Texas MGs will be on display in Salado's Pace Park on May 8. The Texas MG Register gathers in Salado every year on Mother's Day weekend.

British are coming! TX MG Register to gather for 35th year here

British automobile pioneer Cecil Kimber and his MG Motorcar Company Ltd. could hardly have imagined the impact their first sports car would have on the automotive world. More than 85 years later, and 30 years since the last MG rolled from the storied factory at Abingdon-on-Thames, that passion shows no sign of letting up.

This infatuation (some might say obsession!) is kept alive today by the more than 200 enthusiastic members of The Texas MG Register (TMGR). The TX MG Register was formed thirty-five years ago – and celebrated their very first event in Salado at the Stagecoach Inn. Since that time, TMGR members have always gathered in Salado during Mothers Day weekend – enjoying the town and celebrating their little British cars.

TX MG Register members are custodians of more than 500 classic British automobiles, ranging from a 1930 M-Type fabric covered roadster to some of the last MGBs produced. TMGR members are devoted to maintaining and enjoying one of the world's favorite cars.

Most automotive historians agree that America's affection with open, two seat sports cars began with the MGTC model of the 1940's, a distinction acknowledged in later company advertising with the slogan "The sports car America loved first". Like many a bride, servicemen returning from England after World War II brought home the tiny British roadsters they fell in love with during the war. Slightly more refined TD and TF models followed, and it was devotees of these "T Series" MGs who formed the original Texas MG Register in 1975. In 1993 the club welcomed owners of "modern" MGA and MGB models, and became the TMGR as it is today; a diverse group of all ages, backgrounds and interests hailing from all parts of Texas, the nation and even as far away as Australia!

The TMGR's bylaws establish that the club is "primarily dedicated to the preservation and enjoyment of MG cars". For some members this means showing their meticulously restored cars at the spring "Gathering of the Faithful" (GoF) held every year at Salado. Many enjoy disproving the myth of British automotive unreliability with a hearty challenge to both man and machine, driving hundreds, sometimes thousands of miles to Salado for this annual event.

As Jim Yule, a past President says: "The Texas MG Register is about having fun. It's about enjoying MG's and the down to earth folks that own them." Look for a convoy of MGs traveling Bell County roads this May 6-9, 2010 and congratulate the TX MG Register members on their 35th Anniversary! The cars will be on display in Pace Park on May 8.

Hysterics against Arizona

In the case of the new Arizona immigration law, the reductio ad hitlerum occurred instantly.

Cardinal Roger Mahony wrote in a blog post, "I can't imagine Arizonans now reverting to German Nazi and Russian Communist techniques." The president of the Hispanic Federation said the law "reminded me of Nazi Germany." Cooler heads merely compared it to apartheid or 1960s-era civil-rights abuses.

And here I thought the tea partiers were befouling America's political discourse with their overheated words. They don't hold a candle to His Eminence or the assorted other hysterics decrying the rise of totalitarianism in the American Southwest.

Arizona's offense is to attempt to enforce the nation's immigration laws, in the absence of any serious commitment to do so on the part of the federal government or our political class.

The Arizona law makes it a state crime for aliens not to have immigration documents on their person. This sounds draconian, except it's been a federal crime for more than half a century -- U.S.C. 1304(e). Has the open-borders crowd forgotten that it calls illegal aliens "undocumented" for a reason?

Police officers asking for papers may be redolent of old World War II movies. But consider the offending provision: "For any lawful contact made by a law enforcement official or agency of this state ... where reasonable suspicion exists that the person is an alien who is unlawfully present in the United States, a reasonable attempt shall be made, when practicable, to determine the immigration status of the person."

Hitler would be crestfallen. This hardly reeks of extremism. It means the vast majority of requests for documentation will occur in the course of other police business, like traffic stops.

Rich Lowry

The police already have the power to stop illegal aliens, which the Arizona courts have upheld; they already can ask about someone's legal status (the U.S. Supreme Court noted in 2005 that it has "held repeatedly that mere police questioning does not constitute a seizure" under the Fourth Amendment); and they already can detain illegal aliens. The Arizona law strengthens these existing authorities.

Will they be abused? Upon signing the law, Arizona Gov. Jan Brewer issued an executive order for a training program on how to implement it without racial profiling. No matter what her intentions, of course, it's unavoidable that Latino citizens will be questioned disproportionately; nationwide, 80 percent of illegal aliens are Latino, and the proportion in Arizona must be higher.

Arizona has an estimated 460,000 illegal aliens out of a population of 6.6 million. They impose countless millions in schooling, health care and incarceration costs, more than $1 billion a year in one estimate. Arizonians needn't, and shouldn't, tolerate this. Critics accuse the state of unconstitutionally devising its own immigration policy. If it had unilaterally declared its border open to the poor, violence-plagued country to its south, this charge might have force. Instead, it seeks only to enforce the nominal immigration policy of the United States. Perhaps the federal government should try it sometime.

Salado's Legislative and Congressional members polled on "Term Limits"

Early last month this column sent a short questionnaire to each of Salado's elected State and National representatives, asking these notables for their opinions concerning "term limits" for elected officials.

That subject is popular and growing in "converse" proportion to the deteriorating effectiveness within our fractionalized Congress and Legislature. Included in this adventure: Senators John Cornyn and Kay Bailey Hutchison; Representative John Carter (Round Rock); and our two members of the Texas Legislature, Senator Troy Fraser (Horseshoe Bay) and Representative Ralph Sheffield (Temple). All five are members in good standing, of the Texas and National "Grand Old Party" conclaves.

TWO SURPRISES

This info-seeking endeavor produced a double-barrelled surprise (more like a shock): (1) "All" five lawmakers responded to our questions, and (2) "One" of the five actually favored term limits. And folks, those two outcomes rate "Double Wows" considering the entrenched views of Republicans concerning this ominous subject.

The one "nonconformist" among the otherwise four lock-stepped-partisans, was Senior Senator Kay Hutchison whose official position on "Term Limits" was relayed from Jeff Sadosky, Communications Director in the Senator's Washington office: "Throughout her career U.S. Senator Kay Bailey Hutchison has fought for term limits and continues to do so. In 2009, she co-sponsored an amendment (to the US Constitution) by Senator Jim DeMint (R-SC), advocating that service in the Senate be limited to 12 years, while House lawmakers would be allowed to serve for six years."

(Sidebar: Hutchison is presently serving in her 18th year as a U.S. Senator)

"NATTERING NABOBS OF NEGATIVISM"

The four remaining elected officials representing Salado were united in opposing term limits for elected office holders. Their responses, clearly copied from the same page in the GOPhandbook: "The current 'election process' sets up the mechanism to insure term limits."

