

Salado Rocks Pace Park July 28

Salado Rocks Pace Park brings together painters and collectors of the Salado Rocks for a morning of fun and community on July 28.

Beginning at 9 a.m. in the Pace Park pavilion, children, parents and friends are invited to come together to find, paint, swap and share stories about the popular summertime activity Salado Rocks.

Sponsored by Salado Village Voice and the Village of Salado, Salado Rocks Pace Park will include the work of Salado clay artist Ro Shaw, who has been handmaking the Salado Tiny Pots and Salado Tiny Gnomes that have been stashed around town. A limited number of the items will be made available for purchase with all proceeds benefiting the Salado Family Relief Fund.

After a hot dog lunch provided by Salado Masonic Lodge #296, Salado Rocks participants will be set loose to hide their gems for others to find.

Be sure to mark your rocks Salado Rocks Pace Park and share your photos on social media. Tim Fleischer, Marilyn Fleischer and Stephanie Hood are organizing the event.

Village will require sewer Impact Fee for all new users

BY TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Salado sewer customers will be required to pay an impact fee of $3,750, including those who will be required to tie in to the sewer system when it comes online next year.

Aldermen, in the July 19 first reading of an ordinance to create an Impact Fee, considered several options on the Sewer Impact Fees during a two-hour discussion on the matter.

The board voted 4-1 on a motion by Michael McDougal to charge an Impact Fee to Existing Customers (those property owners who will be required to tie-in to the system and decommission their septic systems). Frank Coachman gave the second to the motion. McDougal, Coachman, Michael Coggin and Andy Jackson voted in favor and Fred Brown voted against.

Brown made motion that new customers be required to pay an Impact Fee. Jackson gave a second to the motion and it carried unanimously.

"We have two large prospective neighborhoods that we are going to have happen as soon as the sewer system is finished," alderman Brown said. "That will have tremendous impact."

"To say to Main Street properties that you have to pay this impact fee and pay to decommission septic and pay for line from street to house... that is a lot to ask," alderman Brown.

Brown then made a motion to charge the initial, existing customers an Impact Fee of $1,875 payable over two years. This motion failed for the lack of a second.

Coachman made a motion to set the Impact Fee at $3,750 for the initial, existing customers and that the fee could be paid out over 48 months at no interest. McDougal gave the second to the motion. Coachman, McDougal, Coggin and Jackson voted in favor and Brown voted against.

Brown made a motion to charge a $3,750 Impact Fee to new customers with no payout period. The motion received a second from McDougal. It carried unanimously.

Coachman made a motion to set a 90 day period (from notification of service availability) for a property owner to connect to the system in order to retain their eligibility as an existing customer. Jackson gave a second to the motion. The motion carried unanimously.

Aldermen unanimously incorporated the motions into the first reading of the Ordinance on a motion by Jackson and second by Coachman.

Ferguson told aldermen that there will be "a handful of customers on the Stagecoach Water system that we will not be able to collect an Impact Fee from."

He estimated that the impact of those customers would lower the anticipated collection of impact fees from the initial customers of $1.3 million to about $600,000.

"If you were to be able to collect the total amount," he said, it would defer the impact of the issuance of the future bonds for the next four years.

Later in the meeting, Ferguson said that the total number of LUEs of the Stagecoach customers is about 100. This would lower the total revenue generated by the Impact Fee by $375,000 based on the rate to be adopted.

HDR Engineering, in their Impact Fee Study for the Village, estimated the initial LUEs at 341, which would generate $1.3 million. Taking the current Stagecoach customers would decrease this to less than $900,000. Ferguson estimated that it could reduce it by as much as $600,000.

The Impact Fee revenue, by law, can only be spent on expansion of facilities and debt for new facilities. Because the sewer system being built with $10.55 million in bonds approved by voters in 2014 and a $1 Economic Development Agency (EDA) grant is considered a "new facility" in the Impact Fee study calculations, Impact

Learn more about potential sale of Mill Creek during Neighbors' Night Out

BY TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Billy Helm invites the community to the monthly Neighbors Night Out beginning at 6 p.m. Thurs. July 26 at the Mill Creek Pro Shop to learn more about a potential real estate deal between the Village and Mill Creek Country Club.

The Neighbors Night Out is a monthly gathering sponsored by the Mill Creek Community Association.

The owners of Mill Creek Country Club have been in negotiations with the Village of Salado for some time about the possible purchase of the golf course by the village. Since March, aldermen have met in closed door executive sessions five times to discuss "the possible acquisition of real property for public recreation/open space purposes pursuant to Chapter 551.072 of the Texas Government Code."

After each of the executive sessions, aldermen have voted to "direct staff to proceed with matters as discussed in Executive Session."

Following their July 19 executive session meeting, however, aldermen went a step further in directing "staff to schedule and conduct a public meeting to discuss matters related to matters discussed in executive session."

Village administrator Don Ferguson told Salado

Village Voice that he is tentatively scheduling the public meeting for the week of Aug. 6-10. A firm date will be published next week.

Helm said that he wants to talk directly to the property owners and residents of Mill Creek about the potential sale of the golf course property to the Village and its possible impact on them and their property values.

Helm said that the presentation, which will include time for questions from the audience, should last no more than 30 minutes. The presentation is not a public meeting of the aldermen, but Helm said that he invites the aldermen and mayor to come to the gathering.

In the past decade more than 800 golf courses have closed nationwide, according to a Bloomberg article "America's Golf Courses Are Burning" by Patrick Clark published Aug. 15 2016.

