

First public hearing on budget Sept. 6

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Salado aldermen will conduct a public hearing 6:30 p.m. Sept. 6 at the municipal building on the proposed budget for 2018-19 and the proposed tax rate of $0.63760 per $100 valuation.

Village of Salado in August filed a proposed budget that will raise property taxes by $0.0914 per $100 evaluation. The tax increase will pay the debt service on the remaining $2.2 million in bonds that the Village issued earlier this year for the sewer construction.

On Sept. 6, the Village will conduct the first of two public hearings on the proposed tax rate of $0.63760 per $100 valuation.

The Village will conduct the second public hearing on the proposed tax rate at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 13 at the Municipal Building.

The Village will then adopt the budget and set the tax rate at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 20.

The Village can adopt a tax rate that is lower than the proposed rate, but cannot adopt a rate higher than the proposed rate.

The proposed tax rate is $0.0914 higher than the current tax rate of $0.5362. It is $0.1014 higher than the effective tax rate of $0.5223. The effective tax rate is the tax rate needed to generate the same amount of revenue as the previous year.

The proposed rate is lower than the rollback tax rate of $0.6376.

BoA to hear presentation on Salado Vista WWTP during Sept. 6 meeting

Aldermen will hear a presentation from Dirk Aaron with the Clearwater Underground Water Conservation District on Sept. 6 concerning a proposed 250,000 gallon per day wastewater treatment plant to be built south of Salado.

The Village may join State Representative Scott Cosper in requesting a public hearing on the proposed treatment plant. It may also add its comments to those that have already been submitted regarding the discharge location for the plant.

The treatment plant will serve a future Mixed Use Development on 220 acres of property south of Salado near the intersection of Hackberry Road and I-35.

The proposed new Texas

The proposed tax rate will generate $5,863.00 more in maintenance and operations revenue. It will generate $171,895.00 more in debt service (I&S) revenue than the previous year.

The Village issued the remaining $2.2 million in bonds of the $10.5 million approved by voters in 2014.

The annual debt service payment on the total bonds issued for the construction of the sewer system will be $748,126 for 2018-19.

Of that, $430,000 will be principal on the debt and $318,126 will be interest.

The total debt service payment in 2017-18 was $576,231 with $345,000 being principal and $231,231 being interest.

The proposed operating budget estimates $1.1 million in revenues, an increase of just over $50,000 from last year. The increase comes chiefly from growing sales tax, a slight increase in property tax revenues and an estimated $13,500 increase in fines and forfeitures.

Expenditures will total $1.1 million and are just $1,368 more than last year's operating expenses.

"This is a tight budget," Village administrator Don Ferguson told aldermen last week.

It cuts administrative expenses by $38,807.27. Developmental Services increase $2,592.18. Public safety increases almost 8 percent $31,236.60. Parks increase $2,524.00. Streets increase $3,043.60.

Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (TPDES) Permit No. WQ0015664001 is for a wastewater treatment facility to be located 3,530 feet east and 2,330 feet north of the intersection of Hackberry Road and I-35.

In addition to the request for a public hearing on the proposed TPDES permit, Clearwater Underground Water Conservation District and a hydrogeologist who has worked in the Northern Segment of the Edwards Balcones Fault Zone aquifer for more than 25 years have both provided comments to TCEQ expressing concern about the discharge location and its potential impact on the Salado Salamander and the water quality of Salado Creek.

Developer to give Village update on Sanctuary project

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Robert Sulaski will give aldermen an update on Sanctuary development at their 6:30 p.m. Sept. 6 meeting at the Salado municipal building.

While the Village of Salado will be ready to provide sewer service to the property by January 2019, no work has been done on the Sanctuary development of commercial, hotel, entertainment, multi-family and single family construction, other than the demolition of the Wildfire Arena.

In 2015, aldermen and Sanctuary developers signed Master Development Agreement, Conceptual Master Plan, Land Uses Master Plan, Sewer Services Agreement, Annexation agreement and a Chapter 380 Economic Development agreement.

The Land Uses Master Plan outlines the following general use categories and specifications, which can be amended by as much as 20 percent without further approval:

- Commercial (e.g. office, retail, restaurants, etc.): 515,000 heated sq. ft.
- Entertainment Venue: 40,000 heated sq. ft.
- Lodging: 355 rooms.
- Multi-family (multi-story including senior housing and rental): 575 units.
- Multi-Family (for sale including condos, townhouse and duplexes): 130 units.
- Single Family (for sale): 364 units.
- Parking Garage: 500 spaces

The Master Development Agreement also approves the road design standards identified in the Conceptual Master Plan. It includes roadway connections to the following Village roads: Royal Street, College Hill Drive, Baines Street, Santa Maria Road, San Jose Road, Salado Oaks Drive, Main Street and FM 2268.

