BY TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Bell County Health District, as one of 80 COVID-19 vaccination hubs across the state, has administered 11,607 vaccines as of Jan. 31.

"This represents about two-and-a-half percent of the total population of the County," County Judge David Blackburn said Feb. 1. "Keep in mind that not everyone that gets a vaccine at the Bell County hub is a Bell County resident.

Judge Blackburn announced the opening of a third vaccine center site, which will administer the second dose in a drive-through facility at the Bell County Expo Center. Judge Blackburn told commissioners at their Feb. 1 meeting that the third location will open later this week and will be open Monday through Thursday beginning next week.

He said that this site would be for those who have received their first doses through Bell County Health District. "If you got your first dose elsewhere, you need to book your second dose with that provider," Judge Blackburn said.

The new second dose site will operate by appointment only, which can be booked through the bellcounty-health.org website.

Bell County Health Department will open the website for appointments for first doses beginning at 12:01 a.m. Feb. 9. "We will open the website each week at 12:01 a.m., Tuesday to book appointments for that week," Judge Blackburn said. "We are doing this in close proximity in time to the arrival of the weekly vaccines."

Judge Blackburn said that this is being done to mitigate cancellations and no-shows for appointments for first doses of the vaccine.

Judge Blackburn reminded residents that it has opened a wait-list to fill-in openings when cancellations occur. He also said that as of Feb. 1, there are 15,001 on the wait list.

"I encourage folks not to be discouraged by that number. We are making hundreds of calls per day to people on the wait list. We are going through that wait list in a fairly efficient time and speed."

He also reminded residents that the wait list and the appointment list are two different lists. "Getting on one does not get you on the other," he said.

Bell County is one of 80 vaccination hubs in the state. He reminded residents that they can go to any vaccination hub in the state and that there are vaccination hubs in McLennan County and Williamson County.

Drama Llamas

There's always drama at the Salado Village Voice newspaper office and this week the newspaper has the Drama Llamas to go with it. A herd of Drama Llamas were placed behind the newspaper office for Coco and Crew (Marilyn Fleischer and Royce Wigglin) to find on one of their regular walks. The Drama Llamas will find new homes this week when the Salado Village Voice pays for them to be delivered elsewhere as a fundraiser for the Salado Theatre Booster Club. You can join in the fun and have a Drama Llama delivered to your friends homes or businesses in Salado ISD. There is Lorenzo Llama, Llama Mia, No-Prob Llama, Dolly Llama, Mathew McConough-Llama and JJ Llama. You can send one for $15, two for $25, three for $35 or a Whole Herd for $100. Visit saladotheatre.com to order or email saladotheatrebooster@gmail.com. You can even have a personal message delivered with the llama. (PHOTO BY TIM FLEISCHER)

BCESD#1 elects officers, Water woes for Sanctuary designates boundaries

BY TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Bell County Emergency Services District #1 (BCESD#1) commissioners adopted the official boundaries of the district, elected officers and took care of other establishment business at their first meeting on Jan. 28 at the Salado Volunteer Fire Department station #2.

Commissioners elected Don Engleking to act as President in their first action as a board. They elected Allan Dillon as Vice-President, Ashley Voss-Liebig as secretary, David Matthews as Treasurer and Don Hogue as Assistant Treasurer.

The board then adopted the metes and bounds on record for the November 6 election and published in the June 25, 2020 edition of Salado Village Voice as the official boundaries of the BCESD#1.

In other business, commissioners voted to move forward with bonding all of the members of the board, not just the treasurer.

BCESD#1 will contract with John Carlton for legal services in establishing the district. The district will also join SAFE-D (State Association of Fire and Emergency Services Districts) to utilize their resources.

BCESD#1 will also join Bell County Appraisal District for its services in certifying property values and collecting taxes, when adopted, on behalf of the District.

Commissioners reviewed the preliminary totals in property values provided by BELLCAD. The district is estimated to have a net taxable value of $1.4 billion. At a tax rate of $0.10 per $100 (the maximum amount allowed by state law and authorized by voters in approving the formation of the BCESD#1), the district would realize $1.4 million in revenue per year.