With a great deal of competition among golf courses and a decline of interest in the sport across the nation, hundreds of courses have closed. Others have been purchased by local municipalities and operated as municipal courses in an effort to keep the property values of nearby residences higher.

Experts estimate that residential properties on golf courses can lose as much as 20 to 40 percent in market value when a course closes.

Three students sent to hospital due to heat

BY TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

On a day in which heat records were broken across central Texas with temperatures peaking at 114 F, three Salado High School marching band members were sent to the hospital with symptoms of heat illness after the first day of outdoor practice on Mon., July 23 on a day that set heat records in central Texas.

According to the marching band schedule emailed to parents, outdoor marching was to be 6-8 p.m. each day this week. From 3-5 p.m., students are to practice in the gym indoors and have a dinner break at 5 p.m.

"Due to the heat several students got overheated," band director Charla Kelley said in an email to band parents at 10 p.m. July 24. "During the 30 minutes we were out on the marching field we were vigilant in taking water breaks every five minutes and getting them into the shade."

According to the marching band schedule emailed to parents, outdoor marching was to be 6-8 p.m. each day this week. From 3-5 p.m., students are to practice in the gym indoors and have a dinner break at 5 p.m.

"Please know my intention is never to put your child in a situation of danger as safety is a top concern," she stated in the email.

"Staff with administration help are trying to devise a plan of action so that this event never happens again," Kelley stated.

According to the email, practice will be held outside if the heat index is below 108° F at 7 p.m.

"This decision was made in conjunction with the administration in order to prevent this from occurring again," Kelley said.

Students march on an asphalt surface. According to a "A Study of Surface Temperatures of six groundcovers" on the Frostburg State University asphalt surfaces were as much as 40 degrees hotter at 120° F than grass while AstroTurf® surfaces were as much as 60 degrees hotter than grass surfaces at 140° F.

BoA approve sign regs, variance

BY TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Salado aldermen approved a new sign ordinance after its second reading on July 16. The board also approved a variance from the zoning ordinance to allow a fence in the front yard of a single family residence at 620 DeGrummond at the July 16 meeting.

The new Sign Ordinance, according to Village Administrator Don Ferguson, will be easier for property owners to determine what they can and cannot have for their businesses. The ordinance is 23 pages long.

The following are not permitted under the new Sign Ordinance:

- NOT PERMITTED
- (A) Beacons.
- (B) Changeable copy signs, except in the categories of gasoline pricing signs and changeable copy free-standing signs.
- (C) Flashing signs.
- (D) Signs with visible moving parts.
- (E) Exterior Neon signs.
- (F) Roof signs except as allowed in commercial sign regulations of this Ordinance.
- (G) Mobile Billboards and Vehicular signs, excluding vehicle wraps and magnetic signs affixed to a vehicle being used in the normal course of business and not parked at a location for advertising purposes.
- (H) Posters, pennants, ribbons, streamers, spinners, or other similar devices, provided that flags as regulated in this Ordinance are not included in this prohibition. This prohibition does not apply to posters, ribbons, streamers related to public school events and/or activities.

(I) Signs, banners or posters that contain statements, words or pictures of an obscene, indecent, or immoral character or that offend public morals or decency.

(J) Commercial signs of any character, in any form of construction, and at any location except as regulated by this Ordinance.

(K) Signs that constitute a hazard to vehicular or pedestrian traffic.

(L) Off-premise commercial signs.

(M) Abandoned or dilapidated signs.

(N) Banners.

(O) Feather Flags.

(P) New billboards.

The Sign Ordinance regulates but does not require a permit for the following types of signs:

(A) Public Service Signs.

A public service sign is a sign or part of a sign that is devoted to changeable messages without commercial content, such as public meeting information.

(B) Realty Signs.

A realty sign is a sign that advertises the property on which the sign is located for sale, lease, or rent. SEE SIGNS, PAGE 5A

Market caught on horns of trade fears, earnings growth

The Markets

The stock market as measured by the S&P 500 Stock Index (SPX) was caught on the horns of a dilemma between fear of the economic damage of the trade war and excitement about record-high corporate earnings. It weaved up and down all week but finally closed at 2801.83, up a minuscule 0.02 percent, and just barely hanging on to its hard-won 2800 mark. It remained up 4.8 percent for the calendar year and is up about 13.32 percent from this time last year.

The dollar slid slightly against the Euro and a basket of world currencies but remained up about 5 percent for the trailing three months and 2 percent for one year on the WSJ Dollar index. That three-month rise effectively makes imported goods less expensive and goods we want to export more expensive for others to buy, partially offsetting U.S. tariffs. The 10-year U.S. Treasury note yield eased upward to 2.898 percent but is still only 3/10 of 1 percent higher than the 1-year bill leaving the yield curve in a very flat configuration. West Texas Intermediate (WTI) oil prices eased downward 0.38 percent for the week to $70.31 but still remains up about 43 percent for one year.

The Economy

The Chinese Yuan Renminbi has declined about 7 percent against the dollar since the trade war began in earnest, reflecting the perceived threat of U.S. tariffs to the Chinese economy. One of the oddities in a trade war is that the nation hit the hardest by the tariffs will see its currency fall in value, thereby making its exported goods less expensive and more attractive to importers. If the whole world

Market & Economic Update

By Jeffrey W. McClure

imposed coordinated tariffs against a single nation, it would likely create some severe pain in that country but if a single country, no matter how big, starts imposing tariffs against much of the rest of the world, it is likely to hurt that country more than its targets. An example of what historically happens when a single nation starts a trade war can be seen in what happened this week as Japan signed a free-trade agreement with the European Union. Such agreements effectively route trade and trade revenues around the nation imposing tariffs.

