

Volunteers to lay wreaths in Salado section of Veterans Cemetery

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Thanks to the effort of a Salado boy, Salado now has a section of the Central Texas Veterans Cemetery for the Annual Wreath for Vets.

Segiv Eldridge, a sixth grader in Salado ISD, is calling for Salado volunteers to join him at Section 18, which is the Salado section for the annual Wreaths for Vets event at the Central Texas Veterans Cemetery.

Eldridge says that after he met Jean Shine, a founder and President of Wreaths for Vets, he realized that other central Texas communities like Killeen, Harker Heights and Copperas Cove have sections of the Veterans Cemetery that they collectively take responsibility for each Christmas holiday to put wreaths at the gravesite of each veteran buried there.

"I realized that Salado does not have any section or volunteers to represent our school district or village to honor and remember our military veterans past and present," he said. "I need your help!"

He is asking Saladoans to join him to adopt Section 18 of the Central Texas Veterans Cemetery off of Hwy 195 north of Killeen.

If you are interested in volunteering, email him at saladowreathsforvets@gmail.com. You can also follow the Facebook page saladowreathsforvets or Instagram @saladowreathsforvets for updates and information leading up to the event.

Wreaths will be put out by volunteers on Nov. 28. Buses will shuttle volunteers to and from the Cemetery from the Volunteer Parking lot at Texas A&M Central Texas campuses beginning at 8 a.m. and ending at noon.

A Wreath Ceremony will be held at the Cemetery at 10 a.m. Nov. 28, followed by the laying of the wreaths beginning at 10:20 a.m.

Family Members will be released first to allow them the opportunity to lay a wreath for their loved ones.

The Master of Ceremonies will then announce that Monument Volunteers will be released to place wreaths.

The MC will then announce that all volunteers may be released to place wreaths.

Eldridge reminds high school students that volunteering for Wreaths for Vets qualifies toward community service hours required for graduation and for scholarship applications.

