Aldermen will consider requirements for automatic sprinkler system installation on Stagecoach project

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Salado aldermen will consider at its Nov. 16 meeting the requirement set by the Salado fire chief and Bell County fire marshal for the Stagecoach Inn to have fire sprinklers throughout its renovation of motel rooms, lobby and meeting space.

The board was initially set to discuss the item on Nov. 1, but canceled the meeting because it could gather together a quorum.

That item, and several others, will be discussed at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 16 at the Municipal Building, 317 Stagecoach Rd.

With this recent news that the Village of Salado will require installation of an automatic sprinkler system for the renovation of 48 motel rooms and a mixed use lobby and retail space at the Stagecoach Inn, future plans for the project are now on hold, according to the developer.

"While the proposed renovations to the Stagecoach Inn do not trigger the requirement for the installation of an automatic sprinkler system, the Village, under the 2009 Fire Code, does have the authority to mandate the installation of an automatic sprinkler system, underground water mains and fire hydrants if their absence represents a hazard to public safety and welfare," Village administrator Don Ferguson stated in a brief to aldermen for the meeting.

Fire Protection Consulting

Group conducted a review for automatic fire sprinklers and site fire protection on behalf of the Stagecoach Inn.

In that review, Temple R. Kennedy stated that "There are not any retroactive code provisions mandating the installation of an automatic sprinkler system within an existing Group R-1 occupancy (Transit Residential - hotel/motel) building or mixed Group M (retail in same building as motel lobby) and Group B occupancy building."

"Our research indicates that sprinkler systems, underground water mains, and fire hydrants are not mandated by the reviewed/referenced codes," Kennedy stated, "the fire code official is granted authority to mandate these systems/components at any time if he determines that their absence represents a distinct hazard to life or public welfare."

In other business, aldermen will consider a citizen survey concerning the white tail deer population. The board will also consider approval of a professional services agreement with Vanir Construction Services, Inc. for construction management services for the wastewater project.

Aldermen may also appoint a Tourism Advisory Board and a Wastewater Impact Fee advisory committee.

Aldermen may amend the itinerant vendors ordinance to modify the fees for mobile food trucks.

Whitson files for county commissioner

Bobby Whitson filed in the Republican party primary for Bell County Commissioner, Precinct 2 on the first day of filing.

Filing continues through Dec. 11.

Whitson, age 43, has lived his entire life in Precinct 2.

He says that growing up in rural Bell County has taught him to appreciate the value of our people, natural resources, and military presence.

He is a graduate of Texas A&M University and the Southwestern Graduate School of Banking at Southern Methodist University. He has 20 years of executive management in banking in Killeen and Harker Heights. He is the President/CEO of Greater Central Texas Federal Credit Union in Killeen.

He has held positions as a Mortgage Lender, Commercial/Construction/Development Lender, Compliance Officer, Human Resources Officer, Marketing Officer, Executive VP, and President. He is also an independently licensed Mortgage Loan Originator (NMLS# 469502) and Licensed Auctioneer (TXLIC# 15023).

Whitson serves as a fireman for Salado Fire and Rescue, the Secretary for Central Texas Council of Governments' Development

District of Central Texas, the President of the Killeen/Ft. Hood USO Advisory Board, Past President of the Harker Heights Rotary Club, member of the Village of Salado Public Safety, Economic Development, and Pace Park Advisory Committees, Advisor for the Southwestern Graduate School of Banking at SMU, and volunteers for many other organizations to include Keep Salado Beautiful, Salado and Harker Heights Chambers of Commerce, Salado High School Athletic Boosters, and Ducks Unlimited.

Whitson says that his professional and personal experiences have proven his ability to operate a private business, financial cooperative, and community oriented activities efficiently and effectively. "These same skills," he says "in leadership, human resource management, financial analysis, budgeting, economic development, public safety, regulatory compliance, natural resource management, and communication are all integral to a County Commissioner's responsibilities."

Community Thanksgiving service Nov. 19 at Grace Baptist Saladoans are invited to gather together at Grace Baptist Church 6 p.m. Nov. 19 for the annual Community Thanksgiving Service.

Pastor Jason Goings will deliver the message this year.

The service will also include a number of songs, scriptures and prayers, including two songs sung by the Salado Community Chorus. During the service an offering will be taken up for Salado Family Relief. Refreshments will be served following the worship in the church's fellowship hall.

Twelve gifts of Christmas

Salado Lions Club is sponsoring the first ever "Twelve Gifts of Christmas" raffle.

Twelve raffle drawings will be held Dec. 9 for gifts ranging in value from $250 to $1,295.

Each ticket holder will have 12 chances to win.

Multiple ticket holders will have 12 chances times the number of tickets they own. (4 tickets X 12 drawings = 48 chances to win)

Raffle Tickets, offered at $10.00 each, or four for $20.00, can be purchased through the sponsoring merchants and through the 60+ Salado Lions Club members.

