Civic Center Auction gavels March 15 with barbecue dinner

Plans are completed for this Saturday's Fourth Annual Civic Center Auction to be held at the school cafeteria on Thomas Arnold Road starting with a scrumptious meal at 6 p.m. March 15 and followed promptly at 7 p.m. when auctioneer Bill Hall gavels the kickoff of the sale of special items that have been donated by Salado merchants and residents.

The meal, fit for royalty, will consist of sirloin beef, barbecued chicken, sausage. beans, potato salad, relish, cole slaw, homemade bread, tea, coffee and for dessert, home baked brownies.

MEAL TICKETS $7.50

Cost of the meal and auction is $7.50 with tickets reaing on sale at the Civic Center, Compass Bank and First State Bank through Friday. Tickets will be sold at the door starting at 5:30 p.m.

This year's auction will feature the always popular "Silent Auction" which already contains interesting and usable items that have been donated by a number of Saladoans.

Auction Chairman Lloyd Parks noted that this year's auction is expected to the "best yet" due to the large number of special items that have been received from village merchants as well as residents. "There will be something for every taste and interest which we hope will spur bidding to new heights," Chairman Parks noted. "And we hope to raise enough money to pay for more than half of the cost of the massive paving project that is taking place at the Civic Center."

Due to the increased use of the civic center by larger and larger groups, the parking lot has not been able to accommodate the numbers, so the Foundation board voted to triple the size of the carpark at a cost of over $20,000.

Compass Bank is handling the loan, and it is hoped by Foundation Board members that sufficient revenue from the auction will allow the loan to be cut at least in half or more, with the balance to be repaid from the 1998 auction.

Clearing the Air

ate last year the Environmental Protection Agency unveiled a set of proposed new air-quality standards which, predictably, have reignited the entire debate over how best to ensure that the air we breathe is clear, clean and healthy.

The new regulations, aimed at ridding the air of harmful ozone and microscopic particles smaller than dust, would impose significant new regulatory requirements on hundreds of communities nationwide. These include five areas in Texas which are in compliance with current law: Tyler-Longview-Marshall, Austin, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, and Victoria; as well as Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston, Beaumont-Port Arthur and El Paso, which still are attempting to meet current requirements

This could result in yet stricter mandates that would have an impact on many areas of our lives: the utilities that generate the energy we consume, the factories where we work, the dry cleaners who clean our clothes, as well as our automobiles, motorboats, leafblowers, lawnmowers and barbeque

Yes, folks, the worst-case scenario: In order to achieve a standard which has yet to be proven to have a scientific basis, the time-honored tradition of Texas barbeque is threatened with federal regulation.

Moreover, communities found to be in non-compliance with the new regulations may face penalties including the loss of federal highway funding and the imposition of federally mandated compliance measures. The stakes in this debate are high, indeed.

Congress is trying to determine if the new rules can move us toward a sensible environmental policy that preserves all the gains we've made over the past two decades - without going to excess, and without imposing a costly, unbearable burden on our communities.

Complicating the problem of regulating particulates in the air generated by such activities as barbeques is the fact that there is no credible science to guide the EPA as to what size particles are the principle cause of health

The EPA's own scientific advisory committee has concluded that the same public health benefits could be achieved under an alternative standard which would not throw so many cities into a state of financial havoc. Some believe the EPA's decision to impose the specific new standards it chose was based on policy and political considerations rather than sound science. It would be wiser, in my view, to encourage the EPA to adopt standards that are

And the good news is, overall, our air quality is improving annually desp Texas* booming population growth and the increasing number of vehicles on our highways.

There are valid public health and environmental concerns in play here. I remain committed to the goal of cleaning up our air. But I believe we have to find ways to do so that are reasonable and effective, rather than arbitrary and in some cases, virtually impossible to accomplish

Renting out the White House is not new, but none have gone to extent of Clinton

"I have done nothing wrong or illegal."

"And I promise never to do it again."

Excerpt from VP Al Gore's press conference on fund raising - March 3, 1997

The tawdry business of fund raising through the medium of renting out the White House by both parties over the years is not a brand new phenomenon.

The Republicans, when in power, rewarded large donors with dinners, coffees and overnighters at the Executive Mansion (real name of the White House) but GOPers never came even close to the extent that Clinton and his sycophants have achieved with their indefensible scrounging for "soft" money gained from well heeled contributors who "bought" rides on Air Force One; hosted nearly a thousand high priced sleep-overs at the White House; offered meals with the "first family" and goodness only knows what else, all on a "for rent\sale" basis in order to raise funds for the Clinton reelection campaign.

