Info. meeting set Sept. 22 on ESD

By TIM FLEISCHER EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Among the issues on the November 3 ballot for Salado area voters will be a proposal for the formation of Bell County Emergency Services District #1, which will have boundaries that coincide with the coverage area of the Salado Volunteer Fire Department. The proposal will also allow for the adoption of a tax rate of up to $0.10 per $100 valuation.

An informational meeting on the formation of an Emergency Services District will be 6:30 p.m. Sept. 22 at The View at the Creek meeting venue in Mill Creek.

The proposed area is about 115 sq. miles in area.

The formation of the BCESD#1 will serve Salado residents by allowing the local fire department to hire its first full-time firefighters. In fact, the fire department will be able to have two firefighters at the station all the time (requiring hiring at least eight full-time positions to provide 24 hour coverage) and an administrator for the department.

Currently, the fire department is manned by all volunteers who leave home or work at any hour of the day or night whenever the call has been issued through the county 911 system.

Having professional firefighters man the fire station would reduce response time in the 115 square mile area that the SVFD serves. These firefighters would be supported and supplemented by the volunteers who remain on the call.

Creation of BCESD#1 would also support the fire department in the purchase, upgrade and update of vehicles and other equipment and apparatus.

"We have a good fire department," SVFD Chief Shane Berrier said. "This will help us to keep our equipment and vehicles upto-date."

Berrier and the volunteers apply for grants and hold fund raisers whenever they need to buy specific equipment.

"These are not part of our regular budget," Chief Berrier said of the capital expenses. "This would help us better plan for and pay for equipment and vehicles."

The current budget for fuel, equipment maintenance and repairs and other costs is about $145,000. There are no funds spent on personnel, according to Chief Berrier. The fire department received a $50,000 check on May 21 from the Village of Salado.

"Bell County does a good job of supplying tax dollars to local volunteer fire departments, but it is time to step above and beyond that," Allan Dillon told Bell County Commissioners during a July 21 public hearing on the petition for the formation of BCESD#1.

"Most volunteer fire departments struggle with dollars from year to year," Dillon told commissioners. "They struggle with worn out equipment and excess military equipment that they may be able to get every few

Texas law, since the mid-1980s, has allowed for the creation of Emergency Services Districts through local elections and under local

The proposal also creates a maximum tax rate that can be set for the ESD of $0.10 per $100 valuation. At that proposed rate, the property taxes due for a home of $250,000 will be $250 per year. The average homestead value for Salado ISD, which has boundaries that are very similar to the proposed boundaries for the ESD, is $276,292 in 2020, an increase of 10 percent over last year's $252,048.

According to Bell County Tax Appraiser Billy White, Emergency Services District cannot freeze taxes. They can, however, adopt exemptions of $3,000 or more for homesteads of those over 65 and disabled.

At the maximum tax rate, the ESD would have more than $1 million in revenue per year.

"We are looking at setting a tax rate of eight cents or less," Chief Berrier told Salado Village Voice. However, if the published tax rate on the petition were $0.08 per $100, then in order to ever have a rate above that would require an entirely new election.

If approved by local voters in November, the BCESD#1 would be overseen by an elected board of directors. The first interim board would be appointed until an election could be held to fill the board. After that, terms on the board would stagger and elections would be held every year.

FWS adds 415 acres to proposed critical habitat for Salado Salamander

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service announced Sept. 15 it is revising proposed critical habitat for the Georgetown and Salado salamanders. The two salamanders, found only in parts of Texas, were listed as threatened on February 24, 2014, due to the threat of degradation of their habitat and changes in water flow and quality. The public comment period will be open for 60 days starting on September 15, 2020.

For the Salado salamander in Bell and Williamson counties, the proposal includes 787 acres of critical habitat in 10 units. This represents an increase of six units and 415 acres over the SEE SALAMANDER, PAGE 3A

Statue stays until law changes

Editor-in-Chief

Bell County Commissioners voted 3-1 on Sept. 14 to leave the Confederate Memorial statue at its location at the northwest corner of the courthouse square until such time that the state law changes and allows Commissioners to put the issue before local voters.

