. It models the legislative process of democracy, specifically, the United States Congress. Within this mock legislative assembly competition, contestants draft legislation submitted to the tournament, and they research the docket of bills and resolutions dealing with real-world social and political policies prior to the contest to prepare their speeches. At the tournament, deliver formal discourse on the merits and disadvantages of each piece of legislation, and vote to pass or defeat the measures they have examined. Parliamentary procedure forms structure for the discourse, and students extemporaneously respond to others' arguments over the course of a session. Judges evaluate contestants for their research and analysis of issues, argumentation, skill in asking and answering questions, use of parliamentary procedure and clarity and fluency of speaking."

The Salado High

School Speech and Debate Team will compete next at the Third Annual Capitol Congressional Debate Contest on Dec. 5 at the Texas State Capitol Building and the 17th Annual Longhorn Classic Tournament TFA and TOC qualifier to be held at the University of Texas at Austin on Dec. 6-7. The team is coached by Tim Cook.

The Salado Eagles will turn to returning seniors like Dane Hankamer, Kase Spears and Kyle Heiner, when they begin their run at returning to the playoffs this year. The Eagles were 28-9 last year, falling in the Region semi-finals to eventual State Champions White Oak. Hankamer averaged 13 points a game and nine rebounds a game. Spears had 8 points and 4 assists per game and Heiner averaged 5 points per game. Also returning from last year's squad are Kole Hearne, Tyler Ramthun and Preston Rosebrock. "I think we will be strong again this year," Coach Kenny Mann said. "The boys have been working hard on the court, and in the weight room. I look for us to be a fast pace get-in-yourface type of team. They will be fun to watch!" The Eagles tip off Nov. 15 at Lorena.

while gaining thirty-six yards on seven rushes and twenty-six yards with three catches. Junior quarterback McLane Carter's favorite target for the night was senior receiver Kase Spears, who had yet another game with more than 100 yards receiving. He contributed 107 yards on eight receptions. Junior receiver Jacob Quick was able to provide thirty-five yards receiving on two receptions, while senior receiver Jake Bloomer had three catches for twenty-six yards. Defensively, the Eagles were able to cause three Bulldog turnovers, but had difficulty stopping the combination of senior quarterback Troy Allison and senior running back Garrett Salas. Allison was able to throw fifteen completions for 219 yards, two touchdowns and two interceptions; while Salas was able to rush for 86 yards and three touchdowns.

During the first half, the Eagle defense came out swinging, while seniors Caden Eary and Kase Spears were able to pick off Allison during the first two Bulldog possessions. However, the offense started off somewhat slowly. Once Carter was able to find his rhythm, the Eagles were able to methodically move the chains. Halfway through the first quarter, there were three consecutive plays for which the offense were called for holding penalties and allowed a sack, but that did not seem to phase Carter as he found Simmons for an eleven-yard screen and a wide-open Spears for a thirty-six yard pass. This led to Salado's first touchdown as Simmons rambled in from seven yards out. McGregor was able to answer as they moved the ball down the field and Salas was able to punch it in from the Salado 5 yard line. As the time expired in the first quarter, the ballgame was tied, 7-7. Early in the second quarter, the Eagles fumbled the ball which led to another Salas touchdown halfway through the quarter. After a missed extra point, the Bulldogs led, 13-7. On the following drive, the Eagles again fumbled the ball, but were able to retain possession. Crenwelge was able to punch through the Bulldog defense, which led to another Simmons touchdown with a minute left in the half. After a successful extra point, Salado lead, 14-13. However, McGregor wasted no time finding the endzone again for a third time following a forty-seven yard pass which set up Salas for his third touchdown of the night. As time expired, McGregor led the Eagles, 19-14.

The second half was a little rougher for the Eagles, as a combination of turnovers and the Bulldog ground game would keep Salado out of contention. In the opening minute of the third quarter, Carter would throw an interception as he was trying to hit Spears near the Salado 40 yard line. After forcing McGregor to punt, the Eagles found themselves facing a fourth-and 7, during which Ryan Simmons attempted a run on a fake punt. The Bulldog defense was able to stop him two yards shy of the first-down mark, and caused a turnover on downs. After each team traded a few more possessions and punts, the Bulldogs found themselves in the red zone as the time expired for the third quarter.

