Salado merchants will decorate the Salado Civic Center for Christmas in October this weekend.

Christmas in October this weekend in Salado

This is it... the weekend for the greatly anticipated Christmas in October, presented by the Salado Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary.

October 14-15, 10-4 p.m. at the Salado Civic Center the Auxiliary offers the advantage of shopping early for those special homemade Christmas gifts, edible and otherwise.

At the same time visitors will enjoy "The Joyful Sounds of Christmas" as live music is presented throughout the two day event.

Christmas table settings, decorated trees and a variety of Nativity Scenes inspire with the elegantly simple to the most elaborate of holiday designs. Local merchants offer some of their most talented efforts.

Light refreshments provided by some of the finest Salado cooks, can be enjoyed by all in attendance.

Baked items will be for sale 10 a.m.-1 p.m. only.

The Queen's Pantry which is stocked with jams, jellies preserves, chutney, relishes and many more delectables will make great gifts for the unexpected guest or a holiday hostess gift.

Tickets for this event can be purchased at the door. Adult tickets are $4 and children 2-12 is $2

Speaker dedicates life to freeing those from terror of boot or bullet

by Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

Last year, global letter writing, petitions and pleas resulted in the freedom of 1,000 political prisoners.

"This number is both great and small," said Rick Halperin to those gathered for his lecture before the Institute for the Humanities at Salado Oct. 9. Halperin is the Chairman of the U.S. branch of Amnesty International.

"It is a great number because there are now 1,000 people who are no longer suffering under the boot or the bullet of torture, death and wrongful imprisonment," Halperin said. "It is not a great number because there are so many others who still suffer under the boot and the bullet."

Halperin discussed the modern history of human rights (and the lack thereof), the history of Amnesty International and the role individuals can play in fighting blatant violations of human rights by governments and by revolutionaries.

Halperin said that human rights came to the forefront of thought after World War II when the world "watched not just the horrors of total warfare and its technologies, but, for the first time, saw millions exterminated, snuffed out, not for what they said, not for what they did, but simply for who they were."

Nominees to Chamber board named

by Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

Salado Chamber of Commerce members approved a slate of candidates for election to the Board of Directors during the membership meeting Oct. 10 in the Salado Civic Center.

The Chamber membership approved a slate of eight candidates from the Nominating Committee and one nomination from the floor.

Nominees are these: Rick Castle, Carolyn Dachs, Micki Ellis, Tim Fleischer, Louis Hill, Jimmy Murchison, Lloyd Parks, and Doug Willingham.

Elinor Topewas nominated from the floor.

Ballots will be mailed to Chamber members within 10 days. Chamber members will have 10 days in which to return their ballots by mail or in person.

TXDOT says construction project on schedule

The construction project on Interstate 35 in Salado is proceeding on or slightly ahead of schedule, according to Area Engineer Jim Cowan with the Texas Department of Transportation.

Motorists will have to contend with the narrow lanes and ramp closures for a couple of months, but Cowan said if all goes well, the lanes and ramps could be opened to full width by Christmas.

"We hope to have one direction of traffic open in early November and the other by Christmas," he said. "We should be finished with all of the work by March, according to the contractor's schedule, and maybe a little earlier if the weather holds out."

Young Contractors, Inc. of Waco is doing the work on this $3.7 million project, which includes construction of the median barrier wall, widening of the Salado Creek bridge, realignment of the access ramps, drainage work and resurfacing. The improvements extend from Salado Creek north to FM 1670.

In addition to the wider bridge, a special railing has been constructed at Salado Creek, said Cowan. "We feel the Texas Type T411 was very appropriate for this area because you can see through it and it has an antique appearance."

Once the I-35 main lanes are opened to full width, some daily lane closures will still be required, added Cowan. He urged motorists to continue to slow down and drive with caution when traveling through the area.

The Paper

rated R

Starring Michael Keaton, Glenn Close, Marisa Tomei, Randy Quaid, Robert Duvall

*Our rating: *****

by Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

I liked The Paper, even though the leading characters, portrayed by Michael Keaton and Marisa Tomei, were not very strong. There was absolutely no chemistry between Keaton and Tomei. They fizzled, instead of sizzling. In fact, I found myself wondering how Tomei's character got pregnant because the two seemed more like buddies than a couple.

Despite this weakness, the rest of the cast turned in great supporting performances, particularly Duvall, as the editor-in-chief, and Close, as the witchy, conniving managing editor.