Bill Schumann made the motion, which received a second from Bobby Whitson. Russell Schneider joined Schumann and Whitson in voting in favor while John Driver voted against.

Three people spoke on the issue with Troy Kelley, Walt Kelly and David Glasscoe speaking against moving the Confederate memorial and Laymen Brown speaking in favor of moving the statute. Court clerk Gloria Ramos read emails from two constituents, both opposed to moving the statue.

Commissioner Driver, who has been mostly silent during the discussions over the past year and a half about the statue, broke that silence Sept. 14.

"Last year, concerns were brushed off," Driver said. "We kicked the agenda down the road. Here it is back at continue upward trend for Salado

Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar announced Sept. 9 that he will send cities, counties, transit systems and special purpose taxing districts $765.3 million in local sales tax allocations for September, 4.5 percent less than in September 2019. These allocations are based on sales made in July by businesses that report tax monthly.

Rising COVID-19 infection rates in July likely suppressed economic activity.

The Village of Salado saw a 9% increase over the previous September payment. The Village received $41,174,88 compared to $37,856.72 last September. For the year, sales tax payments to the Village 4% ahead of last year with $419,528.79 paid so far compared to $404,814.30 in payments through September 2019.

Killeen had an increase of 12%, while Temple's sales tax dropped 7%.

The Markets

The S&P 500 Stock Index (SPX) dropped 2.51% for the week to close on Friday at 3340.97, taking it back to the level it was just over a month ago. The decline reduced its gains for 2020 to 3.41% but left it up over 11% from one year ago. It also took the SPX down 1.33% from its high in February, just before the pandemic was acknowledged. The decline over the past two weeks leaves the Index with an average oneyear trailing price to earnings ratio (P/E) of 28.72, continuing as the most highly priced it has been during a "bull" phase of the market since the year 2000. As a point of reference, the average trailing P/E ratio of the SPX since it has existed has been 15.82. That the market is overpriced by historical standards is a given, but the odd thing is that corporate earnings, outside of a few large companies, are down from a year ago and the forward guidance is uncertain. While the future is always an unknown, historically, a market this high is headed for a price correction, and we may already be in one. Only time will tell.

The yield on the ten-year U.S. Treasury note joined in the swoon, dropping 7.2% to 0.671% compared with what looked like a delightful 1.75% a year ago. Still, the yield curve remains resolutely positive with the 90day T-bill rate at 0.114%. The forecast from the bond market remains largely the same, suggesting interest rates and inflation will remain near zero for at least the next three years or so, but that a year from now the economy will be in a muted but solid growth curve. West Texas Intermediate crude oil (WTI) concurred about the weak economic near future as it dropped about 5.5% to $37.32, down about 40% year-to-date.

As a side note for investors, the rates we are currently seeing, and the relatively high level of the stock market indicate a possible need to adjust expectations. Historically, the rule of thumb for a well-diversified retirement portfolio was that it be invested about 60% in stocks and 40% in bonds. The average seasoned, high-grade corporate bond is yielding 2.34% and if mixed with the ten-year Treasury note would give a yield if about 1.5% for the interest-bearing side of the portfolio. Allianz just published an estimate for the S&P 500 return over the next ten years at 6%.

If we assume that Allianz is correct, a portfolio invested 60% in an ultra-low-cost surrogate of the S&P 500 and a conservative mix of corporate and government interest bearing securities would then provide a total average annual return of just over 4% per year over the next decade, assuming (unrealistically) you have no expenses or taxes to pay. There are other wavs to invest than the standard 60-40 portfolio, but they do require research, education, and the willingness to tolerate the likely market behavior that may result.

The Economy

Although we may be growing used to it, COVID-19 still dominates the economy. The national deaths officially attributed to the pandemic is now at 192,616, with 14,136 in Texas and 71 in Bell County. The infection is growing at about 0.6% per day nationally and 2.6% per day locally here in the county. The good news is that the death rate nationally for confirmed cases has dropped from 6% early in the pandemic to 3% recently.