The first play of the closing quarter, the Bulldogs scored on an Allison pass to senior Brett Boles from five yards out. Salado scored their only points in the second half off a 41 yard Crenwelge field goal. What looked like a botched play originally, turned into Crenwelge powering the ball into and over the crossbar. With nine minutes left in the game, the Eagles trailed McGregor, 25-17. The game started to look as though the Eagles could pull off an upset, while being down by only eight points, and a fumble recovery from Davis Little on the next Bulldog possession. However, McGregor's defense tightened up and was able to tackle Simmons six yards behind the line of scrimmage on a fourth- and 5 with seven minutes remaining. Four minutes later, Allison was able to find senior Kaine Stewart for his second touchdown pass for the night, boosting the score to 32-17. The Eagles took the field with a sense of urgency; however in the closing seconds, the McGregor defense was able to pick off Carter for a second time.

Lend Me a Tenor starts Nov. 14

Chase scenes, mistaken identities, and the greatest opera star in the world come together for a fun, family night of entertainment when Salado High School's theatre department opens its fall season with the farcical comedy, Lend Me a Tenor by Ken Ludwig on Nov. 14. Show dates include: Nov. 14, 18, and 21 at 7 p.m. in the SHS cafeteria.

Casey Williamson (Max) and John Post (Tito) will perform in Lend Me a Tenor Nov. 14, 18 and 21.

Lend Me a Tenor is set in September 1934. Saunders, the general manager of the Cleveland Grand Opera Company, is primed to welcome world famous, Tito Morelli, II Stupendo, the greatest tenor of his generation, to appear for one night only as Otello. The star arrives late and, through a hilarious series of mishaps, is given a double dose of tranquilizers and passes out. His pulse is so low that Saunders and his assistant Max believe he's dead. In a frantic attempt to salvage the evening, Saunders persuades Max to get into Morelli's Otello costume and fool the audience into thinking he's II Stupendo. Max succeeds admirably, but Morelli comes to and gets into his other costume ready to perform. Now two Otellos are running around in costume and two women are running around, each thinking she is with II Stupendo. A sensation on Broadway and in London's West End, this madcap, screwball comedy is guaranteed to leave audiences teary-eyed with laughter.

Lend Me a Tenor was the winner of three Tony Awards and 4 Drama Desk Awards and was the 2010 nominee for Best Revival of a Play. The New York Times calls it "One of two great farces by a living writer."

Admission is $5 and will raise funds for the UIL One-Act Play.

Salado's first bank building on Tour

CONTRIBUTED BY NANCY KELSEY

Salado's first bank building and the home of a President's great-grandfather will be part of the Salado Historical Society Tour of Homes and Sites Dec. 6-8.

The original First State Bank is the third stop on the Homes and Sites tour. The George Washington Baines house on Royal Street is the fourth top of the tour.

Grace Jones restored the original First State Bank building for use as her dress shop in the early 1960s. The native limestone one-story building was built in 1907 as Salado's first bank, the First State Bank. The bank occupied the 30' x 60' rock building erected by W. R. Berry adjacent to his building at the corner of Main Street and Royal Street. Mr. Berry acquired the rock used for this building from the J. W. Vickrey home, at one time used as Salado's second hotel, the Lone Star. Salado's first banking institution operated for only a short time before closing in 1920.

In the early 1960s, Grace and Jack Jones purchased the old rock First State Bank building. The building of 19-inch thick walls was in a dilapidated condition, without a roof or floor. They restored the building and opened Grace Jones of Salado, a couture dress shop. She stated in 1976 that customers from around the country flew to Temple to patronize her shop. Displayed for the tour are dresses purchased from Grace Jones shop that will be modeled by local women. While in the building, see if you can spot who is wearing a Grace Jones dress.

The George Washington Baines house is today a bed and breakfast inn. The one-and-a-half story salt-box style home was built circa 1866 with features characteristic of the Greek revival style, including the distinctive front porch with square columns, transoms, and delicate ornamentation. Two limestone rock chimneys flank the east and west sides of the house. The house rests on large hand hewn sealed beams typical of early pioneer Central Texas homes. An interesting reminder of the home's connection to its agrarian past is a two-story barn located north of the house. Additional historical structures recently added to the property include a 19th century windmill.

