Groups weigh-in on incorporation

by Tim Fleischer

Editor-in-Chief

Two major Salado organizations have weighed-in on the incorporation issue: the Mill Creek Community Association and the Salado Historical Society.

The Mill Creek Community Association board of directors voted unanimously June 21 to "oppose any plan of incorporation that does not include all of the Salado community," according to the July-August Association newsletter.

The board "further agreed to cooperate with the Salado Chamber in the study of the issue and presentation by the Central Texas Council of Governments," the newsletter stated.

The first of three public meetings to discuss incorporation was held July 25 with others to follow 7 p.m. Aug. 15 and Aug. 29 in the school cafeteria.

The Salado Historical Society Board endorsed incorporation to protect the integrity of the Historic District in a July 18 letter signed by each of the Directors and members of the Historic District Committee.

"In view of recent community growth and future growth projections," concerns for the type of development which can occur with the absence of enforceable standards have increased," the letter stated. "For these reasons, the Committee and the Board began examining actions which could be taken to more effectively control future developments within the Historic District."

"As a result of these studies, the Society Board and the Historic District Committee have finally concluded the only realistic possibility for gaining control over future development will require incorporation of the Village. This conclusion was reached after giving consideration to information gained at the May 4 community-wide workshop and other material which has been assembled and carefully weighed since that date."

"Whether incorporation is limited to just the Historic District or covers the largest area possible, it will not have any affect on the Salado Civic Center... it will not have any affect on operations of the Salado I.S.D., the Salado Water Supply Corporation, the Salado Fire Department or the trash pick-up arrangements of the community," according to the Historical Society letter.

In addition, "It will protect the incorporated area and property lying within its area of extraterritorial jurisdiction from annexation by a neighboring city, it will not require the community to establish a centralized sewage treatment plant and it will make possible the enactment of en-

Salado Braves state champs

Salado Braves are State Tee ball Champs.

It was a great start for the Salado Braves with a winning game against the Belton Jets 15-6 on July 12. The very next day playing against the Jarrell Astros, the Braves pulled another win at 20-19. On July 14 the Braves played the Belton Roadrunners and won the game 15-14 which left them to play for first place on July 15.

The adversaries the Road-runners had won a spot in the championship games. The first game the Roadrunners won 24-20. Salado had only one loss against them. To determine the state champions a double-header was played.

In the second game the Braves scratched and clawed their way from behind in the fifth inning to win the game 30-29, no outs, and made the Salado Braves the first tee ball team from Salado to win State.

Salado Braves T-Ball State Champs

The board will also approve a resolution from the Bell County Tax District.

In other business, the board will accept a resignation and employ an elementary teacher.

Congressman Chet Edwards Reports

FORT HOOD PROJECTS AN INVESTMENT IN OUR NATION'S FUTURE

Fort Hood, the largest single employer in Texas, received a boost when $38 million for construction projects passed the U.S. House of Representatives on June 21.

The funding means more than additional construction and jobs. The funding is a continued commitment from the U.S. Army and approval from Congress that Fort Hood is the Army's premiere post.

While other military facilities across the country are closing and consolidating, Fort Hood continues to grow. There are now more than 45,000 military and civilian personnel stationed and working at Fort Hood.

The $38 million in military construction projects approved in the House was part of the $11.2 billion military construction appropriations for 1996.

The Fort Hood projects include $32.5 million for barracks renewal and improvement and $5.5 million for the construction of a consolidated troop medical clinic.

The barracks renewal funding is part of an on-going project to upgrade to modern standards 1960s era housing at Fort Hood.

The military construction funding bill now needs approval in the U.S. Senate and from the president. I will work to insure that funding for the Fort Hood projects is preserved.

Since I was elected to Congress in 1991, more than $110 million for barracks renovation and $96.8 million for other construction projects have been approved for Fort Hood.

The funding for these projects is for one reason — to provide for the welfare and well-being of the men and women serving at Fort Hood. They and their families deserve our support on quality of life issues.

By wearing the uniform of the U.S. Army, the men and women at Fort Hood demonstrate that they are prepared to give their lives for the safety and freedom of our country.

I serve on the House National Security Committee which is responsible for the oversight of our nation's armed services. What I hear from military officials is the importance of morale, retention and readiness in the armed services.