One of the earliest tariffs imposed in the current war was the 20 percent charge on Canadian lumber. That tariff has already shown up in U.S. prices as the increased cost has been reported to have added about $10,000 (5 percent) to the cost of a new $200,000 single-family home. That may not sound like much, but new-housing starts suddenly dropped about 12.5 percent last month and the anecdotal evidence suggests that at least part of the decline was the increased price of lumber and steel products.

Meanwhile, in June, the number of new jobless claims hit the lowest absolute number since 1969, when the total workforce was a fraction of what it is today. Manufacturing output too indicated a rip-roaring economy as total output increased 0.8 percent in June. That increase almost completely offsets a 1 percent drop in May as automobile manufacturers started the process of adjusting to supply chain disruptions from trucking shortages, tariff fears, and other issues.

The bottom line is that the second quarter annualized GDP growth still looks like it may come in at or above 4 percent. Retail sales, the 800-pound gorilla of the U.S. economy, were up 0.5 percent in June and May's results were revised up to a whopping 1.3 percent. That sounds quite impressive but it is good to remember that we have seen second and third quarter 3 percent to 4 percent annualized GDP numbers about three times in the past eight years. In each case, we saw strong growth for two quarters or even three, then a fall off as capacity constraints were hit.

Fitch Ratings issued a warning this week that commercial capital expenditures (CapEx), investments in new equipment, buildings, and the like, appeared to be slowing to about a 3 percent growth this year, about half of what we saw last year, and were likely to slow further in 2019. Again, the reason given by Fitch customers was uncertainty and expense associated with tariffs. Capital expenditures and investment are long-lead economic indicators. High CapEx tends to produce high growth about a year to 18 months later while slowing capital growth rates point to a potential slowdown about 24 months out.

Evidence continues to accumulate pointing to outsized economic growth in 2018 and possibly into 2019 with a potential recession in 2020.

Trustees adopt goals for 2018-19

The Salado ISD School Board met on Monday, July 16. The following is a summary of that meeting:

- The Board reviewed the monthly financial reports and check registers.
- The Board approved the minutes from the May 14, June 27, and July 13 school board meetings.

- The Board approved the 2018-2019 Bell County Juvenile Justice Alternative Education Program (JJAEP) Memorandum Of Understanding (MOU). The JJAEP is located in Killeen and it is where students attend school if they are expelled from any public school in Bell County. In my seven years in Salado ISD, we have only had to expel two students.

- The Board approved a reimbursement resolution expressing intent to finance expenditures to be incurred. This resolution allows the district to use fund balance to pay for bond project expenses (such as architectural, engineering, survey, and geotechnical services) and then reimburse the fund balance with bond funds after the bonds are sold. This also allows us to delay the sale of the bonds and delay the tax increase for another year.

- The Board endorsed Mildred Watkins from La Vega ISD for a position on the Texas Association of Schools Boards (TASB) Board.

- The Board approved Texas Association of Schools Boards (TASB) Policy Update 111, affecting local policies BBD: Board Members – Training and Orientation, CAA: Fiscal Management Goals and Objectives – Financial Ethics,

Superintendent's Corner

by Dr. Michael Novotny

DHE: Employees Standards of Conduct – Searches and Alcohol/Drug Testing, DI: Employee Welfare, and FEA: Attendance – Compulsory Attendance.

- The Board approved the following 2018-2019 District Goals:

1. Increase our percentage of students that meet or exceed their State of Texas Assessments of Academic Readiness/End of Course (STAAR/EOC) growth measure and increase the percentage of our high school graduates that meet the College, Career, and Military Readiness (CCMR) criteria.

2. Develop and implement strategies to increase the safety and security for our students and employees, including monthly safety and security committee meetings.

3. Develop and implement a prioritized list of facility maintenance projects, including a tentative timeline for completion.

4. Analyze employee recruitment and retention from the past three years and develop and implement an employee recruitment and retention plan based on that information.

- The Board discussed the bond facility projects, including the possibility of annexing school district property into the Village of Salado and connecting to the wastewater treatment system.

- The Board completed "Evaluating and Improving Student Outcomes" training that is now required every two years as part of the 2017 Texas Legislature's Senate Bill 1566.

Our next regular school board meeting will be held on Monday, August 20, at 6:00 p.m. at the Salado ISD Civic Center, located at 601 North Main Street.

Yes, the Supreme Court Is Undemocratic

In an era of partisan polarization, it is rare to get agreement on anything, but about this there should be a consensus: The Supreme Court is an undemocratic institution whose power should be carefully circumscribed.

The right has long been of this view, and the left is suddenly and opportunistically partway there.

In an essay capturing progressives' newfound skepticism, Ezra Klein of Vox wrote that the Supreme Court "has always been undemocratic" and is now becoming even "more dangerous." This represents a welcome turnaround from cheering the high court's de facto legislating, although the left is about a half-century late to the insight that the court isn't a democratically elected legislature.

In the 1960s, the court became markedly more assertive, delivering a raft of activist decisions, especially on matters of criminal justice and sexual morality.

Progressives cheered all the while. They happily pocketed all the court-mandated policy changes to their liking, relieved of the burden of enacting them through democratic means.

Needless to say, the court was never meant to be an unelected lawmaking body, and it has taken on such a highly charged role in our politics, in part, because it arrogated this power to itself.

The court's legitimacy comes from faithfully interpreting laws passed by the legislature and adhering to the Constitution that is the foundational governing document of the country, adopted and amended by "We the People." Anything else is a usurpation.