All of which was a reminder, of one of the GOP's fallen heroes, Spiro Agnew (VP under Nixon), who originated our sub-headline: "Nattering Nabobs of Negativism" to mock his many enemies - especially the media.

Words that can easily be applied to those who today "automatically" oppose (in toto) ideas, such as term limits whose time has arrived!

* * * *

Senator John Cornyn's press office: "Elections give the people the power to enact term limits on their elected representatives and Senator Cornyn opposes any attempt by the government to infringe on that right."

Congressman John Carter: "A Congressman (or Senator) is "term-limited" by the voters, who will stand up and take action if they are tired or unhappy with their elected officials."

SALADO'S STATE LEGISLATORS

Senator Troy Fraser: "Texas currently has a mechanism to limit the term of an elected official, the election process. If a majority of voters continue to support an officeholder, they should have the right to vote to allow that person to represent them in the Texas Legislature."

Representative Ralph Sheffield: "The electoral process provides a mechanism to ensure term limits. As a State Representative, I run for office every two years. In my opinion, there does not need to be a legislative measure to mandate term limits."

GOP REVERSES

"CONTRACT" POSITION

"Nothing endures but change" was written some 2500 years ago by Greek philosopher - Heraclitus, and could easily be the guiding maxim in today's wonderful world of politics. And to verify that principal of "change" we note the "metamorphosing" that our Republican representatives (along with the vast majority of their fellow travellers) have done to their once closely held subject of Term Limits: A complete reversal from "positive to negative."

To prove this point, turn back the pages of history to 1994-5: Republicans dislocated Congress using a primary election strategy called the "Contract With America." The plan succeeded and in January 1995 Congress, led by Newt Gingrich, (New Speaker of the House) put their "Contract" in action: Pledging to "change the direction of America after four decades of one-party control."

Among the Contract's ten "trust restoring" reforms, the new Republican majority pledged to pass "The Citizen Legislative Act: "A first ever 'vote on term limits' to replace career politicians with citizen legislators."

That proposal eventually failed, and yet, here we are 15 short years later with our Republican friends yoked together in partisan complicity, "now" pledging to support few (if any) of the former "Contractual" ideals and aims. Especially "Term Limits" which they currently (and vehemently) oppose: "Voters are the term limiters" they now bleat!

On the basis of that 180 degree turn by the "right-on" righters, it's not difficult to endorse the thinking of Heraclitus (a close pal of Diogenes) when that duo proclaimed, and we repeat for effect: "Nothing endures but change."

AND FINALLY.....

Special thanks to our two State and three Congressional representatives, who responded to a subject that has become an item of increasing volatility to voters across the State and Nation.

The task of serving the public, in an elective position is difficult at best, and in today's disruptive recession-depression-war and partisan-tribulations, that assignment comes close to being unachievable.

For the most part, our nation is unhappy with both Republicans and Democrats: Actually a "surveyed" populace that is 80+ percent dissatisfied indicates more than just "unhappy" people. These are citizens desperately in need of calming by our disruptively clannish politicians.

And, since "both" Demos and Repubs are part of the problem, "both" need to make peace (not war) immediately, so as to become part of the solution: For the good of our nation and "all" its citizens!

Risk: The new four-letter word

Heritage Forum

By Edwin Feulner

The story of America was written by people who took big risks and reaped large rewards.

Through the early days of our republic, thousands of settlers moved west in search of a better life. Business leaders built railroads, companies and manufacturing plants. Some -- John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie, George Pullman, and, much more recently, Bill Gates -- made massive fortunes as they created millions of jobs and delivered the products that built a nation.

Many others, of course, simply went bust and disappeared. Their names are lost to history. But all entrepreneurs, successful or not, had something in common: They took risks.

These days, though, "risk" is a four-letter word. Governments worldwide aim to stamp it out. But that impossible task brings dangers of its own.

Consider the recent cloud of volcanic ash that swept across Europe. Governments acted quickly to ground virtually all passenger planes, leaving hundreds of thousands of people stranded. The flight ban lasted almost a week and could cost the European Union more than $3.3 billion. But, on further review (as they say in the NFL) the lengthy ban seems like a drastic overreaction.

"It's obvious that at the start of this crisis there was a lack of definitive data," Jim McKenna, the head of Britain's aviation authority said. "It's also true that for some time the density of ash above the U.K. was close to undetectable."

Airlines wanted to fly, but couldn't. "Behind the scenes our engineers and all the experts were telling us that there was no danger at all to flying, and that the danger would have been if we had flown close to Iceland through the volcano," Richard Branson, head of Virgin Atlantic and a risk-taker himself, said. "I think the [British] government has accepted that there was overreaction." But it's not clear that the British government intends to act differently if there's another eruption. "Safety is paramount," a spokesman told the Telegraph newspaper.

There's plenty of federal overreaction here at home, too. In fact, one "unacceptable risk" is probably on your kitchen table right now.

Rep. Rosa DeLauro, D-Conn., say the U.S. faces "a public health crisis" because of its salt intake. Sen. Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, agrees. He wants the Food and Drug Administration to act quickly to limit sodium.

How much is too much? "We should be taking in about a teaspoon a day," says Jane Henney of the University of Cincinnati. "But we're consuming about a teaspoon and a half." A thumbnail-sized portion of salt requires federal intervention?

This sort of micro-management of our lives pops up on a large scale, too. The health care "reform" law passed this year aims to spend trillions to protect Americans, even though some 85 percent of us already have insurance and are happy with it. The law puts our future national prosperity at risk, by creating an entitlement our government can't afford.

Washington's attempts to eliminate risk may also eliminate jobs. A financial-reform bill proposed by Sen. Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., is being sold as consumer protection. But it would actually put taxpayers on the hook for future bailouts. Moreover, "it is a job and innovation killer of the first order," according to John Mauldin, president of Millennium Wave Advisors. And yet the 1,400-page bill sailed through committee in 22 minutes, as lawmakers raced to "do something" to "protect" us.

