Bridge, sidewalks topics of Aug. 15 meeting on Main St. improvements

Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) will conduct a public meeting to discuss improvements to FM 2268 (Main Street) in Salado.

The improvements would extend from Salado Plaza Drive to College Hill Drive.

This project would consist of constructing sidewalks, providing pavement striping for bicycles, installing lighting and replacing the culvert at Campbell Branch Creek.

The proposed improvements would also address parking, drainage and driveway access to adjacent properties. No new right of way would be required for this project.

TxDOT will present the project information in a come and go format with a brief overview presentation at the beginning of the meeting.

The meeting will be held 5-7 p.m. Aug. 15 at Salado Intermediate School, 560 Thomas Arnold Rd.

The purpose of this meeting is to inform the public of the proposed project and provide an opportunity for interested parties to submit comments on the preliminary design that the department has developed.

This public meeting will be part of TxDOT's consultation process under Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act. TxDOT historians will identify and evaluate all historic properties immediately adjacent to this project so that project planners can avoid, minimize or mitigate any potential adverse effects to any significant historic resources. The public is encouraged to comment on the proposed sidewalk project regarding its potential to affect significant non-archaeological historic resources.

Exhibits showing aerial photography and schematic plans of the proposed project corridor will be present at the meeting. Representatives from TxDOT and its consultant study team will be available to answer individual questions. Public comments are encouraged.

All interested citizens are invited to attend the meeting and discuss the project. The meeting will be conducted in English. Those interested in attending who have special communication or accommodation needs are encouraged to contact Michael Rhodes, Environmental Coordinator at (254) 867-2739 at least five working days prior to the date of the meeting.

An Open Exchange of Ideas

The Revolution Devours Venezuela

Venezuela is a woeful reminder that no country is so rich that it can't be driven into the ground by revolutionary socialism.

People are now literally starving -- about three-quarters of the population lost weight last year -- in what once was the fourth-richest country in the world on a per capita basis. A country that has more oil reserves than Saudi Arabia is suffering shortages of basic supplies. Venezuela now totters on the brink of bankruptcy and civil war, in the national catastrophe known as the Bolivarian Revolution.

The phrase is the coinage of the late Venezuelan strongman Hugo Chavez, succeeded by current Venezuelan strongman Nicolas Maduro, who has instituted an ongoing self-coup to make his country a one-party state.

The Chavezistas have worked from the typical communist playbook of romanticizing the masses while immiserating them. Runaway spending, price controls, nationalization of companies, corruption and the end of the rule of law -- it's been a master class in how to destroy an economy. The result is a sharp, yearslong recession, runaway inflation and unsustainable debt. The suffering of ordinary people is staggering, while the thieves and killers who are Chavezista officials have made off with hundreds of billions of dollars. At this rate there will be nothing left to steal.

Rich Lowry

Any government in a democratic country that failed this spectacularly would have been relegated to the dustbin of history long ago. Maduro is getting around this problem by ending Venezuela's democracy. The Chavezistas slipped up a year or two by allowing real elections for the country's National Assembly, which were swept by the opposition. They then undertook a war against the assembly, stripping it of its powers and culminating in a rigged vote last week to elect a constituent assembly to rewrite the constitution.

The goal of Maduro's alleged constitutional reforms is to no longer have a constitution worthy of the name. Denied the ordinary means of dissent via the press and elections, the opposition has taken to the streets. Already more than 100 people have been killed in clashes over the past several months. Worse is yet to come. Lacking legitimacy and representing only a fraction of the populace, the Maduro regime will rely on the final backstop of violent suppression.

There is no easy remedy to Venezuela's agony. If meditation were the solution, the country never would have gotten to this pass. Endless negotiations between the government and the opposition have gone nowhere. The U.S. needs to use every economic and diplomatic lever to undermine the regime and build an international coalition against it.

We should impose more sanctions on specific officials and on the state-run oil company; we should advertise what we know about the details of how Chavezistas park their ill-gotten gains abroad; we should nudge our allies to further isolate the Venezuelan government by pulling ambassadors and breaking diplomatic relations. The hope is that with enough pressure, the regime will crack, and high-level officials will break with Maduro, weakening his position and making a negotiated restoration of democratic rule possible.

In the meantime, the Bolivarian Revolution is proceeding according to its sick logic -- and there will be blood.

Rich Lowry is editor of the National Review.