The scope of this fund-raising-gone-berserk is far beyond the normal political activities of a President or Veep and have caused deserved embarrassment for Democrats and knee slapping- chortling glee for others.

All of the "hows", "whys" and "wherefores" about seeking campaign monies from sources that boggle the mind are being unrolled almost on a daily basis, including funds from The Peoples Republic of China; a Buddhist Temple in California filled with monks who had taken the vows of poverty but still coughed up thousands of campaign bucks; Indonesian dollars laundered to the Democratic National political committee and of course the ever present big domestic business interests who unabashedly sought insider advantages by pouring millions into both party's campaign coffers and continue to do so to this day.

This is disgraceful and even the soiled excuse that "everyone is doing it" or "nothing illegal has been done" won't wash.

Even worse is the hypocritical stance taken by most all concerned - from the White House to the Congress, that we need to have campaign reform to solve this money grubbing "win at any cost" problem, when you and I know there never will be campaign reform as long as there are groups willing to pass out money for special favors and elected officials happy to stuff the bucks into their collective pockets.

amount of time taken away from governing the nation, by Clinton and his staff, in order to raise the millions the Demos felt were needed to keep the Repubs at bay. Excellent point!

All this makes one wonder if a law limiting the President's term to a single six year adventure would keep some of these campaign fund raising irregularities to a minimum?

WISE LOCAL OBSERVATION

The Salado branch of the infamous "Do-No-Gooders" fraternity (They meet at the Stagecoach Coffee Shop with alarming regularity as you well know) stumbled over what is believed to be the clear and present danger to this nation that has come out of the foibles of the current campaign fund raising scandal.

The DNGers wisely pointed out to each other that the thing that worries them most about the mess uncovered over questionable fund raising; misuse of the White House; elected officials with their hands out to lobbyists and other characters of low esteem plus the ever present uncaring government waste - is that none of these things seem to be having a negative effect on a majority of our citizens!

Polls indicate well over 50 percent of Americans today more or less expect their elected officials to screw things up either illegally or without a thought to the right, wrong, moral or ethical side of any question.

Citizens are taking a sort of "ho-hum, business as usual" attitude since they have heard it all, either on TV or in the

Thompson reports for duty

Navy Lt. Steven D. Thompson, son of Keith R. and Mary F. Thompson of Salado, recently reported for duty at Naval Air Reserve, Naval Air Station North Island, San Diego.

Thompson's new assignment is an example of how Navy and Marine Corps men and women are assigned to ships, squadrons and shore commands around the world. Whether serving in the Persian Gulf near Iraq or in the Adriatic Sea near Bosnia, people like Thompson are making a difference as they work to improve their knowledge and skill as part of the most highly technical naval force in history.

The 1981 graduate of Temple High School joined the Navy in August 1983. Thompson is a 1992 graduate of Regents College, Albany, N.Y.

Case is given for and against Gov. tax plan

by Bob Stallman, President, Texas Farm Bureau

t's only natural, I suppose, that the debate over Governor Bush's property tax relief proposal is being framed in terms of "winners and losers." That, however, misses the point.

Often overlooked is the fact that the property tax will not be able to carry the burden of funding Texas schools much longer. From 1984 to 1994, property taxes more than doubled, while the property tax base actually declined. The property tax is close to being have not been paying very "tapped out" as a viable source much in the way of taxes to of funding.

If we stick with the property tax, it will not be many years before the Legislature will have to raise the $1.50 cap on burden around a little better. tax rates. Many homeowners of capital investment feel property taxes are already outrageous. Can you image the outcry if taxes continue to go up property Homeowners are worried that another doubling of the tax in the next decade could be more than many of them can pay. Farmers and ranchers are concerned that the tax bite could farm families from the land. Many first-time homeowners fear that excessive property taxes will rob them of their dream of home ownership. Many capital intensive businesses are seeing profits and jobs disappear to excessive taxation.

by John Cole President Texas Federation of Teachers

efore Texans applaud the governor's tax plan, we should ask the force the next generation of important question- "Who pays?"

Governor Bush's proposal would shift much of the support of schools away from the property-tax payer and on to the sales-tax payer. This may prove a popular move, because the sales tax is in some ways a "hidden" tax. You never see a Some Texas businesses that statement telling you what your annual sales-tax bill is. On the other hand, every home owner and business owner gets to see a property-tax statement each year summing up the annual cost of property taxes. Since the sales tax is paid out in smaller doses, people seem to overlook the sales-tax burden more than the property-tax payment. Thus, Governor Bush is hoping that people will remember the property-tax cut and forget about the increase in consumer taxes.

