Salado Art Fair all set

Over 100 artists to gather under Pace Park oaks Aug. 1-2

The 32nd Annual Salado Art Fair will bring thousands of visitors to our quiet village Aug. 1-2. The Fair will be spread under the oaks in Pace Park in the heart of Salado, along the banks of the Salado Creek.

Featuring over 100 award-winning artists and artisans in a wide range of media, the Salado Art Fair has developed a reputation as one of the finest art shows in the state.

The Art Fair will be open 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Saturday August 1 and 8 a.m.-3 p.m. Sunday August 2 with $3 admission. Children under 12 will be admitted free of charge.

Free parking is available throughout the village with bus shuttles to the Fair. Shuttle locations include the Salado Plaza Shopping Center on the north end of Main St., the Salado Civic Center and the parking lot at The Colony shopping center (where Windberg Gallery and Days Gone By are located).

The Salado Rotary Club will also carry visitors to and from the Art Fair in golf carts loaned by Mill Creek Golf and Country Club and by individuals in the village.

Artists working in oils, watercolors, acrylics, pastels, photography and mixed media will sell their works. Sculpture, woodworks, glassworks, jewelry, metalwork and handmade clothing will also be available.

Live music sponsored by Attention, Volunteers!

If you have volunteered to work during the Salado Art Fair Aug. 1-2, be sure that you have a volunteer badge and parking permit to get in to the Fair.

Volunteer parking will be on the south end of the park, follow the signs.

If you do not have a volunteer badge or parking permit, you must go by the Salado Chamber of Commerce office in the Salado Civic Center on Main St. by noon July 31 to get those items.

Tablerock Festival will be performed in the Park for visitors to enjoy. A schedule of performances is located elsewhere in this issue of the Salado Village Voice.

A children's tent sponsored by Salado Pottery will have creative activities for youngsters.

Drawings will be held throughout the fair. Prizes include night stays at some of Salado's Bed and Breakfast Inns, including Inn at Salado, The Rose Mansion and Country Place Bed and Breakfast.

Concession stands manned by volunteers from Salado's civic, church and youth organizations will offer food and drink, including barbecue, snow cones, fudge, ice cold drinks and much more.

Salado artist Ronnie Wells will sign the Art Fair poster, "Spirits of Pace Park," which will be available for purchase during the Fair for $10 each. The poster is suitable for framing and features a view of Pace Park, where the Art Fair is held each year.

The Ladies Auxiliary will sell tickets for a drawing at the end of the fair. The winner of the drawing will receive the Butterfly Arbor quilt handcrafted by the Salado Quilters. Tickets are three for $1 and you do not have to be present to win.

The Salado Public Library will continue with its used book sale during the Fair.

Members of the Salado FFA will assist artists in loading and unloading their work before the Fair opens as a fund-raiser for the group.

The Salado Chamber of Commerce sponsors the annual event as its largest fund-raiser. Proceeds from the Salado Art Fair benefit the maintenance and operation of Pace Park and the Salado Civic Center, as well as scholarships and other community activities which the Salado Chamber of Commerce supports.

Erin Miller & Casey Haltom

Salado Legends to conclude its sixth season on Aug. 1

Salado Legends will conclude its sixth season Aug. 1 with new faces and familiar faces.

This is the first season for Casey Haltom, a senior at Vanguard College Preparatory School in Waco, to perform in the musical.

Haltom will portray Cam McDougal in the 6th Annual performance Salado Legends. This outdoor musical drama, the history of Salado and Central Texas, follows the Scottish McDougal family from the early 1850's to the end of the Civil War.

Casey's singing and acting ability won him the role of Cam McDougal. His acting experience includes the understudy role of Harold Hill in The Music Man and Baylor University's production of Die Fledermause. Casey, having taken piano for ten years and voice for five years, reached State Level in Solo Voice and has achieved First at State three years in a row. He also enjoys singing in the choir at First Presbyterian Church in Waco.

The Children of the Republic of Texas holds a special interest for Casey. He served as Fifth Vice-President General on the Board in 1995. His interest in Texas history continues as he experiences the wealth of history Salado has to offer.

Haltom will join original cast member Erin Miller, who has performed in Salado Legends since the age of 11.

Erin will portray the lead female role of Lucy McDougal.

She has grown up with Salado Legends. At the age of 11, Erin opened the first performance of Legends in the role of Emmaline and after playing several parts she grew into the lead role of Lucy.

This 17 year old Senior at Belton High School maintains a 4.0 average and will have completed one year of college when she graduates from High School.

At Belton High School she has lettered in tennis, won history and drama awards and is a member of Belton's elite singing group, The Madrigals and is also a member of the choir.

Erin has appeared in The Sound of Music and A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum.

This year Erin was honored by the Temple Orchestral Society as one of the Wildflower Bells at the Wildflower Ball. She was elected Dutchess, representing Central Texas, to the Lutheran Coronation in San Antonio and appears in parades all over Texas.

This season's Salado Legends also brings with it the return of Mary Jo Robbins

CHILD CARE NOT KEEPING UP WITH NEEDS OF WORKING FAMILIES

Many working families are discovering that affordable and accessible child care can be tougher to find than the newest beanie baby.

Parents need quality child care that doesn't break the family bank account. Although the demand for child care is increasing, the supply of child care facilities is shrinking.

Unfortunately, the situation isn't expected to improve without public/private partnerships designed to provide safe, quality child care at affordable prices.

Private financial institutions are reluctant to lend money to small business owners who want to open or rehabilitate a child care facility. Lenders believe that high legal liability makes child care facilities a poor credit risk.

This is a situation that should not be allowed to persist. I believe that an innovative and cost-effective program that I am supporting may be part of the answer.

H.R. 3637, the Child Development Commission Act, would establish a guaranteed loan program, known as Kiddie Mac, which will open the doors of more child care facilities.

Kiddie Mac would be administered by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. Financial institutions that lend money for building and rehabilitating child care facilities would purchase government insurance that guarantees loan repayment.

Kiddie Mac is modeled after Fannie Mae and Sallie Mae, which are public/private lending programs that have made housing and higher education more affordable for working families.

If we can make these type of programs work for housing and education, we can make them work for our children.

The Kiddie Mac program will help put lenders' minds at ease while easing the child care crunch that many working families experience.

In addition, the program would help provide affordable liability and fire insurance to qualified child care providers.

The lack of child care will not fix itself and will get worse unless steps are taken to open more facilities.

