SHS Eagles open season against Riesel Indians

The Salado Eagles will look to thwart Riesel for the third time in as many years for the season opener of Salado High School football. The Eagles will travel to Riesel to face the Indians. In the past two season openers, Salado beat and then played Riesel to a tie, though they were picked as underdogs both times.

Being an underdog will not be something the Eagles will have to get used to, as they have been picked to finish second or third in district by wire polls.

For one thing, over a dozen players will return from last year's varsity squad, including some BIG boys. Both the Eagle offense and defense will have linemen averaging in weight over 220 lbs. Jerry Soto will return to action after sitting out last season with an injury. At 260 lbs., Soto's presence on the field will be sorely noted by defenders.

The backfield will average 190 lbs. per person with the Hosch twins, Jereme and Jason, Richard Berumen and Chris Duzich all sharing running back duties.

Salado "won" both of its scrimmages in the off-season, scoring three times on their opponents: Thrall and Crawford, which was picked to win its region.

Expect Salado to hand defeats to Riesel, Bruceville-Eddy, Holland, Rosebud-Lott, Moody, Florence, Lexington and Hutto. Look for tough matches with last year's district winners Thorndale and runners-up Liberty Hill.

The seasons starts 8 p.m. Sept. 3 in Riesel.

Salado Christmas in October

Salado's Christmas in October is just over a month away. The Salado Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary is diligently preparing for its annual fundraiser. Sprint advises of changes in long distance dialing Sprint/Centel Texas advises customers in the 817 area code they will have to change dialing procedures when placing long-distance calls within the same area code. Beginning October 10, callers will have to dial "1+817" or "0+817" and the telephone number to complete a long distance call to the 817 area code.

For example, customers in Salado placing a long-distance call to Waco can now dial "1+" the telephone number to complete the call. After Oct. 10, it will be necessary to dial "1+817" and then the phone number to compete the call.

A shortage of available telephone numbers has prompted the dialing change. "Telephone number availability is running low," explained Harold Miller, Sprint/Centel-Texas district manager in Killeen. "Population growth and advancements in telecommunications technology such as fax machines, cellular phones and multiple phone lines are the main reason the telephone number supply is being exhausted. The dialing change will provide capabilities to create new area codes thus allowing phone companies to create more phone numbers."

A three month "grace period" has been established to help callers adjust to the dialing change. Oct.

10-Jan. 19, 1994, long-distance calls placed from the 817 area code to the same area code can be competed as usual (without dialing the 817). Once the "grace period" has ended it will be mandatory to dial "1+817" or "0+817" to complete a long distance call within the 817 area code. Anyone not dialing accordingly will receive a recording instructing them to dial the call again using the 817 area code.

Sprint/Centel-Texas encourages customers to begin using the new dialing procedures when placing such long-distance calls once the "grace period" starts to make the transition easier.

Library closes for movie

The Salado Public Library will close 1 p.m., September 4, to facilitate relocation to the Old Red School House.

Patrons are requested to return all books and tapes to the library prior to Sept.

4. The library board anticipates reopening at the new location in early October.

Patrons should watch the Salado Village Voice for specific announcements concerning reopening.

Chaplin

starring Robert Downey, Jr., Dan Akroyd, Anthony Hopkins and Kevin Kline

Our rating:**

by Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

I'll put it this bluntly. The Academy Award for Best Actor was stolen from Robert Downey, Jr. for his performance as Charlie Chaplin.

Over two hours long, Chaplin is a wonderful film about Hollywood's Little Tramp, who was persecuted by Hoover and forced out of America at the height of his career.

Downey, Jr., duplicates Chaplin's physical comedy, but does much more than make you laugh. His dramatic performance is powerful stuff.

What is most amazing, however, is how Downey, Jr., is able to convince the viewer of the passing of decades which the film portrays. His performance is much more than just make-up as the viewer feels Chaplin's sense of loss and longing in this bittersweet story.

Supporting roles of Kevin Kline as Errol Flynn and Anthony Hopkins as Chaplin's biographer are also perfect. But Downey, Jr., steals the show.