> Bush's new "business activity tax" is also a sales tax, in a way. Businesses would pay a tax on their "business activity," and the new tax would be passed on to consumers as price increases. This tax would be even more well-hidden than tax amount would ring up on the cash register.

So who gains under this

Big winners in this tax shift would be the owners of valuable property, such as oil wells, oil refineries, large office buildings, or big industrial factories. Since these industries presently pay property taxes but pay little or nothing in the way of sales taxes, these folks are big winners in the governor's tax shift.

The losers in the governor's tax plan are the people who buy consumer goods. Generally speaking, the middle-class working people of the state pay the sales taxes, and they would have to make up much of the money used to provide the property-tax relief.

Although sales taxes don't seem as unpopular as the property tax, most economists think they are much more "regressive." That is, the sales-tax burden falls most heavily on those least able to pay. In addition, property taxes can be deducted from your federal income tax, while sales taxes cannot. That's why, under the governor's tax shift, those who pay sales tax would see their tax burden go up in order to provide relief for property-tax payers. We need to change our the sales tax, because no extra tax structure to be more fair, not less so.

> Also, the governor's plan creates another major complication in an already complicated school finance system. Texas schools generally are financed by local property taxes. and any change in the property-tax structure would throw our school-finance system out of kilter. The present schoolfinance system leaves much to be desired, but tinkering with this system around the edges will only invite the courts to start meddling in this business

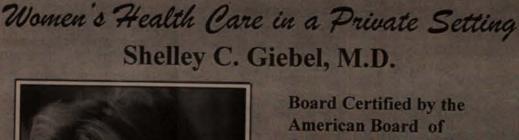

Texans must not forget their history lessons on this subject. About 10 years ago the Texas system of school finance was declared unconstitutional because the funding system was so unfair. The problem was that a kid living on one side of the street in San Antonio might have access to a top-quality school with all that money could buy, while a kid living on the other side of the street was forced to attend a dirt-poor school lacking even the most rudimentary facilities. The courts threw out the school-finance system and ordered the state to come up with a plan that guarantees every child at least a certain level of educa owners of Gregory's of Salado, have donated an original oneof-a-kind creation that is destined to be the "just right" Christmas gift and decoration for some lucky family.

BIDDING.....for the beautiful handmade quilt shown above is the subject discussed by three principals of the forthcoming Civic Center Auction slated for March 15 at the school cafeteria. Auctioneer Bill Hall (above right) will gavel the start of the proceedings following a 6 p.m. meal that features sirloin beef, barbecued chicken, sausage and all the trimmings. Patsy Sanford, creator of the quilt and member of the Civic Center Foundation that is hosting the fund raiser is shown above with Foundation President Bob Cottle, Funds from this fourth annual auction will go directly to help pay for the massive paving project that is taking place at the Civic Center which will expand the carpark so that larger numbers of vehicles can be accommodated.

The donation is a Santa Claus seated in a willow rocker surrounded and enhanced with flowers and ribbons. It was created by Cynthia Whitemire, renowned California artist.

Retail value of the gift is $650 and for those who like to plan ahead for the winter holiday seasons this is a "musthave" item.

The charming Santa can be seen at the Civic Center through Friday of this week and then will be displayed at the auction prior to the start of bidding.

MORE FANTASTIC AUCTIONABLE ITEMS

As the days dwindle down to this Saturday evening's auction, the number of gifts and special donated items continues to grow including: First State Bank donated the Chili Supper at the Jennings Home which was featured in last week's Salado Village Voice. First State Bank also plans to give the Civic Center an annual grant to go towards maintenance and operation.

Bob Cottle gave a brand new table and chair combination just right for the young student. He also donated a dirt bike in first-class condition.

A two-night stay at the famous YO Ranch by the Charles Schreiner family here in Salado. The highly prized event features two nights for four people at the Kerrville, Texas ranch and includes three meals a day as well as a tour of the famous YO Ranch wildlife range.

Fern Vickery has given pot plants; a $50 gift certificate from Susan Marie's shop; Jenny Medlin who operates the Cowboys, Indians and Outlaws shop has donated a leather belt and Ethel Jones of the Ladies T-Box is giving a golf shirt and short set.

Dick and Dorothy Westlake have donated a butterfly house which is one of the more unique items that will be auctioned off this Saturday evening.