Don't Lie to Poor Kids About Why They're Poor

THOSE AT THE BOTTOM — AND THE TOP — DESERVE TO KNOW WHY THEIR EXPERIENCES ARE SO DIFFERENT.

By JOSH HOXIE

Work hard and you'll get ahead — that's the mantra driven into young people across the country.

But what happens when children born into poverty run face first into the crushing reality that the society they live in really isn't that fair at all?

As new research shows, they break down.

A just released study published in the journal Child Development tracked the middle school experience of a group of diverse, low-income students in Arizona. The study found that the kids who believed society was generally fair typically had high self-esteem, good classroom behavior, and less delinquent behavior outside of school when they showed up in the sixth grade.

When those same kids left in the eighth grade, though, each of those criteria had degraded — they showed lower self-esteem and worse behavior.

What caused this downward slide?

In short, belief in a fair and just system of returns ran head-on into reality for marginalized kids. When they see people that look like them struggling despite working hard, they're forced to reckon with the cognitive dissonance.

This problem doesn't afflict the well-off, who can comfortably imagine their success is the result of their hard work and not their inherited advantage.

Erin Godfrey, a psychology professor at New York University and the study's lead author, explains that for marginalized kids who behave badly, "there's this element of people think of me this way anyway, so this must be who I am." She points out that middle school is the time when many young people begin to notice personal discrimination, identify as a member of a marginalized group, and recognize the existence of systemic discrimination.

The existence of a permanent and rigid system of inequality can be hard to grapple with at any age. The United States leads the world in overall wealth yet is also near the top in childhood poverty, with one in five kids born into poverty.

Despite an often-repeated myth about social mobility — the ability of the poor to become rich — the United States lags behind in this category. Canada now has three times the social mobility of the United States.

The gap between the rich and poor starts early. A 2016 study by the United Nations Children's Emergency Fund reports: "From as early as the age of 3, children from more affluent backgrounds tend to do better in cognitive tests." By age 5, children from poor families are three times more likely to be in the bottom 10 percent in cognitive ability.

It's a complex problem. But the solutions to this deep structural inequality are actually fairly straightforward.

In short, we need major investments in universal public programs to rebuild the social safety net, ensure early childhood education as well as debt-free higher education, and good-paying jobs.

In other words, we need to help those born without inherited assets to get the same shot at education and employment as everyone else — and also reassure them that if they fail, they won't end up homeless.

Those who claim the country can't afford such programs should look at the massive subsidies lavished out to the ultra-wealthy. In 2016, half a trillion dollars were doled out in tax subsidies, overwhelmingly to the already rich.

But before we do all that, we simply have to tell the truth: Our economic system is far from fair. It's tilted heavily against marginalized communities.

Teaching that to kids, rather than perpetuating a myth about "fairness," is an important step forward.

Ballet school reopens

The Newcomb School of Ballet program, which closed in May 2016, reopens this fall under a new name, Classical Ballet Conservatory. The Conservatory will continue to offer ballet training based in the Russian classical style at its new location at Lisa's Dance Connection in Temple.

Fall registration has begun for all classes at Lisa's, including Conservatory classes. An Open House/Meet the Teacher event will take place on Aug. 31, so parents and students can register for classes, tour the facility, and meet the owner, instructors, and staff. Classes begin Sept. 4.

Longtime Newcomb student and teacher Marcia Beekma will continue the Newcomb tradition of classical instruction and performances for dedicated students ages 7+ who are interested in a serious, classical ballet program.

"I am so excited for the opportunity to continue the legacy Margaret Newcomb began nearly 60 years ago in Killeen and that Renee Gillenwater continued until her tragic death in 2015," Beekma said. "For nearly 30 years they both mentored me as a dancer and teacher, creating an intense love of the art and the joy of sharing it with dancers and the entire community."

In 1958, former ballerina Margaret Newcomb, opened the Newcomb School of Ballet in Killeen after moving to the area with her husband who had served in the U.S. military. Previously, Mrs. Newcomb danced as a soloist with both the Carla Sydow and International Ballet companies. Upon arriving in Central Texas, Mrs. Newcomb noticed a lack of professional facilities where she could continue her own dance training so opened the school, bringing a professional level of classical ballet instruction and performances to students of all ages in the Central Texas area.