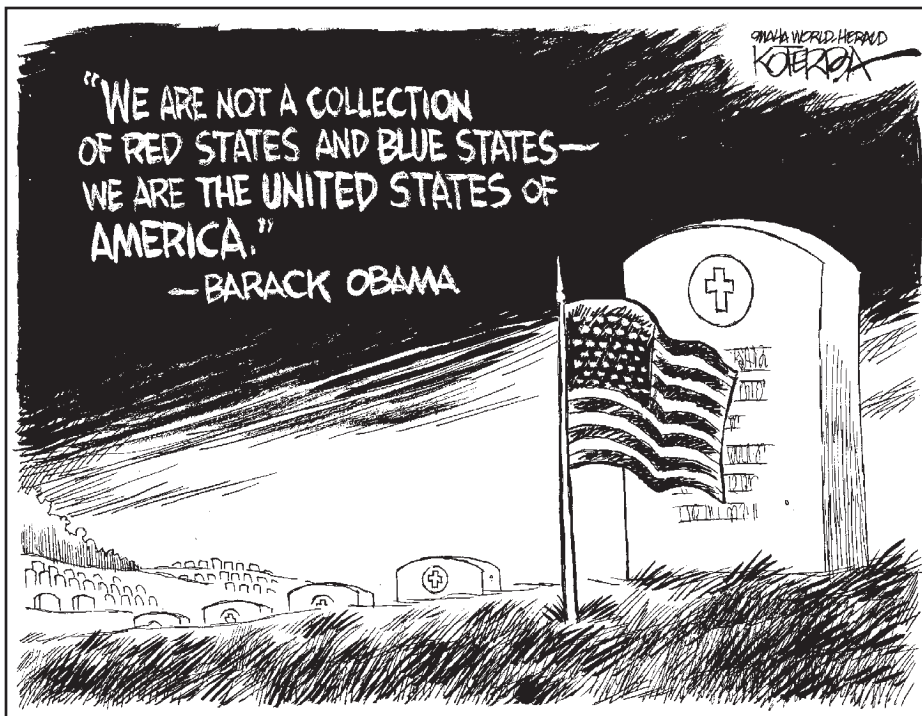

Americans need government to protect us from foreign threats and local criminals. But we can't afford a government that's large enough to attempt to protect us from everything.

The risks we take often deliver the greatest rewards. We shouldn't surrender our great American spirit for the promise of safety that bureaucrats can never deliver.

Ft. Hood massacre: unresolved

By CONGRESSMAN JOHN CARTER

Anwar al-Awlaki, a radical Al-Qaeda leader from the Washington, D.C. area but now hiding in Yemen, played a role in the 9-11 attacks, along with attempted attacks in 2006 on the Canadian Parliament and in 2007 against U.S. soldiers at Fort Dix, New Jersey. Then on Nov. 5, 2009, he succeeded in helping instigate the deadly attack on Fort Hood, leaving 14 Americans dead and 30 wounded.

Al-Awlaki then dispatched a second assassin to bomb a U.S. airliner on Christmas Day, which attempt fortunately failed. Awlaki has since released a video claiming credit for the Fort Hood and airliner attacks, acknowledging his role, and praising the attackers.

Yet the Obama Administration continues to deny the Fort Hood attack was terrorism, failed to grant the casualties the same status as that given casualties from the 2001 Pentagon attack, conspicuously omitted even mention of the words "radical Islamic terrorism" in the official DOD report on the shootings, and will not acknowledge the role of political-correctness in stifling whistle blower warnings of the impending attack.

Now the Administration is refusing to fully comply with a Senate Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Committee subpoena that the Pentagon share documents and witnesses concerning the incident.

Senate Homeland Security Chairman Joe Lieberman (I-CT) and Ranking Minority Member Susan Collins (R-MA) issued the subpoena after the Administration refused to provide those documents on the request of the committee.

The Administration bases their denial on the argument that releasing the information might endanger their prosecution of Major Nidal Hasan.

As a state judge who presided over murder trials for 20 years before coming to Congress, that's ludicrous. Any prosecutor who can't win a conviction against Hasan with

SYBA announces changes

To the Editor:

The Salado Youth Baseball Association would like to announce some recent changes in our organization. Trey Little, who has been the league president for the past two years has decided to resign, effective immediately, to spend more time with his family. Trey has been instrumental in the growth of the league and the many improvements that both players and parents have come to enjoy. His leadership helped complete our rest room and pavilion project, the expansion of our parking, the improvement to the batting cages and the upgrade of much of our electrical and plumbing infrastructure. We believe that more important than his physical contributions has been his constant vigilance in maintaining Salado's reputation for excellence in youth sports. The board of directors would like to thank Trey for his service and encourage everyone in Salado to do the same.

Your Voice

As a result of Trey's resignation we have elected Andy Dobbins to be our new league president. Andy has been involved with Salado Youth Baseball for the past six years and is excited about the challenge of his new position. All our general information, including Mr. Dobbins contact information, can be found at the league website: www.leaguelineup.com/saladoyba

The league is currently seeking associate board members to continue the league's success. Associate members will attend all meetings and hold a non-voting position until a new board is elected at the conclusion of our 2010 season. We ask that individuals with a passion for serving Salado youth consider joining our organization.

We would like to thank the community, parents and players for their continued support of our league. The Salado Youth Baseball Association is a purely volunteer organization that grows and flourishes due to the hard work and sponsorship of the people of Salado.

Now foreign corporations are citizens too

Jim Hightower

Having decreed that corporations have a free speech "right" to spend unlimited sums from their massive corporate treasuries to elect or defeat candidates in our elections, the Supreme Court's five-man corporatist majority has opened a colossal can of worms. One of those worrisome squiggles is this question: Does the Court's newly fabricated political right extend to foreign corporations?

In their ruling, the answer from the five judicial monkeywrenchers was... silence. How sly. With no explicit ban to rule out foreign corporate money, the justices have implicitly ruled it in. After all, argue apologists for this constitutional perversion, a corporation is a corporation, and its official domicile is irrelevant in determining its political rights.

So, not only have the Supremes magically endowed all inanimate corporate things with the human ability to speak in their Citizens United ruling, but they've also granted corporate "persons" more speech than actual people-people have. Start with the fact that the Court's ruling equates our freedom of speech with the freedom to spend money--a plutocratic contortion of democracy that gives the most speech to those with the most money. American corporations alone have trillions of dollars they can draw from to shout down the voices of us mere humans.

But it appears that Toyota, Unilever, Deutsche Bank, Bin Laden Construction group, and thousands of other foreign entities can also add their trillions of dollars to drown out the democratic voices of real Americans. Interestingly, foreign humans are banned from spending money to influence our elections--so the Court has decreed that corporate foreigners have superior rights to human foreigners.

To help reverse this Supreme insanity, link up with the grassroots coalition called Move To Amend: www.movetoamend.org.

literally dozens of eyewitnesses doesn't need to be a prosecutor.

House and Senate members are not convinced that the Pentagon is taking the necessary steps to provide maximum deterrence to similar attacks in the future, or to respond to the aftermath of this attack. This is why subpoenas have been issued, and why I have introduced legislation to remedy these shortcomings.