Added to the famous baked goods that will be sold to the highest bidder is one of Ruby Townsend's great cakes.

A very nice donation from Sir Wigglesworth has been promised as well as a convection oven given by Mary Hill; great eats in the forms of brownies by Lois Shepperd; two pecan pies from the kitchen of Jo Griffitt, and Mary Belle Brown's renowned strawberry bread.

BREAKFAST FOR TEN

Robert and Elinor Tope have donated a special breakfast for ten people at their Bed and Breakfast establishment -The Country Place out on the Holland Road.

Other really neat items that have been received for the auction early this week include: a framed painting and two collector item china plates featuring the famous "Dog Days" etchings, given by Patty Campbell.

Also, a Smith-Corona electric portable typewriter from Jim Patterson and a stereo with speakers donated by Martha Harper.

A total of nearly 75 gifts have been donated thus far to the Fourth Annual Civic Center auction and Foundation board members are in hopes that more donations will be given this week in order to have a wider than ever selection of items that will attract a new high in bidding in order to raise funds for the parking lot paving project.

The Civic Center Foundation operates and maintains the popular civic center through funds received from leased space to the Salado Public Library, Salado Chamber of Commerce, Salado Historical Society and the Salado Independent School District as well as from short-term day rentals to a wide variety of groups that use the center for meetings.

Other income to the Foundation comes from special grants given by the Chamber of Commerce, the Ladies Auxiliary, Compass Bank, Garlyn and LaJuan Shelton, First State Bank, Sprint-Centel Telephone Company and the Salado Lions Club.

Bob Cottle, president of the Foundation, noted that with the increased use of the civic center, cost of maintenance and operation continue to rise, thus forcing the board to budget higher amounts each year to keep up with the normal wear associated with the heavy use of any public building.

It is through the leases, rentals, grants and the annual auction that the Foundation is able to provide a first-class meeting place for the citizens of Salado as well as visitors who hold meetings in the center.

The Foundation Board is in hopes that many Saladoans will take part in Saturday's auction to help maintain and operate a great civic center that is considered to be one of the great success stories in recent years - namely the renovation of the old high school building through contributions, grants, special gifts and the dedicated work of many citi-

The Civic Center Board includes: Ken Clapp, Chairman of the Board; Bob Cottle, Foundation President; Lloyd Parks, Vice President for Finance; Wilma Williams, Secretary and special committee chairmen Pete Jennings, Jim Patterson and Patsy Sanford.

Homes needed for area stray dogs

by John Eubanks

A group of Salado residents have banded together to help find homes for about 100 dogs that an elderly woman simply cannot take care of anymore.

The woman is a friend of Susan Stockton, owner of Sir Wigglesworth, who teamed with store employee and fellow pet lover Gwen Dalton, among others.

The elderly woman has taken in stray and unwanted dogs for quite some time at her place, located between Bartlett and Holland. But the cost and effort of taking care of so many dogs was more than she could

"She asked us to help reduce her dog population," Dalton found. Most of the dogs adopted are the younger and smaller ones.

"I think we've made a big step," Dalton said. "We still have a long ways to go, but it's going."

Her group has received help from veterinarians Dr. Jon Kendall of Salado Veterinary Hospital and Dr. Warren Dunn in Belton. The dogs receive rabies shots and worm medicine, and some are tested for mange.

"We made a huge effort the first day (about two weeks ago)," Dalton said. "We got 25 dogs and just lined them up and got shots and worm medicine."

Some of the dogs are kept at a makeshift kennel in Salado, where they can be viewed before adoption. They mix with the Dalton and Stockabout 40 of the dogs had been ton dogs while adapting to a p.m. (947-8876).

new environment.

Dalton is hoping that exposure by the news media will help the group's cause. After an article on the situation was printed in the Killeen paper last week, five dogs were adopted in two days. Food also was donated.

The elderly woman's kennel can accommodate only about 25 dogs. Only her "babies" will remain behind.

"Our goal is to adopt all the dogs except for her special ones," Dalton said. "The lady has no money, and what she has, is going to feed these

Eagles split baseball games

The Salado Eagles baseball team split two games during the week of March 3-7 to even their season record at 2-2.

Rain forced the March 10 start of the Salado Tournament to March 11, weather permitting. The tournament was scheduled to conclude March 12. Salado resumes play after spring break with a March 18 game at home against Rosebud-Lott.

