Aldermen address personnel issues

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Stephen Peters will resign as financial/investment officer for the Village of Salado at the end of the year, Salado aldermen learned at their Nov. 21 meeting.

"He has put a great training program in place with Margaret Murray," City administrator Jim Reed said of Peters. "However, we will have a hole and there will be a need."

Aldermen also accepted the resignation of Salado Volunteer Fire Department Chief Shane Berrier as the Emergency Management Coordinator for the Village. Berrier recommended and the board approved SVFD volunteer and professional firefighter William Kline, who has a bachelor degree in Emergency Management, as the Emergency Management Coordinator.

In other personnel business, aldermen approved Chief Jack Hensley's recommendation for the hire of retired Bell Co. Sheriff Deputy Larry Berrier as the Village Code Enforcement Officer, a part-time position.

The board also approved renewal of a contract with Justice of the Peace Don Engleking to act as the Municipal Judge for the Village of Salado.

Aldermen also approved the building permit for construction of a CEFCO convenience store along West Village Road and I-35. CEFCO will build a 5,000 sq. ft. convenience store with gas pumps at the location.

Reed told aldermen that in coming weeks they would need to develop an overlay district with specific ideas and goals in mind for "what you want the west side of the interstate to look like when the I-35 expansion is done."

The overlay district should consider pedestrian traffic as well as regulations to apply to buildings, such as height, material and architectural style.

Reed requested committee meetings during December, including the committee developing the west side overlay district and the sewer subcommittee. He told aldermen that the sewer subcommittee needed to meet to address "some options that will be available to us," adding that the northern option for a treatment center was no longer a viable option as planned.

Aldermen will meet only once in December. The meeting will be 6 p.m. Dec. 12 at the municipal building.

With help from Salado restaurants, the Salado Family Relief Fund served hundreds of people during the annual Empty Bowl Project. The Empty Bowl Project raises money each year for the Christmas drive of the SFRF. Each year, SFRF provides Christmas gifts to approximately 150 Salado area children coming from about 50 families in the community. Civic groups, church groups and school groups are encouraged to adopt a family or a child during the Christmas drive. If you would like to "adopt" a child or family for Christmas, email Oas at cashmagnet@vvm.com or call her at 947-9471 for details. Above are some of the bowls made each year. At right, Titia Arlidge, owner of Mud Pies Pottery, and Rod Stockstill serve soup. Below, the lines went out the door.

A passenger car ran into the back of the Salado Volunteer Fire Department fire and rescue truck on Nov. 22. Kenny Wigley arrived on the scene south of Salado at mile marker 279 (Hill Rd.) on I-35 where two vehicles were against the divider wall. While he was checking on the occupants of those vehicles, a passenger car struck the back of the truck. The passenger had some soreness and was transported to Scott & White. The driver was not hurt. "Our truck being parked there kept the car from hitting the first accident, which could have made it worse," Chief Shane Berrier said. The truck just needs a new bed and bumper. Several accidents have happened at that location due to drainage.

Parade kicks off Christmas Stroll

The annual Salado Christmas Parade will kick off the Christmas Stroll weekend when it comes up Main St. on Dec. 5 at 5 p.m.

Entries into the parade will line up on Center Circle and make their way east on Royal Street before turning north on Main Street. All entries must be gathered and lined up no later than 4:45 p.m. Dec. 5, according to event chair

Kristi Jarvis.

The parade will end at the Salado Civic Center parking lot on Main Street, where everyone is invited to join the parade entries for hot chocolate, photos with St. Nick and the lighting of the Christmas tree.

Following the Parade is the annual Salado Community Chorus Christmas Concert, which will be at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 5 at the First Baptist Church. The original time of 7 p.m. was moved back to 7:30 p.m. to allow people a chance to attend following the parade.

After the concert of traditional and contemporary Christmas music, there will be a special gourmet dinner offered at The Range Restaurant.

The parade kicks off the annual Christmas Stroll weekends, which will be

Dec. 6-8 and Dec. 13-15. The Stroll weekends will include an Historic Homes and Sites Tour (Dec. 6-8), Live Nativity at the First Baptist Church (Dec. 6-8), late night shopping and live carolers both weekends, a Dec. 7 Christmas concert, a chance to make your own glass ornaments at Salado Glassworks and performances of Charles Dickens' Christmas classic "A Christmas Carol."

