By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Salado aldermen will consider the second and final readings the proposed mobile food vehicle ordinance and the chicken ordinance at their 6:30 p.m. Thurs., June 21 meeting.

Aldermen will also revisit the golf cart ordinance in a workshop session to mull amending it to include establishing age and licensing regulations for operators of golf carts on public roads. The golf cart ordinance was moved from the regular meeting of the June 7 meeting to a workshop item after opposition to driver license and age requirements arose from aldermen.

The board will also hear for the first time results of a rate study for the monthly service rates for the Salado wastewater treatment plant. According to the agenda packet for the meeting, "The Village's rate consultant will be present to brief board members on the results of a rate study for the new Salado Wastewater Treatment System."

Currently, the Village reported $683.75 in monthly service fee revenue for the Stagecoach Sewer plant for May. For the fiscal year to-date, the Village has received $12,176.00 in monthly service fees for the Stagecoach Wastewater Fund. Another $39,571.99 has been transferred into the Stagecoach Sewer Fund this year. The Stagecoach Sewer Fund has budgeted $84,570.00 in expenses for the fiscal year. To-date, $34,640.56 has been expended.

Concerning the new sewer system, aldermen have conducted the first of two public hearings on possible Impact Fees for the Wastewater system. The next hearing on Impact Fees will be July 5.

Finally, during the workshop session, aldermen will discuss the possible development of an ordinance regulating special events within the corporate limits of the Village of Salado.

"With the growing number of special events in the community, I think there is interest to enhance coordination of those events to make sure we are addressing certain key issues in the planning process," Village administrator Don Ferguson said.

The ordinance may address some of these areas: adequate parking, noise, safety issues, signage.

"This is a proactive effort to try to plan forward for community events," Ferguson said. "It is not meant to get into regulating the events, but to ensure that all affected parties are involved and planning issues are addressed in advance."

"We are blessed with tremendous festivals in Salado," he added. "We want to see them grow and prosper. We want to try to help them."

BoA to mull real estate opportunity

Aldermen will meet in closed door session 5:30 p.m. Thurs., June 21 for "discussion regarding the possible acquisition of real property for public recreation/open space purposes."

"Aldermen are exploring an opportunity that exists regarding recreational property," Village administrator Don Ferguson told Salado Village Voice.

"If at any point there is a move to go forward," he added, then those decisions will be made publicly.

SISD public hearing on $15.6 mil budget June 27

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

The proposed $15.6 million Salado ISD Budget increases spending by 5.4 percent over the adopted 2017-18 budget. Trustees are set to formally adopt the proposed budget following a public hearing on the budget at 6 p.m., Wed. June 27 at the Salado Civic Center.

The budget is built on an increase of more than five percent in taxable property values. According to the Bell County Tax Appraisal District (BellCAD), Salado ISD has more than $856 million in taxable property values. The preliminary tax values will be ratified in July after property owners are given a chance to appeal their property valuations.

Salado ISD will have to wait until after the property values are ratified to adopt a tax rate. The budget is built on the preliminary values which are some $46 million higher than the 2017 ratified values of $809 million.

The budget is also built on a 7 percent increase in enrollment in the 2018-19 school year. The enrollment estimate, Dr. Michael Novotny told Salado Village Voice, is based upon enrollment projections from Templeton Demographics, which conducted an enrollment study for the district that looked at the impact of new and proposed subdivision in the district and growth trends in the central Texas and Bell County area.

The projected enrollment for 2018-19 is 1,964, which is 141 students more than last year's projected enrollment of 1,823. Last year, school trustees approved the budget based upon an increase of 3 percent in enrollment. Enrollment actually increased by 111 students over the previous year to 1,854. Because of the higher actual enrollment over the project enrollment in 2017-18, SISD will be paid more by the state than budgeted.

Based upon the project enrollment of 1,964 for 2018-19, the budget projects state revenues to increase to $6.4 million. Since 2013-14, state revenue to SISD has increased by almost $3 million. Local revenues, meanwhile, have increased from $7.5 million in 2013-14 to the projected $8.9 million in 2018-19, while the M&O tax rate has remained at $1.04 per $100 valuation.

Federal revenues make up a paltry 2 percent of the total operating revenues for the school district.

