Memorial will honor local First Responders

A granite memorial featuring the shoulder patches of the five local agencies that serve community of Salado as First Responders is being planned.

Included in the monument will be the Salado Police Department, the Bell County Constable Precinct 2, the Bell County Sheriff's Department, Emergency Medical Services, and the Salado Volunteer Fire Department.

The Texas shaped granite memorial will be located on the grounds of the Salado Civic Center near the Salado Veterans Memorial and flagpole. The memorial's design was guided by sculptor Troy Kelley.

Fundraising efforts have begun and will include a Facebook fundraising page.

Donations of any amount for this project are tax deductible and will be accepted and administered by the Salado Community Foundation. Please see the Salado Community Foundation

Facebook page to donate or checks may be mailed to the Foundation at P.O. Box 891, Salado, TX 76571. (Please write First Responders in the memo line.)

Sponsorships for businesses and individuals are available at the following levels, and donors will be recognized at the dedication ceremony and on the memorial: Platinum $1,000, Gold $750, Silver $500, and Bronze $250. The cost of the project will be $10,000. A dedication ceremony is planned for Saturday, September 11, 2021, the 20th anniversary of the national tragedy.

"On September 11, 2001, the entire nation watched in horror as our country was attacked by terrorists. The immediate and selfless action of First Responders directly involved in the tragic incidents reminded us all that our First Responders put their lives on the line for us every day. Across the country, First Responders traveled to New York City to offer support and assist. Locally, our First Responders did much to assist with relief," stated Kim Bird, one of the organizers.

This memorial was the vision of the First Responders Memorial Committee following the Patriot Day service that was held on September 11, 2018.

"In that service, all of the local First Responders were honored with proclamations and thanked in speeches from our elected officials including Mayor Skip Blannett and U.S. Representative John Carter. First Responders were each issued a certificate of appreciation and a challenge coin in gratitude for their outstanding service," stated Larry Nathanson, one of the committee members. "Our Salado community feels a great responsibility to continue to honor our First Responders."

Current partners involved in this project are Salado

Above is a rendering of the memorial being designed by Salado sculptor Troy Kelley to honor Salado First Responders. It will be placed on the grounds of the Salado Civic Center.

JP Morgan CEO: economy ready for Goldilocks moment

The Markets

The S&P 500 Stock Index (SPX), our choice for a U.S. stock market indicator, rose 2.71% for the week ending April 9 to close at 4128.80, its 19th record close this year. That rise in value brings its year-to-date gain to 9.92%. The catalysts were reported to be a slight dip in bond rates combined with increased Wall Street enthusiasm for the proposed budget and infrastructure plans presented by the administration. While the week's leading gains shifted back to the larger tech companies, the CRSP US Mid-Cap Value Index rose 0.79% for the week and is now 15.54% ahead, year-to-date.

The yield on the ten-year U.S. Treasury note slipped 1.1% to 1.658% as long-term inflation fears continued to abate and in doing so supplied fuel to the stock market rally. The yield curve continues to be quite steep, forecasting good economic times ahead for the next year or two. West Texas Intermediate crude oil (WTI) joined with bonds, falling about 3% to $59.34, still well within its recent trading range at a price high enough to provide profitability for the oil companies but not so high as to negatively impact economic growth.

In a bit of reassuring news, the frenzy around GameStop has abated, with the price down 50% from its high in February and gold which serves as a harbinger of doom as dark days approach when it rises, is down 17% from its $2,070 high last August. In short, some of the craziness that was in the headlines during the pandemic is simmering down. There are still millions and even billions of dollars chasing pipe dreams though, as Special Acquisition Corporations (SPACs), essentially speculative corporate shells that own nothing but promise to do something interesting with investors' money come to market, so all the insanity is not behind us.

Market & Economic Update

By Jeffrey W. McClure

The Economy

Jamie Dimon, the CEO of JP Morgan, America's largest bank, wrote in his annual letter published on April 7, that the U.S. economy has the potential to enter into a "Goldilocks Moment" as we emerge from the suppression generated by this pandemic, bolstered by strong consumer savings, low consumer debt levels, expanded vaccine distribution, and the proposed $2.3 trillion infrastructure plan. This year's letter is a near complete reversal of the one he published in 2020, in which he warned Americans to brace for a "severe recession". He did warn us to be aware that higher taxes will come on both corporations and wealthy families as "you can't run a 10% to 15% deficit forever" but he added that wealthy families and corporations would not object if they thought their money was being well spent.