The house was once the home of Rev. George W. Baines (1809-1882), great-grandfather of United States President Lyndon Baines Johnson. From 1861 to 1863, Baines was president of Baylor University at Independence, Texas. A renowned Baptist minister in early Texas history, he founded the pioneer "Texas Baptist" newspaper in 1855.

Baines House, listed on the National Registry of Historic Places, is also a Recorded Texas Historic Landmark.

Today, uses of both structures merge history with modern use, with the old bank building now used by Rosanky's home décor shop, and Baines house is a bed and breakfast.

With the exception of Historic Salado College Park, all homes and sites will be open 5-8 p.m. Friday, December 6; 10-5 p.m. Saturday, December 7; 1-5 p.m. Sunday, December 7. Historic Salado College Park will be open on Saturday (10-5 p.m.) and Sunday (1-5 p.m.) only.

Tickets for the tour are available at the Visitor Center (831 North Main Street), tourism@salado-events.com; and the following businesses: Charlotte's of Salado, Sofi's, Fletcher's Books, Taylors, and McCain's Bakery, all on Main Street in the historic Village of Salado.

Super Crossword

BODY HITS

South dealer. North-South vulnerable.

NORTH: 10 6 2, A J 5, 9 8 6 3, A 7 4. WEST: J, 10 9 8 6 2, K J 4, 9 6 5 3. EAST: Q 9 7 5, K Q 7 3, Q 7 2, 8 2. SOUTH: A K 8 4 3, 4, A 10 5, K Q J 10.

The bidding: South 1, West Pass, North 2, East Pass. Opening lead — ten of hearts.

THE ODDS ARE 30-1 Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker

Assume you're declarer in four spades, playing rubber bridge. If you make your contract, you score 820 points; if you go down one, you lose 100 points.

It is therefore clear that if you are presented with an opportunity to score an over-trick, you should not grasp that opportunity if it might jeopardize the contract. It would be downright foolish to run the risk of suffering a 920-point loss for the sake of gaining an extra 30 points.

Now let's apply this principle to today's hand. You win West's heart lead with dummy's ace and play a low trump to the ace, on which West produces the jack.

If you continue with the king of trumps, hoping West started with the Q-J doubleton -- in which case you'd finish with 11 tricks -- you wind up down one, losing two trump tricks and two diamonds.

But that would be the wrong way to proceed. Once West's jack appears, it is far better to play safe by leading a low spade toward dummy's ten at trick three. This provides you with 100 percent protection against the possibility of losing more than one trump trick. In the actual deal, East wins the ten with the queen, but his 9-7 of trumps later succumb to your K-8-4 when you lead a trump from dummy.

It is true that the recommended play gives up all chance of scoring an over-trick (if West has the Q-J alone), but this is one of those luxuries you can easily afford to do without.

DIY Furnace Maintenance

THIS IS A HAMMER
By Samantha Mazzotta

Q: Can I do some furnace maintenance myself? I don't want to pay for a contractor to come every year just to tell me the furnace is fine. -- Clive T., Minneapolis

A: While it's important to have a heating professional check your system at the start of fall or winter, you can handle some maintenance tasks in between that will keep your system in good shape and reduce the number of more expensive repairs you may need later.

First, make sure the air filter is changed monthly during heating season. To improve air intake further, vacuum away dust from the outer cabinet door.

Vacuum the air registers in the house to remove dust and make sure nothing is blocking them, like furniture or dropped items.

Within the unit, clean the blower or fan inside by turning off the heating system completely. Access the fan compartment and clean either the blower or fan blades (depending on your system) with a bottle brush. Using a vacuum with a hose attachment makes picking up the dust bunnies easier.

Beyond the heating unit, visually inspect the air ducts and make sure they're in good shape, not damaged or loose.

If a duct is loose where two of them meet, reattach snugly using sheet metal screws. Seal the seam with aluminized tape, pressing out air bubbles, so that air flows smoothly through the duct without leaking.

HOME TIP: To add warmth and humidity to your home in winter, leave water in the tub after a bath until it has completely cooled, then drain.