The proposed budget anticipates $15.6 million in expenditures, the largest of which is Instruction, $8.3 million or 52.9 percent of the total expenditures. In 2017, SISD budgeted $8.1 million for instruction.

Since 2013-14, SISD expenditures have increased from $11.1 million to $15.6 million for 2018-19. The proposed budget will dip into the district M&O fund balance by $34,803 (less than 1 percent of the $4 million M&O fund balance).

The district maintains a $2.4 million I&S fund balance and will add another $171,900 to that fund balance to bring it to $2.6 million. The district will use that fund balance to help fund the first six years of debt payments on the $49.4 million bond issue approved by voters in May. "We are timing the sale of the bond for February of next year," Dr. Novotny said. "By doing it then, the payments will not hit until fiscal year 2019-20."

Over the first six years of the new bond payment schedule, the I&S fund balance will supplement the annual payments by some $2.6 million, according to the proforma prepared for the district by Hilltop Securities before the May bond election. In 2020, the annual debt payment will increase from the current $1.3 million per year to $4.3 million per year for a period of 17 years when they will fall back to $3 million annual debt payments in 2037 (when the current debt for Salado High School and other debt that has been refinanced are retired).

KSB honored by KTB

Keep Salado Beautiful volunteers were honored, along with nine other communities, during the Governor's Community Achievement Awards banquet June 12 at the Sheraton Austin and Georgetown Hotel and Conference Center.

The GCAA banquet was part of the three-day Keep Texas Beautiful annual conference.

Salado has been awarded a $90,000 landscaping grant, to be used in Texas Department of Transportation rights-of-way. Salado won the grant in the small town category of less than 3,000 population.

The Awards banquet highlighted the work of 10 communities that received the GCAA

Cleanups and beautification efforts have been a community-wide effort for Salado. With more than 200 volunteers, donating more than 8,800 hours of their time, 29,120 pounds of litter was cleaned up in 2017.

"It truly does take a village, lots of loving hands and lots of time," stated Susan Terry, chairman of Keep Salado Beautiful.

The Village involves many local organizations to educate the community, promote litter prevention and beautification and engage community members in cleanups and events. Salado has achieved 67 percent participation in curbside recycling, nearly twice the national average.

With help from community partners, 10 public gardens enhance public spaces. Sponsors help maintain 20 Adopt-a-Spot green spaces. Students are educated and motivated to get involved.

"The pocket gardens draw locals and visitors to appreciate public art and to blend the past with the future," Terry stated in the application for the award. "They also serve as demonstration gardens, proving information on native plants, deer and drought resistance and wildscape landscaping."

Salado was one of 35 communities recognized as Sustained Excellence Winners for achieving a score of 90 or higher on the awards applications for three straight years. Last year, Salado was the second place winner in the small town category. Killeen and Temple were also listed as Sustained Excellence Winners.

Nearby Nolanville is the GCAA winner for cities of 3,001 to 5,500 population. Keep Nolanville Beautiful was launched by the City of include a Youth Resource Demonstration Garden that is organically maintained with native plants, a sensory garden at the City Park, a Tree Tribute Program that encourages community members to learn about and dedicate native trees, Adopt-a-Roads, Don't Mess with Texas Trash-Off, a Keep Texas Waterways Clean event and America Recycles Day.

With China, U.S. in beginning of trade war, market reacts

The Markets

The S&P 500 Stock Index (SPX), our preferred indicator of the U.S. stock market, weaved up and down during the week, at first appearing to break out to the upside, then retreating on news that both China and the U.S. may make good on their threats of a trade war. It ended the week at 2779.66 up a mere 0.01 percent. It remains up 3.96 percent for the nearly half-over year so far and 14.23 percent for twelve months.

West Texas Intermediate (WTI) crude oil fell by 1.83 percent to close at $64.30 while North Sea Brent closed at $73.07 down 4.43 percent for the week. Both remain between 40 percent and 46 percent higher than at this time last year. The 10-year Treasury Note slid to 2.918 percent at the end of the week after rising to 3 percent mid-day on Wednesday, again reflecting fears that the threatened trade wars may damage economic growth over the next decade. Gold, too, slumped at the end of the week, dropping 1.63 percent to $1,282.20.