As if in coordination with Mr. Dimon, the Labor Department released its March Jobs report showing that the economy added 916,000 jobs and the unemployment rate fell to 6% from February's 6.2%. Private employers added the lion's share of jobs at 780,000 while much of the rest were teachers going back to work as schools reopened. The leading sector for jobs added was leisure and hospitality with 280,000 as Americans returned to eating out and traveling.

The National Federation of Independent Businesses (NFIB) reported that the number of unfilled job openings also jumped, to 7.364 million, approximately 74% of the number of officially unemployed individuals. Contrast that with the fact that for the five years following the June 2009 bottom in the "great recession" the number of openings averaged only 28% of the official unemployment numbers. Unfortunately, as has happened before, both location and skill set mismatches hamper getting those unemployed workers into the open jobs. 40% of small businesses surveyed by the NFIB were reporting they had openings that were "hard to fill" because of a shortage of qualified workers.

In more good news, despite supply constraints caused by a shortage of computer chips, U.S. auto sales rose 11.3% in the first quarter according to Ward's Intelligence. March's estimated sales were up to 16.8 million vehicles, putting that month about on par with sales before the pandemic. In a confirmation of the individual statistics, Moody's/CNN Back to Normal Index rose to 87.1 from its low of 74 at the beginning of the year. To cap the current and trailing good news, the Institute for Supply Management (ISM) announced its nonmanufacturing survey's composite index jumped from 55.3 in February to 63.7 in March, putting it at a record high since its inception back in the 1990s. On that index, numbers above 50 indicate growth. At the same time the manufacturing index rose from 60.8 in February to 64.7 in March, its highest reading since the early 1980s.

The bottom line remains the same, and perhaps even more so. The American economy is well on its way back to what we used to call "normal" but still has a way to go. Just as importantly, the proposals and funding appear to be falling into place to create Jamie Dimon's "Goldilocks moment" in the next few years.

Salado ISD needs substitute teachers, bus drivers

Superintendent's Corner

by Dr. Michael Novotny

We are accepting applications for substitute teacher and bus driver. Substitute teaching is a great way to positively impact our students and it also provides a very flexible work schedule. Substitute teachers can choose between our elementary school, middle school, and/or high school and can work just the days they are available. The following is our daily pay rate for substitute teachers:
 No bachelor's degree = $70
 Bachelor's degree = $80
 Bachelor's degree and teacher certification = $85
 Long term substitute without a bachelor's degree = $75
 Long term substitute with a bachelor's degree = $95

Long term substitute with a bachelor's degree and a teacher certification = $115
 Driving a school bus also provides a flexible schedule with a morning route, an afternoon route, or just as a substitute. Our hourly pay rate for bus drivers ranges from $14.90 per hour to $21.02 per hour, based upon years of experience. While having a Class B Commercial Driver's License is a requirement to be a bus driver, we will help prepare applicants for the written and driving tests.

 A list of our current vacancies and our online employment application are available at the following website:
<https://www.applitrack.com/salado/onlineapp/>
 You can also go to our main website at www.saladoisd.org and then click on "departments" and then "employment/personnel" and then "job listings."

Decoys and Other Fakes

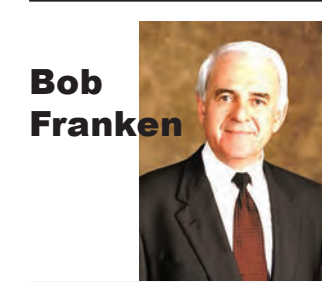

When we constructed the interstate system, we simply bypassed much of our country's intricate variety. Still, in spite of losing this national character, there are those who get their kicks motoring the monotonous I-ways of America. They find a comfortable routine in the coast to coast, border to border ennui of signs for toll collection, motels, chain restaurants and gas stations.

But some blotches of local personality remain, concealed in this national humdrum. For instance, one of the oddball pleasures of driving along I-95 tempts the motorist at Havre de Grace, Maryland.