New claims for unemployment insurance rose slightly last week to 884,000, and that does not count independent contractors or the self-employed. The total number of out-ofwork persons looking for jobs held steady at about 29.6 million. The bottom line to the employment figures is that we have recovered about half the lost jobs from the bottom of the chart but seem to be stuck there. The low hiring rates seem to be a result not of government restrictions but rather from the reluctance of people to shop, dine-out, fly, or gather indoors.

The Commerce Department released the Consumer Price Index estimate for August and the national All-City inflation rate for the last 12 months came in at 1.3%. Surprisingly to some, the last couple of months have seen annualized inflation rates of about 3.6% despite a 17% drop in the cost of fuel.

New business starts nationally were up 14% from this time last year as laid off workers frustrated by their inability to find employment elect to go out on their own. Meanwhile, the record-breaking import numbers are straining our transportation infrastructure, particularly on the west coast as our recovering economy exerts a dramatic increase in demand for parts and goods manufactured in

We continue to see a likely market correction to come but a good, solid economic recovery once an effective vaccine is developed and widely administered. Unfortunately, that situation is unlikely to be in place until the middle of 2021. Following that, we remain optimistic that the decade of the 2020s will be as positively good as the year 2020 has been disappointing so far.

Baptisms in Creek longtime tradition

Nate Diem, son of Chris and Jessica Diem of Salado, was baptized in Salado Creek on Sept. 13. The Diems are members of First Baptist Church of Killeen, but their son "wanted to be baptized in the creek in his town," his mom says. Family and friends joined the Diems to watch the traditional baptism.

Baptism in Salado Creek has a long tradition. Recently historian Carol Wilson was given the historic photos at right and bottom.

Wilson writes: It is a rare treat when we discover a significant new photo of old Salado like the one below. This image came to us through the generosity of Amy Summers of El Paso. Amy acquired this photo as part of large collection of historical treasures offered at an estate sale. A friend's father purchased the large box of photos and memorabilia to give to his daughter who then passed it on to Amy. "She knew I liked old pictures and stuff so she gave it to me," Amy said. It was a good decision. Amy has an appreciation for the historical value of these photos and a willingness to share them. The subjects in this 1916 photo are Reverend Harvey Carroll Smith, the minister of Memorial Baptist church in Temple, and nine-yearold William Archibald Barclay. William was a resident of Temple but likely chose Salado Creek for his

Mescher leads Eagles past Stephenville

By TIM FLEISCHER EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Noah Mescher ran for 375 yards on 27 carries and scored five touchdowns to lead the Salado Eagles past the visiting Stephenville Yellow Jackets Sept. 11 Salado trailed 31-19 at the half, but scored 42 secondhalf points to win 61-45 and improve to 2-1.

The Eagles started both halfs by losing a fumble on the first play of scrimmage, but other than that played dominant, grinding football over an opponent that was larger on the line.

Stephenville led by as much as 38-19 after converting a fumble into a short 34-yard drive, capped by a 16-yard pass from Gavin Rountree to Trace Morrison early in the third.

The rest of the game was Salado and most of that was Mescher, who scored four second-half touchdowns. Salado responded to the Jackets by driving 79 yards in five plays, scoring on a 22-yard pass from Hutton Haire to Reid Vincent. The Wrook Brown kick brought the score to 38-26.

Salado defense forced the Jackets to punt, giving Salado the ball at their own 30 yard line. Runs of 11 yards by Mescher and Vincent set up a 48-yard run through the middle of the Yellow Jacket defense by Mescher for his second TD of the night. Brown's kick brought Salado closer 38-33 with 6:44 left in the third.

Brown returned a Stephenville punt 30 yards and a personal foul tacked on more to give Salado the ball at the Stephenville 33.

Six plays later, Mescher punched it in from the 1. Haire hit Peyton Miller for a two-point conversion for Salado's first lead of the night, 41-38.

The Eagles defense forced the Jackets to another three-and-out series with the Eagles taking over at their own 47 yard line after a short punt. Mescher scored three plays later on a 14 yard run up the middle. Brown's kick made it 48-38 with 11:20 left in the game.

