Parade May 30

Bridges will be Grand Marshals of May 30 event

Lifelong Salado residents Bill and Doodle Bridges lead the way on May 30 as Grand Marshals of the 1994 Salado Memorial Day Parade! The Bridges graduated from the Salado schools, and have been instrumental in the growth and development of both the Salado school district and the church community. Their commitment and support of all things "Salado" throughout the years garnered them the honor of the lead spot in the parade. Escorting them through the streets of town will be Milo Johnson with his prized horse and carriage team—Johnson is known throughout Bell County for his elegant and nostalgic horse and carriage rides.

Bill and Doodle Bridges

A service honoring the brave men who have served our country in the armed forces will be held as the parade pauses briefly in front of the Old Red Schoolhouse. In addition, the parade will pay tribute to the many ethnic groups who found a home in Texas—all those people who brought their customs and cultural heritage together to our Lone Star State, Texas.

The parade will begin at 10 a.m. May 30. The staging area will be located in the Salado Plaza Shopping Center near the IGA grocery store parking area. Parade entrants are asked to be at the staging area and ready to go by 9:00 a.m.

Tablerock Amphitheater will present a special performance of A Texas Romance noon May 30.

A Texas Romance is a hilarious play dealing with hopes and dreams, and love.

Margaret Wilson, a middle-aged widow, refuses to take her place embroidering tablecloths. Inspired by the readings of Fitzgerald, Lawrence and Joyce, one side of her wants to entertain the advances of a young suitor. Her other side knows that a brand new life will take some arranging. Margaret's sister Doris fully understands why her sister and young Garland's relationship won't work. Doris is married to a tubercular crotchety old man. She is torn between the doctor's advice to take him out west for better air and staying home and letting him die.

While Doris takes every opportunity to discourage Maggie's romance, Maggie and Garland try to work through the obstacles which keeps them apart.

Tickets to the Memorial Day picnic performance of A Texas Romance are available for $7 adults and $3 for children.

Memorial Day Service at cemetery

by MaryBelle Brown

Contributor

The annual Memorial Day Service at the historic Salado Cemetery will begin 9 a.m. May 30. The public is invited.

Tribute will be paid to all person buried in the cemetery. Flags will be placed on the graves of 143 veterans and peace-time service men.

A brief history of the cemetery will be given. Following this, a military salute will be carried out by a unit of the Special Troops Battalion, 13th Corps Support Command (COSCOM) under the command of LTC Deborah L. Van Dormolen.

A roll call will be done by Lt. Kristine Koehler followed by a 21 gun salute.

After the program is complete, refreshments will be served under the green trees at the main entrance to the cemetery.

The Salado Cemetery is one of the oldest cemeteries in the Central Texas area. The oldest grave located is that of Mrs. Zillah Bush, who died in 1856. The land for the original cemetery was donated by Col E.S.C. Robertson at that time.

A review of the grave-stones located in the cemetery tells many interesting facts about early Salado history.

Four early day preachers are buried there. These include Rev. W.T. Bush, a Church of Christ minister and husband of Zillah Bush. He helped organize the first church in Salado Springs in 1859.

Other ministers include Rev. James E. Ferguson, a Methodist circuit-rider and father of the late Texas governor James E. Ferguson; John Paine, another Church of Christ minister; and Rev. George Washington Baines, the great-grandfather of U.S. President Lyndon Baines Johnson.

Saturday Night at the Movies will feature The Searchers

Saturday Night at the Movies Series will begin May 28 at Tablerock Goodnight Amphitheater with the presentation of The Searchers.

This 1956 film directed by John Ford is listed as the fifth-best movie ever made. Many media critics consider this vigorous multilayered look at the American West to be the model western movie.

John Ford considered this one of his finest works. The all-star cast of John Wayne, Jeff Hunter, Natalie Wood, Ward Bond, Vera Miles and Harry Carey Jr. give incredible performances in this tale of a girl stolen by the Indians.

Gary Askins, a Tablerock director, stated that "Tablerock has created another opportunity for the community to gather beneath the stars and share an entertainment delight. This could be the start of another annual event."

Troy Kelly, local artist and sculptor, is chairman of the film selection committee. "This is to be a family event," said Kelley. "And what could be a better way to celebrate the coming of summer than to bring a blanket or lawn chair and enjoy a large screen version of the five best movies ever made."

