

Sales taxes jump 60% for Village

Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar sent a sales tax rebate check to the Village of Salado last week that was almost 60 percent more than the previous year's September payment.

The Village received $42,747.72 last week, an increase of almost $16,000 over the September 2016 payment of $26,842.95. For the year, the Village has been received 17 percent more in sales tax rebates than payment through September 2016. To date, the Village has been paid $327,541.64 in sales tax rebates compared to $280,081.91 paid through September 2016.

The September payment is for sales made in July by business that report tax monthly.

Salado Library District received a payment of $31,103.80, an increase of 38 percent over last September's payment of $22,529.21 for the half cent that it levies in sales taxes. For the year, the Library District is almost 13 percent above last year's payments through September. The District has received $251,263.70 so far in 2017 compared to $222,737.71 paid through September 2016.

Bell County received a payment of $4.44 million for September, about 3 percent ahead of last September's payment of $1.4 million. For the year the county is almost 4 percent ahead, having been paid $14.1 million.

The Comptroller reported that his office sent cities, counties, transit systems and special purpose taxing district $668.3 million in local sales tax allocations in September, an increase of 6.2 percent more than in September 2016.

Taste of Art brings it into public spaces

The Public Arts League of Salado is launching its first ever Paint Out competition and is inviting artists and the public to be a part of this plein air event.

En plein air is a phrase borrowed from the French meaning "open air." It is used to describe the act of painting outdoors. Painting in this setting allows the artist and the observing public to interact, literally bring art out into the fresh air.

The Salado Taste of Art competition will be Sept. 22 and Sept. 23.

Watercolor, acrylic, oil, and pastel art will be represented. The event includes a Quick Draw competition that gives the participating artists 100 minutes to complete a painting.

Salado offers artists a wide variety of venues for painting. Main Street, Salado creek, College Hill, the Sculpture Garden, local B&B's, and the open ranch land are all waiting to be subjects.

The two days of active painting will allow everyone to observe art in progress. In addition, the schedule of activities for Sept. 22 includes a plein air demonstration and an Artists Meet and Greet.

The schedule for Sept. 23 includes an informative talk on the art of plein air and the Awards Reception.

The finished paintings will be displayed for purchase at the Sept. 23 Awards Reception. The artists work that most impresses the exhibition judges will be given cash awards. These prize winning paintings will be auctioned and all paintings will be offered for sale. New sculptures in the Salado Sculpture Garden will also be judged for cash awards. Creations by local artists will be auctioned during the evening reception.

Artists are invited to take part in Taste of Art compe-

Handmade mandolin

This handmade mandolin, created by master craftsman Barry Starcher of Salado, is one of several items that will be auctioned off during the Artists' Reception on Sept. 23, part of the Public Arts League of Salado Paint Out weekend. Starcher is represented in Salado at Sirril Gallery, 1 Royal Street. He is a multi-talented, retired bio chemist from Tyler who moved to Salado about three years ago. He makes wood and string instruments as well. Starcher turns wood bowls and items and creates hand carvings. (COURTESY PHOTO) dition by submitting an application to www.publicartsleagueofsalado.org. Any one may participate in the Quick Draw by registering ($10 fee) on line or at the event. The public may attend the Artists Meet and Greet ($18 admission) and/or the Awards Reception for paintings and sculpture ($25 admission). Tickets are available at www.

Legend of Sirena reaches next generation with Festival

For more than three decades, Sirena has graced Salado Creek. Artist Troy Kelley and friends dedicated her at just past midnight of the New Year 1986 to make her the first public art piece dedicated during the Texas Sesquicentennial.

A second generation of Salado children are learning of and falling in love with her legend, developed by Troy and enhanced by local playwright Jackie Mills.

According to that Legends, Sirena is a native Tonkawa maiden who was doomed (or tricked) the day she met a magical catfish. She was promised by the catfish that the handsome brave would fall deeply in love with her, under one condition...

Once a month for a full year, she would have to transform under the light of the full moon, into a mermaid and swim in the waters of Salado Creek with the catfish.

On her last night, she is caught by a fisherman's hook and climbs up upon a nearby rock to pull it from her tail. The Indian brave has awakened by her absence that evening and goes in search of her. He spots her there on the rock and Sirena is forevermore fated to being a mermaid and swimming with the catfish. It is said that her tears feed the stream.