As to the specific bills I introduced this year dealing with the Fort Hood attack, no floor or committee action has yet been taken, but the text of the bills are under consideration for inclusion in this year's Defense Authorization Act.

The Fort Hood Families Benefits Protection Act, HR 4791 in the House and S 2807 by Senator John Cornyn (R-TX) in the Senate, would award both military and civilian casualties of the Fort Hood attack the same status as that awarded unilaterally by the Department of Defense to the casualties of the Pentagon attack on Sept. 11, 2001. All casualties would be deemed eligible for the Purple Heart or the DOD civilian award equivalent. Secretary of Defense Robert Gates has also been asked to make that determination unilaterally as did former Secretary Donald Rumsfeld in 2001.

The Military Whistleblower Protection Enhancement Act, HR 4267, protects service members from politically-correct disciplinary action for reporting or taking protective steps against radical Islamic threats.

There is a new Al-Qaeda attack scheme against America that has emerged since 2001, that must be recognized by the Departments of Defense and Homeland Security.

"Lone wolves" are being actively recruited by Al-Awlaki and his like over the internet, and encouraged to attack alone if necessary. The attackers may be dysfunctional individuals or even mentally unbalanced, but that makes no difference. The results of the attack are all that matter to Al-Qaeda. Major Hasan, the underwear bomber Umar Farouk Abdulmutallab, Colleen Rose and Jamie Paulin-Ramirez – the American women implicated in the plot to kill a Swedish cartoonist for drawing Mohammed – all are concrete examples of this new Al-Qaeda attack strategy.

It is a strategy that must be recognized, trained for, and guarded against by our Armed Forces and law enforcement agencies. Refusing to acknowledge reality is not the way to make that happen.

Bell County Star Party is May 8

The Bell County May Star Party will be May 8, at Overlook Park, starting at 8:30 p.m.. The Central Texas Astronomical Society invites all interested stargazers to this educational event that is free and open to the public.

Late spring is the time when Back Yard Astronomy goes into full swing as the weather improves and the summer constellations and the Milky Way move into the middle of our sky.

Ursa Major, also known as the Big Dipper, is well positioned to see and enjoy this time of year. Near it are the two famous galaxies, M81 and M82. M81 is a grand design spiral galaxy that forms a physical pair with irregular galaxy M82. This galaxy group is the nearest galaxy group to our own local group of galaxies. At 12 million light years away, the nearby proximity of these galaxies makes them one of the most spectacular sights in the spring sky. They can easily be seen at the same time with lower power telescopes at the star party.

Also on view with be M51, the Whirlpool galaxy, which is 15 million light years away. When viewed close up a second, smaller companion galaxy is revealed.

The Central Texas Astronomical Society invites anyone who has an interest in astronomy to come out to enjoy viewing these and other celestial objects. Attendees may bring their own telescopes or just enjoy those of the members. CTAS members will be at the star party to guide stargazers around the night sky.

If bad weather cancels this event, a cancellation notice will be posted by 5 p.m. May 8 on the CTAS website. As always, there will be other chances to view the heavens at the next month's CTAS star party. More information about the Astronomy Society and this event are available on the website, <http://www.centexastronomy.org/>.

Overlook Park is located near the Stillhouse Hollow Dam. To get to Overlook Park from Interstate 35, go west on Hwy 190 toward Killeen for about 2 miles. Then proceed south on FM 1670. The park is on the west side of FM 1670 about three miles south of Highway 190, just beyond the radio tower.

Attendees are reminded to dress for existing weather conditions. It is also helpful to bring a small flashlight to get from the parking lot to the viewing area nearby and a lawn chair to make upward gazing more comfortable.

Texas Travel, Tourism Week May 8-16

In recognition of the Texas travel industry and its significant contribution to the state economy, Governor Rick Perry has proclaimed May 8-16 Texas Travel and Tourism Week.

U.S. Travel Rally Day is May 11 and features celebrations throughout the state. Texas First Lady Anita Perry will kick off Travel Rally Day in Fort Worth, and will be joined by city officials and representatives from the Texas and Dallas/Fort Worth area travel industries. Co-ordinated in conjunction with the Fort Worth Convention and Visitors Bureau to champion travel in Texas and to showcase area attractions, the event will take place in the Fort Worth Stockyards National Historic District.

"Traveling within Texas helps us develop an even deeper appreciation for our rich history, charming main streets, booming big-city downtowns and vast scenic treasures," said First Lady Anita Perry. "From the mystique of the Davis Mountains out west to peaceful Lake Caddo in the east – and everything in between – Texas has so much to explore, and continues to be one of the leading travel destinations in the U.S."

Texas Travel and Tourism Week will also be celebrated at other U.S. Travel Rally Day events around the state on May 11 and via related activities throughout the week.

- The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department will be joined by area communities on May 11 when it hosts a media event to showcase the opening of the new Village Creek Paddling Trail, near Lumberton in southeast Texas.

- The Texas Department of Transportation will host Rio Grande Valley area travel industry representatives and attractions at the Harlingen Travel Information Center on May 11 and encourages visitors to stop in for fun activities and refreshments.

- The Texas Commission on the Arts will host a "Tourism Matters" rally and media event in the Huntsville Arts and Culture District. The event will focus on the arts and tourism and highlight the impact tourism has on the Texas economy.

- The Texas Department of Agriculture will hold a press conference on May 11 at the National Ranching Heritage Center on the Texas Tech University campus in Lubbock. Agriculture Commissioner Todd Staples and officials from the City of Lubbock and Texas Tech will recognize Lubbock's advances in tourism and the achievements of the Hospitality, Tourism, and Viticulture programs offered at Texas Tech.

- The Texas Historical Commission's Annual Free Historic Sites Day will take place on May 16, allowing the public to experience 19 historical properties free of charge.

This year's theme, "Travel Matters," highlights the significant role that travel and tourism plays in generating jobs and travel spending in Texas communities. In 2008, travelers spent an estimated $60.6 billion in Texas and travel spending directly supported 544,400 jobs.

U.S. Travel Rally Day promotes travel and acknowledges its important economic impact on communities. The first U.S. Travel Rally Day occurred in May 2009, when more than 40 destinations across the United States held events to champion the benefits of travel.