According to U.S. Labor Department statistics, married mothers were 30 percent of the workforce in 1970. By 1994, the percentage of married mothers in the workforce had increased to 62 percent.

More moms and dads are working and the cookies and kool-aid crowd will need child care.

Kiddie Mac will be a positive step toward insuring that parents have the child care facilities they need at a price that they can afford.

An Open Exchange of Ideas

Life, liberty and the pursuit of ... Muppets?

Dick Armey, (R-Irving), the grouchy House Majority Leader, turned mean when he was quizzed last week about accepting gifts from the Tobacco Lobby. Seems a list of Republican lawmakers, who hitched free airplane rides from the very group they were supposedly trying to corral legislatively, turned up in the hands of Democrats in the House and the fun started.

"Just Democrats trying to change the subject", snarled the irascible Armey, whose name appeared a number of times on the logs of aircraft either owned or leased by members of the powerful tobacco interests.

As if this were not enough to turn Texans off the grumpy majority leader, he told the world of another shortcoming when he responded to a statement by old "eye of the Newt" Gingrich, who was toadying to voters as he told the press that smoking in films today is so common that even two of Jim Henson's Muppets have been seen dragging on a cougher.

Armey, standing nearby, asked the dumb question: "What is a Muppet?" and immediately denigrated his personal credentials to become Speaker of the House.

Credentials that now appear to be at least "two bubbles off plumb" or as they say in Salado - "a sandwich or two short of a picnic"!

How can we send a man of such low stature and esteem to Washington and groom him for higher office when he doesn't know what a Muppet is, or worse who seeks freebies on airplanes owned by groups that Congress is trying to control?

Off the Record

by Ken Clapp

INDEPENDENT COUNCIL NEEDED BADLY

Perhaps what we need here is to have an independent counsel appointed to investigate this serious display of ignorance and arrogance (always a dangerous combo).

We can but hope that this latest misadventure by Armey will kill his chances to ascend to the throne of the speakership. A real blow to this curmudgeon after all he has done to dislodge his "Patron", the sullen and currently rudderless Newt.

The latter, now dreaming of the White House as he tries to find a poll somewhere that gives him a glimmer of hope among the increasingly large number of folks who think he is a certifiably loose cannon!

INCORPORATION PROS AND CONS

If you are a person who likes to study all sides of an issue, we have found another set of "pros" and "cons" to add to the list to be considered when thinking about the incorporation of our village.

First we learn that Belton is in the process of adding more land south of its current boundary - again headed towards Salado. This in turn moves the city limits and the extra-territorial jurisdiction that much closer to the village.

One of these days we are going to wake up and find that Belton has engulfed our town in its ETJ and then as fear and pandemonium erupt, we will have to go on bended knee for permission to incorporate.

That potential problem has to go on the "pro" side of the "let's incorporate" ledger.

On the other side of the coin is an interesting move by the Temple city fathers to raise revenue. First off, there was the normal scramble for additional sources of money to operate their fair city. Fees and property taxes were first on the list. A four and a half cent tax appeared to be the desirable amount, mulled the leaders.

Fearing a public outcry over such a large and sudden hike, the fearless council told citizens that they would only ask for a 1.25 cent levy plus a modest $2.00 per month drainage fee.

"Big deal" observed a wise Temple taxpayer, who was paying close attention, and immediately saw through the subterfuge. He quickly proved that by adding up the two items, of the purportedly lesser tax and fee, the total comes to nearly eight bucks a year more on a $50,000 home! You could have guessed that would happen!

The outraged voter, in a letter to the Temple Telegram's editor, noted: "Keep close guard on your wallets and purses. The bearers of good tidings are afoot!"

"They (the council) must think we have IQs floating around the 85 level", concluded the writer in one of the few letters that had facts coupled with humor, that the Telegram has allowed on their editorial page in recent months.

We would assign this bit of See Record, Page 3A officialdom's craftiness to the "anti" side of the debate on incorporation. This type of doublespeak is a disease that affects elected government officials since they tend to spend most of their waking hours dreaming of ways to spend the other fellow's money.

This is a legitimate fear on the part of the anti-incorporation crowd.

GOOD NEWS FROM KOREAN FRONT

Word from Korea is that our good friend Major Jim Upright is on the list for promotion to Lt. Colonel. Jim was the point man for the 1-4 aviation group that "pardnered" with Salado the past two years and we all came to appreciate his friendly "gung-ho" spirit and willingness to pitch in and help in the many civic events peculiar to our village - Art Fair, Christmas Stroll, etc.

Jim's better half Kim, is still with us, working at Salado Pottery and she reports the new Lt. Col., is busy planning war games in the Korean peninsula where real conflict is always a close reality.

We congratulate the Uprights on this well deserved promotion and hope our friend Jim will be reassigned to Fort Hood for his final few years before retirement. Both Jim and Kim plan to settle down in Salado on a permanent basis when his soldiering days are over.

The Uprights have always been on hand every time there is a call for help and this is appreciated in a community built on the foundation of a willingness to lend a hand.

Writer: Salado Humane Society in need of homes for cats & dogs

Dear Editor,
The Salado Humane Society is in desperate need of homes for cats and dogs of all sizes, ages and colors. Please consider adding a new member to your family. To adopt a dog, call 947-0918; for a cat, 947-5288.

We also have veterinarian bills to be paid and money can be sent to Salado Veterinary Hospital, Rt. 2, Box 370 or the Salado Humane Society, Box 493, Salado, TX 76571.

Money is used to vaccinate cats for rabies, and dogs for rabies and Parvo. Some are in need of medication and, the down side of helping animals -- euthanasia.

These are expenses, in addition to food, that need to be paid.

Please spay and neuter your pets. There are not enough homes for the animals who are already here. Thousands of cats and dogs are put down daily simply because a home could not be found.

Do your part -- don't let your pet reproduce.

If you see anyone dumping an animal, get the license plate number and call it in to the sheriff. This is a horrible thing to do to an animal, and dumpers need to be caught.

The Humane Society is a non-profit organization and exists only through donations from a few people, the dog banks, and bake and garage sales.

Donations of as little as five or ten dollars a month would help. These can be sent to Box 493, Salado, TX 76571. Thank you for hearing my plea.

Ryan's Ranger debut rehashed

In March 1989, while working for a newspaper in Florida, I had a chance to cover the game in which pitching great Nolan Ryan made his spring training debut with the Texas Rangers. The opponent was the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Verses and versus John Eubanks

Instead of sitting in the press box with the other scribes, I took a position directly behind the bullpen. My account of the game was first printed in a column for the Boca Beacon of Boca Grande, Fla.