The Economy

What started out the year as synchronized growth in the world economy more and more looks like it may come apart as the various trading blocks and nations around the world work themselves into what looks like a very damaging exchange of high tariffs. The White House announced a 25 percent tariff on $50 billion worth of Chinese goods Friday followed shortly by an announcement of Chinese counter-tariffs on about the same dollar amount of goods as the

Market & Economic Update

By Jeffrey W. McClure

White House list.

Meanwhile, the Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA) at the Commerce Department reported the U.S. trade deficit dropped for May on a $2.9 billion increase in exports. That acceleration in exports appears to be threatened if tariffs and counter-tariffs become reality. Thanks in part to the reduced trade deficit, the second quarter GDP growth appears to be on the way to a 4 percent annualized rate as the tax cuts and increased government spending get traction in the economy.

In what may be the first indication of our economy's limits, industrial production dropped 0.1 percent in May, reportedly because of a lack of capacity in trucking. Truck production was slowed as well by a fire in a key parts supplier. Some of that impact was offset by an increase in consumer sentiment and spending. We do appear to be getting near limits on our ability to grow.

Oddly, just as our economy is heating up, the Euro-zone GDP appears to be slowing. Here in the U.S. most of our economic activity is selling to ourselves (consumers) while much of the growth in Europe comes from exports. Despite the weakening numbers, the European Central Bank, the equivalent of our Federal Reserve, announced it would be ending bond purchases this year and planned to begin increasing interest rates late in 2019.

Speaking of interest rates rising, our own Federal Reserve raised short-term rates a quarter percent to 2 percent for interbank lending and indicated it will do so two more times this year. That will bring short-term rates to at least 2.5 percent by the end of the year, very close to what the 10-year Treasury is yielding now. The Fed further warned that they expected to raise rates three times in 2019. That would result in a short-term rate of 3.25 percent, well above the current 10-year rate. If the rate increases do come to pass, either longer-term rates need to rise or we will find ourselves perilously close to the dreaded inverted yield curve where short-term rates are higher than longer-term rates. Such inversions have historically predicted a recession about 18 months later.

The Fed's announcements came as the Labor Department released the news that prices are up 2.8 percent from this time a year ago, and appear to be accelerating as job shortages begin to produce a bidding war for workers. The economy is running hot and the Fed's job is to slow it down before it overheats. The backside to that is if the economy is running really hot, the rate rises usually triggers a recession to cool things down. The good news is that we appear to have a year or two before the slowdown is likely to come.

Timeline on bond projects given

We continue to work with our architects regarding our facility projects that were approved by the voters in the May bond election. Here are the tentative timelines for these four projects:

New Middle School
 Site Package design: May 2018-October 2018
 Site Package bids: November 2018
 Site Package board award: December 2018
 Site Package construction: December 2018-July 2020
Building Package design: May 2018-January 2019
Building Package bids: February 2019
Building Package board award: March 2019
Building Package construction: March 2019-July 2020

Existing Stadium Improvements (Football, Soccer, Track)
 Design: June 2018-December 2018
 Bids: January 2019
 Board award: February 2019
 Construction: February 2019-July 2019

Thomas Arnold Elementary School Additions

Superintendent's Corner

by Dr. Michael Novotny

Design: July 2018-December 2018
Bids: January 2019
Board award: February 2019
Construction: May 2019-August 2019

Baseball/Softball/Practice Fields/Field Events
 Design: October 2018-April 2019
 Bids: May 2019
 Board award: June 2019
 Construction: June 2019-December 2019

We are also working with our financial advisor regarding the sale of the bonds. We are planning on waiting until February 2019 to sell the bonds. This will allow us to maintain our current tax rate of $1.2238 per $100 of appraised value for one more year. This is the lowest tax rate for our school district during the past 29 years - since the 1989-1990 school year. We will need to increase the tax rate to $1.54 per $100 of appraised value for the 2019-2020 school year to generate the revenue needed to cover the bond payments. This tax rate is equal to the tax rate of the school district to our south (Jarrell) and is still below the tax rate of the school district to our north (Belton).

Thus, the first increased bill for our taxpayers (including me) won't be due until January 31, 2020. By then three of the four projects should be completed and the middle school should be nearing completion. When homeowners turn 65 years of age they need to file the homestead exemption paperwork with Bell County Appraisal District so that their school district property taxes cannot go above the amount they paid the year they file for the exemption.