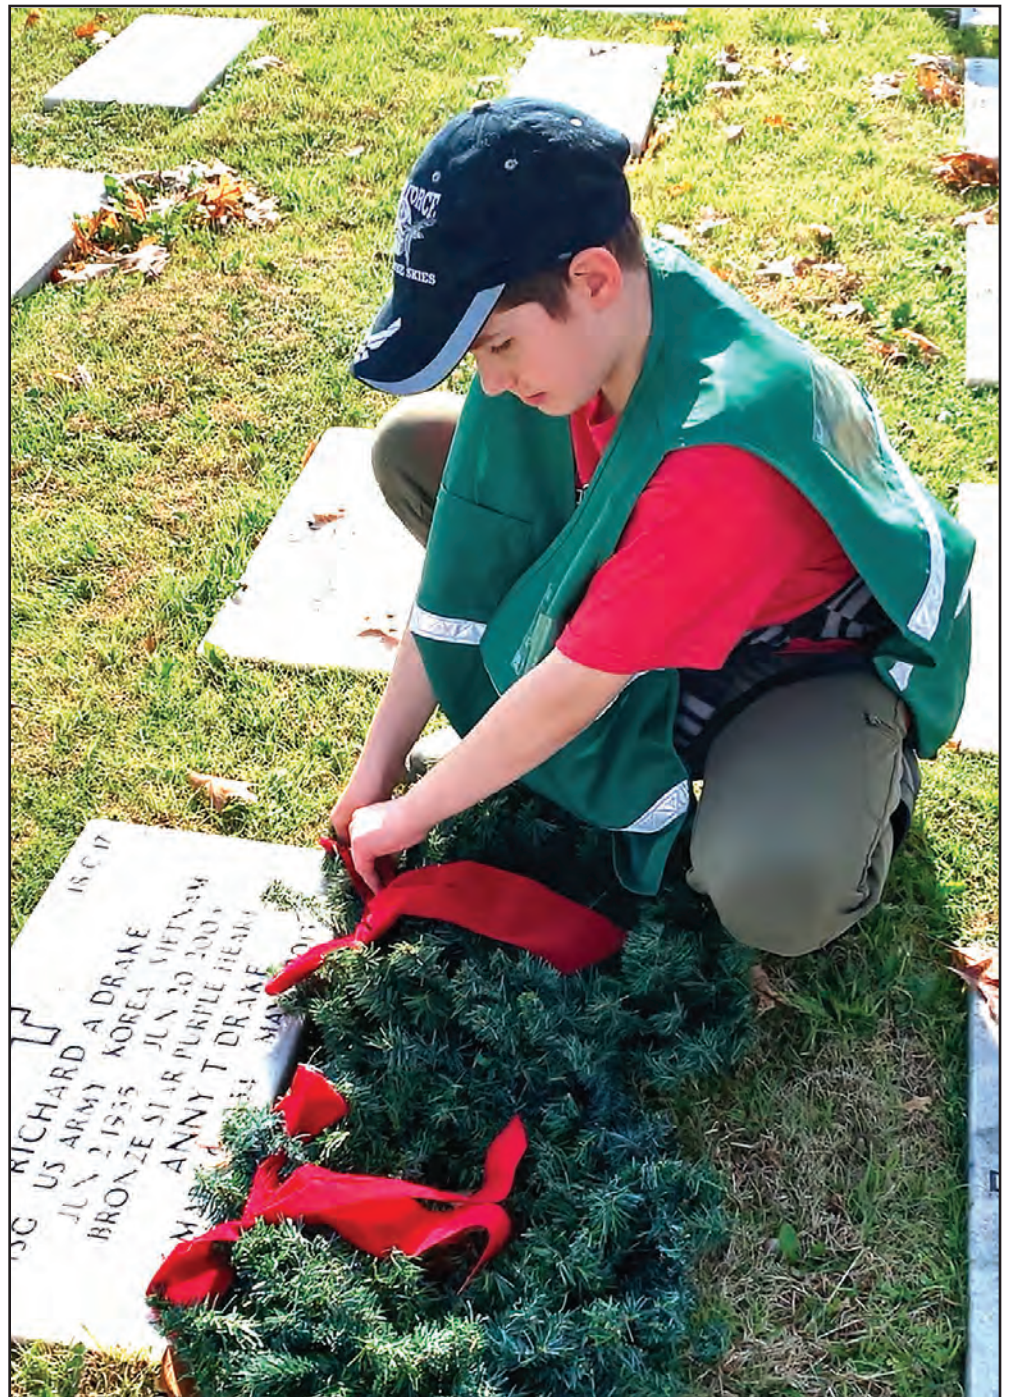

He asks that all Salado volunteers wear Salado shirts so that others will see that there is a Salado presence for this important event.

Due to COVID-19, face coverings will be enforced.

He encourages local organizations, businesses and individuals to contribute to the Wreaths for Vets organization, which is tax-deductible.

Visit www.wreathforvets.org to donate to the annual project.

"Salado Wreath for Vets is a great opportunity for community services and will count as hours for the National Honor Society and for other purposes as well," he said.

BoA gets updates on Sanctuary, 2020 Scottish Gathering Salado Heights developments

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Utility and street work is in full swing on Sanctuary Phase I residential development that will have 190 residential lots as small as 1/12th of an acre feeding into Royal Street at the Salado United Methodist Church.

"If you have not seen an aerial shot of it, they have vastly changed the landscape in that area," Village administrator Don Ferguson told aldermen on Nov. 5.

"They are cutting streets and installing utilities and making good progress," Ferguson said, adding that the Village is "inspecting their work on a regular basis."

The second phase of Sanctuary will be the development of the properties on the south side of FM 2268 (Wildfire Ranch) and the north side of FM 2268 (The Lakes).

"The apartment complex will hug the lake system on the north side of FM 2268," Ferguson said. It will include 300 apartments, a small 10-house subdivision on the northeast corner of the property and 40 townhouses. The apartments will be built in two phases: 210 in phase 1 and 90 in Phase 2.

"They will be as tall as three stories," Ferguson said. "Some will have covered garage parking, others will have covered parking and some will have open parking."

"They are working to maintain as much of the tree structures on the land as possible," he added.

Work is expected to begin early next year on this project and will take 18 months to complete.

"They are talking with us about dedicating park space with access to one of the lakes," Ferguson said.

"The development agreement as a whole sets out the standard of how they (apartments) are going to look," he added.

The developers are also in the process of putting together the request to form a Public Improvement District (PID). "This is not going to cost the village anything. We will be in charge of how it works. The developers will be responsible for the assessments," Ferguson said.

Eagle Heights

Ferguson also reported that developers have submitted construction plans for Village review for Eagle Heights, a mixed use development with 175 residential lots and 16 acres of commercial property at Williams Rd. and West Village Road. The process of voluntary annexation of the property began last week, according to Ferguson. A public hearing on the annexation of the property is planned for Nov. 19 at the Village Municipal Building.