In the early 1990s, when Mrs. Newcomb retired from full-time teaching, longtime Newcomb student, teacher, and dancer, Renee Gillenwater, took over as owner, director, and primary instructor of the school. She continued offering instruction in classical ballet technique to students of all ages and abilities, traditional and original full-length ballet performances, community outreach, and the popular annual Christmas performance of "The Nutcracker" in Killeen.

Ms. Gillenwater passed away unexpectedly in the summer of 2015. Although every effort was made by her family, teachers, and supporters to continue the school, circumstances arose that forced Newcomb School of Ballet to close its Killeen location in May 2016.

Since its closure, supporters of Newcomb searched exhaustively to find a way to continue the legacy and traditions that Mrs. Newcomb and Ms. Gillenwater began so many years ago. The program, its instructors, and dancers have finally found a new home at Lisa's Dance Connection in Temple.

Armstrongs spread gospel in concert Aug. 13 at Cedar Valley Baptist Church

First Cedar Valley Baptist Church presents the Armstrong Family Singers at 6 p.m. Aug 13, Sunday night, at 12237 FM 2843, approximately eight miles southwest of Salado. Everyone is welcome to attend this free concert.

Light refreshments to follow concert.

In April 1997 a new singing family was unveiled. The Armstrong Family. "This traditional gospel singing family has their own unique style of singing which gives them the opportunity to reach Christians and sinners of every nationality with the message of Christ," said Cedar Valley Music Director Donnie Jackson.

Currently, you can find these singing women doing more than just singing. They minister in their local community as well as other states and countries. They can also be heard on local radio stations throughout the community, as well as seen on community cable television and other local TV stations. They would consider it a blessing to minister in your church and at your conferences this year.

"Our mission is to continue to sing the gospel under the anointing of God and to see the power of God flow and bless His people," said Brenda Armstrong, the oldest sister who sings soprano and second tenor.

"We are often invited to sing in various sized churches of different backgrounds," said Ruby Grant, the second oldest sister. Grant sings second soprano and alto for the group.

Patricia Singletary is the youngest sister of the group. She sings lead, alto, and tenor with the group. "I am also the driver and wardrobe coordinator and assistant secretary for the group," she says. "I am completely in love with singing the gospel and ministering with my sisters."

Congressman John R. Carter (R-TX-31) is now accepting nominations for the 2017 Congressional Veteran Commendation (CVC) program. This program allows the distinguished veterans of District 31 the opportunity to be formally honored for their wartime sacrifices and peacetime community involvement. The CVC program is nomination-based, designed to recognize veterans within the 31st district of Texas and preserve their stories for future generations of America.

"I encourage you to nominate a family member or friend that you see as a fine American and exceptional veteran so that our community can say thank you. The CVC program is a great way to honor the brave men and women across our community for their faithful service while protecting our Great Nation and continuing to lead in their communities here at home," said Rep. Carter. "Central Texas has a proud tradition of serving in the armed forces and I have had the privilege of meeting many who deserve this honor and exemplify the American spirit."

Everyone is welcome to nominate a veteran, and you may nominate as many persons as you see fit for the award. To qualify, nominees must currently reside in Texas' 31st district, have served as active duty military personnel or have been reservists called to active duty, and be retired or honorably discharged from a branch of the United States Armed Forces. During the selection process, leadership and service to the community will be strong factors in consideration.

The 2017 CVC honorees will be announced and recognized by Congressman John Carter at a special ceremony. Wallrath speaks to MOAA about "Finally Home" program Centex MOAA meeting will be held Aug. 18 at Shilo Inn 3701 South WS Young Drive, Killeen, TX 76542-2805 at 1130 hours. Operation FINALLY HOME Founder and President Dan Wallrath will be guest speaker.

Wallrath will talk about the mission of Operation FINALLY HOME, a non-profit organization that he founded in 2005 in Texas.

Operation FINALLY HOME provides custom-built, mortgage free homes to military heroes and the widows of the fallen who have sacrificed much to defend our country's freedoms and way of life. Operation FINALLY HOME has over 200 projects in 34 states which have been built, are under construction or in planning stages and they continue to grow.

Last year, Wallrath wrote a book, Building Hope: What Happens When God Changes Our Plans to Accomplish His, to share his story on how Operation FINALLY HOME was started. Proceeds from the book go back to Operation FINALLY HOME to further the organization's mission to provide homes for our military heroes.

Wallrath has served on numerous boards within the building industry, including the board of directors of the National Association of Home Builders, Texas Association of Builders and the Greater Houston Builders Association, and he was president of the Bay Area Builders Association.

