Spring Homes Tour, Antique Show set May 4-5 in Salado

The first weekend of May will be an exciting time in Salado as the village will host its annual Tour of Homes and Antique Show.

The Antique Show will be held on the grounds of the Salado Civic Center under a large tent.

The Antique Show will feature over 40 quality antique dealers from around the state and country, according to Show chairman Jimmy Murchison.

The Antique Show will be open 9 a.m.-6 p.m. May 4 and 10 a.m.-5 p.m. May 5. Tickets are $3 per person the day of the show.

The three story stone home of one of Salado's earliest physicians will be one of seven properties open to the public May 4-5 during the Salado Historical Society's annual Spring Home Tour.

Built in 1866, the Barton House was the home and office of Dr. Wilborn Barton who had escaped the reconstruction of his native South Carolina. Originally six rooms on three floors, the growth of family and medical practice prompted several additions over the years. With walls 26 inches thick and possibly the first drainage basis in Texas, located in the doctor's surgery room,

The Barton House on Salado's Main St. will be on tour May 4-5.

now an elegant country style bedroom, the house is considered the most unique house in Salado.

The present owners, Robert and Doris Denman, have furnished their home with their vast collection of Early American and Texas antiques. Of museum quality, both house and furnishings nevertheless in-

Historical Society membership meeting set Apr. 18 is postponed

The Salado Historical Society general membership meeting set for April 18 has been postponed to a later date-to-be-announced.

The Board of Directors, however, will meet at 7 p.m. Apr. 18 in the Salado Civic Center to conduct its regular monthly meeting.

Village clean-up set for April 27

A village-wide clean-up of Salado is planned for April 27, the fourth Saturday of the month reserved for recycling.

Volunteers are needed and asked to meet at the recycling center at 9 a.m.

Trash bags and other supplies will be provided to volunteers.

"We need as many volunteers as possible to show up to help clean up our village," said Jim Pringle, chairman of the Salado Chamber of Commerce Environs committee.

For more information, contact Pringle at 947-9229.

SISD voters meet candidates

Salado ISD voters took the opportunity to meet candidates for three spots on the Salado ISD Board of Trustees April 15 in the Salado Civic Center. Candidates present for the meeting were Sara Mackie, Wayne Garner, Rita Brown, Fletcher Rhodes, Bob Merrill and Tom Berrier. Barry Simpson and Mike Tubbs were absent.

Simpson wrote a letter, explaining his absence, his background and position on school issues.

A lifelong resident of Bell County, Simpson attended Belton and Temple schools.

He moved to Salado in 1985 with his family. He has three children in Salado schools. He is a car salesman in Belton.

"I believe we should have a strong computer technology class. Without a computer background in our society our children will be at a major disadvantage in the work force," Simpson stated.

"Advanced Placement Classes are needed to ensure our children are prepared for college and have the credits that they need to get into the college of their choice," Simpson said.

Sara Mackie reflected on her first year on the school board, saying she understands why terms are three years. "The first year is spent in relative obscurity while you learn the job," Mackie said.

Mackie, a Central Texas native, has lived in Salado for 13 years and has two children in Salado ISD school.

"The schools that are doing the best to meet the changing demands are those which offer innovative curriculum, that teach problem-solving skills, not just accessing information," Mackie said.

"The role of the board is to look at where we want to take our district in the coming years," Mackie stated, adding that the district is examining advanced placement courses, upgrading and expanding technology courses and adding other courses.

She added that she would like to see the district pursue school-to-work programs, inter-disciplinary problem-solving, advanced training for teachers and integrated computers more fully into the classroom.

Wayne Garner told citizens gathered that he had 24 years experience in the military, as well as three years experience serving on the Salado ISD board in the past, including one year as its president.

He has four children with wife Mollie, to whom he has been married 28 years. Three of his children are SHS graduates while one is a high school student. Two children have gone on to teaching careers, one has sought a career in the Air Force.