WALKING BRIDGE TOPS IN AT $580,000

Salado aldermen got a surprise when they learned Nov. 5 of the costs of a proposed walking bridge over Salado Creek that will link Pace Park to downtown Salado.

The total cost, including permits, engineering and construction will be about $580,000. Of that, $284,000 will be for construction, $32,000 for engineering and $289,000 for permitting costs.

The largest part of the construction cost is $157,500 for anchoring the stepping stones that will cross Salado Creek.

Ferguson told aldermen that "I would question floating the study (a biological study required by US Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) because the work will take place within the proposed critical habitat area of the Salado salamander, which would be a further, unknown cost."

"Permitting costs will be extensive," Ferguson said, "Construction will have to be monitored by these federal agencies."

2020 Scottish Gathering Honors 59-Year Tradition

Since 1961 Scots have gathered in Salado every second weekend in November for the Scottish Gathering and Highland Games, a celebration of all things Scottish and the major annual fundraising event for the Salado Museum and College Park. This year the museum honors that tradition with the 59th Scottish Gathering and Highland Games as a virtual experience November 13-15 at www.saladomuseum.org.

"The 2020 Online Gathering is a tribute to all the people and organizations who have made the past 59 years possible," says Liz Patranella, Scottish Gathering Co-Chairman. "It is an opportunity to enjoy and remember the sights and sounds of previous Gatherings...the skirl of bagpipes, tossing the caber, men in kilts, Highland dancing, and the largest gathering of Scottish Clans in Texas."

In addition, the public is invited to a live Opening Ceremony on Salado's College Hill at Noon, Saturday, Nov. 14, the time the Gathering's parade and opening ceremonies are normally held. Pipe Major Doug Slason of the Silver Thistle Pipes and Drums will perform and there will be a brief presentation to open the virtual Gathering. The ceremony will be livestreamed on the museum website.

"The Scottish Gathering is the main fundraising event for the museum each year. The financial loss from the cancellation this year is a major challenge," Patranella says. "We welcome donations of any amount online or by mail to support the continuation of this annual tradition."

Next year, the Salado Museum will celebrate the 60th Scottish Gathering and Highland Games on November 12-14 at its new location, Johnny's Outback at 301 Thomas Arnold Drive in Salado.

Austin Tinplate Model Train displayed Nov. 14-15

The Austin Tinplate Trackers (an O-Gauge Model train club) will return to the Church of Christ Activity Center with a their train display The event will be open to the public 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Nov. 14 and again Noon - 4 p.m. Nov. 15. Everyone is invited to attend.

Membership is open to anyone having interest in Trains. Their website is constantly being updated so check back frequently.

The Tinplate Trackers are people who enjoy the operation of O-gauge tinplate trains on modules that are basically standardized, yet open to unlimited improvisation.

The largest layout created by members was 40 feet by 60 feet.

Tinplate refers to toy

trains and track — such as American Flyer, Marx and Lionel -- built before World War II, when they were made of metal. However, toy trains built today are mostly plastic but the tinplate rails still remain. Tinplate trains are larger than most scale model trains and are lots of fun.

A module is a unit, a short section of railroad, built to standard specifications so that it can be joined with other such units to form an oval layout. It is distinguished from a sectional layout, used by many clubs, which is made up of a number of units which assemble in only one way. The Tinplate Tracker modules, made in a few basic types, can be assembled in many different ways.

Divided government, less change is good news for markets

The Markets

Market & Economic Update

By Jeffrey W. McClure

The S&P 500 Stock Index (SPX) rose a whopping 7.32% for the week to close at 3509.44. That astounding weekly rise leaves it a mere 1.99% from its high point at the beginning of September and up 8.92% year to date. The word on the street was that a Biden presidency and a Republican majority in the Senate was the ideal situation for stocks as a divided government meant that there was little likelihood of major tax or regulatory changes. There were also elements of a relief rally in the gains as the specter of an unknown outcome to the presidential election receded. The SPX continues to be driven by about ten large-cap growth stocks priced at extraordinarily high prices so a correction at some point is not out of the question.

The ten-year U.S. Treasury note yield slipped a bit, falling 6.83% to 0.819% as the prospects for a major stimulus bill seemed to slip further away but the yield remained well above where it has been the past several months while the yield curve remained decidedly positive. West Texas Intermediate crude oil (WTI) rose over 5% to $37.41 but remained below the critical $40 level as economic prospects seemed to brighten.