When Ryan's son, Reid, came to Salado July 13 to pitch batting practice for a local summer league team, I pulled the column from my files.

The following is a revised version. An epilogue follows.

March 1989

Bobby Valentine left the dugout in a hurry and headed toward the bullpen. The Texas Rangers manager was surprised as anyone else at a sold-out Charlotte County Stadium.

His starting pitcher, Nolan Ryan, was headed for the showers after one inning, and Valentine needed another arm to throw at the Pirates.

Ryan, in his spring training debut with the Rangers, was planning to pitch four innings until a muscle in his left leg tightened. Two hits, two earned runs, a walk and two stolen bases didn't help matters. After the third out, Ryan walked to the dugout with his head down.

Moments later, Valentine bolted from the dugout and headed for the bullpen, where most of the relievers were shootin' the breeze. With Ryan pitching, they didn't figure on getting a call this early.

"Whoever's ready first will pitch the next inning," Valentine hollered out.

You'd figured that every Tommy John, Dick and Harry would have jumped for joy onto the practice mound. But, no way, Jose Guzman.

Among the veteran pitchers in the bullpen was Craig McMurtry, another Texan on the Rangers pitching staff.

But it was a pair of minor-league righthanders who began warming up: Paul Richard Wilmet, a drummer in a jazz band during the off-season; and Dave Pavlas, a 6-foot-7, 185-pound stringbean, who graduated from Rice University with an art degree.

A percussionist and a painter.

Valentine played the odds and went with the artist, who began cracking up the bullpen with a self-deprecating humor that was probably hiding a ton of fear.

Only thing was, he didn't have a glove handy.

"You forgot your glove," pitching instructor Dick Egan asked incredulously, when Stringbean mentioned that he could probably pitch better with his own mitt, which he'd left in the clubhouse.

Another Rangers coach, former big-league pitching great Ferguson Jenkins, graciously offered to retrieve the glove for the young pitcher.

Moments later, Pavlas had his mitt. "That feels better," Stringbean said, pounding his right fist into the glove.

After the third out in the bottom of the first, the tall Texan strode to the mound.

Like Ryan, he lasted an inning, allowing four hits and two earned runs. He managed one strikeout.

Salvador Dali, the surrealist painter, would have been proud of his fellow artist.

Except, maybe, for the part about forgetting his glove. An artist can't paint a canvass -- much less the outside corner of home plate -- without the right stuff.

Epilogue: Nolan Ryan retired from the Rangers in 1993, having struck out more batters and pitched more no-hitters than anyone in the history of Major League baseball.

Bobby Valentine is now the manager of the New York Mets.

Dave Pavlas was a member of the New York Yankees World Series championship team in 1996 and, at last report, was toiling in the minor leagues for Edmonton, the Triple-A affiliate of the Oakland A's.

Craig McMurtry, who hails from Troy, is the new baseball coach at Temple College, which is fielding a baseball team for the first time since the 1970s.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE
We Are All One to God

"And he made from one every nation of men to live on all the face of the earth..."

- Acts 17:26

The "one" mentioned by Paul in that passage was Adam, the first man whose descendants went forth to populate the earth. Thus did God manifest His desire for the brotherhood of all men. In His eyes we naturally are just that, for He created us all. Yet many of us forget that. We see surface differences and let such consideration override the fact that we are all created in God's image and share His spirit within us. When Jesus and later His disciples spread God's word, they made no distinction between the men of various nations. And their ministry took root in the hearts of all peoples. We should remember that in our relationships with others.

A Brief Visit With...
Pastor J. Floyd Franks

I read about a certain queen who had been told she was very beautiful. She had never seen a mirror, so she lived many years thinking she was a very beautiful woman.

A trader came to the village to barter with the natives, and among the articles of trade were mirrors. The queen, eager to see herself for the first time, was given one of the best the trader had. When she looked at her image in the mirror, she did not see the beautiful person she had imagined herself to be, but rather a horribly ugly person. Enraged, she dashed the mirror in pieces and expelled the trader from her country. But breaking the mirror did not make her any more beautiful either.

The Bible is a mirror and reflects the kinds of persons we are (James 1:22-25). Many times we don't like what we see; hence, we quit attending church where we see our unattractiveness in the mirror of the sermons we hear. Or, we quit reading the Bible that mirrors what we really are.

Dear Friend, the mirror is correct. In Jeremiah 17:9, God says that man's "heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked, who can know it?" BUT the Lord Jesus can change all that if you'll only ask Him to forgive you of your sins and give your heart to Him to make you truly beautiful.

DOCKET NO. 17809 AMENDED PUBLIC NOTICE

On February 5, 1998, Central Telephone Company of Texas dba Sprint (Sprint) filed an Amended Petition with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC) to charge an additional $0.41 per month per customer line to recover costs for providing Expanded Local Calling service (ELC) to certain Texas customers. This petition was submitted under PUC Substantive Rule 23.49(c)(12) passed to implement Senate Bill 632, 73rd Legislature-Regular Session. This fee was to be paid only by those customers who were not paying the $3.50 residential fee or the $7.00 business fee. However, in May 1998, the PUC determined a fee could be applied to all customers in the state, including those customers paying the $3.50 or $7.00. Because of this ruling, the PUC is re-evaluating how the final surcharge will be implemented.

Based on the PUC's ruling, the total ELC surcharge will not exceed $1.56 for residential customers and $1.91 for business customers. This amended petition was submitted under PUC Substantive Rule 23.49 (c)(12) which implements Senate Bill 632, 73rd Legislature-Regular Session. Sprint will continue to collect the existing additional monthly surcharge of $0.34 per customer line on an interim basis, from those customers not paying $3.50 or $7.00. The surcharge is designed to recover costs for providing ELC service. If the PUC does not approve the interim rates as final rates, or the manner in which the surcharge has been implemented, Sprint will issue an appropriate refund.

If approved by the PUC, the additional monthly per line surcharge could be added to the current ELC rates. This means, residential customers who currently pay a per-line fee of $3.50 could pay an additional surcharge not to exceed $1.16 per month. Business customers who currently pay a per-line fee of $7.00 could pay an additional surcharge not to exceed $1.91 per month. Non-petitioning exchange customers who currently pay a surcharge of $1.15 now could pay up to $1.56 (residential), or $1.91 (business) per month.