The paper centers around the events of a single day in the life of a New York City newspaper and its staff. Keaton stars as city editor Henry Hackett, who happens upon a story of two young blacks arrested for a shooting.

He discovers a source proving their innocence and must race against the deadline of the running presses to break the right story.

The Paper is fast-moving, heady stuff with well-written dialogue, and strong performances. It's good stuff, even if you're not a newspaper hack.

The Killer G's at it again

Last week a number of Republican Senators once again showed their true obstructionist colors as narrow minded ideologues whose only aim in life right now is to discredit President Clinton and hold hostage all Democratic sponsored legislation - even if it is needed and wanted by most thinking Americans. Led by such worthies as Phil Gramm, Bobby Dole and the ever present trouble maker - old "eye-of-the-Newt" Gingrich these three "leaders", aided and abetted by the religious rightists and several lobby controlled Democrats - succeeded in stopping one of the better pieces of law-making to come out of the dying 103d Congress. The bill carried the title of "Lobby Reform" and had as an objective - the curtailment of efforts by the money-to-burn influence peddlers that are able to block the rest of us from getting our ideas through to our elected officials.

The bill passed both houses and went to a conference committee where both sides of the aisle signed off on a compromise plan. The lower house quickly okayed it but over in the Senate - surprise, surprise - trouble began. Seems after passing the original bill

Off the Record
by Ken Clapp

95-5, a number of GOPers "discovered" the bill now had, they "felt", some first amendment problems secretly hidden in the legislation.

This phony smokescreen failed to hide the maladroited tactics being used by enough GOP senators to kill off anything that might accrue to the benefit of the president just before the November mid term elections - forgetting all the while what good the bill would have done for the rest of us who are trying to keep our official's noses out of the private lobby troughs.

There was no excuse for killing this proposed law that would force members of Congress to buy their own meals, pay for their own vacations, golf fees - ad nauseam. It would have also forced some handcuffing of the high rolling lobbyists, who are proving what we have felt was true for years - that Congress is mostly for sale and at bargain prices.

Shame on the GOP leaders and their toadies for such mean spirited behavior.

We can but hope now that all this boomerangs on this small-mindedness as voters head for the November 8, mid term election. Even goofy Ross Perot came on line in favor of the proposed lobby reform plan.

Say What?

The friendly IRS headquarters in Washington came up with some instructions the other day that would defy the best spy efforts of the CIA.

In fact - the bright men and women who broke the Jap code during World War II would have had a hard time deciphering the following instructional memo on internal IRS security:

"Complete validated security architecture; develop data encryption strategy and issue encryption request for proposal (RFP); pilot external access utility (EAU); prototype audit collection functionality."

Got that figured out? Not to worry - no one else has either.

If folks up on the Potomac don't quit all this bureaucratic double-speak, we are going to continue our distrust of government in general, simply because we don't understand the language.

It may lead us to the point in time when term

Amnesty International

World War II, the United Nations was formed, Halperin said because "the global community declared that it would never again witness such terror."

A universal declaration of human rights with 30 articles guaranteeing the rights of all peoples, everywhere was signed by the countries comprising the United Nations on Dec. 10, 1948.

This date, Dec. 10, has become Human Rights Day, in honor of the declaration, but Halperin said, "There is something inherently wrong in singling out one day as Human Rights Day.... Every day should be Human Rights Day."

Since the declaration was signed, the world has witnessed terribly violations of basic human rights by countries from Asia, Europe, Africa, North and South America, Halperin said. "Almost no country is free from this scourge," Halperin said, noting that even countries like Denmark are not "beyond" violating human rights.

Amnesty International, which was formed in 1961, works on behalf "of those who have no voices," Halperin said.

Amnesty International was formed when Peter Beninsen witnessed two Portuguese students who were arrested and jailed by the military government in the early 1960s when they were overheard making toast to freedom in a restaurant. Beninsen took out an ad in a newspaper in his native London, asking people to write letters calling for the release of the two prisoners.

Amnesty International received the Nobel Peace Prize in 1977 because of its work "to put a face on those who suffered torture, wrongful imprisonment, disappearances and death."

"This is not an African problem. It is not an Asian problem. It is a human problem," Halperin said.

Halperin told the Institute that of the 187 members of the United Nations, one-third have prisoners of conscience jailed for the peaceful demonstration of their beliefs. People in these countries have been jailed for their religion, their race, their gender and their age.

