

P&Z board fails to meet quorum: property owners wait on projects

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Two property owners in the Salado Historic District will have to wait until the Planning & Zoning Board can set another date to consider their additions to existing property after the five-member P&Z Board failed to have a quorum on Sept. 25.

Tyler Fletcher at 945 N. Main St. is seeking permission to add on to the residential portion of his building. Fletcher provided three pages of drawings and paperwork for the addition, which will be cedar with a metal roof to match the existing structure. Windows and doors will be selected from the applicant's supply of "antique" doors and windows.

Barrow Brewing Co. will also have to wait for a decision on their proposed auxiliary building, an 8x10 Tuff Shed to be placed in the northeast corner of the property at 108 Royal St.

P&Z member K.D. Hill was one of two members who showed, and would have to recuse herself from voting on the Barrow Brewing Co. proposal as she is co-owner of the property there.

The permits must be issued by the P&Z Commission, a requirement for the Historic District Zoning District.

Chairman Larry Roberson was the other P&Z member to show up for the 4 p.m. meeting.

Members absent were Susan Terry and Tom McMahan and Ronnie Tynes, who were also absent from the July 24 P&Z meeting.

Alternate on the P&Z board is GeorgeAnn Valentine.

Mill Creek hosts benefit golf tourney for Lovett

Mill Creek Country Club is sponsoring a benefit golf tournament for Houston Lovett, a Salado youngster who has had to have surgery to remove a brain tumor.

The tournament will have a 1 p.m. Oct. 5 shotgun start. Cost is $100 per player and the format is a four-person scramble.

All proceeds will support

The Village has no Parks or Public Recreation Zoning Districts in the Zoning Ordinance.

However, in the Land Use section of the Zoning Ordinance, it has "Park And/Or Playground (Private or Public) as a Permitted Use for all six Residential Zoning Districts and all seven Non-Residential Zoning Districts.

In the definitions listing of Land Uses, the Zoning Ordinance gives these definitions:

"Private Recreation Facility or Private Park: A recreation facility, park or playground which is not owned by a political subdivision, and which is operated for the exclusive use of private residents or neighborhood groups and their guests and not for use by the general public."

"Public Recreation: Publicly owned and operated parks, recreation areas, playgrounds, swimming pools and open spaces that are available for use by the general public without membership or affiliation. This land use shall include special event type uses such as rodeos, concerts, festivals and other special events requiring special event permits, as set forth in the Village of Salado's Code of Ordinances."

The Zoning Ordinance allows for Golf Course Land Use under Conditional Permits in all Residential and Non-Residential Zoning District.

The ordinance defines Golf Course as "Golf Course (Public/Private): An area of twenty (20) acres or more improved with trees, greens, fairways, hazards, and which may include clubhouses."

KSB Fall Clean Sweep set Sept. 29

Fall is here and the time has come for another community cleanup day in Salado.

Residents are encouraged to take part in the Salado Fall Clean Sweep sponsored by Keep Salado Beautiful on Sept. 29.

"This is a great opportunity for Salado residents to do their part to help keep our community a clean and attractive place to live, work and visit," said Keep Salado Beautiful Coordinator Lisa Nix. "Volunteers of all ages are welcome to participate in the event."

Those interested in taking part in the clean-up are asked to gather at 8 a.m. Sept. 29 at the Salado Civic Center, 601 N. Main.

After registering, participants will be provided trash bags and trash pickers and then dispatched to designated locations in the community to pick up trash and debris.

Eagle Disposal will provide dumpsters in the parking lot of the Civic Center where volunteers can deposit their bags of collected litter. We will sort recycled trash this year. Drop off your used electronics for the Salado High School Robotics Team.

"Our volunteers make such a difference in Salado," Nix said. "Fanning out across the Village and collecting trash along the roadsides, creek banks and in other public areas in our community is a great way to spend a Saturday in September, while giving back to your community."

Local Boy Scouts, as well as representatives of local service organizations, are expected to join other volunteers in the community clean-up effort that will last from 8 a.m. to noon.

The Fall Clean-Up is a community-wide collaborative project coordinated and sponsored by Keep Salado Beautiful.

For more information, contact Nix via email at info@keepsaladobeautiful.com. KSB was established in 2009 as a Keep Texas Beautiful Affiliate.

The Markets

The venerable Standard and Poor's 500 Stock Index (SPX) turned in another positive week ending up 0.85 percent at the memorable number of 2929.67. The SPX is now up 9.58 percent for 2018 and 17.08 percent from a year ago. On Thursday, it set another all-time closing record at 2931, then climbed above 2940 Friday morning only to gradually slip back all day. The driver was continued expectations of high corporate earnings as profit margins for U.S. listed corporations hover at near-record percentages.