ELC was created in 1993 by Texas legislation requiring telephone companies to provide toll-free calling between small towns that share a community of interest such as a school or a hospital district. The legislation also allowed telephone companies to recover costs of providing ELC service by collecting a surcharge from all customers in the state.

Sprint estimates the additional monthly per line surcharge will recover the $817,454.28 in lost revenues and reimburse the company for the increased cost of providing ELC services between April 2, 1996, and December 11, 1997.

For questions about the reasons for this charge, call Sprint at 1-800-788-3500.

Persons who wish to intervene in or comment on these proceedings (Docket No. 17809) should notify the PUC no later than September 16, 1998. All comments should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 1701 N. Congress Ave., P.O. Box 13326, Austin, TX 78711-3326. For information about intervention, please call the PUC at 1-888-782-8477 or 512-936-7120. Hearing and speech-impaired individuals with text telephones (TTY) may contact the PUC at 512-936-7136.

NO DE PROYECTO 17809 NOTIFICACIÓN PÚBLICA ENMENDADA

El 5 de febrero de 1998, la Central Telephone Company of Texas, Inc. haciendo negocios como Sprint (Sprint) presentó una petición a la Comisión de Servicios Públicos de Texas (PUC) para cobrar un cargo adicional de $0.41 por mes por línea de cliente para recuperar gastos por proveer el Servicio Ampliado de Llamadas Locales Exentas de Cargos (ELC) a ciertos clientes de Texas. Esta petición se presentó de acuerdo con la Regla Sustantiva 23.49 (C) (12) de la PUC pasada para implementar el proyecto de la ley 632, de la 73a Sesión Ordinaria de la Legislatura del Senado. Esta tarifa sería pagada sólo por aquellos clientes que no estaban pagando actualmente el cargo residencial de $3.50 ó el cargo comercial de $7.00. Sin embargo, en mayo del 1998, la PUC determinó que este cargo podría ser aplicable a todos los clientes en el estado, incluyendo a aquellos clientes pagando el cargo máximo de $3.50 ó $7.00. Debido a esta determinación, la PUC está re-evaluando cómo se implementará el sobrecargo final.

Basado el mandato de la PUC, el sobrecargo total por ELC no excederá $1.56 para clientes residenciales y $1.91 para clientes comerciales. Esta petición enmendada se sometió de acuerdo con la Regla Sustantiva 23.49 (C) (12) de la PUC que implementa el proyecto de la ley 632 del Senado de la 73a Sesión Ordinaria de la Legislatura. Sprint continuará cobrando el sobrecargo mensual adicional existente de $0.34 por línea de cliente en base provisional de aquellos clientes que no están pagando $3.50 ó $7.00. Este sobrecargo está diseñado para recuperar gastos por proveer el servicio ELC. Si la PUC no aprueba las tarifas provisionales como tarifas finales, o la manera en la cual se implementó el sobrecargo, Sprint reembolsará la cantidad apropiada.

Si es aprobado por la PUC, el sobrecargo mensual adicional por línea podrá ser añadido a las tarifas corrientes por ELC. Esto significa que los clientes residenciales que actualmente pagan un cargo por línea de $3.50 podrán pagar un sobrecargo adicional que no excederá $1.16 por mes. Los clientes comerciales que actualmente pagan un cargo por línea de $7.00 podrán pagar un sobrecargo adicional que no excederá $1.91 por mes. Los clientes de los intercambios no solicitantes que actualmente pagan un cargo por línea de $1.15 ahora podrán pagar hasta $1.56 (residencial) o $1.91 (comercial) por mes.

El ELC fue creado en 1993 por la Legislatura de Texas que requiere que las compañías telefónicas provean llamadas sin cargos por larga distancia entre poblaciones pequeñas que comparten intereses comunitarios, tal como una escuela o un hospital de distrito. La legislatura también permitió que las compañías telefónicas recuperasen los costos por proveer el servicio ELC con la aplicación de un sobrecargo a todos los clientes en el estado.

Sprint calcula que el sobrecargo mensual adicional por línea recuperará los $817,454.28 en ingresos perdidos y le reembolsará a la compañía por el aumento en costos por proveer el servicio ELC entre el 2 de abril del 1996 y el 11 de diciembre del 1997.

Si tiene alguna pregunta sobre las razones de este cargo, por favor llame a Sprint al 1-800-788-3500.

Las personas que deseen intervenir o comentar sobre estos procedimientos (Número de Acta 17809), deben de notificar a la PUC a no más tardar del 16 de septiembre de 1998. Todos los comentarios deben ser enviados por correo a la Public Commission of Texas, 1701 N. Congress Ave., P.O. Box 13326, Austin, Texas 78711-3326. Si desea obtener información sobre la forma de intervenir, favor de llamar a la PUC al 1-888-782-8477 ó 512-936-7120. Las personas con impedimentos del habla u auditivo con teléfonos de texto (TTY) podrán comunicarse con la PUC al 512-936-7136.

UMHB's first gridiron coach tells Lions how to start a football team from scratch

by John Eubanks

Pete Fredenburg, who will coach the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor's first football team this season, told the Salado Lions Club what it's like to start a football program from scratch.

Fredenburg was guest speaker during the Lions' July 22 luncheon at Creekside Restaurant.

The former Baylor defensive coordinator and Southwest Conference defensive coach of the year in 1990 told the Lions he was initially hesitant about the prospect of starting a non-scholarship program when first approached by UMHB Athletic Director Ben Shipp.

As an NCAA Division III school, UMHB does not offer athletic scholarships.

"That sounded hard, but I had some past experiences that made me interested," Fredenburg said.

His son, Denver, had played a year of football at Austin College, a Division III private school in Sherman, before transferring to Baylor to play baseball.

So, Fredenburg knew what type of kids were competing at the Division III level.

"They are going there because they want a college education and they want to play football," he said, noting that many earn academic and leadership scholarships.

The thought of coaching players like that -- many of whom are essentially paying to play football -- excited Fredenburg.

What also excited him was that he would be recruiting in the hotbed of football.

"This place is crazy with football," he told the Lions. "We are sitting right in the middle of the best players in America. It's a strong statement, but it's true."

Fredenburg noted that more college football players are from Texas than any other state. The 1998 edition of Texas Football magazine showed that 270 Texans signed with Division I-A schools (major universities such as Texas, A&M, etc.), while California produced 243 and Florida 152.

Fredenburg and his staff set a goal of contacting every high school within a 70-mile radius of Belton. He figured that if his program could attract 100 players, it would be going good.

Fredenburg ordered 120 helmets, figuring there would be a few left over. Wrong.