A new generation of Salado and Sirena enthusiasts are hoping to honor the Legend of Sirena and the creators of this local legacy by holding an annual Sirena Fest & Mermaid Parade. Tiffany Schreiner, along with several other local business owners have organized an event that will bring whimsy as well as educational elements to children of all ages on Oct. 7.

The goals of Sirena Fest & Mermaid Parade are to highlight the legacy of Sirena in Salado, educate children on creek habitat and conservation, delight kids of all ages with the magic, whimsy, and artistry that the Village of Salado has to offer, and finally to raise money for a local non-profit each year. For 2017, funds raised will go towards Keep Salado Beautiful. This organization is working with the Salado Habitat Initiative to create a space for butterflies, pollinators, as well as to delineate the line between safe places for these wildlife and the visitors who come to enjoy Salado, specifically Pace Park.

This festival is aimed entirely at children and families, hoping to encourage children to think outside the box, dream wild imaginative dreams, and fulfill them. In the words of local stonecarver Bob Ragan, "Imagination creates reality" and that is exactly what this festival aims to do.

In addition to the parade and festival, the organizers held a Mermaid Ambassador Brunch Sept. 7 with funds raised from it going towards the fundraising goals.

A reception will be held for Jackie Mills and Troy Kelley at the Salado Museum

The Mermaid Ambassador luncheon at Stagecoach Inn on Sept. 7 helped to generate funds for the inaugural Sirena Fest and Mermaid Parade which will be Oct. 7. (PHOTOS BY ROYCE WIGGIN)

4-6 p.m. on Oct. 6. Salado Mayor Skip Blancet, will read a proclamation in their honor and proclaim Oct. 7 as Sirena Day.

The Mermaid Parade will begin at 2 pm on Oct. 7 (see related story) in Pace Park and proceed a half mile to the festival grounds beside Salado Creek, near where the famous bronze sculpture of Sirena resides.

Sirena Fest will run 2:30-6 p.m. Oct. 7 and will include educational booths by UMHB Biology Professor Dr. Kaleb Heinrich and the Texas Fish & Wildlife Service, and a history booth from the Salado Museum.

There will also be face painting, arts activities, delicious food, and a performance from Circus Picnic, a group of performers from Austin.

And of course, there will be real live mermaids!

Trump Gets DACA Right

Even in our divided politics, it should be a matter of consensus that the president of the United States can't write laws on his own.

That's what President Barack Obama did twice when he unilaterally granted amnesties to swaths of the illegal immigrant population. The courts blocked one of these measures, known as DAPA, and President Donald Trump has now begun the process of ending the other, DACA, on a delayed, rolling basis.

In a country with a firmer commitment to its Constitution and the rule of law, there'd be robust argument over how to deal with the DACA recipients -- so-called DREAMers who were brought here by their illegal-immigrant parents as children -- but no question that Congress is the appropriate body for considering the matter, not the executive branch.

Instead, President Trump is getting roundly denounced by all his usual critics for inviting Congress to work its will. His decision is a relatively modest way to roll back what is clearly an extra-legal act.

The president goes out of his way to minimize disruption for current DACA recipients. The administration will stop accepting new applications for the program but will continue to consider two-year renewals for recipients whose status is expiring between now and March 5. This gives Congress a six-month window for its own solution before anyone's status changes.

The proximate cause of the Trump decision was a threat by the attorney general of Texas and other states to bring a suit challenging the legality of DACA. Attention had to be paid, because Texas and other states successfully got the other Obama unilateral amnesty, DAPA, enjoined by the courts.

In a Facebook post, Obama waves off the legal challenge. He says DACA is based "on the well-established legal principle of prosecutorial discretion." He maintained the exact same thing about DAPA, and that didn't save it in the courts, including the Supreme Court. True prosecutorial discretion involves a case-by-case determination by authorities. Obama's executive amnesties were sweeping new dispensations designed to apply to broad categories of illegal immigrants. They didn't involve simply deciding not to prioritize the deportation of the affected illegal immigrants, but the conferral of various positive benefits on them, most importantly work permits.

This is clearly a new legal system for these immigrants, and in fact, President Obama once slipped and told an audience, "I just took action to change the law." Prior to DACA, Obama repeatedly said that he didn't have the authority to implement his own amnesty absent congressional action -- before doing just that.

Now, Trump is giving Congress another chance. It isn't hard to see the parameters of a deal: a codification of DACA, putting it on firm legal footing, in exchange for enforcement measures. Whatever Congress arrives at, it will have more legitimacy than the jerry-rigged legislating of a president wielding a pen and a phone.