The benchmark ten-year U.S. Treasury note yield rose above the psychologically important 3 percent level on Sept. 18, then kept on going, peaking at 3.10 percent before sliding back to 3.064 percent at the end of the week. Unlike previous ventures above the 3 percent level, this advance seems likely to stick. The two-year note rose apace but the yield curve stayed positive, indicating this bull may have further to run. The 10-year note is now up 0.86 percent from a year ago, indicating an increasing demand from borrowers.

Not too surprisingly, U.S. Crude Oil followed suit, rising a substantial 2.58 percent to $70.71 as inventories were reported declining. A glance at gasoline prices can confirm the rise as oil is now up nearly 38 percent from a year ago. Gold managed to eke out a tiny gain of 0.42 percent for the week but remains down over 9 percent for one year at $1,203.30.

The Economy

Applications for unemployment insurance again were the lowest in nearly 50 years. The combination of record highs for stocks and record lows for unemployment claims is, by any definition, the set of hallmarks

Market & Economic Update

By Jeffrey W. McClure

for an economy running at full speed. The last time jobless claims were this low was 1968 when the Vietnam war was at its peak and the draft was claiming a large portion of the American workforce. In yet another superlative, the Federal Reserve reported the total net worth of American households hit a record $106.929 trillion at the end of the second quarter.

In a peculiar twist, the eurozone economy continued its slow-motion deceleration. The reduction in growth rate was centered on exports. Europe's prime economic engine is Germany and Germany's economy is driven by exports. A combination of the increasing trade-war risks between the U.S. and China and decreasing demand outside of the U.S. is putting a dent in manufacturing growth across the EU. Aggravating the issue is a growing concern about Italy. The new government there appears to be determined to increase borrowing well beyond EU guidelines with little evidence that the Italian economy will be able to pay back the balance. Adding more to worry about is the very real possibility that the United Kingdom's exit from the EU may be an abrupt break with both sides suffering economically. The U.S. economy is roaring along primarily on internal consumption while those economies with a positive trade balances are starting to hurt.

It is hard to know where we are at any given moment in the economic cycle but one thing that history teaches us is that there is an economic cycle that is as relentless as the seasonal cycle that takes us from record high temperatures this summer back to cold weather as winter approaches. With the top of an economic cycle, there are dangers to watch for and we are clearly seeing high summer in this economic cycle right now.

The number of sophisticated Ponzi scheme frauds being reported by the Justice Department, state attorneys general, and the SEC seem to be accelerating. Those frauds offer higher returns than can be reasonably obtained elsewhere and involve some obscure investment "secret" that the common folks have missed. They too are almost universally not public investment programs filed with the SEC or cannot be traded on any market. Federal attorneys and the SEC just revealed a new scam, based partly in Texas, in which con-men lifted $365 million in mostly small investor's money to supposedly purchase individual debt portfolios for collection or resale. What the investors were really doing was funding an extravagant lifestyle for three crooks who faked statements and paid early investors from money taken from later participants over about a 15-year period. Ironically, the later investors were largely lured in by word of mouth from the early investors. Now will come the hard part as the federal authorities will "claw-back" high returns received by investors who have been on board for a decade or more.

Youth Fair Boosters was able to award all exhibitors with a check for over $200 each.

The continued support of this program strengthens the entrepreneurial spirit of our youth members, and allows them to continue with additional projects for years to come. Mr. Black's agriculture mechanics students built items for the live and silent auctions. Mrs. Black's floral design students will handle the centerpieces and event décor concepts, as well as donate items for the silent auction. Six of our agriculture science classes and all three of our agriculture science teacher/FFA advisors (Mr. Black, Mrs. Black, and Ms. Muzny) will be involved in the preparations. This year, our donations will include quarter cord wood racks with custom cut-outs, fire pit, and custom metal work, hitch covers, and other unique items made by our students.

There are still about 60 tickets available for this event. For tickets please text or call any Salado Youth Fair Boosters Member. Here are the names and numbers of five of them:

Trump Not Benefiting from Economic Boom

President Donald Trump is showing that it's possible to preside over a period of peace and prosperity and still be notably unpopular. Over the past several months, Trump has opened even more of a wedge between the largely benign material conditions in the country and his own political standing, which is precarious and appears to be sliding backward. This isn't how it's supposed to work. Republican politicians believed, reasonably enough, that last year's tax cuts would stoke growth and create a good-news backdrop for Republicans in the midterms. The substantive part of this theory has worked swimmingly, with headlines about middle-class incomes increasing over $61,000 for the first time, blue-collar jobs growing at their fastest clip in 30 years, and small-business confidence reaching an all-time high.