All net proceeds will be used to support local initiatives in the early diagnosis and treatment of preventable blindness. Salado Lions plan the purchase of specialized equipment that can provide free and routine vision screening to area residents of all ages, and with a particular focus on children.

Twelve local sponsors have joined with the Lions in this community effort to celebrate the gift of sight by bringing to Salado: "The Twelve Gifts of Christmas."

Recent economic growth may be based on assumptions of large tax cuts

The Markets

The S&P 500 Stock Index (SPX) ended the week down 0.21 percent, its first down week in the last two months, but remains up well over 1 percent for one month and 19.31 percent from a year ago. The Dow Jones Industrial Average has recently been up more than the SPX and, rationally, was down more, about 0.5 percent for the week. The U.S. bond market was closed on Friday in observance of Veterans' Day but ended the week with the 10-year T-note yielding 2.326 percent, a decline of 8.6 hundredths of a percent, but the yield remains 0.55 percent higher than a year ago. Gold was up very slightly, as was oil.

The Economy
While interest rates in the U.S. are still low, at least by the standards of the last 30 years, the German ten-year Bund currently yields 0.318 percent with the two and five-year Bunds still well in negative yield territory, yielding -0.76 percent and -0.33 percent per year respectively. While the European economies have generally improved, they remain on life-support with the European Central Bank still buying bonds on the open market to prop up the economy. On the other side of that coin, oil prices have gained more than 15 percent in the last two months as demand rises with growing economic activity across the globe. We in America are concerned about rising rates and questioning when the next downturn will be while the rest of the world is still anticipating the end of the last one. We have a lot going for us and a lot for which we should be thankful.

The week's minor stock

Market & Economic Update

By Jeffrey W. McClure

market slump was generally credited to the introduction of a tax-reform bill in the Senate that appeared to be both severely at odds with the House version and less beneficial to corporate earnings. Quite a few pundits have been publicizing the opinion that the 20 percent rise in the stock market over the last year was largely based on the assumption that big tax cuts were coming. In the week just ended, the odds reportedly dropped to a 50/50 toss-up as to whether or not any tax bill would become law. As we had thought, it had little effect on market values.

For anyone who missed it, the Senate Finance Committee revealed what the Republicans there had concluded was the answer to all their political and tax problems. It retains the assumption that adding an additional $1.5 trillion to the federal debt over the next decade is a good idea but concluded that an immediate corporate tax cut would be too much. It also proposed the elimination of all deductions for homestead property taxes. Despite less in tax cuts and more removals of tax deductions, the Senate committee's proposal was (according to them) still missing about $76 billion in revenue to comply with the recently passed budget resolution. If either version is to become law, it must find some more revenue (taxes) or reduce the tax reductions. Otherwise, the proposal will need a lot of Democrats to like it in order to pass.

Both proposals are complex and long, but there are a couple of things that are clear. First, both the House and the Senate versions increase the national debt from its current 77 percent of GDP to about 100 percent of GDP in ten years. The second thing worthy of note is that the two proposals are in opposition to each other in very significant areas. The word in the Senate was that the House proposal was a no-go and would not pass there. The Republicans in the House appear to have the same opinion about the Senate version. We are reminded of a long-ago quote from Pogo O'Possum, "We has met the enemy, and he is US!"

Separately, the Wall Street Journal survey of economists indicated that there is a 26 percent chance of the U.S. pulling out of the NAFTA treaty with Canada and Mexico and if we do so, there will be a marked slowing of the economy with the possibility of it causing a recession. Other than that risk, there was a consensus that the U.S. economy would continue to grow through 2018, with unemployment dropping to 3.9 percent by the end of next year.

Two Very American Heroes in Texas

Before the Texas church shooter encountered any police officers, he was run off a highway and dead. He had been shot and chased by two private citizens who took it upon themselves to respond to a heinous crime when no one with a badge was anywhere to be found.

The church shooting in Sutherland Springs, Texas is another heartbreaking chapter in the country's epidemic of mass shootings. Devin Patrick Kelley shot and killed 26 people and wounded another 20, accounting for nearly everyone in the small church. The senseless cruelty is hard to fathom.

The response by the two bystanders who refused to stand by is something else entirely. It was a characteristically small-town American act of self-reliance that shows, no matter how tattered our civil society may be, it still produces people who will risk life and limb for others without hesitation, unbidden by anything other than their own sense of obligation.

When Stephen Willeford, 55, heard of the shooting, he left his house barefoot with his AR-15 and started exchanging fire with Kelley outside the church. An expert shot, Willeford hit

Rich Lowry

Kelley and reportedly aimed for the gaps on his body armor. When Kelley got in an SUV and sped off, Willeford jumped in Johnnie Langendorff's truck and told him to give chase.