Chaplin will be available on videocassette from IGA Village Foods Aug. 8. Watch Al Pacino's performance in Scent of a Woman, and compare it to Downey's Charlie Chaplin. You will see there is no comparison.

What to do with criminals . . . ?

Off the Record

by Ken Clapp

The large urban areas of Texas all have one thing in common - jail overcrowding! The law enforcement folks are apparently doing their job in a big way. Judges and juries are putting the baddies away but the state prisons are too few and too full so the jailbirds are backing up at the county levels. Down in Austin, the Travis County commissioner's court decided it was time to put up some tents to house the less violent types thus easing temporarily the glut that is watched over by the eagle eyed federal courts. Seemed like a better idea than turning the more violent cons loose on a society that is unprepared to handle the repeated assaults by these professional criminals. With all this in mind it came as a bit of a shock when problems popped up from the State Commission on Jail Standards and not the local civil libertarians.

After all - tents are good enough for our soldiers and the Boy Scouts so why the fuss? Here are some of the questions asked by the bureaucrats: "Are the tents waterproofed and are the tables and chairs and bed fireproof?" Also, "Will inmates receive food on time and have access to laundry services?" And amazingly enough the questions: "Will the cons (our word) get plenty of exercise, visits, access to the telephones as well as to educational, religious and library services?" Oh yes - there were also questions about the proper temperature in the tents as well as the lighting and warm water for showers!

When you think of what the victims of crime go through it is small wonder we cannot get worked up with pity over miscreants who might lack - for a short period of time - the right to go to the library to study lawbooks; watch TV; play games and be comfortable during the hot days of August.

Cruel and unusual punishment is outlawed, as it should be, but what was planned is a practical way to solve a short term problem and no one would be hurt in any way. Fact is we coddle criminals from the time they are young and first run afoul of the law. Then we continue this foolishness as they grow into mature bad boys and girls and finally when they do get to jail they demand and get all the niceties of home-sweet-home! And of course when they serve 10 or 12 years of a life sentence for murder, rape or habitual theft - they get a parole and we turn them loose once again on the public. The terrible amounts of taxpayers money that is spent on the system from police to courts to jails is scandalous. We cannot or do not even try to have prisoners work for the county or state to help pay back some of these tax revenues that are lost. Not work on the chain-gang but some clean-up and maintenance work. Just enough to give the ACLU fits - don't you know!

No wonder folks are mad at the entire criminal justice system up to and including the goofs that prepare the laws that drive the program.

One word on all this - humbug!

Watch Out for HR 431

An 87 word bill (HR 431) was introduced in the House of Representatives on Jan. 5, 1993 by a group of congressmen led by Henry Waxman of California. This measure needs to be carefully watched. It currently resides in the subcommittee on civil and constitutional rights of the full committee on the Judiciary

Account established for youths

A benefit account has been established at Peoples National Bank, Temple, for Eduardo Arevalo and Leonardo Vrisano, who were both seriously hurt in an automobile-bicycle accident.

The children were riding double on a bicycle, when they were struck by a 1987 Nissan. They were transported to Scott and White Hospital, where both boys were taken to the intensive care unit.

Eduardo was released to his home, but Leonardo is still in the intensive care unit in critical condition.

Any monetary donations would be appreciated to offset medical expenses for the two boys.

Basic Principles of Investing Wisely

On Aug. 10, 1992, President Clinton's economic package finally became law. The President had campaigned hard on economic issues and the inevitability of higher taxes from the beginning of his race for the Oval Office. When he submitted his reform package to Congress in February, there was both optimism and skepticism about whether his plan to reduce the national deficit and promote economic growth would emerge intact. The most controversial aspect of the President's plan quickly became the degree to which its goals relied on tax increase versus spending cuts.

The package of new laws that finally passed is composed of many of the original Clinton proposals, minus those thought too expensive or aggressive. Of course, the keystone of the new law is higher income taxes for certain individuals. As expected, the top individual tax bracket increased from 31 percent to 36 percent. In addition, taxpayers at the highest end of the income scale are now subject to an additional 10 percent surtax, bumping their rate up to 39.6 percent. The top bracket for corporations also increase from 34 percent to 35 percent. In addition, the law repeals the temporary status of rules limiting itemized deductions and personal exemptions.