President Trump has exercised his powers foolishly at times, but he's never exceeded them. What Obama calls, pejoratively, the White House shifting "its responsibility for these young people to Congress" is really just basic civics. Congress writes the laws, even when it's not to Barack Obama's liking.

Unemployment numbers will be all over the place this fall

The S&P 500 Stock Index (SPX) closed out last week at 2461.43, only down 0.61%. The Index ended the week up 9.94% year-to-date and 15.68% from where it was this time last year. Considering that we have been hit by two hurricanes, witnessed N. Korea's first thermonuclear blast, and all else that happened, the resilience of this market is impressive. The market's biggest dip for the week was when a Federal Reserve governor said inflation was too low and to expect interest rates to remain abnormally low as a result. Banks need higher interest rates to make money on loans, so the financial sector took a dive. The US benchmark 10-year treasury yield dropped to just above 2%, an indicator that deflation may once again be a threat. Again, despite hurricanes and other issues, US oil closed at $47.46 for another surprise non-reaction.

The global and the US economy have shifted. Events that once would have caused the stock market to plunge and oil prices to skyrocket pass by with barely a ripple in either area. Gold rose just a bit and because of its low price at this time last year, is finally at a break-even point with this time last year, but still far lower than it was just a few years ago. Part of the cause for that increase in stability can be seen on a drive across West Texas. A few years back there were areas where one could see wind turbines. Today there are forests of wind turbines from horizon to horizon linked by an impressive network of high-tension lines. In between the wind turbines are new oil wells extracting oil from previously "unrecoverable" shale rock forma-

As most know by now, Equifax announced last week that hackers had access to the detailed credit records of about 143 million Americans for as long as 60 days before Equifax closed out the intruders. Included in those records were Social Security numbers, addresses, dates of birth, and addresses; all an identity thief would need to steal your identity. Additionally, there were a couple of hundred thousand accounts compromised that contained credit card numbers. If you haven't already, go to www.equifaxsecurity2017.com, check to see if your data was compromised, and if so, sign up for their free identity theft protection program. Additionally, we recommend you visit <http://clark.com/personal-finance-credit/credit-freeze-and-thaw-guide/> to see how to freeze-out any unauthorized new credit use of your information while still keeping your ability to create accounts for yourself.

New jobless claims jumped last week, but we suggest you ignore the data. Hurricane Harvey's employment impact will be significant, and as of the end of the week, it certainly appears that Irma will have a perhaps larger impact than Harvey. In short, the employment numbers for the rest of this quarter are likely to be all over the place. What we can say for sure is that an immense amount of money will need to be spent to make a dent in the rebuilding and repair work from two major hurricanes. The short-term impact will be negative to GDP and about everything else, but in the long term, it will get money moving around in a big way.

Congress committed $15.25 billion for direct hurricane aid, but it looks like that will be a drop in the bucket. According to USA Today, and AccuWeather the early estimates for Harvey suggest it will take at least $190 billion to do the cleanup, with much of that coming from insurance companies. If Irma matches or exceeds that number then there will be about $400 billion dollars in new spending hitting the economy. One big question mark is where the construction labor will come from. The second question that $15 billion rescue bill raises is how members of Congress who have loudly protested deficit spending could support additional spending with no offsetting cuts or increases in taxes. A minor surcharge on top of existing income taxes could easily have paid for the emergency funding. This is where we get unsustainable deficits. When members of Congress take an oath to not raise taxes, but then commit to more spending, is it a surprise that we are about $20 trillion in debt?

In a world full of Hares, be slow and steady like the tortoise

Last Thursday, "focused intensity" was superbly demonstrated at the Mermaid Ambassador Luncheon. Every minute of the event was planned. There was no wasted time as the Sirena Fest was professionally outlined and discussed. When over, 100 attendees knew exactly what was happening in October.

Most people can focus if they concentrate and most people can be intense for a while depending on how much they care about the project. The question is how long can their total "focused intensity" last -- a day, a week, or a month?

The person that can focus with intensity for a year or more is "world-class" in their goals and achievements. Malcolm Gladwell relates the key to the Beatles success. They spent well over 15,000 hours practicing and playing anywhere invited. Gladwell explains, "No one gets and stays at the top without hours and hours of work, preparation, sacrifice, and trial and error."