When those elements are in place, America has a fighting force that is capable of handling an act of aggression.

The construction projects at Fort Hood help provide those crucial elements. Highly trained troops with quality equipment will win conflicts swiftly and decisively and with less loss of life.

The Fort Hood projects are an investment in our nation's future. It is an investment that I hope we never need again.

If it is, I want to have the best-trained and best-equipped troops available to protect and defend our country and its interests.

Everything is politics...

"Everything is politics and politics is everything."
Unknown Author

To many people the word "politics" stirs up a variety of emotions. Some abhor the word and think anything smacking of politics is bad, evil, unworkable, illegal and probably immoral!

Others pay no attention to politics - this we gather from reports concerning the small attendance shown at voting places around the nation as well as from polls indicating a large percentage of citizens have "no opinion" when asked a political question.

What causes this lack of participation in something that is such an integral part of our everyday life?

Are there no politics in the work place? The Church, our schools, the homes in which we live, the entertainment we watch and sometimes enjoy? Of course there is and plenty of it.

In fact - just where can we go that politics does not exist in some fashion?

Or, do we have a death wish to become a nation of mental hermits?

The dictionary refers to the word "politics" as being an "art and a science"

Off the Record

by Ken Clapp

that is practiced by "professionals" and deals with managing all levels of government including just plain everyday "groups" of citizens large and/or small.

All this would indicate that where we find two or more people gathered together, we have the potential of not only taking up a collection but of practicing politics.

Will Rogers, one of my favorites, told folks back in the 1920's that "All politics is applesauce" and went on to make a fortune talking about this subject that he so dearly loved, before the great leaders of America and the world.

From earliest days, thinkers like Aristophanes (450-385 BC) had something to offer on the subject: "Under every stone lurks a politician."

Or on a more positive note we find Aristotle (384-322 BC) who told his fellow Greeks that: "Man is by nature a political animal."

Why have so many Americans, during modern times, taken such a dim view of the wonderful world of politics that goes on around us daily at all legislative and elective levels - from town halls to state and national capitols?

Have bad men created so dark a climate that we have just turned our backs and handed government over to the rascals?

For those who have resigned in disgust or are otherwise playing a 1960ish-hippy-style-withdrawal role - far away from the reality of our world of politics - we ought to say shame, shame to each of these drop-outs!

Why not take another look at the wider world of politics and see if we can share the philosophy of Lord Tweedsmuir, a British leader in the post World War I era who noted: "Public life is regarded as the crown of a career, and to young men and women it is the worthiest ambition. Politics is still the greatest and most honorable adventure."

Before we beat this subject to death there is one final wish, hope or plea - that being to urge each of you who has been turned off by politics - to take a chance and rejoin the men and women who proudly

Letters to editor concern Salado children, incorporation

Dear Editor:

Every teacher's mission is to impart to teach each student entrusted to them the tools that will empower them to become successful, independent, quality citizens. Not every teacher however, has the opportunity to receive and learn as much as she imparts and teaches.

Since 1977, it has been my privilege and honor to teach Salado's youth. Each year, I am unceasingly amazed at the quality, ability, and distinctiveness of our Salado children. For me, teaching was always a daily joy filled with constant discoveries as to what made our children so seemingly superior to students in other districts.

Over the years, I have been blessed to meet and teach such fine individuals, they now number in the thousands. But the greatest thrill was to meet a stranger, create a student, and secure a friend.

Parents, your students are not best characterized by those extremely high TAAS scores, but rather their extremely high personal merits. You have made teaching in Salado easy and joyful by the quality of each child you have entrusted to me.

I may be leaving Salado's classrooms, but your children and my precious memories of them, will never leave my heart.

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to work with such fine people, your children. I'll see you at the field, gym, and auditorium, cheering our children on to a future filled with successes and accomplishments.

Always,
Penny Curry

Dear Editor:

We are sure that many members of our community were pleased to receive the statement published by the board of the Historical Society in regard to incorporation. It is an important matter, not to be taken lightly.

We are very fortunate that the Chamber of Commerce has arranged a series of meetings designed to provide all of the information we will need in order to make an intelligent decision.

All residents of the area should make all reasonable efforts to attend these meetings before the die is cast.

Sincerely,
Bob and Pat Merrill

Wood marquetry by Jeffrey Nelson.

