Artist Elaine May will do on-the-spot portraits during the Salado Art Fair Aug. 6-7.

Salado Art Fair benefits many groups

The 28th Annual Salado Art Fair August 6-7 in Pace Park will draw 12,000 visitors to this quiet village. The Art Fair also draws some of Texas' finest artists in several media, including all styles of painting, sculpture, jewelry, wood crafts, handmade clothing and handmade toys. This year, 183 juried artists, from a list of over 1,000 applicants, will show their work at the Art Fair.

The Art Fair is set in Pace Park, along the banks of Salado Creek. Admission to the Salado Art Fair is $3.00 per person, free to children age 12 and under. The Fair will be open 9 a.m.- 5 p.m. Saturday, August 6 and 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Sunday, August 7.

Contributing her talents to the event is artist Elaine May who will do on the spot portraits. She will also sale quality gallery framed Texas scenes.

May graduated BFA of Fine Arts from the University of Texas at Austin in 1966. In 1968, she presented Lady Bird Johnson with a sketch of The Dune of Padre Island. Her artwork was displayed at the Rockport Art Festival through the 1970's.

Through the 80's, May has exhibited Living Legends at the Dallas City Hall. She has exhibited at the Village Artisan in Rockport, Texas and The Call of the Wild in Dallas.

Presently, she exhibits at West Texas Art Gallery and Lassos and Lace in San Angelo.

The annual event is the largest fund-raiser for the Salado Chamber of Commerce. Proceeds support renovation of the Old Red School House, Pace Park, street lights, as well as other community projects and scholarships.

The Art Fair also helps to raise funds for many civic and school organizations in the village. Many of these organizations offer a variety of food and drinks. Salado Public Library holds a used book sale. The Salado Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary hand-crafted a beautiful quilt, on display at the Fair. A drawing for the quilt will be held August 7.

There are free parking areas in the village with free transportation to the Art Fair grounds. Handicapped parking is available on the Pace Park fairgrounds. A hospitality tent provides shade for sitting, eating and relaxing. Free programs map artists' booth locations.

For more information about the Salado Art Fair, contact the Salado Chamber of Commerce at P.O. Box 81, Salado, TX 76571 or phone 817-947-5040.

Gunmen

rated R

Starring Christopher Lambert, Mario Van Peebles, Denis Leary

Our rating: *

by Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

Gunmen is a terrible movie. It joins a long list of terrible movies starring Christopher Lambert, who has starred in a decent film since Highlander.

The screenwriters of Gunmen could not decide whether they were writing an action movie, a comedy or a buddy movie. So, they combined formula dialogue and scenes from each of these genres to fill out the weak story-line.

Mario Van Peebles is a bounty hunter seeking out South American drug lords, working for the DEA. He breaks Lambert out of jail to lead him to his brother, who has stolen $400 million in cash and hid it on a boat.

Telling the same, tired old jokes and shooting the same, tired old guns, Gunmen races along trying to fill the screen with more. Unfortunately, the film-makers have no idea of the stuff with which to fill a screen.

These movie-makers should take a lesson from the makers of Beverly Hills Cop, Terminator, Die Hard and other great movies of the genre, instead of just trying to take from them.

Gunmen is now available on videocassette from IGA Village Foods Videos.

The Salado Library released some interesting stats last week, including the fact that there are 1,350 card carrying library fans in and around Salado. The library, housed in their new digs at the civic center, has over 2700 volumes on tap with another 250 being processed monthly. Special emphasis on reference Texana books, genealogy, videos and books-on-tape.

During June of this year volunteer librarians checked out 566 books, tapes and videos. A remarkable number for a village this size. The board of directors, headed this year by Pete Jennings, is composed of 10 members, plus 64 faithful volunteers that run the library Monday through Saturday. Backing up the entire operation are the 150 villagers, called Friends of the Library, who pay dues to support our top flight library.

The local library is part of the Central Texas Library System which means that a reader may select from nearly any book in the State system and have it delivered to Salado within days.

The library group is hard working and diligent in providing a service to all of us that is second to none. We tip the old fedora to these grand folks and especially to Bob McConnell who got the ball rolling for a library back when there was none nor were there prospects for same. Lots can be done without a gaggle of governmental oversight - just plain folks with vision and a little get-up-and-go.

Art Fair

This columnist has been watching the preparations for the 1994 Art Fair. Impressive. Don Owens and Jean Davis - are working like Trojans to make this year's presentation the best yet! Things are coming together and if we have good weather (spelled hot and not wet) the people will come. Funds derived from this mammoth undertaking support about 75 percent of the year's work of the Chamber of Commerce.

