STOP! Intersection of I-35, N. Main St. to get four-way stop sign to control traffic flow

A change in traffic flow at the intersection of Interstate 35 and FM 2268 (North Main St.) in Salado will occur early Jan. 24.

Stop signs will be placed on all approaches and motorists traveling in all four directions must stop before proceeding through the intersection. Caution is advised until motorists become familiar with the new all-stop condition.

An increase in traffic in this area prompted the change. Currently, traffic on the frontage road is required to yield at this intersection.

Political signs
Political candidates and their volunteers placing signs along state highways in Bell County should look before driving that stake into the ground.

State law allows only official traffic control and directional signs to be placed on highway rights of way, and the Texas Department of Transportation is prepared to remove any illegal signs which can create a safety hazard.

"Many people, especially during campaigning, place their signs without realizing that they are on state right of way. For the safety of the traveling public, we are removing these signs," said Bell County Maintenance Supervisor Debra Rogers. "If someone is considering putting up a sign, all they have to do is call us."

Anyone needing more information about state right-of-way boundaries in Bell County should contact Rogers in Belton at 939-3691.

ROAST Friends of Rick Miller to gather for fun Jan. 20

Both Bell County State Representatives Dianne White DeLisi and Layton Black will be "roasters" at an Appreciation Roast of County Attorney Rick Miller at the Bell County Expo Center at 7:00 p.m. Jan. 20.

Miller became County Attorney Jan. 1, 1993 and has completed his first year in office. Miller is the legal advisor to the Commissioner's Court and represents the State in all misdemeanor criminal cases. He is also the chief juvenile prosecutor for Bell County.

Joining DeLisi and Black as "roasters" will be District Attorney Arthur C. "Cappy" Eads and Temple Police Chief Tom Vannoy.

Bell County Commissioner Bob Shoemaker, Harker Heights Council Member Mary Gauer, and Temple veterinarian Dr. Gary Gosney will round out the head table. Killeen insurance agent Neal White will be the Master of Ceremonies.

Tickets can be reserved for $15 each by phone and held at the door by calling 634-4700 in the Killeen area and 780-1090 in the Temple-Belton area.

There will be entertainment and a barbecue dinner and dress is western or casual. The roast will be held in the second floor Special Events Room at the center.

Bob Cottle discusses Civic Center with local Lions

Salado Lions gathered in the Salado Civic Center Jan. 12 to hear Bob Cottle discuss the past, present and future of that building.

Cottle laid out how the Salado Civic Center came to fruition: a long range planning committee studied the feasibility, presented it to the village in a town meeting and went forward with fund-raising.

"We originally thought the renovation would cost $396,000, but cost overruns and unforeseen problems has brought the project in at $412,000," Cottle said. "On a project of this magnitude, a four percent cost overrun is very low."

Cottle said that there some projects left to complete on the renovation work:

1. Floors will be sanded and stairs refinished.
2. Final coats of paint inside.
3. A permanent sign placed outside.
4. Security and fire control system installed.
5. Kitchen completed.
6. Parking lot expanded and completed. 7. Public announcement system.

Cottle added that the Chamber of Commerce has paid the first two years payments on the $100,000 note on the building. The Chamber paid $30,000 to Peoples National Bank, which took over the note.

A project the Old Salado School Foundation has begun to alleviate the debt is sale of commemorative bricks to be laid in a patio in front of the Civic Center. Each brick costs $100 and is engraved with the name of the donor or the name of the memorial.

"Of the $100, $75 will go towards debt reduction," Cottle said. "Already, 185 bricks have been purchased."

S.R. Greenwood chairs the beautification committee, which will draw plans for landscaping the 4.5 acres surrounding the Civic Center.

Cottle also discussed beautification of the entrances to Salado. "The Highway Department will plant live oaks, cedars, elms, crepe myrtles and Bradford' pears along the highways, as they complete their work along I-35," Cottle said.

Finally, Cottle discussed a recent project he has become involved with: opposition to the proposed rock crusher north of Salado.