The Design Guidelines referred to in the Master Development Agreement states that the Developer will provide design guidelines to the "Village of Salado prior to the first preliminary plat."

Billy Hanks, owner of the 300+ acres that will become Sanctuary told Saladoans in late 2015 that the architectural design for the Sanctuary will be based on the historic architecture of four European areas: Rosenberg, Germany, Bruges, Belgium, Madrid, Spain and central Portugal.

"It will be utter romance," he said, "the best of the best in Europe. We sent architects and designers and land planners around Europe to bring back these ideas. We have sketches of door handles, hinges, even the depths of window spaces."

Hanks said that the property will be developed keeping historic architecture and feel in mind. He pointed out that there will be 14 parks on the property and a walking/hiking/bike trail along a stream running through the property.

At that time, the Sanctuary group had preliminary drawings of a 90-room boutique hotel that borrows designs from the Bruges, as well as the Biltmore Estate in North Carolina.

The hotel, along with a senior center, commercial center and a cultural center, will be built in Phase I of the project, according to Hanks in late 2015.

Streets will have the look and feel of old European cities. "There won't be curbs and gutters and wide streets like we have in the states," he said. Instead, they streets will feature cobblestone. "They will be safe to meet the standards needed for fire and police service," Hanks said.

The Chapter 380 Economic Development agreement outlines 15 years of tax rebates for commercial properties. It states that the owners will receive rebates equal "to the annual Property Tax Receipts actually received by the Village associated with such development (if any) less the amount of Property Tax Receipts in the Base Tax Year for the property associated with such development," multiplied by 50 percent.

At the time the agreement was signed, then-city manager Kim Foutz said that the tax rebate does not apply to the debt service tax for the sewer plant. Properties in Sanctuary will pay the full debt service tax.

The property taxes will be rebated for a period of 15 years "from the recording date of the last Subdivision as defined by the Village of Salado Subdivision Ordinance No. 2009.02 or the 15th anniversary date of the last certificate of occupancy issues for a commercial building, whichever is the last to occur."

The Chapter 380 agreement also includes Rollback Grants for periodic economic development grants "equal to 100 percent of the Rollback Taxes to offset the portion of the Owner's cost of development of the Land." Rollback Taxes are defined in the Chapter 380 agreement as "the tax and/or penalty assessed against the Land, or operation thereof, as the result of the removal of agricultural and/or open space land designation(s) for the Land."

Additionally, the agreements include verbiage concerning Future Phases in which it states that the Village "shall look favorably in good faith on extending the existing economic incentives" for the future.

Phase Two Entertainment District which will consist of an approximately 1,800 to 2,500 seat additional music venue and multistory parking garage. However, the agreement is not binding on this future development.

The agreements signed by the Mayor Skip Blacett and Billie Hanks, Jr. in late 2015 include a Tourism Marketing Agreement in which 50 percent of the hotel occupancy taxes generated by the Sanctuary will be rebated to the development to promote the property for overnight stays. The Tourism Marketing Agreement shall "continue for a period of 15 calendar years from the Opening Date of the last Venue opened to the public by the Owners."

The Village annexed the Sanctuary properties in February 2016 and later created Planned Development Districts 2, and 3.

PDD No. 2 is 57.985 +/- acres zoned as PDD-C (Planned Development District Commercial), generally located at the southeast corner of FM 2268 and I-35 frontage road.

PDD No.3 is 53.922 +/- acres to PDD-MU (Planned Development Mixed Use), generally located at the northeast corner of FM 2268 and I-35 frontage road and 197.265 +/- acres to PDD-MU (Planned Development Mixed Use), generally located at the corner of Salado Oaks Drive and FM 2268, and the 700 block of Royal Street Drive.

An Open Exchange of Ideas

The Markets

The S&P 500 Stock Index (SPX) continued its celebration of higher earnings, closing out the week above the 2900 line at 2901.52. It was higher on Thursday but turned in a gain of 0.93 percent for the week, raising the year-to-date gain to 8.52 percent and the one-year gain at 17.16 percent. The benchmark 10-year U.S. Treasury bobbed around during the week, first up on news of the Mexico NAFTA announcement, then down as complications began to arise. It wound up finishing the week exactly where it started, yielding 2.858 percent, about 7/10 of one percent higher than a year ago.