Evening of Holiday Music benefits College Hill park

The Robertson-Colony-Salado College Foundation will present "An Evening of Holiday Music" 7-10 p.m. Dec. 7 at the office and home of Dr. and Mrs. Douglas B. Willingham at the corner of Main Street and Thomas Arnold Road in Salado.

The event is to benefit the ongoing preservation and development of the Historic Salado College Park on South Main Street.

Tickets are $30 per person and reservations are necessary.

The evening will include a recital by Carol Meyer Willingham, soprano, and Jason Francis, baritone, along with the Karen Rego combo, featuring guest artist Shane Starkweather. Gretchen Williams, harpist, will also play for the event.

Wine, hors d'oeuvres and coffee will be served.

Carol Meyer Willingham is a 1981 graduate of the University of Iowa where she also received her Masters in Music in 1985. She received a certificate from the conservatory "Mozarteum" in Salzburg, Austria, in 1983. Except for her time in Austria, Carol has studied with Baylor University professor emeritus Dr. John Van Cura for over 35 years. John and his wife, Dr. Kim Van Cura, are former residents of Salado and founded Music in Salado.

Carol sang with several opera companies across the United States, the most notable of which was a consecutive nine-year career as a principal artist at the Metropolitan Opera between 1991 and 2000. She also sang concerts in Europe and parts of Asia and the Middle East. She was a 2004 Grammy Award nominee. She is now a licensed psychotherapist in private practice with offices in Georgetown and Salado, after receiving a Masters in Social Work from New York University, a post-graduate certificate in Marriage and Family Therapy from Blanton-Peale Institute and completing a two-year internship at the Family Life Chaplain Training and Resource Center at Fort Hood.

Jason Paul Francis studied vocal, piano and organ performance at Mary-Hardin Baylor. For the past five years he has continued to study with friend and colleague Carol Meyer Willingham. Jason has travelled and toured as singer with the Continental Singers and Orchestra throughout the United States. He also toured with his family's Christian music ministry and has maintained a long solo career.

After studying music, Jason turned his focus toward health care and graduated from the University of Mary-Hardin Baylor with both his Bachelors and Masters Degrees in Psychology in 1995 and 1997 respectively. He later completed his post-graduate training in Rational Emotive Behavior Therapy from the Ellis Institute in New York City in 2000 and a post-Masters Advanced Studies degree in Health Psychology/Behavioral Medicine in 2007 from North Central University in Arizona. Jason is currently in private practice with offices in Waco and Temple, Texas, and serves as adjunct professor of Psychology for the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor in Belton, Texas and adjunct professor of Psychiatry for the Texas A&M Health Science Center in Temple.

Attendance to the event is limited, and reservations may be held by sending payment to the Robertson Colony-Salado College Foundation, Inc. (a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization); c/o Dr. and Mrs. Douglas B. Willingham; P. O. Box 767; Salado, TX 76571. For further information contact Sara Yeager at 254-947-5242.

Time to take care of Main St.

To the Editor:

I, along with many others, am concerned with the construction of I-35 disrupting traffic through our wonderful village. On several occasions over the last few months my family and friends have visited Main Street businesses when diverted vehicles from I-35 increased traffic through our village at an alarming rate. Normally, increased traffic means increased business and revenue. However, when commuter traffic is detoured down Main Street, there are other concerns. Pedestrian safety is the highest, in my opinion. Trying to cross Main Street safely with a never ending line of commuters is next to impossible. The speed limit on Main Street is 30 MPH. Where is our Police Force when violators of this law extend for a mile or so for hours at a time? Big rigs driving down Main Street, engine braking to slow down; bumper-to-bumper traffic; no evident concern for pedestrians; all opportunities for our protectors of the peace to protect. Not to mention the increase in revenue from serving citations to violators of the speed limit and other motor vehicle laws. I am not asking for a speed trap, even placing a police car at the south end of Main Street would slow traffic down through our lovely village. Don't get me wrong, I respect and appreciate all our police force does for our community. Reading the police report is a joy my entire family takes every Thursday. I also understand not all our Police Force does for the village goes into the report. However, I see the need for increased

An Open Exchange of Ideas

Obama loses his cool

Rich Lowry

Barack Obama is the coolest president we've had since John F. Kennedy, at least according to conventional standards for such things. Obama has always been a brand as much as a politician, one that has been perceived as sleek, smart and up to date.