Langendorff, 27, didn't ask any questions. He followed Kelley at 95 mph down the highway, until the perpetrator ran off the road. Willeford jump out of the truck and rested his rifle on top of Langendorff's hood and shouted for Kelley to "get out." The murderer apparently took his own life with a gunshot.

In his interviews, Langendorff, with a scraggly beard and a tattoo of a bull skull on his neck, invariably wears a cowboy hat. He is polite and matter of fact ("he said 'chase him' and so that's what I did -- I just chased him"), implying that anyone would have done it.

This isn't true, although it is almost certainly more true in America's out-of-the-way places. Self-help is imperative in these areas because the alternative is no help, at least not on a timely basis. Small towns might not even have a police department.

This gets to one of the root causes of America's gun culture: In swaths of the country, a gun isn't an optional extra layer of self-protection, but a necessary first defense. Rates of gun ownership are highest in remote, sparsely populated states like Alaska, Idaho, West Virginia and North Dakota. In a poll of Texans a few years ago, nearly half of the people said they or a family member owned a gun.

Any gun-control measure that is sweeping enough to make a dent in the country's gun stock and render gun ownership difficult enough to, at the margins, keep firearms out of the hands of psychopaths will inevitably affect law-abiding people as well. In places like rural Texas, that would rightly be considered a serious imposition. Without a gun, if something goes wrong, the only option is sitting and waiting for the authorities to show up.

And the likes of Stephen Willeford and Johnnie Langendorff, obviously, aren't the waiting kind.

Rich Lowry is editor of the National Review. (c) 2017 by King Features Synd., Inc.

Sewer bids awarded by end of Nov.

The future is not waiting. It is here. The "wait-and-see" days are gone. As a Village with unlimited potential, procrastination is not acceptable.

Friday was the final day for questions on the Sewer and Wastewater Plant. Thursday, the Village Staff was busy answering numerous questions. The bidding deadline, opening the bids, interviews and awarding will be done by November's end. December construction begins.

There are numerous business inquiries including an Italian restaurant. However, controlled growth is a necessity. Value-added establishments for all ages are desired. First-and-foremost, Salado cannot lose its distinction for beauty, friendliness, history, safety, and healthy environment. The remainder of this year and next year, the Village will work diligently to ensure healthy ontogenesis.

Applications are coming forth for the Manager, Hotel Occupancy Tax. This position is very important as it is responsible, among other things, for advertising. Visitors to Salado are good for everyone – businesses, sales tax for infrastructure improvements, and the opportunity to experience a thriving, wholesome Village.

Sales tax is 22 percent more than last September. Events, customer service, friends, and citizens made the difference.

Facilities: 10 areas of need

The fourth meeting for our long range facility planning committee was last Nov. 6.

The committee prioritized ten different areas of facility needs. The following is the order the committee ranked them (with #1 being the highest priority), along with a brief explanation:

- #1 Safety & Security – the safety of our students is our #1 priority and there are several facility related issues that can be addressed to increase safety and security, including students in portable classrooms and students having to travel between multiple buildings at the elementary school and junior high school (i.e., main building, kindergarten/1st grade wing, gym, cafeteria, portable buildings) throughout the school day
- #2 Classroom Capacity – our elementary school and intermediate school are already over capacity, our junior high school is projected to be over capacity by next year (2018-2019) and our high school is projected to be over capacity in three years (2020-2021)
- #3 Athletics – our athletic facilities were built around 1980 when we were a 1A size district, we do not have any courts for our tennis team, and our spectator seating, lighting, and electrical capacity are all in need of upgrade

Superintendent's Corner

by Dr. Michael Novotny

or replacement

#4 Aging Facility Conditions – our elementary school was built in 1967 and our junior high school was built in 1979; there are many building systems including roofs and HVAC that are in need of replacement

#5 Parking/Traffic Congestion – the traffic congestion on Thomas Arnold Road will continue to worsen as our enrollment grows every year if we keep ten grade levels (pre-kindergarten through 8th grade) at those campuses; parking is inadequate for athletic events and other school functions

#6 Fine Arts & Band – our band and theater programs have outgrown our cafeterias for concerts and plays, the majority of the schools we compete against have performing arts auditoriums

#7 Technology – additional hardware and a faster internet connection would enable us to better prepare our students for the 21st Century

#8 Career & Technology – in the last couple of years we have added computer science, welding, and health science

programs; we hope to be able to continue offering additional programs such as engineering to prepare our students for college and careers

#9 Ag/FFA – our ag barn was built around 1980 and has several building systems that are in need of replacement or repair

#10 Removing Portables – this was ranked last because the committee didn't feel like removing the portable buildings is a high priority, however, if we are able to add classrooms through new construction and/or renovation then the portables could be used for storage instead of classrooms and it would also help with priorities the committee ranked higher (i.e., safety and security, classroom capacity, and parking/traffic congestion)

While we will probably not be able to address all of these needs at this time due to financial constraints, the long range facilities planning committee will incorporate all of them into the long range plan that will be submitted to our school board in January.