Rita Brown told the gathering that in addition to being the mother of three children (all in Salado schools), she is a businesswoman and has three years experience on the board of trustees.

She has also been involved in the Salado Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club, Grace Baptist Church, Salado Family Festival and an active member of the Board of Realtors.

"We need to strike a balance between academics, athletics, art and agricultural studies to meet the needs of a diverse student population," Brown said.

Salado ISD should work to "tap into the rich resources of the community for mentors. We should also recruit and retain the best teachers who will make an impact on our children's lives."

Fletcher Rhodes came to Salado in 1985 with his wife and two daughters. "I am a graduate of a small school. I was not a good kid, but because some teachers led me to believe I could go to college and work, I was able to do those things." Rhodes has practiced law for 25 years.

Rhodes said the role of

Underdogs upset "party men" in both primaries

Political Question of the Week: "Will success spoil Victor Morales?" And who is Victor Morales, for goodness sake?

Victor Morales, a Dallas area high school teacher, last week upset John Bryant, veteran Dallas congressman, in the Democratic primary runoff for the U. S. Senate. He also upset the pundits in the Democratic Party who are now racing to get on board the Morales pickup-express with offers of money, jet planes and experienced political personnel.

It will be a great temptation to the fledgling politician to accept the help of the Democratic power brokers. Lot easier roaming the State in a private jet than wheeling a tiny Nissan from town to town.

Yet it is the very fact that Morales came from out of nowhere, driving a white pickup and having little or no money to spend on TV ads, that gave him much of the boost he needed to upend Bryant. It was a repeat of the old "David vs Goliath" political battle.

Having the same name as our current State Attorney General didn't hurt nor did the fact that Morales is a successful Hispanic in a State full of Hispanics.

Fact is, if Morales has any chance at all against the powerful, money laden, Republican Senator Phil Gramm, it will be by continuing his so-called "underdog" campaign that has attracted so much state and national media attention.

Off the Record

by Ken Clapp

Alas, (and probably alack as well), all this talk of a Gramm upset is just wishful thinking on the part of a large contingent of discouraged Democrats and a not-so-few discontented Republicans.

There is, of course, little chance for an upset in this race but it will be fun to see Morales touring the state in his little truck, drawing good crowds and sticking pins in old Pious-Phil.

And we highly recommend that the teacher continue using the pickup and low cost images that got him this far.

Our best hope is that Gramm will get a scare and that might make him a better Senator which we in Texas certainly deserve, for a change.

Incumbent Greg Laughlin, Democratic turncoat was seeking reelection as a born-again Republican for the Congressional District 14 seat, that he had won as a Democrat two years ago.

Laughlin not only had Governor George Bush on his side, but the active endorsement of former President Bush, House Speaker Newt Gingrich and the State Republican hierarchy - working hard for him.

All to no avail as he lost the second primary to Ron Paul, retreaded Republican, former Libertarian and one time candidate for president on the anti-everything ticket.

Paul, a Surfside physician was and probably still is, disliked by most Republicans, who consider him a "kook", to the point they were out in the open talking against him using such brands as "An extremist who did not represent Republican Party views". Most unusual, during primary season, for GOPers to openly pick and choose among their own candidates in this manner.

End result of this brouhaha - Paul slipped past Laughlin by some 2000 or

GOP PROBLEM

Most of the runoff election attention was given over to the Morales-Bryant matchup. However, there was another race that also turned "conventional wisdom" thinking upside down. This over on the Republican side of the runoff ballot.

so votes.

Red faced Republican leaders are now trying to make amends in order to hang on to the district. Paul faces Austinite Lefty Morris, a strong conservative Democrat with excellent credentials who "may" just re-steal the fouled up Repub seat in November.

HOCKEY ANYONE?

As most of us know, workers are digging up the Expo Center floor - so that refrigerant pipes can be laid and recovered with cement, with the end result being that ice can be created to give us a giant hockey rink.

A hockey rink you ask? Yessir boys and girls, a full fledged ice hockey rink so that our brand new professional hockey team will have a place to play.

