Dr. Harold Stevenson will address Institute for Humanities March 20-21

The educational goals parents have for their children and how these influence children's development in both Asian and American cultures is the topic Dr. Harold Stevenson will examine at the Institute for the Humanities on March 20-21. Dr. Stevenson, a psychology professor at the University of Michigan, is the second speaker in the Institutes' Spring series BECOMING: THE CREATIVE JOURNEY.

Since 1979, Dr. Stevenson and his research group have conducted a series of cross-national studies of the academic achievements of children in Japan, China, Taiwan, Hungary, Canada, and the United States. He has used a variety of techniques to study the beliefs, attitudes, teaching and child-rearing practices that differentiate cultures where children display high levels of achievement from those where children do not.

Dr. Stevenson is the former director of the Institute for Child Development at the University of Minnesota. He has served as president of several distinguished organizations including the Society for Research in Child Development and the International Society for the Study of Behavioral Development.

On March 20, Dr. Stevenson will lead a seminar at the Inn on the Creek. The seminar will be 10 a.m.-3:30 p.m. and is titled

"Becoming and Achieving."

Dr. Stevenson will also offer a lecture at the Mill Creek dining room, March 21. The lecture, titled "Raising Children in Asia and the United States," will take place 4 p.m.-5 p.m. and will be followed by a discussion and dinner.

If you are interested in registering for either of these events call the Institute for the Humanities at Salado at 817-947-5729.

Meeting for youth March 25

There will be a town meeting at the school cafeteria 7 p.m. March 25 to establish a Salado Youth Corporation. This corporation is being formed for the purpose of raising money through membership dues and other fundraisers to purchase 20 plus acres of land across from the existing baseball field.

This land is needed to build a new baseball field and also to build a soccer field to meet the needs of Salado youth in the summer.

The purchase of this land is their first goal, but as soon as possible they will be building the baseball and soccer fields. New baseball and soccer fields will mean that tournaments for out town teams will be accommodated.

Long term goals of the corporation will be to build tennis courts, basketball courts and whatever the youth of Salado might need.

Current chairman is Tom Berrier. Members of the Committee are Larry McGregor, Mike Tubbs and Ed Buchanan.

Writers Round-up March 21 at Central Texas Area Museum

Writer's Round-up at the Central Texas Area Museum 1:30 p.m. March 21 will attract a star-studded cast for the annual event, Mrs. Sterling Robertson announced today.

Emceeding the event will be Ron Tyler, director, Texas State Historical Association and the following speakers will be:

Marshall De Bruhl, author of Sword of San Jacinto. A Life and Times of Sam Houston. DeBruhl's book, issued to commemorate Sam Houston's 200th birthday on March 2, is winning major reviews and has already been selected as a Book of the Month alternate, Blood Brothers is the work of Frank Vandiver, prominent historian and former president of Texas A&M.

Liz Carpenter is the author of Ruffles and Flourishes, the story of her years as press secretary in the White House during the Johnson Administration. Her book which was a best seller in 1971 has just been republished by Texas A&M Press, with a new foreword and index.

"There will be several other authors," Mrs. Robertson said, "and all of the authors will be there to autograph books."

Also on hand, to present a short medley of Texas Revolution songs, will be the G-Batts a singing group from Austin.

Tickets will be on sale at the door for $10 and for seniors and those under 18, $5 each.

Apply now for Bluebonnet Parade

The Salado Chamber of Commerce invites you to share the excitement of the the Annual Bluebonnet Festival by entering the 1993 Bluebonnet Parade.

The theme this year is "Our Texas Heritage". The festival is a celebration of Spring with a reflection of the past. The parade is the opening ceremony of the Bluebonnet Antique Show.

Honeymoon in Vegas

starring Nicholas Cage, James Caan, Sarah Jessica Parker, Pat Morita

Our rating: **

by Tim Fleischer

Honeymoon in Vegas is a great movie, if you enjoy watching Nicholas Cage scream for an hour-and-a-half. If not, pass by this loser at the video store.