The Eagles edged Belton's junior varsity 1-0 on March 4 behind the pitching of Chris Frazier. The senior righthander (2-1) pitched a three-hitter and struck out 17.

He and the Belton pitcher dueled for six scoreless innings, until the Eagles scored the game's lone run in the bottom of the seventh and final Salado loaded the bases that inning as Belton committed three infield errors on ground balls by Clint Carroll, Eric Lopez and Chris McGregor.

Daniel Palmer then slapped a single to right field to score the winning run.

The Eagles followed that win with a 2-1 road loss to Bartlett March 7.

Salado surrendered both runs in the bottom of the first inning, as Bartlett used an infield hit, a Salado error and a sacrifice fly to score all the runs they would need. Only one of the runs was earned.

Salado scored its lone run in the seventh inning and had an opportunity to score more.

Softball team opens season with loss

The Salado High softball team opened the season at home March 3 with an 11-4 loss to Cameron.

The Lady Eagles could not overcome a five-run fourth inning. Their big inning was a three-run fifth.

"For the first game it wasn't a bad outing," coach Alan Haire said. "We have to work on fundamentals and hit the ball more.

Salado' top hitters were Kim Peckham (1-for-2), Nicki Jackson (a triple) and Mary Soto (1-for-4, a run scored and a run batted in). Crystal Edmondson drew three walks.

Stacy Krueger pitched the first five innings and took the loss. Shellie Dillon pitched the last two innings.

Results of local track meet not available yet

Results from the Salado high school and junior high track meets March 7-8 were not available at press time. Results are expected to be in the March 19 issue.

Lopez started the inning with a single and advanced further when Chris Michna reached base on an error.

David Berumen collected two hits. Salado also received another fine pitching performance as Roger Buckley, Jon Phelps and Michna combined to allow only one hit and strike out nine.

team kicked off its season by winning two of three games during the past week.

The JV opened with a 10-5 loss to the Belton freshman as David Palmer collected three

The two victories came in the Salado JV Tournament March 6-7. Salado won the opening game, 10-4, over Academy. Michael Gunter and Michael Scheopf both collected two hits.

Troy Smith and Gunter Bartlett then got the final combined on the mound for the victory.

In the championship game, the Eagles defeated Rosebud-Lott 11-3. Salado collected only five hits on the night, but numerous R.L. errors led to the high score.

Palmer pitched the first five innings, striking out 10. Adam Nuse pitched the last inning The Salado JV baseball and struck out two.

Golf teams compete in recent tournaments

The Salado High girls golf team participated at a tournament in Burnet March 3. No team finishes or individual rankings were available.

Jenny Hanson shot a 118 to lead Salado. She was followed by Lori Matthews (124), Shellie Grimm (131) and Mollie Garner (141).

The Salado High boys team was scheduled to participate in a tournament March 6 in Local Presbyterians to be given charter

Salado Presbyterians plan to attend the Presbytery meeting and be present when Grace Presbytery votes to grant a church charter to the local congregation. Grace Presbytery will meet March 15 at the First Presbyterian Church in Dallas. A presbytery committee met in Salado with the local group and has recommended granting the charter. The vote which will be taken on March 15 will be the official action which will establish the Presbyterian Church of Salado.

In the Presbyterian denomination, the governing body is the presbytery, and although local churches enjoy great autonomy, all local churches are subject to the presbytery. The Salado church is a member of Grace Presbytery whose geographical area covers most of North, East, and Central Texas.

The local congregation held its first worship service on March 10, 1996. Services are held at 10 a.m. in Allen Hall located on Pace Park Drive behind the Inn of Salado. Billy P. Smith, ThD., an ordained Presbyterian minister, was the organizing pastor, and has been called by the Salado congregation to be the pastor of the new church when it is chartered.

The organizational service and worship will be held at the Salado Civic Center 3. p.m. April 27. Members of Grace Presbytery and pastors and members of area Presbyterian churches will be present. Residents of Salado are invited to attend this service and welcome the newly chartered Presbyterian Church of Salado to our community.

Childhood is SHS 1-Act Play

The Salado High School One-Act Play Team has been selected for this year's University Interscholastic League contest.

This year's Salado entry will be "Childhood," written in 1960 by Thornton Wilder. This playwright is best known for his acclaimed full-length play "Our Town."

Rita Brown, Virginia Guess and Gary Askins served on the election committee and had a difficult task selecting from the many students who went through the audition process. "We were faced with the delightful yet daunting task of choosing from a very talented pool of student actors and technicians," said Askins, this year's faculty advisor and di-

Elizabeth Boyd is this year's student director and stage manager. Elizabeth is an honor roll senior who appeared in last year's one-act play and also assisted with Tablerock's "Salado Legends."