The four remaining movies to be presented at Tablerock are, Vertigo on June 4; Tokyo Story June 11; LaRegle Due Jeu on June 18 and Citizen Kane on June 25.

Admission is $3 per adult and $1 per student. The concession stand opens at 7 p.m. for sandwiches, drinks, candy and popcorn. Picnic baskets are welcome. Bring a lawn chair or blanket. Lecture and movie will begin at 7:45 p.m.

For more information call Troy Kelley 947-8386 or Denver Mills 947-9205.

Governor Ann Richards and GOP candidate George Bush are at it again only this time, agreeing on one thing - that being a total ban on "new taxes". These two are going about the State mouthing this parrot-type shibboleth, that makes no sense whatever in a growing population, with the happy hope that voters want to hear this "pap" and will flock to their nonsensical battle standards.

Despite what the politicians may think - this business of no-new-taxes at the state level - is well understood by those who live at the local tax level. We know - if we have not been visiting Mars the last decade or two, that taxes abrogated in Austin always end up at the local level where folks are least able to pay for high priced services. Education comes to mind immediately.

Voters need to ask Queen Ann and Hopeful George how they plan to pay for their proposals that would increase teacher salaries; build more prisons; combat rising juvenile crime; hire more state cops and on and on. Surely the lottery proceeds will not pay these bills and we all know that the sales and franchise levies are at their taxing limits.

Richards and Bush talk a good game about cutting corners to stay within revenues. They will shout from the roof-tops the need to streamline "gummint"; eliminate waste; cut back the number of state workers and take folks off the welfare rolls. All well and good but when November comes and goes - nothing will happen other than the need for more money. The fact is that government is inherently slow and inefficient. This costs money - your money, and nothing yet has been uncovered to stop this move towards costly ineffectuality by those who govern. We must be the most patient people of all time to put up with such shenanigans year in and year out. And we are gearing up for another round of soft-shoe walk arounding by our gubernatorial candidates. We should remember all this when the Richards or Bush band-wagons roll in town full of promises with a "no-new-tax" price tag. Don't be fooled. And don't let them think you are fooled.

On the more positive side of the coin and despite the problems, we do have a system of government that is second to none. What we have to accept is the fact that it is costly, slow moving, cumbersome and at times exasperating and not apt to change no matter what our wannabees for high office tell us. The costs are something we may have to live with in order to have the freedoms and other blessings of a democratic, free enterprise way of political social and economic life! Or not!!

In the category of happenings that could only occur in Austin, we now add a new endeavor that just knocks your hat in the creek. It is casino gambling - riverboat style!

Seems there is a plan afoot in the capitol city to first secure legal permission from the legislature to

The town of Salado came into being as a result of the founding of Salado College in 1859. A number of early day educators are buried in Salado Cemetery. Professor James Smith, head of Salado College for many years and Dr. Samuel Jones, head of Thomas Arnold High School. Dr. Jones also served on the Board of Regents of the University of Texas at Austin.

The four sides of Dr. Jones' gravestone reveal his feelings about education. One side reads, "Who devoted his life to this work and contributed no small degree to the cause of the education in the State of Texas." Another side reads: "Who as Regent of the University of Texas spent his last thought and efforts, though suffering much, in a successful endeavor to free that institution from an ignorant and tyrannical political control." This statement most likely refers to Jones' difference of opinion with Gov. James E. Ferguson over how the University should be operated.

Major A.J. Rose, who once served as Chairman of the Board of Regents of Texas A & M College, is also buried here. Major Rose opened the first Grange Store in Salado. The Grange was an early-day farmer's and ranchers; co-operative. Major Rose helped organize the Masonic Lodge in Salado and served as Grand Master in 1886 and 1887.

A number of pioneer doctors are buried in the cemetery as well. Dr. Welborn Barton moved his family to Salado in 1866 and built the three-story rock Barton House which still stands on North Main St. His son, Dr. Welborn Barton, Jr., also practiced medicine in Bell County and is buried here. Dr. J.E. Guthrie, Dr. W.A. Davis, Jr., Dr. F.G. Kimbrough and Dr. B.D. McKie are all buried in the Salado Cemetery.

