Artistic backdrops emphasize Stroll theme of Twelve Days of Christmas

The theme of this year's Christmas Stroll in Salado, The Twelve Days of Christmas, is the culmination of many months of work by the Salado Business Association.

Suzi Epps conceived the idea of the theme on the Christmas Carol, "The Twelve Days of Christmas." The Stroll Activities begin on Dec. 1 and end on the 12th day.

Cheryl Russell executed the preliminary design with Patty Thomas. The preliminary insert design is based on a wreath owned by Suzi Epps.

Lynn Epps and Otilio Vallejo projected the designs on the plywood and then cut them out. Otilio Vallejo, Suzi Epps and Rinda Wesson's Art Class at the High School helped paint the background wreaths. Patty Thomas has painted the inside images of the "Twelve Days of Christmas."

Cheryl Russell was able to secure from UMHB a donation of large bows to complete the design.

The images will be placed at twelve locations for decoration throughout the town to complement the theme for the Stroll this year.

"The thought is that the background wreaths could be used again with other inserts in future years. The twelve inserts would also be used in another display in the future," Suzi said.

"They are a new idea for the community utilizing the many talents that abound in our town," Suzi added.

Slingin' Sammy Baugh is a Texas living legend

by Tumbleweed Smith

I interviewed a genuine legend the other day in Rotan. Sammy Baugh. Slingin' Sammy Baugh, the man who practically introduced the pass to football. He's 84 years old, slim and trim, plays golf four or five times a week and loves to chew tobacco.

We had no set appointment. I just drove to Rotan, went to the newspaper office and told publisher Rosemary Donham I'd like to visit with Sammy sometime. She got him on the phone and told him I was there and wanted to tape record a conversation with him. He told her he would be right down.

He showed up a couple of hours later. He apologized for being late and told me a woman had brought her son to meet him and get his autograph. His signature is still a treasured item and people ask him for it regularly.

I had met Sam before at various events. He and I sat at a few head tables together, but I had never interviewed him. I thought it was time.

Sam graduated from Sweetwater High School, went to TCU and later played for the Washington Redskins. When he was hired by Washington, he was the highest paid quarterback in professional football. His starting salary was $8,000 a year. Most players at the time were making $2,750 annually. Somebody told Sam the other day one of today's high priced quarterbacks make more money in one game than Sammy made in his entire career.

In 1937, his first year with the Redskins, he led the team to a national championship. His salary was increased to $12,000 a year.

During his 16 years of professional football, Sammy was quarterback, punter and defensive back. He set records that still stand and will probably never be broken: season punting average (51.4 yards) and career punting average (45.1 yards).

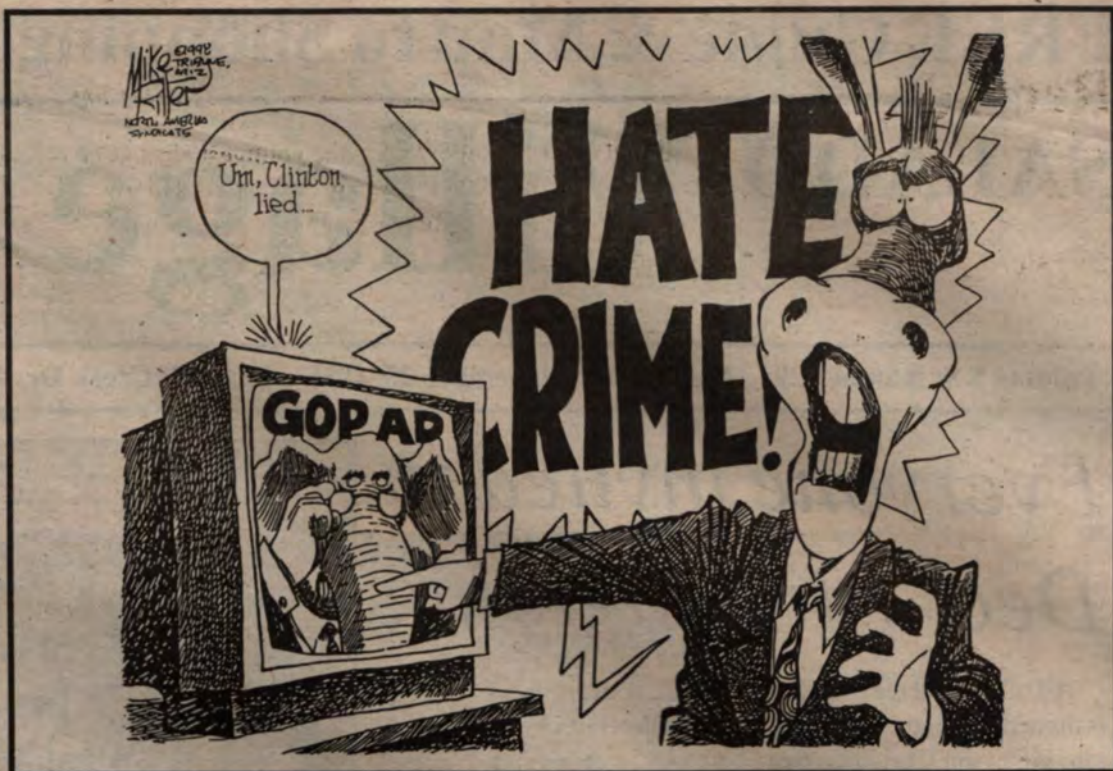

He told me he practiced punting by putting a towel on the three yard line in the corner of the playing field. He would try to kick the football between the towel and the edge of the field. He practiced a lot. During a game, he would imagine the towel being there and aim for the corner.

He developed his amazing passing accuracy in his backyard in Sweetwater. He hung a tire from a tree and threw a football through it from all angles while running.