Miller intercepted a fourth down pass, giving Salado the ball at their own 49 yard line. Ten plays later, Caden Strickland ran in from the Stephenville 6 yard line. The PAT failed and Salado led 54-38 with 5:28 left in the game.

For the third straight time in the second half, the Salado defense forced Stephenville to a three-and-out Salado took over at their own 39 vard line. A 19-vard run by Vincent was followed by runs of 23 and 19 by Mescher for the final TD for Salado. Brown's kick gave Salado a 61-38 lead with 3:56 left in the game.

In the first half, the Yellow Jackets took advantage of Haire's fumble on the first play from scrimmage to set up a 42-yard scoring drive. Phillips dove in from the one yard to cap the eight play drive. Corbin Poston kicked the extra point for a 7-0 lead with 6:32 in the

The Yellowjackets responded with a 57 yard scoring drive that included a 38 yard run by Phillips. Rountree hit Reece Elston for a 12 yard touchdown pass with 1:36 left in the first. Poston kicked the extra point for a 14-7 lead.

Lady Eagles fall in 4 to undefeated China Spring

Salado Lady Eagles (7-7) had absolutely no fear in their eyes when matched up against an undefeated China Spring (12-0) on Sept. 11.

Salado competed hard in the first set, but fell 20-25 despite breaking the first serve on China Springs' 10 out of 15 attempts. Salado would not back down in the second set, defeating China Spring 26-24 to even the match at one apiece.

Megan Manibusan would play rock solid all night collecting a season-high 24 digs.

Salado offense The was dynamic and versatile through the first two sets, but would fall flat in the third set, dropping the game 10-25. Again, Salado wouldn't back down from adversity playing even with the Lady Cougars to a score of 9-9. The Lady Eagles would seemingly lose their spark and fell behind 9-15 and would be outplayed the rest of the night losing the final set 14-25.

The Red Posse crushed the Lady Vikings from Lago Vista in convincing fashion by winning in straight sets (25-15, 25-14, 25-15) on the road on Sept. 8. Salado continues to come together and play as a unit spreading the ball around and playing with great energy.

JUNIOR VARSITY

Salado JV girls voleyball squad came out as a team Sept 11 against a talented China Spring group and won in straight sets with scores of 25-17 and 25-20.

Sophomore Harley Droulliard and Freshmen Bri Waters swung relentlessly keeping the Lady Cougar defense off-balance all night. Setter Paige Farris turned in yet another outstanding performance. DS Joanna Steigerwalt led the Lady Eagles' backcourt with 11 digs on the night and great hustle.

The Lady Eagle junior varsity girls handled their business dominating their opponent in straight sets (25-18, 25-11). Paige Farris would again have a solid night for Salado with 8 digs and 12 assists. Savvy Oyler would also step up and do a great job on the back row.

Salado's freshmen squad made slight work of the Lady Vikings on Sept. 8, winning in straight sets (25-10, 25-20).

Ryan McBurney recovered a fumble caused by Josh Huckabee on the ensuing kick, but the Eagles could not convert the opportunity, turning the ball over on a punt to the Jackets' 19.

Yellowjackets The scored three plays later on a 68-yard pass from Rountree to Trace Morrison with 3:22 left in the half.

Salado answered with a four-play 79-yard drive. Mescher covered 64 of the yards on a first down, after he fell on Reid Vincent's fumble to keep the ball in Eagle possession, setting himself up to push the ball in from the 1 yard line. The PAT was no good and Salado trailed 28-19 with 2:03 left in the half.

The Yellowiackets used all of it with Poston booting a 26 yard field goal to give Stephenville a 31-19 lead at

Texas hunters prepare for opening day of deer season AgriLife Extension wildlife specialist shares readiness tips

Texas A&M Agrilife

Every great hunter knows that success throughout the season is more likely when not left to luck alone. Making sure to develop a game plan early will pay off in the late-autumn rut.