Our next meeting will be Dec. 4 at 6:00 p.m. at the Salado ISD Administration Building/Civic Center, located at 601 North Main Street. All meetings are open to the public.

Republican promise of tax relief is just a lot of gas

Dear Editor:

The first political "statement" I recall was during my early teens. It was a small card with a cartoon of a flatulent elephant. The caption read, "The Republicans are at it again." All of their current hype about an alleged "tax cut for the middle class" and "reform of the tax code" has resurrected the image of that gaseous pachyderm after more than sixty years.

A central, maybe the main, aspect of their proposal is that it enables U.S. corporations that have avoided paying their taxes by stashing the money overseas to "repatriate" the money at a much reduced rate. The pitch is that the money will be used to create jobs, etc. Yeah - we've heard that story before.

One of the few positive things about growing old is that one might become a "historian". I recall that early in the Reagan administration substantial tax concessions were extended to the U.S. steel industry because of foreign competition. That pitch was that the money would be used to retool and modernize steel facilities. Instead, the companies diverted money to buy or consolidate with other industries. The concessions were enough to allow modernization, but the net effect was a corporate bailout for ownership.

Then during the G.W.

Your Voice

Letters to the Editor

Bush administration a repatriation deal was extended to corporations including the multinational drug manufacturing cartel. Their tax rate was cut to 5.25 percent from about 30 percent. The "deal" was that the money would be used to create jobs, but the top fifteen companies reduced their U.S. employment by almost 30,000 jobs. Although more than 300 billion dollars were brought back, there was no evidence that the repatriated moneys increased U.S. employment. However, two things did increase dramatically - executive compensation and stock buybacks that enriched executives, companies and big stockholders. The drug cartel used the money to buy other drug companies, thereby consolidating the industry. This has been a huge factor in their monopolistic behavior leading to dramatic drug price increases.

Now Republican "tax" hucksters are pitching the same old stories: Jobs, investment, etc.

When I hear any of the leadership promoting their tax proposal I think about that flatulent elephant - yep, the Republicans are surely at it again.

Dear Editor:

I would like to thank the folks at JD's Salado Truck Stop on IH35, particularly the restaurant staff, for actually showing their Veteran appreciation on Veteran's Day weekend with complimentary meals on both, FR, 10NOV and SA, 11NOV, to any Veteran of military service, entering their establishment. These folks truly "talked the talk and walked the walk" with their hospitality and heart-felt actions towards those of us who served, in my opinion.

To my knowledge, they may have been the only Salado establishment showing such tangible appreciation for our Veterans' military service....perhaps, there were more-I didn't hear about them, however. Thanks, again, JD's for your kindness to all the Veterans, who served and then you served.... it is appreciated!

Leah Ann Ray marries Adam Jeffers

Leah Ann Ray and Adam Joel Jeffers of Austin were married November 12, 2017 in a double-ring ceremony at One Eleven East in Hutto officiated by Matt Mabry.

The bride is the daughter of Robert and Gayla Ray of Salado and Amy Villano of Atlanta, Georgia. She is a graduate of Salado High School. She is the granddaughter of Nan Ray of Belton and the late Durwood "Mitz" Ray.

The groom is the son of Stephanie and David Jeffers of Aledo.

The Bride wore a BHLDN Catherine Deane designer gown of ivory illusion lace with a champagne lining for the fitted silhouette. Scalloped bands of vintage-inspired lace gracefully edged the neckline, arms and open back featuring delicate hem stitching detail. The scalloped lace continue around the hem of the flared train. The cathedral veil was delicately edged with artisan French alencon scalloped lace.

Rachel Ray of Austin, sister of the bride, served as the Maid of Honor. Bridesmaids were Kalin Hale, cousin of the bride, of Lufkin, Allie Jeffers, sister of the groom, of Aledo, Kathryn Jones, friend of the bride, of Allen and Paige Cameron, cousin of the bride, of The Woodlands.

Mrs. Adam Joel Jeffers

Junior bridesmaids were Avery Fossum and Megan Avedo, sisters of the Bride, of Salado.

Stephanie Ellis, friend of the Groom, of Fort Worth, served as Best Man.

Groomsmen were Luke Jeffers and Joel Jeffers, brothers of the groom, both of Aledo; Mark Smith, friend of the groom, of Fort Worth and Austin Parton, college roommate of groom, of Paducah.

Micah Fossom, sister of the bride, of Salado, was the flowergirl.