How good was Sammy? In 1969, during the celebration of the first 100 years of the college game, Sports Illustrated selected Baugh as the quarterback on its All-Time College Football Team. In 1991, ESPN TV selected the all-time top players in the entire history of college football. Sammy was named quarterback. In 1995, the NFL honored Baugh when it selected him as one of three quarterbacks on its 75th Anniversary All-Time Team.

Sammy coached for 16 years after his outstanding career as a player. These days he's content to stay on his Double Mountain Ranch near Rotan, play golf in Snyder and talk to old friends.

It was a genuine thrill for me to interview the greatest passer and punter that football has even known.

Even 35 years later, memory of Nov. 22, 1963 is personal (Writer's Note: I hope readers will pardon this personal account of a president and a day that has indelible memories. Memories that came racing back this past Sunday, as if the intervening 35 years were but a moment in time. The day was November 22, 1963 and the president of course, was John Fitzgerald Kennedy.)

This story actually begins at high noon on January 20, 1961, a bitter cold day, on the steps of the capitol building in Washington, D. C. A group of Uvalde, Texas students and their adult sponsor (this writer) stood shivering in below freezing temperatures to hear our new, and youngest president yet, tell the nation in his inaugural address to "Ask not what your country can do for you; ask what you can do for your country."

Strong words to usher in the "New Frontier" and after years of a steady Eisenhower, who gave us peaceful contentment with little movement, many were ready for a vigorous generation to take over.

This, we were told, was to become the modern version of "Camelot" as the handsome president and his beautiful wife, danced away the inaugural evening.

We forgot, for a time the defeated Dick Nixon, who in all probability lost the close election through suspiciously rigged returns in Texas and Illinois, as we immersed ourselves in the always exciting fantasy of an unlimited and unknown future.

The political honeymoon period, however, ended quickly. Crowded out by such events as the Bay Of Pigs fiasco; the deadly Cuban Missile Crisis; an increased military presence in Viet Nam; the Alliance for Progress in Latin America; the popular Peace Corps and, for some, the not so popular expansion of the civil rights laws that led to riots in the South.

All this in slightly over a thousand exciting days that ended abruptly on November 22, just off Main Street in downtown Dallas.

NOVEMBER 22, 1963

Fast forward now to Friday, November 22, 1963. This former school teacher has now moved to the editorship of the Uvalde Leader-News for a year's sabbatical. It is John Nance Garner's 95th birthday and the national press are in that small southwest Texas community to watch the homefolks wish the former vice president a "Happy Birthday", complete with cake and trimmings.

Associated Press photographers as well as journalists from Dallas, Houston, Austin, San Antonio, Washington and New York joined with hundreds of Uvaldeans to hear Rancher Dolph Briscoe (later to become Texas Governor Briscoe) declare Garner a national treasure for his independent stand against his fellow Democrats in general and Franklin Roosevelt in particular, when he blasted a third term bid by FDR - while at the time serving as his vice president.

The time is 10:15 a.m., in front of the Garner home on North Park Street in Uvalde. The phone rings in the Garner kitchen. It is the president calling. Kennedy is still in Fort Worth where he spent the night. He is getting ready for the quick flight to Love Field in Dallas, but before taking off he wanted to call and wish the grand old man of Texas politics a happy birthday.

Smart move by the young president. He is pre-campaigning through Texas, along with his Vice President, Lyndon Johnson and Governor John Connally, trying to drum up support among Lone Star voters who are seeing some tarnish in late 1963, along the edges of the "Camelot Frontier."

The Garner party breaks up and the journalists retire to the Uvalde newspaper office to send pictures and copy along the wires to papers across Texas and the United States.

Time is now - 11:37 a.m. The Kennedy entourage lands at Love Field and the group prepares for a parade through downtown Dallas. An event that Kennedy staffers feared due to the hatred shown in recent days by a number of super-conservative Dallasites against JFK.

Kennedy approved the Dallas stopover thanks to LBJ and Connally and others who felt the ticket must have Texas to survive the reelection campaign rapidly approaching in 1964.

Running 30 minutes late, the official party, complete with secret service agents, finally lined up in open limos for the downtown parade where thousands were waiting to see the President, Vice President and Governor of Texas.

Time - 12:29 p.m. The cars are now nearing the end of the parade route. Off to the left is the Texas Book Depository building. The crowds are happy and waving. Most signs are positive with a few exceptions such as a single "Wanted For Treason" son" poster complete with Kennedy's picture.

Connally leaned back in the limo and noted: "No one can say Dallas doesn't love and respect you Mr. President". The President replied "You sure can't".

Time - 12:30 p.m.

The president is smiling broadly at the crowds. He would never smile again. Shots rang out. Kennedy and Connally are hit. A race to Parkland Hospital.

In the little newspaper office in Uvalde, Texas, word came over the wire moments later: "BULLETIN. DALLAS, NOV 22 (AP) PRESIDENT KENNEDY WAS SHOT TODAY JUST AS HIS MOTORCADE LEFT DOWNTOWN DALLAS."

And minutes later the horrible, unforgettable news, shocking even the normally hard-bitten journalists assembled in Uvalde, as the wire machine chattered the report: "BULLETIN. DALLAS (AP) - PRESIDENT KENNEDY DIED AT 1 P.M. (CST)."

Within seconds the out of town reporters and photographers were in their cars heading for Dallas. All that remained were those of us in Uvalde who had just finished a great morning celebrating Garner's special day and rubbing elbows with the big guns of the journalism world - and the dawning on all of us that our president was gone.

EDITORIAL

All that is left of this story, about an event that took place 35 years ago this past Sunday, is the assignment this writer was given for the next issue of the Uvalde Leader-News - the lead editorial concerning the assassination.