"This rock crushing plant will affect that way we live in Salado," Cottle said. "There will be dust coming into town many rock trucks

Salado Volunteer Fire Dept. to host Feb. benefit

The Salado Volunteer Fire Department will be holding a Benefit Chili Supper combination town meeting Fri., Feb. 11 at the school cafeteria.

Proceeds from the Chili Supper will be used to help Jim Flynn, who is recovering from a heart attack and to help finish equipping Salado's new fire truck.

Flynn who is recovering at home after a recent heart attack is the former assistant chief of the Salado Volunteer Fire Department. He has been active with the SVFD for a good number of years and was instrumental in helping to build the new station. Flynn has also helped to organize several benefits for others in the past.

The town will get to see Salado's newest fire apparatus, a pumper purchased for Emergency One. The pumper, built on a freightliner chassis, was constructed in Ocala, Florida and delivered just before Thanksgiving. Although not completely equipped, this pumper has already been to quite a few emergency calls, including at least one house fire in the Woods of Salado.

Also on display you will see some new medical equipment that was purchased through a grant from the Texas Department of Health.

February 11, it's time to meet your local Salado Volunteer Fire Department, view the new equipment, help someone out, and enjoy a bowl of chili in good company.

Dave

rated PG

starring Kevin Kline, Sigourney Weaver, Frank Langella

Our rating: ***

by Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

Dave is a rip-off of two earlier political movies: Mr. Smith Goes to Washington and Moon Over Parador. While it is nowhere near as good as Frank Capra's Mr. Smith Goes to Washington, Dave is tons better than Moon Over Parador.

Kevin Kline stars as Dave, a small businessman who is also a dead ringer for the President of the United States. When the President has a major stroke while galavanting with his secretary, the Feds bring in Dave to take his place as a figurehead. This is blatant plagiarism of Moon Over Parador, but Hollywood doesn't care much about new ideas.

What Dave steals from Mr. Smith is the main character, who is so reminiscent of James Stewart's Mr. Smith. Dave discovers ways in which government can work for the people, much to the chagrin of his chief of staff Robert (Langella), who really wants to run the show.

I did enjoy Dave, I thought it was much better than Moon Over Parador in which Richard Reyfuss, a down-and-out actor, is called upon to play a South American dictator.

But I would have liked it much more if it could only have been an original idea, something very rare in Hollywood.

God Bless Us, Everyone!

Optimists should be greatly admired and emulated by those of us of the pessimistic persuasion. Especially in these dark January days as we await the Super Bowl and other events of similar magnitude.

Ran across the greatest definition yet of an optimist. Written by a fellow named Zig Zigler who noted: "I'm such an optimist I'd go after Moby Dick in a rowboat and take the tartar sauce with me."

Being an optimist has to be a rough occupation these days. Cheerfulness, while absorbing the daily papers takes great reserves of sanginity.

We pessimistic curmudgeons pass over the hopeful among us by touting: "They just don't understand all of the problem!"

Violence abounds in the news and on the streets. Adults are afraid to go out at night. Some even fear their kids. And the kids well, they don't seem to be afraid of man nor beast as many roam the streets with guns making life miserable for the rest of us. Felons use jail time to rest up between mischief making. A professional tennis star is stabbed in the back at a meet. A world class figure skater is dropped by a hired "hit man".

Our massive federal government, supported by trillions of tax dollars, cannot solve anything in the way of a problem. Drugs arrive hourly. Homelessness abounds. Health for the old and the young is minimal. And the agencies that are supposed to watch-dog those who greedily prepare our foodstuffs, medicines, goods and services fail at nearly every turn.

And when we are not robbed at gunpoint we are scammed through the purchase of merchandise that is shoddy as well as costly.

Now, we read that there are just too many folks on this old planet of ours and unless we practice a bit of population control we will outrun our food and space. Thanks in part to the senseless cutting down of entire forests, polluting our waters and in general messing up the world's nest, all in the name of profit.

As if all this were not enough to drive those with cheerful and hopeful expectations around the bend - we have sillies running loose who want us to accept aberrant behavior as the norm regardless of the resulting catastrophe of the AIDS epidemic; who believe minority feelings and rights outdistance those of the majority; who dream up the trash we view on TV - day and night; and last but far from least, those dreamy mind-medics who analyze all that is going on and brand it "normal"!