Jack (Cage) loses a big, big bet with Tommy (Caan), so he has to let his fiancée (Parker) spend the weekend with the pro gambler. Of course, throughout the weekend, Jack tries to get his girl back while Tommy tries to seduce the young woman who is a double for his late wife.

From this stupid premise, Honeymoon in Vegas goes on to be a barrel of laughs . . . Not!!

Honeymoon in Vegas is one movie on which you don't want to gamble.

If you like lively discussions, just bring up the subject of gun control over morning coffee as the local chapter of the "Do-No-Gooders" did one day last week at the Stagecoach coffee shop. Everyone has an opinion on the subject especially in light of the stalemate near Waco between federal authorities and a group of religious zealots - both armed to the teeth with killing machines all the way from automatic sub-machine guns to the powerful Abrams tank.

The devotees of the National Rifle Association and other gun enthusiasts believe in the unrestricted manufacture, distribution and ownership of rifles, handguns and presumably anything else that fires a shell. Others - including supporters of the federal "Brady Bill" that is headed for passage into law - would require a waiting or cooling off period while purchasers have their backgrounds and records checked.

The NRA feels that any sort of "checking" would be the first step towards confiscation of all personal weapons. The U.S. Constitution currently permits citizens to own guns without registration or control. In fact, according to one source, there are enough guns in the country to allow every man, woman and child to own four weapons of one sort or another. And no law against it, nor is one contemplated. There are those who cannot understand why anyone would need, for hunting or display, a fully automatic assault rifle or other high powered guns of this type.

Many claim it would be impossible to control the manufacturing, distribution, sale and ultimate ownership of weapons. Like drugs, they say - "impossible to control". If this is true - then we are reaching dangerously close to the lowest point in our great American experiment in Democracy.

Registration of guns and a waiting period of seven days does not seem too onerous a burden to pay to control at least a few such weapons. At least our Governor, in a fit of logic and common sense, notified all Texans that should the current concealed weapons bill floating around the legislature ever reach her desk - she would veto it! Her move is probably based on recommendations from the Texas Police Chiefs Association and their public opinion poll that indicated 70 percent of all Texans oppose legalizing the carrying of concealed weapons.

All of this no doubt will raise the hackles of many a gun toting hunter and aficionado of weapons in general but it is a subject that needs a full airing - through unemotional debate - if that is possible!

100 Million Trees For 100 Million Tomorrows

It's all part of Hometown Trees. A very special program of your independent hometown IGA grocer, the Coca Cola Company and Louisiana-Pacific and people like you. Together we have made a commitment to plant 100 million trees across America in the next eight years. It's a commitment to the future. And to the quality of life in the cities and communities we call home.

Under the guidance of forestry experts in every region of the country, varying species of tree seedlings have been selected to insure their survival and prepared for planting. In this way the program is tailored to best meet the individual needs of the local community. With your help, we can all give a gift that will benefit our hometowns for a long, long time to come.

Pringle discusses history of Pace Park at Auxiliary

Jim Pringle, a native of Massachusetts and a resident of Salado since 1986, presented a talk on the "history of Pace Park" for members of the Auxiliary of the Salado Chamber of Commerce on March 11.

Pringle retired and moved to Salado in 1986 where he has been involved in volunteer work. He currently serves as chair of a Chamber of Commerce Committee which coordinates activities related to Pace Park.

W.A. Pace Memorial Park was created on April 29, 1946 when John Pace and his sister, Mrs. John Hodges, donated land to the citizens of Salado for use as a park.

This tract of land was a part of a 100 acre tract of land donated by Col.E.S.C. Robertson on Oct. 16, 1859 to be sold to stockholders in Salado Joint Stock Company. This company laid out the town of Salado and sold tracts to local citizens to raise money to build Salado College. This particular tract was purchased by John T. Flint and W.M. H. Stinnett who later sold it to W.A. Davis. Davis built the first mill on Salado Creek. He sold the acreage to W.A. Pace on May 12, 1888.