An editorial that was reprinted in a number of Texas papers as well as several out-of-state dailies. Here it is exactly as I wrote it and as it was printed on Sunday, November 24, 1963.

Written I might add with a lump in the throat and tears blurring the typewriter keys:

"Our president is dead. And with these words a stunned and shocked nation and world stands in grief and prayer. John Fitzgerald Kennedy, the thirty-fifth President of the United States was taken from us by the most ghastly and cowardly of ways - an assassin's bullet.

Men, women and children, regardless of political beliefs, religious persuasions, color and status in society, wept. Many openly, others silently, but everyone, immediately felt the loss and hearts went out to the Kennedy family.

In Uvalde, thoughts immediately flashed back to Friday morning's celebration at the home of John Nance Garner and what may have been the late president's last telephone call - to Mr. Garner on the occasion of his 95th birthday. The call was completed at 10:15 a.m., two hours and fifteen minutes before the president was assassinated.

John Kennedy, at 46, was the youngest elected president in our history. He was a fighter and a dedicated man. Not everyone agreed with his policies, but this is not something new. No president has ever enjoyed that distinction. But agree or not - he was our president!

As we feel deep sorrow for the passing of our president and as we pray for our new president, let us take a renewed affirmation of faith that with courage and dedication we may continue to the great heights among the world of nations that our late president envisioned."

Cold blooded murder is relatively common-place in today's world. Great leaders are routinely killed around the world and in recent years - right here in the United States.

Somehow or another, back then - the Kennedy assassination seemed to have affected us a little more deeply. To this day, people continue to puzzle over the conspiracy theory of the event. And those of us with still active memories remember in vivid detail exactly where we were and what we were doing on that day in Dallas.

Perhaps it was the end of an age of peaceful innocence, wonder and hope for the future. Whatever has replaced it remains to be judged, with perhaps, unfortunately, a less optimistic heart and mind.

That's -30-

Winners named at Gathering of the Scottish Clan's first storytelling contest

This year at the annual Gathering of the Scottish clans in Salado, the first storytelling contest was held. A Scottish tradition, as sure as playing the pipes or dancing the fling, storytelling delights all ages and passes down the values of the culture.

Richard Alan Young, character actor from Branson, MO, took first place with his telling of the "Flourdresser who Fluxmoed the Fairies." Second place went to Sally Goodroe, Children's Specialist from Houston and her "The Twa Sisters." Her win was all the more remarkable as she had to switch her story at the last minute. Consuela Samarippa won third place telling about "Scotland's Four" who fought at the Alamo.

The contest was graced with an august panel of judges. Marianna Gage is a member of the story telling Guild of Austin and a well known storyteller. Harry Berkey is a past member of the Board of Directors of the Houston Storytellers and currently working on membership for the Tejas Storytellers. Jo Sanders, an internationally known professional storyteller, is a Lifetime Member of Tejas, and founder of the Wimberly Storytelling Guild.

The crowd exceeded accepted capacity except that the elementary school age was underrepresented. The audience even got into the act by learning some common Scottish tunes. We all laughed at Emmy Alvarez' funny ending to a scary story. Everyone had a great time and promised to come back next year.

Sharon Sarles offered a tale about Calliech while the judges tallied their marks. James Pitzer, storyteller from Round Rock, was ready to offer, on the spot, a Norse epic in rhyme while the judges worked at the difficult job of setting tie scores. Consuelo stole the show, coming dressed not in kilt but in serarpe, and displayed not only her story-telling skills but also admirable research skills. We know that there were Scots-Irish fighting for Texas Independence, but who knew that there were four Scots? Consuelo did. "Recuerde el Alamo" she says.

Sharon Sarles, a member of the clergy from Austin, was the coordinator. "I am just the woman with a big idea and a Scot's determination to cultivate these folks arts." Anyone who wishes to be involved in next year's competition may reach Sharon at (512) 970-7835 or at ssarles@pop.mindspring.com.

Salado's dyed-in-the-wool basketballers hope to keep their Haire from going gray

by John Eubanks

The bleached-blond look on the heads of the football-playing members of the Salado High basketball team is not a sign of them going gray prematurely.

Coach Alan Haire, however, might need a gob or two of the stuff before the season's over.

He will begin the 1998-99 campaign (his fourth as head coach) with several athletic, but inexperienced players. Only one starter returns from last season's 15-17 squad, now that 6-foot-3 senior Chris Michna is out indefinitely with a herniated disk.

Michna, who initially hurt his back in August while lifting weights, will be re-evaluated in January, Haire said.

Micha, a second-team all-district pick last year, played, but did not start, in Salado's 58-14 season-opening win over Valley Mills Nov. 18 at home. He scored one point, after averaging 16 a game last year.

"It will definitely hurt losing someone who has started 64 games in his high school career and was the district newcomer of the year as a sophomore," Haire said. "But we've got some athletic, energetic kids who are a breath of fresh air, so we'll go out and play hard."

Point guard Mike Gamble is the other returning starter. The 6-foot junior steadily improved over the course of last season and earned honorable mention on the all-district team.

He will team with senior lettermen Ryan Buckley and Ryan Gillespie, a pair of 6-1 guards, to give the Eagles depth in the backcourt.

Buckley led all scorers in the season opener with 15 points.

Two lettermen return in the frontcourt: 5-10 senior forward Taylor Hutton and 6-4 senior post Erik Mentzel. They will be joined up front by 6-3 junior forward Troy Smith ("He's a gym rat and it shows in his game," Haire said) and 6-0 junior post Trey Hutton.

Five athletic juniors were added to the mix: guards Rory Oldham, Michael Schoepf and Derek Ward; and posts Scott Marley and Jeremy Whitacre. All range in height from 5-10 to 6-2. Rounding out the squad is senior Ricky Slavens.

