Historic Salado will celebrate its 26th Annual Art Fair August 1-2 in Pace Park. Aug. 1 the Fair will open 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Aug. 2 the Fair will open 10 a.m.-5 pm.

Admission to the Salado Art Fair is $3 for adults, children age 12 and under are admitted free.

Salado, located on I-35 halfway between Austin and Waco, sits on the banks of the spring-fed creek that enticed Indians, settlers, and a stage coach stop and the Chisholm Trail cattle drives to its cold, pure water.

This year's 200 master artists, craftsmen, chosen from over 600 juried applicants, will offer their works in a wide range of prices. Visitors may purchase paintings in all styles and media, jewelry, woodcrafts, handmade clothing, toys and more.

Free programs show the location of each artists' tree or tent shaded booth.

At 7 p.m. Aug 1 Salado's Tablerock Amphitheatre will host a Dinner Theater. A melodrama, The Golden Fleecing, will allow you to boo the villain and cheer the heroes as you enjoy "All You Can Eat" fajitas for $10 adult and $5 child. Call for reservations.

Free parking, and free bus transportation from parking areas to the Fair. On the Fair grounds, handicap parking and restrooms are available. Hospitality tents will provide space for sitting, eating and relaxing. A variety of reasonably priced food and drinks will be available.

Salado's Pace Park is on top of a knoll that overlooks spring-fed Salado Creek. The Texas Historical Commission designated Salado Creek as the state's first "Natural Landmark." The Creek still beckons young and old alike.

This year's Art Fair

The Salado Art Fair will feature approximately 200 artists in Pace Park Aug. 1-2. Tickets are $3 for adults.

theme is Sirena of Salado. Sirena is Salado's legendary Indian maiden who was transformed into a mermaid by a magical catfish. Visitors are invited to relax on a creek-side bench next to a life size sculpture of "Sirena" or walk along the creek's rock-lined banks where Sirena lived, once upon a time.

The Salado Chamber of Commerce sponsors the Art Fair that draws over 10,000 visitors the first full week end in August each year. Proceeds from the Art Fair fund scholarships, provide upkeep for Pace Park, pay for street lights and support various community project.

For more information call the Salado Chamber of Commerce 817-947-5040.

Foxtales

Children's musical set in Jack's Barn in Pace Park June 6

Temple Civic Theatre will perform Foxtales, written by Dr. Charles Pascoe, 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. June 6 at Jack's Barn in Pace Park Salado.

The children's musical, performed by adults, is suitable for children of all ages. The play follows the adventures of Sonny Fox, a conniving fox who leaves home to find out about the world. On his journey he learns about friendship and loyalty.

The story is based on the fox fables from Aesop's Fables. Using very minimal sets, costumes and props, the actors invite audience members to use their imagination during animated scenes. The cast of nine actors animate the story with forest sounds, lively choreography and are supported by live music. Audience participation is encouraged.

Tickets are available at each performance for $3.

Children's Retreat to use cabin for museum

One of the few Bell County log cabins still surviving from Indian times has been donated to the Peacable Kingdom Retreat for Children and has been moved onto the retreat grounds for a children's museum. The retreat for chronically ill children is located on the Lampasas River near Youngsport.

In 1868, when Indians and outlaws were still roaming this part of the country, Lewis Garrett Mize built the sturdy log cabin for his family near present-day Nolanville.

The Indians and outlaws are long since gone, but the log cabin is still here. So is H. Roy Reynolds, prominent retired banker and business man of Harker Heights and a grandson of the builder.

Reynolds' mother was born in the cabin, which is built of massive cedar logs, 17 feet long.

The Mize family owned the farm where the cabin was located until a few years ago. It is now owned by Dr. and Mrs. James Shepherd of Georgetown. The Shepherds donated the cabin to the retreat, and Reynolds and his wife Valta donated $5,000 to move it from the Mize farm some 20 miles to the retreat. There it is being restored as a museum where the children can preserve and display artifacts they collect themselves from the area--arrowheads, pioneer tools, fossils and other collections--each labelled with the name of the finder.