Canada is not the enemy

Justin Trudeau may be the annoying, youthful avatar of chic progressivism -- but he's not our adversary.

After leaving the G-7 summit, President Donald Trump blasted the Canadian prime minister on Twitter as weak and dishonest, in the kind of invective once reserved for "Little Rocket Man."

The Trump presidency routinely produces unprecedented events, and here is another: Never before has a president of the United States spoken as scornfully in public about the head of state of a friendly, allied country. Particularly one who has appeared in Vogue. Trudeau is not exactly a threatening figure, although his worshipful, celebrity-fueled press coverage qualifies as one of the more vexing political phenomena in all of North America (Rolling Stone celebrated the fact that he rides a unicycle; TMZ declared him on the "clear path to hottest leader in the world").

It's not clear what exactly led to the great U.S.-Canada tiff of 2018. White House aides fanned out over the weekend to try to lend meaning and justification to the flap.

They said Trudeau had stabbed the president in the back at the meeting. But Trudeau didn't say anything after Trump left the G-7 that he hadn't signaled before -- namely that Canada finds Trump's steel and aluminum tariffs insulting and will retaliate.

Rich Lowry

The incident is a great misdirection. Canada's trade practices are hardly above reproach. Its tariff on milk of 270 percent, highlighted by Trump officials the past few days, is stupid and indefensible. It is guilty of subsidizing and protecting favored companies and sectors, the way most countries are.

It is nothing compared with the world's great mercantilist power, though. China routinely steals U.S. intellectual property, seeks to distort the entire system of international commerce to its advantage, and is pouring resources into a massive military buildup, with which it eventually hopes to expel the United States from East Asia.

Trudeau is the facile, democratically elected leader of a Western society; President Xi Jinping is the remorseless president for life of a hostile dictatorship. It's not a remotely close call who we should be aiming our fire at.

That we are dissipating our energies with steel and aluminum tariffs against allies and potentially alienating friends in what should be a united front against China speaks to a key mistake. Trump views the U.S. trade deficit -- with any country, friend or foe -- as the problem rather than China as the unique commercial and geostrategic competitor.

The flare-up with Trudeau is not an encouraging sign for prospects of renegotiating NAFTA, which also should be viewed in strategic terms. As Derek Scissors of the American Enterprise Institute points out, the trade agreement could extend beyond North America to Britain, which is seeking a new trade arrangement as it exits the EU, and the Philippines and Taiwan, which are pressured by China.

None of this will happen if Trump is determined to pursue a protectionist policy no matter what, or he lets his pique at friends get the best of him. The trade war -- and the fight for our paramount interests -- won't be won or lost against Justin Trudeau. Beijing, not Ottawa, is our enemy.

Reihsens celebrate 60th

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald (Gerry) J. Reihsen Jr., residents of Salado celebrate their 60th Wedding Anniversary on Thurs., June 21.

Gerry Reihsen married the former Bobbie (Roberta) Mary Alice Flynn on June 21, 1958 at St. Michael's Catholic Church in Farmington, Minnesota. After the ceremony they left for Boise, Idaho and 22 more locations from west to east coast and Wisconsin to Georgia before arriving in the great state of Texas to be near children and grandchildren.

Gerry worked as a Professional Engineer building roads throughout the country, with the last 20 years of his career in Jefferson City, Missouri. Bobbie spent her first 10 years raising children and then teaching for about 25 years in elementary schools in Wisconsin, Illinois, and Missouri.

The Reihsens have four children: Gerald J. Reihsen III of Dallas, Cheryl Reihsen Shirzadi of Romania, Julie Reihsen of Dallas, and Holly Reihsen Jones of Austin.

The Reihsens have lived in Salado for almost 20 years and enjoyed the Salado ambiance and appreciated working with delightful and amazing Salado residents.

Gerry and Bobbie are active in the St. Stephen Catholic Church in Salado. Gerry is past president of the Parish council and Bobbie teaches catechism to the church youth. Gerry is an active Lion and Bobbie is active in the Salado Ladies Auxiliary and the Salado Area Republican Women.

They have 6 grandsons (Gerald J. Reihsen IV, Carson Reihsen, Alec Reihsen, Chris Jones, Ryan Shirzadi and Rysen Shirzadi) and two great grandchildren (Jack Reihsen and Allie Reihsen), all of whom are the lights of their lives!