The Economy

There was a lot of economic news this week but hidden in what is normally a relatively mundane press release was what may turn out to be a major shift in the U.S. economy. On November 5, the Bureau of Labor Statistics, one of our favorite government agencies as it is literally a bureaucracy and freely admits it, announced that "nonfarm business sector labor productivity increased 4.9% in the third quarter of 2020" as output rose 43.5% but the number of hours worked only increased 36.8%. To provide some context, productivity in the U.S. has been growing at one to two percent per year for the past decade. It rose a whopping 10.6% in the second quarter as a large portion of the American labor force was laid off or furloughed but that was a result of the layoffs. That labor productivity rose 4.9% even as people were being hired back is stunning. Business output remains 4% below where it was in the fourth quarter of 2019, but hours worked is 7.5% lower. This productivity revolution is most evident in manufacturing where productivity soared an astounding 19% in the quarter primarily in the durable goods area. Manufacturing output remains 6% behind where it was a year ago but in the face of an ongoing pandemic, American businesses have reorganized, automated, and generally made themselves more efficient.

Another surprising number was released during the week. A Stanford University survey found that 42% of currently employed workers in the United States are working from home. Counterintuitively, that high level of home-based workforce may be a big contributor to the jump in productivity. How much of that productivity gain and work from home percentage will be retained after the pandemic passes by is anyone's guess but at least some of the gains are likely to linger.

The labor market appeared to be in near equilibrium as official unemployment declined to 6.9% but new unemployment claims for the week held steady at 751,000. For the month of October, job growth was at 638,000, down from September's 672,000. Employers have added about 12.1

million jobs since April, just over half the 22.2 million lost in the spring. The official unemployment figures, which do not include self-employed or contract workers remain at roughly twice that of a year ago. Service industries in the U.S. constitute the bulk of employment and the data indicate that service hiring virtually stopped in the month of October. Survey and anecdotal information suggest that the record-breaking number of new COVID infections combined with colder weather may result in recent labor gains reversing as new layoffs hit. The labor recovery continues to be "K" shaped as factories and professions are hiring while services are continuing to lay off workers.

The COVID-19 pandemic remains with us as the U.S. recorded a record 126,403 new cases and 1,248 deaths on November 6. That takes the death toll in America to 235,601 in eight months and a cumulative 2.4% mortality rate for those confirmed infected. Here in Bell County, the cases and deaths continue to rise with 6,770 confirmed infections and 103 deaths. Over 19,000 people have now died in Texas from the virus.

We continue to foresee a dramatic rebound in the economy once we have an effective vaccine in widespread use, but we are apparently in the second wave of the pandemic and there are likely some surprises and bumps to come. We also continue to advise investors to hold fast to a well-diversified portfolio and a good cash reserve. The crisis is neither over nor likely to wreck us. Be patient. Wear your masks. Keep your distance.

MICHAEL V. WILLIAMSON

Michael V. Williamson, FACHE, 81, of Salado, Texas passed away peacefully on November 7, 2020 with Margaret by his side.

Mike was born on October 2, 1939 in Temple, Texas to Marcus V. and Margaret Pinkston Williamson. Mike completed the Executive Program in Health Policy and Management at Harvard University in 1981 and received his Fellowship in American College of Healthcare Executives in 1983 becoming a life fellow in 2005. Mike married his high school sweetheart, Margaret Bowles, in 1961 while both were students at UT and they embarked on a life long journey together. Mike served in the health care industry for over 45 years, thirty four of those years with the Methodist Health Care System (subsequently Houston Methodist) in Houston, Texas. During his time at Methodist, he served in numerous administrative positions and had many extraordinary experiences witnessing medical firsts and improving health care for patients. He retired from The Methodist Health Care System in 1997 as Executive Vice President.

Upon retiring from the Methodist Health Care System, he and wife, Margaret moved to Salado, Texas where he began his own health care consulting company advising health care providers and community hospitals, and serving on the board of First Care Insurance Company. He retired once again in 2009. Mike was in many leadership roles in Houston and Salado serving on the boards of St. Paul's United Methodist Church (Houston), Salado United Methodist Church, The Methodist Hospital, Kings Daughter Hospital Association, Texas State Technical College Foundation and Texas Hospital Association. Other community affiliations were being on the board of the Institute for the Humanities at Salado and chair of the Bell County Museum Association. Mike was a recipient of ACHE Senior Level Healthcare Executive Regent's Award, was adjunct professor of the Graduate Program in Health Care Administration, University of Istanbul, Turkey (1989-1995) and regent, ACHE, Energy/Space center region of Texas.