Progressives are, perversely, taking a hostile view of the court precisely when it may get a reliable majority of justices devoted to this vision.

Klein alleges that the court is becoming affirmatively "anti-democratic," meaning it isn't striking down democratically adopted voter rules and gerrymandered districts. Klein may oppose the Ohio law that purges nonvoters from the rolls, but there is a remedy readily at hand -- changing the law in Ohio.

If the left were serious about its new worries about an undemocratic court, it would welcome the prospect of overturning Roe v. Wade.

Indeed, the belief that voters in states will ban abortion or more stringently regulate it if Roe is overturned is the single biggest motivating factor in opposition to Supreme Court nominee Brett Kavanaugh. In other words, on this issue, the worry is that the court will allow too much democracy.

Of course, the court should act as a check on the popular will at times. But in doing so, it must limit itself to enforcing the law and the Constitution. This is the goal of originalism, which should be embraced by both sides as the appropriately modest view of the court's role in our republic.

But this would represent an enormous loss for progressives.

First, a court that no longer envisions itself as an instrument of social change wouldn't hand the left totalist victories unachievable in the political realm. Two, the animating vision behind the Constitution -- written by men with a strong suspicion of centralized power -- runs counter to the logic of progressive government.

So the left will bang on about the undemocratic court without changing its core belief that it is rightfully the vehicle for imposing its policies.

ational Safety Hazard Administration (OSHA) "Using the Heat Index: A Guide for Employers," Heat index of 103 to 115 is considered a High Risk and additional precautions should be taken to protect works. A heat index above 115 is considered Very High to Extreme risk and requires even more aggressive protective measures.

The American Red Cross advises the following to stay safe when temperatures soar.

- Stay hydrated by drinking plenty of fluids. Avoid drinks with caffeine or alcohol.

- Avoid extreme temperature changes.

- Wear loose-fitting, lightweight, light-colored clothing. Avoid dark colors because they absorb the sun's rays.

- Slow down, stay indoors and avoid strenuous exercise during the hottest part of the day.

- Postpone outdoor games and activities.

Excessive heat can lead to sunburn, heat cramps, heat exhaustion and heat stroke. If someone is experiencing heat cramps in the legs or abdomen, get them to a cooler place, have them rest, lightly stretch the affected muscle, and replenish their fluids with a half a glass (about 4 ounces) of cool water every 15 minutes.

HEAT EXHAUSTION

If someone is exhibiting signs of heat exhaustion (cool, moist, pale or flushed skin, heavy sweating, headache, nausea, dizziness, weakness, exhaustion), move them to a cooler place, remove or loosen tight clothing and spray the person with water or apply cool, wet cloths or towels to the skin. Fan the person. If they are conscious, give small amounts of cool water to drink. Make sure the person drinks slowly. Watch for changes in condition. If the person refuses water, vomits or begins to lose consciousness, call 911.

HEAT STROKE LIFE-THREATENING

Signs include hot, red skin which may be dry or moist; changes in consciousness; vomiting and high body temperature. Call 9-1-1 immediately if someone shows signs of heat stroke. Move the person to a cooler place. Quickly cool the person's body by immersing them up to their neck in cold water if possible. Otherwise, douse or spray the person with cold water, or cover the person with cold, wet towels or bags of ice.

According to the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), more than 600 people in the United States are killed by extreme heat every year.

study calculations, Impact Fees could be used to reduce the debt service on the bonds.

During the extended discussion of the Impact Fees, Ferguson addressed several questions concerning those fees.

"There has been a question about exempting a non-profit that will be affected by the Impact Fee," Ferguson said. "Can you exempt certain customers? You can, but if you exempt one non-profit, then you should exempt all of the non-profits."

"If you are going to give someone a break, it needs to be time specific and there should be a uniform application of it," he added. "You should be careful of exempting certain classifications of customers."

"This is a balancing act on how to do this (retire the sewer debt)," Ferguson said, explaining that revenue for facilities comes from three different sources: property taxes in the form of bonds or certificates of obligations, impact fees or monthly sewer rates.

"Our recommendation is not to put any of the debt on the Monthly Rates," Ferguson said, adding "that should be for operating the system only."

"Do you want to place the burden on 137 folks or on 2,000 folks," Ferguson asked. "If you don't collect from customers, it will have to come from somewhere."

Currently, taxpayers are paying $0.3271 per $100 valuation in debt service for the $8.2 million in bonds that have been sold. The annual debt payment currently totals $576,231. One cent in debt service properly tax retires approximately $17,616 per year.

At these rates, if the initial customers pay a total of $600,000 in Impact Fees over four years, it could reduce property taxes by $0.085 per $100 valuation during that time period.

After that, the property taxes would have to increase.

"The businesses say we are going to do our part and step up," Alderman Coachman said, adding that this is how they do it. "If any one of these businesses had to go out and replace their system, it would easily be $15,000 to $20,000."

"That is if you could get a system approved by today's standards," Ferguson said.

(C) Bulletin Boards. Bulletin boards shall be located only on the premises of the institution or organization to whose activities it pertains. A bulletin board shall not exceed thirty-two (32) square feet in area.

(D) Community Service Signs. Community service signs are those signs erected only by a unit of government, school, Chamber of Commerce, religious organization, or other non-profit agency that contain solely a non-commercial message or content.

(E) Event Signs, On-Site. An on-site event sign is a temporary sign that is placed to advertise or mark the location of an occasional commercial event on the same site, involving the sale of goods or services.

(F) Event Signs, Off-Site. An off-site event sign is a temporary sign that is placed to advertise or mark the location of an occasional commercial event at a site different from where the sign is placed, involving the sale of goods or services.