Hunters will look for a similar scene: a buck and doe deer standing in a grass and tree-lined meadow

Opening day for deer season kicks off for bow hunters in 252 Texas counties on Oct. 3 and runs through Nov. 6. Rifle season follows and spans from Nov. 7 through Jan. 3 in the North Zone and Jan. 17 in the South, with a special South Zone late season lasting through Jan. 31.

John Tomecek, Ph.D., is no stranger to this process. As a Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service wildlife specialist and an avid hunter and gamesmen himself, Tomecek knows that when hunting, preparation is key.

Ensuring that preparations are complete and everything is ready to go is half the battle, and half the fun, for many hunters looking to head out on opening day.

"Good planning makes all the difference," Tomecek said. "Planning should occur at the individual, party and property level. Individuals should know their goals and limitations and make a plan for achieving their goals during the season."

Making a game plan

The best way to prepare is to scope out land and plots and talk with landowners to begin developing a plan. If they aren't already, trail cameras should be set, and hunters should review footage—early and often to pattern movement.

Hunters should also take and rifles or bows, each time to head out to their trails to clear brush and any debris that might have built up to pave the way for a clean shot and ensure easy access in and out of land around their stand or blind. This also includes having the foresight to check blinds for any damage and survey for unwelcome critters like raccoons, mice, bird or insect nests. This helps take care of unwanted surprises and alleviates any burden or time constraints hunters might run into if they push it too close to opening day.

"Nothing dulls the excitement of opening day more than discovering unexpected guests-like yellow jackets or black widow spiders—and having to make a rapid, noisy exit from your blind," Tomecek said.

While food plots should already be underway, making sure to monitor and maintain them through mowing, spraying, weeding and fertilization is a neverending task. Hunters should also make sure to routinely visit their plots before opening day to check for any signs of deer.

All of this information will be helpful to hunters as they start to determine where to hunt and what times of day usually see high activity. While there is never any guarantee, keeping detailed notes about deer movement between now and opening day is a smart, easy way to increase the likelihood of a successful hunt.

Routine gear inspection

Strategizing is a good start, but at the end of the day it comes down to execution of that plan, which starts with making sure gear and equipment is ready to

When it comes to hunting, there is plenty of equipment involved. From blinds to clothing, harvesting tools piece of gear plays an important role in hunting read-

"Many hunters pull their gear out of storage right before the season begins, but hunters ought to spend time all year maintaining their gear and practicing their marksmanship," Tomecek

Smaller field-equipment preparations like checking batteries in flashlights and rangefinders are often overlooked steps, but ones that can have a big impact on ease of experience the first morning of your hunt.

While clothing may not initially register as equipment, for deer hunters ensuring that clothing is appropriate for weather and environmental hazards is a must. Folks should also take care to properly clean and treat clothing to eliminate odors. Deer have over 297 million olfactory receptors in their nose, making them incredibly sensitive to surrounding scents.

Ultimately, Tomecek said at a minimum, bows and rifles should be inspected for safety and accuracy. Taking the time to sight in bows and rifles gives hunters plenty of time to find the right setup and adjustments that work for them, to assist in a quick, clean shot.

Plus, it never hurts to get in a little extra target practice. Practice makes perfect, and hunting is definitely no exception.

Hunting is a sport of safety, and safety should go farther than responsible management of weaponry. For those in stands, returning home safely starts with double-checking access and safety equipment like ladders, climbing sticks, platforms, straps and harnesses for any rust, damage or breakage and replacing anything that raises concern.

Texas Master Naturalist program offers fall training

By Carrie Baker

Twelve chapters of the Texas Master Naturalist program are conducting training classes this fall for volunteers wanting to learn about natural resource conservation and management.

Those interested in joining Texas Master Naturalists across the state can find a volunteer training session in their community and register. Registration dates and fees vary.

Educators and specialists from universities, natural resource agencies, nature centers and museums will provide volunteers with a minimum of 40 hours of basic training. Among those will be faculty from Texas A&M University, Concordia University and the Botanical Research Institute of Training topics include interpretation and management of natural resources, ecological concepts, eco-regions in Texas and natural systems management.