Wallrath was named a CNN Hero in 2010 and was the guest of honor of Marine Corps Commandant General James F. Amos at the Marine Corps Sunset Parade hosted at the War Memorial in Washington, D.C. in 2013. He was also featured in a CNN documentary about Operation FINALLY HOME in December 2013. Last year, he received the SMC PRISM Trailblazer Award for Outstanding Achievement in New Home Construction at the 2016 Houston's Best PRISM Awards.

Dan and his wife, Carol, reside in New Braunfels, Texas. They have two sons and four grandchildren.

Members and guests are reminded to make reservation early and on-line at www.centexmoaa.org.

CENTEX MOAA promotes the purposes and objectives of the national Military Officers Association of America (MOAA). Protects the rights and interests of personnel of the seven uniformed services and their dependents and survivors. MOAA's advocacy helps to protect the pay and benefits for our nation's servicemen and women who serve, or have served, in the Army, Air Force, Coast Guard, Navy, Marines, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, and the U.S. Public Health Service. Chapter legislative liaisons encourage state government officials to be aware of military initiatives such as advocating for a strong national defense.

MOAA's chapters provide the "grassroots" support of their advocacy mission. With over 390,000 MOAA members nation-wide, approximately 30,000 of which are in Texas, MOAA's primary mission is to advocate in Congress on behalf of our nation's uniformed services. Membership consists of active duty and National Guard and Reserve officers, former officers and their dependents and survivors.

Texas hunting, fishing licenses go on sale starting Aug. 15

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TPWD) reminds hunters and anglers that the new 2017-2018 licenses go on sale Tuesday, Aug. 15. All current year Texas hunting and fishing licenses (except year-to-date fishing licenses) expire Aug. 31.

Every year, the department issues more than 2.4 million hunting and fishing licenses through the agency's 28 field offices, more than 50 state parks, at over 1,700 retailers across the state and online at www.tpwd.texas.gov/buy. All revenue generated from hunting and fishing license fees pays for conservation efforts and recreational opportunities that help make Texas one of the best places in the country to hunt and fish. Fish stocking, wildlife management, habitat restoration, public hunting leases, river access permits and Texas Game Wardens are just some of the initiatives funded in part by license fees.

Texans can also enter Big Time Texas Hunts drawing when purchasing their license. Big Time Texas Hunts offers the chance to win any of nine exciting premium guided hunt packages, with all lodging and food included. Many also allow the winners to bring friends along to hunt. There are packages to hunt bighorn sheep, mule deer, white-tailed deer, pronghorn, alligator, waterfowl, upland game birds, wild hog and exotics. Big Time Texas Hunts entries are available online for $9 each at www.tpwd.texas.gov/buyentry or for $10 each at license retailers or by phone at (800) 895-4248.

TPWD will also be awarding Lifetime Super Combo Licenses to three lucky winners through the Lifetime License Drawing. Winners will never need to buy another Texas hunting or fishing license. Participants can enter for $5 per entry at license retailers or online at www.tpwd.texas.gov/license-draw. The first entry deadline for the three monthly drawings is Sept. 30 with the first winner drawn on Oct. 2. Any entries not drawn will be automatically included in the next drawings on Nov. 1 and Dec. 1.

Hunters and anglers can also support two worthwhile causes when they buy their hunting or fishing license by making voluntary donations of $1, $5, $10 or $20 to help support the "Feeding Texas" Hunters for the Hungry" program or the Veterans Commission's Veterans Assistance Fund.

Donations to the Hunters for the Hungry program provides hunters with a way to donate legally harvested deer to participating processors, and this processed meat goes to local food banks to feed Texas families in need. Last year, hunters and anglers generously donated $106,913 through the TPWD licensing system, which helped offset a percentage of the processing fees for food banks and made it possible for more Texas families in need to enjoy this quality protein source.

Donations to the Texas Veterans Commission Fund for Veterans' Assistance (FVA) program provide grants to veteran service organizations and nonprofit charitable institutions that assist veterans and their families at the community level throughout Texas. In its first year in 2017 license buyers generously contributed $193,903 in donations from Texas hunting and fishing license purchasers.