With all this lunacy around us, it is refreshing to run across the optimist who boldly announces that "Things will be Alright"; "Not to worry" and "We have survived worse things than all this and will do so again". Makes the rest of us perk up for a moment and brightens our tunnel of vision. We tip our hat to these hardy souls and hope they survive and their tribe increases.

You will note that the political side of what is going on has been left out of this diatribe. On purpose, as a matter of fact. No use nailing the coffin lid on the problems with overkill. Besides the season is just starting up for our elected officials who are running for office up and down the State. This biennial frenzy will result, no doubt, in forc-

Miller speaks to Republicans about juvenile crime in county

A group of Republicans met at Mill Creek Club dining room Jan. 13 to hear County Attorney Rick Miller speak on the problems of juvenile crime in Bell County and to meet several candidates vying for offices in the upcoming primary election.

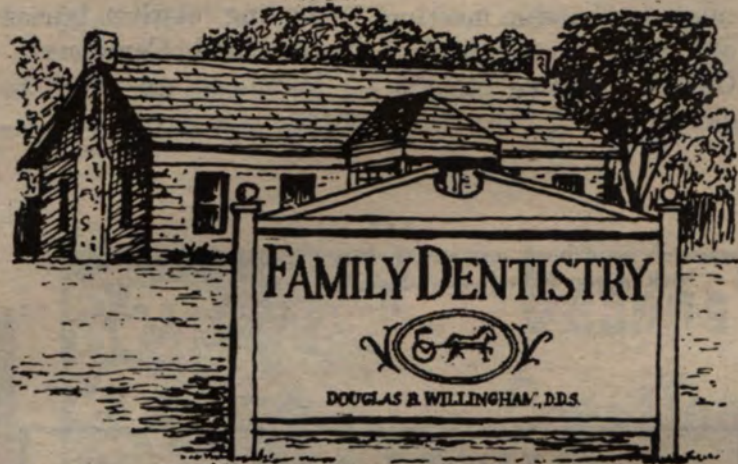

Miller quoted statistics showing that juvenile crime has tripled in recent years. He discussed changes that need to be made in the juvenile system in order to control this run-away crime. He stated that young people breaking the law must be made to realize that they will be held accountable for their actions. Miller is writing proposed legislation to be presented to the next legislature.

Nancy Boston, chairman of the Bell County Republican Party, introduced the following candidates who made brief talks to the audience: Jim Broyles, candidate for 11th Congressional District; Martha Trudo, candidate for 264th Judicial District Court; Oliver Kelly, candidate for the 169th Judicial District; H.H. Cleveland, candidate for County Judge; Shelia Norman, candidate for District Clerk; Tim Brown and Tom Davis, both running for County Commissioners Precinct 2: Ted Duffield and Lou Griffin, both running for Justice of Peace, Precinct 1; Jody Arnold, running for Justice of the Peace, Precinct 2; and Paul Burch, who is running for Justice of the Peace, Precinct 4, place 2.

The primary election will be held March 8. Early voting begins on Feb. 16 and ends on March 4. Feb. 7 is the last day a voter can register in order to vote in the primary election.

John Hall keynote speaker at TNRCC Feb. 5

The League of Women Voters of Texas Education Fund announced today that John Hall, chairman of the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission will be the keynote speaker at the Natural Resource Regional Workshop to be held Feb. 5, at the New Braunfels Civic Center. Chairman Hall will discuss the protection of water quality in the state.

Also scheduled as speakers are Stuart Henry, attorney for the Sierra Club, who will analyze Edward Aquifer legislation and litigation; and Craig Pederson, executive administrator of the Texas Water Development Board, who will describe plans to meet the state's future water needs. The workshop will include reports from League Chapters in the South Texas Region on local activities to protect water quality, improve water management, and address other natural resources issues.

The program will begin at 10 a.m. and end at 2 p.m. At the conclusion of the workshop, the Comal Area Pre-provisional League will host a tour of Comal Springs.

The workshop is free and open to the public. Persons interested in attending are encouraged to pre-register by calling 210-629-5167 or 210-625-2187.