Family, friends and faith were the cornerstones of his life. His family gave him great joy and love. He developed lasting friendships through the years, enjoying morning walks, gathering with colleagues or spending an evening together over dinner. In the summer of 1961, Mike spent a semester at the University of Colorado at Boulder which gave him a love of Colorado.

He returned frequently for 56 years. It was his happy place entertaining family and friends, hiking and backpacking in the mountains, jeeping, fly fishing, skiing and relishing nature. He also had a life-long love of photography and he was able to study with well known art photographers and travel with Margaret to photography destinations at home and abroad.

Mike was preceded in death by his parents. He is survived by his wife of 59 years, Margaret; son, Scott Williamson of Sugarland, Texas; daughter, Alice Moore and husband, Eric of Dallas; grandsons, Michael and Parker Williamson and granddaughter Ryan Elizabeth Moore; sister-in-law, Ann Bowles Turk and husband, Dennis of Belton and three special nieces, Elizabeth, Susan and Karen and their families.

In Mike's autobiography, "It's The Way It Was", he ends with the following quote. "In closing, it's been a good life. I have a beautiful, smart, kind and loving wife; two great, handsome, caring and loving children and three beautiful, outstanding grandchildren."

Because of Covid no formal service will be held. The family sincerely thanks the staff of The Cottages at Chandler Creek, Round Rock for their devotion to our family during this time. In lieu of flowers, please consider a donation to your favorite charity or Salado United Methodist Church (Salado, TX), Houston Methodist Hospital Foundation (Houston, TX) or the Bell County Museum Association (Belton, TX).

Ferguson said that he would submit the project to the Killeen Temple Metropolitan Planning Organization.

"Who does this benefit?" alderman John Cole asked.

Ferguson said that it would add a companion parking lot for parking downtown. The cost of the bridge does not include any parking lots costs.

"It has its benefits," Ferguson said. "The costs are a little high."

"What will it cost us to keep this?" Alderman Amber Preston-Dankert said. "If it is continuously backing up. If we don't clean it out, it will overflow and then the path is gone."

In other business on the Nov. 5 agenda, aldermen authorized the Mayor to complete the annual performance rating of the Village Administrator.

Aldermen also approved submitting for a grant for the Salado Police department in the amount of $19,000 to replace radio equipment.

The board moved any action on the Stagecoach Inn Development agreement to Nov. 19.

Aldermen turned down a request for relief from the sewer bill for the months of April, May, June and July from Clinton Harwell due to his restaurant being closed during those months. His sewer bill for those months was more than $900 per month. He asked to be billed the minimum commercial rate for those months of $60 per month.

against South's three-notrump contract. Declarer put up dummy's queen, which held, and then set about establishing the club suit. However, East declined to cooperate, refusing to take his ace on either the first or second round.

This left declarer with no recourse. He could go ahead and establish the clubs by playing a third round, but there would then be no way to reach the dummy. In practice, he turned his attention to spades and wound up down one, scoring two tricks each suit.

Considering that South had a sure thing going from the opening bell, it is difficult to muster any sympathy for him. The plain fact is that after the opening heart lead, nine tricks were there for the taking.

Declarer's error came when he played the queen of hearts from dummy at trick one, a momentary victory that eventually cost him the contract. Instead, he should have played dummy's deuce and taken whatever card East produced with the ace. This would have assured a later entry to dummy with either the queen or jack of hearts.

In the actual deal, after taking East's nine (or six) with the ace, declarer plays three rounds of clubs. East can then return a heart or shift to another suit, as he likes, but nothing can stop South from scoring a spade, two hearts, two diamonds and four clubs for his contract.

School board election unlike any others in the past

Here are the results from our November 3 school board election:

Kim Bird = 3,272 votes
Savannah Hennig = 3,199 votes

Troy Smith = 2,922 votes
Troy Byrd = 2,316 votes

Congratulations to Kim Bird and Troy Smith for being re-elected and to Savannah Hennig for being elected. Nate Self did not run for re-election. Thank you to Nate for the outstanding job he did serving on the school board these past three and a half years.

This school board election was unique in several ways.

It was the first time we ever had a school board election in November. Our school board elections have always been in May, however, this year the Texas Secretary of State's Office directed school districts and cities to reschedule our May elections to November due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Superintendent's Corner

by Dr. Michael Novotny

As a result, this was the first time our school board members' three year terms were adjusted. This past three year term was increased to three and a half years and this upcoming term will only be two and a half years.