The Texas Master Naturalist program, consisting of 48 chapters located across the state, aims to develop a corps of well-informed citizen volunteers. Through education, outreach and service, Texas Master Naturalists play a key role in advocating for the beneficial management of natural resources and natural areas within their communities throughout Texas.

"Texas Master Naturalists not only get their feet wet and their hands dirty, spend time in a natural setting, learning about different plant and animal species and maybe even finding something new," said Mary Pearl Meuth, assistant state coordinator for the Texas Master Naturalist Program, Bryan-College Station.

Master Naturalists are expected to pursue a minimum of eight hours of advanced training in areas of personal interest and are encouraged to develop personal projects connecting to the mission of the chapter and statewide program.

"Advanced training requirements can be met online or in person once COVID-19 restrictions are lifted," Meuth explained.

To maintain their certification, volunteers provide 40 hours of service a year in community education, demonstration and habitat enhancement projects.

Learning and volunteering Current Texas Master

while doing so they Naturalist Beverly Guthrie began taking classes through Texas Master Naturalist's North Texas Chapter in 2004. She has been heavily involved ever since.

> Guthrie said she fell in love with Texas Master Naturalist and found purpose in the program.

> "It was so wonderful to be able to take what I had learned and actually serve and use it to educate others about our environment," Guthrie said. "I really believe in being a good steward of the earth and Master Naturalist provides me with all the tools I need to do that and to help create that feeling of stewardship in others."

> Guthrie, who's racked up more than 8,000 hours of volunteer service through the statewide program, said giving back to her community is one of her favorite parts of being a Master Naturalist.

"It's an amazing experience," she said. "Once you certify and start volunteering, it gives you a sense of purpose and stewardship of the earth."

Aside from all the educational benefits, Guthrie said it's the community she's found in the Texas Master Naturalist program that has really stuck with her. "It's great to be with others who have similar interests-kindred spirits."

Notrump contracts often feature a race between the defenders and the declarer for the establishment of tricks. That is why the opening leader usually leads his longest suit at the start of play.

The defenders have a built-in advantage because they get the jump on declarer in the race to develop tricks. If they have enough high cards and a sufficiently long suit, the tempo they gain on the opening lead frequently proves to be decisive. But declarer can some-

West led a heart, and South won East's king with the ace. Declarer then played a diamond to dummy's jack, taken by East with the ace. Back came a heart to South's ten and West's jack, and another low heart by West established his suit. When the opposing diamonds turned out to be divided 4-1, declarer could score only eight tricks, and he eventually finished down one. However, South should have made the contract. He should not have attacked diamonds first. Instead, he should have crossed to dummy with a club at trick two and returned a low spade. If East has the ace and takes it, South has nine tricks — three spades, two hearts and four clubs. And if East doesn't go up with the ace, South wins the spade with the queen, then shifts his attention to diamonds. After forcing out the ace, he again has nine tricks — one spade, two hearts, four

If West has the ace of spades, as in the actual case, he is stymied after he wins the spade queen with the ace. A heart return into the Q-10 hands South an extra trick, while any other return allows declarer to attack diamonds, assuring at least 10 tricks.

DPS adds Saturday appointments at select driver license offices for September

AUSTIN - The Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) has added additional Saturday appointment availability at select driver license (DL) offices for customers needing to renew or replace their Texas DL or ID cards. Participating DL offices will offer a limited number of appointments on Sept. 19 and Sept. 26 to help Texans handle these specific transactions. The offices will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Both the Temple and the Killeen offices will be open on these two Saturdays. The Georgetown office in Williamson County is also participating in the extended hours.

Scheduling an appointment

As a reminder, DPS launched an appointment solution in May, and all services at DL offices are now conducted by appointment only. DPS moved to appointments only as part of our efforts to provide additional convenience, reducing the time Texans spend waiting in line. Customers can now book appointments for a specific day and time up to six months in advance. To schedule an appointment or check availability, visit the online appointment scheduler at https://public. txdpsscheduler.com.