Commissioners discussed getting the training in Ethics and the Texas Open Meetings Act as required by state law. They will utilize SAFE-D to get that training.

The board set 1 p.m. on the Third Thursday of each month at the Salado VFD Station #2 as their regular meeting time and location for future meetings. All meetings are open to the public, but the board may retire into executive session under the Open Meetings Act.

Salado Water Supply Corporation rejected two proposals from the developer of Sanctuary Development, a mixed use development of almost 300 acres of property off of Royal St., FM 2268 and I-35.

The board voted on Jan. 28 to turn down both proposals brought to them by Sanctuary earlier in the month.

Sanctuary developers have presented the Village of Salado with petitions for the formation of two Public Improvement Districts with infrastructure and other improvements totaling $60 million to be funded by bonds to be retired by assessments on the properties within the PIDs.

The developers came before SWSC to secure water for 1,547 Living Unit Equivalents (LUEs) of retail water service for the remaining phases of Sanctuary development. SWSC has already committed to providing water service to the 170-180 residential lots in the first phase of the development.

In order to provide water service for the complete development, SWSC would have to upsize and upgrade its infrastructure by some $4.5 million, a cost that would be passed on to the developer benefiting from the improvements.

However, PID funds can only be spent on public infrastructure costs, according to the developer. SWSC is a private corporation, so improvements to the infrastructure outside of the PID boundaries would not be eligible for PID funding.

Salado Village Voice has not received an answer to the question of whether the water infrastructure within the boundaries of the PID would be eligible for bond funds.

Sanctuary developers offered two alternatives to address this issue, both of which were unanimously rejected by the SWSC board of directors.

The first was to fund the improvements through PID funding. To be eligible, however, the water infrastructure must be owned by a public entity, i.e. the Village of Salado, which would hold the improvements for the term of the PID bonds (20-25 years), after which time the infrastructure would become the property of the SWSC. The infrastructure would be leased by the SWSC and during that time, the SWSC

Sirena Fest announces events, plans for non-profit

BY TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Sirena Fest announced its 2021 calendar of events and announced its efforts to become a 501(c)3 non-profit organization during a launch party at Stagecoach Inn's new Longhorn Room Jan. 29.

Tiffany Schreiner introduced some of the members of the Sirenafest board as well as the team that is working on designing and constructing the all abilities playground at Pace Park.

The Village of Salado is applying for a $75,000 matching grant through the Texas Parks and Wildlife for construction of the all abilities playground on the upper level of Pace Park, replacing the existing playground which is almost 20 years old and is in disrepair.

Alderman Amber Dankert described the playground as a seamless transition between a playground that meets the needs of "kiddos that need something a little bit different and the kids that want to visit because they see a playground."

Dankert said that her dedication to the all abilities playground is because of her advocating for the special needs of her own children.

"They do need things differently but they don't want it to look different," she said.

"Without Amber's support, it may have been more challenging to get the Village on board," Schreiner said.

Schreiner introduced Brian Mattox of Round Rock as the project manager on the design and placement of the all abilities playground.

Emily Jones spoke about the formation of the Sirena Ambassadors in support of Sirenafest events and raising money for the all abilities playground. The group did a fashion show in early 2020, but COVID put a halt on other events. The group continues to raise money for Sirenafest.

The Sirenafest events include MerTexas Lovebomb Events for Valentines weekend at The Well on Rock Creek Dr.

Schreiner explained that The Well is the "brick and mortar of Sirena Fest."

The Well will be the location of the Wildflower Waltz March 19-21.

The MerDash and Splash will begin and end at South-Shore on Salado Creek on April 3.

Sirena Fest will have a MerTex Market as part of the Cowboy Poetry Weekend scheduled for May 6-9.

The Well and other businesses along Rock Creek will host an Edgy Arts Fest & Rocking on Rock Creek July 1-4.

Mystery of the Deep will be a Fashion Grotto, High Tea and Happy Hour at Stagecoach Inn in September, date to be set.

The Fifth Annual Sirena Festival and Parade will be Oct. 1.