South is not immune to cold

Don't think you're safe from the dangerous effects of cold weather just because you live in the South.

Hypothermia, a condition resulting from dangerously low body temperatures, can occur even when it is 50 degrees outside.

"Hypothermia has been reported even in tropical climates where it does not drop below 60 degrees. Prolonged exposure to even mildly cool weather can be dangerous for some people," said Dr. Joseph Varon, of Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Infants and the elderly are at highest risk, Varon said. Babies' bodies lose heat faster since the surface area is larger in proportion to their weight than that of adults.

In older people, the body gradually loses its cold sensitivity. Elderly people are less likely to detect temperature drops and recover more slowly from lowered body temperature. Also, some medications can complicate things.

Hypothermia causes the body's temperature to drop from a normal 98.6 degrees to below 95. With prolonged exposure, it can drop to less than 80 degrees.

Early warning signs include a pale, puffy face; drowsiness; drop in blood pressure; and forgetfulness. Normally warm areas of the body, such as the groin or armpit become cold.

Prolonged exposure can cause dilated pupils, slurred speech, confusion, lack of pain, unconsciousness or even heart attack.

Varon said parents should dress infants warmly whether they are away or at home, and keep a small blanket handy. Check to make sure the baby is covered at night.

Certain drugs such as tranquilizers and alcohol can lower body temperature in the elderly, as can preexisting illnesses such as hypothyroidism and anorexia nervosa.

Most cases among the elderly occur because of poorly heated homes. Room temperatures should never be lower than 65 degrees.

Other suggestions for the elderly include:

* Have someone check on you regularly if you live alone. Accidental falls could leave you unable to move — a dangerous situation when the temperature is dropping.

* Keep warm by wearing suitable clothing and using adequate blankets. Wear a hat even indoors during colder weather.

* Eat hot food and drink warm fluids several times a day.

* For mild hypothermia, get the victim to a warm place and apply dry, unheated blankets; cover the head; and give warm, not hot drinks. Never give alcohol.

* For more severe cases, heating blankets or hot water bottles may be used. In extreme hypothermia, warmed intravenous fluids and other techniques may be administered in the hospital.

"Hypothermia is highly treatable if caught early," Varon said. "It is important to know the signs, regardless of where you live."

Cholesterol study researches impact of soy protein in diet

Attention cholesterol watchers Soybeans may be beneficial to your health

There is evidence that soybean protein lowers blood cholesterol levels, but no one knows why, says a researcher at the USDA's Children's Nutrition Research Center.

A two-year study at the CNRC has been designed to examine the effect of soybean protein on the body's use of cholesterol, says Dr. William Wong, an associate professor of pediatrics at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

"Our goal is to see what effect soybean protein has on how the body produces, absorbs and eliminates cholesterol, the three processes or pathways that control cholesterol levels in the body," Wong said.

Wong believes that soybean protein may inhibit the production of cholesterol in the liver, block its absorption in the gastrointestinal tract and/or increase the amount eliminated in the stools.

He will study men who have high cholesterol (more than 240) and another group with "normal" blood cholesterol levels

Participants will follow either a specialized, soy protein-based or animal protein-based diet for a five-week period, and then switch diets. The unique study menu offers "chicken," "barbeque," "crab meat," and "beef" pizza — all made from soybean protein. In the past, soybean protein studies have relied on liquid diets, Wong said

To measure the amounts of cholesterol produced, absorbed and excreted, Wong will use non-radioactive "stable" isotopes that will trace the cholesterol as it travels through the body.

"The National Cholesterol Education Program and other health organizations recommend dietary changes as the first step toward reducing high blood cholesterol levels," Wong said

"Results from the study may encourage individuals who want to lower their cholesterol levels without using drugs to explore new dietary alternatives," Wong said.

Wong said the study will also allow him to fine-tune the stable isotope technology so he can investigate how infants, adolescents and pregnant women use cholesterol. The research is part of the Center's ongoing goal to do fine the nutrient needs of these special populations.

SUPER BOWLS OF CHILI!