The Pace Memorial Park Association was formed to maintain the park and oversee its usage. This group raised funds and purchased two additional acres. A park improvement program led to building of concrete picnic tables and a barbeque pit and installing a guard light and water access.

Use of the park increased and along with it ensuing problems of litter, vandalism, driving violations, and illegal parking. In January, 1979, the park association agreed to allow the Chamber of Commerce to take over supervision and maintenance of the park.

The Chamber of Commerce erected a pavilion in the park in 1979 with funds raised by the annual Art Fair. This pavilion was named in honor of Mrs. Jamie (Lottie) Barton who served on the Park Association Board for several years.

Among others who

Salado Creek and Pace Park attract many people to the village of Salado.

worked for many years to improve and maintain the park are John Bishop, Byron Bunker, Chester Critchfield, Robert Denman and Herbert Fletcher.

The park has become increasingly popular along with nearby Salado Creek. According to Pringle, a survey done on a hot summer day found approximately 1,000 people enjoying themselves.

Overseeing the park has proven to be a heavy responsibility. The Park Association Board which has been inactive for several years is being re-organized and will resume control in the near future. Jim Pringle will serve as liaison between the Chamber of Commerce Board and the Park Association Board. Mrs. Elizabeth Moseley, a descendent of the Pace family will also serve on the board.

Pringle reported that a number of large trees in the park were destroyed by heavy winds last year. Four live oak trees have been donated and planted in the park by individuals and one organization in memory of former Salado residents The Chamber of Commerce Board is encouraging others in the community to do this. Those interested may contact Jim Pringle. Bluebonnets have been sown on the hillside below the pavilion. In addition to its natural scenic beauty, Pace Park has a rich heritage that goes back an estimated 2,000 years. Historians tell us that the Tonkawa and Kiowa indian tribes lived in the immediate area of the park at that time. The site is rich in artifacts and archeological evidence of these early dwellers.

Pringle has identified one rare tree, a Texas Buckeye, that is growing in the park.

He also told the audience that there is something mystical and mythical about Salado as it draws people here.

"Quilters" musical at Tablerock April 11

"Quilters" a Broadway musical published by Dramatists Play Service, written by Molly Newman and Barbara Damashek is coming to Salado's Tablerock Amphitheater April 17. Tickets for dinner and entertainment will be $8, $5 for just the show. The dinner will begin at 7 p.m. and the show will begin at 8 p.m. Dinner reservations must be recorded by 4 p.m. April 16.

The story is about a Baptist pioneer family and the events and people whom they encounter. As described by dramatists, "the play blends a series of interrelated scenes into a rich mosaic which captures the sweep and beauty, the terror and the harsh challenge and abiding rewards of frontier life.

Illuminating the stories contained in various patches or "blocks" with music, dance and drama, the action depicts the lot of women on the frontier: girlhood, marriage, childbirth, spinsterhood, twist-ers, fire, illness and the moving spectacle of simple human dignity and steadfastness in the face of adversity. In the end, when the various patches are assembled into one colorful quilt the effect is magical."

Students from the Fine Arts Depts. of the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor and from Central Texas College make up the cast and chorus.

For information, tickets or reservations call 939-4678 during business hours.

Lenis receives presidential scholarship

Allen Lenis, a Salado High School graduate, has been awarded a President's Achievement Award Scholarship in the amount of $10,000 from the President's Achievement Award advisory committee at Texas A&M University.

This prestigious award is payable in annual stipends of $2,500 for 4 years of undergraduate study at Texas A&M University beginning this year.

This qualifies Lenis for other scholarships that may be made available for participation in one of Texas A&M's study abroad programs any time after the freshman year.

During the first year of study Lenis will automatically be in competition for the coveted designation of "University Scholar." Those selected as "University scholars" receive an additional stipend of $2,000 per year for each of the next three years

Communication=work relations

by Steven Ervin
Salado ISD Supt.