Eagles share district crown, face Weimar in best-of-3 bi-district series this week

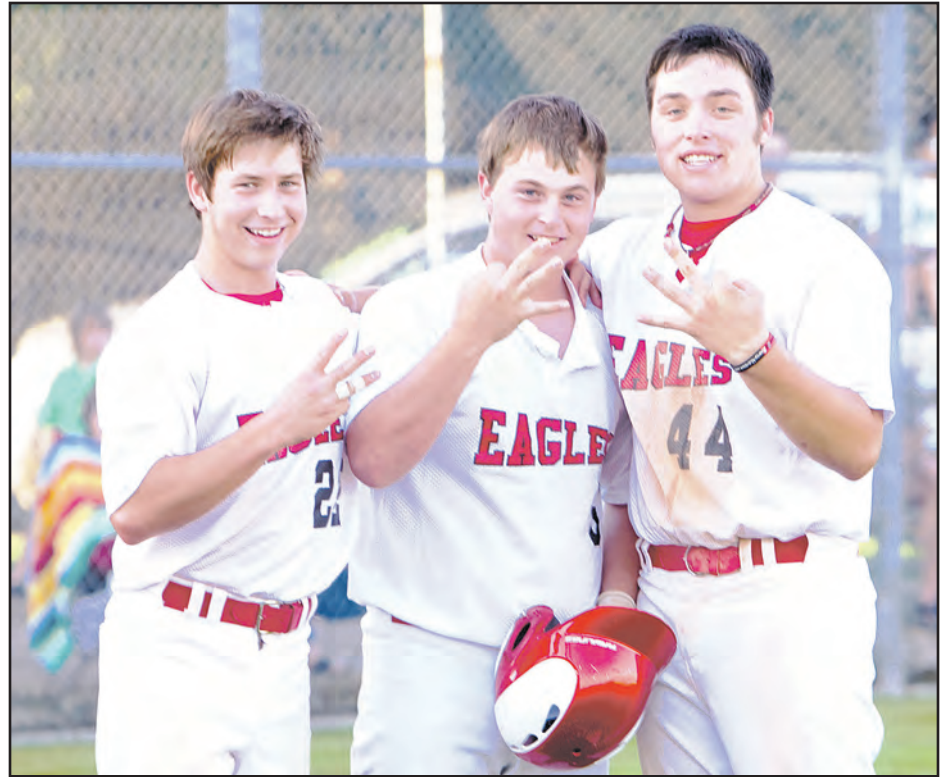

The Salado Eagles earned a share of the district title but will enter the playoffs as the second seed. Salado and Rogers tied for the district crown with 10-2 district records and split their two regular season games. In a game to decide the seeding order, Rogers defeated Salado May 1 by a score 9-4.

Rogers used four unearned runs in the first inning to catapult them to their 9-4 victory. A couple of bases on balls, two Salado errors and a double gave Rogers a 4-0 first inning lead.

Salado cut the lead to 4-2 with single runs in the third and fourth inning. In the third Hunter Ward singled to lead off the inning. A Bubba Luna double scored Ward. In the fourth inning Tyler Laughland was aboard by a fielder's choice. He stole second and scored on a single by Taylor Rudduck.

Rogers secured the win with five runs in the top of the fifth. Salado did continue to show spark. In the bottom of the sixth Colton Norman slapped his third single of the game. Tyler Laughland then slapped a homerun in his third consecutive game.

Norman went 3 for 3 in the game. Laughland was 2 of 3 with two rbi's. Taylor Rudduck was 2 of 3 with 2 stolen bases.

Clint Scarborough, Laughland and Colby Schiller celebrate their unprecedented back-to-back-to-back homeruns during the Salado Eagles' 10-0 win over Lexington.

April 26 the Salado Eagle Baseball team took on the weather and the Lexington Eagles in their final district game. After about a 45 minute rain delay the game finally got underway. Lexington was as threatening as the storm as they loaded the bases in the first inning on 3 singles. A double play by Bubba Luna and Taylor Rudduck ended the threat and the inning. It would be Lexington's last opportunity.

Salado scored two runs in the bottom of the first. Cole Calder started the scoring as he led off for the Eagles with a homerun. Luna followed with a single and eventually scored on Tyler Laughland's Single.

In the bottom of the third Salado put the game away with six runs. The Eagles used the long ball for most of their runs in the inning. Paul Warren singled to start things. Clint Scarborough followed with a homerun to left field. Laughland then connected with his fourth homerun of the year. Then in an unprecedented event, Colby Schiller delivered a homerun for back to back to back shots. All of these fireworks gave Salado a 6-0 lead.

Taylor Rudduck kept the inning going as he singled and stole second. Caleb Little followed with a double to drive in Rudduck. After Little moved to third on a passed ball. Luna drove him home with a sacrifice fly.

Salado added single runs in the fourth and sixth. This gave the Eagles a 10-0 lead and ended the game due to the mercy rule.

Trent Wagnon pitched the complete game. He allowed only four hits with three of those in the first inning. The win gives Wagnon a 7-0 record on the year.

Senior Tyler Laughland was 3 of 3 with 3 rbi's on the night. Rudduck was 2 of 2 and Scarborough was 2 of 4 as Salado pounded out eleven hits.

Salado will open the playoffs against the Weimar Wildcats. The two have faced each other five times in the past during playoffs. The two will play a best two out of three series. The games will be on May 6, at 7 p.m.; May 7, at 7 p.m.; May 9, at 12 p.m. The games will be played at Lockhart.

Chief Warrant Officer Williams deploys

Army Reserve Chief Warrant Officer 2 Paul C. Williams has been mobilized and activated at Fort Dix, N.J., in preparation for deployment to serve in support of either Operations Iraqi Freedom or Enduring Freedom. The soldier is a member of 344th Tactical Psychological Company in Austin.

The soldiers are normally activated from Army Reserve or Army National Guard units from throughout the U.S. They go through a series of in-processing procedures and training classes that prepare them for skills and situations they may face in their deployed environment.

Williams is a detachment commander with 18 years of military service.

His wife, Angela, is the daughter of William N. Cownover of Salado.

The chief warrant officer graduated in 1981 from Van Vleck High School and received a bachelor's degree in 1985 from Tarleton State University in Stephenville.

Memorial Day tribute shows at National Museum of the Pacific War

With the approach of Memorial Day on May 31, take time this month to remember the heroic servicemen and women who gave their lives defending our country. To pay tribute to those who served, the Texas Historical Commission (THC) encourages travelers to visit the recently reopened National Museum of the Pacific War, dedicated to telling the real story of the Pacific Theater of World War II. Located on a six-acre site in Fredericksburg, the museum features the new George H.W. Bush Gallery, Admiral Nimitz Museum, Plaza of Presidents, Veterans' Walk of Honor and Memorial Wall, Japanese Garden of Peace, Pacific Combat Zone, and the Center for Pacific War Studies.

In remembrance of veterans throughout the state, thematic travel guides dedicated to Texas' involvement in the Civil War and World War II direct heritage travelers to significant historic sites, including Galveston, the site of the 1863 Battle of Galveston that ended Union occupation of the port. Climb aboard the USS Lexington in Corpus Christi, the nation's longest-serving aircraft carrier and the last of the World War II-era Essex Class.