Salado Church of Christ

Come find out why our church family is driven by the same purpose Jesus gave to all his disciples - to love God completely, to love our neighbors (as we love ourselves),
and to serve all the above.

Salado Reunion brings folks together

The Annual Salado Reunion was held on Saturday, June 9, at the Salado Intermediate school cafeteria. The reunion began at 9:30 a.m. and lasted until about 2:30 p.m.

During a short business meeting, several individuals were recognized, and gift cards were awarded. This year, the one who traveled farthest was Kurt Vest from the class of 1975, who had come from Orlando, Florida to attend. The oldest graduate in attendance was Bill Schleede from the class of 1942. The oldest teacher present was Patsy Guest Sanford Wilson, from the class of 1950. She taught at Salado school from 1957 - 1970. The youngest graduate in attendance was Clayton Capps of the class of 1993. The youngest children in attendance were Anna, the granddaughter of Tom and Gaylene Gidley of Salado, and Wyatt the great-grandson of the Gidleys.

The reunion has for 92 years, provided an opportunity for residents of Salado, former teachers and coaches and their families and friends to enjoy a day of visiting together. This year's attendees enjoyed a time of visiting and reminiscing before and after eating a catered meal, served by Captain Reds of Hutto.

The Salado Reunion is always held on the second Saturday of June. Newcomers are invited as well as long-time residents and former residents of Salado.

Reunion Committee members for the 2018 reunion were: Sherry Tabor Jackson, Linda Friedrich Cawthon, Virginia Capps Cospers, Nancy Shepperd Carter, and Debbie Pierce Wigley.

Children of Robert B. & Lydia Halley

By CHARLENE CARSON
LOCAL HISTORIAN
PART 3 OF 6

Recap: Capt. Robert B. Halley and his wife Lydia moved to Texas in 1853, settling near San Antonio. In 1855 they moved to the Salado area, settling in a neighborhood of what is now Prairie Dell. In 1859, Halley bought lots on the south side of Salado Creek, built a log house, and moved his family into the village of Salado. In 1869 they built a beautiful two-story home on the north edge of Salado known as the Halley House. The Halley family was blessed with eight children, two born in Arkansas and six born in Salado, making a total of four girls and four boys.

1) The Halleys' first child was Fredonia Augusta who was born November 24, 1850 at Warren, Arkansas.<sup>1</sup> She was five years old when her parents moved to Salado. She graduated from Salado College in 1871. While in college she was member of the Amasavourian society, a society to promote reading for young ladies. She married Charles Henry Ramsdell on September 3, 1874. Ramsdell was a Salado merchant and sold dry goods and groceries in his C.H. Ramsdell store.

According to the US Federal Census of 1 June 1900, the Ramsdell family was living in Brazoria County, Texas. Other members of the household included their four sons, Charles William, Robert Leroy, Frederick Lee, Marshall Albert, and one daughter, Alice Emma. The Ramsdell's first born son, Charles William Ramsdell (1877-1942) became a renowned history professor at the University of Texas in Austin and is remembered for completing the book History of Bell County for his friend George W. Tyler after Tyler's death in 1927.

Charles Henry Ramsdell died on July 13, 1903 at age 61 in Alvin, Brazoria County, Texas. Augusta Halley Ramsdell died August 19, 1919 and was buried in Dallas, Texas.

Two of the Ramsdell's children are buried in the Salado Cemetery. They are Lena Halley Ramsdell who died in 1887 at the age of 8 months and Mimimie Ramsdell who died in 1883 at the age of 3 years. Sadly, the Ramsdell's lost another child, Herbert Sidney who died in 1896 at the age of 3. His burial place is unknown.

The Halley children's maternal grandmother is also buried in the Salado Cemetery. Martha Hudspeth Ederington, who came to Texas with the Halleys in 1853, died in 1880 at the age of 78 and was buried in the Old Salado Graveyard section of the cemetery.<sup>2</sup>

2) Martha Eleanor (Ellen) Halley Wilkerson was born September 28, 1852 in Warren, Arkansas.<sup>1</sup> Very little information could be found regarding Ellen other than her marriage to Sidney Wilkerson. She is not listed with other family members as a grantor in the deed regarding the Halley property of 1908. Therefore, it is assumed that she died prior to 1908.