"The bulk of those in prisons are under age 20 and many are children," Halperin said. "Many are used as political pawns against their parents."

Halperin said that 61 countries have been guilty of political killings, including unauthorized killing by off-duty security squads and death squads covert killings.

In 25 countries, unfair trials are conducted in which the accused is not allowed to face the accuser, appeals are denied, and the accused is held without charges.

There have been disappearances of political dissidents in 27 countries.

In almost two-thirds of the countries, torture is routinely used against detainees.

"Almost every country which signed the declaration has used torture against detainees," Halperin said.

"Whatever your mind can conjure as the worst thing that can be done to somebody, believe me, it is done," Halperin said, "and worse."

"Many of those who are tortured are women. I cannot begin to explain to you the atrocities committed against women," Halperin said.

"During this two-hour lecture, 30 people will die in prisons around the world, the result of torture, starvation or execution."

Of the countries signing the declaration, 357 use the death penalty against prisoners, including the United States.

Since the death penalty was reinstated in 1977, 252 people have been executed, by the electric chair, firing squad, gas chamber, hanging or lethal injection.

Another 3,000 sit on Death Row throughout the country; Texas has 403 inmates on Death Row. Since 1982, Texas has executed 82 inmates.

Texas is one of four states which has executed mentally ill inmates. It is one of three states which has executed inmates who were juveniles when they committed the crimes.

Nine juveniles have been executed in the United States, five in Texas. Presently, 80 inmates on Death Row were juveniles when they committed the crimes, 15 in Texas.

"This is a very dark stain on our country. When we try to point at the human rights records of other countries, we often have the death penalty thrown back at us," Halperin said. "We can do better than this."

Halperin said that Amnesty International does not advocate releasing murderers, but opposes the death penalty under any circumstances, even on those who are guilty of war crimes.

Halperin added that human rights violators have two friends: silence and secrecy.

Their enemies are the truth and those who report it and stand-up against it.

"Our strongest weapon against human rights violations is the pen," Halperin said.

"We have it very good in this country," Halperin said. "This does not free us from responsibility, but makes ours double. We must stand-up for those who have no voices, and for the memory of those who have been killed."

Eagle Player of the Week

Jerry Soto had his best game of the year in the rain at Hutto. The 270 lb. senior offensive tackle had at least five "pancakes" (putting his opponent flat on his back). He even collected two pancakes on one play, flattening one defender and finding another to lay out. The Eagles were able to run to his side all night long.

Local author signs new Ma Ferguson book Oct. 14-15

Carl McQueary, co-author of Ma's In The Kitchen: You'll Know When It's Done! will be signing books 1-4p.m. Oct. 14 and 10-2 p.m. Oct. 15 at the Salado Public Library.

The book is based on the recipes and history of Governor Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson, first Woman Governor of Texas.

Because Ferguson's personal papers, including her recipe collection, were lovingly preserved and through the extensive research McQueary and Paulissen are able to acquaint the readers with this privileged Southern Belle on the Texas Frontier. The selection of food she served at home and at the governor's Mansion reflect the influence of the frontier in her life. More than 300 of Miriam's kitchen-tested, down-

The authors dish up a good serving of Texas history along with the many delightful dishes. Collected over the Governor's lifetime, the recipes span 1875 to 1961 and include such favorites as Will Rogers Chili, M.A.F. pralines, and the closely guarded biscuit recipe of W. Lee "Pappy" O'Daniel.

Dozens of rare photographs from the Ferguson family album as well helpful hints and "amazing facts worth knowing" from the writings of "Ma" herself.

should vote for no more than four of the nine nominees. The top four vote getters will be elected to serve three year terms on the 12 member Board of Directors.

Chamber President Jap Barrett announced that Don McDonald was appointed to complete the unexpired term of Gene Stapp, who resigned from the board because he is moving from the area. McDonald will serve for two years and two months to complete Stapp's term.

Members also voted unanimously to change the Chamber By-Laws in the following ways:

The Beautification Committee was changed to the Environmental Committee with expanded responsibilities.

The annual Chamber Scholarship was eliminated and replaced by an annual Salado Service Award.

Two Salado students (one boy and one girl) will be awarded $1,000 for their service efforts within the Salado community. Of that money, $500 will go directly to the student and $500 will go to the service project of the student's choice. Also, the students' names will be placed on a plaque in the Salado Civic Center. Honorable mention recipients will receive publicity in the Salado Village Voice.