Restoration will be carried out under the supervision of Larry Neal, Temple architect, and Bob Burleson, past President of the Texas Archeological Society. Tommy C. Dean of Belton and Lonnie Joe Edwards of Salado, who make a specialty of log cabin restoration, moved the cabin and are doing preliminary restoration work.

"This is a prime example of log cabin building of that era," said Burleson. "There never were many, and very few are left. This is one of the best, and best authenticated, and is a rare find. It is one of the very, very few whose entire history we know."

Company Business

rated R

Starring Gene Hackman, Mikhail Baryshnikov

*Our rating: *****

Company Business is a fast-moving, well-written spy thriller starring one of my favorite actors, Gene Hackman. Hackman's appearance gives any film more credibility. Unlike most glamour actors in Hollywood, Hackman gives his roles a sense of realism...he seems like an average Joe, your neighbor or your friend.

But this time, your friendly neighbor is really CIA agent Sam Boyd who has to trade a Russian spy Pyotr Grushenko (Mikhail Baryshnikov) for one of our spies.

Like all good spy movies, Company Business has plots within plots, doublecrosses and a doubledealing, lying government.

Company Business has all the ingredients of a classic international spy film.

Amidst the unnecessary foofaraw surrounding May 29, 1992, the first day of legalized gambling in the State of Texas - including full page ads in the daily papers; pony express type delivery of lottery tickets; a media blitz picturing top elected officials and other notables buying the dollar chances; area parties and thousands of 30 second ads picturing happy winners - we discovered several items that bear repeating. First - a hot line number to call if you are a "gamble-holic" and cannot stop buying lottery tickets. You will be connected to a headshrinker or someone who can help you in your hour of need or at least that is the suggested idea in the compulsive-gambling-handout and ads promoted by the Comptroller's Office.

And then the least needed item of all - "how to" information on what to do if you win some outrageous sum of money in the lottery. Do you really need this advice? Are you helpless when it comes time to spend your lucky money? Or are you like the fellow in the old story who reported - when asked what he was going to do with the millions he had won: "Plan to pay it on my bills - fur as it'll go!" Seems our elected guardians down in Austin have thought out everything - so far.

By the way - if you do win and really need help spending your booty - there are several members of the Salado Chapter of the "Do-No-Gooders' Club" more than willing to help you out in your time of need. Probably at no direct cost to you!

Pardons and Paroles

This week's column appears to be a series of follow-ups on last week's offering. First, as promised, we have a bit more information on the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles. This group of appointed citizens is charged by statute to oversee the outflow of prisoners into society through a system of pardons and paroles judiciously granted. Governor Richards told the board and all 3000 other political appointees she has named over the past years that they were responsible for all that goes on in their agencies. No buck passing. No excuses. Just see that the work is done right and if there is a mistake - 'fess up and move on.

Then came the tragic news that a twice paroled convicted murderer Kenneth Allen McDuff was on the run and wanted in connection with two new murders in Central Texas. Following McDuff's capture the Parole board did a "duck and weave" trying to shift blame and run for cover. "all the fault of the staff" they said in direct contravention to their boss' instructions. Seems the more things change in Austin the more they stay the same - at least on the bureaucratic front where it has always been de rigueur to avoid responsibility at the highest levels.

Electoral College

Little bit more on last week's comment on Ross Perot and the Electoral College's possible inability to elect a President and Vice President should there not be enough electoral votes to constitute a majority. A third party could cause such a situation as it did twice before in history. This year's election will in fact have three parties in contention hence the faint chance of having the College coming up short and the contest tossed into the House of Representatives to select a President (from the top three candidates for President) and to the Senate to choose a Veep (from the two top vote getters in that category).

If you think that is confusing just think back to the early days of the union. In 1796 John Adams a Federalist, was elected President and his bitter Cathy's Birds-Eye View by Erwin M. Hearne, Jr.

Hearne to show at 26th Salado Art Fair

Erwin M. Hearne Jr. will be one of many artists displaying and selling his works of art at the Salado Art Fair Aug. 1-2 in Pace Park.