The art fair poster this year - painted by local artist Ronnie Wells is setting records for across the counter sales. It is a honey. Rumor has it that Ronnie may also do next year's poster. Hope that is one rumor that comes to pass.

Brick Work

Work began last week on the area in front of the Civic Center that will display the personalized bricks that were sold the past nine months to help finance the renovation project. There is to be a walk-through area with planter boxes on all sides. The center section will hold the bricks with room for several hundred more that it is hoped will be sold in the days ahead. A bench and shrubs will complete the area.

Probably the most unusual brick sold belongs to Misty Aberdeen - the beloved pup who owns Pete and Jo Ann Jennings. This may set a new trend in merchandising. Folks who love their pets may decide this is a fine way to remember their four legged friends. At 100 bucks a pop we will see who really thinks that much of their cat or dog. Or horse or armadillo. Please do not mention any of this to our canine of questionable heritage - Miss Prissy. She rules our family with all the verve and love of a spoiled maiden aunt. But those expressive eyes and her unrestrained joy when we come home from a trip! Folks could do a lot worse than take lessons from their animals who love them no matter what!

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editors:

This is a plea for help from the Salado Humane Society. We are completely without funds, and in fact, running in the red. This is due in part to a large number of animals being taken in this past winter and spring that had to be neutered or spayed, and also to an ongoing program of testing and vaccinating for feline leukemia.

We have seen a rapid rise in leukemia cases over the last six months, and we cannot afford to take in an animal or let one be adopted that might have undetected leukemia. (A note of warning here-- if your cat has not been tested and vaccinated, we urge you to do so at once. Ninety percent of our leukemia cases have come from the immediate Salado area.)

Our deepest thanks to the Salado Lions Club for their recent donation of $100. Even though this is big help, we need much more to pay our back bills and keep us running. So, dear friends, if you have a bit of spare cash please drop it in one of our doggie banks around town or mail it to the Salado Humane Society, P.O. Box 493, Salado, TX 76571.

Thank you very much,
Sincerely
Leah Buzzard

Safety tips for summer water fun

Farm and rural families have busy lives, but they also have many leisure opportunities. However, accidents sometimes intrude to spoil the fun. Thousands are hurt and hundreds killed in rural recreational mishaps.

"During the hot summer months, drowning is the leading cause of recreation-related deaths," Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said. "According to the National Safety Council, swimming or boating are the usual activities contributing to drownings, though many victims fall into the water unintentionally."

Most people should be able to swim or at least float. Non swimmers should stay out of deep water and walk with care around docks, pools or ponds. Both swimmers and non-swimmers should be encouraged to wear personal flotation devices while in boats.

And whether it's the local swimming pool or small farm pond, swimming areas should be equipped with a "rescue station." This should include a flotation device, such as a ring buoy or inner tube, a rope and a long pole. Include instructions for mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and where to go for help.

Other water safety rules that should be observed include:

- Don't swim alone or let small children go swimming without adult supervision, even in shallow water.

- Keep swimming places clean and free of debris. Fence your pool or pond.

- If someone in the water is in trouble, act quickly.

Throw anything that floats. Do not attempt a hand-to-hand rescue unless you are a strong swimmer trained in rescue techniques.

- Make sure your boat is seaworthy.

- Never overload a boat. In small boats, encourage passengers to stay seated and not move around.

- Encourage all boat passengers to wear personal flotation devices and have a throw able personal flotation device available for emergency use.

"Medical help usually takes longer to reach the scene of an accident in isolated rural areas, therefore it is a good practice for farmers, their families and their employees to be trained in first-aid and to be prepared if an accident occurs," Perry said.

Hotline set-up for seafood queries

by Ilene C. Miller
Co. Ext. Agent

How do you know when seafood is fresh? How long can you store it before it spoils? These are consumer questions often asked of the FDA Seafood Hotline. In addition to asking specific questions, hotline callers can also listen to a pre-recorded message about the dangers of eating raw shellfish and have a brochure mailed to them.

FDA's objective for the hotline is to help minimize seafood safety and quality concerns from producer to consumer. While seafood recipes are one bit of information not available from the hotline, consumers can get answers to questions about buying, storing, handling, labeling and nutrition of seafood.

The hotline is staffed by public affairs specialists who answer questions during operating hours of noon to 4:00 p.m. Eastern time weekdays. The automated hotline, with up to 50 pre-recorded messages, is operational 24 hours a day.