Hunters and anglers can get their new 2017-2018 hunting and fishing licenses and special drawing entries or Big Time Texas Hunts entries online at www.tpwd.texas.gov/buy, at license retailers or by phone at (800) 895-4248. The online transaction system is available 24/7. Call center hours are Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. There is a required $5 administrative fee for each phone or online transaction, but multiple items can be purchased during a single transaction occasion for this $5 fee. All of these license sales outlets will offer the opportunity to make a donation to help veterans and/or families in need of food.

Hunting and fishing regulations for the new season can be found in the 2017-2018 Outdoor Annual, available in print form at license retailers, online at www.outdoorannual.com and in the free Outdoor Annual mobile app available for both Apple and Android devices and updated with regulations for the new season on Aug. 15.

To get more information on hunting and fishing throughout the year, hunters and anglers are invited to sign up for free email updates at www.tpwd.texas.gov/email or by texting TPWD HUNT or TPWD FISH and their email address to GOV311 (ex. TPWD HUNT my-email@emailaddress.com).

Salado Eagles will not have to overcome a learning curve this year. Returning five of offensive starters and nine defensive starters from last year's 7-5 playoff team, the Eagles started two-a-days on the familiar footing of the slot T offensive running game.

Soggy start

"A little rain never hurt nobody." Salado Eagles proved that old saying to be true during the first day of football practice Aug. 7. With a soggy practice field, the Eagles moved down to Jarrell and practiced on their artificial turf field there. (PHOTOS BY RON LEGUIN)

Eagles get ready for football!

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Salado Eagles had a head start on the 2017 football season when they began two-a-day practice on a soggy Monday morning.

First, they return six offensive starters and nine defensive starters from last year's 7-5 playoff team.

Second, the program is building on the experience of teams from top to bottom that have had a year's experience with the tricky slot-T offense.

Last year, in addition to new head coach and other coaching staff changes, the boys faced learning a complex offensive scheme, moving from a spread passing game to the slot T running attack.

Three of the four talent positions in the backfield are returning starters, including senior Trey Sheppard, who was named to last year's All-District First Team as full back. He carried the ball for 1,210 yards on 214 touches and scored 11 touchdowns. Look for the 5'10" 180 lb. senior to take advantage of defenses right away this year.

Joining him in the backfield will be another 1,000+ yard rusher. Senior Aaron Torczynski (5'9", 175 lbs, 4.6 speed) carried the ball 151 times for 1,066 yards and seven touchdowns.

Hayden Haire, a 6'4", 210 lb. quarterback, will take snaps from returning center Willy Whigham, who was named to the first team All-District offense. Whigham is 6'0" and 220 but is a quick lineman with 4.9 speed. Haire was fairly accurate when he did throw the ball, completing 22 of 41 passes for six TDs and 481 yards.

The Eagles had 371 yards per game last year. The Eagles had 4,452 yards total offense last year.

Joining Whigham to anchor an offensive line that takes advantage of strength and quickness over heft is Senior Robert Soto, a 240 lb. second team All-District lineman.

Other positions on the offensive line will come from among the 23 returning lettermen and from last year's junior varsity squad, which was 6-4 on the year.

The defense returns nine starters, including Cutter Hudgens, a 6'1", 170 lb. defensive back who had 42 tackles, two interceptions, a caused fumble and nine pass defenses. Hudgens, who has 4.6 speed, was named to the second team All-District defensive squad.

Zach Adams will anchor the defensive line. The 6'2", 220 lb. senior was named to the Second Team All-District Defense. He had 37 tackles, including 10 tackles for loss and three sacks.

Senior outside linebacker Jacob Wilk (6'2", 200 lbs., 4.8 speed) was named to the Second Team All-District defense. He led the Eagles with 49 tackles, 15 assisted tackles, nine tackles for loss, three blocked kicks and caused one fumble.

Junior Tate Harvey (6'1", 180 lbs., 4.6 speed) returns to his free safety position, where he made 49 tackles and had three interceptions.

Andrew Sniggs also started as a freshman. The 6'1", 200 lb. defensive lineman had 22 tackles, five tackles for losses and two sacks last year on the defensive line.

Other returning defensive starters are defensive end Wyatt Bagley (6'0", 190 lbs., 4.8 speed), who was named Second Team All-District Defensive End with 23 tackles, nine tackles for loss, three sacks, one fumble recovery; cornerback Quade Brown (6'1", 175 lbs., 4.8 speed, who had 22 tackles and two interceptions and linebacker Mac Miller (6'0", 175 lbs., 4.8 speed), who had 20 tackles and four tackles for loss.