"Guard play has improved (from last year) and we have more depth," Haire said. "We just need the experience factor to kick in."

Haire hopes it does by the time district play begins Jan. 2.

The Eagles host Class 2A state runner-up Academy that Saturday and will play three more district games by Jan. 13. Haire said Michna might return in time to play in some of the eight district games that month. The final district game is Feb. 16 against Holland.

This is the first year that three teams in the seven-team District 26-2A -- and not two, as in the past -- qualify for the playoffs. Salado finished third last year at 7-5, after going to the playoffs two years ago as a second-place team.

"I would hope we could challenge for one of the top three spots," Haire said.

Haire said Academy returns one starter from last year's team that eliminated District 26-2A playoff teams Rogers and Florence on the way to the state finals.

Academy, Troy (down from 3A) and Johnson City are newcomers to the district. They replace Rogers, Hutto and Jarrell.

Lady Eagles win opener, then lose

by John Eubanks

The Salado girls basketball team opened the season Nov. 17 with a 58-48 road win over the Lorena Lady Leopards.

The Lady Eagles (1-1) followed that with a 56-41 loss to state-ranked Crawford in the home opener Nov. 21.

Results from games Nov. 23 at McGregor and Nov. 24 against Cameron were unavailable at press time. The next game is Dec. 1 at Waco Robinson.

Salado played a No. 4 Crawford team, now 2-0, that returned all 13 players from last season's team which advanced to the state tournament after defeating the Lady Eagles 62-49 in the regional finals Feb. 28.

After Salado took a 2-0 lead on a Kathy Matthews basket, Crawford scored 13 unanswered points and led 13-4 after the first quarter.

Salado fought back to cut the deficit to 21-19 at halftime and took a brief 22-21 lead 50 seconds into the second half on a three-point shot by Chrystal Whiteley, who led SHS with 16.

But Crawford answered seconds later to lead 23-22 and never trailed again. Salado managed to stay close for most of the quarter until Crawford hit a three-pointer with under two minutes remaining to lead 36-31 at the end of the quarter.

The Lady Pirates used their superior depth to outscore Salado, 20-10, in the fourth.

"After that first quarter, we played pretty well," Salado coach Larry Salisbury said, singling out the play of Lauren Quirk. "We did a good job of coming back. But they handled us in the fourth quarter."

Crawford first-year coach Randy Sherman, whose team opened the season with a 75-37 win over a McGregor team that Salado played Nov. 23, was asked who his top player is.

"It's really a luxury, (but) we don't have a top player," he said, noting that his top scorer is averaging 10 points a game. "We have a lot of experienced players, kids who have played in big games."

Nine girls scored at least two points, but only one in double figures (23), Jamie Jones, #12.

The Lady Eagles played without senior Katie Punched, last season's MVP who injured a knee in preseason workouts. She is expected to undergo surgery and miss the season.

SALADO 58, LORENA 48

The Lady Eagles overcame Lorena's height advantage to win the season opener. They led 14-12 after the first period, 27-21 at halftime and 43-36 after three periods.

Melissa Matthews was Salado's top scorer with 22 points, 12 in the first half. Whiteley scored 11 of her 13 points in the second half, seven in the fourth period.

Eagle basketball starts season 2-0

November 25, 1998, SALADO Village Voice, Page 9A

by John Eubanks

The Salado High Eagles basketball team opened the season on a winning note, overwhelming Valley Mills 58-14 at Eagle Gym Nov. 17.

The Eagles (2-0) followed that win with a 59-44 at Moody Nov. 20. The 2-0 start is the first in coach Alan Haire's four years as head coach.

Results from a Nov. 23 home game with Waco Vanguard and a Nov. 24 game at Crawford were unavailable at press time. The next game is Dec. 1 at Bartlett.

The season-opening victory -- also a first in Haire's four years -- over the visiting Valley Mills Eagles was never in doubt after the first half.

Salado trailed just once, 2-0, and scored its first points of the season at the 6:04 mark of the first quarter when Troy Smith put back an offensive rebound.

The host Eagles extended their 7-2 lead after the first quarter to 26-7 at halftime. They scored nearly as many points in the fourth period (25) as they did in the first half, while adding to their comfortable 33-10 third-quarter lead.

The score was 52-12 with 1:15 left to play after Derek Ward hit one of Salado's three three-pointers.

Ryan Buckley led all scorers with 15 points, eight in the second quarter and seven in the fourth. Smith added nine points.

Michael Gamble had seven steals, and Erik Mentzel had eight rebounds.

All 13 players who suited up played, and 10 of them scored.

"We're real deep," Haire said. "The kids are excited and they played hard."

Bearcats, who trailed 26-20 at halftime.

Smith and Mentzel each scored 14. Buckley added nine. Ward scored all seven of his points in the fourth quarter.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The JV Eagles opened with a 59-11 win over Valley Mills, after leading 34-4 at halftime.

Four Eagles scored in double figures: Larry Witt 13, Donnie Pipes and Garlen Hennig 12 each, and Matt Stowell 10.

On Nov. 19, the JV Red lost to Chilton's varsity, 69-42, in the first round of the Holland Tourney. Stowell and Jeremy Grimm each scored 12 points.

They followed that with a 78-

37 loss to Lago Vista's varsity Nov. 20. Stowell and Pipes each scored eight.

The JV White team defeated Moody 47-20. Andrew Hanson and Matt Ward each scored 11 points.

America can depend on Farmers

Hurrying to Austin the afternoon of Nov. 15 for the final day of the Texas Book Festival, I had no idea when the event would end that day, much less what was on the agenda that Sunday.

