Sales taxes jump 31.36%

The recent sales tax rebate to Salado was a bit of an October surprise as the Village saw its revenue increase by 31.36 percent for the month. The Village received a check of $40,520.71 for the month of October compared to $30,847.04 in 2017.

Part of the dramatic increase was due to an annual audit adjustment of about $6,000, according to Village Administrator Don Ferguson. Even without the audit though, sales tax revenues would be up by more than 18 percent in October.

For the year, the Village has received $298,878.36 for the one cent sales tax that it levies, an increase of 11.29 percent over payments to date in 2017 of $358,388.68.

Salado Public Library District saw an increase in its sales tax revenues for October of 17.89 percent. The District received $29,181.50 in October compared to $24,751.68 last year. For the year, the Library District is running 8.75 percent ahead of 2017. To-date the District has received $300,174.32 compared to $276,015.38 through October 2017.

Payment to Bell County was up by 8.17 percent. The County received $1.6 million in October, compared to $1.5 million last year. For the year, the County is running 3.84 percent ahead at $16.2 million compared to $15.6 million through October 2017.

Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar announced last week that he sent cities, counties, transit systems and special purpose taxing districts $735.9 million in local sales tax allocations for October, 11.4 percent more than in October 2017.

These allocations are based on sales made in August by businesses that report tax monthly.

Eagles tackle projects at McLane's Children's during week off of football

By TRAVIS BURLESON CONTRIBUTOR

During their open date on Oct. 12, the Salado Eagle Varsity boys football team were not off in any sense. Immediately following school, during the time when they would normally have been doing game preparation, the entire Eagle squad instead bused up to Temple where they spent their time volunteering at McLane's Children's Hospital. Half of the team visited patient rooms while the other half did work projects.

Coordinated between Dr. Travis Burleson, Director of Player Development for the Eagles, and Kelly Wagner, Manager of the Child Life Department at McLane Children's Medical Center, every player wore their jersey and handed out mini-footballs as they visited and worked around the hospital. Guided by medical staff, the Team visited several floors in the medical surgical unit, while other Team members assisted hospital employees in the outdoor Healing Garden and hospital warehouse.

"We are so grateful for this team's commitment to community service," Wagner said, "and how we are able to work together to provide a great experience for patients and families here."

"It's a pretty simple philosophy," said Head Coach Alan Haire, who initiated the Team's service experience. "I told the boys that every week people come out and pay to see us perform, so this is a way we can give back to our Community and surrounding area. Being in good physical shape, sometimes we can forget that not everyone has it as good as we do, so this is a good way to give us some perspective and refresh our appreciation for what we have."

As the Eagle team was wrapping up their work, several additional medical personnel appeared and gushed their thanks to the players for their work and sacrifice. "I grew up in a rabid sports town in the northeast," said one hospital employee, "and you just don't see this every day?! It's so amazing that you have a coach like this, and boys who would do something like this."

Following their service-work at the Hospital, the Varsity team enjoyed a local pizza buffet, then headed out to finish their night playing paintball together.

Brown resigns from BoA

Midway through his third term as Salado alderman, Fred Brown has resigned.

"My workload has doubled from my employers as I prepare for the next legislative session," he stated in his letter of resignation. "I now find myself out of town twice as much as in the past. It is because of this that I do not feel I can contribute the time that this position deserves."

His tenure on the board has "been filled with challenges as we have all worked together to move this Village forward. We have had our highs and lows, yet we have all stayed focused on the future while never forgetting our past. It has been an honor for me to work with such an outstanding Board of Alderman."

Aldermen will discuss at their 6:30 p.m. Oct. 18 meeting appointing an alderman as Mayor Pro Tem. The board will also discuss filling his seat on the board for the remainder of the term, which expires in May 2019.

Fred Brown

Aldermen may allow the position to return unfilled until the May election.

BoA mulls Church St. work

Aldermen will consider at their 6:30 p.m. Oct. 28 meeting approving an amendment to the contract with McLean Construction of Killeen to reconstruct Church Street from Pace Park Road to Blacksmith Road. The cost of the reconstruction is $71,548. The original bid had $12,784 for asphalt repair for this section of roadway.

The amendment would add $58,764 to the contract.

The contractor will mill the full width of the roadway and inlay two (2) inches of asphalt. Stripes and stop bars will be painted on the new roadway surface once complete.

"Reconstruction of the entire roadway will eliminate the need for the contractor to repair only that portion of the aged roadway surface damaged during the recent installation of the wastewater main," Village administrator Don Ferguson stated in the agenda packet.