At exit 89, to be precise, is a billboard for the Decoy Capital of the World. That's right, there's an actual museum for hunters who want to kill ducks and other birds, blow them out of the sky. That's not my kind of thing, but my mind has wandered, curious as I've coped with the interstate boredom at exit 89, whether there is an actual decoy museum, or if when you get there it's nothing but a sign, a decoy fake -- a year-round April Fool's joke.

Such is the state of the demented mind badly in need of a rest stop. ("Don't worry, if you can hold it just a few minutes, there's one nearby.")

I've had similar tortured fantasies as I've meandered along the information highways in more modern times. I embrace a fundamental law of cyber-life: "Never believe anything you see on the internet." That applies to social media postings that have no constraints on misinformation, along with the commercial advertising that rocks to a deceptive algorithmic tempo all its own and whispers, "You're being duped."

Emails are even more underhanded. How many thousands of them have you gotten, pretending to be from royalty and claiming that you personally have received a large inheritance -- all you have to do is send a few hundred or few thousand dollars to get it?

Communication has been so corrupted that you can't even trust the calls you receive from Social Security or the IRS, warning you that you're about to be arrested unless you send gift certificates to the authorities.

Back to emails, my personal favorites are the ones making some fictitious claim. Then you receive another email, on official looking letterhead, warning you that the original was a fraud. Except that it's a fraud too, with a link to share personal information or some other cyber-marker with a certain secret Russian or Baltic hacker or phisher lurking out there.

But the anti-social media are the absolute worst. Tucked among the cute doggy pictures and videos of daddy and mommy coming home from a dangerous military outpost are the advocacy lie mongers, the troll farmers, the purveyors of "alternative facts." If it's too scandalous to be true, it is. Actually, it's the contemporary version of something that's been around for much of history. It's the smear campaign, the political lie, all gussied up in the latest version of the technological pandemic.

Unlike the coronavirus, where there seems to be a cure in reach, the main impediments are only the humans with distorted political thinking and no common sense whatsoever; they don't even wear a simple mask until the deadly threat subsides. But there is no end in sight for the cyber scourge, no light at the end of the tunnel, just more tunnels ... hiding whatever dark money for mischief it can buy from political hucksters.

Wherever our infrastructure can take us, the principles of leadership are hidden in the folds of a worldwide web that is impenetrable, particularly the sections that the politicians have reserved for themselves. Unlike any repairs involving concrete they may have contrived, the technological bells and whistles rust out. That's because they are fake and deep, con artists making increasingly complex but effective decoys and fooling everybody. Bob Franken is an Emmy Award-winning reporter who covered Washington for more than 20 years with CNN.

WELDON GLEN TOWNSEND
NOVEMBER 12, 1935
APRIL 4, 2021

Weldon Glen Townsend passed away on Sunday, April 4, 2021 at 85 years old. Weldon was a man defined by his love for his family. He was a devoted husband, father, grandfather, great grandfather, son, brother, nephew, and cousin.

Weldon was born in Salado, Texas on November 12, 1935 to Leslie and Thelma Townsend. He was raised on the family farm and attended school from elementary through high school at Salado ISD. While attending Salado High he was the Captain of the six man football team.

When Weldon turned 19 years old he spotted the love of his life while attending First Baptist Church, Salado. Weldon caught Shirley's eye when she saw him enthusiastically singing in the church choir. Soon the two began dating and were married in a ceremony at FBC Salado on July 6, 1956. Weldon and Shirley shared a wonderful life and happy marriage for 64 years! Their first home was in Georgia. After leaving Georgia they moved to Austin, Texas and later in life moved to Round Rock, Texas where they have resided for the past 30 years.

Weldon proudly served in the U.S. Army for two years. After leaving the service he worked as a delivery man for Superior Dairies and then later began his career as a lab technician at Jefferson Chemical Company. He worked for Jefferson, which became Texaco Chemical Company, and finally Huntsman Corporation until his retirement in 1997.