Not all the paperwork has been signed to give us an actual team as of yet, but the Western Professional Hockey League has agreed to pay for most of the cost of conversion to ice hockey with commissioners underwriting, from tax coffers (where else?), the construction of some dressing rooms for the teams, some sort of protective flooring plus a couple of thousand new seats for fans - should that be necessary.

The theme from that wonderful movie "Field of Dreams": "Build it and they will come" - comes to mind and has apparently been the driving force behind this not too pricey an adventure by our officials.

TEAM NEEDS NAME

No doubt all of the county's debt has been retired; employee wages at an all time high; bills paid in full; all roads and bridges up to speed and nothing left to do with our treasury dollars. So it's time to buy a hockey club!

Seriously - we are not talking big bucks here and if hockey doesn't catch on, we can all go out and learn to ice skate.

The most important thing that has not been done is to give this group of ice hustlers an official name so we can have T-shirts emblazoned with our logo. We are talking here about the hockey team and not the commissioners court.

Can you imagine how proud we will feel as we travel to such faraway places as Austin, Waco, Jarrell, Holland or even Dallas and San Antonio wearing our team's name on jackets and hats? It staggers the imagination!

This reporter worked the crowds at the coffee shops in and around Salado seeking a name for our new hockey squad and although the suggested list is far from complete - some of our more enthusiastic citizens did come up with the following ideas:

"Fleecers" (presumably having to do with spending tax dollars); "Smash Mouths" or "Fire Ants" (something indigenous to Bell County - much like the "Ice Bats" team down in Austin).

Other ideas that were forthcoming included: "Junk Yard Dogs" (which tied in with our growing legal population); "Toothless Fairies" (sort of a sissy name - but our job is to report, not comment) and best of all the "Bell-Ringers" which combines the name of the county with what happens when our ice thugs begin slamming each other in search of something called a "puck".

CONTEST AFOOT?

We understand that a contest could be underway soon to name the new sports team. First prize to be an exciting full week of fun and frivolity in the big city of Belton - all expenses paid. Second prize - two weeks in Belton!

Hopefully our officials will get all this sorted out and we will have the pleasure of watching hockey players ravage each other in a sport that makes professional wrestling look like a tea party at mother's house.

Let's devoutly hope they don't schedule a hockey game followed by a rodeo followed by a hockey game. Workers at the expo center could get confused with the result being almost beyond our wildest dreams.

All funning aside - it would be great to catch a ride on the zamboni, which for the uninitiated - is the machine that rides up and down the ice rink cleaning and clearing the ice.

You do read Charlie Brown don't you?

Benefit concert April 26 for Families in Crisis

In a return engagement to Central Texas, Don Irwin will perform 8:30 p.m. April 26 at the Bell County Expo Center.

No other American pianist demonstrates more diversity and creativity than Don Irwin. As an internationally acclaimed performer, a notable composer and a successful recording artist, Irwin brings to the stage the innovativeness of Yanni, the warmth of Roger Williams, the humor of Victor Borge and the showmanship of Liberace.

His vast repertoire consists of pop, movie and TV themes, classical, Broadway and original compositions. With his combination of boundless talent, a technical foundation in the classics, hard work and creative genius. Don Irwin has developed a personal and soulful performing style that appeals to everyone in the audience. His warm and charming personality coupled with his sincere form of musical expression, gives the audience the feeling of a private concert in Irwin's own living room.

The world has embraced Don Irwin's musical genius which is evident by numerous awards, European tours, and a guest performance at the 1991 Cannes Musical Festival. His vast experience includes a recording contract in South Africa, and two music videos for the South African government. Mr. Irwin has also appeared on MTV Africa and MTV Europe, not to mention symphony concerts, benefit performances and a partnership with Bloomingdales.

During Irwin's South African tour, he performed in remote villages for people, many of whom had never before seen a piano. Due to this moving experience, Don composed the highly acclaimed original piece, "Compassion" in tribute to the people of South Africa. He has also designed specific musical programs to entertain children and families. Irwin has six CDs to his credit including Seasons, Color the Classics, Broadway/West End, Before My Time, Love Stories and Christmas.