Serving as ushers were Reed Fossom, brother of the bride, and friends of the groom Zach Davidson, Tristan Fesmire and Marshall Hearne.

Zach Davidson and Jacob Hendricks, friends of the couple, performed music for the ceremony.

A rehearsal dinner hosted by the parents of the groom was held at Downtown Hall of Fame in Hutto on Nov. 11. The parents of the bride hosted a reception at One Eleven East in Hutto following the ceremony.

The bride received her bachelor of science in Communication from Tarleton University. She is the Department Selling Manager for Anthropologie, Domain in Austin.

The groom is an IT Recruiter for Triple Crown Consulting. He is a graduate of Trinity Christian Academy and received his Bachelor of Business Administration in Business Management from Tarleton University.

After a honeymoon trip to Nassau, Bahamas, the couple will live in Austin.

Theatrical Group "Four Friends" performs to benefit Pet Adoption

Chapel at Caliber Oaks to host benefit Sunday November 19, at 3:30 p.m., the Chapel at Caliber Oaks, 5235 Royal Street, will host a benefit performance of "Four Friends". All proceeds from this event will be for the benefit of the Association of Pet Adoption Centers, (APAC), Temple, Texas. This is the local group that has done so much work recently to find adoptive homes for all the displaced and abandoned pets caused by the recent hurricanes and other natural disasters. The Temple APAC is a "No

Kill" adoptive agency that attempts to place the pets into a foster or permanent home. APAC animal shelters provide cats and dogs with a warm place to sleep, play and eat. Veterinarians check each animal to make sure they have received all of their vaccinations and are properly taken care of while volunteers play a big role in ensuring the animals receive the right amount of exercise and attention. Jody Askins said, "Chuy and Princess Leia are our two most recent rescue animals, but if the truth be known, I think they really rescued us."

This will be the world premiere of "Four Friends" an original work by Gary Askins local playwright and retired teacher. "This particular work grew out of several acting workshop scenes that Rick Thomssen, Denise Thomssen, my wife Jody Askins, and I have worked on over the past three years. We've modified, edited and hopefully improved this story about long lasting friendships, personal growth, love, and loss over a thirty year time span. In brief, this is an intimate theatrical view into the lives of four people who become emotionally entwined through the passage of time. Is it similar to real life? Maybe...but more importantly, we hope our audience will find it as entertaining, fun and genuine as we have.", he said.

Seating is very limited so you are encouraged to contact Denise at (254) 760-1590 to reserve your seat. $25 donation per person will be accepted at the door. The Chapel will be open at 3:30 for the reception, refreshments and adult conversation will be available, the program begins promptly at 4pm.

The Salado Citizen Academy graduated 5 participants on Thursday evening the 1st of November. Congratulations to William and Nyhma Tramel, Diane Kridler, Joann Wiley, and Mike French. The next offering of the Salado Citizen Academy will be in late January 2018. Check their website for details at SaladoCitizenAcademy.Com David Williams is the instructor.

Volunteers Pat Scarborough in charge of food and Brenda Campbell in charge of clothing cut the ribbon dedicating the facility to helping those in need.

Heart & Hands Ministries opens food and clothes pantry at new location

It got its start in a shed on the property of First Baptist Church two decades ago.

From there, the Heart & Hands Ministries has grown into a functioning food and clothes pantry that serves more than 50 families (120-130 individuals) twice a month.

Open on the second and fourth Saturdays in a new location, 213 Mill Creek Dr. Suite #135, Heart & Hands Ministries distributes more than 1,500 pounds of food each month, as well as 7,000 articles of clothing each year.

The congregation members of First Baptist Church of Salado joined Pat Scarborough and Brenda Campbell in cutting the ribbon on the new location on Nov. 12.

First Baptist Church, which has financially sponsored the ministry (commonly known as the Salado Food Pantry), is hoping that the community churches and organizations will rally behind the ministry in an effort to make Heart & Hands a standalone community-wide effort.

Heart & Hands is open 9-11 a.m. on the second and fourth Saturday of the month.

To meet the growing demand in the Salado community, volunteers are sought for the following areas of work:

- Helping clients fill out paperwork, shopping with clients, stocking shelves and helping take items to clients' vehicles.
- Donating non-perishable food and new or gently used articles of clothing (all sizes and ages).
- Help on work days to sort and shelve food and sort and hang clothes.
- Organize food and clothing drives with local groups that want to donate.
- Unload and distribute Thanksgiving boxes (coordinating through Salado ISD).
- Stuffing stockings for Christmas.
- Praying for the clients and their families.
- Contributing financially to the effort.

If you would like to volunteer, contact Brenda Campbell (clothing) at 254-226-1878 or Pat Scarborough (food), 512-635-4924.