Hotline Director Ruth Welch says, "There are misconceptions about seafood safety that still exist and educational gaps that need to be filled. If people handle fish in an unsafe manner at home and get sick, they may believe the seafood was not safe when they purchased it. We believe in most cases, it could have easily been prevented with ... education."

Last year Americans ate 13 billion seafood meals - about 15 pounds of seafood per person. The hotline number is 1-800-FDA-4010.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, national origin or disability.

Second place in essay contest

Why Kill Yourself by smoking?

The following essay tied for second place in a scholarship contest for Salado school students sponsored by Patt Borom. The essay topic concerned the dangers of tobacco.

By Amanda Morris

Every day people take a puff of smoke or a dip of snuff. Why? What is tobacco and why do people continue to use it?

When people watch television, what do they see? They see violence, alcohol commercials, and people smoking cigarettes. Kids watch television and they see gangsters, models and young adults smoking or dipping tobacco. People may not believe it, but it influence the kids' minds, suggesting that using any form of tobacco is cool. I know a lot of people who dip and smoke and it makes me sick to see a cigarette hanging out of their mouths or their lips looking swollen because of tobacco. The television controls have already banned advertisement on television about tobacco. Now let's ban it from magazines.

Why do people use tobacco? Don't they know what it does to them? Tobacco kills people. It deprives them of life they could have lived with their loved ones. It makes their lungs black and causes cancer. Who wants to see their kids or loved ones die from tobacco.

We, the people, prevent the usage of tobacco. Advertisements in magazines can be reduced or even stopped. Smoking and dipping can be banned from television. Most of all, we need to end the production of tobacco. Tobacco is too addictive. Many people will lose jobs from this, but they'll live.

In conclusion, I don't think the future generations should use any form of tobacco. The world already has many dangers in it, why add to the growing list?

TDA warns of out-of-state distributors selling pesticides not properly licensed

The Texas Department of Agriculture warns Texas consumers that out-of-state pesticide distributors are selling products that are not properly licensed for purchase and use in Texas.

These companies are telemarketing their products and seem to be focusing on farmers, local governments and school districts. Allegedly, the companies are recommending uses of their products that are inconsistent with label direction.

TDA has classified several pesticide products containing certain active ingredients as "state-limited-use pesticides" because they could affect other plant and animal life if not properly used. To use state-limited-use pesticides. An applicator must be licensed by TDA.

TDA reminds consumers to always read and follow the instructions on pesticide labels to ensure safe use of the product.

To report suspected misuse of pesticides or unauthorized sales, call a regional TDA office or toll free 1-800-835-5832 (TELL-TDA).

Real Juice? Read The Label

(NAPS)—Here's a juicy piece of news: That delicious "fruit juice" you enjoy many mornings may not be pure juice at all. Fortunately, the Food and Drug Administration's new Nutrition Labeling and Education Act makes it easier to tell what you're really buying. Here are some tips for selecting 100 percent pure fruit juice, from the Florida Department of Citrus:

- Look for the words "100 Percent Pure Juice" on the label.
- Watch out for "juicy" product names. Words like "juice cocktail," "drink," "punch," "sparkler," and "beverage" are often clues that the product is mostly sweeteners and water.
- Choose nutrient-dense juice, such as orange or grapefruit juice. An eight-ounce glass of orange juice or grapefruit juice supplies more than 100 percent of the U.S. Recommended Daily Value (RDV) of vitamin C for an adult, and is a good source of potassium and folate.
- Look for the Florida Sunshine Tree or Seal of Approval (shown above). These are your guarantee that the product you buy is 100 percent pure orange and grapefruit juice. These products are packed to the world's highest standards and are monitored by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the State of Florida to ensure quality.

The spice known as cloves is named for the French word for nail, because of the shape of the flower buds.

Historic District guidelines protect, promote integrity of Salado property

The village of Salado is experiencing an incredible amount of growth, with people coming to live and establish businesses in the village from many other areas.

By educating newcomers to Salado of the intent of the Salado Historic Society Historic District and Guidelines, we can work together to protect the historic integrity of the Historic District and the village as a whole.

The following is taken from the Historic District Guidelines, published by the Salado Historical Society. The complete guidelines are available at the Salado Civic Center or from Salado real estate agents.