Jake Walrath returns as kicker this year. He converted 27 of 29 point-after kicks, and was two-of-four on field goal attempts, including one of 36 yards to tie a school record. Walrath will also punt this year.

SABC to continue in different role

The Salado Athletic Booster Club will continue, but in a different role, according to a letter sent to Salado parents last week from SABC President Seth Chambliss, Treasurer Bobby Whitson and Secretary Kristi Jarvis.

"SABC will still exist," Chambliss stated in the letter. "Our vision and focus will remain the same: to promote SISD athletics to the community and create a group that seeks to do fun activities/events that benefits the program. We will still offer two scholarships a year through the Salado Education Foundation."

The SABC board met with the head coaches of each sport last spring to address that apparent declining interest in SABC by parents. "We began to contemplate if the coaches would be better served by each having their own 'booster club,' in that, they oversaw their own concessions, fundraisers, events," Chambliss stated. "They (coaches) all agreed."

"We are going to concentrate on reaching our community and developing support for Salado Athletics beyond the captive audience of families in SISD," Chambliss said. "We foresee opportunities ahead where we can promote SISD Athletics and create momentum with a growing school district and athletic program."

Meet the Eagles set for Aug. 26

Salado Eagles fans are invited to kick off the 2017-18 sports year at the Meet the Eagles Community Pep Rally 6 p.m. Aug. 26 at the Salado High School gym.

All SHS coaches, football and volleyball players, cross country teams, trainers, cheerleaders, drum majors, twirlers and band members will be introduced.

Introducing new Intermediate school teachers

Several new teachers will greet students on the first day of class at Salado Intermediate School.

EMERY ATKINSON

Emery Atkinson will teach sixth grade English Language Arts and Reading at Salado Intermediate School this year.

He holds a degree in English from University of Mary Hardin-Baylor, graduating in 2016. She is certified in ELAR in grades 4-8 and in grades 7-12.

He is a first year teacher. "I am a teacher because I want to make a difference in young lives," Atkinson says. "I want to be a positive male influence in a classroom setting."

"My desire to teach stems from my mother and grandfather; both of whom teach in Killeen ISD," he added.

"Salado provides everything I could ever want as a young educator: amazing administrators, selfless colleagues, and a supportive and wonderful community," he said. "I am ecstatic to start my coaching and teaching career in Salado."

In addition to teaching at Salado Intermediate School, Atkinson will coach varsity football and assist with the baseball program.

IVY DESJARDIN

Ivy Desjardin comes to Salado Intermediate School from Leander ISD where she taught for 15 years in elementary special education.

She will be a special education teacher in third through sixth grades.

Desjardin holds a B.S. and M. Ed. from Texas State University.

"While attending Southwest Texas State University (now Texas State), I began volunteering at an equine therapeutic riding center," she says of her decision to become a teacher. "It was extraordinary to see how the joy of riding replaced the struggles of the kids' everyday lives, I was honored to support their growth but still had not considered how to connect that to a career."

"I worked as a substitute teacher while in college and had the opportunity to work in special education classrooms," she adds. "It was so gratifying to be able help students reach a level of success beyond their expectations. That led me to pursue teaching elementary special education."

"Teaching the last 15 years has been even more rewarding than I anticipated," she said, "and I am excited to continue this passion in Salado."

CARRIE FERGUSON

Carrie Elizabeth Ferguson will teach fifth grade Science at Salado Intermediate School this year.

She obtained a registered nurse license from Central Texas College. She also graduated cum laude with a bachelor of science in nursing from the University of Texas at Arlington. Ferguson is certified to teach health science in grades seven through 12 and science in grades four through eight.

Ferguson has experience teaching Anatomy and Physiology, AP Environmental Science and AVID.

"I became a teacher to make a difference in students' lives while sharing my passion for science with the future generation," she said.

LINDSAY JONES

Lindsay Jones will teach third grade reading, writing and social studies at Salado Intermediate School this year.

She has two years experience teaching and holds a bachelors or arts from the University of Oklahoma. She has an Early Childhood through sixth grade generalist certification and an English as a Second Language Certification.

"I can't imagine myself doing anything else," she says of teaching. "I have the best job in the world!"