Social hour begins at 6:30 p.m., with dinner at 7:30 p.m. Individual tickets are $45 each, tables of four are $180. All proceeds will benefit Families in Crisis.

For reservations or information, call (817) 698-7273. Tickets may also be purchased at Strawberry Patch on Main St. Salado.

More on incorporation

To the Editor:

Why should we incorporate - that is the big question. There is no doubt that higher taxes will be the result.

We live in Mill Creek and have been associated with that area and Salado for 25 years. Our building program is controlled by explicit covenants and has worked out very well. There is not a home in the area that I wouldn't live in, in fact some of these homes are far above the requirements of the average middle income family. We have an Architectural Control Committee that enforces these covenants. No problem there.

Our street repair by the county has been commendable. They are efficient and prompt. I had a culvert collapse in front of my residence. I called the road department and within 24 hours it was replaced and repaired. My county taxes were $236 for 1995 - money well spent for services rendered.

Mr. Gallagher covered our security problem quite well. In addition I would like to add - do the advocates for incorporation realize what a security force would entail? There would be a need for at least three policemen, three dispatchers, vehicles, uniforms, a communications system and last but not least - a jail.

As far as medical emergencies go we had to call for help for our neighbor one time. In five minutes the fire truck and police were there. Five minutes later the ambulance arrived. What more could you ask?

I am sure the county fathers would like to see Salado incorporate. They could cut a sizeable chunk off of their budget that is earmarked for the Village of Salado and our county taxes would not be lowered.

Naturally everybody would like to have a sewage system other than septic tanks. There is no argument that we need to work on this problem. Even if we incorporate, getting a sewage system is a long, long way down the road. This is a costly and time consuming process. You can only file once a year for a grant. This application must be supported by a mountain of documents, such as an engineering study, preliminary design, economic status, minority housing and so on. We did a very brief study on this in 1982 and the minimum fee to hook up to the system would have been an estimated $2,500. It would probably be twice that amount by this time.

I mentioned previously we have lived here for 25 years. We have watched Salado grow. All of the new buildings that have been built during this time have been very nice structures and have probably enhanced the Village's appearance. I fail to see what the Historical Society is getting so nervous about.

In summation during the time we have lived here we have enjoyed our lifestyle. We came to this area from an incorporated area for that specific reason. If it isn't broke let's not try to fix it. VOTE NO.

Letter to the editor on Chamber membership

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to invite all citizens of Salado and the surrounding area to join the Salado Chamber of Commerce. Our membership drive has been underway since January, and response has been tremendous. We are pleased that so many individuals and businesses have chosen to renew their memberships for the year.

For those of you who may be unfamiliar with the Chamber, it might be helpful to know that the Salado Chamber of Commerce contributes to the following:

- * Salado Public Library
- * Salado Volunteer Fire Department
- * Youth Fair Boosters
- * Salado Youth Association
- * Students Service Awards
- * Pace Park maintenance and operation.

- * Visitors Center and Public Restrooms
- * Salado Civic Center
- * Village Improvements and more

These funds are in addition to funds normally spent by the Chamber promoting economic development, tourism and community growth. The Salado Chamber of Commerce urges each citizen and business owner to take part in the activities of the Chamber. Individual dues are only $15 per year and local business dues are $75.

Further information can be obtained through the Chamber office, 947-5040.

Our 1996 membership drive is drawing to a close. Why not join today?

Sincerely,

opened 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. May 4 and 1 - 5 p.m. May 5 include:

The Veranda, a professional office complex, originally a Lampasas hotel erected in the mid-1800's, moved last year to Salado by a partnership of Tim Brown, Joe David Stanford, Glenn Hodge and Billy Pipes. Doors and flooring in the building came from the old state capitol.