Speculative mania on Game Stop, AMC grab headlines, but have little effect on broad market

The Markets
Our old friend, the often-volatile S&P 500 Stock Index (SPX) turned in a bit of a dismal week, declining about 3.3% to close at 3714.2 under a deluge of bad economic news from 2020. First, the 2020 U.S. GDP was reported by the Commerce Department to have declined 3.5%, then came another zinger from the Bureau of Economic Analysis with the official notification that in December, for the second month in a row the U.S. consumer spending was down even as prices rose 0.4%, suggesting a return of weak but real inflation pressure. That puts the SPX at a minus 1.11% for the month but still up a whopping 16% since the end of October. The only real surprise was that the decline was so small. More on the economic reports below.

We don't want to totally discount the speculative mania around GameStop, the relatively small-time retail game seller, or AMC, the theater company, but both are headline grabbing stories that have little effect on the broad market and are symptomatic of late bull market craziness. The only significant impact on the larger world is that some big-time hedge funds lost a lot of money as they had to buy their way out of short positions and, as a result had to sell stocks in the real stock market which probably contributed to the week's decline. This has happened before. Those of us who can remember back to the late 1990s recall that companies with no earnings or plan to ever be profitable soared to astronomical heights before crashing back to earth on a very common basis. Amateur investors in a feeding frenzy tend to do such things.

The benchmark 10-year U.S. Treasury note yield agreed on the negative uncertainty by declining less than one percent to 1.064%, holding well above the symbolic 1% line. The usually prescient Treasury yield curve remained decidedly optimistic as the curve steepened with the 30-year T-bond yielding 1.827%, up 11.35% for January. Oil demurred, as the price of West Texas Intermediate crude rose just under a half percent for the week to $52.18, up nearly 8% for January and an astounding 46% over the last three months.

The Economy
The big news, even if widely expected, was that the United States gross domestic product (GDP) fell 3.5% for the calendar year 2020 despite a 1% rise in the fourth quarter. That was the largest decline in U.S. GDP since 1946 as we demobilized from World War II. On top of that, nonfarm payrolls in the fourth quarter were down 6% from where they were in 2019, three times the decline we saw in 2008 in the worst of the "great recession." The difference between the loss of jobs and GDP decline was striking. Common sense suggests that if we lost 6% of the labor force a 3.5% loss in national production just doesn't add up, but it happened. The difference illustrates where the jobs were primarily lost. It was the relatively low productivity, lower wage workers who were eliminated even as manufacturing charged ahead with increased automation, as did many non-manufacturing industries.

Even as the overall economy appeared to stall out late in the fourth quarter, purchases of durable goods were up 12% from a year earlier. Recreational vehicle sales jumped 21% and housing investment rose 14% as homeowners went on a home improvement surge. In a mirror image of the residential investment number, spending on new commercial structures sunk 14%. Unfortunately, spending in the services sector, where employees with less formal education tend to work, was a stunning 33% lower in the fourth quarter than in the year before.

As an interesting side note, even as December's consumer spending sagged in a month where consumers normally splurge, average personal income rose 0.6% according to the Labor Department. The average could be misleading though. Skilled, experienced or educated workers were reported in short supply across the country, generating jumps in wages and overtime for those areas. Meanwhile, lower-skilled workers were still being laid off in January at a rate between 800,000 and 900,000 per week.

There is both good news and bad news on the pandemic front. The good news is that the record number of hospitalizations we saw early in the month appears to have declined in the last two weeks but is still elevated for the month to the highest level we have seen. At the same time, the daily number of newly reported cases has begun to decline as well, although like the hospitalizations, is still very elevated. The bad news is that the U.S. total deaths in January from Covid-19 through the 27th was 83,249, an incomplete total that has already broken December's record 77,487 according to data from Johns Hopkins.

In short, this appears to be in the rough spot we have been forecasting. How long this bumpy time will last continues to depend on our behavior and how quickly we can get the lion's share of our population vaccinated. The good news is that with consumers and corporations still flush with cash, it looks more and more like 2021 will be a record-breaking year for GDP growth and job creation once we have the pandemic whipped. Have patience. Keep watching. Be careful.

BEC Communications brings internet services to rural customers

BEC Communications (a division of Bartlett Electric Cooperative) is proud to announce it is bringing high-speed internet service to its members and the surrounding communities.