The ages of persons buried in the cemetery reveal something of the hardship the early settlers faced.

There are many infants and young children, as well as young mother buried there.

The middle section of the cemetery, known as the Old Original Cemetery, provided for approximately 3,600 graves, many of which are lost. The vacant areas in that part of the cemetery are believed to be the sites of these "lost" graves.

An historical marker can be found by the flagpole at the entrance to the cemetery. Securing and placing this marker was a project of the Salado Chamber of Commerce in 1969. At the dedication, the marker was unveiled by Mrs. Virginia Kinnison Matthews, granddaughter of the Rev. George Washington Baines.

An on-going Historic Preservations Project is sponsored by the Salado Cemetery Association.

Dedication set June 4 for College Hill statue

by Liz Carpenter

A new and significant landmark will be dedicated on College Hill 10:30 a.m. June 4. It is the tall, bronze statue of the founder of that village and Salado College in 1859, one of the oldest educational centers in Texas. The 6'3" full-length bronze of Colonel Elijah Sterling Clack Robertson, will stand on a limestone base, towering over the Central Texas countryside in death as he did in life.

Robertson came to Texas in 1832 as a boy, riding horseback from Nashville, Tennessee, with his father, Sterling C. Robertson who was headed to Mexico for permission to settle 600 families in Texas. The young man was active from his teenage years on in the shaping of the Republic, later forming the present State Constitution and serving in the Confederate Army.

The statue, the work of sculptor Clay Dahlberg, of Hunt, is the central presence on the picturesque hillside of live oak trees and the remaining limestone walls of the old College, one of the oldest educational institutions in Texas. The site is across from Stagecoach Inn and a mile from the home he built 150 years ago which remains in the Robertson family.

"The park around the statue offers a wonderful opportunity for the nature trails and wildflowers," said Mrs. Sterling C. Robertson, a moving force behind the town, the Central Texas Area Museum, and the College Hill park area. She plans indirect lighting of the two old walls of the College, as a dramatic spotlight to the college and the hundred of students who came here to study from 1860 on.

The statue is the result of a gift by the late Alcie Robertson Sneed West, grand-daughter of Col. Robertson, and instituted by the Robertson Colony-Salado College Foundation. Key to this effort were Mrs. Robertson, Kenneth Burns of Houston, Judge Byron Skelton and Jim D. Bowmer, both of Temple.

The handsome iron fence and gates at the entrance to College Hill is the gift of Mary Marshall, a 97-year-old East Texas philanthropist. The gift was made through the Central Texas Area Museum, of which Mrs. Marshall is a trustee.

Descendants of the Colonel, members of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas and villagers will be on hand for the opening ceremony 10:30 a.m. June 4. The event is open to the public.

A special recognition will be made to the descendants of the families who were, with Col. Robertson, original trustees of the College, and whose names are well known in the history of Salado: Aiken, Blair, Kendrick and Robertson.

Inscribed on the statue's limestone base are the following citations of eight major positions he held in the shaping of the State from 1820 to his death in 1879.

Colonel, Army of the Republic of Texas

Postmaster General, Republic of Texas

Brigadier General, Republic of Texas militia

Captain, Confederate States of America

Texas Ranger

Chief Justice, Bell County Court

Founder of Salado & Salado College

Royal Arch Mason (Knight Templar)

But inscriptions can only hint at the full story.

On the initial trip to Texas, the boy stopped off in San Antonio to study with Catholic priests who taught school near the Alamo. He quickly learned Spanish and at age 14 was translating deeds in the Robertson Colony land office when Texas was still part of Mexico.

At age 19, he became Postmaster General of the new Republic and laid out the routes and called for bids for the mail service. He already had his eye on Salado Springs, from a horseback trip in 1834 to the capital of the Robertson Colony, near Marlin.

In 1854, he began building his 22-room plantation home which still stands about a mile from College Hill in Salado, and is studied by historians and architects for its early frontier Palladian style. It was here that he brought his bride, Mary Elizabeth Dickey, and raised six sons and six daughters, several of whom played a major role in subsequent Texas history. He had one son by a previous marriage.

His military service speaks to the defense needs of frontier Texas. As a teenager, he was in the Texas Rangers with his father. Then, he served as a colonel in Army of the Republic of Texas, a Brigadier General in the Texas Militia, and during the Civil War as a Captain and aide-de-camp to General Henry McCullough at the Battle of Pea Ridge.