Weldon loved his family and supported them in everything. He attended years of concerts, shows, sporting events, and dramatic performances for his children, then grandchildren, and then great grandchildren. He was always cheering on each family member's every accomplishment. Weldon also loved photography. He had a great eye for composition and had thousands of pictures of family, friends, trips and special events, as well as an impressive collection of antique and modern cameras. Weldon had a very green thumb and loved growing and caring for plants. He always had a beautiful lawn, flower garden and backyard.

Church was always an important part of Weldon's life. He was a gracious servant as a Sunday School teacher, a Deacon, and a valued committee member for many different causes. His greatest passion was music. As long as anyone can remember, Weldon was in the choir loft of every church he has ever attended. He was loyal and dedicated to the music ministry and never liked to miss a rehearsal or service. He could also often be found behind the scenes working with a hammer, nails and paint when set work was needed.

Weldon is survived by his wife, Shirley Townsend; daughters Sylvia Culler and husband Ralph and Kay Habermehl and husband Paul; and by brother Larry Bruce Townsend and wife Ellen. He is also survived by six Granddaughters: Rachel Mayberry and husband Joe, Ashley Sigafoos and husband Adam, Marsha Dillard and husband Brandon, Sarah Jones and husband Tyler, Kristen Welch and husband Brennan, and Jamie Habermehl; great grandchildren Brooks, Leighton and Case Mayberry, and Sophia, Scarlett and Noah Sigafoos. He was preceded in death by his great granddaughter, Emerson Beth Jones; sisters Leslie Virginia Guess and Jolene Townsend; and parents Leslie and Thelma Townsend.

Services were held at First Baptist Church of Round Rock on Thursday, April 8th. Visitation preceded the service. Graveside service followed at Salado Cemetery, Salado, Texas.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the Music Ministry at First Baptist Church of Round Rock.

JUNE 14, 1928
APRIL 9, 2021

Admission is $10 per adult, and $1 each for children 12 years and younger. The Readings will take place outside in the Amphitheater. In case of rain the readings will be moved inside to the large room behind the Tablerock stage. Masks and social gathering etiquette is required at your discretion. Seating is limited to 400.

The time schedule for the evening will be: 5 p.m.: – Refreshments and Social Time; 5:30: Introduction and readings from Honored Guests: Patsy Stanford Wilson, the Salado Poet Laureate, and introduction and reading of long time Poetry Sponsors, Richard Egg and his wife, Linda Egg; 6 p.m.: Introductions by Darrell Street, 15 years on the Salado ISD School Board, and Readings from The Beacon by young honored guest poets gathering seed money to produce their second anthology. Plus, a word of encouragement to the Young Poets from their talented English and Poetry teacher, Terri Seaton. At 7 p.m., invited guests give three-minute readings, each from their new works in the 13th Annual Animal Tales anthology of 2021. Readers will include Sandi Horton from Waco, Thom Woodruff from Austin, Nancy Fierstien from Dripping Springs, Barbara Sorge from Belton, Phillip Abbott from San Antonio, and Donna Bowling from Temple. Animal Tales and The Salado Beacon will be on sale. You are invited to enjoy Social Time and more refreshments at the Tablerock concession stand after the readings.

The Host Poet, Thom Woodruff is originally from Australia and a hardy transplant to Austin. Being transplanted was not his intent; his transplant was a “romantic happening”. Wendy, an Austin elementary school counselor, toured Australia 30 years ago and a poet followed her home to Texas. Wendy’s Dad said she could keep the poet and Wendy became Mrs. Thom Woodruff! Thom, in turn, was more poetic than ever and way too happy. To date, Thom’s bushel basket of accomplishments “runneth over” and include: Beat Poet Laureate of Texas 2020-2022, Thom was nominated for Texas Poet Laureate in 2015, he was instrumental in renewing interest in and rejuvenating the Temple Live Poets in 2010, Thom tours England and Australian Poetry Festivals when possible and in his adopted city of Austin he was recently honored by the Mayor for his poetic endeavors in teaching the art of poetry to Austin citizens. Thom was then honored with a big write-up in the Austin newspaper. Thom can be seen improvising with musicians at openings, or hosting open-mic venues all over Central Texas. Thom, the tireless poet, was the co-founder of the Austin International Poetry Festival in 1993. His tour of Poetry Festivals all over the world and writing poetry every day keep him in tune with the times and in demand at lectures and gatherings as well as welcomed at High Schools and Universities as he produces a poetry book a month. Thom’s love for Salado is evident in the roles he enjoys at Tablerock Amphitheater, those roles include: Portraying Edgar Allen Poe during Fright Trail, Thom leads out-of-town poets to the presentations of Salado Legends and A Christmas Carol, he has hosted the Tablerock Poetry Festival for over ten years and has been instrumental in the planning and printing of Tablerock’s Animal Tales for thirteen years. In Salado proper, Thom has appeared at the Salado High School and Salado Public Library.