The Fowler House, 1301 North Main St., built in 1872 by Confederate veteran and professor of mathematics at the Old Salado College, now the residence of Rev. and Mrs. Dale Gore. The cottage on the property, home of Frances Bissett, will be open also.

The Farr House, 20 Rose Way, moved in 1993 from its original location in Belton and restored to its 1870 appearance by owners Mr. and Mrs. George Kolb.

The Boles-Aiken Log Cabin, on the grounds of the Old Salado School, discovered and restored by the Salado Historical Society in 1986.

The Car Barn, east side of the access road, housing a collection of vintage automobiles restored by Dr. Don Ellis.

601 Old Mill Road in Mill Creek, recently purchased by Jimmy Murchison, decorated in an eclectic mix of traditional, antique and contemporary furnishings.

Tickets for the tour of homes are available at the Salado Chamber of Commerce office at the Salado Civic Center on Main St. for $7 in advance or $8 when purchased the day of the tour at any of the properties.

Letter concerns Easter egg hunt

Dear Editor:

In our family the Easter bunny hides eggs but once a year even though the spirit of Easter is eternal. The children's energy and excitement before the hunt cannot be matched to many other events, and this year's Easter weekend was a beauty weather-wise.

Since parking would have been a problem for the 3 p.m. wedding reception scheduled upstairs at the Civic Center during the hunt, why not have moved the faithful egg gatherers to Pace Park?

The Society To Appreciate Mail Person (STAMP) will hold The 2nd Annual StampArt Invitational and STAMP Awards Event at the Antonio Raimo Galleries, Ltd., 700 Miami Circle in Atlanta May 10.

With a theme, this year, of The Centennial Olympic Games which will be held in Atlanta, several firsts will be observed.

"Up until this date we have never been privileged to honor the entire staff of a postal facility with STAMP AWARDS for exceptional service to admiring postal patrons," said founder Harvey Bourland. "As the founder of STAMP I take great pleasure in advising you of a "first" for our organization.

Award Certificates for members of the Salado Post Office staff have been sent to Carol Fleck, Elizabeth Guerra, Pam March, Beverly Sutton, Patricia M. Fulford and A. W. Capps.

Each were nominated for STAMPdom by one of Salado Post Office's distinguished patrons Mr. A. C. Greene. "On many occasions he has expressed to us the outstanding service he and his wife, Judy, have received from ZIP Code personnel at 76571," Bourland said.

Proceeds of the event will be donated to The United States Postal Service Employees Relief Fund. A not-for-profit organization created in 1994 to honor and recognize outstanding postal personnel, S.T.A.M.P. presents Award Certificates to those who have been nominated by postal patrons for their dedication to serving postal patrons throughout the nation.

The Raimo Gallery is located in the Buckhead area of Atlanta and specializes in rare books and prints, globes and maps, art and antiques and of course stamp memorabilia.

Salado Rotary Club has active calendar for April/May

At a recent Salado Rotary Club meeting members were given Easter eggs to celebrate the season.

Upon opening the eggs, each Rotarian discovered a written message. It sounded like a gigantic grocery list, everything from a bag of beans to a loaf of bread. On Good Friday, the collected goods were taken to Martha's Kitchen, an outreach ministry for the homeless.

Upcoming speakers include Tyler Fletcher owner of Fletcher's Books and Antiques April 23 and Grace Jones of Salado's renowned shop Grace Jones May 14.

The Rotary Club of Salado meets 7 a.m. each Tuesday at the Allen Hall located at the Inn at Salado. For more information regarding this group call president Dale Gore at 947-0710.

Texas failing children in healthcare

By David R. Smith, M.D.
 Texas Commissioner of Health

You just need to listen to a sick or injured child cry throughout the day and night to realize that all is not well with health care for Texas' youngest citizens. When parents have no place to turn because they have little or no health insurance for their children, the system needs work. We may have innovative research and sophisticated technology in this state, but we also have millions of citizens, especially children, who do not have access to basic primary health care.