Jap Barrett discussed some of the accomplishments of the Chamber during the past year as well as continuing projects on which the Chamber will work.

The Chamber hosted a political forum for candidates before the March primaries.

The Antique Show raised $7,000 for the Chamber.

The Chamber sponsored a Memorial Day Parade with 30 entrants.

The Chamber awarded its Annual Scholarship to Chris Duzich.

The Salado Art Fair netted over $53,000.

Among problems within the village that the Chamber has worked to solve are the problems of fecal coliform in the creek, traffic and noise problems caused by construction on I-35 and security problems in the Park and throughout the village.

The Chamber board hired a park superintendent Horace Kelley to maintain Pace Park. The Chamber board also voted recently to upgrade the electrical wiring of Pace Park.

Illegal signs on highway to be removed

Political candidates and their volunteers placing signs along state highways in Bell County should look at the location before driving the stake into the ground.

State law allows only official traffic control and directional signs to be placed on highway rights of way, and the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) is prepared to remove any improperly placed signs.

"Many people, especially during campaigning, place their signs without realizing that they are on state right of way. These signs are considered safety hazards, and for the safety of the traveling public, we are removing them," said TxDOT Maintenance Supervisor Debra Rogers. "If someone is putting up a sign along a state highway and has any doubt about the location, they should call us."

For more information about state right-of-way boundaries in Bell County, persons should contact Rogers in Belton at 939-3691.

Advantages of variable annuities add up for retirement

With continuing low interest rates on fixed-income investments combined with higher tax rates, variable annuities are fast becoming a popular retirement savings vehicle for many investors.

Variable annuities are contracts between an investor and an insurance company that are designed as retirement plans. By investing in a variable annuity, you can enjoy the benefits of professional money management plus get the opportunity for tax-deferred accumulation of market returns. Of course, shares may be worth more or less than their original cost when redeemed.

The benefits of a variable annuity could add up if you're saving for retirement. Consider these advantages:

Tax-deferral: A variable annuity gives your money the opportunity to grow tax deferred, so you won't owe any current taxes until you begin receiving earnings through regular income payments or make a withdrawal. Remember, however, that annuities are designed to be retirement savings plans. Withdrawals of earnings from your annuity before age 59-1/2 may be subject to a 10 percent IRS penalty.

Mike Miller

Surrender penalties may apply to early withdrawals as well. In addition, you will pay taxes on any earnings withdrawn based on your current income tax bracket. Keep in mind that all annuities are issued by insurance companies, so annuities have insurance-related charges, which can offset some of the benefits of tax deferral.

Investment options: Most variable annuities offer you the choice of professional fund management among stock, bond, international and money market funds, as well as fixed-rate accounts. That way, you have control over how you want to invest to help reach your financial objectives and gain the potential to keep up with inflation's effect on your investment. With professional guidance, you choose the mix that best suits your needs.

No-cost, tax-free transfers: As your investment objectives change, you can reallocate your money among the various options, typically without cost or tax consequences. (The fund may limit the number of transfers).

Unlimited contributions: Unlike an

IRA that limited your annual contribution to $2,000, annuities typically have unlimited or much higher contribution limits, which allows you to shelter more of your money from current taxes. Variable annuity contributions are not tax-deductible, however.

Death benefit guarantee: In the event of your death while the contract is in the accumulation phase, the issuing insurance company will pay your beneficiaries either the full value of the policy or the full amount of premiums paid (less any withdrawals), whichever is greater. In contrast, beneficiaries of most taxable investments receive the current market value, which could be lower than the original investment.

Lifetime income: When you decide to begin receiving regular income payments, your annuity has several payout options, including regular payments as long as you or your spouse live. This payout guarantee relates to the claims-paying ability of the issuing insurance company, so it's important that your annuity is issued by a financially sound company. An investment professional can help you determine which payout option is most appropriate for you.

Village Art Center

La Mansion de Salado

The Salado Chamber of Commerce held ribbon-cutting ceremonies last week to welcome to the village La Mansion de Salado, a new Southwest and Mexican restaurant in the 1857 Tyler House on Main St. Pictured cutting the ribbon are Larry Herold, Chef Alex Aguilar and Manager Steve Scarborough, surrounded by members of the Chamber and well-wishers. La Mansion de Salado is now open serving dinner with plans to serve lunch by Nov. 1. La Mansion de Salado is owned by Gene Street.