New Progresso Pasta Soups meet the '90s demand for quick food without a lot of fat, calories or artificial ingredients. The six ready-to-serve varieties feature authentic Italian flavors and the satisfying appeal of pasta. All provide 13 to 25 grams of carbohydrates per serving, with an average of just 108 calories and two grams of fat.

Progresso has developed a recipe brochure featuring easy-to-prepare one-dish meals using Progresso Pasta Soups and other nutritious ingredients. For a free copy, phone 1-800-235-2253.

The following recipe, ready in less than 15 minutes, is from the Progresso collection.

VEGETABLE COUSCOUS ITALIANO

- 1 can (19 ounces) PROGRESSO Hearty Minestrone Soup
- 1 cup uncooked couscous
- 1 tablespoon butter salt to taste

In a 2-quart saucepan, bring soup to boil over medium heat. Stir in couscous and butter; cover. Remove from heat and let stand 5 minutes. Makes 2 entree servings.

TEXAS-STYLE 7 SPICE CHILI

- 3 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 3 pounds lean beef chuck, cut into 1/4-inch cubes*
- 3 jars (16 ounces) Spicy Tabasco brand 7 Spice Chili Recipe
- 3 cans (16 ounces) red kidney beans, drained and rinsed
- 3 cans (16 ounces) pinto beans, drained and rinsed
- 1 12-ounce can or bottle beer

In 6-quart Dutch oven or saucepot over medium-high heat, in 1 tablespoon hot oil, cook beef, one-third at a time until well browned on all sides. With slotted spoon, remove to bowl. Repeat with remaining beef and oil. Return meat to Dutch oven; add 7 Spice Chili Recipe, beans and beer. Over high heat, heat to boil. Reduce heat to low; cover and simmer 30 minutes or until beef is tender. Serve over rice if desired. Makes 12 servings.

*Or, substitute 3 pounds lean ground beef for chuck. Brown as above. Skim off fat from surface.

Museum takes educational programs on the road

The Bell County Museum is taking its educational programs on the road. Now, students can experience the growth and impact of cotton in Bell County at the Bell County Museum or in their very own classroom.

For no charge, teachers can borrow the When Cotton Was King Travelling Trunk and keep it for up to a week for use in their schools. The trunk comes complete with video, hands-on fun with cotton cards, as well as many other activities designed to keep the whole class interested. "This is a unique way to condense the whole cotton experience into one portable lesson for teachers and students," states Museum Curator, Krista Hartsell. "We hope that our trunks will be very busy this year!"

The travelling trunks program has been made possible by a grant from the Bell County Historical Commission and the Museum has plans to begin building more travelling trunks that will tie in with other exhibits.

Cotton Fun Shop

How much fun can you have with cotton? Children in grades 4-7 are invited to the Bell County Museum to learn all about this interesting plant. Through hands-on activities, kids will discover how cotton was grown, picked and processed. The children will explore how cotton has affected to towns and people of Bell County and even dress up like cotton pickers of a century ago. They will also make a special surprise to take home.

The program will be offered 9-11 a.m., Feb. 12. Cost is $2 per child. Space is limited, so call the Bell County Museum soon to register.

For more information on either of these programs call 939-6110.

Democratic Women meet

Salado Democratic Women met at the home of Violet Palmer to discuss ways to insure that newcomers to the County are registered to vote and have access to information about the candidates. The cutoff date to register in order to vote in the primary election is Feb. 7. Registration is taking place at 411 East Central in Belton. There are several deputized people living in the Salado area who can register anyone not able to travel to Belton.

For newcomers, participating in the election can be a time-consuming task as it takes much more preparation. To obtain information regarding public appearances and information about candidates call 933-1907.

Democratic Headquarters is located at 107 North East St. in Belton.

Fojtik's welcome
baby daughter
Christina Elizabeth

Gene and Deanna Fojtik, of Schwertner, welcomed their new daughter to the world 1:29 p.m. Dec. 22. Christina Elizabeth Fojtik was 7 lbs., 2 oz and measured 19-1/2 inches in length at birth.

She was also welcomed by sister Stephanie Deann, and grandparents Paul and Lilly Bonkowski, of Belton and Joe and Joann Fojtik, of Jarrell.