A graduate of the University of Texas art school, Robin has exhibited in almost every city in Texas, but her schedule never allowed her to participate in the Salado Fair. Her commitment to the arts in the smaller and rural communities of Texas intensified three years ago with her marriage to a ranch manager. With the elimination of many art programs in the smaller schools, Robin felt the need for support from recognized artists would help preserve and strengthen existing festivals that are such a large part of the art education for children in Texas.

Her studio in Laredo will be open to the public this fall by appointment. Please call the Robin H. Roberts Studio (800) 831-2427.

Jeffrey Nelson

Jeffrey Nelson has been creating works of marquetry for 14 years, since running a frame shop in the Embarcadero section of San Francisco, Ca. He has traveled throughout the country displaying his artwork and craftsmanship.

After focusing, on pictures for all these years, Jeff has expanded his work into the mirror market, designing and making inlaid wood mirrors, many with a southwestern theme. Last year, he created several inlaid tables and was fortunate to show them in High Point, NC (the furniture capitol).

He was educated at Macomb College in Warren., Michigan, majoring in design and sculpture and at the San Francisco Art Institute, majoring in painting.

He has been awarded several Best of Shows including Hampton Va. Bay Days (1993), Cream of Wheaton, Il., (1993), Amish Acres, Nappanee, Il., 1992 and Skokie, Il. Art Festival (1988).

Dan Richards

exist around us but are often overlooked.

To Dan, diversity in photography is the most natural thing in the world. "I love the freedom to capture the essence of a scene, whether it be wildflowers or animals, the diversity of photography is a challenge I enjoy immensely", says Dan, who allows the image to speak for itself.

Dan's schedule is a challenge as well. Although he calls Wimberley home, on any given day he may be found wading through fields of Hill Country wildflowers, combing the beaches of the Texas coast or winding through the backroads of America always in search of the simple, the serene, and the forgotten in our fast paced world.

Dan began recording images 18 years ago. Dan shoots, prints, and signs each original photograph and with the help of his wife Donna, he also mats and frames all of his work. When not out shooting, Dan sells his photographs at major art shows, galleries, and gift shops throughout the country. He operates his photography studio at his home which is located in a country setting on the Blanco River in the heart of the Texas hill country.

The 29th Annual Salado Art Fair will be August 5-6 in Pace Park.

The Art Fair draws some of Texas' finest artists in several media, including all styles of painting, sculpture, jewelry, wood crafts, handmade clothing and handmade toys. This year, almost 200 juried artists, from a list of over 1,000 applicants, will show their work at the Art Fair.

Admission to the Salado Art Fair is $3.00 per person, free to children age 12 and under. The Fair will be open 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Saturday, August 5 and 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Sunday, August 6.

The annual event is the largest fund-raiser for the Salado Chamber of Commerce. The Art Fair also helps to raise funds for many civic and school organizations in the village. Many of these organizations offer a variety of food and drinks. Salado Public Library holds a used books sale. The Salado Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary handcrafted a beautiful quilt, on display at the Fair. A drawing for the quilt will be held August 6.

There are free parking areas in the village with free transportation to the Art Fair grounds. Handicapped parking is available on the Pace Park fairgrounds. A hospitality tent provides shade for sitting, eating and relaxing. Free programs map artists' booth locations.

For more information about the Salado Art Fair, contact the Salado Chamber of Commerce at P.O. Box 81, Salado, TX 76571 or phone 817-947-5040.

Village Artists hold seminar for kids

Art Classes for Elementary Students will be 9 a.m. to 12 noon, Aug. 12 at the Salado Art Center, sponsored by Salado Village Artists. The classes are for Salado elementary students grades 1-5. The fee for the classes is $2 per students (supplies provided).

Give the kids in your life something that will last a lifetime... GIVE THEM ART. Salado children will be introduced to exciting art projects and educational art concepts. The $2 bargain fee includes supplies and teaching expertise of four members of the Salado Village Artists, who are donating their time and talent to encourage students who have an interest in art.

The teachers will include Millie Pylant, Mary Ellen Parks, and Jerry Goodman. Each of these ladies is an accomplished person who devotes time to art and the pleasure of making art. Sheryl Russell, a professional illustrator and designer, will also share her art experiences, conduct a demonstration and direct the day's activities.