"We went through 120 so fast it would make your head spin," he said.

In fact, 207 invitations were sent to prospective players informing them of the start of two-a-day practices beginning Aug. 14. (There are plenty of coaches, 18 in fact, including three full-time assistants and a slew of graduate assistants.)

"We'll designate our top 70 (players) in two-a-days," Fredenburg said.

The others will play on a junior varsity team, with an emphasis on everyone playing and having fun, the coach stressed. The JV will play a 10-game schedule on Monday nights.

The varsity will also play a 10-game season, beginning Sept. 5 in San Antonio against Trinity University.

It will be a big test for the Crusaders. Trinity returns 15 starters from a 10-1 team that advanced to the NCAA Division III quarterfinals.

"Trinity was excited to play us in the season opener," Fredenburg said, drawing laughter from the Lions.

The Crusaders will have an open date after the Trinity game -- "to assess our situation," Fredenburg said, -- before the home opener Sept. 19 against Belhaven of Mississippi.

The Crusaders will play their five home games at Belton ISD's Tiger Stadium. UMHB purchased 50 acres west of the campus for a sports complex that will someday include a stadium. The fieldhouse is a couple of weeks from being completed, Fredenburg said.

UMHB is a member of the eight-team American Southwest Conference. Three other schools have petitioned to join the conference by 2000, Fredenburg said.

Most NCAA Division III teams ranked in the top 20 at the end of the regular season qualify for the playoffs, he said. The goal is to play for the national championship in the Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl.

It may be awhile before UMHB makes it to the playoffs, but Fredenburg wants the program's foundation to be on solid ground.

"I want to build this the right way," he said.

That means recruiting a core of players each year who will grow with the program.

Noting that only 50 of the 207 prospective players are upperclassmen, Fredenburg said, "They're going to take their lumps."

But, looking down the road, Fredenburg wondered aloud, "Why in the world can't we be the best Division III team in the country?"

Fredenburg's visit to Salado was his second in three months. He addressed the Salado High athletic banquet May 7.

Cooperative pilot program to bring books to kids in outlying areas termed a success

by John Eubanks

A pilot program to bring library books to children in outlying areas was termed a success by those involved in the cooperative effort.

The Salado Public Library District and the Salado ISD library combined with First Baptist Church of Salado, to provide books to children living in the Cedar Knob Mobile Home Park and nearby homes. The area is located between Salado and Harker Heights.

"We had great cooperation from everyone," Luther Brewer, Salado Public Library Board president, said.

The outreach program involved a "bookmobile" van providing books on June 18, July 2 and July 16.

When the bookmobile arrived for the initial date, most of the children at the trailer park were at Vacation Bible School at Cedar Valley Baptist Church.

A call to the church produced an invitation to bring the bookmobile to the church, where 13 kids from the mobile home park checked out books.

Ten kids checked out books during the second visit and six more did so during the third visit.

Carolyn Britt, a member of the SPLD board, said Billy Long from the mobile home park volunteered to be responsible for getting the books returned. The public library donated the books.

Britt related a story about one little girl who hurriedly left after the arrival of the bookmobile's second visit -- only to return minutes later with a friend. "You've just got to read this book," the little girl was overheard saying to her friend.

Salado students Kendall Anderson, Laura Couchman

and Paige Herrick volunteered to help the kids with their reading.

First Baptist Church donated the use of a van and paid for the flyers and bookmarks, Britt said. (Brewer's van was used during the first visit.)

Support was also given by new SISD superintendent Dr. Robin Battershell, Britt said.

Susan Schobe, Salado school librarian and secretary of the SPLD, served as the project's committee chairman. She was assisted by Salado librarian Patty Campbell.

"It was a pilot program and we plan to serve even more kids next year," Schobe said.

The Salado Public Library has a number of ongoing summer children's programs and projects. Inquire at the library, located on the first floor of the Civic Center on Main Street, for information and participation. The phone number is 947-9191.

To readers who were not here in 1959, The Central Texas Area Museum executive board wishes you to know that Mrs. Sterling C. ANNOUNCING A SPECIAL
HOMEOWNERS INSURANCE PROGRAM FOR OUR COMMUNITY.

If you own a well-maintained home, you may qualify for our new policy called the Small Town Protector for Homeowners in some rural communities. The policy may save you money because it's based on the actual cash value or market value of your home instead of its replacement cost.

The policy also covers your personal property—anywhere in the world—from fire, theft and many other uncertainties. It also provides personal liability coverages.

Call me now for a brochure and a Farmers Friendly Review to make sure your insurance is up-to-date.

Drugstore Cowboys by Clifton artist George Boutwell.

George Boutwell celebrates 30 years of showing work at Salado Art Fair Aug. 1-2

Clifton artist George Boutwell will celebrate 30 years of showing his work at the 32nd Annual Salado Art Fair Aug. 1-2 in Pace Park. The Salado Art Fair is one of the first shows Boutwell chose to show his works and he has not missed a year since coming to Salado three decades ago.

Boutwell will join over 100 other award-winning artists and artisans showing and selling their work during the Salado Art Fair, Aug. 1-2 in Pace Park.

With a 31-year history behind it, the Salado Art Fair has the reputation of being one of the best shows in the State.

The Salado Art Fair will be open 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Aug. 1 and 8 a.m.-3 p.m. Aug. 2 under the oak trees of Pace Park, nestled along the banks of Salado Creek. Admission is $3 per person, with children under 12 admitted free.

Boutwell is well known throughout Texas and the country, having shown his work in countless shows, one-man exhibits and galleries. Traveling to shows around the state, Boutwell also has been invited to show his work in juried shows from Cody, Wyoming to Chicago, Illinois to Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

He has been awarded Best of Show at many of the shows, including these: Cowtown Invitational, South Oklahoma City Art Assoc. Spring Shows, Champions Village Festival in Houston, Texas Wild Bunch Annual Jail Break in Granbury, Special Session in Austin and the 1984 Waco Invitational.

He has been the subject of features in numerous magazines; twice in both Texas

Highways, Prints and Austin magazines.

Boutwell has been a finalist two times for the State Legislature's official Texas State Artist.

Born in East Hartford, Connecticut in 1943, Boutwell traveled around the country with his father as a child. He settled in Austin in 1957 and moved to the Clifton area in 1987. He lives on a ranch in Bosque County, where his home, a 1904 Victorian known as Highview sets on the crest of a hill overlooking the Bosque River Valley

His former home in Austin won a 1983 Austin heritage Society Award, which was presented at the Governor's Mansion. He was an appointed member of the Austin Historic Landmark Commission from 1982 to 1985.