Touch a Truck event held Dec. 9 at Killeen Community Center

The Junior League of Bell County is hosting its Second Annual Touch a Truck event at the Killeen Community Center on 9-1 p.m. Dec. 9. This event provides a unique opportunity for children to explore vehicles of all types, including a fire truck from the Killeen Fire Department, Baylor Scott & White ambulance, Emerson Construction vehicles, local car dealers, antique tractors, race cars, a helicopter, and more – all in one place! Children will be allowed to touch their favorite vehicles, get behind the wheel, and meet the people who help build, protect, and serve our community. Crafts, games, food trucks, a number of various local vendors, and even SANTA, will all be a part of the day's entertainment.

They are also still looking for vehicles of all kinds, food trucks, and vendors. If you or someone you know is interested in participating in the event contact touchatruck@jbellco.org

The Junior League of Bell County is an organization of women committed to promoting voluntarism, developing the potential of women, and improving communities through the effective action and leadership of trained volunteers. Its purpose is exclusively educational and charitable. The League supports the development and well-being of children in our community. For more information, visit www.jbellco.org.

Eagles are district champions

By LARNCE BARKER
SALADO VILLAGE VOICE SPORTS

With a little help from Lorena, Salado is the District 9-4A Champion after the Eagles throttled the Connally Cadets 41-7 on Nov. 10.

Lorena had a come-from-behind last second win over the Fairfield Eagles, to give Fairfield its second loss in district play. This left the Eagles alone at the top of the District with a 9-1 record. Salado's only loss this year was to Fairfield in overtime.

Even though Salado went on the road to face the Cadets at Mac Peoples stadium, there was no home field advantage for the Cadets. The Eagles, with their ground control approach, controlled the game from the opening kickoff to the final buzzer.

The Salado Eagles received the opening kickoff from the Connally Cadets and returned it to the Cadets 47 yard line. On the eighth play of the drive, Salado running back Trey Sheppard scored on a 2 yard run. A Jake Walrath kick with 7:25 to go in the first quarter gave the Eagles an early 7-0 lead.

The Eagles defense would force Connally to a three-and-out series, punting the ball over to Salado. The Eagles started on their own 15 yard line. Salado went on an eight play drive that stalled. The Eagles set up to punt but Wrook Brown took the short snap and ran 10 yards around the left side of the Salado formation with great blocks from Konnor Cook and Wade Woods for the Salado Eagles first down. Salado capped off the 14 play drive when Sheppard ran for a 6 yard touchdown. A Walrath kick with 10:03 left in the second quarter to bring the lead to 14-0.

Salado's Jacob Wilk picked off Connally's Kavian Gaither on the second play of the Cadets' next possession, returning it 24 yards to the Connally 1 yard line. Hayden Haire followed his center for a quarterback sneak to score. Walrath kicked the extra point with 9:48 left in the second quarter to increase the score to 21-0.

The Cadets scored on their next possession when Cadet quarterback Gaither called his number on the fourth play, running 46 yards for a Connally touchdown. Gerado Bazaldua kicked the extra point with 7:13 left in the second quarter to cut the Salado lead 21-7.

Salado fumbled the kick off return giving Connally the ball at the Salado 35 yard line. The Eagles defense, ranked the best in the district, stiffened to force the Cadets to attempt a 33 yard field goal which hit the left upright and was unsuccessful.

The Eagles took over at their own 20 yard line. Salado drove 80 yards on nine plays. Sheppard tacked on another touchdown from the 1 yard line. The PAT failed and Salado led going into the lockers 27-7.

Connally received the second half kickoff and Wrook Brown intercepted Gaither, returning it 38 yards to the Cadets' 6 yard line. The Eagles took advantage of the turnover. On the third play of the short drive, Salado's Aaron Torczynski one yard touchdown run and Walrath kick with 9:12 left in the third gave the Eagles a 34-7 lead. Later in the second half, following a Connally punt, the Eagles took over at their own 19 yard line. Salado took 10 plays to chew up the clock before Zack Adams rumbled 10 yards for the Eagles touchdown. Walrath added the extra point for a 41-7 lead.

Turnovers haunted both teams for the rest of the game, preventing either from scoring. The Eagles Defense had another stellar performance with holding the Cadets to just seven first downs, 139 yards rushing and 12 yards passing in the Win. The Eagles defensive standouts Rustin Hale 18 tackles, Mac Miller 14, Zach Adams and Konnor Baird 11 each, Zavier Bagio and Wrook Brown 10 each, Jacob Wilk 9, Caleb Self 7, Hunter Bales 6, Tommie Barker and Kash Eddleman 5 each, Belton Farr 4, Cade Scallin 3, Wyatt Bagley and Chandler Wilhelm 2 each, Willy Whigham-Kaden Smien-Kyle Saunders and Ryan Starritt 1 each.