IV. GUIDELINES FOR THE PRESERVATION, REHABILITATION AND CONSTRUCTION OF PROPERTY WITHIN THE SALADO HISTORIC DISTRICT:

These Guidelines for the Salado Historic District are endorsed by the Boards of Directors of the Salado

Chamber of Commerce and the Salado Historical Society and approved by the citizens of the village for the use of the Historic District Committee in carrying out its designated responsibilities.

The property standards represented by this document apply to property lying within the Historic district (as shown on the map of the village in Appendix B), in accordance with authority granted by the State of Texas.

These guidelines shall be available to all property owners within the Historic District, and to any individual proposing to build, construct or alter any building, structure, object, sign or site within the Historic District.

A. CRITERIA FOR EXTERNAL ALTERATIONS TO HISTORIC BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES: The following criteria are excerpted from the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation (Revised 1990). The entire document is available upon request from the Committee Chairman.

1. Every reasonable effort should be made to adapt the property in a manner which requires minimal alteration of the building, structure, object, or site and its environment.

2. The distinguishing original qualities or character of the building, structure, object or site and its environment should not be destroyed. The removal or alteration of any historical material or distinctive architectural feature should be avoided when possible.

3. All buildings, structures, objects and sites should be recognized as products of their own time. Alterations that have no historical basis and which seek to create any other temporal appearance should be discouraged.

4. Changes which may have taken place in the course of time are evidence of the history and development of a building, object, structure, or site and its See District, Page 6 environment. If these changes have acquired significance in their own right, then this significance should be recognized and respected.

5. Distinctive stylistic features or examples of skilled craftsmanship which characterize a building, structure, object or site should be kept where possible.

6. Deteriorated architectural features would be repaired rather than replaced wherever possible. In the event replacement is necessary, the new material should reflect the material being replaced in composition, design, color, texture and other visual qualities. Repair or replacement of missing architectural features should be based on accurate duplication of features, substantiated by historical, physical or pictorial evidence rather than on conjectural designs of the availability of different architectural elements from other buildings or structures.

7. The surface cleaning of structures should be undertaken with the gentlest means available. Sandblasting and other cleaning methods that can damage historic building materials of buildings, structures, objects or sites should not be undertaken.

8. Every reasonable effort should be made to protect and preserve archaeological resources affected by or adjacent to any project.

9. Contemporary design for alterations or additions to existing properties are not discouraged when such alterations or additions do not destroy significant historical, architectural, or cultural material, and such design is compatible with the size, scale, color, material and character of the property, neighborhood or environment.

10. Wherever possible, new additions or alterations to buildings, structures, objects or sites should be done in such a manner that if such additions or alterations were to be removed in the future, the essential form and integrity of the building, structure, object or site would be unimpaired.

B. CRITERIA FOR NEW CONSTRUCTION AND REHABILITATION OF NON-HISTORIC BUILDINGS AND STRUC-

TURES:

1. Nothing is proposed by these standards for the Historic District that would attempt to establish the uniformity of any specific period or style of architecture. However, in constructing buildings within the district there are basic considerations that can be followed that will result in the harmonious compatibility of buildings even though they might be of different and diverse design. These standards, and actions associated with obtaining compliance with the standards, are for the purpose of achieving these objectives.

cates the types of materials and considerations that should be utilized for all construction within the District:

- a) Exterior Building Wall Materials should be of solid wood, uniform, colored clay brick, natural concrete, stucco or native stone.
- b) Roof materials should be wood shingle, galvanized tin, slate or clay tile.
- c) Building Roof Design of principal areas of the building should be of the pitched or hipped type.

d) Exterior Finish: materials that by design are painted should be maintained in good painted condition. Paint colors should be compatible with commercially available 'Historical Colors'.

C. OTHER BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES: Mobile buildings, structures, objects, signs or vehicles attached to any utility (whether permanent or temporary) within the Historic District are discouraged and may render the property non-approvable within the provisions of these Guidelines.

D. VACANT LOTS AND BUILDINGS: Vacant lots should be mowed and maintained free of weeds and overgrowth. Areas containing wild flowers should have appropriate mowing and trimming. Trees should be trimmed and /or removed when indicated. Wherever possible the natural landscape appearance of the area should be retained.

Vacant and dilapidated buildings should be secured for the health and protection of the public. All openings should be closed. Broken window panes should be replaced or the openings should be boarded in a manner that is not unattractive. Serious consideration should be given to demolishing those dilapidated buildings which are beyond restoration, with the removal of all associated materials, including foundations, from the site. The site should then be properly landscaped.