West Texas Crude rose a bit over 2 percent for the week, closing at $69.90; up about 40 percent from a year ago. Gold was down about half a percent for the week at $1,206.80, continuing its slide. It is now down over 9 percent this year and about 11 percent for 52 weeks. The WSJ Dollar Index, in the reverse of gold, rose 0.34 percent for the week and is up 4.23 percent this year. It is up 5.3 percent against the Chinese Yuan so far this year.

The Economy

The biggest news this week was that Mexico and the U.S. have agreed on an update to the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) but no agreement has been reached with Canada. President Trump had set a Friday deadline for Canada to meet U.S. demands or be kicked out of NAFTA. Enough Republicans and almost all Democrats in the Senate have pledged to oppose a Mexico-only agreement that it is unlikely to pass the Senate

Market & Economic Update

By Jeffrey W. McClure

unless Canada is included. The summary released by the White House on the Mexico-U.S. agreement suggests there will be little substantive change between the old NAFTA and the new version. North American content in tariff-free automobile imports was raised from 62.5 percent to 75 percent and more content was required to be made in North America by workers paid at least $16 per hour but little else was announced. Missing was any provision for Mexico to pay for a border wall or other large-scale changes. Oddly, the announced changes seemed to be a bit better for Mexico and labor unions and will likely raise consumer prices.

The Commerce Department announced that overall corporate profits, including non-publicly traded companies, rose 16.1 percent in the quarter that ended in June from last year, but tax receipts declined 33 percent because of the tax cuts. That was the highest quarterly growth in overall corporate earnings since 2012. The hoped-for economic growth has indeed shown up, but the decline in tax revenue is substantially larger than was forecast when the tax cuts were passed. The question remains open whether increased growth will generate enough government revenue to offset the cuts. Economists continue to forecast overwhelming deficits while the administration is optimistic.

Commerce also raised its estimate of second-quarter annualized GDP growth from 4.1 percent to 4.2 percent. Before you get too excited, back in 2014 we had another growth spurt higher than this one, but that growth was not fueled by a tax cut. It was also followed a bit over a year later by a substantial economic growth slow-down in 2015. Moody's High-Frequency tracking estimate of third-quarter annualized GDP growth is running at 3.7 percent with declining growth rates in following quarters. The experiment continues and a year or two from now we will know the results.

Still, there is no questioning that this economy is running at full steam. For the month of July, wages rose at an annualized rate of 3.6 percent and household spending rose at 4.8 percent. Consumer confidence rose as did inflation as the Personal Consumption Expenditures (PCE) price index was up 2.3 percent from last July, the fastest growth since 2012. That inflation and spending numbers pretty much lock in two more rate increases from the Federal Reserve this year putting the likely end-of-year short-term interest rate at about 2.5 percent. This is where the Federal Reserve Board once again will either succeed or fail. If they raise rates too fast or too far, they get the blame if we slump into recession but if they move too slowly or stop raising rates too soon, inflation can get out of hand with unpleasant results.

For bus riders, greatest risk may be getting on & off

For millions of students nationwide, the school day begins and ends with a trip on a school bus. Oddly enough, the greatest risk is not in riding the bus, but getting on or off.

The following information is from the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) website: <https://www.txdot.gov/diver/kids-teens/school-bus-safety.html>

When driving in neighborhoods with school zones:

- Watch for children walking in the street, especially if there are no sidewalks in your neighborhood.
- Watch for children playing and congregating near bus stops.
- Children arriving late for the bus may dart into the street without looking for traffic.
- Yellow flashing lights indicate that the bus is preparing to stop to load or unload children. Motorists should slow down and prepare to stop their vehicles.
- Red flashing lights and extended stop signs indicate that the bus has stopped, and that children are getting on or off. You must stop your car and wait until the red lights stop flashing, the extended stop sign is withdrawn, and the bus begins moving before you start driving again.

More than a million children and teens depend on buses to get them safely to and from the more than 9,000 Texas schools every day. They also depend on motorists to know the law and drive safely around

by Dr. Michael Novotny

Motorists and children learn safety rules regarding school buses loading and unloading school buses.

Texas School Bus Law

- Stop for flashing red lights on a school bus, regardless of which direction you're headed.
- Continue your trip once the bus has moved, the flashing lights stop flashing or the bus driver signals it's okay to pass.
- Violations can lead to a $1,000 fine.