The only flaw is that the drumbeat of good news has coincided, lately, with a drop in Trump's numbers. In much of the recent polling, he's dipped back under 40 percent. He hasn't done this with any spectacular misstep. What Trump has done, predictably, week after week, is mess up the easy stuff.

It's not hard -- through gritted teeth and insincerely, if necessary -- to say the appropriate things about an American hero upon his passing.

It's not hard to limit your tweets on the morning of Sept. 11, for just a few hours, to the topic of the anniversary of the attacks. It's not hard to avoid attacking your own attorney general in public, in an escalating fashion meant to inflict the greatest possible humiliation.

It's not hard to avoid throwing around the word "TREASON" loosely or to muse about changing the libel laws to exact retribution on your critics.

Any president grapples with the fact that he can't control events; Trump grapples with the fact that he can't control himself. It's not as though any one thing -- the Stormy Daniels affair, the Cohen plea deal, the security-clearance controversy, the Omarosa book, etc., etc. -- is as consequential as it's portrayed, but one damn thing after another adds up. Trump has an amazing ability, through the force of his personality and his media-genic provocations, to blot out the sun. He wouldn't be president without this quality. It's just that, given the positive state of the country, less blotting and more sun are called for.

Some caveats: Presidential popularity means something different in the age of Trump. He won election in 2016 with a favorable rating below 40 percent in many polls, so a return to that level may be less debilitating for him than prior presidents.

It's not as though he's creating controversies in an otherwise placid environment. He is confronted with an inflamed opposition, an extremely hostile press corps and a wide-ranging, aggressive special counsel investigation.

Finally, it is still possible that garden-variety Republicans will find a way to distinguish themselves from Trump this year.

All that said, business is booming, and yet the president who is presiding over the good times -- and signed the tax package that has boosted the recovery further -- isn't enjoying their full political benefit. An economic boom is a terrible thing to waste.

from Israeli missionary Alon Grimberg.

Alon works with young believers who are either entering or exiting the IDF (Israeli Defense Force). In Israel, all men are required to serve three years in the IDF, while women serve two.

This ministry provides three months of discipleship training designed to strengthen their faith in Yeshua (Jesus); helping to equip them for the rigors of military life and the inevitable spiritual challenges they will face.

The theme of the breakfast, "God's Call - Here and Abroad", fit perfectly with the ministry that God called Alon to some 30 years ago. Alon, a German citizen and non Jew, came to Israel at the age of 19 for a two year stint on a Kibbutz. He stayed on to study agricultural engineering, as at that time he believed God had called him to help "feed the hungry".

Alon is married to an Arab woman (Rajaa) and has three children. As a couple, they also work to bring believing Jews and Arabs together with the pur-

Iris society sale on Sept. 29

Now is the best time to plant iris rhizomes. Just ask any member of the Belton Iris Society.

That's why they're having a rhizome sale on 8 a.m. - 1 p.m. Sept. 29, or when they've sold out, which often happens. Come early for the best selection.

The annual BIS sale will be held in conjunction with the Bell County Master Gardeners Association fall plant sale.

The sales are held at the Master Gardeners Learning Center, 1605 N Main in Belton.

While new iris plants may (or may not) bloom the first spring after they've been planted, they soon become reliable perennials in the garden. A recent trend in hybridizing irises has produced some beautiful remount varieties that can rebloom in the fall, depending on seasonal conditions.

The rhizome sale features xeric bearded irises rhizomes, with water-loving Louisiana iris rhizomes also available.

The bearded irises are hardy and easy to grow in Central Texas. But the Louisianas may even be easier to grow because they can be planted in buckets or other containers that hold water. Then all they need is to be pretty much kept swampy-wet, with the occasional addition of fertilizer.

Fall also is the best time of year to divide established iris clumps. After 3 or 4 years of multiplying, iris rhizomes will bloom better if they are divided.

Ducks dash Eagles' homecoming hopes

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Even with 442 yards on the ground, the Salado Eagles fell to the Taylor Ducks at Eagle Stadium Sept. 21 for a 25-35 Homecoming loss.

Taylor scored first, after forcing Salado to a three-and-out series and getting excellent position due to a shanked punt of 15 yards. Jason Martinez dove in from the Salado 2 on a second down and goal with 6:00 left in the first. Ryan Hanson's kick made it 7-0.