Great grandparents are Della Fojtik and Elizabeth Vrana, both of Jarrell, and Felix Bonkowski, of Bartlett.

Deanna owns and operates Deanna's Creations in the Salado Plaza.

Congratulations to Gene and Deanna!

Mini-College planned Feb. 2

by Ilene Miller
Co. Ext. Agent

The Home Economics Committee of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Bell County Association for Family and Community Education are hosting an Extension Mini-College. The annual seminar is set for Wednesday, February 2 at the Bell County Expo Center.

The Mini-College is open to all interested adults regardless of age, race, religion, color, national origin, sex, disability or socioeconomic level. Cost is $10 per person which includes lunch. Preregistration deadline is January 26, 1994.

Registration and viewing of exhibits will begin at 9:00 a.m. The three concurrent sessions are scheduled for 9:30 a.m., 10:45 and 1:30 p.m. Four workshops will be offered for each concurrent session.

SESSION ONE:

Quilting: Joyce Mayer, a member of the Cross Roads to Texas Quilt Guild will demonstrate new ideas and techniques for quilters;

Eat Well Be Well: A Scott and White dietitian will share tips for modifying recipes for sugar and fat. This session will be helpful especially for diabetics or adults on special diets;

Healthy Living Through Stress Management: Join Kima McLarty, Community Education Specialist for the Scott and White Options for Health learning Center for this workshop which will give participants guidelines for managing stressful situations successfully;

Be The Center of Attention: Tammera Beckham, Bell County Extension Agent - 4-H will brief participants on two state-wide retreats held annually at the Texas 4-H Center for seniors, share ideas for volunteering and expanding your leadership skills.

SESSION TWO:

Seniors on the Go - Elderhostel: Jean Sprague and Joy Phillips will share their experiences from past Elderhostel trips to Europe, Canada, Alaska, Florida and many other interesting destinations;

Benefits Counseling: Eldred (Gus) Oldham, Ombudsman, Central Texas Area Agency on Aging, Belton will address requirements for Social Security, Supplemental Security Income (SSI), Medicare and Medicaid. Learn what benefits you are eligible for in this workshop;

Skin Care and Sun Protection: Home Economist and Fashion Consultant, Annette Fuson, will demonstrate tips for looking younger and proper skin care and protection. Learn what eye, lip and make-up colors are currently fashionable and most flattering for you;

Making Money With Your Hobby: Mrs. Herma Turner of Crafter's Enterprise, a consignment shop for hand crafts in Temple, brings new craft ideas to this session and gives pointers on how to turn free-time activities into cash.

SESSION THREE:

Estate Planning for the Golden Years: Learn more about the types of wills and trusts, probating a will and power of attorney. Michael R. Miller, attorney with Burrows, Baird, Miller and Crews, P.C., will answer your questions about estate planning and discuss Texas laws pertaining to administering and probating a will; palette of mind and body activities, challenges and experiences. Come comfortable dressed for this session and get involved in Expanding Your Horizons;

Expanding Horizons: Join Brenda Merz, Senior Citizens Activities, Inc., and Jane Fort, R.S.V.P. Coordinator, for a rainbow

Personal Safety: Become more knowledgeable about personal safety and self-defence - at home and while traveling. This workshop will be taught by Beth Stokes, Director of Criminal Justice and Public Safety for Central Texas Council of Governments;

Be EnviroSmart: Learn the latest information on recycling, proper disposal of oil and hazardous products, ways to set up a household recycling center and the value of composting and the Don't Bag It Lawn Care Program. Lisa Sebek, City of Temple Recycling Coordinator, Sara Koeniger, Central Texas Council of Governments, and Ilene Miller, Bell County Extension Agent will coordinate this workshops.