3) Emma Halley, the Halley's first-born child in Salado, was born June 14, 1855.<sup>1</sup> She was 20 years old at the time of her father's death in 1875. Emma graduated from Salado College and then became a teacher at the college. Emma, like her older sister, was also a member of the Amasavourian reading club.

Emma moved to Dallas in 1889 and began teaching at the Oak Grove School, the first brick school building in the city. During her time there, the name of the school was changed to City Park School. During the year prior to her retirement in 1924, Emma taught in the Ruthmeade School. Emma died on January 11, 1929 at the age of 74. She had taught with the Dallas public school for 35 years – 32 as a principal. Funeral services for Emma were conducted in her home with her pastor, Dr. L. N. D. Wells, pastor of the East Dallas Christian Church officiating. She was buried in Oakland Cemetery in Dallas.

Robert Burns Halley was the Halley's fourth child and their first-born son. (Photo courtesy of Halley Family Archives.)

4) Robert Burns Halley, Halley's oldest son was born July 12, 1858.<sup>1</sup> He was 17 at the time of his father's death in 1875. Robert Burns graduated from Salado College and then like his sister, Emma, became a teacher at the college. He later graduated from the University of Texas and became a prominent educator and was known as Professor Halley. He occupied the chair of physics and chemistry at the Sam Houston Normal Institute in Huntsville for many years.

After 32 years, he resigned and later became connected with the Texarkana High School where he taught physics and chemistry. Professor Halley died July 6, 1923 following surgery at his brother's hospital in Ballinger, Texas. His funeral service was held at the home of his sister, Miss Emma Halley, who lived on King's Road north of Dallas. He was buried at Oakland Cemetery. Upon his death, Sam Houston Normal Institute initiated The Halley Memorial Loan Fund in memory of Professor R.B. Halley.<sup>4</sup>

7) William Benjamin (W.B.) Halley, who was 6 years old at the time of his father's death, was born August 9, 1868.<sup>1</sup> William was a member of the first graduating class of Thomas Arnold High School in 1892. In 1898, Halley and his college roommate, Dr. A. S. Love, went to Ballinger, Texas where they founded the Ballinger Clinic-Hospital.

The doctors and the hospital gained a very favorable reputation after Drs. Halley and Love performed the first Caesarean operation known of in Texas, in which the mother and baby both survived.<sup>6</sup> The proud, yet grateful parents named their new baby Halley Love.

Dr. Halley married Velma Bailey, also of Salado. Both were active in the Masons and Eastern Star organizations in Ballinger. At one time, Dr. Halley held title of Worthy Patron of the Order of the Eastern Star in Texas, while Velma held the position of Worthy Grand Organist of the General Grand Chapter of O.E.S.

The Halleys had no children but reared Velma's nephew, Dr. Charles Bailey. Dr. Bailey became associated with the Halley and Love Hospital in 1928. He assumed many of his uncle's responsibilities when Halley retired from practice in 1941. Beloved physician Dr. W. B. Halley died December 6, 1951 in Ballinger at the age of 82, and was buried in Ballinger, Texas.

5) Lydia (Mimmie) Halley Smith was born May 13, 1861.<sup>1</sup> Mimmie was an infant when her father left for the Civil War and she was 14 at the time of her father's death. Mimmie graduated from Salado College, and then married a man named John Ransome Smith. The couple had one child, Eugenia Halley Smith. Mimmie later joined her sister Emma as a teacher in the Dallas city schools.

Mimmie was also the family historian. On October 5, 1885, the 10th anniversary of her father's death, Mimmie wrote a note reminiscing about her father.<sup>5</sup> She wrote of how much her father was beloved and respected by his friends. Mimmie, the last survivor of the Halley children, died November 29, 1958 in Ruston, Louisiana at the age of 98. She was buried with her mother, two sisters, and one brother at Oakland Cemetery in Dallas.

6) Samuel Leroy Halley was born March 3, 1866.<sup>1</sup> He was 10 years old at the time of his father's death. Samuel never married and there are no known photographs of Samuel. The 1880 census shows him to be a store clerk. Samuel died on June 24, 1885 at the age of 19 years after a brief illness. He was buried beside his father in the Old Graveyard Section of the Salado Cemetery. A single monument marks the two graves.

