Library receives $40K grant for technology

Money will extend Internet capabilities

The Salado Public Library has received a Library Technology Advancement Grant in the amount of $40,700 from the Telecommunications Infrastructure Fund Board, a state agency in Austin.

The grant will allow the library to purchase the necessary equipment to upgrade and extend its existing Internet resources. Grant funds will be used to purchase workstations, networking hardware, ISP costs, and other related telecommunications costs to assist the library in incorporating high-speed Internet access as a research, communications, and information delivery tool.

The Salado Public Library is one of 163 libraries funded as part of the $11 million TIF Board non-competitive grant initiative for public libraries. Projects begin April 1.

The library applicants were required to complete a detailed application to receive funding. The awarded libraries will continue to serve as a public arena for access to the Internet. They have committed to developing and implementing Internet Access policies that will protect and encourage their patrons' Internet use. The staff will also attend scheduled Internet training in order to continue to incorporate the Internet into the library as a valuable information source.

"We are very pleased to receive this award," said Luther Brewer, President of the Salado Library District. Lynn Epps, a trustee and the Treasurer of the Board, had directed the Library's technology program for several years. Lynn deserves the credit for what we have now and for putting together the grant application that resulted in this award. We are lucky to have Lynn. We will use TIF Board funds to extend our current Internet capabilities. We'll use this opportunity to purchase the necessary advanced equipment for faster and better public access."

Since its creation by the 74th Legislature in 1995, the TIF Board has awarded approximately $202 million in telecommunications grants to 1,018 school districts and charter schools (out of 1,145), 57 community colleges (out of 57), 592 public schools (out of 789), and 330 public and not-for-profit healthcare facilities (out of 742). The agency receives approximately $150 million per year in revenues from telecommunications assessments to disburse over a ten-year period.

For more information, contact the TIF Board at (512) 344-4300 or 1-888-533-(TIFB) 8432. Additional information is available at <http://www.tifb.state.tx.us>.

Tablerock to honor Fire Chief at Celebrity Toast & Roast

Tablerock's Salado Celebrity for 1999 is Salado's Fire Chief, Wayne Rutherford. Wayne has been the Salado Fire Chief for the past five years.

Wayne's resilience in obtaining his life's goals have proven fortunate for the residents of Salado. Orphaned when he was 13 years old, he lived with older brothers and sisters until he was 16. When he was of age he joined the Army and served as a helicopter medic. His additional experience in operating a saw mill in Louisiana, owning a restaurant in Conroe, Texas and being a Temple, 'Texas fireman have seasoned him in supervising people, has given him the business experience and the fire fighting know-how needed to so excellently perform as Chief of our Salado Fire Department and ultimately for the citizens of Salado.

Wayne attended Temple Junior College and has a degree in General Studies from Central Texas College in Killeen. In the past 15 years, Wayne has brought the Salado Fire Department up from a one bay fire department to four bays and plans to expand to five bays in the near future. Wayne has helped to enlarged the volunteer force from 16 volunteers to 22 volunteers as of March of 1999.

Chief Rutherford was Salado's first trained paramedic and has encouraged four other volunteer firemen to become paramedics. This number of paramedics is outstanding for a village the size of Salado. But, Wayne felt that Salado's residents were special and needed special treatment. In 1996 he was named the Career Paramedic for Bell County. Wayne's efforts at improving Salado's Fire Department have not gone unrewarded. In 1997

Salado was named the First Responder for the whole state of Texas. He is exceptionally proud of the fact that the Salado Fire Department is the only First Responder organization in Bell County to operate at the "advanced life support level." Wayne is most proud of the fact that in the past 3 out of 4 years a Salado Firefighter has been selected as the Bell County Fire-fighter of the year.

Wayne works 56 hours a week for the Killeen Fire Department, volunteers countless hours to the Salado Fire Department, is

An Open Exchange of Ideas

Support for one another puts Salado in a class of its own

Standing at the counter of a Round Rock Taco Bell, I hear Barry Simpson holler out, "There's the National Inquirer," which is his traditional method of greeting me.

Simpson was at the drive-thru, ordering for his crew following Salado's last-second victory over Farwell in the state semifinals.

So, I sold him a half-page ad for Big Tex Autoplex in the special section of this week's paper. It took less time to sell him the ad than for either of us to order our food.

This conversation was very typical of most of the sales made in the special section: I found Coach and J.T. Eckstrum at the games, called Gary Bartlett on his cell phone while he was loading drink machines and stopped Jamie Bonner in the grocery store.

Each sale took less than three minutes. Especially when I told them that a third of the sales for the special section would be donated to the Salado Athletic Boosters.

I write not to brag on my stellar ad salesmanship, but to brag on the folks here in Salado.

Having run the newspaper for 11 years with Marilyn at my side, I continue to be amazed by the support Salado gives to its kids and families.

A few hours after the final Saturday, we loaded up in the truck to head for the Salado Civic Center Auction. Salado raised over $13,000 that evening for the maintenance, upkeep and improvement of our village center.

Last fall, the SVFD raised $26,000 with a barbecue, auction, and dance. It made the annual payment on the $250,000 note our firefighters have signed for new equipment. (More on this later).

Just last month, the Salado Youth Fair Boosters spent about $15,000 adding to Salado kids' projects and buying projects at the Bell County Youth Fair. Many of the 4-H, FFA and FHA students who sell their projects use the money for tuition and other costs when they head to college.

I could go on indefinitely about the "Good, Bad and Ugly" news daily fare from Washington

"The Good, The Bad and The Ugly" is not only the title of a crummy spaghetti western from yesteryear but can also be tacked on to some of the news coming out of Washington these days.

THE GOOD

The "good" news is that there is finally a bipartisan move to let the Independent Counsel Law die a natural death in June. Both sides of the aisle, in both houses of Congress, have come to the conclusion that this law is so "costly and out of control" that it needs a firm dose of euthanasia and a quiet burial, certainly without honors, in an unmarked potter's field.

Our thanks to Ken Starr for this excellent contribution to the American system of jurisprudential fair-play.

THE BAD

"Bad" news is the scuttlebutt that money is being raised and lobbying afoot to carve former President Ronnie Reagan's head on Mount Rushmore!

Not much use in debating the pros and cons of this effort especially since Reagan and his family are suffering enough with his illness but there are other Presidents who are, in the minds of most well adjusted apolitical historians, far ahead of the 40th President on the list to be memorialized along with Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson and Theodore Roosevelt.

Thankfully there may not be room for another monumental head on the South Dakota mountain side, but if there were some extra space then some objective thought should be given to which president best deserves this attention starting with Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Or better still - just leave the current memorial alone!