Most Texans killed in cars not buckling up

Though most Texans know that seat belts save lives and despite a state law requiring their use, most Texans killed in car crashes were not buckled up.

Only about 40 percent of the 3,215 drivers and vehicle occupants killed on Texas roads in 1996 were buckled up, according to the Texas Department of Safety. During the first 10 months of 1997, a total of 2,408 persons were killed and of those, about 44 percent were buckled up. Included among the deaths over this combined 22-month period are 127 deaths of children under age 5; only about 39 percent of these children were restrained.

During Buckle Up Texas/Buckle Up America Week in May, Texas Governor George

Bush issued a proclamation in Texas promoting the use of seat belts and child restraints as the way to save many lives and prevent injuries. "I urge all Texans to buckle up and make sure their children are properly restrained in their cars," Governor Bush said in the proclamation. "Together we can reduce injuries and save precious lives."

For seat belts and child restraints to be effective, they have to not only be used, but used properly. The latest observational studies conducted in Texas show that one out of four Texans still do not buckle up, and restraint use is even less for children. The 1997 Texas Transportation restraint-use study of 14 Texas cities showed that 74.9 percent of drivers and front-seat occupants were buckled up, and only 63 percent of children under age 5 were restrained. Incorrect usage of child restraints is very high; as many as 9 out of 10 child safety seats are not installed correctly and/or not being used correctly.

Seat belts are about 45 percent effective in preventing crash fatalities. Child restraints reduce the risk of death by 71 percent for infants and 54 percent for toddlers. Seat belts help prevent crash fatalities by:

- * Preventing ejection from the vehicle,
- * Contacting the body at the strongest parts of its structure (hip and shoulder bones),
- * Spreading crash forces

Terri Hendrix to perform at Belton Acoustic Concert

The Belton Acoustic Concert Series will feature San Marcos singer-songwriter Terri Hendrix along with instrumentalist Lloyd Maines in concert on Aug. 8.

The Dallas Morning News has called Terri Hendrix "the Lone Star State's best-kept musical secret". But that might not be true much longer.

The Austin Chronicle says of Hendrix, "she can sing, write and deliver compelling live performances...that Hendrix has such a firm grasp on both country and pop may actually be her best calling card. Except for her stage presence, that is."

Of her stage presence, David Okamoto, of the Dallas Morning News, writes, "she doesn't close her eyes or watch her fingers fly along her guitar frets. At some point, no matter where you're sitting, she'll make eye contact with you and unleash that radiant smile, a disarming combination that complement the poignancy of her songs."

With the release of her latest CD, Wilory Farm, Hendrix is ready to enter the pantheon of well-loved Texas performers, taking her place beside legends like Lucinda Williams and Christine Albert as a savvy, crowd-pleasing songstress.

She will perform in Belton along with Wilory Farm producer and instrumentalist Lloyd Maines, who is best known for his work with Robert Earl Keen.

The concert will be held in the smoke-free and alcohol-free environment of the Fellowship Hall at the First United Methodist Church in Belton, located at 205 East Third Ave.

Doors open at 7 p.m., the music begins at 7:30 p.m. The $7 admission includes childcare for all pre-teens and refreshment during intermission.

For additional information about the Belton Acoustic Concert series, please call (254) 778-5440 or e-mail to concerts@vvm.com.

B.B. Barrick to display work at his gallery in Heirlooms Aug. 1-2

American traditional artist B.B. "Bill" Barrick will show his work Aug. 1-2 at his gallery in Heirlooms at 230 N. Main Street in Salado.

Remnants of rural America are the principle focus of paintings by Bill Barrick. He is recognized around Texas and the nation as a leading chronicler of life in the developing Southwest.

Much of his work pays tribute to early settlers who broke untamed prairies and established the roots from which sprang villages, towns and commerce that lead to our contemporary culture.

His ability to capture on canvas the spirit of rural America with its stark beauty, hardship and simple joys, is the driving force and appeal of his art.

Barrick is an award-winning member of the prestigious Texas Association of Professional Artists, Texas Wild Bunch, National Western Artists Association and an honorary member of the Texas Ranger Hall of Fame. He has been featured in several books, television productions, and such magazines as Southwest Art, Southwest Airlines, The State of Art, Texas Homes and others.

His work hangs in many prominent collections including Coca-Cola Co., Dr. Pepper Co., Dresser Industries, State Farm Insurance companies, Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants, Texas Fire Museum, State Bar of Texas and several universities.

A career highlight was a one-man retrospective in 1983 at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum. The 80-painting exhibit, "A Vision of Rural Texas," was held over two months by popular demand.

Other museums that have exhibited and/or archived his work include the Lubbock Collection, Texas Tech University; National Ranching Heritage Center, West Texas Museum, Lubbock; Museum of the American West, Houston; Barry Bywaters Research Collection on American Art and Architecture, Southern Methodist University, Dallas.

A native of the High Plains, Barrick was raised on the family farm near Abernathy. He studied art at West Texas University, Texas Tech and the University of North Texas, and taught high school art several years before devoting full-time to his painting career. Today, his home and studio are in Cedar Park, near Austin.

Studies also show a strong connection between parent and child restraint use. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) released results from a multi-state study this year that showed restraint use for young children was over 80 percent when their parents were buckled up too. But when parents were not buckled up, the corresponding restraint use for their children ranged from 11 to 56 percent.

New national goals have been established that call for 85 percent nationwide restraint use by the year 2000 and 90 percent restraint use by 2005. Initiatives are under way to help emphasize the message that seat belts save lives and increase seat belt use in Texas, including:

The Texas Department of Health (TDH) Safe Riders Program offers new educational materials that promote the correct use of seat belts. These full-color, bilingual posters are easy-to-understand photo guides portraying common misuses of seat belts and their corresponding corrected uses. Earlier this year, brochures and posters were developed along similar lines regarding correct use of child safety seats. These and other educational materials may be ordered from the Safe Riders Program at 1-800-252-8255.

Media campaigns, including television public service announcements, are being conducted by a variety of groups that target specific areas of restraint use and traffic safety.

The Texas seat belt law is a primary law, meaning an officer can stop the vehicle and issue a citation to a violator solely because of nonrestraint use. In many states, seat belt laws are secondary laws, and citations can only be issued if another infraction has occurred. For Texas violators under age 15, the driver is cited; otherwise, the violator receives the citation.