Verses and versus

John Eubanks

I had all but decided not to attend this year's Book Fest because of a commitment to work at the Scottish Games in Salado that weekend. Exhausted from drawing up last-minute plans for Noah's Ark II during the rain-filled first day of the Games (...two Scotsmen, two Englishmen, two referees...), I had no intention of hastily driving to Austin Sunday afternoon for the Fest.

But when the diet soda spilled between my legs as I sat in the truck, the choices were either to walk around the Village Green with a large wet spot on my jeans, or drive around in the truck until it dried. (Thanks goodness I wasn't wearing a ill-fitted kilt during the spill. Whoa, Nellie!) by the time I got to Austin, so I high-tailed it southward.

I was too late to catch the panel that included George Plimpton discussing "The Glory days of Sports Illustrated" (I caught him at a later program, discussing his new book on Truman Capote). But I did manage to catch the tail end of a lecture titled, "The National Sport of Texas: Our Fascination With Football."

Michael Hurd, author of "Black College Football, 1892-1992," was discussing the impact of black athletes on college and pro football.

He pointed out that after Alabama was almost single-handedly beaten by University of Southern California running back Sam "Bam" Cunningham, (who was big, strong, fast -- and black), legendary Alabama football coach Paul "Bear" Bryant went to the university president and told him the football team needed to be integrated.

That integration of major college football teams began to siphon talent that would have normally attended predominantly black colleges.

Hurd read off the All-Time

Black College Football Team, which sounded like a Who's Who of football.

He noted that two of the players listed are among the best who ever played in the National Football League: the NFL's all-time leading rusher Walter Payton of the Chicago Bears, and the league's all-time leading receiver Jerry Rice of the San Francisco 49ers.

Payton played at Jackson (Miss.) State; Rice played at Mississippi Valley State.

Ty Cashion, a sports historian who's written a book on the greatest high school football coaches in Texas, told the audience that legendary Brownwood High football coach Gordon Wood won nine state titles during a time when only one team from each district qualified for the playoffs. (This year, the top three district teams in classes 2A-5A and the top two in Class A qualify for the playoffs.)

Cashion said there's a Gordon Wood parking space at Gordon Wood Stadium in Brownwood. When a parking attendant noticed that a car was about to pull into the space, he calmed down only after noticing that Wood was in the car.

Sometimes we forget for a moment just how many of God's blessings we have here in Salado, then Thanksgiving comes and gently reminds us.

Happy Thanksgiving to you all!

A Brief Visit With Pastor J. Floyd Franks

Tomorrow is Thanksgiving Day. Oh, how much we have for which to be thankful!

The Psalmist said, "And let them sacrifice the sacrifices of thanksgiving, and declare his works with rejoicing" (Psalm 107:22).

A farmer was once asked to dine with a rather dignified gentleman. He returned thanks before the meal and was laughed at by his host. He was told that this was old-fashioned and outmoded. The farmer replied that though it was old-fashioned, it was the practice at his house. He said, however, that some around his household did not give thanks for their food. The host said, "Who are those enlightened and sensible people?" The farmer replied, "They are my pigs!"

This Thanksgiving let's recognize God as the Giver of every good gift... the greatest being the gift of His Son who took our place in death on the cross so that we might live with Him forever. Do you know Him as your Savior? If not, repent of your rejection of Him today and ask Him to save you and trust Him to do it (Romans 10:9-13).

Writer thanks those who helped with Christmas Aprons

Dear Editor:

Now that Christmas in October is a lovely memory, I would like to thank all those who helped with the Christmas Aprons.

Linda Thomas, with the concept and with label printing.

The ladies of the committee: Mary Catherine Ervin, Lynda O'Rear, Lou Price, Ruth Ready and Carol Strong.

The Village Artists.

The combination of the wonderful ideas and handwork of the committee, as well as the hand-painted artwork of the aprons by the Village Artists made each one unique and beautiful.

What a wonderful start to the Christmas Spirit!

Sincerely,
Ann Gravink

Salado women return from Canadian city tour arranged by Joan Schrock

Saladoans Arlene Dewhurst, Mary Hinote, Crickett Jones, Molly Kirk, Sue Malnor, Doris Metcalf and Teresa Tolbert just returned from a tour of old Quebec City, Canada, arranged by Salado travel consultant Joan Schrock.

They were transported via private motor coach from Salado to Houston, their point of departure. Air Canada arranged the air travel from Houston to Quebec City via Montreal. Lodging was provided by Le Frontenac Hotel, one of Canada's truly historic structures. While designed as a hotel, the Frontenac has also served other roles, including that of a military headquarters and strategic planning center during World War II.

Quebec City was the original capital of Canada and is situated on the St. Lawrence Seaway, several hundred miles north of Montreal. The city center is walled for protection against hostile invaders during earlier days. But today, Quebec City is anything but an armed fortress. Indeed, the many shops, restaurants and tourist-related businesses join together to welcome the visitor. While the official language of Quebec City (and all of Quebec) is French, English is widely used, thus accommodating both the American visitor and the rest of English-speaking Canada.

During their stay, the group divided into pairs with each going a different direction. They visited many of the quaint shops and art galleries and lunched in the cozy restaurants. Several took guided tours of the city, including a ferry ride across the St. Lawrence Seaway.