Whether pursuing art as a career or as a hobby, art can be enjoyed for a lifetime. It is ageless and it's never too early or too late to begin. Students will have the opportunity to develop and execute a finished piece of art that they may take home. But as important, they will be filled with an appreciation for art and an understanding of art's vast scope of influence.

Register for the Art Seminar by sending the registration form. Elementary students should wear washable, comfortable clothing that won't be hurt by paint. A big shirt or oversized tee shirt makes a great paint smock.

Mark your calendar for Aug. 12 for ART DAY 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

If your child is disappointed that he/she can not attend, please let us know so we can assess interest and plan for future events.

Preserve those peaches!!

by Ilene C. Miller
Co. Ext. Agent

It's peach season again in Texas and here are several easy ways to preserve top quality fruit for future use.

For more details on freezing or drying fruits and vegetables, call the Bell County Extension Office or come by the office located at 1605 North Main in Belton.

Here are four ways to freeze peaches for later use-
PREPARATION: Keep the fruit cool from the time it is gathered until you freeze it. Select sound, ripe fruit which is slightly riper than for canning, but not soft or mushy. Wash the peaches in cold water but do not allow the fruit to stand in water.

To speed up loosening and removal of the skins on firm-ripe peaches, immerse fruit in boiling water for 30 to 60 seconds. Next, immediately cool down the fruit in ice water before peeling. Skins will almost slip right off by this method!

Since peeled peaches tend to discolor easily, it is best to slice and prepare only two to three quarts at a time. Follow any of these procedures for final steps in freezing.

SUGAR PACK: Many cooks prefer this type of pack because it produces less liquid and the peaches can be used in many ways. To prevent discoloration, dissolve 1/4 teaspoon of ascorbic acid (vitamin C) in 1/4 cup of water and sprinkle over a quart of sliced peaches or use a commercial anti-darkening product.

Sprinkle 2/3 cup of sugar over the peaches and gently mix until all of the sugar has dissolved and the fruit is coated with juice. Next, pack peaches into freezer containers leaving 1/2 inch of headspace, label and freeze.

UNSWEETENED PACK: Peaches and other fruit generally do not preserve as well without any Library building. The funshop is open to all children ages 7-10 who enjoy eating birthday cake, playing games, and learning new things. Children must preregister. A fee of $3 is required.

Funshop participants will learn about the basic elements of architecture by looking at the many interesting structures in downtown Belton. They will also play "The Building Quiz Show," a game in which the fastest builder wins. There will be prizes, cake, punch, paper hats, take-home stuff, and lots and lots of fun.

"We are so excited about our building's birthday," said museum director Stephanie Turnham. "The Carnegie Library building is one of the most beautiful structures in Bell County. It is filled with wonderful decoration, such as fancy columns, swags, tinwork, and rich color. In fact, when I describe the building to children, I usually refer to the style as a birthday cake! The architecture of the building well worth examining further, and I think children will love it!"

"Moving the Waters: The Making of Belton Lake," has opened at the Bell County Museum in Belton. The exhibit focuses on the impact Belton Lake has had on both the history and economy of Bell County and the Central Texas region. "Moving the Waters" will remain on view through January 1996.

Belton Dam and Reservoir was constructed between 1949-1954, under the direction of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. It is one of 40 major dam sites located along the Brazos River watershed for flood control and water conservation purposes.

Several rural communities and numerous farms lay within the project area. Sparta, Tennessee Valley, and Bland were farming towns founded in the 19th century that, by the 1950s, had a combined population of less than 90. Prime farmland existed in the valley that produced pecan orchards, watermelon, and other fruits and vegetables. Area residents from such larger towns as Belton and Temple took advantage of the valley's beauty for picnics, parties, boating, and hiking.

By 1953, all of the residents in the project area were relocated to higher ground. Some homes were moved to new sites. "Stonewall" (the Morgan Place.) was taken apart stone by stone and moved to a new location north of Belton.

The Corps of Engineers was also responsible for seeing that all of the 1,150 grave sites were moved to higher ground. Resthaven Cemetery, south of Belton, was created for housing these graves.

Today, Belton Lake provides 136 miles of shoreline, and is the setting for many outdoor water activities. Almost 3 million visitors a year visit the lake. Their spending adds an estimated $21 million annually to the local economy. Flood damage prevention due to Belton Dam is estimated at $135.8 million. The reservoir provides water for most of Bell County and parts of Coryell County.