Then along came Healthcare.gov. Its failure to launch is a signal event in the long political battle over Obamacare and perhaps an inflection point in the president's image. It's hard to maintain a sense of truly being on the cutting edge of change when you can't build a website.

Obama's cool was, in part, an artifact of world-class marketing. Graphic designer Michael Bierut writes in the book "Designing Obama" (yes, there's such a book) of how impressed he was watching Obama rallies in 2008: "The awe-inspiring part was the way all the signs were faithfully, and beautifully, set in Hoefler & Frere-Jones's typeface Gotham." If only the folks at Health and Human Services were consumed with such attention to detail.

The Obama team's technological prowess reinforced the sense that it owned the future. Except it had no bearing on how the president would or could run the government. We've now learned that the president doesn't know how to make a government website work, or know to check to see if it's going to work. "Neither he and I are technology geeks," Vice President Joe Biden explained the other day.

When selling the prospective glories of his website, President Obama compared it to Travelocity and Amazon, leaders in a private sector that is highly flexible and reactive and where failure means extinction. Government is nothing like that. It never has been and never will be. It is plodding and bureaucratic, beholden to political imperatives and often stuck in practices that make no sense.

A presidential campaign can hire whomever it wants without taking account of procurement rules or any other bureaucratic impediment. It is a private entity subject to the laws of competition. It exists more in the world of Travelocity than Healthcare.gov.

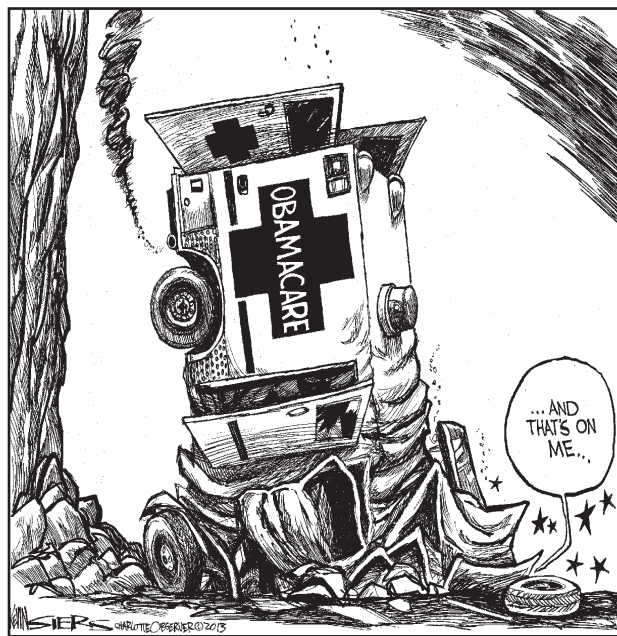

At the end of the day, the president has been a dazzling frontman for what is, in essence, the Department of Motor Vehicles. He has created a glittering image of hope and change that has little to do with a rumbling, ramshackle federal government that is still largely built along mid-20th-century lines. Instead of imbuing government with his sense of cool, he has been left apologizing for a government failure that profoundly runs against the zeitgeist.

We celebrate the Internet entrepreneurs who can take an idea and, with pluck and creativity, make it into a reality that we can't live without. It is one of the ironies of the Obama Era that the same kids whose lives are defined by a dizzying array of endlessly changing choices have voted for a president invested in protecting a government that embodies the opposite. It may be that after five years, they are beginning to get a clue. A new Quinnipiac poll shows young people disapproving of the president 54 percent to 36 percent.

The image was that fine logo and typeface; the reality is Healthcare.gov.

'Tis the Season to Celebrate Mammon

If you work in a chain store, don't even think about taking a holiday

Here come Thanksgiving, Hanukkah, and Christmas. It's a month-long season of friends and family, spiritual reflection, and time to decompress from our usual helter-skelter lives, right?

Good lord, shout the corporate bosses, are you nuts? Do you think America is some kind of Norman Rockwell fantasyland? This is the season of mass consumerism, bucko. So lift your tail-end out of that La-Z-Boy and hit the malls — pronto.

And if you happen to have a job in a chain store, don't even think about taking a holiday — or you won't have a job the next day. Let us now praise the one God we all serve: mammon.

Years ago, Macy's started "Black Friday" sales as a kickoff to this Holy Month of Frenzied Commercialization. But it produced such a surge of profit that Walmart and other chains converted to the Church of Perpetual Selling.