(G) Non-Commercial Flag. A non-commercial flag is a flag that does not advertise the sales of good or services or advertise the location of a commercial business that sells good or services:

(H) Wall Plates. Each property shall be allowed one (1) wall plate. The wall plate shall not exceed one (1) square foot in a residential area or two (2) square feet in a non-residential area. Only one (1) wall plate may be permitted per residence or establishment.

(I) Temporary signs. A temporary sign is a sign, such as a political sign, which is composed of chloroplast, plywood, or wall board.

(J) Address Sign. Every residential and/or commercial property shall have an address sign. An address sign is a sign, other than a wall plate or commercial sign, that identifies the address of a residential or commercial property.

(K) Auxiliary signs are signs that are not part of another commercial sign and that provide information, such as hours of operations, credit cards accepted, restrictions of sale to minors, "no soliciting" or "beware of the dog" as part of a commercial use.

(L) No permit is required to repaint or otherwise repair an existing sign, provided that the area of the sign is not enlarged, the height of the sign is not increased, and the location of the sign is not changed.

(M) No permit is required to change the copy on a changeable copy sign.

Regulations of the preceding signs can be found in the Sign Ordinance itself on pages 8-11.

Regulations of Commercial Signs are found on Pages 11 to 19 of the Ordinance.

A Single Commercial Building may have the following permanent signs: one free standing or monument sign, one roof sign or one wall sign and a daily display sign.

A Commercial Complex will be allowed the following permitted signs:

One free standing sign or monument sign for the complex listing the individual tenants.

In addition to the main sign(s), each establishment located in a commercial complex shall be allowed the following permanent signs: One wall or one roof sign; One awning sign and one daily display sign.

Specific regulations for the sizes of the signs for Commercial Complexes can be found in the Sign Ordinance pages 12-15.

The Sign Ordinance also regulates the illumination of Commercial Signs. The ordinance sets two standards for illuminated signs: one standard for those businesses that front Main Street, Royal Street, Rock Creek, Pace Park Road, Old Town Road and Center Circle (allowing small, directional spot light fixture) and those businesses that do not front those streets.

For those signs, no signs will be allowed with lumiance greater than 65 foot candles. The light source for these illuminated signs should be shielded from view. Flashing, blinking, revolving or rotating lights on signs are not permitted. Illuminated signs should not be illuminated after 10 p.m. or the close of business, whichever is later. Illuminated signs should not face a residentially-zoned area.

Illumination regulations can be found on pages 15-16.

Other types of signs that require permits are these: Bed and Breakfast, Vacation Rental Identifier Signs, Construction Signs, Directional Signs, Lighted Window or Door Signs, Model Home Signs, Portable Sign, Residential Development Signs.

The specific definitions and regulations of these preceding signs can be found on pages 18-19 of the Ordinance.

The second reading of the Sign Ordinance was approved unanimously on a motion from Frank Coachman that received a second from Andy Jackson.

Following a public hearing with one person speaking against and two speaking in favor, aldermen approved a variance request by Bobbie Carroll to place a fence in the front yard of her residence on DeGrummond Way. Fred Brown made the motion and Michael Coggin gave the second. The motion passed with Andy Jackson joining Brown and Coggin in favor and Michael McDougal and Frank Coachman voting against.

Salado Shock State Champs!

Layla Parker hit a two-run double in the final inning to boost the Salado Shock over the Cameron Thunder on July 13 to win the TTAS 8U Coach Pitch State Tournament played in Groesbeck.

The Shock played nine games over the week to win the State Tournament, going 8-1 in the Championship Tournament July 9-13, emerging from a field of 23 teams.

The Shock are the first team to bring a state championship back to Salado at the youth level in more than 10 years.

The TTAS League had 117 teams Statewide. The top two teams in each went the playoffs. The Shock placed second in the District Tournament in Florence, where the girls were 3-2, to qualify for the State Tournament.

The Shock went 8-1 in the State Tournament to finish their season with a 21-3 record.

On the first day of the tournament, the Shock beat the Alto Heartbreakers 16-1 in the morning round on Mon. July 9. In the evening, they beat the Mart Panthers 13-5.

Their game against Hubbard was bumped to July 11, which the girls won 21-5 in the morning. Later in the evening, the Shock faced an undefeated Cameron squad, falling 17-9 which put Salado in the losers' bracket. "We had to now win the next five games to capture the State Championship," said Coach Steve Oglesby. "Challenge accepted!"

get past Axtell 12-11 on July 13.

Zoe Dodge caught a pop up and the girls tagged out the runner trying to get back to second base to get past the Rogers Rag Dolls 20-19 in the final frame of their game.

The third game of the day for the Shock pitted them against the Belton Hotstix, who was second behind Salado in the District Tourney, but who also handed Salado one of its few defeats on the season in that tourney. The Hotstix looked as if they might give the Shock another loss as they lead for a couple inning, but the Shock came from behind for a 13-9 win.

Cameron, which went through the Winners Bracket, was waiting for Salado. The Shock had to beat Cameron twice to win the Tournament.

In the 6 p.m. game, the parents were just as ready as the girls and brought the noise. Cameron pushed Salado around for the first four innings and looked as if they would be State Champions and undefeated on the season. But the Shock were not done yet. The girls bounced back to win 13-12, holding Cameron scoreless in the final inning.

In the Championship game, Salado took the lead and never let up. "We had gone this far and would not be denied the ultimate prize," Coach Steve Oglesby said.