Ferguson recommends the approval of the contract amendment.

In other business on the agenda, aldermen will discuss extending the service line for the sewer system from Salado Plaza Dr. north to FM 2484 on the east side of I-35.

Aldermen will also consider filling two vacancies on boards. Aldermen will consider David Graham as the only applicant to be the alternate member of the Planning and Zoning Commission. The board will also consider appointing Denver Mills to the Pace Park Advisory Board.

FORUM

An Open Exchange of Ideas

It was the best of times; it was the worst of times

The Markets

It was the best of times; it was the worst of times. The S&P 500 Stock Index (SPX), after lingering with-in striking distance of its record highs for months, fell 4.10 percent in the week ending the 12th, closing the week at 2767.13. That close puts the SPX down 5.91 percent from its record high of 2940.01, set back in August. The good news is that it moved upward 1.42 percent on Friday, suggesting that this is merely a minor correction in a major bull market. After all, it is October, and one has to look long and hard to find an October without at least a minor correction. The SPX remains up 3.50 percent for the year and still is hanging on to an 8.38 percent gain from this time last year. In an ironic backward sort of logic that is normal for the stock market, the downturn was primarily driven by too much good news. The reported fear factor was that the economy was doing so well that the Federal Reserve Board ("the Fed") would accelerate its interest rate increases and set off a near-term recession. This minor selloff marked the third consecutive week of market decline with the worst week at the end but followed by a 1.4 percent rise on Friday. The pattern is classic for a minor dip in a rising market.

To put this slump in perspective, it is the worst market decline since... February! The key to whether the decline continues or reverses into an end-of-year surge will largely depend on corporate earnings. The indicators we received on Friday suggest the bull market has much further to run. JPMorgan Chase, Citi-

Market & Economic Update

By Jeffrey W. McClure

group, and Wells Fargo all reported excellent earnings growth ranging from 7 percent to 24 percent for the quarter.

As might well be expected in such a pessimistic week, the yield on the benchmark 10-year U.S. Treasury Note declined 15.8 basis points (hundredths of a percent) to 3.162 percent, still remaining well above the 3 percent mark it crossed in mid-September. Echoing the fear of a possible future economic slowdown, the U.S. crude oil price per barrel declined 3.74 percent to $71.51 but remained up 37 percent since this time last year. Gold jumped 1.23 percent on the fear of inflation to close at $1,221.60 per ounce but remained down 8.19 percent for one year.

The Economy

Mortgage rates rose above 5 percent. While September's home sales rates are not due until next week, home construction stock prices were down 22.85 percent this week and have declined almost 43 percent in the last three months. New home construction is not an infallible forecaster but the companies that build homes are often the first to show declines well in advance of a downturn. That sag in longer-term home construction rates is echoed in the automobile market as new car makers are having to offer greater incentives to keep selling while used car prices fell 3 percent in September, the largest drop in 15 years.

Inflation for September increased a measly 0.1 percent and was up only 2.3 percent from last September. That report, released on Thursday, suggests that inflation is not accelerating and that the Fed may stick to another quarter-point increase in rates in December followed by two more rises in the first half of 2019 taking rates to nearly 3 percent. The collective wisdom of stock investors seems to be comfortable with Fed rates a bit under that number but are frightened by anything higher.

Hurricanes have been in the headlines the past few weeks and the total price tag on them may run well above $30 billion. Output and employment will take a short-term hit nationally but the increase in production required to replace the damaged buildings and equipment will probably about balance the losses. It says a lot about our economy that two major hurricanes hitting so close together hardly rate a blip in our growth rate.

At the Federal government level, there's good news and bad news. The good news is that the number of people receiving federal disability benefits is falling at a 2 percent annual rate. The bad news is that we are now paying $1.5 billion per day in interest on the Federal debt. Given the current tax law and the recently passed spending bills, interest on the debt will exceed spending on Medicaid next year and exceed defense spending in about five years.

The Left's Foolhardy Attack on the Senate

Democrats suffered a stinging loss in the fight over Brett Kavanaugh's confirmation, and have concluded that the constitutional system is to blame.

You see, if only the Founders hadn't forged the Great Compromise between large states and small states at the Constitutional Convention in 1787, giving each state equal representation in the U.S. Senate, they would have defeated Brett Kavanaugh handily. It's only because smaller red states have two senators just like larger blue states that the judge got confirmed.