Safety Tips for Motorists

- Obey the posted speed limit.
- Fines double in school zones.

- Keep an eye on children gathered at bus stops.
- Watch for children who might dart across the street to catch the bus.

Tips for Students

Respect your school bus driver and follow these rules:

- Stand far back when you are waiting for the bus.
- Sit still so the driver can pay attention to the road.
- Look both ways if you have to cross the street after getting off the bus, or wait for the driver to signal it's safe to cross the street.

The Spirit of 1968

Rich Lowry

The Battle of Michigan Avenue is finally over, and it was won by the protesters. The lopsided fight between anti-war demonstrators and the brutish police force of Chicago's Democratic mayor Richard Daley the night of Aug. 28, 1968, in the midst of the Democratic convention, was a debacle for the left.

The protests didn't stop the Vietnam War or the presumptive Democratic nominee, Hubert Humphrey, the sitting vice president who was much too establishment for the radicals.

The event, broadcast on TV -- indeed, unfolding right in front of the hotel where reporters were staying -- rent the Democratic Party asunder and effectively threw away any chance of beating Richard Nixon that year.

The New Left subsequently fell apart, and splintered several times over, until a faction resorted to lunatic violence (a return to Chicago in 1969 for a "Days of Rage" rampage through the streets was the prelude to more serious criminality).

Beginning in 1968, the Republicans won five of six presidential elections, and the man who put a stop to the run, Bill Clinton, was a Southern moderate who did everything he reasonably could to disassociate himself from any radicalism.

It's hard to think of a direct action that more directly backfired than the Chicago protests. But the passage of several decades tends to alter judgments. So it is that, 50 years later, the Spirit of 1968 is in the ascendancy on the left and in the Democratic Party, which is moving toward a more open embrace of democratic socialism than perhaps could have been imagined by the protesters during those fevered summer nights in 1968.

Now, much of the Democratic Party -- certainly its rising figures -- wants to cater to and capture the energy of the activists of the left rather than resist them. There is still an establishment of the Democratic Party. The center of gravity has shifted, though, as labor institutions that once were culturally conservative and staunchly anti-communist have faded in significance, and true machine politicians like Mayor Daley have all but disappeared. This doesn't mean that antifa -- a fringe comparable to the Students for a Democratic Society in the late 1960s

-- is about to take over the party, but there's very little check on its leftward movement, accelerated every day by the reaction against Donald Trump.

The obsessions of the New Left with race and gender, which came to define life on college campuses in the decades after the ferment of the late 1960s, have now been fully absorbed into Democratic thinking and argot.

The primary victory of Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez, a 28-year-old democratic socialist, over Rep. Joe Crowley, a 19-year incumbent and Irish-American pol who is a recognizable figure from William Daley's party, crystallized the change that is afoot.

In 1968, the Democratic convention hall was fortified against the radicals by a steel fence topped with barbed wire, and guarded by thousands of cops and National Guardsmen. In 2020, presumably no such exertions will be necessary. The left will own the place lock, stock and barrel -- because the protesters who got tear-gassed, beaten and bloodied on Michigan Avenue that notorious August night, in the fullness of time, prevailed.

Schools need resources, not 'school resource officers'

By LIDWINA BELL
OTHERWORDS

After a school year marred by shootings, districts across the country have responded this year with calls for more "school resource officers" in classrooms. As a result, many students are returning to schools that feel more like prisons — and in fact form a quick pipeline to real prisons.

School resource officers, or SROs, are armed law enforcement officers who police hallways and classrooms. They often arrest students for minor disciplinary issues, as a new Institute for Policy Studies report called Students Under Siege explains. These officers are part of the larger school-to-prison pipeline that pushes students out of school and behind bars.

The very students SROs are supposed to protect are often the ones most harmed by them. In addition to referring kids to the juvenile justice system, SROs have been repeatedly filmed violently mistreating black and brown girls in particular.

That's why many students say SROs aren't the answer to school shootings.

At the March for Our Lives, Edna Chavez, a student from Los Angeles, spoke out against adding more SROs: "Instead of making black and brown students feel safe," she complained, "they continue to profile and criminalize us."

Chavez called for a different approach. "We should have a department specializing in restorative justice," she said. "We need to tackle the root causes of the issues we face, and come to an understanding on how to resolve them."

Restorative justice (or RJ) treats incidents in which people are harmed (like, say, school fights) as requiring healing rather than punishment. It focuses on the actual harm that occurred and the need for healing, rather than on the breaking of a rule.