Randy and Melissa Rafay have been members of Bartlett Electric Cooperative for over 30 years and on January 18, 2021 they became the first members to receive internet services from BEC Communications.

Bryan Lightfoot, General Manager/CEO of Bartlett

Electric Cooperative said, "This is truly an exciting time for our members. Over 85 years ago rural Texans wanted access to the same conveniences afforded to those living in the cities, and electricity was at the top of the list. Therefore, in 1935 our members demonstrated vision and courage when they started Bartlett Electric Cooperative, the first rural electric cooperative in the nation to provide electricity under the REA program. Today, lack of access to high-speed internet is a struggle our membership is facing. But just like in 1935, the members of Bartlett Electric Cooperative have once again taken matters into their own hands. The launch of BEC Communications will serve to improve the lives of all our members by bringing high-speed internet to rural Texans."

BEC Communications is currently building a fiber and wireless network in the areas of Bell, Milam, and Williamson counties.

would have all rights to the infrastructure without interference from the Village of Salado.

The second alternative would require the de-certification of the Sanctuary property from the SWSC Certificate of Convenience and Necessity. The Village or a newly-created Municipal Utility District would become the retail water service provider to the project.

Under this proposal, SWSC would provide wholesale water service to the public retail service provider (either the Village or a MUD).

The ultimate build-out of Sanctuary will include 515,000 sq. ft. of commercial development, 40,000 sq. ft. of entertainment venues, 355 rooms of lodging, 575 units multiple family housing (multi-story senior living and rental properties), 130 multi-family units (condos and townhomes), 364 single family residential units and 500 covered parking spaces.

In other Sanctuary-related news, Salado aldermen will discuss the Scope of Work for an outside legal firm to conduct to perform a forensic review of the legal agreements between the Village and Sanctuary.

MILTON V. CARROLL

Milton Varnell Carroll passed from this life on January 31, 2021 at Mercy House in Temple, Texas.

He was born May 30, 1932, the youngest of 4 children of Milton and Minnie Reese Carroll at Izoro, Texas. He graduated Lampasas High School in 1949 with plans of attending Draughtons Business college in Abilene, but fate changed that when his father died of a massive heart attack the week of graduation. As a result, Varnell, as he was called in his youth, was compelled to take over the family farm /ranch at the age of 17.

In July 1952 he married the former Bobbie Ann Mears for a happy lifetime commitment of over 68 years. To their joy, they became the parents of two children, son Trent born in August 1953 followed by daughter Kim in 1955.

The drought years of the 1950's necessitated in Milton adding a 2nd career to his ranching. After graduating Jackson Business College in 1955 he began a Civil Service job as an entry level clerk typist at Fort Hood. In a short time, he accepted a promotion and worked at Gray Air Force Base until its closing, after which he spent several months at James Connally AFB in Waco. In 1961 he returned to Fort Hood to a job in Finance and Accounting. After several years and promotions, he retired in December 1989 at Fort Hood as a systems analyst/computer programmer in the office of DIOM communications.

In 1979 Milton and Bobbie moved to Salado, but he continued both his careers until retiring from Fort Hood. He continued ranching on their farm until 2016 when his health began to decline.

Milton was an active member of Salado United Methodist Church for many years and served as a trustee and a member of the building committee.

He was preceded in death by his parents, sisters Rotha Smith and Letha Irvine and brother Waylon Carroll. He is survived by his loving wife, Bobbie, his son Trent and wife Cheryl Carroll; daughter Kim and husband Carl Wren; granddaughter Caitlin and husband Danny Tickner and their sons Koen and Lochlan; grandsons Ben Willows; Britt and wife Tracy Willows and their children Noah, Heidi, Luke and Leisl, Bryan and wife Kimberly Willows and their daughters Jordan and Hailey.

A private graveside service will be held in Salado Cemetery in the care of Broecker Funeral Home of Salado. Viewing will be Thursday, February 4, from 10:00 am - 5:00 pm at the funeral home.

If desired, memorials may be made to Salado United Methodist Church or your favorite charity.

Central Texas Food Bank seeks volunteers for distribution events

Central Texas Food Bank will have two mass food distribution events in central Texas in February and needs volunteers to assist with these events.