Black Friday used to begin the morning after Thanksgiving. Last year, reaching for more, the Elmer Gantrys of Walmart dared to desecrate Thanksgiving itself by opening their doors to the Black Friday masses at 8 p.m. — on the night of the Thursday holiday.

This year, Macy's, Target, Toys "R" Us, J.C. Penney, Best Buy, Kohl's, and others are also pushing the Friday Shop-a-Rama into Thursday. Walmart will open at 6 p.m., intruding even deeper into Thanksgiving's family dinner hour.

And, pushing excess to a new high, Kmart will open at 6 a.m. on Thanksgiving morning. Yes, 6 a.m.! Still, a Walmart executive says, "We thought 6 o'clock was the exact right time to win the weekend."

Wow — did you ever think of Thanksgiving as something to "win"? But, then, your spiritual devotion to mammon probably isn't as ardent as that executive's.

Meanwhile, the same guy reports that the one-million low-wage workers who'll have to staff the Thanksgiving profit grab are "really excited to work that day."

Sure they are. As long as you think "excited" means furious.

Methodist Church plans to feed 300 travelers on Thanksgiving Day

While many folks will be on the road to Grandmother's house for Thanksgiving, others find themselves having to travel for other reasons and not able to partake in the holiday tradition of turkey and stuffing.

Holiday travelers also find that many restaurants, including fast food places, may be closed for the day.

Salado United Methodist Church will serve a traditional Thanksgiving meal to road-weary travelers on Nov. 28. For the fourth year, church members volunteer their time and energy to provide a Thanksgiving table to travelers at the IH-35

Southbound rest stop just south of Salado.

The meal will be served 11 a.m.-2 p.m. Flashing portable electronic billboards will alert travelers that the meals will be available.

"Church members are rearranging their own Thanksgiving to be able to cook and serve within our community," congregation member Rolly Correa said. "We will be serving the traditional Thanksgiving meal of turkey, dressing, brown gravy, green bean casserole, yam and plenty of desserts."

Johnny's Steaks and Bar-Be-Que will be smoking turkeys for the event, Bush's Chicken is supplying tea and Brookshire Brothers is donating dinner rolls. The signs advising travelers of the meal will be set up by James Construction Co.

"It was by chance that I stopped and got fed a blessed meal this day," said a commercial truck driver from Ohio during last year's event. "I thought I was only going to eat a taco for my thanksgiving meal instead I had turkey, dressing, sweet potatoes yams, green beans and all kinds of desserts."

"We hope the weather cooperates with us and know that cold weather will not dampen our spirit of serving this Thanksgiving," Correa said.

Last year, the church fed about 350 travelers and is planning to do the same this year.

Lighthouse Bright Light Tree brings gifts to foster children

Although the holidays are normally thought of as being a very joyous season, Christmas can be a very lonely time for children who have been displaced from their own families.

In an effort to let these children know that people care and they are not alone, Lighthouse Family Network is providing you the opportunity to show these foster children that they are special and valuable through their "Bright Light Tree" program. The "Bright Light" tree, located in Lighthouse Family Network's office at 213 Mill Creek Drive, Suite 175, is a Christmas tree decorated with ornaments giving the first name and age of the child and some ideas of things he or she would like to receive for Christmas.

Interested individuals may select an ornament from this "Bright Light" tree and then purchase a gift(s) for the child named on the back of the ornament. The Lighthouse staff asks that the gifts be returned to their office no later than Dec. 20 so they can be delivered to the children across the state before Christmas Eve.

Lighthouse Family Network is a 501(c) (3) non-profit organization and all donations are tax deductible.

Donors will be listed on their web-site, www.lfnet.org. For more information on Lighthouse Family Network, call 254-947-3152.

Lighthouse Family Network, Inc., in Salado, is a Christian child-placing agency that is currently providing therapeutic foster care to approximately 60 severely abused children throughout Texas.

CTC begins online registration for Spring

Central Texas College (CTC) will conduct online registration for the spring 2014 semester classroom courses Nov. 25-Jan. 10. During this time, returning students and new students who have completed the admissions/academic advisement process can register online using the CTC WebAdvisor system. Spring semester classes begin Jan. 13.

To register online, students should log onto www.ctcd.edu, click the "Students" link and then click the "WebAdvisor" link. Class schedules are also available at the same web address.