For the left, the U.S. Senate is now looming, together with the Electoral College and the Supreme Court, as an institution of villainy in American life. In the words of Vox, the Senate is "a grotesquely unrepresentative body." Washington Post columnist E.J. Dionne calls the ascension of Kavanaugh to the high court "a coup" because he was "confirmed by senators representing 44 percent of the population."

Democrats have gone from bragging about their permanent majority a few years ago to complaining it's impossible for them to win under the governing regime that we've had for more than 200 years, since it's so tilted toward "minority rule."

It's certainly true that the Senate is not fully democratic and gives an outsized role to small states, since this was the price they exacted for signing on to the Constitution. This arrangement isn't a conspiracy against the left.

Yes, Wyoming, population 560,000 in the 2010 census, cancels out California, population 37 million, with two Republican senators to the Golden State's two Democrats. But Vermont, population 630,000, cancels out the two Republicans from Texas, population 25 million, with a Democrat and a socialist.

Gross population disparities aren't anything new. In 1790, shortly after the ratification of the Constitution, Virginia had 747,160 people, Delaware 59,096. In 1900, New York had 7,268,894 people, and Nevada all of 42,335. The republic survived.

The Senate ensures that flyover country isn't ignored. It reflects the dizzying geographic diversity of a continental nation and promotes national cohesion by giving every corner of it a voice.

The House is the more democratic body. California has 53 representatives; Wyoming has one. Yet Democrats don't control the House, either.

The root of the problem is that Democrats don't have much appeal to the middle of the country anymore. As recently as 2010, both senators from North Dakota were Democrats, and back in 2004, both senators from South Dakota were Democrats.

The disenchantment is a function of the left's preference for coastal rule. It wants California to have the whip hand in our national life. But why should Los Angeles and San Francisco have an outsized role in governing distant, rural parts of the country, with which they have no sympathy?

Fundamentally remaking the Senate is a fantasy, regardless. The Constitution stipulates in Article 5 that "no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate." Striking the language would require the assent of some smaller states that wouldn't be enamored with reducing their own relative power so California can have more.

Rather than cursing the design of the Senate, Democrats would be better-served simply winning Senate elections, a cause they materially harmed with their fevered attack on Brett Kavanaugh.

Paul's Journey performs gospel tunes at Cedar Valley Baptist Oct. 27

Paul's Journey will sing gospel tunes at Cedar Valley Baptist Church at 6:30 p.m. Oct. 27. The church is located eight miles southwest of Salado at 12337 FM 2843. A potluck meal will follow the performance and a love offering will be taken.

Paul's Journey is composed of four men that travel 200 days a year nationwide.

"We want to present a program that is not only entertaining but uplifting to the soul as well," said bass singer and manager Rod Treme. "Wherever the Lord sends us, we go with these thoughts in mind: to lift up the name of Jesus, to see lost souls saved, and to see other Christians touched by God."

The ministry of Paul's

Paul's Journey sings 6:30 p.m. Oct. 27

Journey started more than 40 years ago with four young men all related to each other.

Over time, many faces have come and gone since that time, but the calling and commitment of the group has never changed.

The group was voted SGM FanFair Favorite Male Quartet in 2007. They were awarded South Texas Association Group of the Year for 2001, 2004, 2007, and then again in 2014. The group was also nominated for Diamond Award as Group of the Year in 2004. They were also nominated for Horizon Group of the Year in 2012 and most recently were chosen by the Singing News southern gospel fans as one of the Top 5 Traditional Qts. in 2013, 2014 and 2015.

The group has sung on the NQC Main Stage for the last five years.

"Our music can be heard on the radio and the internet all over the world," Treme said.

Paul's Journey has been featured on Paul Heil's Gospel Greats several times and Solid Gospel Radio.

The Salado Volleyball program traveled to downtown Austin where they faced the Eastside Memorial Panthers in the second round of district play. It was easy going for the Lady Eagles who dominated start to finish with a clean sweep. Varsity would cruise to victory in straight sets (25-5, 25-13, 25-14) behind junior Reagan Thrasher's outside hitting and sophomore Libero, Erin Faske's court coverage.

"I was pleased with the team's ability to handle their business without losing focus," said head coach Kristi Wilk.

The Lady Eagles clinched a minimum 4th place finish in District play with hopes of finishing 2nd or 3rd after rematches with Taylor and Burnet. Salado will need to defeat Liberty Hill and get some help if they are to have a shot at winning district.

The sub-varsity teams made quick work of the Lady Panthers. JV would win 2-0 (25-8, 25-7) and Freshmen won 2-0 (25-7, 25-13) rounding out a complete sweep for the Lady Eagle program.

