Christmas in Oct. nears

Christmas in October to be held 10 a.m.-4 p.m., Oct. 14-15 at the Salado Civic Center promises to be the best ever. For the first time, Christmas in October will happen two days instead of one. Tickets will be available at the door, adult tickets are $4 and children's tickets for ages 2-12 are $2. Baked goods will be for sale 10 a.m.- 1 p.m. only.

Some of the best cooks in Salado offer family secret recipes in the form of pies, cakes and cookies. If you can withstand the temptation of eating the goodies on the way home, they can be frozen for Thanksgiving or Christmas.

The theme for this year's festivities is "The Joyful Sounds of Christmas" with live music filling the air. Instrumental and vocal will set the mood for visitors to enjoy the light refreshments.

Nativity Scenes, Christmas table settings, decorated Christmas trees and the Christmas Quilt Show will inspire and intrigue the hearts of holiday decorators.

The Queens Pantry, Salado Village Artists' Bazaar offers the early shopper a chance to scoop up a bunch of handmade items for loved ones. (You could always say you did it yourself.)

This event is sponsored by the Salado Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary to benefit the many volunteer organizations of Salado, such as the Salado Volunteer Fire Department, scholarship funds, beautification of Salado, Girl Scouts and many more.

Republican Women host dinner to meet candidates

Chisholm Trail Republican Women's Organization will host a dinner meeting for area Republicans at the Stagecoach Inn dining room in Salado 6:30 p.m., Oct. 13.

A number of Republican Party candidates or their representatives will speak on the "Meet the Candidates" program. The Honorable Dianne White Delisi, a honorary member of Chisholm Trail RWO, will co-ordinate the program.

Visitors are welcome. Reservations may be made by calling 817-947-5331.

Institute series starts Oct. 8-9

Rick Halperin, a long time advocate for human rights, is the first speaker in the Institute for the Humanities' fall seminar and lecture series Hope: Beyond Survival. He will address the Institute Oct. 8-9.

Rick Halperin dedicated his existence to improving human rights worldwide 25 years ago. As a college sophomore he was an eyewitness to the self-immolation and martyrdom of the Czech student Jan Palach.

Profoundly affected by this event, Halperin founded a chapter of Amnesty International on the campus of Southern Methodist University (SMU) where he received his M.A. He went on to receive his Ph.D. in Southern History from Auburn University. Halperin later returned to SMU as professor of History and human rights. "Human rights is not what I do," he says, "it's what I am." It is this unswerving devotion that has made Halperin the chairman of the U.S. branch of Amnesty International.

Dr. Halperin will give a seminar 10-3:30 p.m. Oct. 8 at the Allen Meeting Hall. The seminar is titled, "From Rural Roots to the Global Community: A Firsthand Experience."

On Oct. 9, Dr. Halperin will give a lecture at 4 p.m. at the Mill Creek dining room. The lecture is entitled "The Struggle for Human Rights; The triumph of Hope" and will then be followed by an hour of discussion and a buffet dinner.

If you would like to know more about the Institute and its programs, please contact the Institute office at P.O. Box 527, Salado, TX 76571; (817) 947-5729.

Saturday session set for actors

The first of five "Second Saturday Sessions for Actors" will be held at Tablerock's backstage theater, 9 a.m.- noon Oct. 8. Aspiring actors, adult and children are invited to attend.

"Quote speak the speech..." from Hamlet's Advice to the players - will focus on the actor's voice, with drills and exercises for projection, articulation and breath control. The seminar will also address listening skills, inflection, beginning character analysis, and the role of performance focus, energy-intensity.

Seminar leader will be Tom Taylor who is a former professional actor. His performance credits include radio, television, film and the New York stage, as well as a six-year international tour of his one-man show on Woody Guthrie.

Cost of each seminar is $5. Participants should bring scripts or scenes for demonstration purposes. For more information contact Tom Taylor in Temple at 939-5061 or Jackie Mills in Salado at 947-9205.

Future "Second Saturday Sessions for Actors" at Tablerock will be:

Nov. 12, Stage Movement & Mime by Diane Howard; Jan. 14 Characterization by Chuck Taylor; Feb. 11, Basic Acting by Gary Askins and Mar. 11, Children's Theater by Tammy Lopez

CofC membership meeting Oct. 10

The Board of Directors of the Salado Chamber of Commerce invite all members of the Chamber to attend the annual membership meeting to be held 7 p.m. Oct. 10, at the Salado Civic Center Auditorium.

At the meeting, members will consider amendments to the By Laws of the Chamber as well as meet the nominees whose names will appear on the election ballots to be mailed out later this month.

Jasper Barrett stated, "The chamber is currently active in a number of projects, and we are anxious to report our progress to the general membership."

The meeting is open to all members of the Salado Chamber of Commerce and refreshments will be served.

Health care reform is dead for '94

Jurassic Park

starring Sam Neill, Laura Dern, Jeff Goldblum, Sir Richard Attenborough

Our rating: *****

by Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

Jurassic Park is Steven Spielberg's second best movie. Schindler's List is easily his best movie. What is so hard to imagine when watching either of these two completely opposite movies is that he filmed them at the same time.