One of Aesop's fables is The Tortoise and the Hare." You know the story: slow Tortoise beats the fast rabbit. It is just not for children.

We live in a world of Hares -- impatient; fast; not focused much less "intensely focused"; egotistical; and willing to pay the personal or professional cost regardless of whom they hurt. They are so worried about the moment, that vision and conscience are lost. They trade real, rich, abiding, success for the momentary win and frequently find themselves starting over and over, again.

As Aesop pointed out, "the tortoise always wins." In plain, practical thought, SLOW AND STEADY WINS THE RACE." One cannot push or demand anything from Local, State, or Federal agencies or anyone else and get it. However, if one is patient, kind, helpful, sincere; and intensely focused; their goals will be achieved. Slow, steady, and networking will win the race in the Village, family and at work.

TASB Media Honor roll has locals

Congratulations to Tim Fleischer, Jeff Stockton, and Larnce Barker for being selected for the 2016-2017 Texas Association of School Boards (TASB) Media Honor Roll. Tim Fleischer is the editor-in-chief of the Salado Village Voice newspaper. Jeff Stockton and Larnce Barker are the announcers for the schoolboysports.com online broadcasts of our varsity football games.

Reporters have the power to shape community attitudes about public schools, and Media Honor Roll is a way for districts to recognize fair and balanced reporting about our schools.

The Media Honor Roll recognizes representatives in print, radio, television, and online media who (1) make the effort to get to know the superintendent, board president, district's mission, and district's goals; (2) report school news in a manner that is fair, accurate, and balanced; (3) give a high-profile position to good news about schools; (4) visit the schools; and (5) maintain a policy of no surprises by sharing information with school representatives.

Tim Fleischer and the Salado Village Voice do a fantastic job of covering Salado students from Thomas Arnold Elementary School through Salado High School in the B Section "Salado Schools & Sports" of the newspaper every week. They thoroughly cover all of our students' activities including academics, athletics, fine arts, and FFA/stock shows. This section also includes an updated list of the results of previous games and a schedule of upcoming games.

Jeff Stockton and Larnce Barker do an outstanding job of announcing all of our varsity football games on schoolboysports.com every Friday night. They also announced our baseball playoff games last spring. On Friday nights I attend both our volleyball and football games so I often listen to the first part of the football game as I am driving between the games. Their play-by-play announcing is very exciting and enthusiastic. They also record interviews with the players prior to the game that they broadcast during halftime.

Thank you to Tim Fleischer, Jeff Stockton, and Larnce Barker for the great job they do recognizing our Salado students!

Lawsuit, audit may yield truth

To the Editor:

Texas State Law requires that HOT fund expenses be used for specific activities in order to increase overnight stays.

Owners of hotels and B&B's should be outraged that money that was supposed to be spent to benefit them was diverted given Salado's past and present economic challenges.

The mayor and BOA should recover expenses that didn't directly benefit tourism and replenish the Hotel Motel fund.

Just like officials demanded from TxDOT, the village government should pay restitution to those harmed or spend those HOT dollars to benefit those overnight stay businesses that were impacted by the misspending as the law intended. They owe it to the public to explain the measures put in place to ensure future compliance.

I'm not sure how can that can be accomplished when there's $250,000 in HOT money unaccounted for and an unexplained absence of $500,000 from the EDA sewer grant? How many millions have already been spent on principal & interest for a sewer that the former city manager committed to me in a letter would be finished in November 2017? There's a regional sewer system just 2800 feet away with more capacity than Salado would ever need. Why isn't Salado tapping into that? Where is the Sanctuary? Two dozen secret meetings, at least some of which were illegally held. For what purpose: real estate appreciation based on cobblestone deception?

Your Voice

Letters to the Editor

Zoning changes without public hearings?

None of this is rational and it gives the appearance that at least some of the Aldermen and the mayor are biased toward certain developers/projects and potentially have undisclosed financial interests. Interests they might benefit from if favorable decisions are made from the dais.

People should know what those conflicts are.

I'm afraid the only way people will discover the real truth is if there's a civil lawsuit, a forensic audit, or a criminal investigation/prosecution.

Sincerely,
King Copeland

Plans underway for Christmas in October

Now is the perfect time to begin Christmas shopping! One of the best places to view "the latest" Christmas decorations and styles is at the Salado Chamber of Commerce Ladies Auxiliary Christmas in October. The event is scheduled for 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Oct. 13-14 at The Venue on College Street (near the corner of Royal Street and College Street) in Salado. Admission is $3 per adult.