Herbert Horace Halley was the Halley's eighth and fourth-born son. (Photo courtesy of Halley Family Archives.)

8) Herbert Horace Halley, who was only 3 years old at the time of his father's death in 1875, was born April 27, 1872.<sup>1</sup> Very little information could be found regarding Herbert other than his marriage to Della Younger and that the couple had no children. The Federal census records of 1880 show him to be a farm laborer. Herbert died January 12, 1908 and was buried in Ballinger, Texas.

The Halley household was always abuzz with people and their activities. The Halleys had a large extended family including widowed mothers, and brothers and sisters who either lived with the Halleys or came for extended visits. Later, as the children married, in-laws and grandchildren soon became a part of the family. There were times when three generations were living in the house.

The next family who lived in the Halley House will be introduced in the next segment of this story.

Dr. Gary Gosney to speak at Historical Society picnic

Salado Historical Society (SHS) will be hosting its annual free "pot-luck picnic" in the Salado High School auditorium, located at 1880 Williams Drive, Salado, beginning at noon on July 4, according to hostess, Hulda Horton.

Dr. Gary Gosney will be the key-note speaker and the Salado Community Chorus will provide patriotic music.

For the third year, the Salado Historical Society is featuring a member, or former member, of the United States Army as guest speaker. Dr. Gosney, owner and staff veterinarian of Temple Veterinary Hospital, served as a Captain in United States Army, Veterinary Corps, from August 1968 to August 1970. He has appeared in over 100 plays since moving to Temple and recently kept the audience laughing in "The Old People are Revolting" at the Temple Civic Theater. He has also authored over 25 plays that have been performed in local theaters. Dr. Gosney is a well known public speaker, is involved with several community service organizations and teaches a Sunday School class.

The 20-voice Salado Community Chorus, one of Salado's best traditions, will be entertaining the audience during the picnic. They are currently under the direction of Dottie Shirley, with David Kaulfus at the piano. Organized in 1994, they have entertained audiences in Salado during the 4th of July Picnic, and a Spring Concert for several years. The audience will have the opportunity to join in with a patriotic "sing-along."

Fried chicken, drinks, and paper goods will be provided by SHS; guests are invited to bring side dishes and/or desserts to share. For more information, please call Sandi Wicker at 254-760-9655.

Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker

It is not uncommon for declarer to be in a situation where he can assure a contract by playing correctly, but can jeopardize the contract by playing incorrectly.

Take this deal where South wins the opening club lead with the king and, after digesting the 5-0 split in the suit, returns the queen of diamonds. If West knows his way around a bridge table, he ducks and allows declarer to win the trick. (If West takes the queen with the ace, South cannot be stopped from eventually scoring two diamond tricks and the contract.)

When the queen holds, South plays another diamond, and West ducks again. De-

South dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding:

South West North East

Opening lead — jack of clubs.

clarer now has a tough decision to make because he does not know where the ace and jack are located. If he guesses wrong, he goes down.

Presenting declarer with such guesses is part of the strategy of defense, and any defender who misses such opportunities is selling himself short.

This having been said, however, the fact is that if declarer plays correctly, he makes the contract regardless of where the ace and jack of diamonds are situated. All he has to do is to lead the four of diamonds to dummy's eight at trick two. This guarantees at least two diamond tricks against any lie of the cards.

If the eight wins, a low diamond to the queen produces a second diamond trick. If the eight loses to the jack, South later overtakes his queen with the king to assure two diamond tricks.

All roads lead to Rome -- provided South has the presence of mind to play the diamond four to the eight at trick two. This eliminates any chance of going wrong later in the play.

Dung Beetles are nature's recyclers

If you watch the news pundits of any affiliation for any amount of time, you most assuredly have heard the phrase "jobs that most Americans don't want to do." The purpose of this column is not politically motivated, nor is it a reflection of ANY race, gender, or socio-economic people group. However, that phrase can be transposed to a type of arthropod that thrives here in the cattle-laden landscape of West Texas that, I guarantee, performs a job that no one else would want to do.