AND THE UGLY

Finally turning to the "ugly" section of the national news we find two items vying for first place in recent days. Using several definitions of "ugly", the first is the never ending sordid saga of Monica Lewinsky which cost TV advertisers $35 million bucks to coattail her two hour sexcapade detailed to Barbara Walters on ABC.

The "ugly as anger" news has to do with the annual report on how much of our tax money has been siphoned off for unworthy "pork barrel" waste as proclaimed by watchdog group "Citizens Against Government Waste" in their publication "Pig Book".

Seems Congress approved $12 billion for home state projects of questionable value, other than buying votes to remain in office - which is what it is all about in the first place.

Texas "pork" arrived with only $11.47 per person ranking us number 42 out of 50 states and poorly compared to Alaska's first place $273 per capita. Some of the Lone Star money went to build a new courthouse in Laredo thanks to Representative Henry Bonilla - a Republican (of all things) from San Antonio.

NO Y2K PROBLEMS UNEARTHED SO FAR

Last week we promised to look into any potential problems facing Saladoans when the year 2000 rolls around and try to answer the question: "What happens should a minor Armageddon take place, (in Salado), as predicted by a number of Y2K apocalyptic soothsayers - both in and out of government?"

The surprising fact that immediately

Off the Record

by Ken Clapp

What happens should a minor armageddon take place as predicted by a number of Y2K apocalyptic soothsayers - both in and out of government?

arose as questions were asked, is the totality of life that is linked to the computer. In fact, we could not find a single facet of daily living that is not in some way - tied directly or indirectly to the computer and its busy little chips who some fear will go "ga-ga" on January 1, 2000.

With this revelation in hand, we moved to some of the service providers in our village and found little to be concerned about - so far!

BANKS SET FOR Y2K

Our two local banks reported they were either in full or nearly full compliance with FDIC regulations dealing with the year 2000, so there is no use withdrawing one's life savings on December 31, 1999, for fear of a muck-up within the record keeping function at either Compass or First State Bank.

Wendall Williams, Compass Bank's Regional President, noted that his bank has converted more than 90 percent of its critical systems and by the end of this month (March) will be certified as "Year 2000 Ready", which means they will have tested all circuits and chips and their computers will be able to move from 1999 to 2000 without coming to pieces.

David Matthews, head of the Salado branch of First State Bank, told us that FSB is 100 percent on line following some super expensive work recently completed following months of adjusting each and every computer chip that could be affected by the Y2K Millennium Bug.

SPRINT TO BE READY BY JUNE

Sprint, our local telephone carrier reports they are in the final throes of preparing to make their system "Year-2000" compliant and by this June all should be ready not only for the actual providing of phone service but even more important - the billing functions.

Like all good companies that hire lawyers, Sprint did add a disclaimer to all this good news, to the effect that while they will be OK on January 1, 2000, they cannot be responsible for other phone companies that are interconnected for long distance nor for our home or business telephones since Sprint does not manufacture or design equipment.

UTILITIES, MEDICAL, SCHOOLS, CARS AND Y2K

Next week, with any luck at all, we will finish this Y2K short course with a look at how prepared the local schools are to overcome the computer glitch that doom and gloomers say is coming our way. Also word on our automobile's computer systems and how local hospitals, doctors, pharmacies and the utility companies are preparing for the new century that some grumpsayers are predicting will slow us down to a 1900 crawl. Or not!

volunteer spirit of our small village. The sense of civic duty is what sets Salado apart from other communities.

Yet, I have noticed one thing recently: too few are trying to do too much for the rest of the village.

Due to the nature of our business, we attend almost every fund raiser during the year. We see many of the same faces at those fund raisers, whether they are doing the work or writing the checks.

As Salado grows (which it will continue to do whether we want it to or not), the need for services and amenities grows. Five years ago, we had no soccer fields. Seven years ago, we had no Civic Center. Ten years ago, our fire department was small and had outdated equipment.

How many remember the old school house before the Chamber and Civic Center Foundation renovated it? Every dollar which was raised for the Civic Center came from the private sector.

Every dollar which is raised to maintain Pace Park comes from the private sector.

Every dollar which built the baseball and soccer fields our children play on came from the private sector.

As Salado grows, more and more dollars and more and more man-hours will be needed to maintain the quality of life we enjoy today.

Which leaves us with the question of where will the money and manpower come from?

In my opinion, one of two things will happen.

Either we will find new and innovative ways of recruiting new volunteers and donors or we will face incorporation as a desperate measure.

The latter will change the nature of our village forever.

But if the private sector -- you, me, our neighbors and our friends -- does not step up to the challenge, something else will fill the void.

The question remains: what do we want for the village we all love?

I'm listening.

Letters received about restaurant, luminaria

To the editor and readers

We are proud to advise you of the opening of our sister facility, Pflzerhof in Salado, located at 220 Robertson Road, adjacent to the Super 8 Motel.

Like Wurstmarkt in Harker Heights, Pflzerhof will offer a full-service restaurant and delicatessen, serving authentic German food, prepared fresh daily. The delicatessen will offer real "Old time German" breads to include brick oven baked bread and an assortment of German breads baked in our bakery in Harker Heights. The delicatessen will offer a full line of German cold cuts, to include jagdwurst, beerwurst, schinkenwurst, gelbwurst and several other sausage products from the fine German butchers and sausage makers of Schaller and Weber of New York. Additionally, link sausages prepared by German master sausage maker such as bratwurst, knackwurst, wieners, bauernwurst, nurnburgerbratwurst, and weisswurst will be available both in the restaurant and deli for take out.

The restaurant is currently open for lunch and dinner and later will offer both a Continental and American style breakfast. We anticipate having the deli operational by the middle of April.

We look forward to becoming part of the Salado community and will strive to be an asset.

Sincerely,

To the editor:

We noticed in the minutes of the February 4 meeting of the Salad Business Association that the merchants' use of electric luminaries in the historic district during the Christmas Stroll was discussed. We would like to say that we are very disappointed that such a proposal was even considered. People travel miles to Salado just to experience something real and authentic. They love the smell of fresh greenery, the sound of live carolers, and the flicker of real candles. The real is what draws people back again and again; the plastic stuff they can find in the big city malls. We can't imagine anyone coming any distance to a charming, historic Central Texas village to see its streets lined with plastic things with electric lights in them. Let's keep the atmosphere that of a real old-fashioned Christmas. It's worth the effort. If it is too much work, then let's do it one weekend during the season and do it right.

Yours truly,
Darwin & Carolyn Britt

Calf Scramble

Two SHS students win at Houston LS&R

In one of the most chaotic, heartwarming and exciting 10 minutes of the Feb. 22 evening performance of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, Craig Camp and Randy Tubbs of Salado, took the Astrodome spotlight as two of 14 winners in the popular calf scramble.