"This is really Miss Boyd's show," Askins said. "She is so organized and dedicated to presenting a quality program, I've really enjoyed working with her."

Kurt Salisbury, who will play the father in "Childhood," is also a Salado senior honor student, and this will be his fourth year to appear in the annual production. Last year he was named to the All-District cast for his work in "The Cop and the Anthem."

Carrie Puckett will portray the mother and has also appeared in and helped produce the previous three years entries. "She is a quick study and has shown a willingness to take some risks onstage," Askins this task." said of the SHS senior. "I'm really excited about her potential as a performer."

Matthew Fiebig, a junior, will play the role of Billy in "Childhood." He has assisted in two previous contests and has accepted the challenge of acting like an 8-year-old. "He brings such a great attitude and willingness to take direction. He could really steal the show," Askins said.

Kyle Whitacre is the art director and light manager for this year's show. Askins describes him as an important part of the team because, "His artistic vision is so evident and he has already demonstrated an innate theatrical sense that will make an invaluable contribution to this effort."

Even if we do nothing to improve Texas teacher salaries (ranked 36th in the nation), retirement (worst in the nation), or benefit package, we need more money just to accommodate the growth in enrollment. Governor Bush's plan does nothing to help this problem. and his shift in taxes probably will make it very difficult to obtain needed extra money for Texas schools in the future.

for an overburdened group goes along with it.

The Texas Business Tax in Governor Bush's proposal is a tax that tracks the economic activity of the state. The property tax just doesn't do that very well. It never has. Texans clearly don't want an income tax, and the Texas Business Tax looks like the best option for long term, healthy and dependable support for Texas schools.

the governor, but a tax break I have been told by some that farmers and ranchers should shut up and be happy with what they have. What agriculture has is a property tax based on agricultural use value and sales tax exemptions for the inputs of production. First let's clear up the most common misconception. Agricultural use valuation is not an exemption! Farmers and ranchers still pay property tax and quite a lot of it. Compare agriculture's percentage of the gross state prod-The Texas Farm Bureau uct to the tax bill for agriculsupports the governor's plan. ture and you'll see that the in-

Take away the ag use valuation? If you want to drive farmers out of business in many parts of Texas, I can't think of a better way to do it. There is simply no way to grow enough cotton, grain or cattle to pay the property tax at market value rates on most Texas agricultural land.

As for sales taxes, all manufacturing companies get the same sales tax exemption on raw materials. Agriculture is, after all, a manufacturing business. We manufacture food and fiber. The processes are biological instead of physical. but the principle is exactly the same. Sales tax exemptions on raw materials are important for all manufacturing businesses. The benefits to the state are added up in economic activity and jobs.

Most Texans will figure out pretty soon that the property tax is not up to the job of funding education for the future. Those that pay now will pay much more in the future if changes are not made. Governor Bush's plan is fair and workable, and would still leave some limited property tax authority at the local level. Change sometimes comes very hard, but this one is right for Texas.

Child Support and Paternity issues

by Dan Morales Texas Attorney General

S THE child support agency for the State of Texas, we often receive inquiries from single parents who are trying to get on their feet financially while supporting one or more children. They are sometimes unsure whether they qualify to receive our child support services.

Any single parent who applies for public assistance is automatically referred to us by the Department of Human Services. But a person who has managed to get by without welfare may not be aware that a state's federally mandated child support agency (in Texas the Office of the Attorney General) provides free child support services to anyone who needs them.

The first step: establishing paternity

Most of the single parents who have a case with the Attorney General's office have never been married. A child bom to a woman who is not married does not have a legal father. Before child support can be ordered and collected, the baby's father must be identified and recognized as the father by a court of law. The legal process is called paternity establishment.

The process can be more or less complicated, depending on the circumstances. For example, it is more complicated to establish paternity if the man named by the baby's mother denies that he is the baby's biological father.

However, a paternity dispute can usually be resolved easily. A judge can order a blood test which will show with great accuracy whether or not a man is a baby's biological father. Refusing the take the paternity test is not a wise decision. If an alleged father refuses to take the blood test, a judge can declare him the baby's legal father by default, and order child support.