Salado Eagles 8th Grade A team shut out the Rogers Eagles on Oct. 11 to improve to 4-0 on the year and 2-0 in district play

The Eagles came out of the gate slow this week on offense. The offense did not score until late in the first quarter on a Seth Reavis 25 yard run around the left end.

The Eagles scored again in the 2nd quarter on a Caden Strickland 10 yard run. Strickland also ran in the 2 point conversion.

The Eagles finished off the scoring with a long Seth Reavis run of 65 yards around the right side, where he outran all of the Rogers defenders and showed his athleticism.

Outstanding Offensive Players: Seth Reavis with 2 touchdowns, Adam Benavides with some nice runs, Caden Strickland with 1 touchdown run and 2 point conversion, Drew Bird with some nice runs, and the offensive line paving the way for some nice runs in the 2nd half.

Outstanding Defensive Players: Jackson Leiskau, Isaac Pettigrew with a fumble recovery and interception, Seth Reavis with a pass breakup, Drew Bird, who was all over the field tonight, Kye Hayes, Nolan Miller, and Cavahn Wilson

"The defense came out ready to play," Coach Michael Gunter said. "They were flying all over the field and wouldn't let Rogers' pistol offense get firing on all cylinders, shutting them out for the entire game and not even letting them smell the red zone."

"One defender who really stepped up and provided a spark was Isaac Pettigrew, who not only recovered an onside kick to give the Eagles great field position but also intercepted a pass to shut down Rogers' last gasp drive," Gunter said. "The defense was what put us over the top tonight."

The Salado 7th grade A and 8th grade B teams combined together to play Rosebud-Lott's Junior High team, losing 40-12.

"The game was a rough one, as Salado had trouble putting points on the board as well as stopping Rosebud-Lott's offense," coach Michael Gunter said.

The seventh grade A team was responsible for both touchdowns.

Seventh grade A team was responsible for both touchdowns. The first one was a 5 yard touchdown run by Peanut Brazzle and the second touchdown was a 25 yard touchdown pass from Luke Law to Kase Maedgen.

Outstanding Offensive Players: Luke Law, Kase Maedgen, Peanut Brazzle

Outstanding Defensive Players: Dusty Rhiddlehoover, Brazos Farr, Davis Graham, Caden Jacobus, Landon Ferrell and Jeff Bauser.

Alex Hauck picked up a fumble and returned it for a touchdown in the first quarter of the Salado Seventh Grade B team 20-8 win over the Holland Hornets seventh grade squad on Oct. 11. Brody Naegele added a two-point run.

In the second quarter, Morgan Adams had a 15 yard touchdown run for the Eagles.

Adrian Fach closed out the scoring in the fourth quarter with a 10 yard run for a touchdown.

Outstanding Offensive Players: Adrian Fach, Brody Naegele, Morgan Adams

Outstanding Defensive Players: Morgan Adams, Alex Hauck, Jonathan Pena

"The defense played well once again," Coach Michael Gunter said. "The offense was able to help out by scoring two touchdowns. The Eagles played hard again and were able to come out on the right side of the scoreboard. They continue to battle week in and week out and are beginning to show some major progress as a team."

tum as Salado would win in three sets (25-18, 25-20, 25-17).

Sophomore Lorena Perez would show off her athleticism with four blocks on the night. Outside hitters, Landry Rogers and Reagan Thrasher would finish the night with 6 and 7 kills respectively.

The JV team would dominate from start to finish in two sets (25-9, 25-12). Led by juniors, Taylor Rich and Maddy Wade, Lampasas was never able to score more than three consecutive points.

Salado Freshmen would start out hot, defeating Lampasas 25-20 before dropping the next two sets 15-25 and 4-15.

BYO Pumpkin reservations

Online reservations are still available for the "Blow Your Own Pumpkin" experience at Salado Glassworks. The annual favorite for families, to craft custom hand-blown pumpkins that can be put on display year round.

Reservations are available for Fridays and Saturdays in October, as well as November 2-3. Children as young as 3 years old may participate by picking up to three colors and then use their own breath to shape the glass piece. Artists get the initial gather of glass, pick up the color, reheat and shape your piece.

The cost to participate is $47.50 per person; reservations on are available online at www.saladoglassworks.com -- where you can purchase a "Blow Your Own Pumpkin" experience for kids, adults or the whole family. Reservations must be made in advance online; spaces are limited. Group reservations should be made as close to one another as possible and we will work to get you in together. "The kids get so excited when they see the pumpkin take shape," said Glassworks founder and principal artist Gail Allard. "The best part is we teach our guests how the process works, from how hot our furnaces burn to how we use different tools to turn molten glass into colorful gourds."