The special effects of Jurassic Park are the best Spielberg has put on film, which says a lot since Spielberg directed the Indian Jones trilogy, E.T., and Close Encounters of the Third Kind to name just a few.

If you are one of the 13 or so people in the world who did not stand on line to see Jurassic Park at the theater, then you have a second chance to see this fantastic adventure.

Of course, the dinosaurs will only be 12 inches tall to fit on your TV screen instead of 20-foot tall on the wide movie screen.

When the T-Rex belts out its scream, you can always turn up the volume on your TV.

The video version cannot compete with the theatrical release, but a little Spielberg is better than a lost of any other movie-maker.

Jurassic Park is an entertaining, exciting roller coaster ride. Well-written and well-directed, Jurassic Park brings out the kid in all of us.

Our rating system

* A dog  A dog with spots  Reaches mediocrity
* Better than many  One of the best

The 1994 version of federal health care reform is dead. This news was heralded by a triumvirate of gleeful GOPers this past week including Phil Gramm, Bob Dole and Newt Gingrich. This trio of the most vitriolic members of the loyal opposition almost danced a jig on TV as they told the world that Clinton had failed once again and that the American Peepul had spoken! Gramm was counting presidential nomination votes as he pontifically told PBS News Hour viewers all about what he had done to save the country from the President and his "socialized medicine" plan. The personal pronoun "I" was used 84 times by actual count during Gramm's short but hubristic diatribe. One almost expected him to walk on water or at least jump into a phone booth and emerge flourishing a cape!

All that foolishness aside, there is some truth to the statement that the health plan went too far and too fast. Folks at the mid-level of American life are not convinced at this point that they need to change their private health program for one run by the government or even touched in any way by a hapless bureaucrat -

Off the Record

by Ken Clapp

although both play a part in today's so called free enterprise medical system.

This is not the first time national health has failed to pass muster in Washington. During the Depression, President Roosevelt assigned a group to come up with a bill that would include an old age pension system, unemployment insurance, workman's compensation and a national health scheme. Like anything stitched together by a committee, what came out was less than hoped for, but on August 7, 1935, a bill was laid on the president's desk for signature that included the forerunner of today's social security program, unemployment and workman's compensation. But, no health plan! Reason being the American Medical Association and the pharmaceutical boys all cried "foul" and "socialized medicine" so loudly that congress killed the health part of the proposed law.

A national health plan will happen when and if the American people feel they cannot trust the open market to provide them with good health care at a reasonable price. In the meantime, the government might want to spend a little time and money trying to provide insurance for those who are without coverage through no fault of their own. Perhaps direct payment to hospitals and doctors for work done on uninsured patients to keep those costs from being assigned to the paying customers. Anyway - President Clinton would be well advised to drop the all-inclusive health reform next year - that is if he plans on running for reelection.

The GOP Contract

Did you notice the foofaraw in Washington a few days back when Republicans from around the nation, who are running for office, signed a "contract" agreeing to pass the balanced budget amendment, term limitations, welfare reform, a "real" anti-crime package and a host of other goodies all within the first 100 days after they take office, provided we send enough GOPers to the House and Senate to form a majority in both legislative bodies.

This is nonsensical political demagoguery since there is not one thinking

An adventure 65 million years in the making... John Hammond, a shrewd business tycoon, conceives the idea of creating genetically-engineered dinosaurs for a contemporary-paleo theme park. He invites a paleontologist, a paleo-botanist, a mathematician/theorist, and his two grandchildren to a pre-grand opening of the park. The security system breaks down and the prehistoric creatures break out. An exciting, thrilling film with the best special effects you have ever seen.

To the Editor:

The upcoming school bond issue should be decided on fiscal and educational merits and not as a referendum on growth. Growth in Salado will occur regardless of the fate of the school bonds. Depriving children of proper educational opportunities and facilities is a misguided attempt to deter growth is not a good trade-off.

When one currently describes Salado's life-style, words like "class" and "quality" inevitably come up. Will those be the adjectives chosen after a 1,500 unit trailer court or a men's entertainment club opens in town? Will people remark about the high quality of life in Salado when the remaining 35,000 acre feet of water in Lake Stillhouse are diverted to Austin and San Antonio and our groundwater has been fouled by our own septic tanks? Growth can be managed... not by overcrowding schools, but by sound legislation and careful stewardship of the resources of the Village. Avoiding this responsibility now can bring devastating effects in terms of lowered property values, pollution and a lessened quality of life.

An ostrich rarely deters a hungry lion by sticking his head in the sand. If the purpose is to keep Salado a quality community then we must give our children the best education possible and demand growth to be orderly, fiscally sound, environmentally safe, and governed by those who live here

Dear Editor:

Graham Bell, Henry Ford, and Orville Wright the names must drive Mr. Lanthier crazy, since I am sure his horse must hate it when the neighbor's phone rings.

Seriously, an education is the one guarantee the youth in this "village" have until someone comes along to oppose it.

If I have misunderstood your letter, let me apologize now, however; when does the county start construction on the wall around Salado. Since, the only place I know where time stands still and the ideas of man are oppressed has a wall thousands of miles long.

Sorry, Mr. Lanthier this is the twentieth century, excuse me the end of the twentieth century, and with the twenty-first century staring us in the eye, this "village" needs to accept change as inevitable. Therefore, the best thing we can do is control our destiny through educating the young and the old.