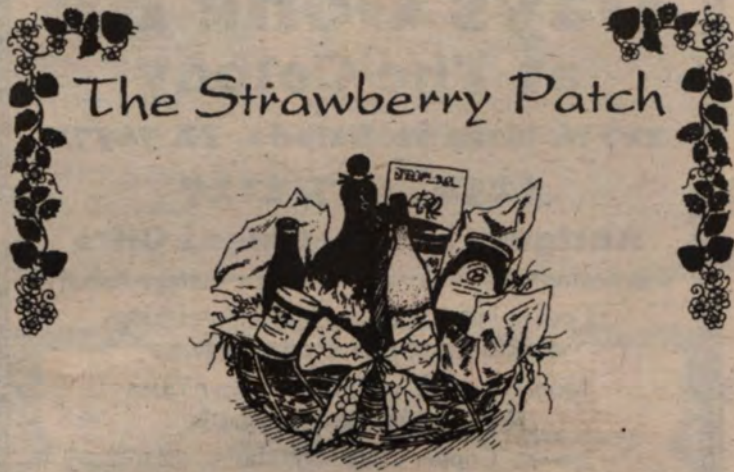

"Upon their return, four of the group elected to spend a night in Houston and return via Brenham to tour the Blue Bell Ice Cream Factory followed by lunch, of course," Schrock said. "A couple of the group stayed in Houston for the annual quilt show."

All participants enjoyed their "adventure" and look forward to returning next year, she added.

THANKSGIVING

What we have to be thankful for...

First and most importantly - we give thanks to our Father in heaven for His many, rich blessings and for providing a way through Christ Jesus for us to receive them.

Second - we give thanks to our Innkeepers/B&B Owners for believing in us enough to support and encourage our success in our first year of business. We look forward to continuing in our efforts to provide a service that affords you the opportunity to truly enjoy the best parts of sharing your home and property with others. Your standards of quality give our service value.

Third - we give thanks to our guests, many who have become dear friends. With your support and appreciation, we are able to continue to offer quality service. Your allegiance means a great deal. We feel a sense of reward when we are able to accommodate your needs.

Last, but of course not least - We give thanks to our friends in the Village, many who have graciously extended their patronage.

We Thank You from the bottom of our hearts!
May the Lord bless you and shine down upon each and every one of you.

Boles-Aiken Cabin on Christmas Home Tour

"A much publicized event happened in Salado in late March, 1986," writes Charles Abbitt in his History of Boles-Aiken Cabin: "A local real estate developer, Bill Bartlett, while clearing a tract of land on the east side of Center Circle, was having a medium-sized frame house of unknown origin demolished by a construction contractor. As the house was being destroyed the definite form of a large and aged log cabin was discovered. The cabin, consisting of two adjacent rooms and a lean-to shed, running the length of the two rooms, had been entirely enclosed by outside siding and indoor plaster. Its existence was not known to Bartlett nor the current generation in Salado."

Mr. Abbitt continues to write that "Robert Denman, a well-known Salado citizen and prominent in the Salado Historical Society, hearing of the cabin's discovery, immediately confirmed the finding and alerted the Society. Society President, Lynn Calvert, quickly put in motion a plan to save the cabin and to have an archeological excavation accomplished. As plans for the land development were firm, with no chance of leaving the cabin in its original location, the Society chose to temporarily halt the demolition. Mrs. Calvert called on all hands to help in the dismantling and storage of the cabin."

"Bill Shaw was placed in charge of the dismantling and a large number of members of the Historical Society enthusiastically participated during the short period of time permitted," Abbitt writes. "Thankfully, detailed records and photographs made by Pat Barton proved decisive during the restoration. Lynn Calvert provided professional photographs and a short video recording of the operation."

Mr. Abbitt continues in his report, "The completeness of items preserved approached 100%, and included the rock wall on which the cabin rested, sills, flooring, ceiling, floor joists, roof trusses and laths, wall logs and the east chimney and fireplace. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Whistler graciously volunteered to provide a place in back of Twelve Oaks to store and preserve these items."

Thus began the restoration of the Boles-Aiken Cabin undertaken by the Salado Historical Society—a project that would not be completed for nearly 4 1/2 years and cost the Society $18,000. Charles Abbitt and his team of Lonnie Edwards, James Poppel and Bob Stewart restored the cabin to its original form so that "present and later generations can be knowledgeable of their ancestors' environment and hence better appreciate their heritage" Mr. Abbitt states.

An archeological service was retained by the Historical Society to perform an archeological excavation of the cabin area so that the original function of the structure might be discovered.

Many, many persons in our village were involved in some way with the restoration of the Boles-Aiken Cabin. To learn more about the cabin, its history and its restoration, come visit it during the Christmas Home Tour. It's just one of eight distinctive sites on this year's Tour.

The Home Tour, sponsored by the Historical Society, is part of Salado's Twelve Days of Christmas celebration, including the Christmas Stroll the weekends of Dec. 5 & 6 and 11 & 12. There will be many fun things to do and see during the celebration. The Home Tour will be Dec. 4 from 5 to 8 p.m., Dec. 5 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Dec. 6 from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is $10 per person the day of the tour. Tickets will be available at the homes on the tour.

Advance tickets are now available for $8 per person at the following locations: Salado Chamber of Commerce, Stagecoach Inn lobby, Royal Emporium, Gregory's, Springhouse Antiques, Pine Cottage, Barnhill-Britt, Horsefeathers, Angel Inn, Heirlooms, The Store at Old Town Salado, Angelic Herbs, Bayberry's on Main, Remember This Antique Mall, and Sir Wigglesworth. The 1999 Caring Ball to benefit the Temple Community Free Clinic

Want to spend "A Night Among the Stars" in Hollywood? The 1999 Caring Ball benefiting the Temple Community Free Clinic will give Central Texans that opportunity on Feb. 20, 1999, at the Frank W. Mayborn Civic & Convention Center in Temple. This year's theme, "HOLLYWOOD, A Night Among the Stars," will give everyone the occasion to shop on Rodeo Drive, see Graumann's Chinese Theatre and the "Walk of Stars". Of course, all of this will be helping raise much-needed funds for the Temple Community Free Clinic. Going into its fifth year, the Caring Ball has raised more than $150,000 for the Temple Community Free Clinic, a volunteer-driven, non-profit free health clinic serving the unmet medical needs of Bell County residents.