Before registering for classes, new students or returning students looking to change their degree plan must complete the academic advisement process at the Guidance and Counseling office in Student Services (Bldg. 119). Scheduled advisement dates are Dec. 2-3 and Jan. 6-7. The open advisement dates Dec. 4-20 will have a longer waiting time.

Following the holiday break, scheduled walk-in registration will be conducted Jan. 6-7 in Building 119. Walk-in registration time must then wait for the open dates, Jan. 8-10, to register and, again, can expect a longer wait time. To avoid the longer wait times, students are free to register prior to the walk-in schedule as soon as they have completed academic advisement.

police presence on Main Street, especially when traffic from I-35 is diverted through our wonderful village.

This brings me to another concern my family has voiced over the last few years. There is a need for a sidewalk, increased crosswalks, and lighting on Main Street. Imagine our village with gas lamps (or the electric equivalent) lining a brick or cobblestone sidewalk up and down Main Street. Increasing the ability for pedestrians to walk safely, day and night, should be our concern as well. I understand the cost of building such an infrastructure and getting concurrence from business owners. However, I believe bettering the safety of our visitors will make up for the out-of-pocket costs to the village. These are just some thoughts from a concerned citizen who frequents Main Street on a regular basis.

A flock of around 300 whooping cranes is now returning to Texas for the winter after flying in from summer breeding grounds in Canada.

World's last flock of wild whooping cranes returns to winter in Texas

By JOHN MICHAELSON
TEXAS NEWS SERVICE

AUSTIN, Texas - The world's last flock of wild whooping cranes is now arriving in Texas, as the endangered birds make their annual winter migration to the coast from northern Canada. The flock has been growing slowly and it now numbers around 300 - despite the troubles of five years ago, recalled Myron Hess, Texas Water Programs manager for the National Wildlife Federation.

"They had a fairly big setback in 2008 and 2009, when around 23 or more of the whooping cranes died during winter on the Texas coast during drought conditions," Hess said, "but sort of generally, over time, the population has been growing slowly."

Following the whooping crane deaths, The Aransas Project filed a lawsuit under the Federal Endangered Species Act. Hess said a court determined that the management of water in Texas was harming the birds.

"But that ruling by the federal district court is currently on appeal," Hess said, "so basically right now any changes in management are on hold. There really haven't been any changes made as a result of that ruling."

Hess predicted that a ruling on the appeal could come at any time, adding that he hopes it will lead to the improved management of Texas water resources with wildlife impacts in mind.

"Here, we need to be managing it to help benefit the whooping crane, but it's an issue all up and down the Texas coast as we're taking more and more water out of our river systems and depriving the coast of fresh water inflows. We're seeing impacts to species up and down the coast. We really have to do a better job of looking at the big picture," he said.

The whooping cranes will winter around the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge until about March, before migrating nearly 2,500 miles back to northern Canada and their summer breeding grounds. In total, about 600 whooping cranes live in the wild and in captivity in North America - a major turnaround from the 1940s, when unregulated hunting and loss of habitat pushed the species to the brink of extinction.

More information about whooping cranes is available at www.nwf.org.

Youth leaders meet with college counselors

By MOLLY RODEFFER
 SHS YOUTH LEADERSHIP

Salado Youth Leadership met with the admissions counselors of Baylor University, Central Texas College, Concordia University, Howard Payne University, Temple College, Texas A&M University - Central Texas, University of Mary Hardin Baylor, University of North Texas, University of Texas on Nov. 4.

The students had the opportunity to ask the counselors pertinent questions about the schools, expanding their knowledge about the admission's process, and learning a variety of aspects about the different colleges.

Students learned about entrance requirements, the application process, financial aid, the size of the campuses, dormitories, and the different majors they offered. After the counselors introduced themselves and their colleges that they represented, the students got to ask them about these topics, and any other questions, like dual credit and the benefits of AP courses in college.

It was a stimulating chance for the students to have access to all of these schools at once, and they took full benefit of these resources.

Many of the students were interested in Texas A&M University, but unfortunately, their representative was not available. They will, however, be available to SYL students at a later date, to be determined. This was a great learning opportunity for the Salado Youth Leadership students, expanding their knowledge of all the schools available.

Historical Society Tour bring history to life

A private home, a high Victorian home, two restored log cabins and a chapel will be open during the Salado Historical Society's 2013 Tour of Historic Homes and Sites, Dec. 6-8.