Build the School!!!

Dear Editor:

This letter is written in response to the Letter to the Editor concerning the Salado schools, which appeared in the Sept. 28 edition of the Salado Village Voice.

I have lived in Salado for almost 25 years and I have seen the population of Salado and its surrounding area grow steadily during that period of time. Growth occurs even when the junior high and high school classes were held in the old red brick school building, which was a very substandard facility when compared to modern school campuses. It is certainly true that good schools are an asset to a growing community. However, Salado, does not grow just because of its schools. Salado grows because of its natural environmental beauty, its location, and the progressive spirit of its residents. Without the progressive spirit we probably would not have the annual Art Fair, Tablerock, the Antique Show, Christmas in

Salado Volunteer Firefighters
... The People to Turn To

Wayne Rutherford is a professional fire fighter/paramedic with the Killeen FD, who has volunteered his time with the SVFD for 10 years. Rutherford has been named Salado Fire fighter of the Year (1984) and has received commendations from the City of Killeen in 1985 and 1988. He has received his advanced certification level from the Texas Commission on Fire Protection and the Texas Department of Health EMT-Paramedic.

Wayne recalls his greatest accomplishment in the SVFD as "In 1993, we purchased a new class A pumper from Emergency Vehicles of Texas, while I was president of the SVFD."

Wayne also remembered a call to rescue a 93-year-old woman who had crawled on top of her roof to fix a leak. She couldn't get down, so "her 73-year-old daughter called for help."

Wayne is married to Kathy. The couple has five daughters: Amy, Amber, Tiffany, Courtney and Mandy.

Shawn Morris is a third year college student at Texas A & M University in Corpus Christi, who has been a SVFD member for over two years. He is a lifelong resident of Salado. As a fire fighter, he has received training in standard first aid, CPR, and life-guard duties.

Morris recalls his first fire call, "a fully engulfed trailer house. I was so excited and scared to death."

Morris remembers hearing the siren downtown, while he was growing up, and "wanting to know where the fire was and seeing some of the call the Salado VFD responded to," which lead him to join the volunteer fire department.

A fatality on the highway has left the greatest impression on Morris during his tenure as a volunteer fire fighter. The fatality, due to drunk driving, "taught me how easy life can be taken away from you. It changed my life," Morris said.

"No matter where I live, I plan on being in the local volunteer fire department," Morris added.

Peoples National Bank would like to thank Wayne Rutherford, Shawn Morris, and the other 30 Salado Volunteer Fire Fighters.

Eagle teams trash Axtell

The Salado Eagles pounded out over 400 yards total offense to route Axtell 28-7 Sept. 30. The Eagles go to Hutto 8 p.m. Oct. 7 to face the hapless Hutto Hippos (1-3) in the district opener.

After Axtell scored on their first possession, the Eagle defense, led by Michael Sierra, Jerry Ratliff, and David Berumen, shut down Axtell's offense.

Trailing 0-7, Salado scored three times in the second quarter. Shane Johnston threw to tight end Jesse Finger for a 22-yard touchdown with 11:00 remaining in the half. The PAT failed.

Salado took the lead with 7:25 left in the half on a five yard dive by David Berumen. Berumen threw for a 40 yard halfback pass earlier in the 60-yard drive. Johnston found William Culp in the end zone to complete the PAT conversion to give Salado a 14-7 lead.

On the Eagles' next possession, Joshua Goodnight took a quick pitch around end and scampered 60 yards for a touchdown with 2:30 remaining in the half. Jereme Hosch kicked the PAT to give Salado a 21-7 lead.

Salado padded the lead in the fourth quarter on a 4-yard touchdown dive by Jerome Peoples. The PAT was good, 28-7.

The Eagle offense totaled 421 yards total offense, including 329 on the ground and 92 passing. Berumen led the ground game with 135 yards on 10 carries. Goodnight carried 10 times for 126 yards.

The Salado defense held Axtell to 140 yards total offense: 171 yards rushing and -31 yards passing.

Sierra had 13 tackles, including 6 behind the line, Jerry Ratliff followed with 12 tackles. Rusty Wasik had 11 tackles and Berumen had 10 tackles in his outstanding effort on both sides of the scrimmage line.

Junior Varsity

The Salado JV Eagles won their third game by shutting out Axtell 28-0.

The Eagles scored first on a 25-yard reverse by Beau Stewart.

Salado scored again on a 5-yard plunge by David Kirk.

Paul Mashburn found Tate Hunter on a 12-yard pass for the third Eagle score.

Cody Hall dashed 50 yards for the fourth and final touchdown for Salado JV Eagles.

The stingy Salado defense shut-out Axtell. The Defense was led by David Kirk, Michael Combs, Chris Brown and Drew Oldham.

The JV Eagles face Hutto Oct. 6 at Eagle Field. Games begin at 5 p.m.

8th Grade

The Salado 8th grade Eagles won their fourth straight game, dominating Axtell, 28-0.

Ryan Gillespie hit Chris Michna with a pass for the first touchdown early in the second quarter. The play covered 60 yards. Mark Weddell carried the ball over for the 2-point PAT.

Midway through the second quarter, Gillespie kept the ball on an option play from 12 yards out for the second Eagles touchdown.