Salado coaches and players found out in the locker room minutes after the game that Lorena upset Fairfield to give the Salado Eagles their first outright District Championship in 10 years.

The Fairfield loss gives Salado the #1 seed in the Texas 4A Division 2 State playoffs and Fairfield dropped to the 4th seed.

The Salado Eagles (9-1) will travel to Mustang Stadium in Manor to face the Columbus Cardinals (3-6) in a Bi-District contest. The Bi-District Football game will be 7:30 p.m. Nov. 17 at Mustang Stadium 14900 North FM 973 in Manor.

Bailey Tindell signed a letter of intent to play softball for Lamar University on Nov. 14 at Salado High School.

She is a senior at Salado High School and has played varsity softball all three years. She will return for her senior year as a two-year First Team All District Pitcher. As a freshman player, she earned Second Team All District honors.

She led Salado to the playoffs for three straight years.

After reconstructive surgery on her knee, she led the Salado Lady Eagles to their best season in 4A softball last year. Most of that team returns for this year, giving Salado a chance at a deep playoff run.

She had 21 wins in one season, a record for Salado. She also has 36 career wins on the mound, also a record of Salado players.

She will be the only pitcher in Salado softball to start on the mound all four years. Tindell also plays club

Children's Author Paige Britt signs recent publication at Fletcher's Books & Antiques Nov. 16

Fletcher's Books & Antiques welcomes Paige Britt who will sign copies of her new book Why Am I Me 4-6 p.m. Nov. 16. Britt will be reading from her books Why Am I Me and The Lost Track of Time every half hour.

Britt grew up in Salado in the Barton House, with her nose in a book and her head in the clouds. She studied journalism in college and theology in graduate school, but never stopped reading children's books for life's most important lessons.

Paige is the author of Why Am I Me?, a picture book celebration of humanity and diversity. It received four starred reviews and was included on the Publishers Weekly Best Books of 2017 list. The New York Times called it one of five new picture books that "not only embolden children to think, but inspire them to feel."

She is also the author of the middle-grade fantasy, The Lost Track of Time, "an exuberant homage to the power of imagination and creative problem-solving" (Publishers Weekly, starred review).

In addition to being a writer, Paige is a meditation instructor and spiritual director. She lives near Austin, Texas, with her husband.

Seiler home becomes part of the Christmas Homes Tour

By SANDI WICKER
SALADO HISTORICAL SOCIETY

At 207 Royal View, in Salado, you will find the Early Texas style home of Nancy Seiler, who moved to Salado in 2015. The home will be on the Christmas Tour of Homes Dec. 1-3, sponsored by the Salado Historical Society.

Nancy lived in Houston from 1981 to 2015 and was ready for the small-town pace of Salado. Before her retirement in 2015 she purchased a duplex here, knowing that this was the place she wanted to live forever.

Seiler Homer 207 Royal View

The proximity to Austin, where she graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in Petroleum Engineering, and the Dallas area, where her father and step-mother live, made this the perfect location for her. She fell in love with the trees and creeks, the shopping, and the ambiance of the area. She immediately made many friends.

Nancy was keeping her eyes open for the perfect house and yard, after all, she rescues Greyhounds and needed a larger place for them to play. She saw the Royal View home sitting on a small rise as the road turned, and the trees and property were exactly what she was looking for. The exterior of the house, with an inviting front porch (complete with rocking chairs) is made of Hill Country Limestone and the backyard is the perfect size for her dogs. There just wasn't very much grass. Inside, she loved the open, airy, warm feel. It just needed some tweaking.

Ms. Seiler had the whole house gutted and, using only local crafts persons and artisans, Nancy's dream home evolved. It became the perfect showcase for Salado Glassworks light fixtures and sculptures, custom cabinetry by Sean and Amy Chapman and the art collected on her many travels to exotic locations, local artists, and Pier1. Don't forget to check out the ceiling in the kitchen and the floors throughout. The grassless back yard became an oasis for the greyhounds, with the installation of "artificial turf grass" and a Koi/goldfish pond.

Always an adventurer, Nancy has traveled to many foreign countries and she has collected beautiful, interesting artifacts on her trips. Her most recent trip was to Cuba, where she picked up portraits of native peoples. Her passion for travel and treasure hunting has taken her to Vietnam, Morocco, Gibraltar, Australia, New Zealand, Indonesia, the Philippines, the Far East, and most of Europe.

This will be the first year that Nancy is staying close to home for the holidays, so she reached out to Jack Husang and his staff at Magnolia's of Salado for advice on decorating for Christmas. It is guaranteed to be spectacular.

The dare in this home is to go from room to room without saying "WOW!" in each place. Enjoy the adventure.