Fractured Fairy Tales Bishop of Texas to talk about stories we tell ourselves over a pint

The ninth Bishop of Texas will discuss Fractured Fairy Tales and other stories we tell ourselves 6:30 p.m. Oct. 18 as the guest speaker for the monthly Priest's Pint at Barrow Brewing Co., 108 Royal.

Rt. Rev. Doyle will present some thoughts on narratives within the western culture and how they fail us.

There will be a discussion period to talk about the secular frame, how the reformation brought Christians to this point in society, and ideas about how to steer out of the particular cultural context moment of division and fragmentation

Graydon and KD Hill invite the community to join them for this special Priest's Pint event. The couple launched the monthly event "to hear a short topic, presented by a rotating group of ministers, priests, monks, and theologians, then break out for discussion over a beer.

The monthly talk is every third Thursday at Barrow Brewing.

C. Andrew Doyle, ninth Bishop of Texas, describes his six-word autobiography as: "Met Jesus on pilgrimage, still walking."

Bishop Doyle received his M.Div. from Virginia Theological Seminary after receiving a fine arts degree from the University of North Texas. Previous to his election in 2008, Bishop Doyle served for five years as Canon to the Ordinary. He also served churches in Temple and College Station, as well as being elected deputy to several General Conventions. He most recently served on the Structure Committee and is currently president of the Compass Rose Society, a global group of patrons and leaders making a difference in the Anglican Communion.

Bishop Doyle's focus for ministry is service, evangelism and reconciliation, planting 15 new churches and more than 50 new "missional communities" in the next five years. An avid reader and fly fisherman, Bishop Doyle has written several books, often mixing references from pop culture's music and movies with the latest in secular leadership trends in order to reach the broadest spectrum of readers and challenge Episcopalians to move into their communities with the Gospel in word and action. His writings include: Unabashedly Episcopalian: The Good News of the Episcopal Church, 2012; Orgullosamente Episcopal, 2015; Church: A Generous Community Amplified for the Future, 2015; A Generous Community: Being Church In A New Missionary Age, 2015; Small Batch: Local, Organic, and Sustainable Church, 2016; The Jesus Heist, 2017.

very unlucky, since you would have made the contract had the trumps divided 2-2, or if West had the three trumps, or if East had the ace of diamonds, or if East had three or more spades. Even so, the fact remains that the contract can be made with more careful play. After East follows low on the first trump lead from dummy at trick two, the correct line of play — by far — is to finesse the ten! In the actual deal, the ten wins, and you finish with 11 tricks. But that in itself doesn't prove that the ten is the right play. Finessing the ten is best because it has the great virtue of practically guaranteeing the contract, and not because you luckily find East with the Q-J-x. Indeed, you don't really mind losing a trump trick to West, because you're certain to score at least 10 tricks — five hearts, four spades and a club — if you do.

The primary concern is that East might have three trumps and later gain the lead to return a diamond through your king. The first-round trump finesse guards against this possibility. It is true that the deep finesse will sometimes cost a trick unnecessarily, but that is a tiny premium to pay for ensuring the contract.

Trans-Pecos Scorpion

The Trans-Pecos Scorpion

People as a whole have a greater understanding of the natural world in regards to animals that they are familiar with, or ones that are "cute". Most folks know that there are multiple species of dogs, cats, and birds that are known to science. However, when it comes to those animals whose very presence can elicit fear, well, then that group is lumped together. For example, most people are not aware that we have well over a dozen species of scorpions that call Texas home, and one in particular, has only recently been known to science.

Wild About Texas

The Trans-Pecos Scorpion (Diplocentrus lindo) is a variety of arachnid whose species scientific name is the Spanish word for pretty, and while most of the human population would not refer to any scorpion as attractive, its subtle coloration can be somewhat comely. The tubular body is typically a shade of illuminant dark brown to virtually black in coloration. Like most other scorpions, it has two pinchers, or pedipalps. However, the pedipalps in this type of scorpion are nearly as wide as they are long, one characteristic that can be utilized to distinguish this race from the far more familiar Bark Scorpion. Also like most other scorpions, the Trans-Pecos Scorpion is equipped with a tail adorned with a needle-like stinger at the end.