When an incident arises, the parties come together for a restorative circle that includes students, staff, community members, and a restorative justice practitioner. They address the harms together and try to arrive at a solution.

A growing number of school districts nationwide, from Oakland, California to Washington, D.C., are implementing these practices.

When there's a conflict, participants meet to discuss the circumstances, identify the support they need, and consent to a healing process. They talk until they arrive at a mutual understanding of why the harm occurred and agree on steps toward addressing it to everyone's satisfaction.

Ta-Biti Gibson, a restorative justice coordinator in Oakland, told NPR how restorative justice changes the way students approach conflict in his school: "Instead of throwing a punch, they're asking for a circle, they're backing off and asking to mediate it peacefully with words."

When two students got into a fight at Gibson's school, the students "circled up" and agreed to write and put up anti-bullying posters, participate in after-school service, and do joint morning announcements with tips on how students can get along better.

At the Duke Ellington School of the Arts in Washington, D.C., this restorative process is led by the students themselves.

By using a restorative approach, the students aren't only held accountable for their actions — they get an opportunity to contribute to a safer and more inclusive school community. This opportunity is missed when SROs get involved.

Resource officers are a resource only by name. What would it look like if our schools were actually resourced?

In a well-resourced school, students are safe because staff can invest in their well-being. "Accountability" isn't separated from a student's ability to heal, thrive, and uplift the whole community. And students don't wind up in jail or with a record for routine school incidents.

One SRO can cost up to $97,000. Instead of hiring officers that see students as criminals, schools can use that money for real school resources — mental health workers and restorative justice practitioners, to name a few — who build students up rather than push them out.

COTTON SHEPPERD

Cotton (Clyde Martin) Shepperd, 79, of Salado lost his battle with cancer and passed away Saturday September 1 at home surrounded by his family.

A seventh generation Texan, Cotton was born in Salado, Texas on February 27, 1939, the fourth son of Roy T. and Lois Shepperd. He was baptized in the Salado Baptist Church and attended Salado schools from the first grade until he graduated from Salado High School in 1957. His parents, siblings and grandsons graduated from SHS with 3 grandchildren and 1 great grandchild currently continuing the tradition. Cotton was a founding member of the Salado School Alumni Association.

After high school, Cotton had his first career driving a truck for Wilson Art for 4+ years where he logged over 1 million miles. In 1967, Cotton moved to Austin to go into business with his brother, Lee Roy, as a car wholesaler. For the next 30 years, he and his family lived in Austin, Oak Hill and Dripping Springs while he continued this business.

During their time in Austin, Cotton and Lee Roy were members of the PRC&A and competed in team roping throughout Texas and the southwest. In his spare time, Cotton loved hunting, golfing with his buddies, playing cards and watching football.

Upon his retirement, Cotton moved back home to Salado, where he started his final career of raising grandchildren. It is impossible to list all of the people, especially kids, that Cotton influenced. From raising his younger sister for 10 years, to helping strangers & kids, to opening his home and heart and providing a living example of how to be a man of strength and integrity.

Cotton was preceded in death by his parents, Roy T Shepperd and Lois Mae Watson Shepperd, and his three older brothers, William Ausie, Lee Roy and Harold Wayne.

He is survived by the love of his life for 54 years, Elaine Berry Shepperd; Stephanie and spouse David Rember; Buddy (Craig Martin) Shepperd and spouse Kelli; Pamela and spouse Damon McCown; Grandchildren Abby Rember, Tiffani Neumann, Cory Shepperd, Evan Shepperd, Cameron Shepperd, Kiernan McCown, Malachi Ward, Hannah Humphrey, Christopher Humphrey; great grandchildren Hunter Fulfer, Brynnli Black and Brooklyn Black; his sister Nancy Shepperd Carter and spouse Skip Carter; Extended family: Tim and Sarah Humphrey; Lucas Wooley; Austin Jackson, Andrew Cosper; Jacob and Josh Peschel, Dustin Meredith and all the other young men & women who passed through their home.

Services for Cotton will be held at the First Baptist Church of Salado on Saturday September 8th with Rev. Billy Johnson officiating. Visitation will begin at 11am, Service at 12:30pm with burial to follow immediately at Salado Cemetery. Services are in the care of Broecker Funeral Home of Salado.

In lieu of flowers, please honor Cotton's memory by donating to the Salado School Alumni Assoc, PO-Box 791, Salado, TX 76571. PAID OBITUARY

Troy escapes Eagles in fourth

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Momentum is a fickle thing.