After more than 5 decades, Kinnisons sell Anderson house

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

"It was time," said Bill Kinnison of the family decision this year to sell the historic property on Main St. owned by the Kinnison family since 1962. That decision came to fruition earlier this summer when Gretchen Jahna purchased the four acre property.

After 34 years of travel during his career as an artillery office, Col. Paul Kinnison and wife Virginia pulled off the recently-built I-35 onto South Main St. Salado. Col. Kinnison served in WWII in Italy and North Africa as well as the Philippines, later Korea and Germany. His last assignment was at Fort Hood.

The couple were looking for a retirement home. Virginia knew just what she wanted, Bill said of his mother.

"They were looking for the Baines house," Bill said. Virginia's great grandfather was George Washington Baines, a Methodist minister. "They wanted to find the Baines house in hopes of restoring it and retiring there."

But it wasn't available at the time.

So they stopped at the Foster garage on South Main. "Two guys were sitting out front on apple crates," Bill said. "Paul asked them if they knew of any houses for sale. One of the men, Joe Morriss said, 'My house at the top of the hill is for sale.'"

The Kinnisons followed him up the street and toured the house. As soon as they got back in the car, Bill says that Virginia told her husband, "This is everything I have ever wanted."

The Morrisses sold it to the Kinnisons, "lock, stock and barrel," Bill recalls, signing the contract the very next day.

At the time, Bill was in college and his sister Karen was D.C. working.

When they moved into the house, Paul drew some water from the tap (on a well) and tested it. Those results were part of the impetus, Bill says, for the formation of the Salado Water Supply Corporation. "C.B.

Hodge gave the land for the first well," Bill said.

The Kinnisons moved into the house in March of 1963 and quickly became involved in Salado. They opened Paul and Virginia's Antiques and Art in the rock building next to the house that was rumored to be the first Saloon in Salado, lasting only one day.

Paul was a charter member of the Chamber of Commerce board and was co-chair of the first Salado Art Fair held on the Village Green. Meanwhile, Virginia was a charter member of the Ladies Auxiliary and Salado Historical Society.

Virginia maintained the shop for 32 years, then it was maintained by her daughter Karen V. The shop was then known as The Woman's Exchange. Karen caned chairs in the back room of the little building. Her brother and his wife Karen P. took over the shop and renamed it The 1860s Shop. They closed it in June of this year in anticipation of selling the property.

In her shop, Virginia painted primitives on old barn wood and sold thousands of them over the years. Other paintings by her were throughout the house. Paul died in 1978.

She married George Matthews, a Methodist minister, and the couple lived in the Anderson House until his death in 2006. Virginia continued to live in the house until her death in 2010.

Paul built the two barns in 1964 for horses and sheep. He added the den and remodeled parts of the house in 1967-68.

The property was owned by Virginia's three children for 8 years until it sold in June 2018.

The house has been on the Historical Society Tour of Homes, the last time being in 2013.

HISTORY AND OWNERS OF THE ANDERSON HOUSE

By BILL KINNISON

For more than 100 years, the house was principally owned by three families. It has had 18 owners in its 158 year history.

The first title to this property (of 8 acres, 4 still with house) was issued to James Anderson on June 8, 1860 out of the H. W. Hurd survey. The property was purchased from E.S.C. Robertson for $165. It is one of the few homes built in Salado in 1860. The house is both a Recorded Texas and National Historic Landmark. It has a Texas Historical Commission marker.

Anderson, born 1800, North Carolina, married Elizabeth Banard who was also born in North Carolina, in 1821. The Andersons had 14 children, 13 lived.

The family migrated to Missouri in the mid-1830s. Moved to Texas in 1844 when got a grant of 640 acres in the Mercer Colony (Nacogdoches).

Because of disputes over land titles they soon settled in Little River.

He petitioned to establish Bell County in 1850; was first Justice of Peace until died in 1865.

The rock building next door was his office (now a Shop).

When Salado College was established in 1859, he was a member of Joint Stock Company and bought lots to raise funds to build a college on land donated by E.S.C. Robertson.

During the Salado College years, the Anderson's housed boarders from the College for many years. On Oct. 28, 1865, James Anderson died. His remains were "brought up from Walnut Creek" (Travis Co.) Oct. 30, 1865, for burial in the Old Salado Graveyard (grave marked with plaque but actual site unknown)..

Anderson Home had 18 owners FROM PAGE 2B

Eliza, and John. Children born in Missouri were: Catherine, Martha, Louisa and William. Children born in Texas were: Susan, Burnett, Frances, and Jane (infant died).

The two-story house is fronted by large oak trees 200 years old. One has a hitching ring still embedded in it by the front gate. Two story yellow clapboard house rests on hand-hewn cedar uprights and attic beams. It has a limestone foundation, and the walls are three inches thick: pine clapboard with a middle middle of cedar and interior pine paneling inside put in the 1940s.

The windows are original and of hand-blown glass panes. Window frames and doors were handmade and put together by wooden pegs. Floors are of pine.

The house originally had six fire places, only two still standing, with the newer one added in 1967-68. The siding, doors, ceilings and floors have settled leaving many surprising angles.

The original property Anderson purchase was 8 1/4 acres. Of that, 4.1 acres still remain intact. We know James Anderson sold 1 and 13/56th of an acre from the original tract for $73.21 and put this clause in the deed: "It being agreed that should the owner of said lot sell spirituous vinos or other intoxicating liquors in quantities less than a quart or permit same to be sold by others on said lot, the title or claim to the same is to revert back to the same James Anderson....I have here onto set my hand and seal using a scroll for seal to this February 5th this A. D. 1865 James Anderson (signature and seal)." The abstracts indicate several transactions were made in gold dollars and one in Confederate Notes.