Not only will many Americans pay more tax, now they'll pay it earlier, too. Withholding rates on supplemental wages, such as bonuses, increased from 20 percent to 28 percent.

One of the most controversial tax increases in the package is the 4.3 cent per gallon hike on the gasoline tax. President Clinton has pushed hard for the new broad-based energy tax, but strong opposition from Congressmen in oil-producing states forced the change to a gasoline tax.

The new law also contains a set of stimulus provisions intended to encourage job growth and ensure that the new tax increases don't impede our country's economic recovery. Although not nearly as far-reaching as President Clinton's original proposals, the surviving provision include capital gains tax relief for investments in small companies and substantial benefits to businesses operating in economically impoverished areas designated as empowerment zones. These incentives are designed to promote business activity in areas that have been hit hard by poverty, unemployment and general distress.

Away from Capitol Hill, however, most taxpayers, particularly investors, are simply wondering if they will be affected by the new law and, if so, how significantly. According to President Clinton, the brunt of the burden will fall on Americans earning more than $180,000 each year. Fortunately, there are a variety of strategies that investors can use to help offset the effects of higher taxes. Because many of the new higher rates are retroactive to Jan. 1, 1993, those affected by the law may not be able to do much about their 1993 tax bills, but smart investors will start planning now to reduce their 1994 tax liabilities.

You are what you eat

Your mother was right when she said, "You are what you eat."

Experts at the DeBakey Heart Center of Baylor College of Medicine and The Methodist Hospital in Houston agree what we eat plays an important role in reducing heart disease risk, controlling high blood pressure and diabetes, and preventing and treating obesity.

Eating for good health does not require large doses of vitamins and minerals or purchasing special foods, according to Lynn Scott, R.D. director of Baylor's Diet Modification Clinic and co-author of "the Living Heart Diet" and "The Living Heart Brand Name Shopper's Guide."

The key to healthy eating, Scott said, is eating a well-balanced diet that includes a variety of foods.

For healthy eating, Scott recommends following the basic, daily guidelines of the American Heart Association and the National Cholesterol Education program:

* Less than 30 percent of calories from fat (To determine grams of fat of the whole day, multiply your daily calories by 0.30 and divided by 9).

* Less than 10 percent of calories from saturated fat such as meat fat, poultry skin, butter, fat in dairy products, tropical oils, cocoa butter and coconut. To determine grams of saturated fat for the whole day, divide total daily grams of fat by 3.

* Less than 300 milligrams of cholesterol.

* 50-55 percent of calories from carbohydrates such as bread, cereal, pasta and starchy vegetables.

* 15-20 percent of calories from protein.

* Five servings of fruits and vegetables, preferably fresh or frozen.

* Consume total calories to reach and maintain desirable body weight.

In addition, Scott recommends that daily servings of meat, poultry and fish total no more than 6 ounces, cooked, and that dairy products be low-fat or fat-free. People who need to lower cholesterol should limit egg yolks to three a week.

Recent research indicated antioxidants (vitamin A, C and E and beta carotene) may help reduce risk for cancer, immune diseases, cataracts, aging and heart disease. Scott recommends selecting foods that are concentrated sources of these substances when choosing vegetables and fruits. Carrots, broccoli, spinach, yams, oranges, bananas and pumpkin are good choices.

"It is much better to get the vitamins and minerals we know are beneficial from food rather than from supplements," Scott said. "Supplements can cause side effects and consuming too much of some vitamins and minerals can be toxic."

Adhering to a healthy eating life-style requires more awareness than effort, Scott said. "Be aware of the fat content of food and choose those that are lower in fat. For example, select meats that are roasted, grilled or baked instead of fried.

"Choose a wide variety of lean meat, low-fat or non-fat dairy products, fruits, vegetables, bread, cereal pasta, starch foods and limited amounts of oil and margarine,--just as your mother told you."

The DeBakey Heart Center is a joint program of Baylor College of Medicine and The Methodist Hospital supporting cardiovascular research, treatment and education.

Learning acceptance may be answer to life's problems

by Steven Ervin
Salado ISD Supt.