Randy and Craig, Salado FFA students at Salado High School, were two of 28 determined contestants who attempted to catch one of only 14 elusive calves, halter it and bring it into the winners' square in the middle of the 1.86-acre Astrodome arena. Not only did Randy manage to wrangle the slippery calf into the winners' square, he caught the "mystery calf" to boot.

Show officials randomly select the mystery calf during each rodeo performance. By catching this special animal, Randy wins three round-trip tickets donated by Continental Airlines good for travel anywhere in the continental United States, Canada or Mexico.

In addition, he and Craig will receive a $1,000 calf purchase certificate donated by Savings of America. The certificate is to be used for the purchase of a registered beef or dairy heifer which he will raise under the supervision of J. Brit Owen, his Vocational Agriculture teacher.

"Each calf scramble participant has worked hard to earn his or her place on the Astrodome floor and each is a winner before the scramble even starts," said Jack Greenwade, chairman of the all-volunteer Calf Scramble Committee.

"Those like Randy and Craig who are successful in the scramble have a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity. For them, this is just the beginning of a year full of challenges, hard work and excitement," added Greenwade. "Many times the scramblers and their donors become lifelong friends because of the bonds they have formed during the scramble year."

Although the scramble itself is entertaining, a serious side of the event begins once the Show is over. Each of the students who catches a calf is awarded a calf purchase certificate, donated by an individual or a company, to purchase a registered beef or dairy heifer. The heifer then becomes the basis of a yearlong project in which the scrambler must personally raise the animal, groom, fit, feed and care for it until it returns to the Houston Livestock Show the following year to participate in special competition.

Joining the scramblers in the competition are the top 20 high-point individuals in both the 4-H and FFA Livestock Judging contests and the 4-H and FFA Dairy Judging contests. These winners also receive $1,000 purchase certificates and take on the same yearlong animal project.

Throughout the year, the students keep accurate and detailed records of their animals' progress, submitting records to both the Show and the donor chronicling the heifer's development. The winner's agricultural science teacher or county extension agent supervises the entire project.

Each year, approximately 360 calf purchase certificates are donated. Since the calf scramble was added to the Show's agenda in 1942, more than $5.4 million has been awarded to scramble winners who've raised 14,605 animals.

The Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo runs Feb. 19-March 7. Each of the 20 rodeo performances features outstanding PRCA action in the world's richest regular-season rodeo, ciuck wagon races and indoor fireworks. In addition, each performance includes concert entertainment provided by star-studded lineup made up of some of the world's most popular names in country, R&B and Tejano music.

Each year the Show benefits Texas youth through individual scholarships and endowments to Texas colleges and universities. For the 1998-99 school year, the Show will contribute more than $7.7 million in scholarships and other educational programs to Texas students.

Tickets for the rodeo performances are available at all Ticketmaster outlets, the Astrodome box office or call 1-800-726-1313 or visit www.ticketmaster.com.

UMHB sets revival

The University of Mary Hardin-Baylor has scheduled its first-ever Tent Revival Mar. 22-25. The Revival is free and open to the public.

Voddie Baucham will be the guest speaker each night. Musical guest Soul's Desire will also perform. Each session will start at 7 p.m. in the Quadrangle located on Moore Street on campus.

Soul's Desire is a musical group consisting of a group of friends from Houston, Waco, Snyder, South Padre Island and Palestine that all served together in different college ministries. The group currently calls Sugar Land, Texas home. According to the group, their desire is to be lead worshipers of God, not performers.

Larnelle Harris, a major Christian artist, will be in concert at 7 p.m. Mar. 11 at the First Baptist Church, Belton. Larnelle has traveled the world bringing the Word to countries including Russia, South Korea, and South Africa. He realizes that at heart, all people and their needs are not really that different. He has made numerous TV appearances on shows such as Live With Regis and Kathie Lee; Music City Tonight with Crook & Chase on TNN; and Billy Graham Crusades' World Vision TV Special. Larnelle has also received five Grammys and ten Dove awards. His new album, Unbelievable Love, features bold, contemporary music.

The Larnelle Harris concert tickets will be sold to the public for the $5 and are available at local ticket vendors. It is open to the public. For more information call 295-5150.

Methodists have busy schedule

Springer talks March 17 to Wed. Night Fellowship

Salado United Methodist Church will host Fred Springer for its regular Wednesday Night Fellowship March 17. Fred, a long time resident of Salado, and a member of SUMC, has traveled extensively. In one of his travels, he visited Africa University, a United Methodist University located in Zimbabwe. It is the only United Methodist degree granting institution on the continent of Africa.

Africa University is supported through the United Methodist World Service Fund. It graduated its first class in 1998. Students can obtain degrees in various fields, including agriculture, technology, education and theology. Its goal is to train and educate people to work among the people of its nations.

A catered meal will be provided at the cost of $4 per individual or $10 per family. Serving begins at 5:30 p.m. The program is from 6-6:30 p.m. The public is invited. Please call the church office for details at 947-5482.

Fun Raisers plan next trip

The Fun Raisers, a group of "autumn-aged" citizens from the Salado United Methodist Church and surrounding community, have planned their next outing for March 18.

They will travel to Pflugerville for lunch and a movie at Tinseltown.

To make reservations, please call 947-5481 or the church office at 947-5482. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Church adds early Sunday worship service

The Salado United Methodist Church has added an 8-8:30 a.m. service to their Sunday worship schedule.

The service, 30 minutes in length, is designed for people who have other plans on Sunday, but desire a time to worship. It will consist of music, prayer, Scripture and a short message.

Dress for this service is very casual especially for those who are going on to other activities after the service. The other worship service times are 9 a.m., 11 a.m., and 5:30 p.m. Sunday school for all ages is at 10 a.m.

The 5:30 p.m. service is called Sunday Night Live and consists of special talent from around the area. The format of the service is informal and so is the dress.

Johnston gives sermon Mar. 14

Brady Johnston, the son of Sandy and Terry Johnston of Salado will deliver the 9 a.m. morning message for the Salado United Methodist Church Mar. 14.

Brady is a freshman studying for the ministry at the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor in Belton.

Brady is a graduate of Salado High School and is active in the church. This will be the second time that he has brought the morning message.

All are invited to attend and support him in his endeavors to become a minister.

A Brief Visit With Pastor J. Floyd Franks

At times, each of us finds ourselves in some kind of storm. It may be a family storm, a financial storm, a storm of ill health, etc. You might be in one of those storms right now and you think that no one really cares.