First Baptist Church is pleased to introduce Tim Stary, as their new Associate Pastor of Students. The position will be part of their multi-staff pastoral team and provide leadership to the church in ministering to young people grades 7-12.

Stary has a background in youth ministry, preaching, teaching, recreation, missions, and associational work. He has served in the local church, coordinated Association-level events, supervised University ministries, implemented Baptist Encampment recreation programs, and supervised a variety of mission endeavors.

Stary earned a Bachelor of Arts in Psychology from Howard Payne University, and is currently pursuing a Master of Arts in Youth Ministry.

Stary's wife, Natalie (also a Howard Payne alum) has served on staff with the Youth Evangelism Department of the B.G.C.T, was a Leadership Representative with "iGO" Global Ministries, and has been the Director of Student Activities for Howard Payne University. She has led student groups on several international mission trips.

"While I knew God, I didn't always live the life that I knew He had called me to, particularly in my teenage years," Stary said. "When I was 16, God really got a hold of my life while on a mission trip to New Orleans. It was then that I knew God had called me to ministry and when I really began growing in Him."

Tim Stary is the new Associate Pastor of Students at the First Baptist Church of Salado.

Dr. Maedgen receives Barnhart Teacher award

Salado resident Dr. Norma Maedgen will receive the Barnhart Teacher of the Year Award during the program during the 84th annual commencement program at 7 p.m. May 6 at the Bell County Exposition Center in Belton.

Dr. Maedgen is the department chair and faculty member in the Dental Hygiene Program at Temple College. She is the 22nd recipient of the $2,000 cash award for teaching excellence. The award is named in honor of Claudia and W.

Dr. Norma Maedgen

T. Barnhart whose family established an endowment fund in 1988 for the annual recognition given through the Temple College Foundation.

Dr. Maedgen received her dental hygiene training at the Fones School of Dental Hygiene at the University of Bridgeport in Connecticut. When her children were small, she worked part time as a dental hygienist for several area dentists. Later, as a full-time practicing dental hygienist, she decided to continue her education, earning a bachelor of business administration degree from Southwestern University, a master's degree from the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor and a Ph.D. from Texas A&M University.

Teaching had never been a part of her career plan, but when asked to join the T.C. dental hygiene faculty, she decided to give back to the profession through teaching. "I teach for the satisfaction I receive from helping others grow and gain insights," she said. "Clinical practice and teaching have played an important role in my life. The years of clinical practice enabled the joy I feel in helping students find answers to their questions and succeed not only as students, but also as individuals and professionals."

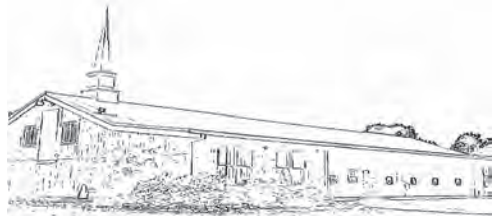

Dr. Maedgen is the Temple College nominee for the prestigious Piper Professor Award given annually by the Minnie Piper Stevens Foundation for teaching excellence in colleges and universities across the state. She also is recipient of a 2010 Ex-

Broecker FUNERAL HOME

Q: Who signs the contract with the funeral home and who decides that?

A: Generally, the next of kin: Spouse, children, or the executor of the estate. So often the remaining spouse and children make the decisions together based on all the options presented. People usually have some idea of what they want but are unaware of all the many things we can and will do to make it a most meaningful service.

cellence Award from the National Institute for Staff and Organizational Development.

More than 600 Temple College students will receive associate degrees and certificates at commencement May 6.

Students will receive the associate of arts degree, associate of applied science degree or certificate of completion of a prescribed college program during the ceremony. The May graduation ceremony recognizes the Spring 2010 class as well as Summer and Fall graduates.

Prior to the May 6 commencement program, several other special ceremonies were held honoring graduates from the Texas Bioscience Institute, Surgical Technology program, Dental Hygiene program, and Nursing programs.

An honors ceremony and luncheon honoring Surgical Technology graduates was held May 4.

Pinning ceremonies were held May 5 for Nursing students

The Honors Ceremony for Dental Hygiene students will be at 3 p.m. May 6 at the T.C. Pavilion.

A cording ceremony for 55 high school seniors completing the Middle College program at the Texas Bioscience Institute was held on April 14. The students were presented with a special TBI cord to be worn at their respective high school graduations. Thirty-four of the students also have qualified to receive an associate of arts degree from Temple College. The students represent nine area high schools as well as home school students.

Shouldn't it be easy to make friends? Social networking has changed our world. But for the better? The word of the year in 2009 was "unfriend." Oops. Sometimes we're just not sure what a true friend is supposed to be. The Bible tells us...no, better yet...it shows us how to be a true friend, in the beautiful story of David and Jonathan. Check it out in 1 Samuel 18-23. We'll talk about it this Sunday morning at Grace.

Doug McNeese, Master of Salado Masonic Lodge #296, presents longtime member Robert Dewhurst with the Golden Trowel award for his dedication to the work of the Lodge. The Golden Trowel is the highest award that can be given to a Mason. It is awarded by the Grand Lodge of Texas. The award was presented during an open dinner gathering at the Central Texas Area Museum on May 1

Barrett Snyder, a seventh grader at Salado Junior High, recently participated in the Regional Junior Visual Arts Scholastic Event (Jr-VASE) in Goldthwaite, Texas. He received the highest ranking of "Superior" on his ink art piece entitled "The Urban Tree" and was presented a Regional Medal of honor. The Junior Visual Art Scholastic Event is sponsored by the Texas Art Education Association (TAEA) and is the only art event of its kind in the nation. Students are provided the opportunity to bring artworks created in their art classes to a regional event where they are interviewed by a certified juror who evaluates their work based on an established rubric and their understanding of the art processes involved in the development of their artwork. He is the son of Dan and Laura Snyder of Salado.

Charlie D to play at Griffith Gallery

Charlie D, a local musician living on Lake Belton, will be playing at the Griffith Art Gallery in Salado 6-9 p.m. May 8, during the Salado Spring Gallery Trail. Of the many galleries on the trail, this art gallery, owned by Kay Griffith, offers original oil paintings, watercolors, pastels, bronzes, porcelains, stained glass, custom jewelry, and various other art mediums. Over 40 artists are featured, and most are available for commissioned work. Reproductions are also available.