"I get to share experiences, laugh and learn something with my students every day," she adds. "Each day brings something new and exciting and sometimes challenging, and we all grow together. Best stuff is at the Farmers Market

By RHEA LANDHOLM
CENTER FOR RURAL AFFAIRS

There is nothing better than slicing up a ripe garden tomato fresh off the vine. However, some may not have the means to grow fresh vegetables in their backyards.

At the Center for Rural Affairs, we work with rural communities to build healthy, sustainable, local food systems. That includes supporting farmers markets.

Farmers markets expand access to fresh, healthy food in communities that need it most. They provide affordable, competitive prices for low-income families, and many accept food vouchers.

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), more than 5,000 farmers markets across the country accept Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) benefits, with the number of new locations increasing at an average 40 percent per year.

That means more families are eating healthy and fresh local fruits and vegetables.

Farmers markets also provide beginning farmers a low-cost way to enter the marketplace and grow their businesses. Small and medium existing farms can supplement their revenue by selling at markets, supporting the sustainability of family farms.

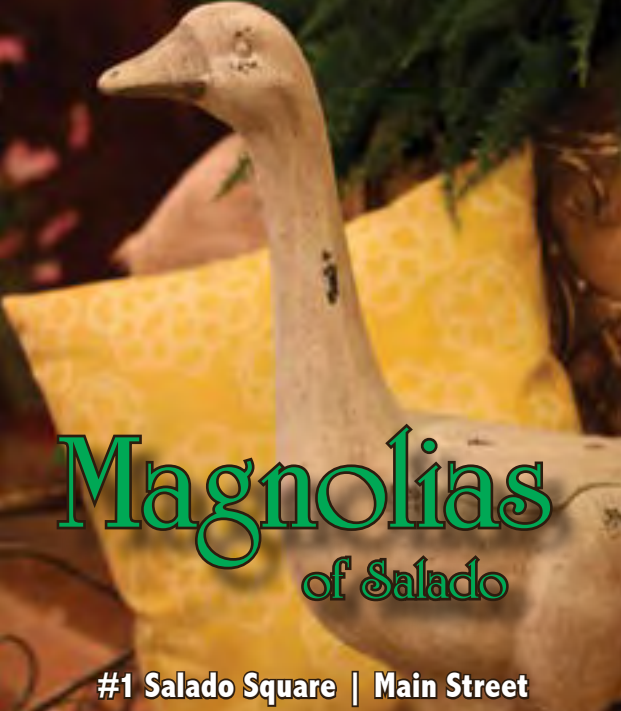

Star Party set Aug. 12

The Omega Nebula (M17) lies just above the teapot asterism in the constellation Sagittarius. M17 contains an open star cluster (NGC 6618), which causes it to glow from the radiation of these hot, young stars. Besides being one of the youngest star clusters known, it is considered to be among the largest of the star-forming regions within our galaxy.

The Central Texas Astronomical Society will host free public star parties on 8:30-11:30 p.m. Aug. 12 at Overlook Park near Belton and the Hubbard City Lakes Park in Hubbard. Sunset is at 8:15 p.m. CTAS members will provide telescopes to view the visible planets and a selection of star clusters, nebulas, and galaxies.

Star gazers will look at gas giant Jupiter early in the evening, as it appears low in the west and will set around 10:30 p.m. Ringed planet Saturn is high in the sky for optimal viewing all evening. The Nasa Cassini mission at Saturn will end in September, but continues to send back spectacular images. Pluto is located in Sagittarius this month. The Nasa New Horizons mission has shown Pluto to be far more interesting than we ever imagined. Pluto has an atmosphere, ice mountains, tectonic activity, and is believed to have liquid water beneath the surface.

Astronomers will look at these and many other celestial objects this month. Check the web site, <http://www.centexastronomy.org>, for more information

Life Skills covers topics that teens need to know as they transition into adulthood. Taught by Jennifer Turner, young adults will learn about preparing for the workforce, finances and credit, car maintenance, basics of cleaning, cooking and health, managing stress and more. Jennifer will introduce these topics with information and humor that gets the students' attention and keeps it. The six-week class is held on Thursdays beginning Sept 7 at 4-5:30 p.m. Cost is $75 for ages 13 and up.

Photographing Your Family with Finesse is also taught by Jennifer Turner who has 30 years of experience as a portrait photographer. This class for adults will cover how to capture family memories in varied lighting situations so that you never miss a moment. She will discuss how to operate your camera and learn different mode settings, along with basic understanding of the depth of field and lenses to achieve the look you want. Various digital programs for editing will also be discussed. Cost is $99 for the four-week course held on Tuesdays club, and West cashed two club tricks to put the contract down one.