Other stops on the Tour of Homes include these: the Starcher home, the Fields home, the Shipman house, the Baines House Museum, Salado United Methodist Church historic chapel St. Joseph's Episcopal Church, Salado Masonic Lodge and the two log cabins owned by the Historical Society.

Tickets for the Homes tour can be purchased at the Visitors Center at the Salado Museum before Nov. 23 for $18 per person. Tickets purchased after Nov. 23 will be $20.

Tour of Homes will be open 5-8 p.m. Dec. 1, 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Dec. 2 and 1-4 p.m. Dec. 3.

Rising to the occasion

Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker

Assume you're in three notrump and West leads the jack of hearts. How would you play the hand?

It may be tempting to finesse the queen of hearts, but this is demonstrably the wrong play -- and in the actual deal would prove fatal. Instead, you should go up with the ace, reasoning that if West has the king of hearts and has led the jack from a suit headed by the K-J-10, dummy's queen will serve as a second stopper later on. And if East has the king, the queen is surely the wrong play.

After rising with the ace, you should then attack clubs, forcing out the ace. In the actual deal, West has the ace, but he cannot harm you, whatever he returns. If he shifts to a spade, you win and take the diamond finesse. East has the king, but, whatever he leads next, you have nine tricks in the till.

If West returns a heart after taking the ace of clubs, you are on perfectly safe ground. If he leads the ten of hearts, you cover it with the queen to establish a second heart trick with your nine; if he leads a lower heart instead of the ten, you follow low from dummy to accomplish the same result.

For practical purposes, the contract can be guaranteed by going up with the ace of hearts at trick one. You assume from the opening lead that West has the ten of hearts, and that he also is the one with the heart length. If these suppositions are correct, nothing can stop you from making three notrump.

The deal demonstrates once again that you don't take a finesse merely because it's there. There often are other factors to consider.

SNOWFLAKES solution

The American Kestrel is often found perched on fences

The group of magnificent birds known as raptors are renowned for many things, including their diet, their flight, and their size. The wingspan of most raptors is over 3 feet, and some have wingspans of 7 feet or more. But here in Texas, we happen to have a small raptor who, by very definition, contradicts the "everything is bigger in Texas" mantra, and that bird of prey is known as the American Kestrel.

Wild About Texas

The American Kestrel is readily spotted along roadways throughout the state, depending on the season, as it perches on high-wires and fences. It seems to prefer rolling plains and grassy areas, although it will utilize just about any open area that is larger than an acre or two. In all but the Rio Grande Valley, where northern populations tend to overwinter, it can be observed year-round throughout the remainder of the state. Outside of Texas it may be seen throughout the continental United States northward as far as trees occur and southward to southern Mexico.

Adult male American Kestrels are quite stunning in coloration. The head is blue-gray with a red-orange cap while the face is white with 2 black vertical bars on either side of the large, black, yellow-rimmed eyes. The breast is buff colored and is spotted with numerous black dots. The back and wings are colored like the head; the back is red-orange and the wings are blue-gray. Both areas are adorned with black barring. The wings are elongated and pointed, tipped with black, and the tail is red-orange and lacks any barring.

Like most animals (other than humans), female Kestrels are not nearly as audacious with its coloring. While the head is colored and patterned similarly as the male, the breast area is pale with brown spots, while the back and wings lack the red-orange and the blue-gray coloration. Whereas most females are simply decorated with a bit less "pizzazz" than their opposite sex counterparts, they are still quite attractive in their own right.

As previously mentioned, this falcon species is small by raptor standards. The body length of large adults barely reaches 1 foot as the wingspan is merely 2 feet across.

The majority of the time, this avian species prefers to live a solitary life, although many individuals will often be seen perching in areas of optimal hunting. It preys primarily on small rodents such as field mice and large insects such as Lubber Grasshoppers. It will occasionally hunt and feed upon small reptiles, amphibians, and even smaller song birds; the latter group makes up an insignificant percentage of its diet.

It is a monogamous species, and the males court potential mates by catching prey items, bringing it to the female and feeding her while she is in mid-flight. Nesting is solitary, and the nest structure is very feeble with little to no nesting materials utilized. Many times, holes in trees, indentations in walls or on bridge support ledges are exploited. The 3-7 eggs vary in coloration from buff white with large brown blotches to light pink decorated with the same blotches to simply unmarked cream-colored. The eggs, as to be expected, are also small; most are just over 1 ¼ inches in length.

The eggs are incubated by the female for approximately 1 month, and the nestlings will remain in the nest, cared for by the mother, for almost another month. Most populations will brood one nest annually, although some populations in the southwest will occasionally raise two broods.

Studies have shown that the population dynamics of this astoundingly beautiful falcon to be mostly stable; only the populations in the northeast have experienced any decline over the past several decades. Watch for this species as you travel in open areas, one diagnostic behavior that this species employs is the bobbing of its long tail while perched.