Good human relations within the work environment depends upon good communication. We all assume that we are effective communicators. The fact, that although 50-70 percent of our time at work is spent communicating, most people are deficient in appropriate communication skills.

What are the barriers to good communication?

Varied interpretation of what has been spoken...The way individuals interpret a message depends upon life experiences. Since each individual has had a variety of experiences, we interpret the same message in different ways.

Poor Listeners ..Too often, listeners hear what they want to hear and not what is spoken. At other times we make judgments about the speaker before s/he has had a chance to express her/his thoughts.

Poor speaking skills...Talking too fast or too slowly, failure to use appropriate voice tone and inflection, poor eye contact.

Wordiness...We all love to hear ourselves talk, and sometimes incorrectly assume that others hold our words in the same high esteem.

First and foremost, good communication is hard work. It takes effort, practice, good understanding and more practice. The following tips will help you communicate better in your everyday life.

1. The most effective form of communication is face to face. It is the most direct, honest, open and sincere - traits basic to good communication.
2. Select your words carefully, and think before you speak. You need to understand what it is you are trying to communicate before you can be effective in your purpose for communicating.
3. Keep your message simple.
4. Be an attentive listener.
5. Give and seek feedback as to what is said. Open-ended questions that require more than a "yes" or "no" answer promote an exchange of thoughts and ideas, and let you know if the listener understands what you intended.

6. Look for opportunities to commend your fellow communicators on their insights, viewpoints or thoughts. People like to communicate with people who make them feel good about themselves, even though they may not have totally compatible viewpoints.

Ginnie Maes safe, reliable monthly income

No matter how you stack the investment scales, you may never find an investment that delivers 100% of everything you want. But, if you're in the market for an investment that provides monthly income, high yield and a government guarantee, you may want to take a look at Ginnie Maes.

A Ginnie Mae is an investment insured by the Government National Mortgage Association (GNMA), a U.S. government corporation. When you invest in a Ginnie Mae, you actually purchase part ownership in a pool of FHA-Insured VA-guaranteed residential mortgages.

In essence, when you purchase a Ginnie Mae, you lend money to home buyers. Your investment is returned to you in monthly payments of principal and interest as the home buyers pay off their mortgages. The timely repayment of your principal and interest is guaranteed by the full faith and credit of the United State government.

This monthly income check is one of the most popular features of a Ginnie Mae. You should keep in mind that although Ginnie Maes pay a fixed rate of interest. The dollar amount of your monthly checks may vary.

Here's why. As mortgages within your pool grow older, homeowners will pay off their mortgages or refinance existing mortgages. The amount of principal returned to you will then increase. Of course, you earn the stated rate of interest on the declining principal balance. This uneven return of principal explains why Ginnie Mae monthly payments vary. If you hold your Ginnie Mae throughout its entire life, your total principal amount will be returned. Generally, only the interest portion of a Ginnie Mae's monthly distribution is taxable, and you can redeem your shares at any time without penalties or fees.

The yield quoted on a Ginnie Mae is based on an "estimated average life." This "average life" is the theoretical time at which you would expect to have received half of your principal. Because of the many factors that affect how homeowners repay principal, actual average lives often differ from estimated average lives.

Because of the uncertainty created by mortgage prepayments described above, Ginnie Maes generally have higher yields than those available on treasury bonds and notes. In addition, a Ginnie Mae's return is generally competitive with many investments that do not offer a government guarantee. You should note, however, that the yield itself is not guaranteed by the government.

The minimum face amount of a Ginnie Mae is $25,000 with $5,000 increments thereafter, putting them out of reach for many investors. However, you can still purchase units through a mutual fund or unit investment trust for as little as $1,000 or in some instances, $100.

If you're an investor seeking income, high yield and safety, you may want to take a serious look at Ginnie Maes

SHS band, drama to perform for public

The University Interscholastic League Drama and band contests are taking place in March. As a preview for these contests, Salado High School will be presenting a program 6:30 p.m. March 22 at the Elementary cafetorium.