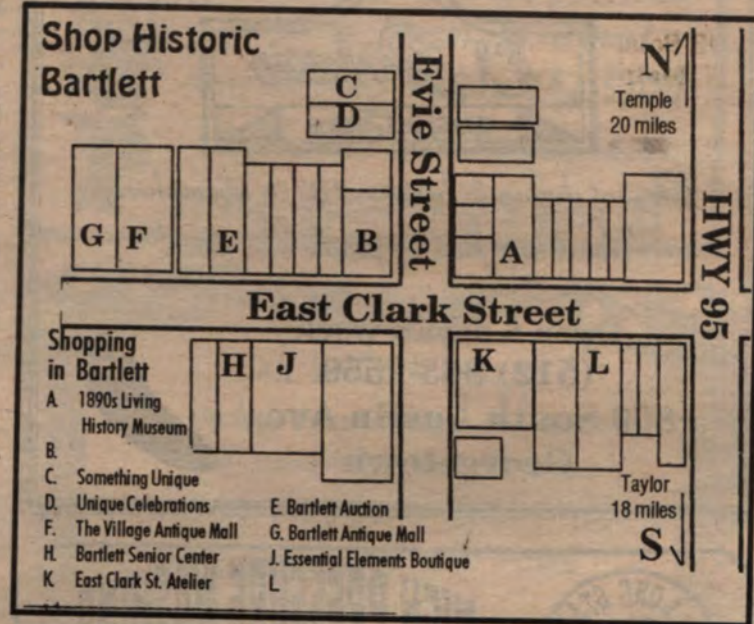

To register for the Extension Mini-College, contact the Bell County Extension Office at 933-5306 or 1-800-460-2355, Ext. 5306.

Lady Eagles pick up 2 wins, beat Thorndale, Lexington

The Salado Lady Eagles basketball team picked up two wins last week in district play, beating Thorndale 52-47 and Lexington 60-44.

The Lady Eagles trailed Thorndale until the final period. Salado was four points behind at the end of the first period, 10-14, and trailed by 5 points at the half, 20-25.

Salado pulled within two buckets by the start of the final period, 32-35, before out scoring the Lady Bulldogs by 8 points in the last quarter to win 52-47.

Annie Ray led the scoring with 18 points, followed by Amy Jackson, who had 11 points. Also scoring for the Lady Eagles were Laurelyn Hunter and Marie Grigsby, 6 points each, Michelle Martin, 5 points, Jennifer McHaney, 4 points and Kayce Moore, 2 points.

Ray had a double-double for the night with 10 rebounds. Hunter also had 10 boards, followed by Jackson's 8 rebounds. Jackson stole the ball 8 times.

The lady Eagles handed the counterparts from Lexington their hats, 60-44.

Lexington led at the end of the first period, 11-5, but that was the only time as Salado pulled ahead at the half, 26-18. The Lady Eagles led 44-35 at the end of the third.

Hunter had a whopping 23 points, followed by Jackson, 16 points. Also scoring were Grigsby and Moore, 7 points each; Ray, 4 points; Martin, 2 points and McHaney, 1 point.

Hunter led all rebounding with 17 boards, followed by Grigsby and Jackson, who had 6 rebounds each.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Something insidious is happening. Crime has made us all victims. It is a National Cancer eating on our gut. We are more impoverished and less free than at any other time in our history.

Society has proven itself incapable of dealing with crime. Victims find little protection or consolation under our present legal system.

Scales are out of balance on the side of the criminal. Have we lost sight of the fact we protect those that obey the law; and punish those that break it? The system caters to judges and lawyers, while regarding the victim as a nuisance.

There is a solution! Make the criminals work for, and pay back the victim for all the misery and suffering they have caused. Of course this is too easy. It would eliminate plea-bargains and fat Lawyers fees.

Put all the lawyers on a desert island. They could all sue each other. The country's Gross National Product would probably jump 50%. Criminals would have to deal with their victims in a direct pay-back arrangement. Those that refused would be put to work paving city and county streets, chopping cotton and other public works project. No free time! No watching TV in an air conditioned cell.

The victims should always come first, not the criminal.

This is what the Bible says:

And if men strive together, and one smite another with a stone, or with his fist, and he die not, but keepeth his bed. If he rise again, and walk abroad upon his staff, then shall he that smote him be quit; only he shall pay for the loss of his time, and shall cause him to be thoroughly healed. Exodus 21: 18 & 19

If we would follow the teachings of the Bible; crime would cease to be a major problem.