I read about a military officer and his wife aboard a ship on the ocean and were caught in a raging storm. Seeing the frantic look in his wife's eyes, the officer tried to calm her fears, but all to no avail. The wife grabbed her husband's sleeve and asked, "How can you be so calm?" Her husband stepped back a few feet, drew out his sword, pointed it at her heart and asked her, "Are you afraid of this?" Without hesitation she answered, "Of course not." "Why not?" he asked. "Because it's in your hand, and you love me too much to hurt me." To this he replied, "I know the One Who holds the winds and waters in the hollow of His hand, and He cares deeply for us."

We need to remember God's Word that tells us, "Casting all your care upon Him; for He cares for you" (1 Peter 5:7). And, dear friend, we at Cedar Valley Baptist Church care also.

Eagles win Moody Tournament

Salado Eagles took the championship of the Moody baseball tournament, defeating Somerville 10-4, Hubbard 12-8 and the hosting Bearcats 20-3. The tournament trophy came after the Eagles suffered their first loss of the season to Waco Vanguard.

Salado 10, Somerville 4
Even though Salado didn't hit the ball very well, the Somerville shoddy defense allowed the Eagles six runs in the first inning without a hit.

Salado produced only four hits on the night. They were collected by Adam Nuse, Paul Lucas, Michael Gunter and Chris Ray.

Even with the feeble offense, the Eagles cruised to a 10-4 win over Somerville. David Palmer pitched the four-inning contest for Salado, allowing four hits and striking out nine Yeguas.

Salado 12, Hubbard 8
Hubbard put three runs on the board in the top of the first inning of the semi-final game. A lead-off single, a walk, a Salado error and two sacrifices produced the runs.

The Eagles came back in the bottom of the first inning with five runs to take the lead. Beau Wallace had a one-out double to start things. Consecutive walks loaded the bases and Troy Smith delivered a two-run single. After another out, Michael Gunter came through with a double to put Salado ahead 4-3. Gunter eventually scored on an error.

Hubbard tied the game with a single and a homerun in the second inning. Again, the Eagles responded by scoring four runs in their at-bat. Salado drew six walks and Hubbard committed two errors to allow the Eagles to jump back in front 9-5.

After shutting Hubbard out in the third, the Eagles added three more runs in the bottom of the innings. Again, it was thanks to the generosity of Hubbard, which issued six more walks and committed an error.

Hubbard close to 12-8 in the top of the fourth. Chris Ray came on in relief of starting Eagle pitcher Robert Ellis and closed the door on Hubbard over the last two inning to preserve the win for Salado.

Salado 20, Moody 1
The championship was never in doubt when Salado faced Moody in the final game as the Eagles scored nine runs in the top of the first.

Kevin Keller, Adam Nuse and Paul Lucas produced the only hits of the big inning. Salado worked the Moody pitcher for six walks in the inning and his defense committed three errors, as every Salado starter scored in the inning.

Moody scored three runs in the bottom of the first and one in the second, but that was all they could produce on the night off Eagles pitcher Adam Nuse.

Salado added two runs in the third inning and put nine more up in the fourth. Wallace and Nuse both had two hits in the big inning.

Nuse picked up the win, allowing four hits and striking out nine in the four-inning game.

Leading hitters in the championship game were Nuse and Wallace, who were both 3 of 4. Paul Lucas, David Palmer and Keller each added two hits.

Salado 7, Vanguard 11

The Eagles were handed their first loss of the season when they faced Waco Vanguard March 2.

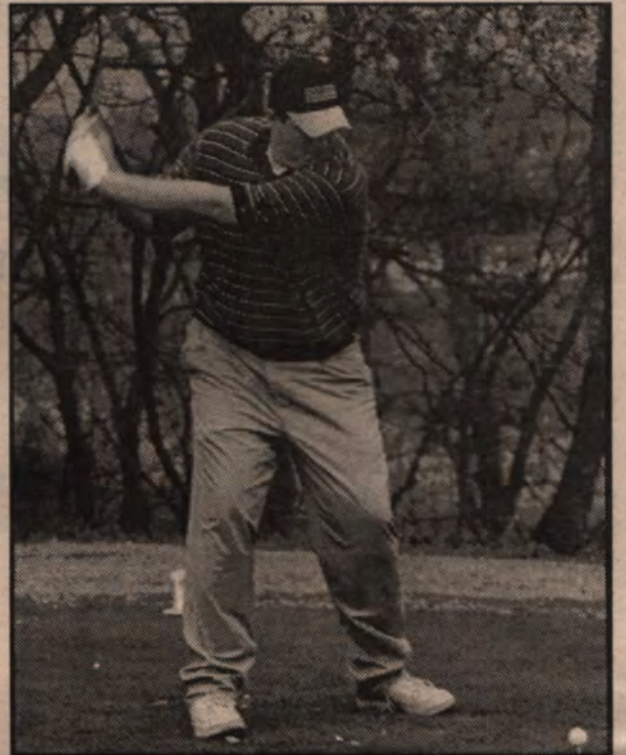

Adam Nuse absorbed the loss on the mound for Salado. He pitched superbly during his three innings, but the defense let him down. Nuse allowed four hits and struck out five. The Eagles trailed 5-2 when Nuse left the mound. He did not allow an earned run.

Salado jumped to an early 2-0 lead in the first inning on hits by Kevin Keller, Beau Wallace and Troy Smith.

A porous defense did not allow the Eagles to hold on. Salado committed seven errors on the night, allowing seven unearned runs.

Keller and Smith both had good nights at the plate, going 2 of 4.

Blake Cameron tees off from number one at Mill Creek during the Salado High School Invitational Golf Tournament March 8. The Salado golfer tied for first place with Cameron High School with these top four scores: Ashley Jones, 75, second place medalist; John McLaughlin, 80; Brian Butscher, 80, Michael Schoepf, 98. The team placed fourth last week at the Cameron Invitational Tournament and won the Rogers Tournament the prior week. The team placed third at Regionals last year. Cameron placed seventh in the State Golf Tournament last year.

Spanish Club raises funds

During the Lady Eagles pep rally, on Mar. 5 the Salado High School Spanish Club held its annual drawing of the spirit links. Each year the Spanish Club members sell Spirit Links to raise money for the Spanish Club Scholarship that is awarded to a graduating senior who has been a vital force within the club. During the pep rally, the spirit link chain was strung out on the gym floor and Coach Larry Salisbury was asked by Ms. Harmon to pick the winning link. The winner of this years Emerson stereo system was Jonathan Culin, a freshman at Salado High School. After the pep rally, Jonathan made it known to Ms. Harmon that he really needed a new stereo because his old one at home just quit working.

"It is always nice when the winner can really use the prize. Many who bought links had stated they would sell the stereo if they won it since they didn't need it. So, I was really thrilled when the winner could actually use it," said Harmon.