This was also the first time our school board election was conducted along with a presidential election. As a result, we had by far the highest participation ever in a school board election. The highest number of votes a school board candidate ever received prior to this year was 877 votes. This year, all four candidates received approximately three to four times that number.

When Kim Bird completes this term, she will tie both Darrell Street and Jeff Kelley for the longest time spent on the school board with 15 years of service each.

Savannah Hennig has become the youngest Salado ISD school board member ever elected at 33 years of age. She is also now the fourth member of her family to serve on the Salado ISD school board. Her grandfather (Bill Bartlett), her uncle (Gary Bartlett), and her aunt (Melanie Kirchmeier) have all previously served on our school board.

Thank you to all of our current and former school members for their volunteer service to our students, employees, and school district.

Larnce Barker Gofundme page established to defray medical cost

A Gofundme page has been established to benefit Larnce Barker, one of the voices of Schoolboy Sports covering the Salado Eagles sports team.

Barker was admitted into the hospital on Oct. 17 with coughing and severe breathing issues. He was diagnosed with COVID-19 related pneumonia and was in an induced coma for 10 days. He remains in the hospital and was taken off oxygen just a few days ago. He has a long road of recovery ahead of him. His condition, according to his wife Charity, has been tough and go on several occasions. His wife Charity and their three sons Tommie, Dillon and Jacob have been on an emotional roller coaster.

Larnce and Charity are both coaches and teachers at Harker Heights High School. Tommie is a sophomore at Lamar University and twins Dillon and Jacob are juniors at Harker Heights High School.

For many years, Larnce coached little league football, including some of the players that are taking the field for Salado High School right now.

Good Luck from your 'Home' Team

First Community Title presented $100 to Salado Elementary School Third Grade teacher Lindsay Jones. First Community Title owner Claire Hartman recognized Jones as having a big heart when she adopted Gabriel the great Dane and mascot of FCT upon the death of his owner Brad. Jones has used the contribution to provide books through the year to her students. Jones noted, "I am a huge believer in access to books and words and how they take you places." Each student will receive 5 books this year to keep for their home library.

CTC spring semester registration

Registration for spring 2021 semester classes at the Central Texas College (CTC) Central, Fort Hood and Service Area campuses is now open. Classes will be offered in eight- and 16-week sessions as traditional online courses and in the synchronous real-time virtual (SVL) format. SVL provides live instruction online in a virtual environment. Students will log in to class at regularly scheduled class days and times for live instruction and interaction in real time. In addition to these delivery formats, a small selection of classes in the second eight-week session, which begins March 22, will also be offered in an online blended format combining both in-classroom instruction and synchronous virtual online work.

New for the spring semester is a cloud computing curriculum that prepares students to pursue industry-recognized certifications in highly sought-after cloud careers. Cloud computing is the on-demand delivery of IT resources over the internet. Users can access technology services such as computing power, storage and databases on an as-needed basis from a cloud provider.

CTC is now one of the first community colleges in Texas to offer an associate degree in cloud technology. The new curriculum is provided through CTC's new affiliation with Amazon Web Services (AWS) Academy. Developed and maintained by AWS subject matter experts, the curriculum is designed to ensure students receive the most up-to-date, current services and best practices. The program will provide students the opportunity to design, develop and architect cloud computing environments and prepare them for AWS most in-demand certifications.

Students looking to jump start or change careers can take advantage of the recently initiated quick career training programs. Short-term credit certificates of completion and non-credit programs in a variety of fields of study are offered and many can be completed in less than one year.

Both online and in-person training options are available in a variety of areas in six career clusters: arts and humanities; construction, manufacturing and transportation; business and business technology; health care; public service; and science, technology, engineering and math (STEM).

Many of the programs offer preparation for licensure, professional certifications and credentials that can be earned in less than one year. For students wishing to continue their studies, courses in the certification programs will "stack" toward an associate of applied science degree.

Many of the CTC career cluster programs are eligible for financial aid or other financial assistance that could completely cover the cost of training. For information on available programs, visit ctcd.edu/quick-training.

Returning students can register for spring 2021 classes on WebAdvisor now through January 17. Classes start Tuesday, January 19. New students must complete the admissions and advising process before registering on WebAdvisor. The CTC Eagles on Call Center is available to assist new students with academic advisement by emailing Eaglesoncall@ctcd.edu or calling 254-526-1296. Central campus academic advising appointments can also be made at ctcd.edu/advisorappointment and students at the Fort Hood campus can call 254-526-1917 for assistance.