He was a founder of the Royal Arch Masons, and a Knight Templar at age 19.

Though the times required military vigilance and service, Col. Robertson was motivated primarily by a desire for full and equal education in Texas for men and women, Salado College took both boys and girls from its start in 1860. He established the Methodist Church in Salado, and donated land for the church for the Free Men of Color.

His home was the intellectual center of Central Texas. An early literary society was founded by his wife and daughters in the parlor of the house at the request of women students. To allow townswomen to participate, the meetings were held in the evening. Both Col. Robertson and his wife, as well as his mother-in-law, Mrs. Lynch, were leaders in the town's establishment of intellectual and cultural endeavors.

His record and personality as an enlightened and forward-thinking man comes alive in the hundreds of letters which he dispatched to his wife, children, friends, and associates. So copious are his letters, he would transfer from one hand to another to complete them.

Letter to the Editor

Editor and Readers:

Reference is made to your front page story last week regarding the great job the EMTs perform in our area.

The McGhee story happened very much as you described. On April 8, 1994, Theresa came home after a two hour absence to find Bob "stone cold" and soaked in perspiration. She immediately called 911; while she was giving instructions as to our location on Smith Bluff in Mill Creek, the first EMT from Salado VFD arrived and started stabilization. Kevin arrived at our home about four minutes after intercepting the 911 call, and luckily he knew exactly where we live.

The Belton EMT team arrived a few minutes later, with the ambulance. They diagnosed serious internal bleeding and promptly got the proper pressure gear in place over Bob's body to further stabilize him. They transported him to Scott & White Emergency Room where an already-alerted crew took over. They immediately operated on a ruptured abdominal aortic aneurysm, a six hour operation.

Thanks to the well trained and skillful EMTs of Salado and Belton, and the staff at Scott and White for saving Bob's life. After four weeks and four days in the hospital Bob is now at home and well on the road to recovery.

We are also very, very thankful to the many friends and neighbors, and area churches whose thoughts and prayers helped us pull through a very critical time.

Very sincerely,
Bob & Theresa McGhee

To the editor:

What is the Salado Youth Association? Why a Youth Association? Who is the association and just what do they do anyway? Sound like questions you've heard or thought yourself? These are all good questions. This article will be devoted to answering these questions and hopefully giving the community a better understanding of what it is we do.

The Salado Youth Association (SYA) is a group of local citizens who got together in 1993 because of their concerns and interests in the community. People who enjoy and appreciate the Zero Crime Rate that we currently enjoy in Salado. People who recognize that if we want to continue living the quality of life we are so fortunate to in Salado, we all must be willing to get involved and work together for the community.

There are lots of people in this community who's reply is that they are retired, or have no children. Why should they be interested? Well, while the answer may not be real obvious, it is very simple.

This association's first goal is to purchase and develop a sports complex in Salado. Not just ball fields, but a first class sports facility for the people of this community. A beautiful, well maintained facility which will include ball fields, soccer fields, tennis courts, basketball courts, a swimming pool, walking paths, and an indoor facility to include exercise and aerobic rooms. A facility to be utilized exclusively by the people of the community, not the general public. This will avoid the problems we now have to deal with at the creek during long weekends and during the summer.

Although everyone won't use every facility, there is something for everyone. The older citizens of the community may not want to use the sports fields or courts, but they may very well use the pool, walking paths, and the indoor facilities which can house an innumerable number of classes to accommodate every age group. This is a wonderful, safe alternative to driving to Belton or Temple for facilities.

The youth of Salado will find there is a wealth of opportunities for their spare time, not just utilizing the facilities, but also in helping raise the funds for the facility, working to build the facilities, and taking care of the finished product.

There will be some type of activity for everyone. The youth will be able to practice for school sports programs there, or participate in after school, weekend, or summer programs.

This is an important healthy opportunity for the youth of this community, which, in turn, aides the entire community in maintaining the nice quiet community we now take for granted.

It is important to note that the other communities, not far from Salado, all are experiencing crime problems. A large part of these are with the youth, as in gangs, drive-by shooting and vandalism, just to name a few. These problems with the youth come about, for the biggest part, due to groups of youth without any direction in their lives. Kids on the street with "nothing to do", so what-the-heck, they get spray cans and display their undirected artistic abilities on everyone else's walls and property. Or worse yet, the violence which follows the gang and drug problems other communities are experiencing!