Salado took the lead in the second quarter by scoring on a 27 yard run by Connor Cook to cap a 54 yard drive with 9:47 left in the first half and then scoring on a 50 yard run by Wrook Brown with 7:21. Neither PAT was good, but Salado led 12-7.

The Ducks answered with two touchdowns in the final 4 minutes. Cole Harms hit Sammy Sanchez for a three yard TD to top a 70 yard drive. Harms hit Josh Blue for a two-point conversion and 15-12 lead.

Taylor forced Salado to another three-and-out series and then drove 40 yards in two minutes to score on a two yard dive by Martinez. A kick gave Taylor a 22-12 halftime lead.

The Eagles took the second half kick off and marched 75 yards in 14 plays before Hutton Haire hit Hunter Turk over the middle for a 14 yard touchdown on fourth down and 4 to go. Brown kicked the PAT to narrow the lead to 19-22.

Taylor answered with two touchdowns in quick order. The Ducks went 70 yards in eight plays before Martinez scored on a six yard run with 4:40 left in the third, The PAT was wide and Taylor led 28-19.

The Ducks added seven more after falling on a Haire fumble at the Eagles' 35 yard line. Martinez pushed the ball to the 26 and Harms found Santiago Estrada for a TD with 2:48 left in the third. The kick made it 35-19.

In the fourth, Hanson buried Salado at their own 15 yard one with a 44 yard punt. The Eagles took just over three minutes to score, this time on a 6 yard run by Cook. With 7:13 left to play. The PAT failed and Salado trailed 25-35 with just over 7 minutes left in the game.

Haire was caught in the backfield and thrown down for a loss, fumbling the ball over to Ja'ron Carver with less than 4 minutes remaining, dashing any hopes of a comeback for Homecoming.

The Eagles had three running backs with over 100 yards: Connor Cook, 171 yards on 20 carries; Hunter Turk, 148 yards on 20 carries and Wrook Brown, 124 yards on 23 carries. Haire completed one pass for 15 yards to Turk.

2008 grad talks with Eagles about developing right mental attitude

By Travis Burlison
Contributor

The Salado Eagle Varsity football team hosted a special guest in their weekly team breakfast-forum the day of Homecoming.

A Multi-sport athlete, he was a 3 year letterman in Football, 4 year lettermen in Baseball, and 2 year letterman in Basketball, Track, & Powerlifting. He earned All-District honors as Outside-Linebacker and as Punter, and was also captain of the Eagle squad who posted that amazing 13-win Season back in 2007. In Baseball, he was 1st Team All-State and earned All-Tournament Honors as an Outfielder on the 2008 2A-State Champion Eagle Baseball Team, along the way achieving infamous notoriety for "the shot" – where he hit a homerun ball out of the Dell Diamond Ballpark into the parking lot.

Who was this all-around athlete and talented individual? None other than Salado-native, Garret Ward. Son of Cliff and Regina Coleman of Salado, Garret and new wife Anna, currently live and work in Columbus, Texas.

The theme on homecoming morning was "right mental attitude" and Garret spoke to the Eagle team about how developing that attitude in sports, not only helped him accomplish great things on the playing field, but also got him prepared for what he would later face in life. Ward would know. Son of the late Cary Ward, Garret spoke of one of his toughest tests in life, losing his father to disease after high school graduation.

"Guys, what you learn about yourself through sports really does help you face adversity." Said Ward. "And you can do it, especially if you keep your focus on the right things. One of those anchor things in my life has always been my faith, and knowing that the difficult things I go through produce perseverance, and perseverance produces character, and character then produces hope for me about positive things in my future."

Positive things have certainly been a part of Garret's future following his days as an Eagle athlete. He graduated from Salado High School in 2009, his Class being the first from the then new high school. Attending Baylor University, he went on to earn a Business Degree, making the Dean's Academic List along the way. After graduation Garret used his degree to get a job as Software Developer at Pine Cove Camps, where he is currently Site Director for the organization that hosts and serves more than 30,000 campers each Summer.

Following their inspiring time together, Head Coach Alan Haire and Director of Player Development, Dr. Travis Burlison presented Garret with a special token of their team's appreciation – Ward's former #15 Eagle-jersey from his days of wreaking havoc on opposing offenses.

When asked what he would say if he could say something to himself back in high school, Garret modestly laughed, "Well we don't have that much time do we?!" Then in right order he asserted, "I would say to myself, take better advantage of every opportunity you have to grow and become a stronger person. And pay more attention to your attitude, because it will lay the foundation for and affect everything you do in your future."