Temple College offers emergency aid grants

Temple College has announced plans to give $300 emergency aid grants to students who enroll in 12 or more credit hours during spring 2021.

Funding for the grants is coming from money the college received from the federal government as part of the CARES Act. The grants can be used to cover pandemic-related expenses such as food, housing, course materials, technology, healthcare and childcare. To receive the grants, students must register for 12 or more credit hours by Dec. 15, 2020 and be eligible to participate in the Federal student financial aid programs under Section 484 of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

The first grant distributions will be made Feb. 5, 2021 for students enrolled in 1st 8-week or 16-week courses. Students enrolled only in 2nd 8-week courses will receive their grants on March 31, 2021.

For more information, visit www.templejc.edu/safety/coronavirus/cares-grants/.

Bell County Museum Opens New County History Exhibit to Public

The Bell County Museum opened Discover Bell County, the museum's signature permanent exhibit, to the public on Tuesday, October 13. The exhibit is located on the first floor of the museum's historic Carnegie Library, and focuses on four themes of Bell County History: The Land, Agriculture and Ranching, Transportation and Industry, and Education and Culture. The new exhibit is the result of a years-long effort by the museum to create an updated County history exhibit that is comprehensive, inclusive, and visually appealing to visitors.

"Our staff put incredible effort into this permanent exhibit. From the beginning stages of research, writing, and editing to artifact selection, exhibit design, and installation, the process of bringing Bell County History to our visitors was deeply meaningful. Our hope is to bring that meaning and passion for history to everyone is Bell County," said Executive Director Coleman Hampton.

Visitors to Discover Bell County will enjoy a fresh selection of artifacts and stories, as well as some old favorites. Newly exhibited pieces including the "Two Governors Chair", made for Ma and Pa Ferguson, and two Clovis arrow points. The museum's famed Moustache Teacup Collection and works of art by Bell County natives Marie Cronin and Ella Mewhinney are exhibited in a newly designed area. In addition, visitors will be able to view historic photographs from the museum collection on a newly installed touchscreen.

"The Bell County Commissioners Court and our Board of Trustees have been incredibly supportive of this project. Everyone understands the importance of educating and engaging our families, students, and citizenry on Bell County History. History is all around us. We are making history right now. That is what I hope people take away from Discover Bell County," Hampton said.

Life of a Dyslexic

BY SYDNEY VAN WINKLE

Here we go yet again. "Sydney, say and put the alphabet together." "Now, put the numbers in order from 0-10." I was 8 and struggled with the most simple tasks that a 3/4-year-old could do. Embarrassed is an understatement. But dyslexia isn't all about getting letters or numbers mixed up. It's not about being illiterate. It's not about the level of intelligence.

Simply put it is learning in a different way. We like visuals. We like to have the hands-on experience to understand things. We like math but have a difficult time explaining it or showing work. We HATE to read! We get frustrated easily no matter the situation. For me I get frustrated because I do my best to explain things but it never comes out the right way or I know a word and it's meaning but don't know how to pronounce it....I am 25...frustrating. Therefore, most people just give me that look..."like what are you even talking about?" We like everything to be PERFECT and get so upset when it's not. Everyone that knows me knows this is an extreme FACT about me. I don't know how many times I sat at the table at my great uncle's house rewriting in a general ledger page after page because my handwriting wasn't straight on the line. It was for an accounting project my first semester and wanted to make a good impression and wanted mine to be the best. About 7 hours later I was finally finished.

Being a dyslexic, no day is the same. Am I going to have a good day or a bad day? Am I going to be able to make a decision about breakfast or am I going to get frustrated and just skip out? Literally that is an EVERYDAY battle. Am I going to be social today or will I let low-self-esteem get the best of me? Will I be able to talk in complete sentences or am I just going to give up and not talk at all? This one is probably the biggest one I struggle with. Still to this day if I am called on in class or even talking to friends/family I get very overwhelmed and anxious and will literally just shut down. What dyslexics need most is patience. Not to feel rushed. Most of us talk slow but once we know we are surrounded by people who don't mind being patient with us, letting us gather our thoughts and then being able to say them, makes everything more comfortable and easier for everyone.

I am very fortunate and so blessed to have a mother who did everything she could to try to understand. She researched, reached out to people, got the best tutors for me and made sure I was surrounded by people who cared and understood what I was going through. Before I actually even knew what life was going to be like for me even in adulthood.