The Eagles got the ball again at midfield with 1:40 left in the half. A couple of Gillespie completions on sprint-out passes set the Eagles up at the 20-yard line with 40 second left. After a penalty, Chris Michna hit Josh Lee with a pass for a touchdown and a 20-0 halftime lead.

Taylor Hutton scored the last touchdown of the night as he returned the second half kick-off 65 yards for a touchdown. Tim Combs scored the conversion on a sweep.

The Eagle defense again played a fine game. It was their third shut-out of the year. James Howerton, John McLaughlin, Ryan Buckley and Jimmy Thompson had fine games for the defense.

Gillespie, Sonny Oldham, Shane Rigsby and David Kite did a good job on the offense.

7th Grade

The 7th Grade Salado Eagles stomped Axtell 30-0 last week.

Randy Moore scored two touchdowns on the night. His first TD run topped a 70 yard drive while his second run topped a 60-yard drive.

Mike Schoepf scored on a 12-yard quarterback sneak. Vicente Fraire score the two-point conversion.

Jordan Klein scored the final touchdown for the 7th grade Eagles. Moore carried in the PAT conversion.

How to choose investment advice

When selecting an investment professional, you should be prepared to ask tough questions and provide information about your investment objectives. Most investment professionals are advised to know their clients. But you, as the client, need to know yourself. Answering the following questions may give you some insight into what kind of investor you are. Knowing the answers can help guide you toward the right investment professional.

Mike
Miller

- How much money can you comfortably afford to invest?
- What's the most important to you: safety, increasing current income, growth of assets or a combination of these?
- Do you want to try to make money quickly, or would you rather see your investment grow over a long period of time?
- Do you want to invest strictly in one type of investment, or do you want to "play the field," branching out into many different areas?
- Do you already understand investing, or would you prefer having everything explained to you in detail?
- Once you have made an investment, are you unable to sleep unless you hear daily progress reports?

professional whose business style best suits you. Be sure to talk to several investment professionals, and don't be afraid to ask tough questions. It's better to know early how an investment professional will deal with a variety of situations. Asking the following questions may make your decisions easier.

- How many years experience do you have?
- What special training do you have in investments?
- How many other clients do you have with investment goals similar to mine?
- Will you charge a fee for your service, or will you earn a commission when I buy and sell investments?
- What will it cost to implement the investment plan you recommend for me?
- Have any disciplinary actions been taken against you by the Securities and Exchange Commission or other regulatory bodies?

These are just a few of the questions you should ask yourself before you start talking to an investment professional. Once you determine the type of investor you are (or would like to be), it will be much easier to match your needs and tastes to a pro-

Don't get caught paying good money for advice that doesn't match your goals. Know what kind of investor you are and be straight forward when interviewing investment professionals. You will be more likely to find a good match.

Oil company awarded state certificates

The Railroad Commission of Texas (RRC) awarded Scully and Smith Oil Corporation of Salado, Texas Discoverer 1994 certificates at statewide hearings on May 23 and September 22 for the discovery of two (2) new gas fields. The Texas Discoverer 1994 program recognizes the vital role such discoveries can make to the economy of Texas. According to the RRC, over the initial ten-year life of a discovery field, infield development drilling and production from the discovery and additional wells may add as much as $15 million to the Texas economy.

With their discovery of two gas fields this year, Scully and Smith Oil Corporation mapped out a gas-well program which included drilling 15 new wells. The drilling program currently in progress, continues to yield excellent results. Of eight wells drilled, four are on-line and producing, three are waiting for pipeline connection, and one was a dry hole. This drilling program uncovered six more new field discoveries, for a total of eight, placing Scully and Smith in line for further recognition as a Texas Discoverer 1994.

Rising prices were what made this successful gas-well drilling program a possibility. When John Sobehrad, an independent geologist with 14 years of experience, approached Scully and Smith with a gas-well program in the Frio-Oligocene gas trend in South Texas, they were ready to listen. "The price of oil declined steadily throughout 1993," Sobehrad said. "At the same time, gas prices were rising to a level which would make it economically feasible to drill gas wells. It seemed a logical move to seek out productive opportunities in gas."

Noel Scully of Scully and Smith Oil Corporation, an independent operator for 17 years, took the initial risk. "When John brought us the idea of drilling gas wells, oil production was not a very economical proposition," Scully said. "Gas seemed to be an ideal investment for the times. It was a smart alternative to oil, and to make it in the business today you have to work smarter. Success needs good planning and good management, and I felt an investment in gas was a good plan—an investment in the fuel of the future."

Scully was so confident of Sobehrad's proposal, he took the idea to Lloyd Parks, formerly chief executive officer for AMAX Petroleum for 23 years, currently serves as treasurer of the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

"We all know the oil industry is very important to Texas. Every new discovery brings tax dollars into the state coffers," Parks said. "And I believe the backbone of the oil industry is the small independent oil company. I was glad to review the prospects—the merits of the program were obvious. Shallow wells for a minimal investment, rising prices for the end product, and enough recoverable reserves to afford a good return on investment."

Confidence in the program led Parks and Scully to join together in a partnership—PS&S (Parks, Scully and Smith)—whose sole purpose was to acquire gas leases on the Frio-Oligocene gas trend. Once leases are acquired, Sobehrad develops the prospects to be marketed and operated by Scully and Smith Oil Corporation.