Vitek-Keith exchange vows

Julie Renee Vitek of Waco became the bride of Jason Simmons Keith of Arlington in a double-ring ceremony Saturday at St. Matthew Lutheran Church in Waco.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Vitek of Waco and the granddaughter of Col. and Mrs. Clifton Pyle of Salado. The bridegroom is the son of Beth Keith of Arlington and Bill Keith of Fort Worth.

The Rev. Samuel Zumwalt officiated. Music was by Kim Vancura of Waco and Patricia Deitrich soloist, of Waco.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a silk gown with heavily jeweled Alencon lace on the basque scalloped waistline and a deep vee back accented with a large Dior bow.

Maid of honor was Allison Burkhart of Waco. Bridesmaids were Shannon Ellinghausen of Brent, Ala., Janet Civa of Waco; Brenda Erckfitz of San Antonio; Ashley Williams of Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Wendy Knighton of Anniston, Ala.; and Amy Purdy of Pensacola, Fla.

Best man was Jeffrey Keith, brother of the bridegroom, of Arlington. Grooms men were Eric Vitek, brother of the bride, of Waco; Pete Schmitt of California; Ross Talkington and Jay Whillock, both of

Mrs. Jason Simmons Keith, formerly Julie Renee Vitek

Arlington; Richard Ellinghausen of Brent, Ala.; and Brion Brauning of Tulsa, Okla.

Ring bearer was Colton Short of Waco.

Seating guests were Matthew Mladenka of Waco, David Galvan of Marshall, and Andrew Grommar and John Nelson, both of Arlington.

A reception followed at the Karem Hall in Waco.

After a wedding trip to St. Thomas, the couple will live in Marietta, Ga.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Alabama with a bachelor's degree in nutrition and dietetics.

A graduate of the University of Oklahoma with a degree in communications, the bridegroom is a medical supply representative for Tecno.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at the Clifton House in Waco.

SFVD receives grant from Dept. of Health

State Senator Jeff Wentworth, R-San Antonio, announced that the Salado Volunteer Fire Department has been awarded an Emergency Medical Services (EMS) Local Projects Grant from the Texas Department of Health. The grant, which totals $3,150, will be used for CPR mannequins and a variety of first response patient treatment equipment.

Wentworth said, "The Salado Volunteer Fire Department serves the local community of Salado, and also responds to trauma and rescue related incidents along IH-35. I am very pleased they received this grant, which will assist them in their emergency first response treatment."

Eagles beat Lexington, lose to Thorndale

The Salado Eagles Varsity Basketball team won its season opener against Lexington last week, after losing to Thorndale.

The Eagles stayed close to the Thorndale Bulldogs in the first half, trailing by one point at the half, 25-24. Thorndale added to its lead in the third quarter, 47-42 before closing the game 78-65 in the final period.

Brent Cabaniss led the scoring for Salado with 20 points, followed by Benji Daniel's and Jereme Hosch's 8 point efforts.

Jason Hosch and Mike McKinney added 6 points each, followed by William Culp, 4 points, Jerome Peoples, 3 points, and Paul Gidley, 2 points.

The Eagles beat the Lexington Eagles 94-73 later in the week, to earn their first district win.

Salado trailed by seven points at the end of the first period, 14-21, but took over the lead at halftime, 40-33. Salado led by just 5 points at the end of the third period 58-53 before blowing out the game with a 36 point final period.

Three Eagles earned double figures: Daniel led the scoring with 17 points, followed by Cabaniss, 14 points; Peoples, 13 points; and Gidley, 12 points.

Jason Hosch and McKinney each had 8 points, followed by 7 point efforts by Culp and Jereme Hosch.

Josh Goodnight contributed 4 points and Shane Johnston added a point.

ing the optimists of Texas to go into overdrive this Spring in order to find a ray of sunshine out of the poltroonish behavior of candidates tearing into each other. For the rest of us it will be a time of amazement, amusement and wonderment that despite these political Pooh-Bahs and their scandalous campaigns

- the Republic remains intact. And with that bit of optimism - we close with a salute to those cheerful folk who repeat daily - Tiny Tim's famous ending words found in the Christmas Carol: "God Bless Us - Every One"!

And that's -30- on a stormy January morning!