The Eagles sought to keep that right mental attitude in foul weather last Friday night, but fell just short of a victory over the Taylor Ducks. The Eagles open District competition with a home game this Friday, Sept. 28 against the Connally Cadets, before traveling to take on Robinson Oct. 5.

The avoidance principle

Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker

In many hands, declarer cannot afford to have a particular defender gain the lead and therefore does everything possible not to lose a trick to him.

Take this case where South was in three notrump, got a heart lead and correctly played the queen from dummy. The purpose of the queen play was twofold: If West had the ace, the queen would win, and the K-8 would constitute a stopper if West later gained the lead; if East had the ace, he would win the trick, but then South could duck the heart return, holding up the king until the third round. This would serve to neutralize West's remaining hearts if he started with five of them.

North dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

♦ J 9 7 4
♣ A Q 6 2

The bidding:
North Pass East 2 NT South Pass West 3 NT
Opening lead — six of hearts.

When the queen held, South cashed the A-K-Q of spades, hoping the opposing spades were divided 3-3 or that West had four of them. In either case, South would then be sure of the contract. But East showed up with four spades, and declarer went down one after East won the fourth spade and returned the heart jack through South's king.

Actually, the problem of avoiding the dangerous opponent, East, could have been solved in an entirely different way. After winning the first heart with the queen, all South had to do was to lead a low spade from dummy and finesse the eight.

This would have lost to the ten, but West would then have been stymied. Nothing he could do would stop declarer from scoring nine tricks consisting of four spades, a heart, a diamond and three clubs.

Finessing the spade eight after East played low was sure to bring the contract home if the spades were divided 3-3 or 4-2, and therefore offered a much greater chance of succeeding than simply cashing the A-K-Q in hopes of a 3-3 split.

Black-chinned Hummingbird

Backwards flight is unique to hummers

Wild About Texas

Michael Price

Many bird species are hard to distinguish from each other, with many having the same appearance and/or behavior. However, one family of birds is unmistakable with their tiny size, their long bills and short tails, and their hovering flight. Those are the hummingbirds. One of the most commonly seen hummingbird in most of west Texas and the Panhandle is the Black-chinned Hummingbird.

The Black-chinned Hummingbird (Archilochus alexandri) can be observed during the summer months throughout the western United States from the state of Washington (excluding the Pacific coastline) south-eastward to central Texas. Curiously enough, while it avoids the ocean-front habitats in the United States, it spends its winters along the Pacific coastline in the Mexican states of Nayarit and Jalisco. In Texas, it is most often seen in the western two-thirds of the state, where it can be quite common during the summer months.

It is a small bird, with a total length (body and tail) of just over three and one-half inches. The wingspan is slightly larger, topping out at almost five inches. The coloration of this species of hummingbird is quite subtle, almost drab compared to many other species. The head has a greenish hue to it, and the bill is long, straight and black. Hence the common name, the throat of the mature male is black, although in bright sunlight, it will show to be a rich violet color. There is a partial white collar just below the throat, and the bottom part of the breast is whitish colored. The back, wings, and sides are greenish, and the feet are black. This species is also sexually dimorphic, meaning that males and females look different from each other. Females and juveniles are less colorful than mature males, lacking the black throat and white collar.

Black-chinned Hummingbirds, like other members of this genus, feed primarily on nectar and pollen, although it occasionally will prey upon small flying insects. While feeding on flowers, it will hover in place while gathering pollen and nectar with its long beak and tongue. When it feeds on insects, it will often do so beginning from a perching position, zigging and zagging in flight to pluck the insects from mid-air.

Like other species of hummers, males of this polygamous species are quite the showmen for their mates during courtship. They will often vibrate their wings to produce a buzzing noise as they zip past their perched potential mates. The female is the primary nest builder, and she will often utilize spider silk to make her nest. The outside of the tiny nest is decorated with flowers and leaves. Up to three broods per year are produced, and the one to three white eggs are incubated by the female for just over two weeks. The eggs are slightly pointed at one end, and are extremely small, approximately one half inch by one third of an inch. After hatching, the young are cared for by the female as they prepare to leave the nest in about another three weeks.

This amazing bird can be attracted to feeders in the yard filled with sugar water. Often they are heard before they are actually seen, as their flight pattern produces a "buzzing" sound as they fly. The flight pattern is direct and swift, with a remarkable number of wingbeats, up to seventy five times PER SECOND. Such energy expenditure requires this bird to feed literally throughout the entire day. It is also unique from other birds in that it can fly backwards.