Since Tablerock is Deep In the Arts of Salado, they record attendance for events.

The bidding:

East Pass South 1 NT West Pass North 3 NT

Opening lead — six of hearts.

Occasionally, declarer may make a play that might arouse suspicion that he had peeked into one of his opponents' hands. While such things have been known to happen, the fact is that most such plays are based more on sound reasoning than on ill-gotten information.

Consider this case where South was in three notrump and West led a heart. Declarer held up his ace on the first two hearts and won the third as East discarded a low spade.

The outcome now depended on how South handled the club suit, from which he needed to score three tricks to make his contract. The obvious approach was to cross to dummy and try a club finesse. If it won, 10 tricks would be there for the taking; if it lost, he would go down one.

After careful consideration, declarer plunked down the ace of clubs, caught West's king and finished with an overtrick!

Since the chance of West's holding the king singleton with five cards outstanding is exceedingly small (less than 3%), while a finesse offers a roughly 50% chance of success, it might seem that South was either clairvoyant or had seen the king in West's hand. However, declarer had a very sound reason for playing the clubs as he did.

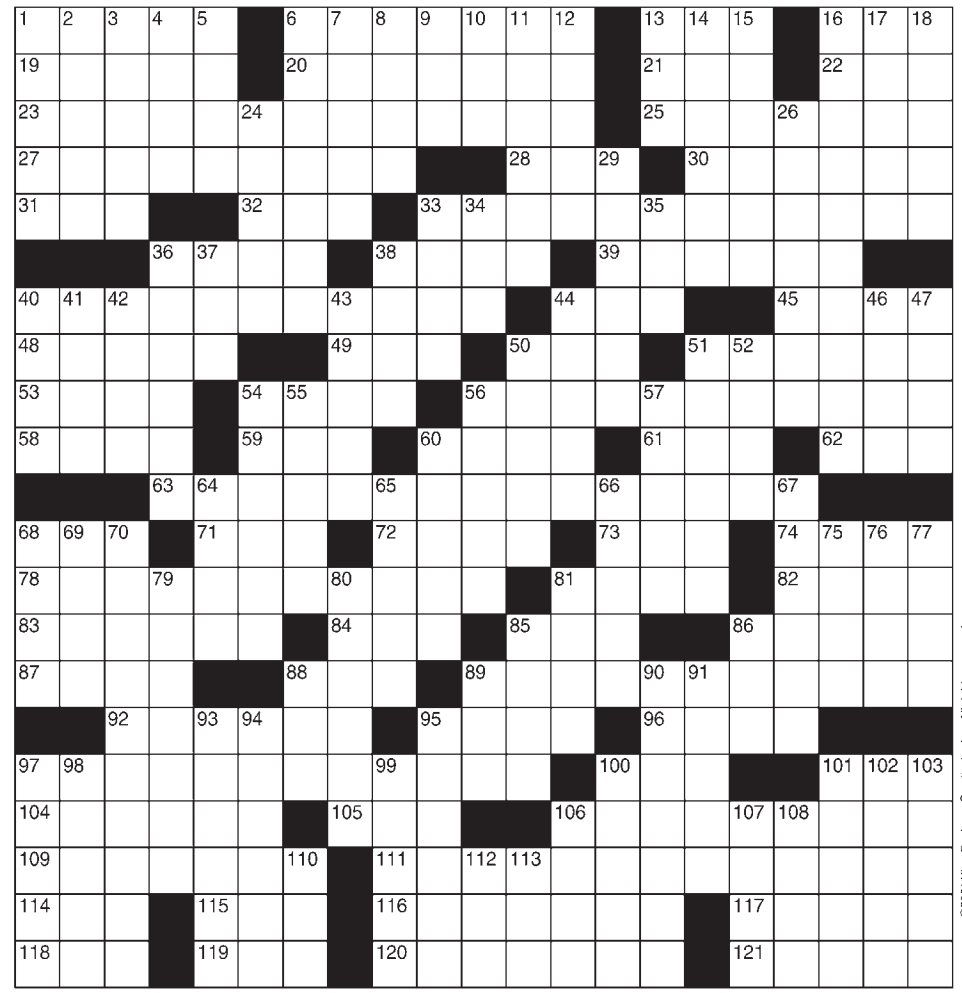

South's primary concern was to try to develop the three club tricks he needed in the safest way possible. He could afford to lose a club trick in the process, so long as he did not lose it to West. A successful club finesse was therefore not really necessary to make three notrump, but it would be disastrous if West happened to hold the singleton king.

There were thus two different chances to make the contract: if East had the king of clubs, or if West had the singleton king. The play of the ace catered to both possibilities.

Lady Eagles' season ends in State Semi-Finals

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

As Maria Pauer's corner kick with 20 seconds left on the clock curved into the side of the Calallen goal, Salado's hopes for a return to the State finals ran out with the remaining ticks left in regulation.

Salado had closed a huge gap from the first period, in which the Lady Cats had put up a 3-0 lead, but could not get that final shot to cross, despite having two shots on goal in the final six minutes of play.

The Lady Eagles looked as if they would get an early lead, but Lady Cat goal keeper Raquel Vasquez made a save in the fourth minute of play.