Since the age of 4 when this native Dallasite began drawing airplanes he has shown distinctive talent and versatility in not only art but in a life style of creativity, humor and goodwill.

While many of his assignments have been for the religious community—poignantly illustrated by work for the southern Baptist Convention, he also has assembled a portfolio of pieces produced for secular organizations and purposes.

Recently, he introduced a series of western-motif paintings in two shows. The first at "The Gallery" in Horseshoe Bay in the heart of Texas Hill Country, then at the "Deen Galleries" in Tyler.

An illustration of the artist's versatility relates to his experience in motion picture production. In the '60s he joined Joe Camp and Harland Wright in the development of television and film scripts.

Another career highlight occurred with his commission by the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board and the Historical Commission to produce a series of eight paintings entitled "Great Moments in Baptist History"....along with fifty black-and-white illustrations.

During this period former Senator William A. Blakley presented to Baylor University 12 more paintings depicting Texas Baptist History.

Hearne majored in art at the Dallas Art Museum. After three years in the U.S. Air Force he graduated from S.M.U. with a B.A. degree in art.

After several years of producing advertising art for Phill Oliver Studios, Taylor-Norsworthy Advertising Agency and Graphix of Dallas, he founded Hearne-Wright Studio with associate Harland Wright...putting more emphasis on art direction & design.

Along with his professional career he has served as a deacon; a director of his church's Graphic Arts Committee; a founder of the Dallas Fellowship of Christians in the Arts, Media and Entertainment, and as past president and outstanding member awardee of the Advertising Artists Association of Dallas. He also is the recipient of numerous advertising art awards.

Centel announces new directories published

Be on the lookout for the new 1992 telephone directory. Customers of Central Telephone Company of Central Texas (Centel) in Salado should be receiving the official 1992 directory this week.

The directory features a new cover depicting four school buses being driven through colorful Texas countryside. Harold Miller Centel's customer services manager, said, "The new cover accentuates a peaceful Texas farm setting whereas the school buses serve as a subtle reminder of the importance of education for today's youth."

Published by GTE Directories Corporation, the new directory contains the most complete and accurate residential and business listings for Salado, Buckholts, Heidenheimer, Holland, Little River Academy, Milano, Moffat, Oenaville and Zabcikville.

In addition to the cover, the other new features found in the directory include a section of toll free "800" numbers, fact finder pages and an updated community service listing.

Anyone not receiving the new 1992 directory by the end of June should call Centel at 1-800-488-7995.

Quick Weeknight Meal — A New Classic

Weeknight meals for busy families have three requirements — easy, quick and good-tasting.

But, do you sometimes yearn for classic dishes, which often require lengthy preparation and long cooking? Some of those favorites can be streamlined for weeknight dining. Cassoulet, for example.

This hearty bean stew inspired by the cooking of southwestern France is traditionally made with white beans, seasonings and meats which cook long and slow. For a 30-minute version, use convenient canned beans and simmer briefly with the seasonings. Pieces of sauteed veal cubed steak are stirred into the beans just before serving.

Lean and tender veal cubed steak is ready to cook as purchased without additional trimming. Veal's mild flavor is perfect with the subtly seasoned beans.

Quick Veal Cassoulet
Preparation time: 15 minutes
Cooking time: 17 minutes

- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 3/4 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1 pound veal cubed steaks, cut into 1-1/2 x 3/4-inch pieces
- 1 small onion, cut into thin wedges
- 2 small carrots, sliced 1/8 inch thick
- 1/2 cup dry white wine
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 can (15-1/2 ounces) Great Northern beans, drained
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Combine oil, thyme and garlic powder. Heat 1 teaspoon of seasoned oil in 12-inch nonstick skillet over medium-high heat. Cook half of veal cubed steaks in skillet just until cooked through, about 3 minutes; stir frequently. Remove veal from skillet. Add another teaspoon seasoned oil to skillet. Reheat skillet, then cook remaining veal; remove from skillet. Add remaining seasoned oil to skillet. Cook onion and carrots over medium-high heat 4 minutes, stirring frequently. Add wine and water; stir.