One moment, you've got it. A moment later, and like the seeds of a dandelion, it is gone.

Salado Eagles found themselves in that position as they lined up for a short 25-yard fourth quarter field goal attempt to take the lead in their season opener Aug. 31 at University of Mary Hardin Baylor Crusader Stadium.

Annual rival Troy Trojans fell on the muffed snap to the holder and took over the ball with 7:46 and 77 yards between them and the Eagles' goal line and a slim one-point lead.

If the Eagles defense forced a turnover or a quick three-and-out, Salado would still have a chance to take the lead.

But Troy took advantage of the change in fate and drove three-quarters of the length of the field in 16 plays. Workhorse running back Zach Hrbacek broke a tackle in the backfield and jetted toward the end zone with 34 seconds left on a fourth and goal.

It was his final carry of the game in a 29-carry night for 203 yards and two touchdowns.

Beau Workman converted the two-point try for Troy to put the game out of reach and notch their 15-6 victory in this annual season-opening rivalry that is sure to be rematched in 2019.

It was a ground game throughout the 48 minutes of play as Troy had 192 yards on the ground on 35 touches. Troy quarterback Riley Cospers completed two of his seven pass attempts with catches by Ben Presley for 15 yards and by Workman for 14 yards and first downs. Caleb Self intercepted a pass for Salado and Tate Harvey intercepted a pass.

The Eagles spread the wealth with their ground game as Tate Harvey and Connor Cook both had 59 and 56 yards respectively. Harvey's came on 12 carries while Cook's came on 15 carries.

Thanks to the game-long run of 72-yards, Hunter Turk led the Eagles with 92 yards on just seven carries.

Turk's run set up the Eagles' only touchdown of the game. After the Eagles forced Troy to punt from midfield, Salado took over at its own 22 yard line. Turk took the ball through the Troy defense on a third and five before being dragged down at the one yard line by Cospers to prevent the TD. An offensive penalty moved Salado back to the six yard line and Salado pushed to the three before Harvey dove in for the score 1:53 left in the third. The kick went wide right and Salado trailed 7-6 going into the fourth.

Salado held Troy on the ensuing kick off. Thanks to flags for holding and motion and a quarterback sack by Tommie Barker on a third-and-27, Salado forced Troy to punt from deep in its own territory.

Harvey returned the punt 17 yards to the Troy 38. The Eagles then took four minutes to drive 30 yards to set up for the fourth down and two field goal try at the Trojan 8. The Eagles were hampered by back-to-back false starts, an incomplete pass and a fumbled snap before Harvey dashed 21 yards through the Troy defense on a third-and-19 to give Salado new life at the Trojan 27. Harvey also gave the Eagles another first down during the drive on a nine yard third down run.

The teams went scoreless through almost 23 minutes of play.

With 3:38 left in the first half, the Trojans took over at their own 40 yard line after forcing the Eagles to punt from their 23. After a 12 yard jaunt, Hrbacek blew through the Eagles defense for a 35 yard touchdown with 1:11 left to play in the first half. The kick was good for the 7-0 lead that they took to the lockers.

TFGA Weekend welcomes visitors to enjoy music

Salado will host the Texas Fingerstyle Guitar Association Weekend Sept. 7 - 9. The weekend of jam sessions, concerts and master classes is free and open to the public.

The Texas Fingerstyle Guitar Association (TFGA) meetings might be better described as a musical 'gathering' since the format is very informal. Members take turns playing for one another, teaching new licks, sharing musical arrangements, and discussing happenings in the fingerstyle guitar world. The sessions are open and you can drop in to listen as you please.

Workshops

TFGA Sessions will be held at the Salado Museum and College Park at 423 S

Main. Sessions will be held 3 - 7 p.m. on Sept. 7 and 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. on Sept. 8.

TFGA featured artist Richard Smith will hold a workshop, demonstration and performance at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday.

An Open Mic Session will be held 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Salado Civic Center Gazebo.

Featured Artist

Featured artist Richard Smith will perform Sept. 8 from 7 - 8:30 p.m. in the Meadows Room of Salado Civic Center at 601 North Main Street.

Smith is one of the rare artists with such mastery of his instrument he excels in the performance of any genre of music. His shows not only include traditional fingerstyle tunes made famous by Chet Atkins and Merle Travis, but ranges into Bach, blues, and the Beatles. His repertoire includes classical music and gypsy jazz, show tunes, pop tunes, and movie scores. Smith is one of the pre-eminent performers of the incredible guitar music of Jerry Reed.