St. Stephen Catholic Youth attend convention

Youth from St. Stephen Catholic Church attended Diocesan Catholic Youth Convention at the Doubletree Hotel in Austin on June 26-28. Over 600 other youth from all over Central Texas also attended. The theme for the convention was "Weekend Under the Son" which comes from John 12:35-36 which states: "The light will be with you for only a little longer. Walk in the light while you can. Then you won't be caught walking blindly in the dark. Have faith in the light while it is with you, and you will be children of the light."

The closing session was a candlelight ceremony which was a reminder to the youth that there is Light in the Darkness; that Jesus is Our Source of Light; and you have the power of the Holy Spirit that goes with you as you Go Light Your World!

A genealogy workshop will be held 10 a.m.-3 p.m. in the Longhorn Room of Stagecoach Inn. The fee is $25.

As the day progresses, pipers, drummers and dancers will gather at the Village Green along Salado Creek near the Main Street bridge.

Capping the day's festivities will be a Fingertip Supper in the Longhorn Room beginning at 6 p.m. Cost is $10.50.

Reservations are required and can be made by calling the Central Texas Area Museum at (254) 947-5232.

Saturday

From 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Nov. 14, separate piping and drumming contests will be held at College Hill, while the Highland Dance Contest will be held at the Village Green.

The Wee Scots Shop and Scottish vendors will be operating out of the Scots Hall of the Clans as well as College Hill.

Those whose souls are stirred by the sounds of bagpipes and drums will want to attend the Ceilidh at 3 p.m. at the Salado High gymnasium.

The host band is from St. Thomas Episcopal School in Houston.

At around dusk at 5:30 p.m. on College Hill begins the Tattoo, which features a battle of the (pipe and drum) bands, along with dancers and individual singers.

Following the Tattoo, the Tartan Ball will be held that evening in the Longhorn Room, a more formal occasion featuring dining and dancing that ends at midnight.

During this time, judges from the various weekend events visit with the crowd.

Reservations are required by calling the aforementioned phone number.

The Scottish Gathering "is always intended to be a family event," Scottish Games organizer Cile Ambrose said. "We respect the Inn's policy of no pets and we stress no alcohol on the grounds."

Sunday

Activities Nov. 15 begin with a church service 9-10 a.m. in the Longhorn Room.

It will feature the "Flowers of the Forest," a memorial service for friends and family who have passed away during the past year.

Following the services, the various competitions begin, including the pipe band contest, the drumming contest (both at the Village Green), as well as the "Over 18" Athletic Games at Robertson Ranch.

Continuing this day will be the Wee Scots Games on the Village Green and Scottish vendors at the Scots Hall of the Clans and at College Hill.

Following the Pipe Band Contest will be the Parade of Bands and Tartans starting between 2 and 3 p.m. This stirring and colorful parade down main street, with bagpipes and drums playing, wraps up the three-day event.

The Annual Scottish Games and Gathering of the Clan benefit the Central Texas Area Museum.

The annual affair "came about as the perfect fund-raiser for the museum since this area was settled by many Scottish families," said Mrs. Ambrose, whose ancestors (including Col. Sterling C. Robertson) are among those who settled the area.

Grounds fees for the three-day event are $2 on Friday, $6 on Saturday and $5 Sunday for adults.

Children 10-16 are $2 Friday and $3 Saturday and Sunday. Those under 10 are free.

There is a separate ticket price for the fingertip supper Friday, the Ceilidh on Saturday afternoon, the Tattoo Saturday evening and the Tartan Ball that follows.

- 1 p.m.: Plumblin
- 2 p.m.: Richard Paul Thomas

Sunday, Aug. 2

- Noon: Fred Fuller, the Singing Cowboy

1 p.m.: Hearts of Fire. A state-recognized ministry, Hearts of Fire is based out of Killeen. Started in 1992, the band is comprised of members from throughout Central Texas. All members are married and have full-time jobs. Family is an important aspect of each members' life and the music is done with the support of their families. Hearts of Fire is involved in several areas of ministry, including prison ministry and street ministry as well as involvement in their individual churches. Hearts of Fire members are these: Jack Corn, drums; Tim Hopkins, Vocal/Bass; Tom Kennedy, Vocal/Guitar; Scott Lathrom, Lead Guitar and Jamie Rountree, Vocal/Lead Guitar.

2 p.m.: Two Fish. Over the last eight months, God has brought four of his children together to form what is now Two Fish. It started with drummer Blake Barr and lead vocalist/guitarist Jeremy Wentreck and a God-given vision. That vision involved a ministry that used music to attract people to the word of God. This vision never faded. Recently, God has placed two more members in the band: guitarist/vocalist Jason Whisenant and keyboardist/vocalist Chairs Boone. Two Fish play in an acoustic rock style with many praise songs as well as a number of originals. The band is presently working on its first album, hopefully to be released later this year.

When you reread a classic you do not see more in the book than you did before; you see more in you than there was before.

Have unwanted insects in your cabinets? Well, you're not alone

About 18 kinds of insects infest dry food products stored in the kitchen. Most of these insects are small beetles, reddish-brown to black in color and from 1/16 to 3/8 inches long. Others are pale gray to dark gray moths about 1/4 inch long. The larvae of the moths are small, white or pinkish caterpillars and can also contaminate food products.

Pantry pests feed on cereal, flour, pepper, spices, nuts, dried fruit and various other food products. The most common pests found in the kitchen are roaches, flour beetles, cigarette beetles, drugstore beetles, saw-toothed grain beetles, rice beetles, bean and cowpea weevils, Indian meal and Mediterranean flour moths.

If you are having problems with unwanted insects in your cabinets and dry food products, you're not alone. Recent calls to the Extension office indicate many Bell County homeowners are troubled with insect infestations this year. Here are some guidelines from Extension specialists on preventing pantry pests from invading your kitchen.

-Inspect food packages: Almost all dry packaged foods be spread on cake pans or pie pans to assure uniform heat penetration.

- Store food in closed containers: Purchase foods in quantities small enough to be used up rapidly or store in tight containers. Store uninfested or heat sterilized dry foods in clean metal or glass containers that have tight-fitting lids, such as coffee cans or fruit jars. See that the covers fit tightly enough to prevent tiny insects from crawling in and spoiling the products.

- Keep kitchen cabinets clean: Often food gets spilled or food particles sift out of packages onto shelves and in are subject to infestation. Kitchen pests also live in spices, especially red pepper, paprika and chili powder. Inspect all packages for breaks before buying. Discard any infested items.