There are several varieties of species of Dung Beetles that inhabit the United States, but the one type that is frequently observed

Wild About Texas

throughout west Texas is the Common Dung Beetle (Canthum imitator). This variety can be observed throughout the southwestern United States, primarily where the source of its preferred food are abundant. Taxonomically speaking, it comes from a gigantic and diverse order of insects (order Coleoptera) that include the infamous Scavenger Beetles from the Middle East.

Dung Beetles are, as the name implies, beetles, and beetles are insects, and like other members of this group, they have three body parts: the head, the thorax, and the abdomen. Each one of these body parts has a specific purpose, with the head being the area where the eyes and feeding appendages are, the thorax is where the legs and wings are attached, and the abdomen is where the majority of the internal organs are housed. Also like others in the insect group, the skeletal structure is on the outside of their body. This structure is known as the exoskeleton. They have six legs, as well as two pairs of wings and two antennae.

This particular species of dung beetle is rather ordinary in appearance as the entire exoskeleton is dull black. Even the shiny, hardened wings are black. It is somewhat rotund in appearance and is of moderate size with adults attaining a total length of just under ¾ of an inch. This variety lacks any of the horn development that other species in this family may exhibit. Adults possess modified front legs adapted for digging as well as feet tailor-made for "rolling" its food without getting stuck. The mandibles are designed for chewing, while the eyes and antennae are small.

The Dung Beetle is usually active during the day, and many individuals will assemble in areas where its source of food is abundant. Cattle pens and other areas that house farm animals are a favorite area of congregation. Generally speaking, if one Dung Beetle is observed, there are typically many more individuals close by!

As the common name implies this species of beetle feeds on the fecal materials of animals, particularly larger, grass-feeding mammals. Dung Beetles are able to locate fecal material by a very keen sense of smell (what an attribute to have!). After locating the materials, the beetle (either solo or in a tandem with other beetles) will utilize its strong mandibles to chew off portions of the substance and begin to make use of its back legs to shape the dung into a ball. Once this is accomplished, the beetle (again, either solo or in a tandem with other beetles) will roll the ball of feces to a place that it feels is suitable to bury.

It then proceeds to employ its modified front legs to dig a hole deep enough to bury the "ball", and once the "ball" has been buried, it will lay its eggs on the inside. The young larvae will then hatch, feed on the material that is a plentiful resource, and pupate – all while on the inside of the fecal "ball". It is only after that point does the young Dung Beetle leave its nourishing home and emerge to the surface.

For obvious reasons, many species of Dung Beetles, most of which have originated in Africa, have been introduced worldwide by horticulturalist and governmental agencies alike, all with the intent of assisting the recycling process. However, there is no data (positive or negative) that shows the impact of such releases on the native populations of this plain-looking beetle with a vile, but necessary task.

In recognition of World Continence Week (June 19-24), Integrity Rehab clinics are offering free 30-minute pelvic health screenings to show prospective patients how their pelvic muscles measure up. These discreet and private consultations will demonstrate how non-invasive and trusted sEMG technology can help men and women live without pain, laugh leak free, and love better sex.

Integrity Rehab's Pelvic Health Program Director, Anne Smith, PT, MPT, said people affected by incontinence, sexual dissatisfaction, or pelvic pain should consider attending a Pelvic Health Screening at Integrity Rehab. Free 30-minute pelvic health screenings will be offered by appointment at all Integrity Rehab clinics, including the Salado clinic located in Salado Plaza, 213 Mill Creek Dr., to check the electrical activity of the pelvic floor muscles. Call (254)699-3933 with questions or to make an appointment.

According to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, approximately 13 million people in the United States suffer from urinary incontinence. But in a recent survey by Pure Profile, 8 in 10 women affected by urinary incontinence fail to seek help for the problem, with 72 percent preferring to laugh off the health issue.

Urinary incontinence is no joke and doesn't have to be tolerated. With pelvic floor muscle therapy, women who suffer from stress urinary incontinence average a 73 percent cure rate and 97 percent improvement rate, according to studies published by the National Institute of Health.

Speaking ahead of World Continence Week, Pelvic Health Physical Therapist, Ms. Anne Smith, said research shows women are continuing to ignore their health needs. "There continues to be a misconception that incontinence is an inevitable result of having children or aging, and that's just not true. Incontinence is common but it's not normal and should be treated, just like any other health condition," Ms. Smith said.

"Incontinence isn't something you have to put up with for the rest of your life."