It is an arachnid, and as such, it has four pairs of legs that it uses for crawling and climbing about. It also has two body parts, the front being the cephalothorax and the rear being the abdomen. Despite having a pair of eyes on top of and another two pair on the front of the cephalothorax, it cannot see well. It relies primarily on its sense of feel as it navigates its way searching for mates and for food. It is a small scorpion with adults reaching a total length of about two inches, females being the larger sex.

Despite being virtually unknown to science and not officially recognized as a species until 2001, this scorpion can be extremely common in the ten counties of the Trans-Pecos region of Texas that it inhabits. It seems to thrive on rocky slopes, and it apparently prefers to dwell under surface debris such as fallen logs, rocks and dead vegetation. In order to prevent desiccation and overheating, it routinely searches for its primary prey items of other smaller invertebrates such as spiders and small insects in the darkness of night. These prey items are seized with the extremely slender pinchers and subdued with the venom of the stinger, which immobilizes the victim before consumption.

To put human terms on animals, known as anthropomorphism, is usually inapplicable, but this is a case where I have to make an exception. Male Trans-Pecos Scorpions are known to be extremely romantic as they pursue their mates.

Once a receptive female is detected, the pair will clasp pinchers and engage in an elaborate dance routine, sometimes for several hours before actually mating. This mating can take place at any time during the year, save the coldest months. Gestation typically lasts for nearly eight months, after which time the average of thirty-one young are born alive. The mother is the primary caregiver and the young hitch a ride on her back for about two weeks as they rapidly mature and molt for the first time. Maturity is reached within the first year of being born, and Trans-Pecos Scorpions can live up to seven years or more.

To defend itself, Diplocentrus lindo will utilize the venom-packed stinger on the end of its tail to inject said venom into its harasser. Its sting, although being likened to a wasp sting from victims unlucky enough to have been envenomated, is not known to be deadly. However, there are many factors that must be taken into consideration if a sting occurs. These factors include things such as the age and health of the victim, the area of the body where the bite occurred, and the possibility of an allergic reaction to the venom. Because of this possible allergic reaction that certain people have towards arthropod venom, a licensed physician should be consulted immediately if a sting occurs.

Garden Guild style show

As fall moves in, the ladies of the Salado United Methodist Church Garden Guild have already been making plans for their 23rd Annual Luncheon and Style Show for several months.

The Luncheon and Style Show this year will be held on Saturday, November 3 at the church located at 650 Royal Street, Salado.

The theme this year will be "The Master's Touch", in recognition of the recent Village of Salado award for Keep Texas Beautiful and for being named a Texas Cultural District.

"We believe the "Amazing Creativity of Salado" could be portrayed in everything from art to music, poetry to dancing, fashion to decorating, and yes, even gardening. But it is our desire to recognize that all inspiration and ability comes from our Heavenly Father, the Master," said Nancy Elliott, member of the Garden Guild.

This year's fashions will be provided by Salado merchants, Christy's of Salado, Susan Marie's, The Mustard Seed, and Magnolias. As always, the Luncheon will be hand prepared by the ladies of the SUMC Garden Guild.

Lunch will be served beginning at 12:30 p.m., with the fashion show to follow at 1 p.m. Reservations are $30 each and may be made by mailing a check with the names of the attendees to Salado United Methodist Church - Garden Guild, P.O. Box 771, Salado, TX 76571. For more information, call 254/947-5482.

Raine joins Raney and Associates in Salado

Jennifer Raine has joined the real estate team at Raney & Associates in Salado.

She is a Central Texas native, graduating from Pflugerville High School. She attended Texas Tech University where she received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Psychology.

Upon moving to Temple in 2003, she began teaching Reading and Language Arts in Killeen ISD. She taught for many years before staying home with her own children. She has been a resident of Salado since 2012.

Over the years, her interest in real estate grew from her own personal investments and interest in home design. She became a licensed realtor in 2015.

"My favorite part of real estate is the human element.

Learning about a client's situation and how I can help is extremely important, as well as establishing lifelong relationships," she said.

Because of her background in education, her philosophy in real estate is to teach her clients about the buying or selling process.

"Every client's transaction is different, but I believe it is important to understand the basics before getting started," she added.

She is dedicated to providing excellent service to her clients and clear communication with everyone involved in the real estate transaction.

She and her husband have children ranging in age from nine to 19. They also recently started a home building business, Skylar Homes. You can find their first spec home in Amity Estates. They are passionate about building quality homes for families in their community. When they do have a free moment, you can usually find them cruising around town on their golf cart, eating at their favorite restaurants or grabbing a drink at one of the local breweries.