The club's next fund raiser will be a Cinco de Mayo dance in May.

Theater Arts Summer Camp, under the direction of Tom Taylor, will be held June 14-18 at Tablerock Amphitheater in Salado. The hours will be 9 a.m.-2 p.m. Mon. - Fri. The camp is suitable for third to sixth grade children. The fee is $75 per child and the class is limited to 30.

Tom Taylor, a veteran teacher of theatre, speech, and English at the college, university and public school levels is currently head of the Drama Department at Killeen High School. He earned his BA and MA degrees in education and communication from UT Austin. Taylor has worked with young people since 1970 as a teacher, coach and counselor and has conducted countless performances in schools, camps, and hospitals from China to Great Britain.

of five children's books. Taylor began writing when touring with his award-winning one-man play on Woody Guthrie, the "Father of American Folk Music." For six years, he performed his play throughout the U.S., Canada, Scotland and dependent School District. They have two grown children and one granddaughter.

Paintings on display at UMHB

Paintings by new Art instructor Barbara Fontaine-White will be displayed at Presser Gallery on the campus of the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor until Mar. 12.

This newest member of the UMHB art faculty brings with her a wealth of experience and talent. She has taught art at all levels of public school and college and has museum and framing experience. She teaches drawing and painting, photography, art history and is the faculty sponsor for the yearbook. Fontaine-White earned a BA and MA degrees from the University of Albany in her native state of New York. She also holds the Master of Fine Arts degree from Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

Fontaine-White's paintings can best be described as painterly realistic. The work has the reality of direct observation showing precise color and textual definition. Also seen in the paintings is a concern for the two dimensional structural design. The combination of these two elements of traditional realism and contemporary design structure is what the painterly realism category is about. There are about one dozen oil and pastel paintings depicting still-life and architectural settings.

Her influences include the contemporary paintings of Neil Weliver and Janet Fish as well as the works of French postimpressionist Manet and the 17th century genre paintings of Flemish painter Vermeer.

Presser Gallery is located on the first floor of Presser Hall at the corner of Ninth and King Streets on the UMHB campus in Belton. The exhibit is free to the public and is open during school hours. For more information call Hershall Seals, UMHB Art Department at 295-4675.

Media contributes to national identity, Carey says

by Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

Journalist James Carey attributed the evolution of kingdoms, empires and civilizations into nations to the printing press during his March 7 lecture before the Institute for the Humanities on "Media and the American Identity."

Carey is the CBS Professor of Journalism at Columbia University in New York and was the first speaker in the Institute's lecture series on "Media and the American Identity."

The printing press and newspapers were instrumental in "creating the imaginary identity of a nation," Carey said, adding that newspapers bonded individuals in a geographic region into a nation through a common language of ideas and information.

Newspapers contributed to national identity because they covered a nation with "a uniform blanket of knowledge, information, discussion and ideas."

"Whether you lived in Austin or New York, you could read a newspaper for the same national news sprinkled with items of local interest," Carey said.

"The imaginary community of a nation, which was limited by the printing press, becomes completed when TV removes that last barrier and penetrates the South," Carey said.

"You could go to bed by the Tonight Show, wake up by the Today Show or stay up late and watch the Tomorrow Show, whether you were in the largest city or the most remote mountain," Carey said of TV, which evolved to go beyond the artificial borders of nations.

But as the media was broadening the borders of the American nation, history was broadening its philosophy.

"We are part of a civil religion, one which we have in common; one which is woven into the fabric of our national story," Carey said. "At first, this religion was Protestant, but broadened to include Catholics. This Christian ethic was further broadened to be the Judeo-Christian ethic. In recent years, it has broadened to be called the 'Abrahamic' ethic, to include the Muslim religion."

Shortly after TV came onto the American scene, there was a wave of nation-building following World War II. "These new nations cropped up that were the fallout of the old European Imperialism," Carey said. "The new nations were as imaginary as we were."

And in the 1960s "when things seemed to be coming apart," TV changed its face and again changed the world. A station operator in Atlanta changed TV forever when he came up with the idea of broadcasting his station nationwide via cable. "This was not a national network like ABC or CBS, but a national TV station," Cary said.

The influx of cable television created a new generation of powerful media moguls. Eventually, as satellite broadcasts made it possible to reach parts of the globe earlier unthought-of, "these media corporations were no longer American companies, but worldwide," Carey said, referring to the motto of Time-Warner, "The World is our Audience." Isn't that arrogant?"

Other media companies followed suit in a race to reach the broadest audience possible, regardless of nation, religion or creed.

"Nations now mean nothing," Carey said. "The new currency is in the ether, in satellites, digitized and broadcast around the world."

The electronic media also changed our nation in 1968 with the broadcast of "The Crying Room." Journalists smuggled cameras into China and filmed inside orphanages where "auditorium-sized rooms of children were seen rocking back and forth in the rhythm of a child deprived of even the basics of touch or nurturing," Carey explained. "This constricted the moral space between us and the suffering in other parts of the world. The carnage of the world was now brought up close in pictures, not mediated to us through words in a newspaper."

Because of television, we learned of our responsibility and duty to other people in other parts of the world.

Organizations such as Amnesty International began to be formed. "Amnesty International defends victims and human rights independent of ideology or government or religion."

"My students find me hopelessly nationalistic," Carey said. "They say we live in a global village."

But even in that global village, there are movements for separatism and nationalism, based on religion and language.

"It is paradoxical that I can go to Europe and be unable to tell an American from a European," Carey said while ethnic cleansing occurs between people who have lived side by side for hundreds of years and have 30 percent intermarriages.

"It is the old story of Cain and Abel," he said, "that a brother could kill the one he is so much like. Freud calls this the 'narcissism of small differences,' and we are seeing it break out in pockets all over eastern Europe."

Yet in spite of separatism and nationalism, Carey said he is "hopefully optimistic."

"The strength of a democratic people is their sense that cruelty is the worst we can do and their sympathy for others' pain," Carey said. "Despite our differences, our similarities are what bond us together."

Republicans gather March 11 to hear from Texas Public Policy

Members of the Republican Party of Salado will meet at the Civic Center on 7 p.m. Mar. 11 to hear Melinda Wheatley, a staff member of Texas Public Policy Foundation in San Antonio talk about important issues facing Texans in 1999 and 2000.

This meeting hosted by members of Chisholm Trail Republican Women and open to all interested persons, is one of a series of programs to be offered during the coming year to make people more aware of issues affecting us locally, state-wide, and nationally.