Anyone interested in volunteering to support these special distributions should visit the Food Bank's website, centraltexasfoodbank.org, and click on "Volunteer" to sign up.

The first event is scheduled for 9-11 a.m. Feb 6 at Temple College, 2600 South 1st St., Temple.

The second event is scheduled for 10 a.m.-noon Feb. 25 at Waco ISD Stadium, 1401 S. New Rd. in Waco.

At these special food distributions, the Central Texas Food Bank will distribute free food to help those who are facing increased food insecurity during the COVID-19 pandemic. Attendees will receive an assortment of food items which will vary, depending on available supplies.

While these food distributions are primarily designed as drive-through events, no one in need of food will be turned away.

Recipients who are driving through are requested to make appropriate space in their trunk or hatch. Those arriving via public transportation or on foot should look for the designated walk-up area. Please note: we recommend recipients without vehicles bring containers in which they can carry the food, as it will be in boxes that may be difficult to carry.

During the COVID-19 pandemic, the Central Texas Food Bank is continuing to meet the needs of those facing hunger.

In addition to these special distributions, Central Texans in need can also access food through our network of partner pantries and mobile food pantry distributions throughout Central Texas. For the latest information on getting help, go to [\[foodbank.org\]\(http://foodbank.org\) and click on "Find Food Now". Once you find the distribution site nearest you, please call them to confirm their hours of operation since things are changing rapidly. ## FEB. 6 AT 3C COWBOY FELLOWSHIP

The Chuck Wagon Gang free concert

Eighty-five years of hope, harmony, faith and family.

The Chuck Wagon Gang is bringing 85 years of American roots music to 3C Cowboy Fellowship at 6 p.m. Feb. 6 when they perform a free concert in the church sanctuary. The concert will be a family-friendly event and the public is encouraged to come.

3C Cowboy Fellowship is located at 16258 Goose-neck Rd in Salado.

The Chuck Wagon Gang offers listeners 85 years of what American roots music-titan Marty Stuart calls, "Unbreakable, steady, unmovable, truth."

Eighty-five years that have brought accolades and honors for a group that began singing on local radio in 1935, and that went on to play Carnegie Hall, the Hollywood Bowl, and the Grand Ole Opry.

"This group was designed for the ages," Stuart asserts. "For the eternal ages."

Stuart penned each song on the Chuck Wagon Gang's latest album, Meeting in Heaven, and he is among

The Chuck Wagon Gang performs 6 p.m. Feb. 6 at 3C Cowboy Fellowship in the Sanctuary the choir of celebrated figures who praise the history, legacy, and contemporary relevance of the Gang in America's Gospel Singers, The Legacy Lives On, the documentary film that aired on PBS, beginning in the fall of 2015.

When farmer D.P. 'Dad' Carter formed the group in 1935, with son, Ernest, and daughters Lola and Effie, he could not have conceived of PBS documentaries, or of fan letters from presidents. Dad was simply looking for a way to spread the good word, and a way to buy medicine for Effie, who was sick with pneumonia.

The group found work on a small, Lubbock, Texas radio station. Word soon spread about the group's harmonies, well-spaced and emphatic, and on November 25 and 26th of 1936, the Chuck Wagon Gang was recording for the American Record Corporation, run by now-famed producers Don Law and Art Sathery. In short time, the Gang's contract and master recordings were purchased by Columbia Records, a company with which they ultimately recorded 408 masters.

On Columbia, the Chuck Wagon Gang became what WSM air personality, music historian, and Grand Ole Opry announcer Eddie Stubbs calls, "America's foremost country-gospel singers." They sold millions of records and songbooks, enduring numerous personnel changes while retaining ties to the original quartet. Current owner, manager, and alto singer Shaye Smith is the granddaughter of original alto Anna ("Effie") Carter and of Howard Gordon, who played deft and discreet electric and acoustic guitar for the Chuck Wagon Gang in the 1950s and '60s. The quartet still performs with accompaniment from only one guitar, now played by Karl Smakula.

"Singing Chuck Wagon Gang music, there's nothing to hide behind, and nothing to lean on," Smith says. "It's bare-bones, just voices and guitar, and that's what creates that unique sound. It's like the hard beginnings they all came from: Raw and tough, and you have to put it all out there."