K-12 there is one way and one way only the "normal" way. If a student does not comprehend the "normal" way we are put into small classrooms away from peers. Giving us the feeling that "there is something wrong with us" or "we just aren't all there." Growing up I was tested for many different things because the teachers couldn't understand why I could do difficult tasks but fail at the simpler ones. In my momma's words, "we didn't know if you were a genius or what was going on." I am not ashamed to say that I literally failed every TAKS test until my high school years. And I am not ashamed to say that I literally cried when the teachers told me I got either a perfect score or commended or all 4 parts of the TAKS. To some of y'all, that standardized test might have been really easy, but for me, my family knew how much I would stress over that stupid thing. So, when we got the scores back my mother always threw me and my sister a big celebration.

Dyslexia is labeled as a learning disability. Having that and ADD has not been easy in my educational journey, but I have learned to work with it. I know each assignment is going to take me 3-4 hours. I know that I cannot have any background noise when completing assignments. I know it's going to take me At least 1 hour to get focused before even opening the textbook or laptop.

But guess what has happened to me learning all those things about myself throughout the years...I am now a part of National Honor Societies. I have been granted academic awards. I have been offered jobs with some of the top major companies in the world. I have had the chance to speak to people that I once only thought Ivy League students could speak to. I have been presented with opportunities to not only further my career choice but also the opportunity to talk to and help children who have dyslexia or trouble reading.

Salado Family Relief Fund "Empty Bowl" Fundraiser helps those in Salado

Salado Family Relief Fund 2020 Empty Bowl. The annual fundraiser was held on Saturday, November 7 at the Salado High School Cafeteria. Even with the restrictions of social distancing, many loyal supporters turned out to dine-in on soup from area restaurants or purchased it to go. Restaurants participating in this year's event include Alexander's, Cathy's Boardwalk, Chupacabra Kitchen, Johnny's Steakhouse, Lively's, McCain's, Salado Pizza Place, Brody's, The Stagecoach Inn, and The Shed. Guests made donations and picked out pottery from a large selection made by local artists and art students at Salado High School.

The Empty Bowl Project

is the only fundraiser sponsored each year by Salado Family Relief (SFRF) and allows the organization to help qualifying families with rent or utility payments. SFRF organizes the Back-to-School program which provides much needed assistance to families with kids in the Salado Independent School System. Additionally, SFRF helps local families at Christmas by coordinating the collection and distribution of toys and clothing for over 150 kids each year. To learn more about Salado Family Relief, visit www.saladofamilyrelief.com. Donations can be made online or by sending a check to P.O. Box 461, Salado, TX 76571.

Salado faces Rusk in first round of playoffs

Salado Eagles face the Rusk Eagles in the bi-district round of the 4A, Div. 2 football playoffs with kick off at A&M Consolidated High School stadium 7:30 p.m. Nov. 13.

Rusk is the fourth place team out of District 10, while Salado is the District Champ of District 9, with a 9-1 record. Salado has outscored its opponents, 427-149 with a single mar to its record in a 21-7 second week loss to the repeating champions of 3A football, the Grandview Zebras.

Rusk is 5-5 on the year, 2-3 in district. They have a balanced offense that has 927 yards passing and 1,305 yards rushing. The ball is spread out between several running backs, but Alex Jones leads the pack with 593 yards on 88 carries and nine touchdowns. Junior quarterback Owen McCown handles most of the duties, passing for 883 yards and eight TDs.

Rusk will face a daunting defense in Salado, which has allowed only 2,395 yards total offense this season, including 1,762 yards rushing and 633 passing. Kofi Stoglin anchors the defense with 44 tackles on the year.

Salado has a relentless offensive attack all three running backs as threats to break big runs. Noah Mescher leads the offense with 1,335 yards on 151 carries and 19 TDs. Reid Vincent had 1,065 yards on 98 carries and 9 TDs. Wrook Brown has 520 yards on 47 carries and 10 TDs.

The Eagles are on a trajectory to face top-ranked Carthage, but will first have to get past their District 10 opponent Rusk this week.

Chief's Notes: In our on-going series of scams being utilized locally the most recent one was reported to the police department where the number that the SCAMMER was calling from was the police department phone number (254) 947-5681. A common theme among these nefarious rascallions is that they are using software that allows them to use any phone number to call you. When you attempt to call the number back it will go to phone number that they "ghosted". Remember to protect yourself. These individuals will ask you questions about your bank account and personal identifiers. DO NOT GIVE THEM ANYTHING. Check with the bank or company that they say that they are from and verify what they are telling you about your account. If there is truly a problem your bank/business will help you with the matter.