This annual event is a preview to the Christmas season and will feature the wares of local and area merchants on display inside a beautiful setting at The Venue on College Street.

Each year, vendors creatively display holiday decorations, jewelry, clothing, food and specialty home décor items. Shoppers will experience the sights, sounds, smells, tastes, and charms of the Village of Salado. "We truly enjoy Christmas in October being at The Venue. The facility is a great place for the Ladies Auxiliary to host our annual fundraiser event. This year's array of local and area merchants promises to be the best yet!" states Tommye Prater, Christmas in October co-chair.

The Christmas in October Bake Sale is a tradition many look forward to each year! Customers will enjoy wandering through the booth area and the bake sale area all in the same facility. Most importantly, participants will have the opportunity to purchase delicious homemade pies, cakes, cookies and a wide variety of desserts.

A Style Show featuring models strolling through the booth section will display fall fashions from local boutiques as well as out of town merchants. The "strolling time" for the models will be late morning and early afternoon on both days of the Friday and Saturday event.

Representatives of the Salado Community Chorus will provide Christmas carols 10 a.m. Oct. 14. "We always look forward to the Salado Community Chorus group entertaining shoppers and the Style Show is fun as well," said Christmas in October co-chair, Deborah Roberson.

The Village trolley will be available to transport visitors from several Village parking areas to the entrance of The Venue on College Street. For more information, visit us online at www.salado.com or contact the Salado Chamber of Commerce at 254-947-5040. You may purchase tickets at the door or online at Eventbrite.

The Salado Ladies Auxiliary strives to promote events and activities which enhance, improve and promote the community of Salado. Christmas in October is one of these events in which the money earned is given back to community organizations such as the Salado Volunteer Fire Department, Salado Family Relief, Salado Community Chorus, and the Body of Christ Dental Clinic. Funds also are used to provide annual scholarships for local high school students to attend college or technical school.

Czech Heritage Museum offers Czech grammar mini-series

The Czech Heritage Museum will offer two classes in September focusing on Czech grammar and usage.

These classes will begin at 7 p.m. on Sept. 14 and on Sept. 28 at the Museum, 119 W. French Avenue. Doors will open at 6:30 p.m.

First Lieutenant Ethan Gleue of Fort Hood will teach the class. Lt. Gleue, West Point graduate, is an Apache helicopter pilot with the U.S. Army and will deploy overseas in October. Prior to working two years in Prague, Moravia and Slovakia, he attended intensive language training in Czech for nine weeks.

Lt. Gleue visited the Museum recently for a tour and offered to volunteer. "I am so happy to find others as passionate about all things Czech as I am," he said.

"My vision for the class would be introductions, followed by sharing some useful vocabulary words, taking turns reading Czech passages focusing on pronunciation, speed, and proper pauses. After that I can cover grammar principles," said Lt. Gleue.

While in the Czech Republic, Lt. Gleue designed a pocket card with declinations and other useful helps so that he could quickly learn to communicate.

Community Clinic opens for dental procedures and celebrates anniversary

The Body of Christ Community Clinic (BOCCC) will celebrate the first anniversary of the opening of its dental clinic with three special events in September. The new dental clinic, which opened last September, was built by funds entirely raised from the communities of Belton, Salado and Temple.

The BOCCC Dental Clinic is located at 1508 Oleta Street in Belton. On Friday 9 a.m.- noon Sept. 22, the Dental Clinic will hold an Oral Cancer Screening for the first thirty patients. The BOCCC is partnering with Dr. Jason Megens of Legacy Dental in Temple to provide the exams. This effort was made possible, in part, through the donation, by Forward Science, of an OralID screening device. The goal of oral cancer screening is to identify mouth cancer early, when there is a greater chance for a cure.