Two local organizations are jointly responsible for sponsoring the Ball-Altrusa International, Inc. of Temple (Altrusa) and the Medical Alliance of Bell County (MABC). More than 70 volunteers from Altrusa and MABC serve on the various Caring Ball Committees.

This year's Ball is led by co-Chairs, Kathy Folley (Altrusa) and Terry Buckley (MABC), along with Committee Chairs (Altrusa) Food & Entertainment, Charlene Tapman; Invitations & Guest List, Rene Clark & Kelley Maulin; Public Relations, Karen Walker; Silent Auction Staging, Vicky Jaramillo; and (MABC) Decorations, Ann Price; Graphics, Vicki May; and Auction, Mary Kylberg.

Co-Chair Folley says, "We started working on the '99 Ball one month after the '98 Ball, which was very successful.

The Committee Chairs and their Committee members have been hard at work for months brainstorming, organizing, detailing, and developing this year's HOLLYWOOD theme."

"This year's theme is exceptional. We will give our guests show tunes, a look at Hollywood's stars and a Silent Auction Area depicting designer stores. So, mark your calendars now for the event of the year where we will bring the "Hollywood Hills" to Temple," remarks co-Chair Buckley.

For more information about the Ball, the Silent Auction, underwriting, or the Clinic, contact Connie Thurman, Executive Director of the Temple Community Free Clinic at 771-3374.

Our 22nd Year in Salado

Children's author Marlow to present program Dec. 3 at elementary school

Texas author Herb Marlow will present a program at Thomas Arnold Elementary all day Dec. 3.

Marlow is the author of Twisters, Bronc Riders & Cherry Pie; Dillon's Revenge; Ghost Horse; and Cougari, all children's adventure books.

During the program at TAE, Marlow will tell stories from his books.

Drawing from his experience and imagination, the author has been telling stories most of his life, and now Ozark Publishing Inc., and Four Seasons Books are publishing Marlow's stories in book form.

These books will be available during the program to purchase and have autographed.

Twisters, Bronc Riders & Cherry Pie, illustrated by Julie Caffee, is a 16-chapter juvenile novel developed from true and imagined adventures the author was involved in as a boy growing up on his grandparents' farm. Readers will learn about such things as how NOT to lasso a pig, how to grow hair, and what it's like to be caught in quicksand.

Dillon's Revenge is a three-chapter book illustrated by Shelly Witchorke suited to all ages. Old Bill Dillon may not be respected by the adults of Casey Center, but he is loved by the five boys who help him capture a group of outlaws that the marshal fears. The surprise ending has everyone except Marshal Miles laughing.

Ghost Horse is a three-chapter book illustrated by Steve Sadler that is a favorite of first- through fifth-graders.

Chris wants a horse, but can't have one. Then one night, Chris sees a horse outlined in moonlight high on a hill. Is the horse real, or a ghost? The reader can decide.

Cougari is an exciting story about two border collies who accidentally get into a fight with a mountain lion. The fur flies, but all survive. Sadler also illustrated this three-chapter adventure book that appeals to ages 3-12.

A former classroom teacher (listed in Who's Who Among America's Teachers), Marlow holds a Ph.D. in Pastoral Counseling.

He also writes professional books: What Every Teacher and Parent Should Know About ADD and ADHD, which addresses problems and solutions for Attention Deficit Disorder, and Time Out For Teachers: Reflections and Resolutions, a manual to help teachers bring peace to themselves and to troubled situations in their classrooms.

Marlow has published stories and articles in several national publications, including Country People, The Navy Times, The United Methodist Reporter and Western Digest.

Red Cross to offer 'two-for-one' CPR & first aid training in Dec.

The Mid-Tex Chapter of the American Red Cross is offering a special "two for one" training in CPR and first aid during the month of December.

"Many people need" CPR and first aid training, and this is an opportunity for families to take advantage of quality training at a very affordable price," said Kenya Andrews, Red Cross Health and Safety Director.

Two persons may register for the price of one during December. The Community First Aid and Safety class costs $38 and the CPR alone is $30. Registration must be made in advance of the class by calling the Red Cross, 1-800-497-4280.

Red Cross classes will be held on Fort Hood Dec. 5, in Copperas Cove Dec. 12 and in Killeen Dec. 19.

"Sirena"

In the cool clear spring water of Salado Creek rests a bronze statue of a mermaid named Sirena. She is a life-size creation by Salado sculptor Troy Kelley. The legend of Sirena was a story told to him by his grandmother.

The statue of Sirena and the creek's natural beauty, has now become the inspiration for this new painting by artist Larry Prellop. The original, sold before completion, has been reproduced in a canvas replica so that many more can enjoy Sirena. Each canvas replica is elegantly framed and has the look of an original oil painting. Each replica will include the legend of the Sirena story signed by sculptor Troy Kelley.

Christmas Stroll is magical

Annual event Dec. 4-5, 11-12 displays village at its most beautiful

The Christmas season is a magical time in Salado as the quiet village dons its best for the thousands of visitors who come to the Annual Christmas Stroll in December.

The Christmas Stroll will span two weekends this year, Dec. 4-5 and Dec. 11-12. Most of the 50 shops, galleries and restaurants in the village will be open late both weekends of the Stroll to help shoppers in their quest for the perfect Christmas gift.

Following is the schedule of some of the confirmed carolers and choirs for the first weekend of the Stroll.

Dec. 4: Texas A&M Women's Choir, Salado Methodist Church, Texas A&M Century Singers, Central Texas Children's Choir.

Dec. 5: Belton choirs to perform Dickens' vignette at First State Bank porch at 5 p.m.