Cabaniss is commended student

Ed Thomas, principal of Salado High School announced that Salado Senior Brent Cabaniss has been named a Commended Student in the 1995 National Merit Scholarship Program. A Letter of Commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation which conducts the program has been presented to Brent in honor of his accomplishment.

Being recognized as a Commended Student through the National Merit Scholarship Program places Brent in the top five percent of more than a million students who entered the 1995 Merit Program by taking the Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

A Merit Program spokesperson commented, "It is important to acknowledge the attainments of academically talented students and to credit schools for the key role they play in their development. We hope the recognition received by the able young men and women who are commended in this rigorous, nationwide competition will encourage them to take advantage of their opportunities for higher education and to diligently pursue their professional goals. The nation will benefit from the full development of this intellectual resource." Salado principal Ed Thomas added, "We are very proud of Brent and his academic accomplishments. It is our hope that this be a springboard for Brent and other students at Salado High School. I commend Brent in his accomplishments as well as his parents, and the faculty of Salado ISD."

Brent is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Cabaniss of Salado.

The 24 Month Option CD

Annual Percentage Yield

Invest in an Option CD at today's very competitive rate. Then, if rates get even better, you could trade up to a higher rate.

You're free to make a change any time after the first seven days. In effect, you can switch to a new CD to take advantage of a higher prevailing rate, as long as it's for the remainder of the original term of the CD.

The 36 Month Option CD

Annual Percentage Yield

It's simple. And it means you needn't stay on the sidelines right now, waiting for higher rates. Of course, it's a one-time-only renewal option.

$1,000 minimum balance required to earn the annual percentage yield (APY) quoted. APY is a current as of 9/9/94. The CD must be renewed for at least the remainder of the original term of the CD at the current rate for the renewal term selected. An early withdrawal penalty will be imposed for any renewal or withdrawal after then renewal option is exercised or made during the first seven days of the CD. Bonus rates do not apply.

October, the December Homes Tour, the Christmas Stroll, the Salado Historical Society, the Chamber of Commerce, Public Library or Civic Center. Nor would we have the shops and dining establishments that attract tourists to Salado.

As a community grows it incurs an obligation to provide public schools to accommodate its growth. It has been said many times that the future of our nation depends upon the education of our younger generations. An attempt to impede the addition of required public school facilities in an effort to maintain status quo of the village atmosphere is, in my opinion, a very shortsighted approach, to say the least. There is no "Bigger is Better" philosophy. There is simply the matter of coping with a constantly increasing population.

In 1986 the Salado ISD Board of Trustees, Superintendent and a citizens advisory committee prepared a study on projected student population growth and its effect on the Salado Schools. The study was based on historical growth and a demographic and income forecast report published by CACI, a firm working with the U.S. Census Bureau. Student enrollment was forecast to increase by approximately 19 students each year, and the forecast proved to be accurate. As a result, the people of Salado ISD approved a 1.375 million dollar bond issue to provide the expansion of our schools in order to take care of increasing enrollment for the foreseeable future, which was a period of eight years. A continuing increase of the population in the Salado area is inevitable, and we must continue providing quality education for the young people of our community. To do less would be unconscionable.

A steering committee of Salado citizens has been formed to assist the Salado ISD Board of Trustees and Superintendent in formulating a plan to provide for the foreseeable future requirements for our public schools. These are intelligent people who can be relied upon to do what is best for our community. Let's have faith in them to get the job done.

member of either party that really wants to balance the national budget at one fell-swoop. That would require cutting nearly a trillion bucks out of the current budget which in turn would mean deep slices in social security payments, medicare, medicaid, military spending and on and on. Pure poppycock, but salable to unhappy voters. Just how unhappy they are will be reflected in how many GOPers they select. Some brave souls have predicted a complete sweeping Republican majority in both houses. Other more serious followers see good GOP gains but not the upper hand in either body. This usually happens in "off" year elections especially when the president is riding a wave of discontent. One thing for certain, this year has seen some of the most virulent animosity in recent memory as members of both parties ripped and tore into each other. The Republicans possibly went at it a bit harder than the Dems - but of course they have had more experience!

From the state to the national levels - look for a lot of surprises.

At this moment it would be hard to predict the winner of the Governor's race right here in Texas. That race and those of a number of congressmen are as tight as Dick's-Hat-Band (what ever that used to mean) so keep watching the TV ads. Those that get meaner indicate a losing race.

One last word on the so-called "contract" being put out by the Republicans - that being a Latin term Caveat Emptor meaning let the buyer beware. Or if you prefer - "buying a pig in a poke". In either event - don't let the politics of the season fool you or anyone into thinking either party alone can achieve miracles just by being elected in large numbers. History has proven otherwise,

More on all this as we near the November 8, election.

Salado Jail

With the arrival on Main Street of an old timey jail house can incorporation be far behind? The building in question was recently moved next door to the Antique Mall.

Do the owners of this structure know something the rest of us don't know? Is there an undercover movement to secretly insert a city government into our peaceful village? Is Belton planning a wholesale annexation of our community - schools and all? Clearly an investigation is appropriate.

More news to follow.