On Saturday, 9 a.m.- 1 p.m. Sept. 23, at the Dental Clinic, the BOCCC will

Fright Trail Details: A guide will enlighten you with facts about respective authors as they lead you to scenes from Macbeth, The Invisible Man, Dracula, Frankenstein, The Mummy's Curse, Phantom of the Opera, an excerpt from Edgar Allan Poe, by Thom Woodruff the World Poet a native of Australia now living in Austin, TX plus many more of America's most treasured classics. To produce Fright Trail, Tablerock requires the assistance of over 80 volunteers. Jackie Mills - 254-947-9205

A Christmas Carol Details: Ebenezer Scrooge is a penny-pinching miser in the first degree. He cares nothing for the people around him and mankind exists only for the money that can be made through exploitation and intimidation. He particularly detests Christmas which he views as 'a time for finding yourself a year older, and not an hour richer'. Scrooge is visited, on Christmas Eve, by the ghost of his former partner Jacob Marley who died seven Christmas Eves ago. Marley, a miser from the same mold as Scrooge, is suffering the consequences in the afterlife and hopes to help Scrooge avoid his fate. He tells Scrooge that he will be haunted by three spirits, the ghosts of Christmas past, present, and future, succeed in showing Scrooge the error of his ways. His glorious reformation complete, Christmas morning finds Scrooge sending a Christmas turkey to his long-suffering clerk, Bob Cratchit, and spending Christmas day in the company of his nephew, Fred, whom he had earlier spurned.

Scrooge's new-found benevolence continues as he raises Cratchit's salary and vows to assist his family, which includes Bob's crippled son, Tiny Tim. To produce A Christmas Carol, Tablerock requires the assistance of over 70 volunteers: Call Shannon Ashe for more information 254-760-1358

Dear Editor:

Kyle and I made a new little friend last night on our walk to the store, as I sat beside her until she died. We were walking on the road when I heard, what sounded like a little yelp/whine. As I shined my flashlight over to the yard next to me, there she was, a little White puppy, in a ditch, with bite marks in her upper shoulder/back/neck area and the bottom half of her outer fur covering her insides was gone, which revealed her insides, spine, intestines, etc. Later we discovered that it was probably a Mountain Lion/Coyote/Bob Cat attack. I was informed this morning that it was more than likely a Bob Cat because there are two of them on the lose in the Salado area. As I sat beside her I called Salado police, with the help of Kyle and they sent an officer, whose name was Officer Guthrie, to me to try to help her out. As he called many many vets, trying to get someone to put her to sleep, so he wouldn't have to shoot her, because there was no way she was going to live, I rubbed her head and talked to her just trying to ease her suffering and letting her know that she wasn't alone, that someone cared about her.

When Officer Guthrie, finally got a hold of a vet, in Belton, that was willing to get up and go out of his way to take care of this precious puppies, also not a patient of his, suffering and send her on her way to Heaven. So he, took it upon himself and loaded her up in his truck and made that drive to Belton. I can't imagine the pain and suffering she was going through and what she was thinking as I pet her head and watched as her eyes started to glaze over. Just a special thank you to Salado Police Officer, Officer Guthrie, for his compassion and care of an animal he didn't even know or have to care about and that Belton vet gets one too, because he didn't have to wake up that early in the morning to put a puppy out of her suffering. It's people like this that make the world a better place. A fine example of what America stands for.

Youth Fair Boosters working for Salado kids for 2+ decades

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

For many 4-H, FFA and FCCLA students, the Bell County Youth Fair and Livestock Show in February is the culmination of dozens -- if not hundreds -- of hours of work every day before and after school.

That work may pay off when their projects makes the sale and comes under the gavel of Sheriff Eddy Lange, Commissioner John Fisher and other volunteer Bell County auctioneers in one afternoon.

More than two decades ago, a group of local "FFA Dads" noticed that kids from other Bell County towns with large businesses would see their projects sell for hundreds of dollars more than the projects of Salado students.

Salado had a few businesses that bought projects every year, namely First State Bank and some others but not enough to buy all of the projects that made the auction from Salado.

That was the genesis of the Salado Youth Fair Booster and the annual Reverse Raffle, which is the principal fund raiser for the organization that purchases and adds on to the projects by Salado kids that make the Bell County Youth Fair auction.

The Eagles scored in the first quarter on a one yard run by Hunter Howton. The two-point try, however failed. Comfort scored a touchdown in the first quarter and kicked the extra point for a 7-6 lead.

Salado added another touchdown on a 78 yard pass from Cade Scallin to Latrell Jenkins. Hunter Turk pushed in the two-point conversion.

Comfort scored 10 points in the second for a 17-14 lead. Neither team scored in the third.

In the fourth, Scallin connected with Nader Smien for a 10 yard touchdown pass. Scallin then ran in the two-point conversion. Comfort scored a touchdown, kicking the extra point for the slim two-point margin.