Schools and hospitals help

Texas has one of the highest teenage pregnancy rates in the nation. To address this issue, the Office of the Attorney General developed the Parents and Paternity (PAPA) program. This preventive program is designed to teach teenagers about the financial and legal responsibilities, including paternity establishment, of becoming a parent. This program was developed into a curriculum and is available to all junior high schools and high schools in the state. PAPA presentations by child support staff are also available to civicand social groups.

Through a partnership with Texas' hospitals and the Bureau of Vital Statistics, the child support program developed the Volunteers in Paternity (VIP) program. This program takes a flexible approach to make it easy for a father to accept the responsibility of parenthood. The VIP program enlists the help of hospitals throughout Texas to obtain the father's acknowledgment on the birth certificate or on an "Acknowledgment of Paternity" form when a child is born to unwed parents. The signing of this form does not affirm the man as the legal father in the eyes of the law, but gives the presumption of paternity which is rebuttable through scientific blood test-

For more information

For more information about paternity establishment or our child support services, please call (800) 252-8014 or visit our home page on the Internet at http://www.oag.state.tx.us. If your civic or social group would like to request a PAPA presentation, please call (512) 460-6124.

Recently, she has been "stung by the quilting bee" and finds time to sort through mountains of fabric, patterns.

"This craft is so tied in with 1982, she helped start what is my painting" Andy explained," at least the love of color and patterns part."

Could your home kitchen pass county health inspection?

by Ilene C. Miller Co. Ext. Agent

With increasing emphasis on the importance of handling food safely to prevent foodborne illness, consumers may want to ask themselves "would my kitchen pass a health inspection?" To answer this question, check for these standards in your kitchen:

- Does your refrigerator maintain a temperature of 40F. or below and the freezer 0F. or below? The only way to verify this is to use an appliance thermometer.
- * Are the contents of the refrigerator arranged so that cold air can circulate freely throughout? Are most perishable foods such as eggs, milk, meats, poultry, fish and other protein foods stored in the coldest areas of the refrigerator, never on the door? Eggs should be stored in the original carton.
- Are foods covered or wrapped securely? A bacteria in the air and from uncooked meats or their juices can settle and grow on foods.

• Is the refrigerator reasonably clean? Bacteria from bits of food on shelves can contaminate other foods.

• In the pantry, are foods stored in tightly closed containers and is the pantry area clean and-preferably in a cool, dry, dark location? Foods that are stored in dampness, such as under the sink or close to heat, such as over the range, deteriorate much more rapidly.

- Are cleaning supplies stored out of reach of children?
- · Are work surfaces, the skin, utensils and appliances kept clean? Do you have separate cutting boards for raw meats and foods that are not to be cooked such as vegetables? Bacteria from juices of raw meat can collect in cutting boards and contaminate other foods. Are these boards clean and do you sanitize them? Other appliances or equipment to check for cleanliness are the can opener, the blender and any others that can hold food particles in tiny cracks or crev-
- Is hand washing convenient and do you have paper towels to dry hands on? Cloth towels can harbor bacteria.

They need to be washed frequently.

- Is the oven reasonably clean and is there an oven thermometer to check for accurate oven temperatures?
- Is the dishwasher free of food particles that could feed bacteria or insects?

By following these clean kitchen standards and safe food handling practices, you can help protect your family from the consequences of foodborne illness.

Diamonds Denim & Dice March 22

The Cultural Activities Center Comtemporaries' annual fund raiser is again the 'best li'l party in Texas' named "Diamonds, Denim and Dice" scheduled for March 22.

It is designed to be light on the serious side of fund raising and quite heavy on the side of a great party! Everyone is encouraged to dress in their favorite 'Texas sharp' and come prepared for a fantastic evening. Last year over 450 tickets were sold at $25 each. Same price this year.

Each ticket holder will be eligible for a door prize and raffle item, receive $2,500 in casino cash to play, enjoy dishes prepared by The Contemporaries plus wine and beer, enjoy a strolling magician, play in the casino, enjoy "horse racing' and dancing at the Rocking C Corral. Winnings from the casino buy raffle tickets for favorite items.

Also available will be an interesting variety of 37 Silent Auction items. Auctioneer Eddy Lange will run a very fast paced, exciting and productive Live Auction of 12 carefully selected items.

The newest attraction is the Sure Shot Draw. Johnson Bros. Ford is sponsoring a drawing for a 1997 Ford Expedition, a $34,000 vehicle! This is how it works: you buy a ticket for $25. Only 100 of these tickets will be sold! Upon purchase of this ticket, your name goes in a pot. At "Diamonds, Denim and Dice" one name will be drawn from this pot. The lucky person will have the opportunity to draw from one of 100 envelopes. One of these envelopes represents the 1997 Ford Expedition! But this person can't lose!