Visitors to the exhibit will have an opportunity to see and participate in several activities which will lead to understanding the historic "lost" communities, the need for the dam, and the impact the dam has had on the economy and recreation of Central Texas. "A three-dimensional model of the dam enables visitors to better understand how a dam works," said museum curator Karen Turnham. "The model includes the parts of the dam that cannot normally be seen, such as the conduit and the flood control gates."

Other features include a tape recording of the writings of Temple Daily Telegram columnist Madie B. Smith and author J.J. Bishop, who each wrote eloquently about the inundation of the waters upon the land. An interactive map which examines the various layers of land upon which the lake is built is also included, as is an aerial map which allows visitors to play a game. The museum is located at 201 N. Main, Belton. Hours are Tuesday-Saturday, 1-5 p.m.

sugar or syrup. However, many families prefer this type of pack for special diets.

To prevent discoloration, use the same mixture of 1/4 teaspoon of ascorbic to 1/4 cup water to sprinkle over the fruit. Mix gently to coat all fruit. Package and freeze.

CRUSHED OR PUREED: Add 1 cup sugar and 1/4 teaspoon ascorbic acid to each quart of crushed fruit. Package, seal and freeze immediately.

SYRUP PACK: Make a sugar syrup in the proportion of three cups sugar to four cups water. Add 1/2 teaspoon powdered ascorbic acid per quart of syrup.

Pour about 1/2 cup cold sugar syrup in each pint freezer container. Slice peeled peaches directly into the container.

Place crumpled freezer paper, heavy waxed paper or aluminum foil on top of the peaches. This prevents the peaches from floating above the syrup. Seal and freeze immediately.

USE OF COMMERCIAL PRODUCTS: There are several commercial antidarkening preparations available at local grocery stores which could also be used on peaches. These products usually contain sugar and citric acid. Follow the product directions if you prefer to use one of these products instead of ascorbic acid when freezing peaches or any fruit.

AG meets with seniors

Texas Attorney General Dan Morales spoke to more than 700 seniors, their caregivers, nurses and concerned citizens at Senior Focus '95 in Temple recently. In his speech, he addressed the fight against white-collar crime and his office's efforts to protect senior Texans.

"We've got to make sure the Legislature fully recognizes the criminal threat to you ... to your friends, your neighbors, and your community," Morales said, "We are working on legislation that will give the Elder Law and Public Health Division more teeth. We want to increase the fine for fraud directed at seniors from the current level of $10,000 to $50,000 or $100,000. We're going to file more lawsuits against nursing homes that mistreat and neglect their elderly residents. And we're going to fight even harder against consumer fraud that targets seniors."

The third annual Senior Focus, a conference highlighting issues affecting seniors and benefits available to them, was sponsored by the Area Agency on Aging of Central Texas (AAACT), Scott and White Memorial Hospital and Clinic, King's Daughters Hospital, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Department of Human Services.

The conference offered an affordable way for senior Texans to learn about resources available to them so that their safety health and independence are supported. Also on the program were the following speakers:

Chuck Meyer, director of pastoral care and vice president for patient services at St. David's Healthcare System in Austin. He spoke about the importance of nurses' and other caregivers' accurately describing medical options so that family members can make critical care decisions, Sheryl Yauck, MSN, RN and Bobbi Hopkins, Ph.D., RN, with Scott and White, presented a seminar on communicating with people with Alzheimer's disease.

Barry Browne, Pharm.D., clinical pharmacist at Scott and White, spoke on interactions in the elderly.

According to Gus Oldham, AACT Benefits Counselor and coordinator of the program, "Senior Focus '95 provided a good source of information to senior citizens and their caregivers. We're already starting preparations for Senior Focus '96 and invite all senior Texans and those who care about them to join us next year."

AAACT develops and maintains a comprehensive service delivery system for people over 60. The services include transportation, meals served at senior centers or delivered to the homebound, information and assistance and recreational activities in senior centers in the seven-county Central Texas area. For more information on Senior Focus '95 or the work of AACT, call 817-939-1886.

Sami Arts & Crafts Affaire July 29-30

The big Sami Arts & Crafts Affaire returns to the Bell County Expo Center July 29-30 with the Midsummer Christmas Arts and Crafts affaire. One of the most often asked questions is, "Does that mean everything there is Christmas stuff?" Good question. No, Virginia, it means that it is time to start thinking about the gift giving season and this popular show offers a preview of the holidays.