The 18 owners of the property included:
James and Elizabeth, Anderson, 1860-64;
Thomas Griffin, 1864 (Sold for $2,000 in Confederate Notes);
Thomas Jones, 1867;
J.J. Gregory, 1871;

52nd Art Fair at Civic Center

The 52nd Salado Art Fair will be held on the grounds of the Salado Civic Center this year with free admission on Aug. 4-5.

Get there early to beat the heat and enjoy the art under the giant oaks on Main Street. The show opens at 9 a.m. both days.

To kick off the event, the Salado Chamber of Commerce will have a Friday Night Soiree at Tenroc Ranch beginning at 7 p.m. Fri., Aug. 3. Tickets for the hors d'oeuvre and wine reception can be purchased online by visiting salado.com. Or type <https://squareup.com/store/salado-chamber-of-commerce/item/friday-night-soiree> into your browser to purchase your $30 tickets.

The Friday Night Soiree will feature art by both local and participating Art Fair artists and music by saxophonist Rodney Howell. Cocktail/evening attire preferred.

During the two-day Salado Art Fair, you'll enjoy photography by Kim Clark and sculpture by Eric Slocombe.

Kim Clark Photography

Kim Clark says her photographs "represent the wonder, joy and whimsy of what I see. I want people that view my photographs to see the world through my eyes in that one instant. You're there with me on the adventure enjoying the wonder of discovery with me."

Reading a description of a character in a novel, Clark says it stuck here. "She was described as a 'noticer.' Yes! That's me too! The tucked away gem. The everyday object that is overlooked. A small bit of nature's magic catches my eye and calls my camera to 'notice' and acknowledge."

Clark has taken photographs for year, but says that "after a visit to Scotland I was awakened to the possibilities around me and felt compelled to share my ongoing discoveries."

"I needed to catch any magic I could, to take home with me," she added. "I've returned again and again as there is always new magic to find and that awareness helped me to see that magic in the everyday at home as well.

Eric Slocombe, Sculptor

Growing up in a small town in Colorado, Eric Slocombe had the majestic Rocky Mountains in his own backyard. Here, he spent his childhood experiencing firsthand the natural beauty of the wilderness - hunting, fishing, and camping on the river with his dad.

Even today, he vividly remembers what it felt like as a boy to hear elk bugling in the distance. It is these experiences that Eric brings to his wildlife sculpture. Depicting animals in their natural surroundings, he captures their subtle movements and instinctive reactions.

Eric turned to sculpting while studying art in college and first exhibited his work in 1984. Today, his bronze work is in private

Alexander's Distillery opens upstairs craft cocktail lounge

Alexander's Distillery opened the third floor as a cocktail lounge and bar on July 20, previewing some of the appetizers and hand-crafted specialty cocktails that will be served there.

Alexander's Craft cocktail lounge will feature a full bar, complimented with full wine list and craft beer selections.

"The around the world theme and overall comfort of the lounge is stunning," said Dave Hermann, Director of Development & Culinary Operations, Inn on the Creek Properties. "We are super fortunate to have had the help and guidance of Interior Designer Donna Hauptmann on this project, she did an amazing job and kept us on course."

"Many of our loyal guests and friends have been anticipating this launch and we are thrilled to bring this offering back to Salado," Hermann added.

"We cannot wait," said Trey Golden, Bar Manager, "we are bringing elevated service, cocktails and views of the creek back to you."

Some of the new appetizers you will find upstairs include the Pulled Pork Nachos featuring The Shed's famous pulled pork, the Alexander's Meatloaf nachos topped with pimento cheese queso, sauteed onions and pickled jalapenos and of course Alexander's tasty meatloaf.

Craft drinks include the Panama with aged rum, lime juice and passion fruit, the Zeppelin with rye whiskey and blueberries and ginger and the Monte Cristo with vodka, lemon juice, black currant and champagne.

The craft cocktail lounge is being brought back to life due to guest requests.

The Cocktail lounge serves happy hour specials (half price appetizers and half price on select bottles of wine) Tuesday-Saturday from 4-6 p.m.

Get there early to find the best spot for enjoying a Texas sunset from the third floor deck overlooking Salado Creek.

Of course, you will find the full menu downstairs as well as the Tuesday Night Prix Fixe. Follow Alexander's on Facebook to catch the weekly Prix Fixe special.

Alexander's opens at 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and serves Sunday brunch.

Shop for a Cause

Third Annual Shop For A Cause will benefit the Salado Volunteer Fire Department as well as Variety's Peaceable Kingdom Retreat all-abilities playground project in Salado. The Fire department will be onsite noon-4 p.m. Sat. July 28 with trucks and a water tank for the kids to splash around in. PKRIC will have a petting zoo, yard games and face painting on the grounds of Salado Glassworks as well. Joining Salado Glassworks in donating a portion of their sales made 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Sat. July 28 are these Salado businesses: Sugar Shack candy store, Classics on Main, The Pizza Place, Salado Winery Co., Susan Marie's, 21 Main, Lively Coffee House and Bistro, Potato Wagon, Thingaderas, Barrow Brewing Co. and Magical Treats. (PHOTO BY JESSICA MALL)

Harvest time at Salado Vineyard!