No reservations are necessary. A social hour and registration will begin at 6:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Texas Public Policy Foundation is a nonprofit, nonpartisan 501(c)(3) research institute that was founded in 1989 and is guided by core principles of limited government, free enterprise, private property rights, and individual responsibility. Past and ongoing studies by TPPF include government waste, education reform, downsizing state governments, welfare reform, and tax reform.

In 1997, TPPF did an independent performance review of 12 state agencies and found $734 million of waste that was undiscovered by any state agency with fiscal oversight responsibility. The foundation played a key role in the adoption of the most innovative and ambitious charter school program in the U.S. TPPF research was responsible for helping to sway minority legislators and key members of House leadership to vote in favor of school choice. TPPF's intervention in the writing of new curriculum standards, the Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills (TEKS), led to a 10-month extension of the adoption schedule, and more importantly, TPPF recommendations to the State Board of Education substantially increased the academic rigor of TEKS, which was originally described by Governor Bush as "mush".

TPPF accepts no government funding and is entirely dependant businesses, individuals, and charitable foundations for funding of all its research projects.

Budget tops $91.7 billion

by Suzanna Hupp
State Rep. District 54

The proposed budget for 2000-2001 biennium, totals $91.7 billion dollars in spending. The new budget increases funding for public education and our criminal justice system. The increased funding for education continuing to make education our number one priority. Also, the increases in funding for our criminal justice system will help to strengthen our tough on crime policies that have helped to lower the crime rate in Texas and make our streets and communities safer for our children. The cornerstones to the state budget are good schools and safe streets.

The new budget dedicates an additional $1.6 billion for public schools and $233 million for higher education. The criminal justice system would receive an additional $229 million to accommodate prison population growth. Also included in the budget is an increase of $428 million for health and human services to cover state Medicaid costs; assist nursing-home clients and compensate for the rising caseloads in foster care and adoptions.

Overall the budget proposal includes $41.8 billion for education, $7.4 billion for public safety and criminal justice, $26.9 billion for health and human services, $10.8 billion for economic development and transportation, $1.6 billion for natural resources, $2.8 billion for general government operations, and $441 million for regulatory agencies.

Education funding is the largest share of the total budget accounting for 45.5% of the state budget. Increasing the state's share, of education funding will help insure that all our children receive a quality education and that education funding will not be too dependent on the local economy.

The new budget does not include the first $1.7 billion paycheck from the tobacco settlement and still leaves the $2.5 billion not spent during this current biennium. Focusing on spending is not our only priority. With this surplus, the legislature will be looking at ways to lower the tax burden for Texas families and create new higher paying jobs through lower property taxes and business taxes. Investing the surplus in Texas families by lowering taxes and creating jobs is the right choice.

King returns for workshop March 20

By popular request Roberta King will return to give her workshop on "Faux Finishes" on Mar. 20.

"Faux" is the French word for "false." In the context of the workshop this means the creative use of media to make an object look like what it is not, as in marbleizing to create the look of real marble, or antiquing to make an object appear old. A comprehensive array of techniques will be demonstrated. To enhance the learning experience there will be some repetition of subjects taught in the last workshop as well as the addition of new.

For the best learning experience students are encouraged to take an active part in the workshop but those who choose just to observe are welcome. A supply list will be mailed to each registrant.

The workshop is sponsored by the Salado Village Artist and will be held at the Art Center. It is open to anyone who is desirous of learning and experimenting with this art form. It will begin promptly at 9 a.m. and conclude at 5 p.m. with an hour break for lunch.

The cost is $50. For more information call the Workshop Chairman, Sharon McGlasson, at 947-4545.

Investors Corner

Protect Your Portfolio Without Sacrificing Return Potential

Van Simon
Investment Broker

Many investors seek investments that can guarantee the security of their principal (the original amount of their investment). But such choices can pay a modest return compared with more aggressive investments. Is there a way to build a portfolio that can offer both the security of your principal and the potential for above-average returns?

You may want to consider combining the security of government securities and the growth potential of other investments. The first step in setting up such a portfolio is deciding your investment time frame. Are you willing to invest your principal for five years, ten years or longer?

The next step is to choose your investments. First, you should choose investments that offer safety of principal, such as treasury securities. The idea is that, if held to maturity, these investments will return your total initial investment within the time frame you select, regardless of the performance of the other portion of your portfolio allocated to growth investments with higher risk.

The growth side of the equation allows you the opportunity to select any single investment or combination of investments you believe has the potential for higher returns. Of course, with this higher return potential comes a commensurate amount of risk. The return of your initial principal from the "security" side of the investment helps offset this risk.

U.S. Treasury Zero Coupon Bonds (often referred to as "Treasury Zeros") are a popular investment for the "security" side of this strategy. Treasury Zeros are sold at a discounted price, which is substantially less than the bonds' face value. All interest accrues within the bonds and is paid at maturity. The bonds are then worth their face value. You should be aware that because they pay no current interest, Zero Coupon Bonds fluctuate more dramatically with changing interest rates than bonds that pay regular interest. As a result, you could encounter losses in a rising-interest-rate environment should you sell your Treasury Zeros before maturity. You should also note that you will owe federal income taxes on the accrued interest of your Treasury Zero Coupon Bonds each year, although you receive no interest payments until maturity. Assume you invest $100,000 for 10 years. On the "security" side of the strategy, you invest approximately $59,000 in U.S. Treasury Zero Coupon Bonds, which will grow to $100,000 at maturity. (This example is based on Treasury Zeros with a yield to maturity of 5%.) To complete the "growth" side of the equation, you invest the remaining $41,000 in an investment that represents the best opportunity for above-average growth and/or income. With this strategy, even if the $41,000 you invest for the "growth" side decreases to $0, you will receive your entire $100,000 investment when your Treasury Zeros mature. Remember, to ensure the full return of principal, bonds must be held to maturity.

However, if the "growth" side provides a compounded annual return of 10%, the total value of the portfolio after 10 years would be $206,343. (Exact numbers will vary depending on current interest rates, the time frame of your investment, the amount invested, and the performance of your "growth" side investment. Numbers are for illustration purposes only and not reflective of any specific investment.)

If you want the assurance of knowing your principal is secure, with the ability to participate in opportunities presented by the financial markets, this strategy might be right for you.

Salado Chamber of Commerce • Institute for the Humanities of Salado • Pace Memorial Park • Salado, Texas

"Chisholm Trail" is the title of the Texas 100 Invitational Art Show poster, which is now on sale for $25. The poster was designed and created by Texas artist James Blair, who has recently moved his studio from Austin to Salado. Proceeds from the sale of the poster will benefit Pace Park and the Institute for the Humanities.

Texas 100

Invitational art show May 8-9 in Salado's Pace Park

The inaugural Texas 100 Invitational Art Show will feature some of the best Texas artists in Pace Park May 8-9.