When not working in his recording studio in Nashville, or touring with his cellist and vocalist wife Julie Adams, or performing with The Hot Club of Nashville, Smith travels the world as a solo artist. Recent tours include Europe, South America, Japan, Australia and throughout the United States.

Fingerstyle

Fingerstyle guitar playing, also sometimes called fingerpicking or thumb-picking has its roots in the western Kentucky coal country. It was first made famous by Merle Travis and then refined by Chet Atkins. Although there are many variations, the basic technique is for the guitarist to play a bass line with the thumb, while simultaneously playing the melody, chords and harmony with the fingers. It is a very versatile technique that can be and is used for gospel tunes and jazz standards, traditional songs and show tunes, rock ballads, blues, and country songs. It is primarily a solo presentation and is very challenging.

Updated event information will be posted to the TFGA info FaceBook page throughout the weekend. TFGA Weekend is cosponsored by the Texas Fingerstyle Guitar Association and Salado Tourism Bureau.

The event will be held 4 - 8 p.m., Sept. 22 on the front lawn of Salado Wine Seller, 841 N. Main St.

This year's Harvest Festival & Grape Stomp is a family-friendly event benefiting new construction efforts for Salado Montessori.

The event will include a grape-stomping competition, a Wear Your Whites contest (bridal gowns, white suits, etc), an I Love Lucy look-alike contest, local vendors, live-music and a hog-roast by Central Texas Chefs Collaborative served with all the fixin's.

Salado Montessori is a non-profit Primary School that aims to inspire a love of learning in each child. The school has grown so rapidly, in its first year serving the community, that new space is needed.

For the grape stomp, roughly 50 teams of two will compete every 15 minutes. The team who produces the most juice wins bragging rights.

Central Texas Chefs is a consortium of local chefs who come together to support the local culinary culture. Salado Winery Company will be serving locally made wines by the glass and bottle.

Vendors are being chosen with specific focus on handmade and/or sustainable products.

This event will take place outdoors rain or shine and is in tandem with the Salado Chocolate and Wine Weekend.

For more information, stomp rules and Vendor agreements visit the saladwinery.com blog.

Teams of two will compete in the Salado Winery Company Grape Stomp during the annual Harvest Festival held Sept. 22 on the front lawn of Salado Wine Seller. The team that produces the most juice wins. Get your time slot with your ticket at Eventbrite.com. Other contests include a Wear Your Whites contest and an I Love Lucy Look-alike Contest.

Farsighted Defense

Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker

Looking at all four hands, it's not easy to see how South can go down at four hearts. His only losers seem to be two diamonds and a trump. Nevertheless, the fact remains that West found a way to defeat the contract.

After cashing the K-A of diamonds, West pondered how his side might get another trick in addition to his ace of trumps. He knew from his partner's failure to play high-low on the first two diamond leads that there was no chance East could overruff dummy on a third diamond lead.

He also realized from the 27 points visible in his own hand and dummy that South had to have virtually every missing high card to account for his opening bid. Yet, despite all this, West saw a slender ray of hope, and he proceeded to exploit it.

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The suit he focused on was the trump suit itself. He recognized that if his partner had the 10-x, J-x or Q-x of hearts, there was a sure way to defeat the contract.

So at trick three, West made the highly unusual play of a third diamond, deliberately handing declarer a ruff-and-discard. South trumped the diamond in dummy, discarded a club and then led a trump to his jack.

It was now that West's farsighted defense paid off. He won the jack with the ace and returned a fourth round of diamonds, which East cooperatively ruffed with the ten. Declarer overruffed with the queen and continued with the king, but East showed out, and West's nine became the setting trick.

West was not, so far as we know, a professional magician, but he certainly pulled a rabbit out of the hat on this deal.

Collared Peccary

Collared Peccary prefer prickly pear and mesquite beans over grubs

With west Texas being the featured area of the Wild West in books, movies, and lore, it is no surprise that many of the creatures that inhabit this area are world renowned. Sometimes, the legendary animals are misnamed, as is the case with the Collared Peccary, or the animal known to most as the Javelina.

The Collared Peccary

Wild About Texas

Michael Price

(Pecari tajacu) can be observed throughout the west-ern and southern halves of Texas with somewhat regu-larity. Formally, its range extended to the Brazos River Valley to the east and the Red River Valley to the north. Habitat destruction and genetic fragmentation, as well the introduction of the feral pig have caused population declines in those regions. Population den-sities in their current range appear to be somewhat stable.