Many of the crafters in this weekend's show will be showing some of their Christmas merchandise for the first time this year. But, the majority of the items at this special summer show will be non seasonal so they can be used now or put away for gifts at Christmas or other special occasions.

Plan to enjoy Christmas with family and friends instead of racing against the clock to get your shopping done at the last minute. Shop now at the Midsummer Christmas Arts and Crafts Affaire. Register to win Air Fare for 2- Las Vegas. Admission is $3 with special discounts for seniors and military.

Pursche sisters will attend nationals

The United States Pony Club will hold its National Championships in the famous Horse Park of Lexington, Ky. Two area girls will be members of teams competing in the event. Rachel and Rebecca Pursche, daughters of Jody and Karen Pursche of Moody, and grand-daughters of Bud and Lou Schenkel of Salado, will travel to the competitions with the horses that they have personally trained over the past several years.

The United States Pony Club, founded in 1954, has 3 basic goals for its thousands of young members all across America. They are: instruction in riding, the development of horse care responsibilities, and participation in various mounted sports.

Its competitions not only judge riding skills, but all other aspects of good horsemanship including barn; management, the feeding, grooming and health of the horse and the presentation of the rider and his tack.

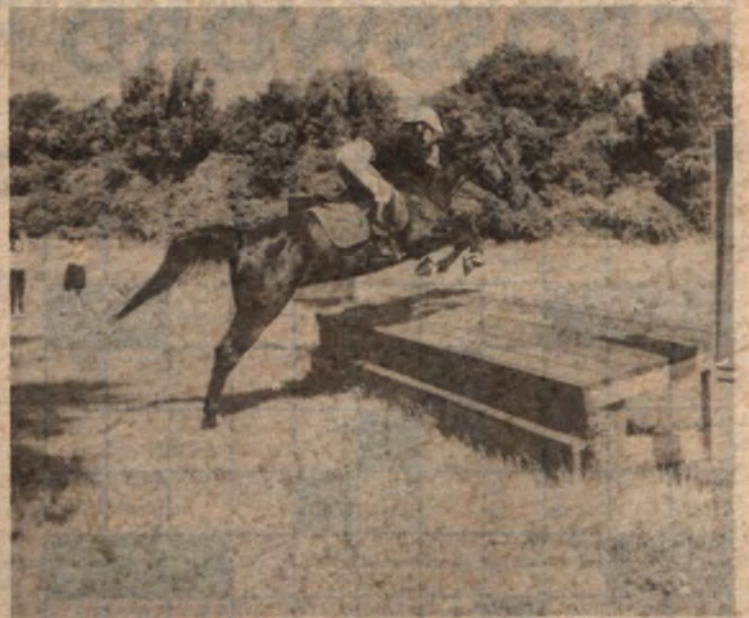

Rachel, age 13, will be riding her thorough-bred quarter, horse, April, a chestnut mare, in the Eventing and Combined Training Competitions. These competitions originated in the cavalries of Europe and were known as the "Military Test" of the officers' chargers. These tests were formalized in France in 1902. The horses had to be well disciplined enough for formal parades and were tested for this training by the Dressage Competition. They also had to be fit enough to carry dispatches for long distances over any sort of terrain, as quickly as possible. Their ability in this area was demonstrated in the Cross-Country Competition. Finally, a Stadium Jumping Competition displayed the horse's stamina and energy.

Rebecca, age 12, will be mounted on Brandy, also a chestnut mare, for her part in the Stadium Jumping Competition. A strenuous test of the rider's horsemanship, this competition also emphasizes the horse's training and obedience both horse and rider demand not only natural talent, but also the skill and training that only results from years of hard work and dedication. Rachel and Rebecca are both home school students. They attend some of their classes at the Stonewood Home School in Salado. They must find time for their Pony Club activities while pursuing a full schedule of academic work and their other interests of classical ballet and piano. Even with such a busy schedule, they have still managed to earn extra money to help defray the cost of the trip to Kentucky. Over the years, they have won numerous blue ribbons locally and throughout Texas, Okla. and Louisiana. They are members of the Huaco Chapter of the U.S. Pony Club, along with children from the Temple-Belton area, Troy and Waco.