Three minutes later, Jillian Curtis got past the Salado defenders and put a shot into the back of the net in the eighth minute of the match for a 1-0 lead.

Vasquez made another save in the 11th minute and defended a free kick by Payton Cunningham from 35 yards out, kicking the ball to midfield.

The Cats got past Salado again and Curtis got her second goal of the night in the 17th minute of the match. A minute later, Calallen set up for a corner kick, but Avery Wright got the save off of a header on the in-bound kick.

It wasn't enough to get the Lady Eagles out of trouble, as Calallen was able to keep the ball on the Salado side of the field and Kaitlyn McCarty took a kick from Curtis and put it in the net with 21:19 left in the first period for a daunting 3-0 lead.

Over the final 18 minutes of the first period, Calallen missed five shots on goal and Wright defended another five shots on goal to keep the game from becoming a blowout.

Calallen defended a shot on goal in the first 30 seconds of the second period and took a shot of their own in the 43rd minute.

Allison Carnahan took a corner kick from Pauer at the 45th minute but missed across the goal.

Just a few minutes later,

Haley Piatak put the ball in the net coming across from the left side to make the score 3-1 in the 47th minute of play.

Wright made two saves before Pauer scored on an assist from Anna Lesley in the 61st minute of play.

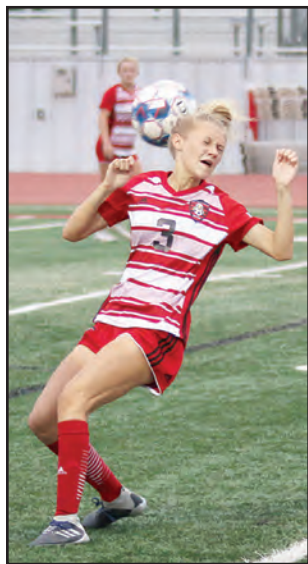

Salado missed shots in the 65th and 66th minutes and defended against free kicks as the clock clicked down into the final eight minutes of play. Wright made a save against a header coming off of a corner kick in the 72nd minute and kicked the ball back to the Calallen side. Lesley missed a shot in the 75th minute and Wright made a save against a shot in the 78th minute, getting the ball back down-field.

Salado worked the ball down-field, setting up the corner kick when the ball went out of bounds off of a Calallen player with 40 seconds left in the match, setting up the final corner kick that hit the side of the net, ending Salado's storied season.

The Lady Eagles end the season as the Region III Champions, winning over Bay City, who were the #1 ranked team in state before their first loss to Salado on April 9.

Salado earned its trip to the 4A State Semi-final soccer match thanks to a goal in the 15th minute of the match against the Bay City Ladycats by Holly Wright.