The program will begin with a high school band concert at 6:30 p.m. The band, under the direction of Richard Frazier, will be performing their contest program, which includes "Imme Fesch March", Blue Ridge Saga" and "Variations on Scarbrough Fair".

The band will be performing this music for criticism and rating on March 31 at M.C.C. in Waco.

Following the concert, there will be an intermission, with dessert, coffee, and tea available from the Future Homemakers of America. Profits from these goods baked by the FHA will support the FHA program.

At 7:30, the Speech and Drama Club will be presenting this year's One-Act Play, "The Happy Scarecrow". The play is a fantasy written by I.E. Clark. This year's cast includes Hunter Wesson, who plays the scarecrow looking for happiness; Amie Gillespie, a fairy who brings him to life; Nora Nelson, a witch who thinks the world has only unhappiness, and Scot Sloan, an old man who gives his philosophy of life.

The fairy also brings forth a king, played by Bill Boyd, and a princess, Lauren Hunter. To add to the search for happiness, there is a jester, played by Annalea Ray; a skunk, played by Mary Jo Robbins; and a group of little girls, played by Teresa Bush, Lisa Mitcham, Jacqueline Alcozer and Kayce Moore. A Scarehuman, played by Sharon Herring, tries to foil the search for happiness; and a man in the audience, Ricky Engleking, adds his comments.

The crew includes Yolanda Berumen, stage manager; Greg Alcozer, special effects; Chris Duzich, lights; and Marissa Lindley, sound. Virginia Guess is the director. This group will be traveling to Caldwell on March 25, to present the play at the District Contest.

Following the play, dessert will again be available.

Tickets will be $2 for adults and $1 for students.

The Steel Food Can: America's Most Recycled Food Container

(NAPS)—It's no secret that American consumers and manufacturers alike are becoming increasingly involved in the nation's recycling efforts. Although solving the country's solid waste problem won't happen overnight, there is one food package that is leading the way—the steel can.

Steel is one of the most recyclable packaging materials used today, according to the Canned Food Information Council. Used for more than 100 years, the steel can is completely recyclable and contains an average of 25 percent recycled steel.

February is Canned Food Month, a special tribute to this old standby, and a chance for consumers to rediscover the variety, convenience and quality of canned foods.

After steel cans serve their purpose as food containers, they fill yet another need as they are recycled into new steel products. Approximately 100 million steel cans are used in the U.S. every day, and more than 34 percent of those cans are recycled. The recycled steel is then used to create everything from cars, toys and appliances, to bicycles, construction materials and new steel cans.

With approximately 100 million steel cans used each day in the United States, recycling can have a significant impact. Through recycling annually, the steel industry saves the energy equivalent to electrically power 18 million households each year, according to the Steel Can Recycling Institute. The next time you finish a can of beans, soup or tuna, remember your contribution to steel can recycling is making a difference.

Besides being recyclable, food cans are also environmentally sound in other ways. Canned foods use no energy to store, cost less to transport to supermarkets than fresh foods and need less energy to cook because they already are cooked in the cans, according to the Canned Food Information Council.

Canned foods also have a long storage life, which translates to fewer trips to the supermarket and less energy consumption.

So, during Canned Food Month, and every month, remember to recycle your empty steel cans and all other recyclables.

The Canned Food Information Council offers this mouth-watering recipe packed with plenty of recyclable steel cans to remember on your next trip to the grocery store.

Spinach-Cheese Lasagna Rolls

- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 clove minced garlic
- 1 tablespoon olive or vegetable oil
- 1 can (15 ounces) whole leaf spinach, well drained, finely chopped
- 1 cup low-fat ricotta cheese
- 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 6 lasagna noodles, cooked
- 2 cans (8 ounces each) no salt added tomato sauce
- 1 teaspoon dried basil leaves
- 1/2 teaspoon dried oregano leaves
- 1 can (4 ounces) no salt added mushroom pieces and stems, drained
- 2 thinly sliced green onions and tops or minced parsley

Saute onion and garlic in oil in medium skillet until tender; add spinach and cook over medium heat until mixture is very dry. Mix spinach mixture, cheeses, egg, sugar and pepper. Spread scant 1/2 cup mixture on each lasagna noodle and roll up. Place lasagna rolls in greased baking pan, covered, in preheated 350°F oven until hot, about 20 minutes.