Fox Tales: 100 Pounds of Hamburger

by James D Fox

I first met Willie when we were both sophomores in Wichita Falls Senior High School. He was the biggest guy in my group, in the school, or maybe in town. To the best of my memory he weighed about 250 lbs, and he was about 6 ft 4 inches tall. Willie was a main stay of the linemen for the football team. He had been a star in junior high, and then in high school, and later on, he was a star in college.

The first time I can remember that Willie and I spoke was the day that he was being kidded about his size by some of his friends on the front steps of the W/F high school. It was all in good fun, because Willie was such a big guy no one would dare get serious with him in a contrary way. Willie was a giant, but he was a happy giant that was always laughing, and having a good time with all around him whether friend or stranger. I was the stranger that approached Willie's group that day at lunch.

The conversation was about Willie's size, and the bet was that no one there could lift him off the ground. My mouth would not keep shut.

"Well, I might not can lift you, but I bet I can carry you!"

Willie looked at me as if he had known me all his life. "Who, you, why I'd break your back, little guy."

Willie had attended Zundelwitz Junior High, and I was a product of Reagan Junior High. We were supposed to be bitter enemies, because of our past school affiliations, but no rancor was involved here.

"Oh yeah, well I can carry you alright, and I bet'cha."

"What's your name kid."

"Jimmie Fox."

"Well, Jimmie, I tell ya what, if you can carry me around the flag pole and back, I'll give you a quarter."

A quarter, was a lot of money to me, and I had not the least worry that I could do the job. How did a kid of 110 lbs have this confidence? It was because I had tried it already, with sacks of cow feed and they weighed 100 lbs each. I backed up to Willie, bent over and put my hands on my knees, and told Willie to climb aboard. Willie did so with a big smile, I think that he already could see that I was going to win the bet. All I had to do was keep my hands on my legs for a brace and my legs would take the stain. I was a kid that had worn out a bicycle and a half delivering newspapers, and prescriptions for the drug store. Long before, I had learned that my legs were my strength, not my back.

Willie and I made it to the flag pole, and we were both laughing when he unloaded back at the steps.

"Hey, you're alright kid, and here's your quarter."

"Thanks Willie, and you know, it wasn't that hard."

Now the rest of the group found their voices.

"Hey, I could have done that, that way. Why, it's like cheating, I thought you meant he had to carry you in his arms. Heck, anybody could do it the way he did, goll-eee."

"Oh yeah," said Willie, "the trouble is you didn't think of it did you?"

I always counted Willie as a friend of mine even though we didn't do any running around together. Willie was a popular guy on campus, and nobody even knew I was there. I watched with pride as my "friend" made starring plays on the football field, and we always spoke when we met on campus, but we weren't close buddies. We were just friends. It was three or four year later when we were sophomores in college, and worked together as life guards at Havener's Swimming Pool out on Holiday street that we got to know each other better. We didn't socialize, but we did have respect for each other. Everybody liked Willie, even when he was pulling one of jokes on them, which was often.

The years passed, and I was working as draftsman for an oil company. Willie had opened a Hamburger stand out on Holiday street near the swimming pool where we used to work together. There was little evidence that Willie's Hamburger stand was going to put any of the other hamburger stands out of business, but Willie had his following.

On a particular day, I drove my car out to Willie's Hamburger stand for lunch. The parking lot was not paved, and that was probably more evidence that the stand might be operating with a little shortage of . There were probably ten or twelve cars on the lot that day, and did I say that this was a drive inn? Well, it was, but it was a help-your-self type of drive inn. You had to get out of your car, go up to the little window, that Willie completely filled, and place your order. When your order was ready, Willie would call out your name and you went back to the window and picked up your order. There was no public address system, just Willie's voice which was more than adequate for the job.

All of this was a very commonplace way to get a hamburger for the locals. That day, something happened about the time my hamburger was due to be ready. A truck pulled into the parking lot from Holiday street and headed for the rear of the little hamburger stand. The truck had a sign on the side that said, "WICHITA HIDE & RENDERING." All the locals would have recognized the truck even without the sign. It was a one ton flat bed with solid sideboards about three feet high. There was no tail gate, because it had a winch on a boom mounted on the left rear corner of the truck bed. The truck was one of several used by the company to pick up dead live stock and take said carcass to the rendering plant. Yes, all the locals knew this and also knew that when the wind was right, then the north side of Wichita Falls became almost unbearable. The company was in the business of salvaging the skin, and rendering the carcass into grease. Yes, all the locals knew that, but what most of them did not know was that the same company bought grease drippings from restaurants. During the war, their effort was very important, but because of the bad smell of their business, no one liked to even be close to one of the company's trucks.

Willie couldn't stand the temptation of the great opportunity for such a good joke, even if it was going to be on him. He stuck his head and upper torso through the small window, which in its self drew the attention of all parked in his lot. Just as the despised truck was turning to the side of stand, Willie yelled at the top of lungs, "Hey how about leaving me a hundred pounds of hamburger meat, ok?"

I wonder what ever happened to Willie?

Each year, millions afflicted with flu, pneumonia

Each year millions of Americans are afflicted with influenza and pneumonia. Those most at risk are the very young and the very old, those suffering from chronic lung or heart disease and those with weakened immune systems.