The bottom line here is that children need supervision and direction. In today's world it is necessary in most homes for both parents to work. Although we'd all like to be home when the kids get home from school, unfortunately that doesn't work anymore. So, now where does that leave the kids?

We may not be able to change the economy so we can all be there after school or on weekends, or change the world so that it's safe for all of us, our children and grandchildren. But we can all work together, with and for our community, to make sure that the youth have a healthy directed option. The rest of the world may not be a safe place to take an evening walk or let your children play, but Salado will be. While other communities youth will be hanging around fighting and vandalizing, Salado's will be in supervised programs learning to be better people. The people of Salado won't have to worry about vandalism to their property because they'll know that this community offers great things for their youth, occupying their time in healthy ways.

The Salado Youth Association welcomes any and all interested parties to attend their meetings (the next to be June 1 at 7 p.m. in the High School Computer Room) New members are welcome anytime!

We invite everyone interested in enhancing the community of Salado to come to the meetings & get involved.

Sincerely,
Vicki Helm

Small-, mid- & large-cap stocks: The basics

Undoubtedly, you are seeing increased reference to companies characterized as small-cap, mid-cap or large-cap. What does this mean and how can you follow the performance of these stocks in the market?

Mike Miller

When financial experts use the terms small-, mid-, or large-cap, they are referring to the size of the companies' market capitalization. Market capitalization is the company's market value computed by multiplying the number of common shares a company has outstanding by the current common stock price. For example, ABC Company has a market capitalization of $12.5 billion (500 million shares X $25 per share = $12.5 billion). Since price of the stock is part of the equation in figuring market capitalization, it is important to know that a company's capitalization will increase or decrease in direct relation to the company's stock price.

Publicly held companies are generally classified in three basic tiers of market capitalization. A small-cap company typically has a market capitalizations of $1 billion or less. A mid-cap company has a market capitalization of $1 billion to $5 billion. A large-cap company has a market capitalization of more than $5 billion.

You should be aware that the level of capitalization in a company can directly affect the trading of the stock. Sometimes, a company with a smaller capitalization will have a smaller "float," or number of shares issued and available for public trading. Thus, because the supply of stock outstanding is smaller, when demand to buy or sell increases, there may be limited access to the smaller number of outstanding shares. These stocks are said to have a "thin float," which is reflected in the larger-than-normal price spread between the stock's bid and ask. Heavy demand causes small-cap companies to have large price fluctuations on both the up- and down-side. Large-cap companies typically have a large float, and thus the availability of an issue should not be a concern.

You can follow the trend of small-, mid- and large-cap companies by checking certain stock indexes created by financial experts to show how a chosen cross-section of stocks reacts with changes in the market. The Standard & Poor's 500 Stock Index (S&P 500) is a cross-section of the nation's 500 largest companies (large-cap stocks). The Russell 2000 Index is made up of a cross-section of 2,000 small-cap companies and the S&P 400 Mid-Cap is an index that tracks the stock price movements of 400 mid-cap companies. You can find these indexes listed in most financial publications.

Congratulations Duzzer.....Senior 94'

It's hard to believe that time has passed so quickly. It's hard to believe that your life is moving on....really without us. It makes us sad. It makes us happy. It makes us proud. It makes us gratefully hopeful.

Did we tell you all we should have.....And did we tell you the challenge of being a man...the challenge of balancing your worlds.....the need to achieve and the need to nurture.....the need to be strong and the need to be tender... the need to meet the tests that life brings yet always keep love at the center ... letting it be the star by which you set your sail.

We Love You,
Mom and Dad

Salado Junior High students compete in recent UIL Academic Literary Meet

Students from Salado Junior High competed in the University Interscholastic League Academic Contest recently. The District contest was held in Lexington on April 29th. Thirty nine students competed, and they brought home 23 ribbons.

In the Seventh Grade contests, Taylor Hutton won 1st and Brad Davidson won 2nd in Maps, Graphs, and Charts.