Charlie D was born in Virginia and raised in the Mountains of North Carolina. While a young child, his family had him take lessons in drums, tuba, and trumpet. He finally settled on the trumpet and choir throughout his Grammar and High School years. He has been around the professional music scene since his days in the U.S. Navy.

Charlie purchased his first flat-top guitar in 1972, while stationed in the Pacific Northwest, and became hooked on the instrument. He started performing light rock, pop, and folk music in the local Cafe's on Whidbey Island and took his mountain music background to the pubs in Skykomish near Steven's Pass in the Cascade Mountains.

While stationed in Japan on the U.S.S. Midway, he formed a band and performed at the Taverns and Pubs in Yokosuka, Hiyama, and Tokyo. He became so popular that the Yokosuka Navy Base commander asked if his band would perform as a warm up for the Grass Roots. The concert was billed as an American-Japanese relationship venue with other ethical shows on stage. Charlie's band played mostly traditional American folk songs and was well received.

He will be performing songs like "Run for the Roses" by Dan Fogleberg, "Back to the Island" by Leon Russell, "Fire Lake" by Bob Seger, "Will You Still Love Me Tomorrow" as sung by Dave Mason and many, many more. Check him out at EaglePointMusic.com or 254-913-7334.

SVA name Sheron Driessner Village Artist of the Month

BY ALICE COOPER

Sheron Driessner is the newest artist of the month whose work is on display at the banks and library here in Salado.

Relatively new to the area, she and her husband moved to Belton about a year and a half ago from Mt. Pleasant due to her husband's job change. Sheron worked as a registered nurse for years, but took time off to raise three children.

Her interest in art started in tole painting, but she quickly moved on to watercolor, which is her favorite medium. She started working with watercolor in the 1990s, and received her Associates Degree in Art from Northeast Texas Community College in Aug. 2008.

You may recognize her work as the winner of the official poster for the recent Renewable Energy Sheron Driessner is the Salado Village Artist of the Month.

Stampede and Green Living Fair here in Salado. Recycled art is one of her specialties where she shows her unparalleled creativity putting ordinary discarded household materials together into original works of art. Always progressing, she is now expanding into work with colored pencils.

She has been active with the Salado Village Artists since shortly after moving to this area, and is also a member of Bell Fine Arts in Belton. She has taught several classes to the artists groups, and enjoys being involved teaching others and learning from them as well.

She invites others with a yearning to grow into art to come to the Village Artists Building behind the Civic Center at 9:30 a.m. Tuesdays and join her in the exploration of art.

Where there's a will, there's a way to do it

Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker

There are some deals where, after you've seen the dummy, you wonder how your side ever got so high. Granting that, in the great majority of cases, it's all your partner's fault, you're still duty-bound to try to make the contract, no matter how impossible this may seem.

Suppose, for example, you wind up in four hearts in today's deal. This contract seems to have no chance: The loss of a spade, a club and the A-K of trumps appears inevitable.

There are three ways to approach such a situation. First, you can resign yourself to defeat and graciously go down one. However, that attitude is hardly likely to improve your stature as a bridge player.

Second, you can look for a legitimate way to make the contract, even if this requires a highly unlikely distribution of the opposing cards. Finally, you can resort to some form of chicanery in an effort to bilk the opposition out of their proper due.

For instance, you could cross to dummy after taking the ace of spades and lead the jack of hearts, hoping to induce your right-hand opponent to cover with the king from K-x. But there is no reason to think that East was born yesterday, so your best bet is to seek a legitimate way to achieve your goal.

Then it hits you. If the missing diamonds are divided 3-3, the contract may be unbeatable. So you cash the A-K-Q, and, after everyone follows, you lead the jack, planning to discard dummy's spade regardless of what either defender does.

In the actual layout, if West ruffs with the ace, your only remaining losers are the king of hearts and ace of clubs. And if West doesn't ruff, East can trump with the six, but the A-K will then fall together when trumps are led next. Either way, you wind up losing only two trumps and the ace of clubs -- and there isn't anything the opponents can do about it!

Moon reviews book May 14

By KAREN KINNISON

Be sure to mark your calendar for another "must" event at the library. We will host local author Elizabeth Moon who will review her book "The Speed of Dark" at noon on May 14.

While most of her writing is considered military "sci-fi," she also ventures into biology, politics and personal relationships. This book is told from the viewpoint of an autistic computer programmer inspired by her own son, Michael. Whether a "sci-fi" fan or not, you will find that Moon tells a powerful and complex story about a man who must decide if autism is a disease or "just another way of being." Don't miss this one folks.

Also, Miss Jeanie will hold a computer class at 1 p.m. May 21. Family Summer Fun out of the Sun. Join Jeanie and get some tips on computer fun with your kids.

NEW BOOKS:

I am reading Jesse Kellerman's "The Executor." His books are very unique thrillers.

"The End of Wall Street" by Roger Lowenstein: If your reaction is "no, no, no--no more about that mess!"--- then hold your judgment. In the flood of new books on this crisis, Lowenstein's work is the most complete. He gives a blow-by-blow account of America's biggest financial collapse and he is naming names.

"Decoding Reality"

Check It Out

News & Notes from Salado Public Library

by Vlatko Vedral: OK.... here goes. I think this is about information. Is the universe just quantum information? According to Vedral, it's all about information. And he asks some deep questions about the Universe--- the nature of information, entropy, thermodynamics and "the effects of entanglement" -- (Uh, and here I thought entanglement involved wire clothes hangers and closet rearrangement). And... where did all this "information" come from? This might be a challenge, but I totally get entanglement, don't you?

"Nowhere to Run" by C.J. Box: Joe Pickett is back. Inspired by a real-life Wyoming game warden's encounter with sinister mountain-man twin brothers, Box takes Pickett on a eerie last patrol as a temporary game warden in Baggs, Wyoming where camps have been looted, tents slashed, and elk butchered. And then a runner just vanished one day. This latest thriller is an intense story of multiple crimes that asks how much government interference is mandatory when people just want to be "left alone." There are ten Pickett novels but this can be read as a "stand alone".

"The Black Cat" by Martha Grimes: The inimitable Richard Jury returns in a thrilling tale of mystery, madness, and mistaken identify. Okay, so the talking animals may be over the top but if you are partial to a bit of whimsy, this one will dazzle you.

"The Walk" by Richard Paul Evans: "My name is Alan Christoffersen. You don't know me. Just another book in the library as my father would say. Unopened and unread. You have no idea how far I've come or what I've lost. More important, you have no idea what I've found." What would do if you lost everything all at the same time? "The Walk" is the first of a series of books about one man's search for hope.

Until next time...don't forget to library.