Coulter Langlitz, Hunter Seymore and Jacob Tindell led the offense.

The defense was led by Joe Sampson, Baldemore Rodriguez and Jo'Kwan Kangston.

The JV Eagles face Hyde Park in a home game Sept. 14.

The Eagles are now 1-1 on the year.

Jr. High volleyball at Marble Falls

Salado Junior High Volleyball started off their 2017 season with a trip to Marble Falls. 7B, 8B, and 8A lost in straight sets with 7A winning two games to one.

With the lone victory for Salado, the 7th Grade A team flashed a lot of talent. "The young group has plenty of size and mobility to be a successful group for years to come," Coach Kristi Wilk said. Haleigh Wilk and Holly Giesecke had a great game and will continue to be relied on. "The sky is the limit for this group," Wilk added. "They have tons of natural talent and when they improve their volleyball skills, they are going to be a solid bunch for years to come."

Hailey Piatak and Madison Graham were the early standouts for the 7th Grade B Team. After the nerves settled, many of the other girls began to loosen up and improve as well. Joanna Stiegerwalt and Peyton Brazzil were among the others to step up. "Most of these girls have never played any form of competitive volleyball so I knew these first few games would have their growing pains," said Coach Clint Brown. "Give it a few weeks and they'll look like a completely new team."

The 8th Grade A team didn't come away with a win, but there were plenty of bright spots to be optimistic about. "These girls have some real potential and once they learn to tap into it, they're going to be scary to play," said Coach Wilk. Laine Taylor and Darcy Pryor will be the anchors for the team this year and showed why against Marble Falls. Kylee Cottle will be relied upon heavily and had a great game as well.

While the 8th Grade B Team suffered a loss, Coach Brown said he couldn't have been happier with their improvements from last year. "While we didn't get the win, I was ecstatic to see how quickly the girls picked up on the new offense. They've already made huge strides since their 7th Grade year and I can't wait to see what kind of progress they will make by November." Setter Macie Pittman and opposite hitter Alanna Vasquez were two of the many who had an impressive debut. Kenslee Konarik and Kennady Moffatt also showed signs of being up to the new challenges and will be a contributor throughout the season.

Our Heritage Speaks cemetery tour on October 7

In the dusky evening of Saturday, October 7 the Salado pioneers who are buried in the historic Old Salado Graveyard will come to life to tell their stories. They will tell how they came to Texas, when they came to Salado, and how they served their community and their country. Some will tell of other relatives who are buried next to them. Some will tell all; others will keep their secrets buried.

Salado Historical Society and Tablerock are sponsoring this third annual walking tour of the Old Salado Graveyard 5-6:30 p.m. Oct. 7. The historic Old Salado Graveyard is on Baines Street. The program is titled "Our Salado Heritage Speaks" referring to the lives of Salado settlers buried in the Old Graveyard who will have their biographies presented by historical reenactors.

Twenty early pioneers whose dedication of historical significance to the founding and early settlement of Salado are the focus of the walking tour.

The early pioneers on the tour are: Col. Hermon Aiken, Dr. Welborn and Louisa Barton, Captain Milton Damron, Rev. James and Fannie Ferguson, Capt. Robert Bonner Halley, Dr. Samuel Jones, Professor James Lowry Smith, James Anderson, Rev. George Washington Baines, Dr. Benjamin McKie, Archibald J. Rose, Leroy A. Griffith, John Paine, John Wesley Ray, Charley Schoepf, Granville and Sophia Vickery and Emily Bumpass Stockton.

Besides being noted Salado pioneers, these individuals made significant contributions to the educational, religious, political, and civic lives of people in the county and the State of Texas.

Tickets will cost $5 for adults and $3 for children 12 and under. Tickets can be purchased at the cemetery on the night of the program. Parking will be on site. Cars will not be permitted in the cemetery during the program. Call Jackie Mills for information 254-947-9205

Old photo may have Salado roots

Emily Brannen found this old photo at an antique store in Chico, California. It's clearly been ripped out of an album because the black paper is still around the edges on the back. On the front is written "Father & Mother - Blossom, TX" and on the back, in script is written "Grandpa & Grandma Norris." I think that the little boy in it is the father of Robert L. Norris, a lawyer who used to practice in Salado and whom Brannen cannot now find. "The story was printed in the Paris News and a couple of people came forward, but we think the only one alive in the family is RL Norris and I can't find him," Brannen said. If you can help put Brannen in touch with Robert L. Norris, contact Emily Brannen via email at emilybrannen@yahoo.com or call her at 530-828-6913.