Laney Scholarship given

The Central Texas College Foundation has awarded the Ray Stanley Laney, Ph.D. Memorial Scholarship to four students at Central Texas College: Barbara Warren, Patricia Welsh, and Joe Daniel of Killeen; Maria Rogers of Copperas Cove. The scholarship recipients will attend two seminars on the theme Hope: Beyond Survival as a part of the Institute for the Humanities Cultural and Ethnic Survival series. The late Dr. Laney was a long time member of the Institute for the Humanities and encouraged students to employ the humanities as a foundation for any career field.

For more information concerning the Ray Stanley Laney Memorial Scholarship, please contact the CTC Foundation at 817-526-1306.

limits will not be necessary as a legislative matter. Voters may put in place a do-it-yourself program for limiting the number of years a lawmaker spends on the dole. This would be called "voting."

Bush-Richards Race

The race for Governor of Texas is down to the wire and with only 27 days to go incumbent Ann Richards and GOP challenger George W. Bush are dead even. In fact Bush might be a point or two ahead depending on what poll you like.

This column said some weeks ago that it may all come down to the results of the October 21 statewide debate. That face-off or some other last minute event may very well determine who spends the next four years in the Governor's Mansion. Best to keep watching this race - it is a doozy.

Invest in an Option CD at today's very competitive rate. Then, if rates get even better, you could trade up to a higher rate. You're free to make a change any time after the first seven days. In effect, you can switch to a new CD to take advantage of a higher prevailing rate, as long as it's for the remainder of the original term of the CD.

It's simple. And it means you needn't stay on the sidelines right now, waiting for higher rates. Of course, it's a one-time-only renewal option.

First State Bank

$1,000 minimum balance required to earn the annual percentage yield (APY) quoted. APY is a current as of 9/9/94. The CD must be renewed for at least the remainder of the original term of the CD at the current rate for the renewal term selected. An early withdrawal penalty will be imposed for any renewal or withdrawal after then renewal option is exercised or made during the first seven days of the CD. Bonus rates do not apply.

Providing structure, showing interest can help better children's grades

The first milestone of the new school year has arrived — the report card. If grades need a little work, parental support can make a difference.

"Providing structure and expressing interest may be the keys to improving a child's grades," said Dr. Lou Ann Mock, a child psychologist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

"Rather than punish a child after the first report card, parents might want to take a more positive attitude of 'how can we work together to fix this problem?'"

The first step is to talk with the teacher, and then begin to implement some change at home.

One essential at home is adequate study space with good lighting and few distractions.

"A desk in a room is fine if it isn't covered with clothes and belongings," Mock said. "Many times the dining room or kitchen table works well and makes parental supervision a little easier."

Mock also encourages parents to set a specific time in the evening for studies. "Allow some time for outside play or for an after-school snack, but make television off limits until after homework time," she said.

It might be necessary to sit with a young child just starting a homework routine, but parents should pull back as soon as possible so the child can learn to work independently.

"Let your child know you have other responsibilities to take care of, but check in occasionally," Mock said. "This provides structure, but keeps you from hovering over your child."

If grades are suffering because a child claims to have no homework, Mock suggests implementing a daily assignment sheet initiated by the teacher. This system allows parents to monitor assignments and reward their child for completing assigned work.

"A minimal reward for remembering assignments four nights out of five puts the focus on the positive, not the negative," Mock said.

There are also times when a child will need help with new concepts. In families where homework has been a previous source of conflict, Mock suggests using a tag-team approach with parents taking turns working with the child. Another option, she says, is to hire a high school student or someone else as a tutor.

And if grades do not improve?

"Meet with the teacher again, and make sure you are not expecting more than the child can deliver," she said. "helping a child learn to put forth his or her best effort may be more important than a grade on a report card."

Eagles spank Hutto, 36-0 in thunder, rain & mud

The Salado Eagles won the war of the trenches on both sides of scrimmage in a rain-shortened battle with the Hutto Hippos Oct. 7. The Eagles blasted Hutto 36-0 in a downpour of rain during the first round of district play.

Salado held Hutto to 64 yards of total offense, and caused five turnovers.

Michael Sierra led the defense with 8 tackles and 4 fumble recoveries. Other defense standouts were Marshall Adams, Ryan Cooley, Brian Hill and Jerry Ratliff.

The Eagle offense rushed for 351 yards, throwing one time for an incomplete pass.