The "Texas 100" is set under the shady oaks of Pace Park 9 a.m.-5 p.m. May 8 and 9 a.m.-3 p.m. May 9. Admission is $5.

"We are bringing together an eclectic collection of traditional and contemporary artists working in a variety of media," said chairman Tim Fleischer.

Fleischer said that artists working in flat and dimensional media will set up under the oaks of Pace Park. "Many of the artists have never shown in Salado before and are excited about coming in the Spring," he added. "Others are old favorites in Salado and around the State."

Personal invitations were sent to artists late in the fall.

"We think the Texas 100 will become a favorite show for artists and art collectors," chair Tim Fleischer said.

In addition to the art exhibition and sale, the Texas 100 will feature live music by Texas musicians.

Bill James, of Belton Acoustic Concert Series, is organizing the music for the show.

"We are lucky to have a great mixture of music," Fleischer said.

Musicians slated for the weekend include The Nonchalants with Jeff Talmadge, who will perform during the Preview Party May 7 in pace Park.

Musicians slated for May 8 are these: Jan Evans and Jennie Evans (11 a.m.), Betty Elders (1:30 p.m.) and Kim Miller (3 p.m.)

Performing Sunday will be Paul Edward Sanchez (10:30 a.m.), Jackie Kemmy (11:30 a.m.), Steve Brooks (12:30 p.m.), and Terri Hendrix with Lloyd Maines (1:30 p.m.)

Cast members from "The Taming of the Shrew" will perform vignettes of the play Saturday morning.

A 5K Fun Run/Walk will kick off the show May 8. The run will begin in Pace Park at 8 a.m. May 8. (See related story this issue Salado Village Voice.)

A Preview Party May 7 in pace Park will give artists and collectors a more intimate setting to meet.

The Preview Party will include a catered dinner, cash bar and live music in the park.

The Preview Party will kickoff the weekend at 6:30 p.m. May 7.

Admission is $15 per person with all proceeds being used for improvements and maintenance of Pace Park.

There will be a silent auction and live auction of artwork donated by artists showing in the sale.

One of the items to be sold live is an original hand-pulled lithograph of the Texas 100 poster art "Chisholm Trail" by James R. Blair.

"Chisholm Trail" graces the Texas 100 Poster, which will be sold during the weekend as well as before the show. Several galleries in Salado will sell the poster before the show.

The 30X24 poster is printed on heavy coated paper and is suitable for framing.

"I am proud of this work," Blair said of the poster. "It will hang beautifully in any home or office."

Proceeds from the sale of the poster will benefit Pace Park and the Institute for the Humanities at Salado.

"Chisholm Trail" will also be used on the commemorative T-shirt for the show. T-shirts will be available for $15 each during the Gospel Festival needs singers and musicians for April 24

Tom Taylor, Coordinator for the Tablerock Gospel Festival is looking for singers who would like to be a part of the Fourth Annual Gospel Festival, 7 p.m. Apr. 24, at Salado's Tablerock Amphitheater.

Individuals, groups of various sizes, bands and choirs are welcome. A maior difference this year, however, is that all selections must be either original compositions by the performing artists themselves, or public domain works. By emphasizing original compositions we seek to encourage and promote the work of area artists; by focusing on public domain material we look to concentrate on the timeless classics of shared Christian heritage.

Each participant will be allowed 15 minutes. Since the festival runs about three hours we can accommodate up to twelve groups.

Those interested need to submit a recording of their work (a good, clear home or church recording is fine). All materials submitted will be returned. Artists are encouraged to make any recordings available to the public following their presentation.

Call Tablerock, 947-9205, for information.

Habitat gives out applications

The Belton/Temple Habitat for Humanity affiliate is holding its next Public Meeting from 9 p.m. - 11 p.m. Mar. 27 at the Meridith-Dunbar Elementary School in Temple and from 1 p.m. - 3 p.m. at Central Elementary School in Belton. The meeting is open to the public. The purpose of this meeting is to distribute applications, provide assistance in filling them out and provide information about qualification criteria. Applications will no longer be mailed out to interested families. You must come to this Public Meeting in order to apply for the next house. Public meetings will be held twice yearly.

We are currently building our sixth house in Belton/Temple area. Habitat for Humanity is an international organization which seeks to make decent shelter possible for working families who find their wages insufficient to purchase a home through conventional means. Habitat homes are made affordable because Habitat makes no profit and charges no interest on the homes it builds and sells. Habitat is able to construct a home in the Belton/Temple area for around $25,000. For further information you may contact Belton/Temple Habitat for Humanity at (254) 760-7199, P.O. Box 3159, Temple, TX 76505.

Fourth Grade Drama in the Mills

Salado's 4th grade students at Thomas Arnold Elementary School are busy preparing an original melodrama for a May 15 performance.

The eight playwrights/composers have been working on their production since January. Adam Patton, Leigh Martin, Justine F. Raborn, Jamie Burson, Mark Gunter, Clayton Hendrix, Nathan Sitz and Keith Folwell are working under the direction of playwright Jackie Mills to pen their melodrama and also write original lyrics to the appropriate melodrama music.

Tablerock Board Members and volunteers will teach the students to run Tablerock's lights and sound system. The students who sign up for make-up and wardrobe will be instructed in those techniques. The children will use their own ideas in designing tickets, posters and programs. The student directors, managers and prop masters will be given the opportunity to use their creativeness while the concession stand people, the parking attendants and ushers will have fun using their math as well as their people skills.

This annual fourth grade project is sponsored by Tablerock Festival of Salado, Inc. This year there will be 67 children taking part in the melodrama. All monies earned from the performance and concession stand will be deposited in a savings account for the students 2007 senior trip.

Remembering Toots Mansfield

by Tumbleweed Smith
Toots Mansfield was an inspiration to everyone who knew him. He was perhaps the most respected cowboy ever to ride a horse. When he roped calves and steers for a living, his competitors were thrilled just to be in the same arena with him. Toots died the other day at the age of 84.

Big Spring.
Toots was the first president of the Rodeo Cowboys Association, the first cowboy to be inducted into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame, the first calf roper to flank calves and the first person to have a school for rodeo cowboys. He was a charter member of the Pro Rodeo Hall of Fame and was inducted into the National Cowboy Hall of Fame.

Between 1938 and 1950 he set calf roping records that made headlines across the nation. When the name Toots Mansfield was announced over a rodeo PA system, fans were thrilled.

In 1968, when Toots had his calf roping school, I followed him around for two days, tape recording every word he spoke to the youngsters learning how to rope and tie a calf. I recorded whirring ropes, bawling calves, hoofbeats, grunts and creaking saddle leather. To me, it was the sound of Texas and became the inspiration and start of See Tumbleweed, 11B.