With this year's theme of "The Twelve Days of Christmas," local artists have created 12 large murals that will be displayed throughout the village.

Members of the First Baptist Church will perform a live nativity just after dusk Dec. 4-5. The live nativity is a favorite among small children and adults alike.

The Salado Village Artists will sponsor a show and sale Dec. 5 at the Village Art Center on the grounds of the Salado Civic Center.

The second weekend will feature the Sounds of Christmas. Choirs from Central Texas will be on hand throughout the day and into the evening with special presentations at the Salado United Methodist Church and the First Baptist Church of Salado. The Salado Women's Chorale will

S&W opens clinic in Florence

Scott & White opened its newest regional clinic in Florence Nov. 2. The Clinic, located at 301 Brewster, will be staffed by Richard Moon, M.D., Scott and White family practice physician and associate professor of the Texas A&M University Health Science Center College of Medicine.

With the opening of the Clinic, primary health services will be available much closer to home for this community, which has been without local health services for more than a year.

Routine adult, pediatric and geriatric care will be available at the Clinic as well as gynecology exams, immunizations, work injury care and treatment of minor emergencies.

The Clinic will be open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Appointments and medical information can be obtained by calling 254-793-2751.

The Florence Clinic is the 19th Regional Clinic in the Scott and White health care system and the fifth in Williamson County.

"I am delighted to have this chance to return to serve Florence area residents from a local facility with the help and resource of Scott and White Clinic," said Dr. Moon, who was in private practice in Florence from 1979 to 1993. "I look forward to seeing old friends and making new ones. Association with Scott and White will make it easier to provide quality care in this rural setting."

Board-certified in family practice, Dr. Moon obtained his undergraduate degree from Rice University and his medical degree from the University of Texas Health Science Center College of Medicine at San Antonio. Dr. Moon comes to Florence from the Scott and White Clinic, Killeen, where he has been on the staff for two years. Dr. Moon has been a Scott and White senior staff physician since 1995.

Florence mayor Lee Roy Knauth reports that the community is pleased that Scott and White is providing services in Florence. "Lining up with Scott and White will help of situation here. I am glad Dr. Moon is returning to Florence," he said.

In addition to Dr. Moon, the clinic will also be staffed by Terri Wheeler, R.N. and Sara Minor in the business office.

Methodist women form the 'Fun-raisers'

"Are we having fun yet?" That was the question of the day when a group of "Autumn Age" ladies met recently in the home of Marjory Brashear to discuss forming a "gadabout group," sponsored by the Salado United Methodist Church.

It was decided to call the club the Fun-raisers - no, not fundraisers - they have already done that! (and it wasn't enough fun!) According to Marjory, "We don't plan for this group to do anything that isn't fun! No officers, no dues, no talk of Senior Citizens, Retirees, or Golden Years, and no exhausting long journeys."

The first excursion is planned for both Dec. 1 and Dec. 4 to view Fort Hood's "Nature in Lights" at the Belton Lake Outdoor Recreational Area. This consists of hundreds of sparkling Christmas lights and animated displays in a five-mile trail. It opened in 1997 to rave reviews and promises to be even better this year. The cost will be $2 per person with admission and transportation provided. Those who can are asked to meet at 5:15 p.m. at the Methodist Church on Thomas Arnold Road. Return time is approximately 8 p.m. For reservations or if you need to be picked up at home please call the church office at 947-5482.

All Autumn Aged citizens of the community are cordially invited to go with us and be a part of the Fun-raisers.

Jarrell High graduate Pierce completes Navy basic Navy Seaman Recruit David R. Pierce, a 1991 graduate of Jarrell High School, recently completed U.S. Navy basic training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the eight-week program, Pierce completed a variety of training which included classroom study and practical instruction on naval customs, first aid, fire fighting, water safety and survival, and shipboard and aircraft safety. An emphasis is also placed on physical fitness.

Pierce and other recruits also received instruction on the Navy's core values -- honor, courage and commitment -- and how to apply them in their military performance and personal conduct. Pierce joins 55,000 men and women who will enter the Navy this year from all over the country.

Men and women train together from their first day in the Navy, just as they do aboard ships and at shore commands around the world. To reinforce the team concept, Pierce and other recruits also were trained in preventing sexual harassment and ensuring equal opportunity.

Even as the naval service gets smaller over the next few years, highly motivated young people like Pierce are still finding an opportunity to improve their knowledge and education as they become part of the most highly technical naval force in history. This year alone the Navy will have more than 57,000 job openings and opportunities which include guaranteed training.

Reprints of Bell Co. history book available

The Bell County Historical Commission and the Bell County Museum have co-sponsored a reprint of The Story Of Bell County, Volumes I and II. The set is now available at the Bell County Museum, 201 N. Main, Belton, and retails for $87.50 plus tax.

The original set was published by the Bell County Historical Commission in 1988. E.A. Limmer, Jr. served as the editor-in-chief for the project. Proceeds from the books went toward the restoration of the Carnegie Library Building in Belton and to the Bell County Museum, which is housed in the Carnegie building.

"We sold out of these important books two years ago, but found that there was still a demand for them," said Museum Director Stephanie Turnham. "We have had a long waiting list for the books from people all over the United States."

The two-volume set includes an extensive genealogy section with over 1,100 entries of families and individuals related to Bell County. The other half of the book includes entries on virtually every aspect of Bell County history.

The Bell County Museum has also printed sets of notecards which retail for $9.95. The set includes eight cards each of two images, Bell County Courthouse and Rock Shelter at Miller Springs, both ca. 1895. "These two images are taken from two of the best photographs in the museum collection," said Turnham. "Everyone interested in Bell County history will want to send out correspondence on these beautiful cards."