Austin resident Jessica Brotzman didn't think much about her lack of health insurance until she had a daughter. Now, as a single mother who both works and goes to school, she worries about check-ups and flu and possible genetic problems. "I can't take her to the doctor until I have the money saved up," she says in a voice tinged with frustration. "You just hope it's nothing serious. When you make $400 a month, you can't spend $200 for medicine."

What Brotzman and many other parents face is limited access to primary and preventive health care for their youngsters. The problem is one of availability, both for the employer and for the employee. Health care coverage is expensive, especially for small business owners. Coverage also is often hard to find, and what is available may not cover basic health care. Deductibles may be extremely high. And some families miss out because, although parents may hold several jobs, they may not be eligible for coverage anywhere.

There are 1.2 million uninsured children and teenagers in Texas. These children - from birth to age 18 make up 35 percent of the uninsured population in the state. In addition, there are many, many more youngsters who are underinsured. These kids live in inner cities and in lonely rural areas. Their families are not necessarily poor. Rather, health care, especially the preventive kind, is often considered a luxury in competition with the basic needs of food, clothing and shelter. Most parents with uninsured kids work and have insurance for themselves. But small employers often cannot provide dependent coverage.

Roseanna Szilak, the executive director of a community-based clinic in Central Texas, sees the problem one child at a time. "We see children only when they are sick," she says. "Parents will medicate at home until the condition becomes exacerbated. This becomes a self-rationing of health care." Only 10 percent of the more than 5,000 clients who come through this clinic each year are covered by Medicaid. The others have little or no insurance.

One of the biggest problems that Szilak sees is that well-child exams, especially for youngsters past the age of 8, are almost non-existent. "Without these checkups, we will not find developmental problems or chronic problems," she says with a sigh of resignation. "These exams could be used in guiding parents and teaching them how to become gatekeepers in terms of their own child's health."

They also, says Szilak, could be used by schools to spot learning problems that may not be easily identified as health related.

This point is where concern becomes community wide. These children and adolescents are the future work force of the new century. And this is the point where we must make a major investment in our children. To be effective, these decisions cannot be made by government alone because they also require individual and family responsibilities and business commitments. A partnership between public and private groups is needed to provide bold, innovative answers, positioning Texas to take the lead in children's health care. The anticipated result of this collaboration is the establishment of a broad-based statewide system for providing comprehensive health and safety care and services to all children from birth through their teens.

It's an investment on the front end. And there is a return on this investment. Healthy children have the ability to learn, to succeed and to have hope. It is in our own self-interest. Educational performance and job performance are strongly linked. The real risk to our children and to our economy is doing nothing.

This initiative for children's health and safety combines both the humanitarian desire to care for those who cannot care for themselves and the economic reality that the future depends on these children. When health care is delayed or health problems go unnoticed, conditions that could have been prevented or managed may have serious complications. High levels of lead, for example, can damage a child's body, slow physical growth and reduce IQ by as much as 10 points. Early diagnosis and treatment of health problems often prevent costly trips to the emergency room or hospital stays. Every $1 spent on immunizations for measles, mumps and rubella, for instance, saves $21 in health care and related costs.

Health Care

The building blocks for healthy children include a nurturing family, safe environment, good prenatal care, nutrition, adequate housing, family support systems, a medical home, quality child care, parental literacy and immunizations. Older children and teens also need to acquire important life skills; remain tobacco, alcohol and drug free; experience school success, and learn and practice healthy activities.

From identifying these building blocks for healthy children, we can mark and track the problems of unwanted pregnancy, teenage parents, nutritional deficiencies, injuries, preventable diseases, poor prenatal care, alcohol and drug use, and lack of health insurance. We can measure health statistics, numbers of visits to emergency rooms, school attendance, drop-out rates, tobacco consumption rates, unintentional injury reports, immunization records. The report card can be defined, and Texas can receive a passing grade.

Meanwhile, parents like Jessica Brotzman hope that the report card on their children's health will have high marks. We should not allow the parent signature block on this report card to be signed I.O.U.