Toots was the first rodeo superstar. He was the first to treat a rodeo event as a true sport. He trained like any other athlete, spending hours getting his body in shape and honing his roping skills on a sawhorse dummy in his backyard in

Sculptor, musician bring arts alive during Auxiliary meeting March 11

The Salado Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary will celebrate the arts at their March 11 meeting at the Salado Civic Center. Coffee will be served at 9:30 a.m. followed by the 10 a.m. meeting.

Salado sculptor Troy Kelley and saxophonist Jeff Hogan will be featured during the program.

Native Texan Troy Kelley is best known for Sirena, which graces the Salado Creek. He received an undergraduate degree in art from Midwestern University in 1962 and a graduate degree in 1972 from the University of Maryland. He has studied in Italy, in Germany and the Corcoran School of Art in Washington S.C.

Kelley's work is usually realistic, covering a variety of subjects. He specializes in lifesize bronze sculptures, portraits, monuments and commissions.

"It is extremely important to me that my sculpture work be in harmony with the environment," Kelley says. "The sculpture and the setting must be congruous with each other; with each working in harmony with the other to create a maximum visual effect and to stimulate the viewer."

Jeff Hogan teaches in the band program at Bonham Middle School in Temple. He grew up in Carrollton, Texas and graduated from Newman Smith High School. Hogan received his bachelor's degree in music education from Wayland Baptist University in Plainview. He has taught band for nine years.

President Marge Kirkman will conduct a short business meeting before the program.

Hospitality co-chairs are Melba Kattner and Elizabeth Haldy. Greeters will be Lorraine Beckwith and Helen Clayton.

The Auxiliary meets the second Thursday of each month, usually at the Salado Civic Center at 9:30 a.m. All ladies in the Salado area are invited to attend and join the group. Dues are $5 per year.

my syndicated radio program.

All the while he was competing in rodeos, Toots gave part of his earnings to a Baptist church in Bandera, where he was born and raised. Cowboys who roped against Toots often discussed why he was impossible to beat. "I know why," one said, "It's because every time he backs into the box, 10,000 Baptists are praying for him."

Toots learned to rope on the family ranch. After high school, he teamed up with Juan Salinas, a rancher in Encinal. Juan provided a horse named Honey Boy and paid Toots's entry fees. They split the earnings. That association lasted four years, then Toots went out on his own with his horse named Smoky, which he owned for 26 years.

Toots had rough hands, made that way by years of throwing ropes, wrestling calves and steers to the ground and tying their feet. Toots was tough. At a roping in Pecos one year, he was to rope six steers and six calves. While he was roping his first steer, he broke his leg when his horse fell on him. He got up, tied that first steer, then roped and tied five more, then handled six calves, hobbling all the way. He won that roping and didn't go to the hospital until he got back to Big Spring.

You can talk about all of Toots's honors and awards, his earnings and all he accomplished, but the real essence of Toots was his unassuming, easy going manner and his many friends. Toots never said a bad word about anybody and nobody said anything bad about Toots. He was a good man, a gentleman who personified the spirit of the west.

Real Estate Tip of the Week

What Should I Look For In A Neighborhood?

Some neighborhoods speak loud and clear at first glance: the quality of life is apparent in its streets, parks, buildings, homes and yards, and the folks you see. You get a feel for it (either for or against) just by looking at it.

A real estate agent can of course, fill you in on community details not so obvious at first glance:

- where zoning regulations apply
- what community services apply
- what construction plans are in the offering
- what shifts in transportation facilities are occurring
- what tax rates prevail

For a more intimate impression, you should walk around a neighborhood that looks attractive to you. Visit with the schools where children will attend to confirm district boundaries and comparisons to other schools. Talk with people in local stores and chat, go to parks and visit the park visitors asking about recreational programs, ask residents what they like and don't like about the neighborhood. You might want to take a few photos of the area so to recollect when you decide after visiting several neighborhoods.

Inspecting a neighborhood is as important as inspecting a home. An old real estate maxim is: "The best time to think about selling your home is when you think about buying it." Location will influence future buyers when it comes to sell.

Hardy, Mark Abbott, Ricky Turpin and Bill Gilbert; also, champion fiddlers, Joey McKenzie and Sherrie Hill McKenzie.

While working on his music degree at the University of North Texas, Dave joined the Red River Brass, a band created by Neiman Marcus to promote the Red River Western clothing line. Inspired by Western Swing, Dave decided to assemble his own Western Swing Big Band. In 1984, Dave was invited to perform at the White House for President Ronald Regan's Inauguration.

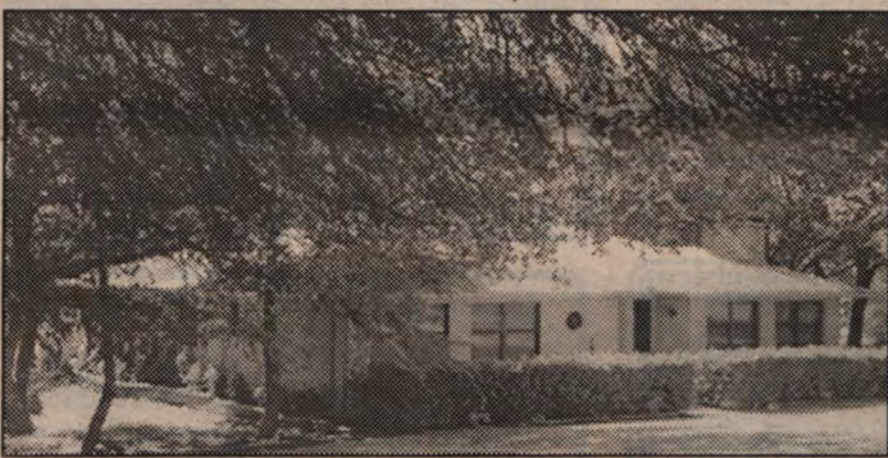

Other notable performances include the World Economic Summit, the Bolo Ball at the National Cowboy Hall of Fame, and on numerous occasions the National Anthem for the World Champion Dallas Cowboys. He has had the distinct honor of performing regularly at the Houston Rodeo and is the composer of the Houston Rodeo Theme Song. Along with his group, "The Legends of Western Swing," Dave has appeared with the biggest names in country music such as Garth Brooks, George Strait, Clint Black and Reba McEntire. He is currently headlining concerts and dances across the United States and Canada. He received the Academy of Western Artist Award for Best Western Swing Band for 1998.

Admission to the afternoon performance is $5 and to the dance is $10. The fajita dinner is $7.50. Tickets should be purchased now for the dance and dinner to reserve your table. No meal tickets at the door.