History interpreters at 10 homes and sites will bring the history of Salado to life.

At Tour Stop Number 7 is Norwood House, built over 100 years ago in 1901. Descendants relive Christmas 1948, a time family members recall as one of their happiest times at the home of Pearl and Josiah H. Norwood, known by all as "Towhead" and "Big Daddy." Family hosts dressed in period clothing greet visitors to their home filled with the aroma of fresh baked cookies and sounds of the season.

After purchasing the house in 1910, the Norwoods raised their six children and lived there until their deaths. Originally, the house had two rooms, built on pier and beam. Mrs. Norwood had a reputation for deciding when to move or add walls as children were born. Over the years, the Norwood family expanded the house to eight rooms, with the addition of the living room, dining room, and indoor bathroom, porch enclosures, and replacement of the south side fireplace with a window.

J. H. Norwood built the Norwood Grocery and general merchandise store in Salado in the early 1920s. He operated the store for several years before going to work in Belton at Cochran, Blair, and Potts, where he worked until 1955.

At Tour Stop Number 8 is Vickrey House, built about 1885 by Granville Napoleon Vickrey, a graduate of Salado College, soon after his marriage to Sophia F. Stinson. He built the Second Empire style house with Mansard roof just south of the 1871 home of his parents. The house is listed on National Register of Historic Places.

Granville Vickrey came to Bell County with his family in 1858. His father, Confederate veteran J. W. Vickrey, became proprietor of Lone Star Hotel, located on the same lot as the family home, and a trustee of Salado College.

The Norwood House on Main Street.

A Vickrey descendant shares family information and photos with visitors during the tour.

Tour Stop Number 9 are the Boles-Aiken and Denman Log Cabins. In 1986, demolition of a house on Center Circle led to the discovery of this two-room log cabin named the Boles-Aiken by Salado Historical Society after they restored and moved the structure to its present location on the grounds of Salado Civic Center. Restoration focused on use of original logs, boards, and rocks, including those of the foundation and rock fireplace.

The Denman cabin is a 20'x20' native timber one-room clay-chinked log cabin that rests on the grounds of the Civic Center. Moses Hampton Denman (1803-1885) built the cabin in 1867 in the Tennessee Valley community, northwest of Belton. When the waters of Belton Lake threatened the pioneer structure, newspaper reporter Maude Smith had it moved to her yard in Belton, where it served as her office. In 1978, Gary Graham purchased the cabin and moved it to Troy. Robert Denman, a descendent of Moses Denman, purchased the cabin and moved it to Salado in 1983, and in 1996, he donated the cabin to Salado Historical Society. The cabin is a Recorded Texas Historic Landmark.

Always a favorite on the tour, the cabins offer a unique look at homes of early Texans. History interpreters tell about Bell County pioneers, who lived in cabins like these.

At Tour Stop Number 10 is St. Joseph's Episcopal Church. Tim Brown, Gilbert Rendon, and Cliff Rendon remodeled an existing building using architectural features similar to those of historic churches in Central Texas. In use here are about a dozen pews acquired from the 1874 St. Luke's Church in Belton. Tyler Fletcher obtained the yellow stained glass windows from the First Lutheran Church in Temple. The large figural windows, circa 1890, depicting Saints are from St. Mary's Church in Taylor.

With the exception of Historic Salado College Park, all homes and sites will be open 5-8 p.m. Dec. 6; 10-5 p.m. Dec. 7; and 1-5 p.m. Dec. 8. Historic Salado College Park will be open on Dec. 7 (10 a.m.-5 p.m.) and Dec. 8 (1-5 p.m.) only.

Tickets for the tour are available at the Visitor Center (831 North Main Street), tourism@salado-events.com; and the following businesses: Charlotte's of Salado, Sofi's, Fletcher's Books, Taylors, and McCain's Bakery, all on Main Street in the historic Village of Salado.