Rachel McGregor brought home three second place ribbons: in Spelling, Modern Oratory, and Ready Writing. In Ready Writing, the other two contestants also placed: Hope Evans 4th and Chrystal Whiteley 6th.

All three Listening Skills contestants also placed: Shelly Dillon, 2nd; Nicole Whitacre, 4th; and Josh Lee, 5th.

In Impromptu Speaking, Kristen Thompson placed 2nd and Annika Garcia placed 4th.

Jimmy Thompson placed 5th in Oral Reading, Ryan Gillespie placed 5th in Dictionary Skills, and Aaron Nelson placed 5th in Science.

The Seventh Grade was second in their class competition with 123 points, just five points behind Hut to's 128.

Other students competing were Laura Schatte, Nicole Whitacre, Ryan Buckley, Chris Michna, Mark Weddell, Nicholas Smith, Sonny Oldham, and Sommer Wilson in Seventh Grade.

In the Eighth Grade competition, Lindsay Owen placed 2nd in Modern Oratory.

In Number Sense, Barry Hodge won 3rd and Michelle Lenis was 5th.

In Dictionary Skills, Elizabeth Whiteley placed 5th and Dan Alcozer 6th.

And David Kirk was 6th in Calculator Applications.

Other Eighth Grade participants were Amber Preston, Kristin Cawthon, Mollie Garner, Brad Bolick, Marissa Michalewicz, Annie Daniel, Tate Hunter, Keith Barbour, Susan McDonald, Brady Johnston and John Woolard

The teacher-coaches who worked with these students are these: Dennis Cabaniss, Rinda Wesson, Elaine Lindley, Dee Fate, Kristy Hallbauer, Rance Dulaney, Dan Wasik, and Virginia Guess.

Eagles move on to next round

The Salado Eagles and the Johnson City Eagles tangled in a bi-district baseball game in Lake Travis May 20. The Eagles of Salado were able to score two runs in the second and fourth innings and then hold on for a 4-1 victory.

The nervousness of a first round play-off game was evident in the early innings. Salado received two walks in each of the first two innings. Jereme Hosch, Salado's starting pitcher, issued three walks over the first two innings.

The difference between the two Eagles teams was that Salado took advantage of the gifts. In the bottom of the second, Richard Jackson lead off with a single. Brent Cabaniss pushed him over to third with a double to right center. Justin Brantley followed with a walk to load the bases with no outs. It looked as if the Eagles would squander the opportunity as the next two batters popped up to the infield. Chris Jackson drew a walk to bring in the first run of the game. Richard Berumen hit a soft single over the first baseman's head for the second run.

Salado doubled its leads with two more runs in the fourth inning. Cabaniss reached on an error. Brantley hit a groundball to second that forced Cabaniss out. Brantley was called out on a disputed double play. Cabaniss was called for obstructing the play and the double play was awarded.

Andrew Voelter then reached on an error and stole second. Jason Hosch was walked intentionally to set up a force, but Chris Jackson ruined the strategy with a long double over the centerfielder's head, driving in both runners.

Johnson City scored a run in the top of the sixth and kept things tense by getting two base hits in the seventh. Hosch was able to strike out two in the inning and Chris Jackson made a diving catch on a foul ball for the final out, securing the win.

Salado collected five hits on the night. Jackson had three rbi's on the night.

Jereme Hosch won his ninth game of the year for Salado, pitching the complete game with six hits and six strikeouts.

Salado will advance to the next round, 7 p.m. May 26 at Nelson Field in Austin. Call Salado High School for more information and directions.

Meals on Wheels moves to Civic Center

Tommie Butler, director of the local Meals on Wheels program, announced this week that the headquarters of the important food delivery system will be moved from the First Baptist Church to the Salado Civic Center, effective June 6.

Butler, who has been in charge of the program for a number of years, is turning his duties over to Dick Westlake and his two associate directors, Dorothy Westlake and Jessie Foster. Mrs. Foster is a member of the Board of Directors of the Old Salado School Foundation, which oversees the civic center.

"Taking over the Meals-on-Wheels Program will fulfill the promise made to the village by the Foundation when plans were being made for the renovation of the old school to become a civic center," said Ken Clapp, President of the OSSF. "The program has a number of volunteers already signed up to deliver food one morning a month, but more are needed."