Ma Ferguson's inaugural gown on display in Belton

The 1915 Inaugural Ball Gown of First Lady Miriam Amanda Wallace Ferguson will be on view at the Bell County Museum through July 31.

Mrs. Ferguson (1875-1961), a Bell County native, was the first woman to be elected governor in the United States. She served two terms as governor of Texas, 1925-1926 and 1933-34. Her husband, James E. Ferguson (1871-1944), was also a Bell County native and served as governor of Texas from 1915 to 1917. The dress to be exhibited was worn by Mrs. Ferguson to her husband's inaugural ball in 1915.

Jim Ferguson's inauguration took place in the House of Representatives Chamber at the Capitol in Austin. In The Fergusons of Texas, Ouida Ferguson Nalle described the setting:

The Speaker's stand was a grotto for the orchestra; an electric fountain played water over the background. Balloons, flags, potted ferns and bunting decorated the rest of the House, but that electric fountain was really something!

The silk evening gown was created by Madame Grunder of Louisville, Kentucky, for $85.00. Ouida Nalle also described the dress in her book:

Miriam's gown for the ball was of soft, white satin, trimmed with real lace and seed pearls.... and she had not spared her purse for the event.

The gown is part of an extensive collection of Ferguson material donated to the Bell County Museum in 1991 by the Ferguson family. "We are honored to exhibit the ball gown," said museum curator Jodi Wright. "Although the dress is important and valuable to both county and state history, its age and fragile material limit its exhibition life. We hope everyone will come view the dress while it is on exhibit."

The Bell County Museum is located at 201 North Main in Belton. Museum hours are 1-5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. Admission is free.

Eagles 2nd in district play

by Coach Melvin Bates
Salado High School
 The Salado Eagles baseball team finally put it all together on April 9. Offensively they pounded 13 hits as every starter except one was credited with at least one hit. The defense was errorless and the pitching was great! The unfortunate victim was the Rogers Eagles defeated by the Salado Eagles 10-0.

Salado jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the second inning. Paul Mashburn led off with a single and David Kirk reached on an error. They were advanced on Chris McGregor's sacrifice bunt. Mashburn scored on a fielder's choice and Kirk on Clint Carroll's double. Shawn Easley followed with a single to score Carroll.

The middle of the order got the Eagles flying again in the fourth inning. Kirk led off with a double to left. Roger Buckley brought him home with a double of his own. After Carroll and Easley walked to load the bases Jerome Peoples singled to drive in two runs.

The Eagles were able to pull away by scoring two runs in the fifth, one in the sixth and one in the seventh. The fifth inning runs came on singles by Carroll and Frazier. In the sixth Billy Hughes singled and eventually scored on Toby McLaughlin's sacrifice fly. Vinny Michna scored in the seventh as he singled and Rogers committed two errors in the inning.

Chris Frazier pitched an outstanding game. He allowed only an infield single on the night. He struck out 13 batters and only one ball was hit out of the infield.

Offensively Shawn Easley was 2 of 2. Clint Carroll was 2 of 3 with 2 runs batted in and Jerome Peoples was 2 of 4.

On April 12 the Eagles traveled to Lexington to decide the district lead between the two undefeated teams. Salado returned home with their wings clipped and their pride hurt after absorbing a 12-2 thumping. The game was called in the sixth inning due to the ten run rule.

Salado was victimized by poor defense (4 errors, passed balls) poor pitching (7 walks, wild pitches) and poor hitting (5 hits). About the only highlight was Roger Buckley going 2 of 3 at bat.

The Eagles J.V. remained undefeated in district by pounding Rogers 15-0 and Lexington 15-6. In the Rogers win David Berumen went 3 of 3 and Chris Michna 2 of 3. Jon Phelps was the winning pitcher. Against Lexington Michna was 4 of 4 with a home run. Courtney Dodge was 3 of 4 and Phelps was 2 of 3 with two home runs.