Wrong way to a railroad

Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker

One tends to become a victim of habit in certain situations because they seem to be similar to others encountered previously. This tendency can prove costly at times, as witness what happened to South in this deal.

West led the jack of clubs against South's four-spade contract. Declarer won with the queen, crossed to dummy with a trump and led a heart to the jack, losing to the queen.

West made the fine return of a trump, which declarer took in dummy to lead another heart.

South dealer.

The bidding:

Opening lead — jack of clubs.
When the king lost to the ace, West returned a third round of trumps.

South was now at the end of his rope. He could not avoid losing a diamond and another heart, and so finished down one.

The ironic part of the hand is that if declarer had been dealt three small hearts instead of the K-J-5, he would surely have made the contract! In that case, given the same opening lead, he would have arranged to ruff one of his heart losers in dummy.

After winning the club, he would have immediately returned a heart. Then, regardless of what the defenders did next, he would play another heart, putting himself in position to trump his third heart in dummy and so guarantee the contract.

But the presence of the K-J-5 of hearts induced declarer to cross to dummy with a trump in order to lead toward his heart honors. This in turn opened the gate for repeated trump leads by the defense and eventually brought about South's downfall.

To avoid this pitfall, declarer should have led any heart from his hand at trick two, and 10 tricks would have been assured.

Arizona Sister Butterfly

This butterfly has an unusual diet

Many species of butterflies inhabit west Texas, and many are considered to be drab in coloration. However, there is a species that is found here that many naturalists consider to be one of the most beautifully marked species in the entire southwestern United States, the California Sister.

The Arizona Sister (Adelpha eulalia) is one of the most common and yet unnoticed butterflies that inhabit west Texas. It thrives along rocky hill-sides and washes where it patrols for food and water sources. Oftentimes, it will fly much higher than other species of butterflies as it glides along, utilizing the west Texas wind to propel it. Therefore, it is generally not forced to flap its wings as it moves from "point A" to "point B". Outside of Texas, it occurs from southern Utah and Colorado southward through California, Arizona, and New Mexico. From there it inhabits the appropriate habitat through the Sierra Madre Occidental in western Mexico.

The Arizona Sister is a colorfully marked species that many naturalists feel is one of the most beautiful butterflies in the southwest. Along the upper sides of the wings, the background coloration is a muted black, with two large and distinctive yellow or orange circles near the pinnacle of wings. Between these bright spots is a dash-dot trail of white that connects at the abdomen of the body. As if that were not enough color to adorn this animal, there is a series of red, black, and blue vertical bars that run along the upper edges of the wings. As this butterfly lands, the wings are clasped together to reveal powdery shades of brown, white, and blue. Adult butterflies reach a maximum wingspan of nearly three inches.

This species of butterfly has a particularly odd taste, feeding on flowers of honeydew plants, other fruit trees, and animal dung. It utilizes an appendage known as a proboscis to feed on these items. The proboscis is long and almost threadlike, and in times of non-use is curled up under the head of the butterfly.

Arizona Sisters, like other butterfly species, undergo a four-stage life cycle that can be described as nothing short of miraculous. In the beginning stage, their life begins as an egg, which hatches after a few short days into the next stage. Upon hatching, the larvae are known as caterpillars, and at this stage, the growth rate is highly accelerated. Caterpillars can eat twice their body weight in a single day, and as such, grow quickly. As they grow, they literally grow out of their skins, and they shed their outer layer of skin up to five times (known as molting) before they enter the next stage of their life cycle. After the caterpillar finds a spot in which it feels is secure, it will pupate as it forms a protective shell about it known as a chrysalis. Inside of this shell, the larvae changes into the butterfly that it will soon become. After about a week, the adult will emerge from this shell with its wings intact, although they are crumpled into small balls on the sides of the body. The butterfly will then pump a clear fluid into the veins of their wings, causing them to expand much the same way a stick can reinforce a kite.

Upon reaching maturity, the Arizona Sister will immediately begin searching for food, water and a mate. After mating, the males will continue their search for other receptive females, while the females will begin to look for a site suitable to lay eggs so a brand new life cycle can begin.

Look for this species near damp soil in rocky washes and arroyos, particularly on warm summer days. They are most commonly seen during their times of feeding and copulation, and this is generally during the months from May through August.