At the root of life's many problems, anxieties and discontent is a lack of acceptance - acceptance of self, our situations and others. Learning acceptance is a fundamental need in the pursuit of a positive and productive attitude.

1. Learn acceptance of self. When we accept the realities of our limitations whether in regards to physical or cognitive abilities, we are better prepared to focus in on maximizing our personal areas of strength and refining those attributes and competencies which realistically can be altered and improved.

2. Learn to accept others. While we can choose our friends and some of our associates we cannot choose the people we must work with, which includes peers, parents and teachers. One person at a time you can improve your acceptance of others and will find in time that more people have increased acceptance and tolerance of you. Remember, respect and acceptance of others in the greatest reflection of respect and acceptance of yourself.

3. Accept situations - there is nothing wrong with displeasure about situations in life, whether they are merely specific occurrences or long term situations. However, before any movement for improvement in a situation can be made it is essential to have a sound footing in the reality of the current situation.

4. Accept responsibility - in our jobs and our lives we all have much more control than what we sometimes like to admit. When things don't go our way we are often inclined to blame outside sources and uncontrollable circumstances. In some situations, this will be undeniable true - however - much of what happens to us we can control through preparation, effort, good judgement and planning.

5. Accept loved ones - we all have "ideals" related to our mates, children and family. Communicate to them that you love them for who and what they are. Guidance, direction and support should never turn into criticism, judging and unrelenting pressure.

6. Accept your biases - we all have them. In our profession there are always some characteristics and personalities which we find difficult to accept. By recognizing our biases we are less likely to act upon them and can make a conscious effort to insure that they do not interfere with effectively working with and the caring of, each child under our responsibility.

Methods are habits of the mind and economies of the memory.

SU announces '93-94 season

The Boys Next Door, Much Ado About Nothing, Big River and Machinal, will be produced in South western University's new Jesse H. and Mary Gibbs Jones theater during the 1993-94 season.

"I love this season! I think it's one of the best we've chosen in a number years," said Dr. Richard Hossalla, chair of SU's Department of Theatre and Communications. "Now that we've settled into our new theater space and have become comfortable producing in that space, we are going to take a deep breath and get on with a series of excellent shows."

The Boys Next Door is a contemporary comedy about four men who are mentally retarded. They live in a communal residence under the watchful eye of a sincere, understanding social worker.

The Boys Next Door opens the season in the new Jones Theater, with 8 p.m. showtimes on Sept. 30, Oct. 1, 2, 6, 7, and 9 and a 2 p.m. matinee on Oct. 10.

Next up is Much Ado About Nothing, Shakespeare's enduring comedy, which centers on the duel of wits between Beatrice and Benedick, who parry insults until they are forced by friends to admit they love one another. The play, featuring one of the theatre's comic characters, Dogberry, will be set in the 20th Century.

Much Ado will be performed at 8 p.m. Nov. 11-13 and Nov. 18-20 with a 2 p.m. matinee on Nov. 21.

Big River, with music and lyrics by the "king of the road," the late Roger Miller, is shaping up as a joint project between SU's Department of Music and Department of Theatre. This Tony-award-winning musical that dominated Broadway for two and a half years is based on Mark Twain's classic, The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn. And what better time to talk about life on the muddy Mississippi than the year the river became truly Big and BAD.

Big River plays at 8 p.m. Feb. 11-12 and Feb. 17-19 1994 and at 2 p.m. Feb. 13 and 20.

Rounding out the season is Machinal, one of the first expressionistic plays that deals with women. The production, named for a notorious, contemporary murder case, aroused considerable controversy when it was first produced in 1928. It deals with a hero who is referred to only as Young Woman, who is numbed by banal society and restricted by the mechanized world around her. Not surprisingly, Machinal received universal critical acclaim when it was revived in New York in 1990.

Season tickets for adults are $16 and $10 for students. To order tickets, contact the SU Box office 1-5 p.m. Mon-Fri at 512-863-1378. The box office is now open. Individual tickets are $7 adults, $5 for students.

More than 1,000 neighborhoods are expected to participate by satellite and cable television in the Republican Neighborhood Meeting scheduled for Sept. 7.