"Reading makes immigrants of us all. It takes us away from home and it finds homes for us everywhere." Jean Rhys

ABWA Style show today at Tenroc

The annual Style Show and Benefit Luncheon for the Chisholm Trail Chapter ABWA will be held at Tenroc Ranch on May 6.

"We are trying some different venues this year," President Barclay McCort stated, "having the luncheon on a weekday, at Tenroc Ranch and with a new caterer, Lynette Jones of McCain's Cafe and Bakery."

The menu will include chicken salad, fresh fruit, cheese biscuits and Italian Cream cake for dessert.

The funds will go to local scholarship recipients who the chapter sponsors throughout the recipient's schooling, provided the requirements continue to be met. This year the chapter hopes to take on a third scholarship sponsorship.

Fashions from Christy's, Susan Marie's, and Springhouse Antiques, will be featured. All three businesses are donating clothing for the silent auction. The luncheon will start at 11 a.m. with doors opening at 10:30 a.m.

Leadership Salado discusses economic development plans

By GERRY REIHSEN

Leadership Salado Group 2 made their Rotary presentation on their activities directed to "Encourage economic growth" for Salado with emphasis on preserving the past. The group was led by an opening introductory presentation by Karen Stalcup. Other members of the group are Sue Hahn, Joni Lange, Susan Terry, and Billy Wiggins.

The program was presented in the form of five separate briefings by individuals from the committee. The first presentation covered the work done on developing a suitable logo. Students at Salado High School art and graphic art classes developed options. An attractive "Select Salado" logo designed to attract the type of economic development compatible with community goals was selected.

Other presentations from the group were focused on the promotional folder material to be made available to prospective businesses. The individual subjects presented were Government Services, Community, School, and local Business and Services.

Two hundred, fifty folders have been printed with a limited number of completed packets to control costs and to insure information is current. The project is funded by the Village, the School District, Tourism, the Chamber, the committee members and Kwik Kopy Business Center. The committee has done two things of major importance to the community. Provided an effective means of communicating with prospective new business and activities and identified areas the community must focus its effort on to make Salado an attractive place to locate.

Q: I held a barbecue at my new apartment last weekend, and I found out afterward that a few drinks were spilled on the living-room carpet and some food was dropped as well. I cleaned up as best as I could, but there are still spots where the spills occurred. How can I get rid of these stains? -- Abigail G., Carrollton, Ga.

A: Carpet stains can be difficult to completely eradicate, even if you are able to tackle them immediately after a spill. Commercial products are available to help, but you've got to purchase the right product for the task and use it exactly as instructed, or the problem may get worse.

This is a Hammer

Here's a few common tips on cleaning spills and stains.

- Blot up liquid spills, don't rub them. Rubbing will just grind the liquid deeper into the carpet and padding.

- Pick up food spills and gently lift stuck-on food from the carpet fibers using a blunt tool like a spoon.

- Vacuum up dried food particles, then blot the spill area with a damp cloth to loosen and remove stains.

- Coffee stains can be tackled with warm water and white vinegar: dip a clean cloth in the water and dab onto the stain, then dab vinegar on. Blot up, then repeat until the stain is gone.

- Red wine can be blotted up and the area rinsed with club soda -- if done immediately after the spill. Dried red wine should be re-moistened by dabbing on white wine or vinegar and blotting up; repeat as often as necessary.

- Other stains, like chocolate or Kool-Aid, may come up if you dab the area with a solution of 1/4 teaspoon dishwashing liquid (Dawn or Joy) to 1 cup of warm water, let sit for about 15 minutes and then blot up with a clean cloth; repeat until the stain is gone. Dab the area with white vinegar to remove the detergent.

If home remedies don't work, head for a home improvement or carpet store and ask for advice

This property is a very special creation with a history as unique as Salado! The original building was designed and built by Addison Brooder at the age of 14. He later became a renowned architect. The second owner added a great room and a loft. The third owner was Judy Greene, wife of famous Texas writer A.C. Greene who used the charming cottage as his studio. The present owner made additions without losing the ambience. There is a great room with a huge stone WBFP, wide plank wood floors, 2 bedrooms, 2 baths, large utility area, a screened gazebo situated in the woods and a porch with views of a wooded wonderland! Prepare to fall in love at first sight!

1019 North Ridge $325,000

Choice Commercial Property in the heart of Salado's historic district. Three buildings with net rentable space of 5,592 square feet. The site is .63 acres at the corner of Thomas Arnold and Church Street. Easy access to I-35 and Salado's Main Street.

THOMAS ARNOLD ROAD $425,000

All the charm and character of an older home brought up to today's standards. This home has 3 living areas, den with stone WBFP, large great room with 4 big windows and french doors facing the creek and spacious glass/screened porch with views of creek and golf. 3 bedrooms, 2 baths - remodeled, fresh paint, new carpet kitchen with granite and all new appliances. 2 car garage plus golf cart garage. 2 level large deck with views of creek plus sprinkler system.

1013 Mill Creek Drive $398,000

Stately traditional custom home on #8, Creek Course, Mill Creek. Beautiful quality with formal living and dining rooms, large great room all with hardwood floors, breakfast room, gourmet kitchen with 2 sinks, granite countertops, 3 bedrooms, 2.5 baths, 3 car garage. Back yard with views, an iron fence, patio with built in grill.

1807 KEVLIN TRAIL $425,000

Located on 5.580 acres this charming farm home has beautifully restored original hardwood floors and a stone fireplace. 3 bedrooms and 2 baths with one living area. Beautiful land with live oaks, 2 stall horse barn, a cattle barn and 2 car detached carport.

8373 FM 2843 $189,000

This home is approx 2850 sq ft on 10.43 treed acres with a wet weather creek. The downstairs features a large great room with a fireplace and tile floors, kitchen that opens to a cozy sitting area or breakfast/dining room with hardwood floors and a stone fireplace and a half bath, and master bedroom and bath with views. Upstairs there are 3 bedrooms and 2 baths. The party/workshop barn is approx 2200 sq ft with 2 rest rooms, central heat and air plus a multi purpose room. Beautiful country setting yet close to the Village of Salado.

4490 ROYAL STREET $581,000

PAXIL BIRTH DEFECTS
Congenital Heart Defects, Heart Valve & Lung Injuries

Paxil, a drug given to millions for depression, has been linked to serious birth defects including Atrial & Ventricular septal heart defects (hole in heart wall), PPHN, serious lung injuries, club foot, congenital heart defects & cranial skull defects.

In December 2005, the FDA issued a Black Box Warning concerning serious birth defects to infants of mothers taking Paxil while pregnant.

If you took Paxil during pregnancy and your child was born with a birth defect, you and your child may be entitled to compensation.