This pig-like species pre-fers to live in rocky areas such as dry arroyos and canyons, although it can also be seen in dense thicket areas of prickly pear or scrub oak, as well as grasslands and arid wood-lands.

Short and stubby, adults of this species of ungulate stand approximately thirty inches at the shoulder, while the body averages be-tween thirty-four and forty inches in length. The tail is minuscule, only achiev-ing a length of one-half inch. The body fur is coarse and colored black and grayish. Along the spine there is a dark stripe that extends from the neck to the tail. Upon close inspection, a whitish collar can be seen across the shoulder area. The snout is elongated and pig-like, and there are four hoofed toes on the front feet but only three on the back feet. These are moderately heavy animals, with adults averaging somewhere be-tween twenty-eight and fifty-five pounds.

Collared Peccaries are highly social animals, of-ten living in bands ranging from five to several dozen. These herds are usually ac-tive in the early morning or late afternoon hours, al-though it is not uncommon to see them along roadsides in the middle of the night while in appropriate habi-tat. The boundaries of their home range are marked by a musk gland, and are very distinctive in odor.

Primarily herbivorous, this species will feed on various cacti, as well as an occasional grub or terres-trial insect. Stomach con-tent studies have revealed that prickly pear cactus is a staple, and mesquite beans, lechuguilla, and sotol are also consumed with regu-larity. Unlike feral pigs that root up items out of the ground, peccaries instead will push items around the surface, rarely if ever actually digging.

Peccaries are the only native ungulate in North America that breeds year-round. Litter sizes vary from one to five, although two young is usually the result of the breeding. Ges-tation is generally about five months, and just before giving birth, the female will separate herself from the herd. Once born, the one pound young look like the parents except rather than gray-brown, their fur varies in color from reddish to yellowish. Upon birth, the young are unable to walk for the first few days but once they are mobile, they follow their mother and re-turn to the herd.

Peccaries are the subjects of exaggerated tales of root-ing up plant-life to the point of being unsustainable, as well as being fierce enough to attack and severely injure humans. It is for this rea-son that many are wanton-ly killed by inexperienced hunters. This killing is generally due to fear rather than for food or sport. While it is true that dogs are occasionally injured or killed by peccaries, in every instance it is the dog who is the instigator of the con-flict, and the peccary is just doing what any animal will do by defending itself. This animal is completely harm-less to people, livestock, and the land.

Hang Out with Murphy at Salado Library Sept 8

Salado Public Library will host Hang Out with Murphy 10 a.m. on Sept. 8. Murphy is a certified ther-apy dog owned by Chelsea Loafman of Salado. He has specifically been trained to have children read to him.

Visiting children can take turns reading to Murphy. Studies have shown that some children benefit from reading to a pet partner. Therapy dogs have been as-sisting children in reading for over 30 years in libra-ries and after-school cen-ters across the country. A 2004 study from the Early Childhood Education Jour-nal states that "Research has shown the presence of a relaxed canine compan-ion can reduce stress, lower heart rate, and reduce other observable signs of anxi-ety."

Bell County Museum will present "Vaquero: Genesis of the Texas Cowboy," an exhibition created by the Wittliff Collections at the Alkek Library, Texas State University-San Marcos beginning Sept. 8.

In the early 1970s, noted Texas historian Joe Frantz offered Bill Wittliff a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity—to visit a ranch in northern Mexico where the vaqueros still worked cattle in traditional ways. Wittliff photographed the vaqueros as they went about daily chores that had changed little since the first Mexican cowherders learned to work cattle from a horse's back. Wittliff captured a way of life that now exists only in memory and in the photographs included in this exhibition.

The exhibition features photographs with bilingual narrative text that reveal the muscle, sweat and drama that went into roping a calf in thick brush or breaking a wild horse in the saddle.

"The vaquero tradition had a lasting impact on cowboy culture in Bell County, the state of Texas, and across the entire Southwest," said Executive Director Coleman Hampton. "We are excited to share the stories of Hispanic and Tejano communities, including their past and present relevance in Bell County.

The museum will continue exploring these important themes through programs and exhibits into the future," he continued.

The exhibition will include authentic vaquero artifacts loaned from Belton resident Arthur Resa, including: vaquero saddle, chaps, spurs, weaponry, and ceremonial objects. These authentic vaquero artifacts will add a layer of depth to this story that highlights contributions from the Hispanic community, and sheds light on the origins of the Texas cowboy.

The exhibition will be available to the public from September 8 to December 29, 2019.