Leading the offensive charge was Joshua Goodnight with eight carries for 110 yards. Goodnight carried for the first two touchdowns in the first quarter, on runs of 30 yards and 60 yards respectively. The PATs on the touchdowns failed, giving Salado a 12-0 lead at the end of the first period.

Shane Johnston scored on a 1-yard run in the second quarter and added the 2-point conversion to give Salado a 20-0 lead in the second quarter.

Jereme Hosch carried for a 4-yard touchdown, with Rusty Wasik running in the PAT, which gave the Eagles a 28-0 lead.

Jerome Peoples, who carried six times for 102 yards, dashed 75 yards for the final touchdown of the night. Johnston ran in the PAT to give Salado its 36-0 win.

The game was called at the half after the lights were lost due to the thunderstorm.

The Eagles will face Somerville 8 p.m. at Eagle Field in the second round of district play. Somerville lost to Rogers 20-0 in the first round of play.

Coach Dan Wasik does not underestimate Somerville, which has fast and strong running backs and a huge defensive line.

"They have a great deal of talent, but I think we execute our assignments better," Wasik said. "If they jump out to an early lead, it will be difficult to overcome their momentum. If we can get an early score, it will help us."

Junior Varsity

The Salado Eagle Junior Varsity added its fifth win of the season, beating the Hutto Hippos 48-6.

Several Eagles scored touchdowns, including David Kirk and Cody Hall, who each had two touchdowns.

Other Eagles getting into the endzone were Eric Lopez, Drew Oldham, and Larry McGregor.

Beau Stewart scored 2 PATs and Hall added two PATs.

The offensive line dominated the Hippo defense. Offensive linemen who had exceptional efforts for the night were Scott Arnold, Shane Berrier and Joseph McGregor.

The defense was led by Eric Lopez, David Kirk, Courtney Dodge and Michael Combs.

The JVEagles will travel to Somerville to play at 7 p.m. Oct. 13.

8th Grade

The eighth grade Eagles continued its undefeated season with another shut-out, 24-0 over the Hutto Hippos.

Taylor Hutton scored first on a 30 yard run, followed by a Mark Weddell 2-point conversion, giving Salado an 8-0 lead.

Ryan Gillespie threw to Manuel Guajardo for a 15-yard touchdown pass. Gillespie ran in the PAT for a 16-0 lead.

Hutton carried for another 30-yard touchdown. Gillespie threw to Bradley Davidson on the PAT to give Salado its 24-0 lead.

The Eagle defense, which has not been scored upon since the first quarter of play this season, 19 quarters in all, was led by Chris Michna, Micah Drake and John McLaughlin.

7th Grade

The 7th Grade Eagles had a rough time with the Hutto Hippos, losing 2-25.

Rory Oldham returned a blocked extra point for the single Eagle score.

The Eagles were led on the defense by Larry Whitt and Rory Oldham.

The Salado 7th graders face Somerville at 5 p.m. Oct. 13 at Eagle Field, followed by the 8th grade Eagles.

Many parents get spooked when pint-sized ghosts and goblins begin their Halloween trick-or-treating expeditions. The evening can pose special hazards for young tricksters and scare the daylights out of parents, says the staff at Scott & White Memorial Hospital and Clinic in Temple.

Scott & White is one of the largest group multi-specialty practices in the United States with more than 430 physicians and non-physician scientists and 13 regional clinics throughout Central Texas.

"Halloween is a fun holiday for children, but it can be a devilish experience when accidents happen. A little planning will go a long way in preventing holiday hardships," said Patricia Rosen, M.D., Emergency Medicine specialist and assistant professor in the Texas A&M University Health Science Center College of Medicine.

"In the excitement of Halloween, some children forget the rules they have learned about crossing streets. Encourage youngsters to remember the traffic rules. Stress that they must obey the traffic lights

- even on Halloween," Dr. Rosen said.

Remind children to look both ways and not to dash into the street from between parked cars. Instruct the children to travel with a group and walk on sidewalks or close to the curb (not in the middle of the street), she added. Let children start their treat-or-treating early so they can stop before dark. Give each child a flashlight.

Halloween safety also includes using seat belts and child safety seats while driving through neighborhoods on trick-or-treating expeditions. Dr. James A. Gilbert Jr., Emergency Medicine specialist and assistant professor in the Texas A&M University Health Science Center College of Medicine, emphasized that in their excitement to go trick-or-treating, children may forget to buckle up. He also cautioned parents against letting children hang on the back of pick-up trucks and ride on bumpers as they go through different neighborhoods.