What to do about those trouble gardens

by Ilene C. Miller
 Co. Ext. Agent

There's a lot of satisfaction in going out to your garden and harvesting tasty, vine-ripe tomatoes. But nothing can be more frustrating than to go out one morning and find a dead plant or even a wilted one.

What are some problems gardeners can expect to run into this year? And, most of all, what can be done about them? Here is a checklist of tomato problems, causes and cures from Extension Horticulturist Sam Cotner to add to your gardening notebook:

Young plants dying soon after planting: CAUSE: Fertilizer burn. CURE: Thoroughly mix fertilizer into soil; damping off disease (treat seed for diseases and don't overwater).

Stunted plants that are pale to yellow: CAUSES AND CURES: Low soil fertility (fertilize according to soil test); poor soil drainage (drain and add organic matter); shallow or compacted soil; insects or diseases (identify and use control measures); nematodes (soil test for treatment recommendations).

Stunted plants with purplish color: CAUSES AND CURES: Cold temperatures (plant at recommended time); lack of phosphorous (add phosphorous fertilizer).

Spots, molds, darkened areas on leaves and stems: CAUSES AND CURES: Diseases (identify, spray or dust and use resistant varieties); chemical burn (use recommended chemical at recommended rate); fertilizer burn (keep fertilizer off plants).

Wilting plants: CAUSES AND CURES: Dry soil (water); too much water in soil (drain); nematodes (soil test for treatment recommendations); diseases (use resistant varieties if possible).

Weak, spindly plants: CAUSES AND CURES: Too much shade (trim back trees to allow more sunlight to reach garden or move garden to sunny site); too much water, plants too thick (seed at recommended rate or thin out plants); too much nitrogen (avoid excess fertilizer).

Failure-to set fruit: CAUSES AND CURES: ..High or low temperatures (follow recommended planting time), too much nitrogen (avoid excess fertilization); insects (identify and use control measures); cloudy weather.

Tomato leaf curl: CAUSES AND CURES: Heavy pruning in hot weather; disease or insects the school board is to "set policy for the administration and teachers to follow."

"I am not a fan of the TAAS test and other standardized tests," Rhodes said. "While they are important I think it is more important that students learn and gain knowledge that they can use."

Bob Merrill stated that he believes the "heart of education is the quality of teachers." He added that he believes in a balance between academics and athletics.

Merrill said that with 35 years experience as a professor and administrator in universities, he offers an understanding of education from both sides.

"I have no personal or hidden agenda for running for the board. I have no children in Salado schools," Merrill said.

Tom Berrier has lived 12 years in Salado and served three years on the Salado ISD Board of Trustees.

He has been married for 25 years and has two children in Salado schools. Berrier is a member of the United Methodist Church and is active in the Youth Fair Boosters.

"The board has done a lot in the three years I have been on it," Berrier said, "but there is a lot more to be done."

Museum offers archeology funshop April 27

The Bell County Museum is participating in Texas Archeology Awareness Month with an "Archeology Funshop" for children, and a special exhibit on early Native American tools.

The Archeology Funshop is scheduled for April 27, 10 a.m. - noon, and is open to all fifth and sixth graders.

Participants will meet archeologist Al Redder, who has worked at several prehistoric sites in Central Texas. Mr. Redder, of Waco, excavated the Horn Rock Shelter near Waco in the 1940s and 1950s. He published the comprehensive site report which documented this shelter as possibly the earliest Native American campsite in the Central Texas region.

After discovering how Native Americans made and decorated pottery, the participants will make their own clay pot. Children will shape a "pinch" style pot and decorate it. Refreshments, including "Dirt," will also be served.

The archeology exhibit features artifacts used by Native Americans of Central Texas. The exhibit includes arrow and dart points, fiber fragments, and a mano and metate used for grinding by early peoples.

Participants in the "Archeology Funshop" must pre-register for the event. A fee of $3 covers the cost of materials. For registration and other information, contact the Bell County Museum at 201 North Main, Tue.-Sat. from 1-5 p.m., or call 933-5243.