In today's Chuck Wagon Gang, Smith and Smakula are joined by sonorous soprano Melissa Kemper, and longtime tenor Stan Hill, who remembers lying in bed as a child, listening to Chuck Wagon Gang records while he was supposed to be sleeping. Hill was far from the only musically inclined child to draw inspiration from the Gang.

"The history is part of what makes us unique, and it's a story that needs to be told," Smith says. "This never would have started at all if my grandma hadn't gotten sick. This story started out of crisis. It's one of those good old American survival stories: Work hard, come out of the pit... it's an encouraging story."

That story, and this music, has moved Johnny Cash, Merle Haggard, Charlie Daniels, and generations of gospel singers and opened ears of listeners. For 85 years, the Chuck Wagon Gang has offered hope and harmony, faith and family.

"Life moves on hope," says Dan Rather, the legendary broadcaster who has been a Chuck Wagon Gang fan since childhood. For him, and for many more, the group is "an echo of an America that was, and a reminder of how important the values of that America remain."

2 ♠ Pass 4 ♣

Opening lead — seven of spades.

would automatically be defeated. South therefore postponed drawing trump and played the K-Q-A of diamonds, discarding a heart from dummy before trying to cash the A-K-Q of clubs. Unfortunately, West ruffed the third club and played the king and another heart to put a quick end to the proceedings.

However, declarer would have succeeded had he adopted what is surely the best method of play. He should have cashed only two top tricks in both minors and then led the queen of diamonds. When West follows suit, South can assure the contract by simply discarding the queen of clubs from dummy!

Declarer next plays the five of clubs and ruffs it with dummy's jack to finish with 10 tricks consisting of the A-K of clubs, A-K-Q of diamonds and five trump tricks.

Observe that this line of play would have been equally successful had West held two diamonds and two clubs. Only if West had a singleton diamond or a singleton club would the contract have failed, but in that case, all other approaches would have suffered the same fate.

In bridge, there are many hands where something unexpected occurs, such as the 5-0 trump break in this deal. The secret of trying to overcome such misfortunes is to keep your cool while seeking an effective counterstroke. There is quite often an answer if you search hard enough.

Eagles get past Burnet to stay on top of district

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Salado Eagles remain undefeated in district play, but by the skin of their teeth as they escaped a home court loss to the visiting Burnet Bulldogs by one point on Jan. 29.

Burnet had plenty of opportunities to surprise the Eagles on their own court, but shot under 50% from the free throw line and scored just one point in the final eight minutes of play.

Salado had a slim 14-13 lead after the first quarter, but Burnet took the lead early in the second. Burnet's Hudson Garret hit a three-pointer at the buzzer to extend Burnet's lead to 28-23 going to the lockers.

Josh Goings hit a three over two defenders at the buzzer of the third to bring the Eagles within five, 36-40, going in to the final quarter.

The fourth quarter was riddled with missed shots and turnovers for both teams, but the Eagles tied the game at the five-minute mark when Goings hit two of three free throws. Salado took the final lead with about three minutes left in the game on a shot off the glass by Goings in the paint.

Noah Mescher got sent to the free throw line twice in the final 15 seconds but couldn't put the game away for Salado.

The Bulldogs rebounded his shot with 7 seconds left, and Salado fouled, sending Holden Blair to the line. Blair missed the shot, but the Bulldogs rebounded and Luke Kier put up a desperation shot from beyond the arc, clanging off the rim as time ran off the clock.

Burnet shot 41.5% from the field, a little better than Salado's 39%, but the Bulldogs were terrible on three-pointers, hitting just two of 17.

Salado hit 10 of 18 free throws, while Burnet shot just seven of 15 at the line.

Goings led Salado with 27 points, shooting 10 of 24 from the field. He also had seven rebounds, an assist, three deflections and three steals.

This is National School Counseling week

This week is National School Counseling Week. This is sponsored by the American School Counselor Association to focus public attention on the unique contribution of school counselors within U.S. school systems and how students are different as a result of what school counselors do. National School Counseling Week highlights the tremendous impact school counselors can have in helping students achieve school success and plan for a career.