Pick any one of the other 99 envelopes and you will be thrilled to discover you have four season tickets for the 1997-98 season of the Central Texas Stampede Hockey Team! (You need not be present to win.)

At press time only one-third of the tickets were still available. Hurry! Hurry! Hurry!

Meeting slated March 12 for CRP

by James M. Davis Co. Ext. Agent

A meeting to discuss the new rules for the federal Conservation Reserve Program (CRP), just announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture will be held 9 a.m. March

The meeting will take place at the Bell County North Annex at 1605 North Main in Belton. This is a joint meeting conducted by the Farm Service Agency, Natural Resource Conservation Service, and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Landowners face the decision to attempt to enroll or reenroll in the CRP or decide what other use they will make of land not entering or returning to that program. They must make these important choices quickly to meet the March 28 deadline for the first sign up period under the new rules.

Under the new policy, each parcel of land deemed eligible for CRP will receive a bid cap, or maximum rental payment to the landowner, based on its environmental and production characteristics.

Landowners must submit bids up to or below their established bid cap and will compete with all other bids for acceptance into the program. Landowners interested in the CRP programs are urged to attend the March 12 meeting.

The USDA Cattle on Feed report (COF) released on Feb. 14 showed rather large placements of cattle into feedlots and a large on-feed inventory. As of Feb. 1, the number of cattle in feedlots was more than a year earlier in all States except Iowa (historic 7 states with capacity of 1,000 head or USDA reported that the number of cattle marketed by feedlots in January was up 5-7 percent. However, U.S. steer and heifer slaughter for the month was up only about 3 percent. In any case, feedlots have marketed cattle quickly in recent months and remain very current (that is, marketings have not been delayed).

Placements of cattle into feedlots in January 1997 were reported as up over 20 percent, compared to a year earlier. Placements were small in January 1996 due to high feedgrain prices. Compared to January 1995, placements this year were up only 1 percent. Reported placements were smaller than anticipated back in December. Overall, placements during the last three months (November, December and January) were well above a year earlier - placements of cattle into feedlots in the November-January period were up 10 percent (up 457, 000 head for the historical 7 states) from a year earlier.

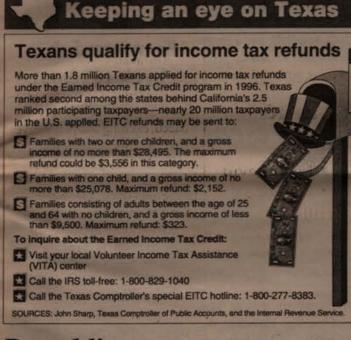

For the month of January, the USDA reported that retail beef prices were mostly near a year earlier. Retail pork prices were record high for January and were less than 2 cents per pound below the high for any month posted last September. Retail chicken and turkey prices also remained strong.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, national origin or disability.

by Tammera S. Beckham & Chris Boleman

Co. Ext. Agents

Just received — information on three summer opportunities to help 4-H members develop life skills and gain a better understanding of themselves and others. The basic trust of both of these opportunities will be improving leadership skills, enhancing 4-H project work, and building self-esteem and a better self-image.

SpecTra and Prime Time are both held at our wonderful Texas 4-H Center located in Brownwood. The Texas 4-H Center encompasses 78 acres of wooded land on the shores of Lake Brownwood. Participants are housed in modern, air-conditioned dorms. Each dorm has two bedrooms which house 13 people each. A counselor and adult Staff Leader stay in each dorm and are available 24 hours a day to help

Girls Choir to sing at church

The Central Texas Girls Choir will sing in the March 23 morning worship service of St. Paul United Methodist Church in Temple. The choir will perform three numbers, Jubilate Deo by Praetorisu, Song of Peace arranged by Mary Donnelly and George Strid, and Children's Prayer by Besig.

The Central Texas Girls Choir was founded in 1970 and is sponsored by the Preparatory Music Program at Central Texas College in Killeen. The philosophy and purpose of the Central Texas Girls Choir program is to share our gifts and to spread the joy of me throughout the community. Girls are trained in the attributes of poise, charm and appearance, as well as vocal and choir training and stage presence.

Girls can find self-discipline, leadership and friendship through the beauty of a well-rounded music experience. The choir rehearses once a week during the school term and perform sacred and secular music throughout the year at schools, nursing homes, churches and for various social civic functions.