Heat tomato sauce, herbs and mushrooms in small saucepan. Spoon sauce onto serving plates. Cut lasagna rolls into thirds; place cut sides up on sauce. Sprinkle with green onions.

Makes 6 servings.

Bartlett garage sale set April 3

Bartlett citizens are Spring cleaning in preparation for Bartlett's Third Annual Town-Wide garage sales scheduled for April 3. The Central Texas town located at the intersection of Highway 95 and FM 487 is 20 miles south of Temple and 15 miles north of Taylor.

This annual event is sponsored by the Bartlett Area Chamber of Commerce. Shoppers throughout the state converged on Bartlett at last year's sale finding bargains of all descriptions.

Over 60 garage sales were held town-wide in 1992 with even more expected in 1993. In addition to local sales, vendors from the area will be in town offering wares ranging from jewelry to baseball memorabilia.

Out-of-town vendors are welcome to set up booths in downtown Bartlett. Spaces are available for $10. For more information call 817-527-4333.

Daniel wins award at Conference

Temple Junior College management students won 13 top awards at the 26th annual Delta Epsilon Chi Texas Career Development Conference held recently in Galveston.

TJC students won 5 first place awards, 4 second place awards and 4 third place awards. The 8 students winning first and second place awards are now eligible to advance to the national competition to be held in Orlando, Florida April 24-28.

Finalists from TJC included Saladoan Clayton Daniel in the category of human resources.

About 150 students from 14, 2-year colleges throughout the state attended the annual leadership conference and competition sponsored by the junior college division of the Distributive Education Clubs of America. Faculty sponsors are Bill Hermon and Hal Ward.

People's National Bank earns recognition, Addy

People's National Bank received several quality community service recognitions at the Independent Bankers Association of America BankCard sixth annual meeting and Users Conference, in New Orleans. Peoples National Bank was recognized with a BankCard Excellence Achievement Award.

This award recognizes the top 25 community BankCard programs, out of the over 1300 members for extraordinary and innovative community service in providing credit card programs to its customers.

Banks were grouped from IBAA BankCard members based on their bank size and identified with those with a similar number of accounts compared to their peers. Peoples National Bank was among 25 from other banks around the county honored for providing credit products for its local area, and communicating the service.

Peoples National Bank began its Visa/Mastercard program in 1990 and has a portfolio of around 3600 cardholders.

Wendell C. Williams, president of Peoples National Bank, said, "The bank was pleased to learn of the award and expresses appreciation for PNB customers for their support of the program."

Peoples National Bank has recently been recognized by the Central Texas Ad League, with two awards for marketing and advertising programs for 1992.

The bank honored with a Gold Addy Award and a Silver Addy Award, for their People To Turn To Program and for People's National Bank - Salado, Salado's Newest Bank is 85 years Old Campaign.

Judging was based on print and outdoor advertising in promoting the bank.

The Artworks Company of Copperas Cove serves as the banks creative agency.

Historic district survey set for Salado

The Salado Historical Society, through its Historic District Committee using the Guidelines approved by the community will survey the Historic District during the next few months.

The sole purpose of the committee and its use of the Guidelines is to maintain the historic beauty and integrity of the village. It is this appearance that brings visitors to our village, many just to admire its beauty, some to shop, and quite a few recently to live.

The District has been divided into 8 areas and teams of two or three members of the Committee will travel through each area noting and describing historic as well as non-historic structures, building and sites. This initial survey will evaluate structures and buildings that were started or have been completed since January 1990, and those presently under construction or renovation.