Our school counselors implement comprehensive school counseling programs and are a vital part of the educational process for all students as they meet the challenges of the 21st century. They are actively engaged in helping students examine their abilities, strengths, interests and talents.

Our school counselors work in a partnership with parents as they encounter the challenges of raising children in today's world. They focus on positive ways to enhance students' academic, postsecondary and social/emotional development. Furthermore, they work with teachers and other educators to provide an educational system where students can realize their potential and set healthy, realistic and optimistic aspirations for themselves. Our school counselors are certified, experienced educators with a master's degree in school counseling. The combination of their training and experience makes them an integral part of the total educational program.

Please thank the school counselors in our school district for everything they do for our students:

Texas Senate Redistricting Committee seeks input

BY RICHARD LEE
SENATE NEWS SERVICE

AUSTIN—Senator Joan Huffman (R - Houston) announced recently that the Texas Senate Redistricting Committee will hold a series of regional hearings to solicit testimony from the public about the upcoming redistricting process. In a first for the Texas Senate, these regional hearings will allow members of the public to testify before the Committee via Zoom videoconference.

The Committee had planned to hold in-person regional hearings across the State over the legislative interim to solicit public input on redrawing Texas electoral districts after the 2020 Census. Due to COVID-19, those hearings could not go forward as scheduled. When the Senate convened last week, it unanimously adopted Senate Resolution 4, which says that the Committee can hold these region-focused hearings in the Capitol, with public testimony provided via videoconference. This is a substitute for the Committee traveling the State to solicit this input in person, as it has in past redistricting cycles.

“I look forward to hearing from Texans in every part of the State about their communities as we prepare to redistrict using the data from the 2020 Census,” said Senator Joan Huffman, Chair of the Committee. “The pandemic has presented new challenges for all of us, but it will not prevent the Senate Redistricting Committee from soliciting input from Texans about their local communities—especially about local and regional considerations related to redistricting. This input will assist the Legislature in the critical task of redistricting.”

Although the regional hearings are organized around particular regions and population centers, the Committee will hear testimony about any part of the State at any hearing.

“We encourage all Texans and interested parties to make their voices heard in this process, and we look forward to meaningful and productive conversations at these hearings,” said Senator Huffman. “I am thrilled that Texans throughout our State have the opportunity to testify on this critical, once-per-decade process from the comforts of their own home, business, or school. Let’s talk Texas.”

Members of the public may sign up to testify at <https://bit.ly/3bWqH5b>.

Remaining hearings are these: Feb. 12 at 9 a.m. - Houston; Feb. 19 at 10 a.m. - El Paso; Feb. 26 at 9 a.m. - Austin; Feb. 27 at 9 a.m. - All Regions State Senator Dawn Buckingham, who represents Salado, is a member of the Redistricting committee.

Wilma Smith gets a personal drive-by parade for her 101st birthday

Saladoan Wilma Smith had a car parade by her house on Indian Trail on Feb. 1 to celebrate her 101st birthday.

Constable Rolly Correa led the parade with signs blazing and lights flashing, announcing the day over the public address system.

About 30 cars filled with friends from the Salado community and the Salado United Methodist Church family took part in the parade.

Wilma McClung was born on February 1, 1920 in Sugar Loaf, a community in central Texas that would ultimately become part of Fort Hood.

She is the grand daughter of central Texas pioneers, from whom she learned that hard work, sacrifices and dreams are the patches on a beautiful quilt that brings warmth, comfort and courage to those that seek shelter."

Wilma was awarded the 4-H Gold Star, the highest achievement award given by the Texas 4-H Youth Development Board during her days in Killeen schools.

She graduated from Killeen High School in 1937 and earned a Bachelor of Science Degree in Home Economics in 1941. She later earned a Master of Education in 1953. She was a home economics teacher and supervisor for more than 30 years before retiring.

Wilma and her husband Coopwood moved to Salado in 1980. "For the next 40 years she has been involved in civic and religious affiliations," Blancett said, adding that they were too numerous to list.

Today, she continues "doing what she does best -- being a loving, positive influence on each person she meets by the power of a touch, a smile, a kind word, and an act of kindness," said Skip Blancett, her former minister at Salado UMC said.