Accompany your children on their haunting journeys or enlist the aid of a responsible older sibling who can serve as an escort. Emphasize to youngsters that they should never enter any home. Tell children to avoid houses where lights are turned off.

Trick-or-treat inspection

Don't allow children to eat any treats before reaching home. Once home, carefully inspect all treats. Throw away unwrapped or loosely wrapped items. "If your child gets sick after eating Halloween candy, try to find out exactly what he or she ate and where it came from," Dr. Rosen added. Call your doctor immediately or contact your local Poison Control Center.

For parents who want an extra-close inspection of trick-or-treat candy, many local hospitals and clinics offer free X-rays. At the Scott & White main clinic in Temple, the service will be provided Monday, October 31, from 6 to 9 p.m. in the lobby of Desk R, the Physical Rehabilitation Department adjacent to the Emergency Department. X-rays can detect metal that could be imbedded in candy. It cannot detect other types of tampering, such as poison or glass, Dr. Gilbert added.

Proper fiendish attire!

Costumes should give children maximum mobility. Dr. Rosen suggests that parents consider these guidelines before the little gremlins get dressed for their night to howl:

Make sure the costume allows for easy movement and doesn't drag on the ground. This could cause the child to trip and fall. The child should wear shoes that fit well and feel comfortable. High heels, clown feet or heavy boots could cause the child to stumble.

Since most trick-or-treating is done at sundown or at night, costumes should allow the child to see and to be seen by motorists. Elaborate head dresses and rubber masks can block a child's vision. A good substitute for masks and head-dresses is face painting. Just make sure the paint is non-toxic and designed for use on the face.

Add plenty of glow-in-the-dark decals or reflective tape so the child can be easily seen at night. Let the child help decorate the costume, shoes, trick-or-treat bag and hat with reflective tape.

Costumes made of non-flammable materials are essential. If you are buying a ready-made costume, read the labels carefully to make sure the fabric is flame retardant.

This year, accessories are the ultimate horror. Pirates brandish swords, Indians carry bows and arrows and astronauts carry lasers. Don't let your little trickster carry sharp objects. Safe and attractive replicas can be made with cardboard and spray paint.

Friendly haunts

Many parents nowadays are considering alternatives to the traditional trick-or-treating treks through the neighborhoods, say Scott & White Child Life Specialists. Several families join forces to have a costume party in the backyard or recreation room with games, pumpkin carving contests, apple bobbing and ghost stories. Renting vintage scary movies, such as the original version of "King Kong" or more upbeat fare such as "Young Frankenstein," can add just the right spirit to the evening.

Make your house ghost friendly...

Neighbors should also make sure their homes are welcome. If you expect a gaggle of spooks and specters to haunt your neighborhood on Halloween night, make sure your yard is free of hazards, Dr. Rosen suggested.

Remove obstacles in the yard, such as hoses, sprinklers, lawn furniture and potted plants. Turn your porch light on to let children know they're welcome.

Keep lighted jack-o'-lanterns or candles away from the steps of the front door. A child's costume could possibly brush against the open flame and catch fire.

Pets, especially dogs, may become agitated with so many visitors. Keep your pets indoors or out of harm's way for a few hours.

Salado Volunteer Firefighters ... The People to Turn To

Steve Wesson, a carpenter by trade, has lived in Salado for 19 years. He has been a fire fighter for 15 years.

Wesson is married to Joyce. His son Hunter Wesson, is a senior at Salado High School.

Wesson has received an Appreciation Award and Service Award from the Fire Department. He has held the offices of vice-president, president and captain of the Salado Volunteer Fire Department. He is currently the Assistant Chief of the SVFD. Wesson says he has taken many fire training courses in his 15 years.

Wesson is also a previous director of the Salado Chamber of Commerce.

Steve joined the SVFD 15 years ago because, he said, there was "a serious need at the time I joined. I joined in an effort to give something back to the community that has been food to me."

Steve Wesson

Kenneth Wigley, employed by Triple M Construction, has been a fire fighter for 5 years. He has lived in Salado for 33 years.

Wigley is married. He and wife Patti have three boys: Jeremy, Adam, and Lance.

In 1990, Wigley was named Firefighter of the Year by the Salado Volunteer Fire Department.

He is an Emergency Medical Technician and has studied fire rescue at Texas A&M. He is certified in basic life support.