- Sterilize doubtful products: If you think a dry food may be infested, but are not sure, sterilize it in the oven at about 130 degrees for half an hour or in a home freezer held at 0 degrees or below for seven days. You may heat small packages as they are. The contents of large packages should cracks and corners. Insects can live on this material and get into food packages on the shelves later. Keep kitchen shelves clean to avoid infestations by scrubbing cabinets thoroughly with a stiff bristled brush and soapy water. Pay particular attention to cracks and corners.

- Apply insecticides: If you are troubled by persistent infestation by kitchen insects, treat the cabinets with insecticides. Wash the cupboards first. Apply .5% Diazinon, .5% Dursban, 1% Baygon, or .2% resmethrin household spray to walls and undersides of shelves. Be sure to spray cracks and crevices.

Before using insecticides in your home, read the label and follow the instructions carefully. Spray lightly; do not over-apply. Spray only when the shelves are empty. When the spray dries, cover the shelves with clean paper or foil before placing packages of food in the cupboard.

If a sprayer is not available, apply insecticides with a paint brush. Do not allow any spray to come in contact with foods or cooking utensils.

If you would like more information on control of cockroaches or other insects around the home, give us a call in the Extension office here in Belton. We'll be glad to send you a copy of our publication on food storage which give guidelines for how long dozens of food products can be safely stored on the pantry shelf, in the refrigerator or freezer.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, national origin or disability.

Michalewicz receives ABWA scholarship

The Chisholm Trail Chapter of the American Business Women's Association awarded a music scholarship in the amount of $800 to Marissa Michalewicz at its June meeting at Creekside Restaurant.

The scholarship was designated as the Marge Kirkman Music Scholarship to honor Mrs. Kirkman's contributions to the chapter.

Michalewicz graduated with honors from Salado High School in 1998 and is a member of the National Honor Society. She has been accepted into the Music Program at Baylor University in Waco, where she'll major in Pedagogic Music.

Michalewicz is the daughter of Robert and Sylvia Michalewicz of Salado. Since moving to Salado, she's been involved in numerous school and civic activities. She also accompanied church services at St. Stephen Catholic Church for the past four years.

Guest speaker for the ABWA June meeting was Dr. Shelley Giebel, M.D., of Temple, who spoke on "The Changing World of Women's Healthcare: A Business Perspective." She discussed medical coverage offered by corporate vs. private enterprise, her personal challenges in establishing a medical practice, and described programs designed to give women more control over their health care. Dr. Giebel also discussed a medically supervised program for weight management.

The 1998-99 Board of Officers include Karin Oaks, president; Cynthia Julson, vice president; Barclay Anne McCort, recording secretary; and Marilyn Ragsdale, treasurer.

Natalie's progress

Shown at left are our granddaughters in Hawaii, Natalie Elizabeth and Violet Isabel. Natalie Elizabeth was diagnosed in February with a rare form of cancer. She has undergone a great deal of chemotherapy treatments to battle the invasive leukemia-type of cancer. At the time it was diagnosed, doctors said there were cancer cells in her blood, spinal fluid and throughout her internal organs. She has lived at Tripler Army Medical Center since February, receiving care on a daily basis. We learned earlier this summer that the cancer has gone into remission. In fact, she received her last round of chemotherapy last week. Doctors tell her parents Chad and Jenny Ewell, who are stationed in Hawaii with the Navy, that as soon as she starts eating solid food on a regular basis, they can go home. About the only food Natalie will eat now is Taco Bell (go figure). We want to take this opportunity to thank all of our friends in the village and throughout Central Texas for their prayers and concern during Natalie's battle with cancer. They are still needed and appreciated greatly.

Kari Gates, photographer, will be the featured artist at Bayberry's on Main during the Salado Art Fair.

Her photographic images have an "antique, painterly" quality due to a specialized process and the added excitement of either watercolor or colored pencils. Both the inconsistency and the surprise results create beautiful dimensions to Gates' work.

Visit during the show for a refreshing ice tea break and a visit with Kari Gates. You won't be disappointed.

Carver's 'How to Write Your Own Obit' in August at Georgetown

Actor Buddy Carlton will appear in a one-man-show entitled How to Write Your Own Obit by local playwright Raymond Carver. Performances at the historic Palace Theater are on Aug. 13-16, and Aug. 20-23. Curtain on Thursday, Friday and Saturday is at 8 p.m. and 2 p.m. on Sunday. Tickets are $8 for Adults, $5 for children.

Reservations may be made by calling 869-SHOW(7469), daily from 3:30 pm until 5:30 pm. The Palace Theater is located on the historic square in Georgetown at 814 South Austin Avenue.

This original full length show has been written by Salado resident Raymond Carver, whose "Ain't Nobody Loves You Like A Mama But Your Mama," was produced off-Broadway and whose "Catch As Catch Can," "Texassity" and "Family Reunion" have been staged in Hollywood. Dr. Carver also directed "Sideshow," an award-winning musical comedy by Rick Smith, at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. featuring Buddy Carlton.

Buddy Carlton is a native of Texas who currently lives in New York City where he has appeared in improvisational theater, industrial show, cabaret, off-off Broadway, and most recently in the two character show "Instant Comedy." He is a member of the Screen Actors Guild and has performed stock theater roles in such productions as "Dracula," "The Cherry Orchard," "Man of La Mancha," and "Sweet Charity."

How to Write Your Own Obit by Raymond Carver takes the audience on a journey through life and how we all wish, that how you lived your life is what was reflected in the obituaries. Instead we get, he was a loving son...leaves behind sister mother...as he goes to his eternal rest...so the show starts. With true to life experiences, Buddy Carlton will keep the audience laughing and crying

Sarah Moon signs contract with Clipse modeling agency

Sarah Moon, the 13-year-old daughter of Kenneth and Merry Moon of Salado, has signed a modeling contract with Clipse Model Management & International Sports Management of Dallas.

The Salado High freshman has been assigned to the Clipse Girl Division. European photographer Akin Girav did the test shots for Sarah's portfolio.

Sarah has been pursuing a modeling career for a year, her mother said, and hopes to gain enough experience with this local agency and later pursue a contract with a major agency in a few years.

Although it's a "strange career choice for someone who hates trying on clothes," Merry Moon said, "Sarah loves being photographed."

Sarah has been a cheerleader for three years and will be a JV cheerleader this school year. She also runs track and has been dancing since she was three years old.

She attends Karen and Donna School of Dance in Killeen.