The approach adopted by South violated a basic principle of declarer play, and it eventually cost him the contract. South's plan from the start should have been to prevent East from gaining the lead, if at all possible.

In line with that policy, when he led a trump from dummy at trick two, South should have finessed the jack instead of going up with the ace. He should have been willing to lose a trump trick to West, the non-danger hand. Furthermore, the finesse was a safety play against the possibility that East might have all three missing trumps.

In the actual case, West would win the jack with the king, placing him in a hopeless position. In fact, if West didn't cash the ace of clubs at this point, South would wind up making the contract with an overtrick.

As happens so often, declarer encountered a situation where the outcome depended largely on his ability to keep a particular opponent off lead. There was nothing South could lose by taking a trump finesse at trick two, and a great deal he could lose if he did not take the finesse. His failure to make this relatively simple play turned out to be a very costly error.

Velvet Ant

The velvet ant is actually a wasp

As I have written on numerous occasions, the common names of animals often describe things such as coloration, habitats, or even type of animal that it is quite thoroughly. However, there are times that even the common name can be misleading, and in one particular case of a colorful insect that is found here in Texas, the common name doesn't even accurately describe what type of animal it is. That insect is the Velvet Ant.

Velvet Ants belong to a large and very diverse family known as the Mutillidae family. This family is represented by well over 3,000 species that can be found worldwide. Members of this family prefer to dwell in temperate climates, and while some species favor a more tropical-type habitat, there are several species that have selected Texas as their home. The most common species in Texas (Dasymutilla sp.) lives in semi-arid to arid areas, particularly areas with sandy and/or loose soils.

Wild About Texas

Michael Price

Despite being labeled as an ant, this unique insect is in actuality a variety of wasp. And to make identification more confusing, only the males have wings. In fact, in many species, the males and females are colored quite differently from each other! At least the first half of the common name (the "velvet" portion) is accurate as the exoskeleton (the insects protective "outer-shell") is covered with a thick layer of hair that has the feel of velvet to the touch.

This hair is regularly brightly colored and more often than not this bright coloration is some variation of orange or red. The most common coloration exhibited, in Texas specimens anyway, is a myriad of combinations of black and orange. In the most commonly seen species, the head and thorax are both black while the abdomen is red/orange. Patterns of other species include having orange along the entire upper-side with black underneath as well as some where the head and the thorax are red/orange and the abdomen is banded with black and red/orange.

Whatever the coloration, the Velvet Ant has three body parts like all other insects; the head, the thorax, and the abdomen. It also has 6 legs, elongated antennae, mouthparts that are adapted to its preferred food source, nectar. It is also surprisingly large; adult females can achieve a total length of nearly an inch.

The life cycle of this fascinating and solitary-living species parallels that of many other parasitic species of insects. Males, who have been granted with the gift of flight, will search for females. Once a suitable partner is discovered and mating has taken place, the female will then begin a quest to find the underground nest of a closely related wasp or occasionally a bee such as the Bumble Bee. Once this nest has been revealed, the female will then chew open the cocoon and deposit her own egg on the inside. Once this egg has hatched, the white grub-looking larvae will then feed on the host larvae as it undergoes several stages of growth, maturing into a pupa then an adult.

While males may have the gift of flight, they have no ability to sting to defend themselves. Females on the other hand, have the ability to inflict severe pain on a perceived threatening object. Many outdoorsmen, as well as farm and ranch hands, have made the unenviable mistake of either grabbing or picking up a female Velvet Ant. The female wasp has an unusually lengthy and navigable stinger that injects a powerful venom that has been consistently rated as one of the most painful insect stings in numerous outdoor magazines. In fact, the pain is so intense that this species of wasp has taken the name "Cow Killer" in many areas of the country. However, the cattle industry is quite safe; "Cow Killers" have not even been documented to sting cattle! This name is derived from the fact that the painful sting is said to be able to knock down something even as large as a bovine.

Thankfully, however, this species of wasp is rather benign in nature and only stings after much duress and agitation. And while the sting is powerful, there is no immediate danger nor any long-term ill effects. So, when observing the females of this colorful insect, give her a good amount of space, but don't fret; she is more than happy to along her merry way without defending herself against you!