Wigley has been SVFD Captain and has served as treasurer (1 year), president (2 years) and crew chief (3 years) of the SVFD.

Wigley says he is a Baptist and joined the fire department because "I like to help people."

Try-outs set Oct. 16-17
for Christmas Carol

Tablerock Festival of Salado has announced auditions for their 2nd annual production of Charles Dickens' classic tale A Christmas Carol. The play was written by Gary D. Askins who will once again direct this special presentation. The auditions are open to all interested actors and crew. The script readings will be held at the Goodnight Amphitheater, on Royal Street.

Auditions will be 2 p.m. Oct. 16 and 7 p.m. Oct. 17. Scripts will be available at the auditions for review. The play has speaking roles for 10 males and 10 females including several roles for children ages 8-17. Also needed are actors for many non-speaking roles and people to work backstage with props, costumes, scenery, sound and lighting. There is an extra special call for one hearty happy individual to make a grand entrance during the plays finale as Santa Claus. All interested parties are urged to attend one or both of these auditions as the production schedule will be finalized with the play opening the night of Dec. 2.

Askins, who was in the cast of Salado's most recent production of Jackie Mills play "Salado Legends", has stated that his latest adaptation of this Christmas story has kept the true spirit of the original tale. "Just as Scrooge found the true meaning of Christmas through the visitation by various specters and spirits, so do I hope that the cast, crew and audience will discover the special gift of this marvelous season in our community.

"Last year's production met with an enthusiastic response from both cast and audience members. I have enlarged the cast required for this year's version to include most, if not all, of the incredibly talented people who have already expressed and interest in helping with the production," Askins said.

The play A Christmas Carol is scheduled for the first two weekends in December (Friday Saturday evening Dec. 2-3 and Dec. 9-10. Tickets will be $5 for adults and $3 for children. The rehearsal schedule will be primarily weekdays evenings during Nov. Interested person should call Gary Askins at 947-9066. The play's opening weekend will coincide with the annual Christmas Stroll through the Village of Salado.

NFIB names Rep. Edwards at Guardian of Business

U.S. Rep. Chet Edwards has been named "Guardian of Small Business" by the nation's largest small-business advocacy organization, the National Federation of Independent Business.

NFIB, which represents more than 600,000 small and independent firms in all 50 states including more than 37,000 in Texas, honors U.S. lawmakers who provide consistent support for free enterprise by voting favorably on key small-business issues a majority of the time during a two-year session of Congress.

Rep. Edwards's small-business voting record during the 103rd Congress, based on 10 recorded votes, was 70 percent.

Among crucial issues for entrepreneurs this session were legislative proposals dealing with balancing the federal budget, reducing government regulation, protecting small businesses from unfair bankruptcy laws, limiting taxes and restricting government intervention in small-business operations.

NFIB, is a non-profit, non-partisan organization which represents federal and state legislatures on behalf of small business. Small businesses make up about 99 percent of all American employers, hire nearly 60 percent of the work force and create some two-thirds of all new jobs.

ESP will meet Oct. 17 at FBC

The Extra Special People will meet 10 a.m. Oct. 17 in the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church. The speaker will be Joan Blum.

The title of her presentation is Bible Blooms. She will talk about plants, flowers and some word derivations mentioned in the Bible and how they originated. She will have some samples of plants to show.

Everyone in the Salado area 55 years plus is invited to attend the program. Fellowship and fun time is scheduled after the program. A covered dish lunch will be served at noon.

Recycling set

Recycling in Salado is scheduled for 9 a.m.-noon, October 22 at the IGA Village Foods west parking lot.

Paper and cardboard is 41 percent of the contents of Texas landfills. Bring newspapers, cardboard, pasteboard, magazines, catalogs, junk mail, clear and brown glass, aluminum and tin cans for recycling.

Andrea Martone and Ryon Dunlap

Martone to wed Dunlap

GINNY & JOHNNIE Martone of Jarrell have announced the engagement of their daughter Andrea Martone to Ryon Dunlap of Salado.

The prospective groom is the son of Cheryle Palmer of Del Rio and Bill Dunlap of Salado.

The couple plan a Nov. 13 wedding in Pace Park, Salado.

Commodities set for distribution at UMC Oct. 20

Commodities will be distributed 9:20-10:30 a.m. Oct. 20 at the Salado United Methodist Church. Early sign-up will begin at 8:30 a.m.

Bring your driver's license, or some identification with your picture and a utility bill with your house address NOT your post office address.