Congressman Chet Edwards Reports

DISTRICT HEALTH CARE TOUR PROVIDES VITAL INFORMATION

WASHINGTON — Early in February I embarked on a week-long tour of the 11th Congressional District looking for your views about our country's health care crisis.

My tour of hospitals and nursing homes and discussions with health care consumers have provided me with a wealth of information about your health care concerns.

Everyone realizes that the American health care system must change, but no one agrees on what the changes should be.

There is overwhelming agreement that the American people need and deserve a health care system that is accessible, affordable and offers quality care.

Several general impressions did emerge from the tour: a need for preventive medical care, controls on frivolous medical lawsuits and government regulation, containment of prescription drug costs, and preservation of the private medical care system.

I have learned that preventing illness is much less expensive than treating it. Health care experts estimate that every $1 spent on preventive medicine saves $10 on treatment later down the line.

During visits to neonatal intensive care units I saw some infants who, had their mothers received prenatal care, would have been born healthy and saved thousands of dollars in medical costs.

Liability costs and government requirements for health care providers are devouring more and more of our health care dollars. Physicians told me that malpractice insurance and complying with government regulations adds drastically to their costs — costs which are passed on to their patients. Health care experts estimate that liability costs and government regulation add more than $40 billion to the annual U.S. health care budget.

Pharmaceutical costs now consume an increasing amount of our health care dollars. Medical drugs have accomplished miracles for everything from high blood pressure to headaches. Unfortunately, the cost of prescription drugs has outstripped the inflation rate and prescription drug bills are devastating many family budgets.

The pharmaceutical industry is one of the country's most profitable enterprises. The average profit margin is 15 percent, far higher than the five to eight percent profit margin most industries enjoy. These profits come out of health care consumers' pockets and contribute to expensive health care.

Although Central Texans I talked to generally were satisfied with the medical care they receive, many opposed lowering the quality of our nation's health care system to improve access or to cut costs.

Competitiveness and a free market will help insure that people continue to receive quality health care. Historically, burdensome government interference and regulation have decreased the quality and increased the cost of health care. We must prevent history from repeating itself.

Finally, the most important message I heard was that before any plan is put into place, the input of all affected groups must be sought and considered.

Only by including doctors and nurses, insurance and pharmaceutical companies, health care facilities and, most importantly, people like you, will we be able to create a sound and workable health care system.

Health care is an issue that touches each of us at some point in our lives. I have learned a great deal about your concerns, but I know I've only scratched the surface.

For the upcoming debate on health care reform I will need to know your views, your concerns. I encourage you to write or call me with your views on how our health care system should be reformed.

Eagles claw Holland Hornets

The Salado Eagle baseball teams took both games from their counterparts from Holland last Tuesday. The J.V. team started things off with a 13-2 win.

William Culp and Shawn Easley led the Eagles at the plate. Both went 3 for 3 on the day. Shawn McRae and Josh Goodnight chipped in 2 hits.

Chris Frazier picked up the win on the mound for the Salado J.V. He pitched 3 innings allowing 2 hits and striking out 7. Goodnight pitched the last two innings striking out 5.

The Varsity team did not have as easy of a time as the J.V. did. Through the first 3 innings the game was tied 3-3.

After an out was recorded in the bottom of the fourth, Andrew Voelter signaled to start things for the Eagles. He moved to second on a passed ball and over to third on a fielders choice. Billy Wilson then singled to center that brought Voelter home and gave the Eagles the lead for good. After Wilson moved to second on a passed ball Brandon McGregor singled to drive him in.

Chris Jackson walked and Jeremy Fischer followed with a triple. Fischer scored the last run of the inning on an error. This made the score 8-3 after four innings.

Salado added to that lead with 2 more runs in the fifth. Voelter, McGregor and Chris Jackson had hits on the inning.

Each team added one run in the sixth inning and Holland registered two runs in the top of the seventh. This left the final score at 11-6.

McGregor, Voelter, and Fischer all produced two hits each for Salado. Richard Jackson pitched the first 5 innings

Sue Brunson took her oath of office as Salado's new Post Master last week.