Make your Instagram friends super jealous. Join in the harvest at Salado Vineyard. Pick grapes at the vineyard located at 21724 Hill Road, Salado. Taste them some straight from the vine. Harvest is family friendly. Wear comfortable, cool clothing and tennis shoes. You'll want to bring a hat, sunscreen, water, and bug spray. Salado Winery and Vineyard will provide everything else you need. They start bright and early at 7 a.m. and go until all the grapes are picked. Photographers and curious folks are welcome as well. The Hecho en Queso food truck will be onsite offering breakfast tacos for sale. After the morning harvest, you can follow the grapes to the winery and watch grape processing. The grapes will be de-stemmed and crushed using a machine; then they will be pressed and prepared for fermentation. (COURTESY PHOTO)

Reducing the luck element

Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker

In many hands that appear to depend on the success of a finesse -- ordinarily a 50-50 proposition -- declarer may be able to increase his chances by adopting a different method of play that avoids or at least delays the finesse.

East dealer. Both sides vulnerable.

- NORTH: K 5, K 9 8 5 2, A 9 6, A 9 3
WEST: 10 6 4, 6 4, J 8 7 5 4 3 2, Q
EAST: A Q 9 8 7 3 2, -, K Q 10, K J 5
SOUTH: J, A Q J 10 7 3, 10 8 7 6 4 2

The bidding:

Bidding table showing East 1, South 2, West Pass, North 4.

Opening lead -- four of spades. queen and continues with the ace, which South ruffs. If South then draws two rounds of trump and plays the ace and another club, hoping for a 2-2 split, he goes down.

But this would be the wrong way to play the hand. What he should do after ruffing the spade is lead a heart to the eight, ruff a diamond, cross to the king of hearts, cash the ace of diamonds and ruff dummy's last diamond.

With all the spades and diamonds eliminated from dummy, South now leads a low club and plays low after West produces the queen. West is then forced to return a diamond or a spade, allowing South to discard a club from dummy while he ruffs in his hand and so make the contract.

This method of play caters not only to the clubs being 2-2, but also to a 3-1 division with West holding a singleton honor. Similarly, if West should happen to follow low to the first club lead, the nine would then be played from dummy, endplaying East if he started with a singleton club honor.

Twin-spotted Spiny Lizards sometimes eat dandelions in a pinch

Texas is home to several interesting species of lizards, and a group of lizards known as the spiny lizards are prime examples. Many times overlooked due to their wariness, this group actually has species that are surprisingly large, with some members growing over 1 foot in length. One Trans-Pecos variety, the Twin-spotted Spiny Lizard, is actually the largest spiny lizard found in Texas.

The Twin-spotted Spiny Lizard (Sceloporus bimaculosus) is one variety of ten species of spiny lizards that reside here in Texas, and like most varieties, it has a somewhat limited range in this state. It can be observed in the eastern Permian Basin westward throughout the Trans-Pecos region. Curiously enough, it appears to be absent from the Davis mountains. Whether it is truly absent in that area, or whether its occurrence just has not been documented is unclear. Outside of Texas it can be viewed throughout southern New Mexico westward to southeastern Arizona southward over the international boundary into the Mexican state of Durango.

Members of this genus are often called "tree-lizards" or "fence-lizards" by those who are observant enough to witness them, and this form is found almost exclusively in semi-wooded areas in the Chihuahuan Desert scrublands. It will frequently utilize wood-piles, as well as rock piles and even packrat nests, as shelter from the elements and from predators.

The Twin-spotted Spiny Lizard is the larger members of its genus in this state; adult males frequently achieving lengths just under 13 inches. It is quite spinose; its scales along the dorsal area being very large and spiny. The background coloration of this reptile varies from tan, brown, or dark gray. As the name infers, there are typically 2 rows of spots that run lengthwise down the back, although this characteristic is occasionally muted in large adult males. There is a large, distinctive black wedge at the base of each shoulder that can be used to delineate it from the other species of spiny lizards that occur in the same area. In some individuals, there are random blue, orange, and yellow scales that appear sporadically along the sides, particularly during the breeding season.

The belly is usually cream colored and males have two dark blue patches on either side of their belly, as well as on the throat. The tail is twice as long as the body. Just like other members of its genus, its tail can be utilized as a defensive strategy. If the tail is grabbed by a predator it is easily severed from the lizard. This defensive move is known as autotomy. This is where the tail comes off rather easily, and while the potential predator is pre-occupied with the still moving tail, the lizard can crawl away to safety. Over time, the lizard will regenerate a new tail, although this new one is never as long or as colorfully banded as the original.

Twin-spotted Spiny Lizards, like other lizard species, are "cold-blooded", or ectothermic. This means that they do not generate heat from the inside of their body, as mammals and birds do, but rather are dependent on outside sources for heating and cooling. They are primarily active during the summer months, but can be seen occasionally during the winter months on warm days when temperatures achieve a level that allows activity.

This species of spiny lizard is one of the few varieties that is not strictly carnivorous, although its primary food items include grasshoppers, wasps, and beetles. Smaller lizards will occasionally be consumed as well. However, recent studies have shown that they will also sporadically feed upon flowers of dandelions and other plants when the availability of insect prey is compromised.

This species are egg-layers, and after mating, the female will lay a clutch of up to a dozen eggs. These eggs are laid in a nest that the mother will dig out in areas with sufficient humidity. Some larger females can lay up to three clutches of eggs in a summer. After approximately sixty days of isolated incubation, the 2 inch long young emerge prepared to fend for and care for themselves. These delicate versions of the parents arrive in the world looking like the adults, save for a less obscure dorsal pattern.

Twin-spotted Spiny Lizards are quite numerous within the boundaries of their selected habitat and range. They are also extremely wary, and at the first hint of danger from a perceived predator they will dash for cover in the nearest rock pile, wood pile, or other shelter. They are best viewed using binoculars and/or with a camera that has a strong zoom lens.