This fall, the American Lung Association of Texas urges all those who are considered high risk to get a flu shot. You are at high risk if you are over age 65, have chronic, lung, heart or kidney disease, reside in a nursing home or other long-term care facility or if you have other chronic diseases. In addition, health care workers should be immunized to reduce the chances of spreading this condition to high-risk people. The shot is recommended every year because the influenza virus strain changes annually. The ideal time to receive flu vaccine is between Oct. 15- Nov. 15.

According to the Lung Association both influenza and pneumonia are deadly. "Influenza is a highly contagious, potentially life-threatening lung disease," said Dr. William Paul Glezen, epidemiologist at the Influenza Research Center at Baylor University. "Since 1960, pneumonia has been the leading killer infectious disease in the U.S. It is both the most common and most deadly complication arising from influenza," he explained.

"Combined influenza and pneumonia are the fourth leading cause of death among all American women and the fifth leading cause of death among all Americans over the age of 65." Dr. Glezen said. Lung disease, including influenza and pneumonia, is the third leading cause of death in America.

Senior citizens are particularly high risk for both influenza and pneumonia and are most likely to be hospitalized as a result of this deadly combination. Influenza and pneumonia are the fifth leading cause of death for those aged 65 and over, resulting in 68,962 deaths in 1991 alone.

"Only 40 percent of older adults living in the community receive their influenza shots every year, and only 20 percent receive the pneumococcal pneumonia vaccine," said Dr. Glezen. "Both vaccines are covered under Medicare and other health insurance programs.

For more information on influenza and pneumonia shots, call the American Lung Association of Texas at 1-800-252-5864.

The mission of the American Lung Assoc. is prevention, control, and cure of lung disease, the third leading cause of death in Texas. The Association fights lung disease and promotes lung health through statewide programs of research, health education, advocacy and community service. Its life-saving programs are made possible by public contributions and community volunteers.

Things looked at patiently from one side after another generally end by showing a side that is beautiful.

Helpful homework hints

School is in full swing and so is the homework. That means turning in all those English reports and struggling over all those math problems. If you're a teenager dreading the old grind of books and homework, take heart--- help is at hand. Now is the time to get organized, when it's early in the semester, according to a psychologist at Scott & White.

Here are four steps to help you get on the right track for school according to Constance J. Fournier, Ph.D., psychologist in Scott & White's Division of Child and Adolescent Mental Health and assistant professor in the Texas A&M University Health Science Center College of Medicine.

First set up a study time that will work for you. "Pick a study time when you are most alert and less likely to have interruptions," Dr. Fournier said. Here comes the tricky part: Turn off the TV and forego all phone calls during that time. These are distracting and keep you from concentrating on the task at hand. Review the day's subjects a little bit each night. "Five to 10 minutes for each subject may be enough time a long as you are really studying," she said. "If you do have homework, plan on studying for the homework separate from your review time."

Second, set up a study place to do your homework that is free from distractions as much as possible.

To make sure you can devote all your time and energy to studying, make sure your supplies such as pencils, papers, pens, rulers and compasses are handy. These should be easy to get to so you don't have to search these out when you are studying," Dr. Fournier added.

Third, use good learning techniques in the classroom.

Make the most out of your time in the classroom as the teacher presents the material. Sit at or near the front of the class so you can see and hear the teacher. "If necessary, ask your teacher to change the seating arrangement so you will be up front and pay attention," Dr. Fournier said. Ask the teacher if you may bring a tape recorder to class to tape the lectures if you have trouble taking notes.

Another way to get good notes is to get together with friends who are good note takers. Get copies of their notes to help you review.

Organization at school is important. Make sure your notebooks are organized. "You might want to use a color system, such as a blue notebook for history and a yellow notebook for math," she added. "This help you make sure your information is organized." Above all, note when projects and homework are due and make sure you get your work in on time. Having a homework calendar is helpful. Write down the due date, then work backwards to schedule time for the research, writing and editing.

Fourth, ask the teacher for assistance when it's appropriate. Show the teacher that you are interested in learning and are serious about your school work. Lean to ask for assistance in a way that allows the teacher to help you. "This may mean coming to class early or staying after class to talk with a teacher rather than asking too many questions during a class," Dr. Fournier said. "If you find yourself not understanding or getting a little behind in a subject, make sure you ask the teacher about tutoring or getting additional help."

"When you stay on top of your work, you find that your time pays off in better understanding of your subjects and in better grades," Dr. Fournier added.

Grace Baptist reopens

Grace Baptist Church of Salado reopened its doors officially Oct. 2. Prayer meetings began the first Wednesday in Sept. with prospective members in attendance.

The church previously stopped services early last summer. Letters were mailed to the remaining members notifying them of an August 1 meeting to decide the future of the building and property.

Numerous parties were interested in obtaining the property, including several churches wanting to use the sight as mission extensions, as well as a non-church related groups.

The remaining membership decided they wanted the building to remain a church and to become Southern Baptist. After more meetings letters were sent to three area Southern Baptist Churches asking for member support.

The newly formed Grace Baptist has several families coming from each of the three churches to form the core group.

Pastor of the congregation is John Warden. Clarence Pinkerton will be leading the music.

Sunday evening and Wednesday Services will be at 7 p.m.