E. CRITERIA FOR SIGNS: All signs should be in keeping with character of the Historic District or landmark. Signs shall be reviewed annually for their aesthetics and compatibility with historic properties and the District. Further information concerning signs can be found in Appendix A.

The Chester House on the grounds of The Rose Mansion, was moved and restored at its new location by owner George Kolb.

Easy Entertaining

(NAPS)—This updated version of traditional Sicilian cassata is a breeze to make. Its "dressed-up" appearance belies its ease of preparation. Store bought poundcake and California dates are the secret ingredients. And, since there's no baking, it's the perfect dessert for warm weather entertaining.

Old fashioned cassata, or Italian layer cake, can take hours to prepare. This quick and easy version has been designed for American tastes and today's busy schedules. Luscious California dates replace the candied fruit. With only 23 calories each, and no fat or cholesterol, California dates are a delicious and nutritious addition to many desserts. They are also a good source of fiber and potassium.

It only takes about 25 minutes and no cooking, to put together this stunning cake. Simply slice the purchased pound cake and fill layers with a creamy and mouth-watering combination of ricotta, sugar, chocolate and moist California dates. Refrigerate two hours and serve with ripe strawberries.

California dates are great for snacking, or adding to salads, sandwiches and cereals. They keep well sealed, in the refrigerator, for over a year. For instant energy that kids will love, carry small plastic bags filled with dates, for family outings. California dates are a snack you will always feel good about giving your kids.

CALIFORNIA DATE CASSATA

- 1-1/4 cups pitted California dates, divided
 - 1 cup part-skim ricotta cheese
 - 5 Tablespoons sugar, divided
 - 1 Tablespoon lemon juice
 - 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel
 - 1 oz. semi-sweet chocolate, chopped
 - 1 (10-3/4 oz.) prepared poundcake
 - 3 Tablespoons sherry, divided (optional)
 - 4-1/2 cups sliced strawberries
- Chop dates, set aside. In a small mixing bowl, mix together ricotta, 2 Tablespoons sugar, lemon juice and lemon peel. Stir in 1/2 cup dates and the chocolate and set aside. Trim brown edges from poundcake and slice horizontally into 3 slices. Sprinkle bottom slice with 1 Tablespoon sherry. Spread with half the ricotta mixture. Sprinkle the second slice with 1 Tablespoon sherry and spread with remaining ricotta mixture. Set the second slice on top of the first. Cover with remaining slice and sprinkle with 1 tablespoon sherry. Line a 9x4-inch bread pan with plastic wrap and set cassata inside. Cover with plastic wrap. Put a couple cans in another 9x4-inch bread pan and set on top of cassata to weight down. Refrigerate 2-3 hours or overnight. Half an hour before serving, combine strawberries with remaining 3 Tablespoons sugar and 3/4 cup dates. Let sit at room temperature. To serve: Remove cassata from pan and slice into 12 slices. Place 2 slices on each plate along with 3/4 cup strawberry mixture. Makes 6 servings.

Area flying groups host event to encourage young pilots

by C.L. "Jack" Jones

Our American society today is plentifully supplied with pundits and activists exhorting us to get involved; to make a difference to show the way to the next generation.

Well, the way is up, according to Chapter 542 of the Killeen/Temple Experimental Aircraft Association (EAA) and the Killeen Pilots Association.

Member/pilots of the EAA Chapter conducted their first full-fledged participation in the national Young Eagles Program of the EAA Aviation Foundation (non-profit) June 11 at the Temple airport. Inaugurated in July 1992, it is a program designed to inspire kids ages 8 through 17 to think aviation and to fly. The goal is to reach one million young people by 2003.

Using their personal aircraft, six seasoned aircraft owner/pilots of the chapter rewarded 22 youngsters with short flights over the local area after the students had received an initial pre-flight briefing about airplanes and flight basics.

Dear reader, there are four basic forces that affect an airplane in flight: lift, gravity, thrust and drag. After observing the gentle patience exhibited by the pilots together with the "nothing to it" smiles upon return of the fledglings. I concluded that both old and young eagles alike had been mutually lifted upward and thrust forward into sharing that most uncommon experience - the thrill of flying.

The list of "thrill seekers" is too long to recite but may I name the six generous "thrill givers" of Chapter 542 along with their airplanes,

George Loffert, Aeronca Champ — president, Chapter 542; West Point graduate 1956- learned to fly in private flying club.

Marie Catherine Jones receives her EAA Young Eagle Program certificate from her instructor John Wedge, of the Killeen Pilots Association and member of Killeen/Temple Experimental Aircraft Association Chapter 542.