Channel America will make the television broadcast available to 12 million homes.

The national Republican Neighborhood Meeting will explore "What does it mean to be a Republican?" when it broadcasts from Springfield, Illinois.

Republican National Committee Chairman Haley Barbour, Illinois Governor Jim Edgar and Republican Neighborhood Meeting chairman Lamar Alexander will lead the national discussion with neighborhoods participating by satellite and cable TV.

The broadcast will begin at 8 p.m. EDT. Special messages from Republican leaders begin at 7:40 p.m., followed by the monthly Republican Women's Satellite Newsletter at 7:45 p.m. EDT.

In 1858, Abraham Lincoln was quoted in South-ern Illinoisian as having said, "I think too much reliance is placed in noisy demonstrations...they excite prejudice and close the avenues of sober reason. The 'home production' principle in my judgement is the best. You... and others whose hearts are in the work should quietly form your plans and carry them out energetically among your own neighbors. You perceive my idea; and I really think it the best."

There are three ways to participate in the Republican Neighborhood Meeting: 1.) Find a satellite dish, invite your friends and neighbors. 2.) Call you local cable company and ask it to carry the meeting. 3.) Tune in Channel America by satellite or in 83 cities by cable.

Satellite Coordinates for Sept. 7: C-Band; Galaxy 4, Transponder 9 or Ku-band: Galaxy 4, Transponder 38 (8 lower).

For more information contact Nancy Boston, chairman Bell County Republican Party. In Salado, contact MaryBelle Brown, precinct chairman.

To perceive things in the germ is intelligence.

Cookies To Bake And Take —

For most kids (and many grown-ups), the best part of lunch is dessert, and cookies earn an A+ for taste and portability.

Moist and fruity Applesauce Raisin Chews are the perfect brown-bag cookie. Kids will love their soft chewy texture and cinnamon-apple flavor. Moms will appreciate the wholesome goodness of whole grain oats and the fact that applesauce replaces some of the sugar. These oatmeal cookies are also easy to make. Mixed in a single bowl, the dough is "dropped" onto cookie sheets and baked.

Watch the kids eat 'em up!

Applesauce Raisin Chews

- | | |
|--------------------------------------|---|
| 1 cup (2 sticks) margarine, softened | 2 cups all-purpose flour |
| 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar | 1 teaspoon baking soda |
| 1 cup applesauce | 1/2 teaspoon salt (optional) |
| 1 egg | 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon |
| 1 teaspoon vanilla | 2-1/2 cups Quaker oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked) |
| | 1 cup raisins |

Heat oven to 350°F. Beat margarine and sugar until creamy. Add applesauce, egg and vanilla; beat well. Gradually add combined flour, baking soda, salt and cinnamon; mix well. Stir in oats and raisins. Drop by rounded tablespoonfuls onto ungreased cookie sheet. Bake 11 to 13 minutes or until light golden brown. Cool 1 minute on cookie sheet. Remove to wire rack; cool completely. Store covered at room temperature. About 4 dozen and also in the sub-committee on select education and civil rights of the main committee on education and labor.

The proposed law is styled "A Bill to Prohibit Discrimination On Account of Sexual Orientation." The short two page plan would, if passed, prohibit discrimination in employment, education, credit, housing, sale of goods and services or use of a public facility or federal assistance programs to a person because of sexual orientation - actual or perceived!

What actual or perceived means is a bit of a mystery but the end result of all this is that you could not say no to such a person if they wanted to rent your home, buy your home, borrow money from your bank or seek a job you might have open. It would raise homosexuality to the level of race and gender in civil (rights) litigation cases. Penalties would be stiff and the burden of proof would be on the accused.

It is not necessary to go into the problems associated with such a measure.

Important thing right now, if you are so inclined, is to contact your congressman Chet Edwards (328 Cannon Building, Washington D.C. 20515-4311) and if it gets to the Senate contact both Phil Gramm and Kay Hutchison. Let these elected officials know your feelings concerning such legislation as this. It is bad legislation and sets a precedent that could lead to a further growth of a nasty and fast spreading social problem in this country.