Add beans and salt. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer uncovered 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Return veal to skillet; continue cooking until vegetables are tender and mixture is thickened, about 2 minutes. Stir in parsley. 4 servings.

Ballroom dancers will see demonstration June 13

Ballroom dancers of Central Texas will see a demonstration of round dancing on June 13 when the Chisholm Trail Round dance Club performs for the Stardust Ballroom Dance Club at the Elks Lodge in Temple.

The round dancers will perform at intermission of the semi-formal Stardust Dance, scheduled for 8 p.m. until midnight in the ballroom at 2613 Airport Road.

John and Bernice Lindley of Killeen, who head the Stardust Club, said guest couples are invited to the event at $20 per couple. The ballroom dances are funded by membership dues, which pay for the hall and the orchestra.

Booked for the June dance is the Gilbert Kautz Orchestra of Taylor, which appears regularly in the principal ballroom venues across Central Texas. The Orchestra's play list include foxtrot, slow waltzes, jitterbug, rhumba, cha-cha, polka, and other traditional ballroom figures.

Most ballroom dancing now is in non-profit clubs like Stardust because nightclub operators, as one said recently, "can't devote that much space to so many people who spend so little money at the bar."

Dress code at Stardust dances is coat and tie for men and after-five attire for women. The regular dance date is the second Saturday of each month.

Persons interested in ballroom dancing may call the club's membership director, Dr. Nil Whittington, at 939-1423.

Practice proper handling of milk

By Ilene C. Miller
Co. Ext. Agent: Home Ec

Poor handling of milk and milk products, on the way home from the store or in the home, not only shorten the life of products by reducing freshness, but can pose safety problems. June is Dairy Month and it's also an excellent time to share home storage tips from Associated Milk Producers, Inc. to help insure wholesomeness in dairy products.

In The Store

- Pick up perishable items like milk and milk products as you get ready to check-out. This way, they stay refrigerated the maximum amount of time.
- Carefully check the package. Has it been opened? Is it damaged, thereby exposing the product to air, light or heat?
- Take a moment to look at the contents of the package. How does the product look, smell, etc.?

- Check the date on the product to insure that it is fresh.
- Is the storage case for the product clean, dry and cold?
- Once you purchase the product, take it home. Do not leave milk and fresh milk products in hot cars for extended periods of time. Heat destroys freshness very quickly.

At home

- As soon as you arrive home, place milk and milk products in your refrigerator.
- When was the last time you checked your refrigerator temperature? A temperature of 33-40 degrees F is ideal for keeping foods fresh for longer periods of time.
- Do not let your milk and milk products stand at room temperature for extended periods of time. Get the product you need and immediately return package to the refrigerator.

- Never mix milk varying temperatures together.
- Keep all milk and milk product packages sealed to protect from other food flavors in the refrigerator.

• A product does not have to look or smell bad to be unwholesome. However, smell and appearances are indicators of a product's freshness. If in doubt, don't use the product.

For more information on storage of foods, contact the Extension Office. Our address is 1605 N. Main St., Room 102, Belton, TX 76513. Or call 939-3521 or 1-800-460-2355, Sta. 371 or 372.

enemy-Thomas Jefferson, an anti-federalist, was named vice-president by the electoral college. That would be like having George Bush named President and Jesse Jackson selected Vice-President. Of course that cannot happen today thanks to the 12th amendment but we could see the repeat of having the House name the President as it did, first, in 1800. It took that august body of deliberators 36 ballots to select Thomas Jefferson who had failed to win at the Electoral College level. Same thing happened in 1825, with four candidates running for President.

Electoral college could not come up with a majority so it was turned over to the House who in turn selected John Quincy Adams as the sixth president of the U.S.

With Perot gaining headway daily there appears to be a chance - albeit slight - that the door to the White House in 1992 goes through the House of Representatives. That should prove interesting to watch!

And that's -30- for this week!