Public Library preparing books for sale at Art Fair

The Salado Public Library is preparing a wide variety of Books and video tapes for sale at the Salado Art Fair Aug. 5-6. There will be several encyclopedias, lots of readers digest 'condensed books', and hundreds of paperbacks, mystery, romance and westerns.

The vast majority of the books and tapes are duplicates of those already on the library shelves, but still in good condition. The tapes are mostly documentary in type. There will also be many children's books for sale.

This book sale is the major fund-raising effort of the Library during the year and many volunteers have worked hard to get things in order. Plan to come by the Library booth to find something to read for pleasure, information or just to stimulate your mind.

Record

and constantly take part in the political give and take from the local to the county to the state and national levels.

Politics is fun and important. Try it - get involved. Bet you'll like it!

George W. Bush

While we are on the subject of politics, and those who enjoy practicing it at the elected level, we need to mention our Governor George W. Bush.

He was in Bell County this past Thursday and gave an excellent speech to over 800 GOP faithful (plus a handful of Democrats).

What stood out in the Governor's presentation was the fact that he loves his political job and it shows!

Here is a man whose only previous experience in professional politics was being the son of a president.

However, during the six short months since he took office, the Governor discovered the path to political success.

Working with and through other elected officials - from all political backgrounds - he got his campaign promises enacted into law.

Little if any back-biting or name calling went on between the Guv and the other leaders and followers with the entire session of the 74th Legislature termed "successful" even by those who, early on, had predicted failure on the part of the young Governor.

During the Republican get-together at the Bell County Expo Center - both before and after the Governor's appearance - this writer looked around and marveled at the large number of folks who are now carrying the GOP banner.

Even the Governor mentioned the growth of his party faithful in the county.

Oh sure, there were always conservative GOPers in Bell County but back before the mid-60s this was a Democratic stronghold and things were controlled by a group of moderate and conservative Demos.

In fact, Texas as a whole was in the hands of these same conservative Democrats so that winning the Demo primary was - as they liked to say - "tantamount to being elected".

Then came the 1972 McGovern revolution with divisive rules and the conservatives in the Demo party were dealt out of party decision making and leadership roles. They very naturally turned to the Republican side of the political aisle.

Or at the very least they became independents who lean towards the GOP philosophies.

These Demo loyalists later stated many times in private and publicly: "We didn't leave the party - the party left us"!

This accounts in large measure for the early growth of the Grand Old Party in Bell County. And from this growth has come new and younger GOP converts.

The dwindling ranks of Democrats, all the while, have been wandering in the political wilderness trying to find that magic formula to regain power and control. Today they can think of no wizard's elixir to get back on track, other than the formation of a moderate third party that might direct them back to recovery road.

And that will take decades at the very least.

McGovern's Impact
This is why I thought to myself last week while dining with the county Republicans - that at all GOP gatherings, at least in Texas, there should be a large picture of George McGovern hanging in a prominent place for all Republicans to genuflect before, because it was good old George and his destructive ideas that ripped apart the old Democratic Party in the late 60's and early 70's and gave GOPers a boost that continues to this day.

Despite all this party agony and/or ecstasy, we would again say, and this time in conclusion - if you are not taking part in the politics of today, try it on for size. Join with like minded folks and take a crack at having a voice in how your government should be operated.

Failure to participate will eventually lead to despotic leaders and the decline of our country.

History has proven this point in other countries and as the wisest in our midst have noted and here we paraphrase: "The failure to learn from our history - dooms us to repeat the errors of our past".

forceable standards to control the growth and development of the community in a a manner which does not negatively impact the beauty and historic qualities of the community," stated the letter.

"It is the opinion of the Salado Historical Society and the Historic District Committee that Salado should proceed promptly with incorporation. Because a number of months will be required after the new local government is created before effective enforcement operations can be established, actions required for incorporation should proceed without delay," according to the letter, "In the meantime, Salado will continue its uncontrolled growth and development. Additionally, while the threat may or may not be imminent, Salado will not be protected from annexation until it incorporates."

"No position has, to date, been taken by the Historical Society Board or the Historic District Committee as to whether incorporation should include just the Historic District or the largest area possible," the letter states. "Depending on developments, a position may be taken on this issue at some future date."