Historic homes and sites on tour this weekend

Docents bring Salado history to life

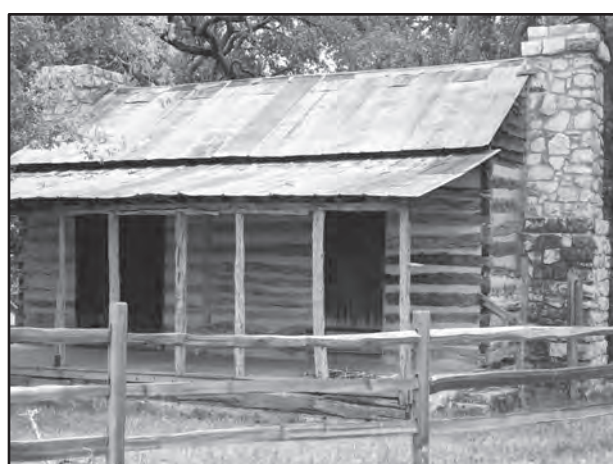

The Anderson House on Main Street will be on tour during the annual Salado Historical Society Tour of Historic Homes and Sites Dec. 6-8.

Salado Historical Society's 2013 Tour of Historic Homes and Sites takes place this weekend, Friday through Sunday, Dec. 6-8. You will have the opportunity to see 10 historic homes and sites in Salado, many decorated for Christmas and offering refreshments. All tour stops are conveniently located on either Main Street or Royal Street in the heart of the Village of Salado, with a map of the tour included with ticket purchase.

Members of Salado Historical Society, supported by members of Betty Martin Chapter NSDAR, Sons of Confederate Veterans Camp 1250, and Bell County Chapter 101 UDC, serve as history interpreters at homes and sites on the tour.

The tour takes place during the first weekend of the Salado Christmas Stroll, and the location of the homes and sites on this year's tour makes it possible to enjoy both events at the same time. Homes and sites on this year's tour are:

Stop #1: Historic Salado College Park (South Main Street at College Hill) Interpretive signs along a pathway through the park tell the history of

The Boles-Aiken cabin is located on the grounds of the Salado Civic Center.

Robertson's Colony, Salado College, and the founding of Salado.

Stop #2: Central Texas Area Museum and Salado Historical Society (423 South Main Street) Permanent and special exhibits include artifacts associated with people and events in the history of Salado and Central Texas. Enjoy Celtic Christmas music and refreshments in the Wee Scots Shop.

Stop #3: Grace Jones Shop and First State Bank (2 Royal Street) Once the home of Salado's first bank and later Grace Jones of Salado, an upscale clothing shop that specialized in couture designs she acquired on her shopping trips around the world. View this historic structure and clothing sold by Grace Jones.

Stop #4: Baines House (220 Royal) Built circa 1866 and once the home of Rev. George W. Baines, President of Baylor University at Independence, and the great-grandfather of United States President Lyndon Baines Johnson.

Stop #5: Anderson House (33 South Main Street) James Anderson, the builder, greets visitors to this house typical of early Salado homes built in the 1860s by families who moved to Salado so their children could attend Salado College.

Stop #6: Armstrong-Adams House (2 North Main Street) Owners

Doug and Carol Willingham's home is an excellent example of adaptive reuse transforming a residential structure of the old to the new, with family history, local history, and talent of Salado artists reflected throughout. History interpreters tell about the house, elaborately decorated for Christmas, and its owners.

Stop #7: Norwood House (231 North Main Street) Built in 1910 and occupied for many years by the Norwood family, the house is decorated for Christmas and descendants are baking cookies.

Stop #8: Vickrey House (402 North Main Street) Vickrey descendants tell family stories in this circa 1885 house.

Stop #9: Boles-Aiken and Denman Log Cabins (Main Street at Van Bibber Lane) Always a favorite on the tour, the cabins offer a unique look at homes of early Texans. History interpreters tell about Bell County pioneers, who lived in cabins like these.

Stop #10: Episcopal Church (945 North Main Street) A serene place to end the tour. History interpreters give architectural details of this unique church and furnishings.

With the exception of Historic Salado College Park, all homes and sites will be open 5-8 p.m. Dec. 6; 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Dec. 7 and 1-5 p.m. Dec. 8. Historic Salado College Park will be open 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Dec. 7 and 1-5 p.m. Dec. 8 only.

Tickets will be available for $15 from any of the 10 stops on the tour.

Proceeds from the tour benefit Salado Historical Society as their only fundraiser.

Tickets are available for purchase at the Salado Visitor Center, which is located at 831 North Main Street or tourism@salado-events.com. The following businesses located on Main Street will also have tickets available: Charlotte's of Salado, Sofi's, Fletcher's Books, Taylors, and McCain's Bakery.