"Mom was always there when I needed her.
So, how can I send her to a nursing home?"

When you think of what your mother has done for you, of all the work and sacrifice, it's hard to imagine someone else taking care of her. True, a nursing center will give her specialized care, the kind of care she can't get at home. But that doesn't keep you from feeling guilty. It doesn't take away your desire to be with her, as she was always there for you.

We can help. Not only will we provide skilled nursing care for your mother, 24 hours a day. We will also extend our care to you. With over 35 years of experience, we can help you make sense of this confusing and difficult time.

Call or mail the coupon, and we'll send you a free copy of When Love Gets Tough, a wonderful book about why sometimes the hardest part of caring for someone is knowing when to ask for help.

Salado artist Lonnie Joe Edwards and Larry Herold unveil the wall-size mural of Salado in the mid to late 1800s. Edwards was commissioned to paint the mural for La Mansion De Salado, which opened this week in the 1857 Tyler House on Main St and which is owned by Gene Street. The mural was unveiled during a preview fund-raiser for the Salado Public Library and the Salado Historical Society at La Mansion De Salado Sept. 29.

Quilt show

The 7th Annual Quilt Show of the Temple Brethren Church will be held Oct. 7-8.

The Christian Sisters and members of the church will be sponsoring the event.

There will be no admission charge and the show will be open 10 a.m.-7 p.m. Oct. 7 and 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Oct. 8.

There will be quilts in all sizes including baby quilts. Crafts, baked goods, sweets and the church cookbook will be for sale.

Concession will include old fashioned hamburgers.

Love donations are being accepted for a blue and mauve Jacob's Ladder quilt, a quilted tree skirt and a food basket (filled with goodies from the show) that will be given away Oct. 8 at the close of the event.

The Temple Brethren Church is located at 2202 Bird Creek Dr. in Temple behind Luby's and K'Mart.

Art show

It's a Sami Arts & Crafts Affaire at the Austin Palmer Auditorium on Riverside Dr. at South 1st St. The event will be held 10-6 p.m. Oct. 8 and 11 a.m.-5 p.m. Oct. 9. Adult admission is $3 for both days, children under 12 are free.

The October Sami Show will look different from any other this year. The merchandise will reflect the fall season and the coming holiday Fall colors among the jewelry, clothing, and a variety of wood and fiber handcrafts will turn the shoppers' thoughts to the season at hand. Thanksgiving and Christmas items will also start to make appearances as crafters turn to the gift giving season. This is the only Sami Show this month!

Recycling set in Salado

Recycling in Salado is scheduled for 9 a.m.-noon, Oct. 8 in the parking lot area west of the IGA Village Foods.

Texas has a recycling rate of only 12 percent for trash disposal.

Bring your newspaper, cardboard, pasteboard, magazines, catalogs, junk mail, clear and brown glass, aluminum and tin cans.

Driving Miss Daisy is here!

A new way to see Salado is offered by "Driving Miss Daisy", a new business in town featuring first class personal service. Owner Daisy Nuse chauffeurs in a beautifully restored 1954 Cadillac.

Driving Miss Daisy will offer guided shopping tours, village and lake excursions, historic landmark tours, bed and breakfast viewing, wedding and anniversary packages, special events and Real Estate Services.

Daisy said, "The idea came to me in the middle of the night. I woke my husband up and told him the concept. He knew the perfect car and we purchased it the next day."

The sleek black Cadillac

sedan had been in the same family for 40 years, being passed down from mother to daughter. The car which was only used for parades and special occasions in recent years has been outfitted with a new interior just for Miss Daisy's clients. For inquiries and appointments call 817-947-0741.

Unlike many other instruments which can be tuned, no two cymbals sound exactly alike.

The Salado Volunteer Fire Department would like to thank the following Salado businesses and their owners for their contributions to a successful Miss Flame Contest:

Young Williams Manor	La Mansion De Salado
Sweet Nut Things	The Gazebo
Grace Jones	Salado Civic Center
J. David Stanford	Totally Haire & Tanning
Strawberry Patch	Stagecoach Inn

Moms & More has busy October

Moms and More of Salado is kicking off its fall/winter season with some wonderful and exciting activities for any mom with school-age children.

Moms and More is a non-profit, non-denominational group that was established in order to bring moms and their children together for fellowship and fun social activities. They welcome you and a friend to any of the events hosted by them.

Moms and More will host Craft 'N' Chat 12:30 p.m.

Oct. 5 in the fellowship hall of the United Methodist Church of Salado. They request anyone interested bring a T-shirt or sweatshirt to decorate for Halloween. Moms & More will provide the art supplies and instructions. A baby-sitter will be available for a nominal fee.

Moms & More invites you to treat yourself to a Mom's Night Out 6:30 p.m. Oct. 12. Interested moms should meet at Young William's Manor in Salado for a dutch treat Mexican Buffet for $9.95 per person, all you can eat.

For an afternoon filled with Halloween fun, Moms & More will also host a Costume Party for children. Grandparents, husbands and friends are also invited to participate in the treats, cake, games and pinata 1:00 p.m. Oct. 29.

If you are interested in any of the above activities, would like to know more about future plans, or have suggestions, please call Mary Stockton or Tere Grace at 947-0201 or 947-0026.