John Wedge. Piper Comanche — president. Killeen Pilots Association; former Army helicopter pilot, investigator, Killeen Police Department.

Evan Roberts. Beechcraft Bonanza— president, Aviation Alliance Inc., former Air Force pilot; coordinator and provider of Young Eagle host facilities at Temple airport.

Jim Livingston. Piper Cherokee —retired Army Apache helicopter pilot.

Wayne Pearson, Cessna 180-active duty Army Chinook helicopter pilot.

Jim Ridout, Piper Cherokee-flight instructor. Central Texas College and Aviation Scene Killeen (ASK).

Post flight comments were many and varied. Young eagle Marie Catherine Jones, who flew as co-pilot with John Wedge, said that the huge afternoon clouds and their giant shadows were beautifully awesome.

Late that afternoon, those same beautiful fluffy white clouds grew into giant thunderstorms and overran both Temple and Killeen airports. George Loffert had taken off just prior to the storms' arrival on his way home to the Killeen airport. George found himself and his Aeronca Champ in an awesome situation when both airports became obscured by thunderstorms.

He did what the wild goose would do. He took refuge. George landed his Champ on the old abandoned Salado airstrip along IH35. There are no landing fees charged there for old, bold pilots! All aviators know there is no such thing as an old, bold pilot. Don't we?

In ancient Egypt, it was fashionable for women to shave their heads and wear wigs made of palm-leaf fibers.

MANAGING YOUR MONEY

Hang Up On Telemarketing Fraud

(NAPS)—The next time you get a sales call, you may think you've won a big prize or made a smart investment but more often than not, if the offer sounds "too good to be true"—it probably is.

Enterprising swindlers may phone you at all hours with the deal or appeal of a lifetime—free trips or bargain travel packages, great magazine offers or unbeatable investment opportunities. They may also send you postcards promising fabulous "guaranteed" prizes, or ask you for money on behalf of a bogus charity.

"Dishonest telemarketers use high-pressured sales tactics on the telephone to cheat consumers out of $40 billion a year," said John Barker, director of the National Fraud Information Center (NFIC) in Washington, D.C. "However, there are many legitimate companies that conduct business over the phone, so it's extremely important to distinguish an honest telemarketing call from a scam."

To help you avoid becoming an unwitting victim of telemarketing fraud, the NFIC and MasterCard International have created a national public awareness campaign: "Know the difference. Hang up on Fraud." The campaign includes a free consumer's guide that provides extensive information and tips for avoiding telemarketing fraud, such as:

- Ask lots of questions and listen CAREFULLY to the telemarketer's answers.

- Refuse to be pressured into sending cash or checks or providing your credit card account number.

- Never provide your bank's name, your checking account number or a copy of your signature.

- Don't be embarrassed to report telemarketing fraud to the NFIC hotline: 1-800-876-7060.

"A reputable telemarketer will answer your questions and be willing to send you written information," said Charlotte Rush, vice president of public affairs for MasterCard International. "And always be absolutely certain the call is legitimate before you provide your credit card account number and its expiration date."

For a copy of "Schemes, Scams and Flim-Flams: A Consumer's Guide to Phone Fraud," call the NFIC toll-free hotline, 1-800-876-7060, or MasterCard International at 1-800-999-5136.

Question of Week

This week's puzzler is short. What draws people to Jerry Falwell? He is selling a video on his Old Time Gospel Hour TV show that without proof, evidence or thought is calling President Clinton a murderer. All for $40.00 plus shipping and handling. Seems fine to disagree with the head of state. We all do - no matter what party label he carries. But fair is fair and this brazen attack is so far beyond the pale as to mark Falwell for what he is ... a smirking demagogue who uses the freedom of speech amendment to hurt and defame,

We could do well without the likes of this popinjay. Even leaders to the far right of Clinton have said "enough".

Wag Refuted

There is absolutely no truth to the rumor started by one of our four village curmudgeons that all Salado will be is the median between 26 lanes of traffic going north and south on I-35 once the North American Free Trade Alliance annoints the official Mexico to Canada route. Such stories are told to start chins wagging and eyes rolling.

Fact of the matter is the

I-35 corridor group is in some danger of losing the battle of "official" roadway - which means big dollars for building and untold millions to those along the way after construction is ended.

Houston is making its move to have the highway from Laredo to Canada pass through the Bayou City. I-35 is in place, on the other hand, but common sense makes little difference to federal spending crazies.

That's -30.