Butler has called a meeting of all volunteers in the program for 7 p.m. May 31 in the Foster Room of the civic center. All current volunteers, plus the new additions to the list are asked to be present for the meeting so as to get things lined up for the transition on June 6, the first day the foundation will take over the delivery of meals to those villagers who are served by this important nutritional program.

Information on the change-over and the May 31 meeting and for new volunteers interested in serving in the program may be secured by calling 947-5040, which is the Salado Chamber of Commerce and the Civic Center administration offices.

Legendary!

Local play listed in directory of Outdoor Historical Drama

Tablerock Festival of Salado premiered Salado Legends in July of 1993. One year later, Salado Legends has the honor to be listed in the Outdoor Historical Drama in America Directory. The directory is compiled and published by the Institute of Outdoor Dramas, The University of North Carolina. There are 93 U.S. Outdoor Dramas listed in the directory and nine (including Salado Legends are in Texas).

Professional outdoor historical drama has been produced in the U.S. since 1937. Performed each summer in scenic amphitheaters seating 500-6,000 people, these dramas attract 2.5 million people annually. Dramatic history, music, dance and spectacle performed with large casts on expansive stages are the hallmarks of the American Outdoor Historical Drama. It is family entertainment for all ages.

Historical Dramas are original plays, usually with music and dance, based on a significant event, or series of events that actually occurred. Uniquely American and epic in scope, these dramas focus on the people who shaped the heritage of the country.

Playwright Jackie Mills has portrayed the founding of Salado, Texas beginning with the Tonkawa Indians who first inhabited the area, the arrival of Scottish settlers, and the Civil War Years in Salado Legends. The play depicts life on the frontier through the eyes of the McDougal Family. Seven local composers and Mills wrote the original music.

Salado Legends, 1994 Season will start July 29. With other performances on July 30 and August 5-6, 12-13. Dinner begins at 8:30 p.m. $5 for adult or children. Theater begins at 8:30 p.m. $15 adult and $5 for child. For more information call 947-9205.

Homes That Change When You Change

(NAPS)—Most people will experience temporary or permanent loss of abilities at some point in their lives—and most homes are ill-equipped to meet their changing needs and circumstances.

New homes are designed to meet the needs of the elderly and disabled.

Fortunately, there are now Universal Homes, which can be adapted to accommodate people's changing needs without significant additional expense. The Home Store, a leading New England home builder, will be constructing the Universal Home in all six New England states. These homes feature:

- lever handles on doors and drawers that require no grabbing or gripping.
- stair landings wide enough to accommodate lifts.
- audible and visual alarm systems.
- storage space, counters, sinks, cooktops and shelves within reach of both short and tall people.
- wider doors and corridors.
- grab bars, fold-up seats and transfer surfaces in tubs and showers.

Fund raising continues for village art center

Construction and repairs on Salado's new Art Center are moving toward completion. The center was once the Ag Barn and maintenance shop. It sat idle for many years until Ken Clapp, Civic Center manager, suggested the artists make it a working art center. The building is located directly behind the Salado Civic Center.

The fund drive has been met with an overwhelmingly favorable response according to Jimmie Vernon, Salado Village Artist president. "The goal of $12,000 is no longer in question. It is within reach."

A donation of a microwave oven has been pledged and the group is looking for a good used refrigerator.

While the artists are looking forward to the completion of the new Art Center, they are not idle. Jerry Goodman, chairman of the Busy Bees working class are currently active creating items for the annual Christmas in October bazaar.

For the time being the artists continue to meet every Tuesday at Tablerock to paint, sew, and quilt. On Wednesdays the Busy Bees working class meets at the Goodman's home to create items for the bazaar.

"There's always room for more" said Goodman. "Anyone can have fun with us. Just bring your favorite scissors or a needle and we'll supply the rest. Including the ideas." To be part of this group call 947-5275.

In other news of the Village Artists, they are planning to sponsor a painting class for beginners in August and a workshop to follow in September. The workshop will be taught by Mary Barton of Waco. Details of these events will follow.

To make a donation to the building fund mail your check to Salado Village Artists P. O. Box 363, Salado, TX 76571.

Authors will sign books at Bell Museum

The public will have the opportunity to talk with authors who have written about a special time in Bell County's history. The authors will be at the Bell County Museum at 201 North Main St. Belton 1-3 p.m. June 11 to discuss their work and autograph books, which can be purchased through the Museum bookstore. The event will benefit the Bell County Museum and admission is free.

This year's event celebrates the June 13 birthday of Miriam "Ma" Ferguson, the first woman governor of Texas. Two new books on Bell County's most famous politician will debut at the Museum. Nelda Patteson used the Bell County Museum's Ferguson Collection for the second book in her series of paper doll books on the Great Women of Texas: Miriam Amanda Ferguson: First Woman Governor of Texas. "It was a wonderful experience bringing out Miriam's dresses, which are too delicate to be displayed, and watching Nelda bring them to life through her drawings," states Museum Curator Krista Hartsell, "This book will be popular with both adults and children."

Ma is in the Kitchen- You'll Know When It's Done is a cookbook containing Miriam's own recipes along with her biography. Co-authored by Carl McQueary and May Paulissen, the book focuses on the personal life of this very private woman. As a special treat, some of Miriam's own recipes will be available for sampling at the Museum event.

Killeen author, Gra'Delle Duncan recently won an award from the Texas Historical Commission for her work on Unforgettable Decade: Killeen, Texas and Trade Area 1930 - 1939. The book was produced by Killeen-Project 1930s, Inc., of which Ms. Duncan is president. Recollections of those who struggled through the Great Depression in Killeen are enlivened with photographs and with family, school, business and city histories. The good times as well as the bad are described, resulting in a lively and informative volume.

Betty Wilke Cox, an Austin resident and author, will be present with her new book, Girl from Salado, about Liz Carpenter. Ms. Carpenter was a journalist and the press secretary for Lady Bird Johnson. She first became aware that women could be involved in politics at the age of five, when she heard James Ferguson give a speech for his wife's campaign.

For more information, call 933-5243.

Deadline June 9 for corrected phone books

The Salado Lions Club would like to express appreciation to area residents and merchants for their assistance with the 1994-95 Salado Telephone Books.

The Lions are asking any Salado residents that received incomplete books to notify any Lion, or contact Don Owens at 947-5051.

All incomplete books will be exchanged. It has recently come to the club's attention that a small percentage of the books have duplicate pages or pages left out. The printer has been notified and will replace these books. Books will be accepted for replacement until June 9.

start up this new form of gaming and then get an OK from the sillies on the Austin city council to kick-off what is termed "revenue positive" tax enhancers. That means, we think, money coming in to the city coffers without much effort or expense.

Not just satisfied with in-door casino gambling - these wheeler-dealers, some from Las Vegas (wouldn't you know?), plan to institute riverboat gambling. On what river you ask? Pray continue.

These fuzzy thinking night crawlers don't want to run boats up and down Town lake for fear of outraging the citizenry, according to columnist Jeff Nightbyrd in the Austin American-Statesman, so the plan is to dig a large ditch near the convention center, flood it with water and stick a riverboat slap-dab in the middle so folks can get the feeling of Mississippi float-gambling.

Chances are slim to none that casino gambling will pass muster this next session of the lawmakers but it will remain on the menu of things to do in the future much like the lottery and horse and dog racing did. These last three items that were foisted on the public as ways of securing large amounts of dollars to help pay for state services including education have, to date, produced very little revenue. Casino gambling will turn up even less since most of the money will flow back to Nevada or New Jersey. Mafia controlled gambling generally follows the "nothing for something" ideas that are foolishly expounded as a way of keeping taxes low. Just ask law enforcement people about the high costs associated with crime connected gambling and you see these "tax enhancers" fade away to nothing.

Only in Austin could such an idea as riverboat-in-a-ditch gambling evolve. And only in Austin can we hope the entire matter will die during a sane legislative moment (if there is one) during the 74th session of our elected representatives.

That's -30-

Congratulations

Rita Brown is the Texas Association of School Board representatives to that TASB Convention and Tom Berrier is alternate.

Brown reported to the board on four possible relocation of the superintendent's office:

1. purchase of a portable building at $235 per square foot,
2. purchase of house on campus across from bus barn, 3. rent rooms at Salado Civic Center at 36¢ per square foot or 4. rent at Salado Plaza at 41¢ per square foot.

Only the first two options were considered reasonable and Brown and Hunter were instructed to visit the house and report back to the board on findings there.
