Parents air concerns

By Tim Fleischer Editor-in-Chief

"The school board holds a lot of authority over our kids," Christi Carlson told a group of about 60 parents last week at a Town Hall style meeting held at Caliber Oak. "Their decisions affect our children during most of their waking hours."

She encouraged the group to be "a light in this secular world. We need to be proactive."

She said this is the first of what she hopes will be many town halls.

She talked about the role of the school board and its interaction with the superintendent of the schools.

The board should adopt a vision statement as well as goals and performance standards to meet those goals. The board adopts the budget and is responsible for monitoring the district finances.

"This has been 10 years in the making," Carlson said. "We are not seeing things being done in the right ways."

Parents should be full partners in their children's education, she says, adding that this is not what is happening in Salado schools.

"First it was the mask mandates and then not letting us in the schools to even have lunch with our children," Carlson said. "I never imagined not being allowed in the school where my child is."

Thomas Arnold Elementary principal Katie Mullins announced via email Oct. 26 that the elementary is "opening up for visitors for outdoor lunch" starting Nov. 1. Mullins stated that this will start with a Google sign up sheet of 20 slots per day for the first week.

"If we can handle more parents without overcrowding, then we will add more slots each week," Mullins stated. Other announcements came last week from the Middle School and High School, which both opened the pep rallies to parents.

Dr. Novotny told Salado Village Voice that, "As a result of this reduction in case numbers, we are gradually opening up our campuses more to parents and visitors."

He added that elementary parents have been allowed to attend outdoor field trips and can volunteer at the upcoming book fair. Middle school parents can volunteer for the book fair as well as the homecoming dance and other events.

Carlson also expressed her concerns about technology in the school district, "where every child gets a laptop or Chromebook but they don't get any books. We can't see what curriculum is being taught. We don't know if they are teaching or indoctrinating our children."

She said that social learning was just another liberal indoctrination like critical race theory.

Carlson encouraged parents to volunteer for the various committees of the district, which she said have not been active in the past two years. She also encouraged parents who are concerned about the state of the school district to attend school board meetings and to run for the board.

She told the group that she asked at the last school board meeting to be appointed to the vacancy on the board created when Jim Hodgin passed away.

The Texas Education Code addresses how a Texas school district board of trustees can fill vacancies. Sec. 11.060.a. of the Education Code states that, "If a vacancy occurs on the board of trustees of an independent school district, the remaining trustees may fill the vacancy by appointment until the next trustee election."

Section 11.060.d states that "If more one year remains in the term of the position vacated, the vacancy shall be filled under this section not later than the 180th day after the date the vacancy occurs."

The board could not have met public notice requirements to put the unexpired term on the November 2 ballot as the deadline for a special election to be put on the ballot was September 17, 2021, one day after Hodgin passed away.

allows emergency board meetings with only one hour notice under certain circumstances. As amended, section 551.045 (Open Meetings Act) clarifies the circumstances that constitute an emergency or urgent public necessity by providing that a "reasonably unforeseeable situation" includes a fire, flood, earthquake, hurricane, tornado, or wind, rain, or snow storm; power failure, transportation failure, or interruption of communication facilities; epidemic; or riot, civil disturbance, enemy attack, or other actual or threatened act of lawlessness or violence."

The unexpired term will be placed on the next available election date May 7, 2022. According to the white paper "School Board Member Resignations and Other Vacancies" from the Texas Association of School Boards (TASB), "The attorney general has concluded that Texas Election Code section 41.004(a) authorizes a board to hold a special election on the first authorized uniform election date following the 180-day period if no uniform date falls within the 180-day period that would allow enough time to hold a special election in the manner required by law. Tex. Att'y Gen. Op. No. KP-102

Two full terms will also be decided on May 7, 2022. The three year terms of Jeff Kelley and Amy McLane come up for election. In May 2019, McLane was elected to the board of trustees with 497 votes followed by Kelley with 420 votes. Salado Village Voice reached out to Kelley and McLane, both of whom responded that they had not made a decision yet whether to seek re-election.

Carlson said she will run for the school board in May. Randi Rader Bingham said she may also run for the Filing for the May 7, 2022 school board race will begin on Jan. 19, 2022. The last day to file for a place on the ballot is Feb. 18, 2022. The last day to file a declaration of a write-in candidacy is

Salado Fire Department responded to an 18-wheeler tractor trailer fire in which the cab was fully engulfed at about 9:20 a.m. Oct. 29. The accident was on the southbound lanes of I-35 at mile marker 281, just south of the rest areas. Salado police and DPS Troopers moved southbound traffic off of the main traffic lanes onto the access road. There were no injuries or deaths. High winds hampered firefighters by reigniting the flames frequently. Fortunately, the flames did not spread to the nearby grass off of the interstate. (Photo BY ROYCE WIGGIN)

Kimmie and Corey Turk invite you to Lace Up Salado and join them for the Warrior Angels in Boots 5K on Nov. 13 with the starting line at Salado Middle School

"After the tragic events of August 26 in Afghanistan, our country's heart was broken. We lost 13 of our brave Service Men and Women. My husband Corey and I felt like we needed to do something to honor them, honor our Military, Veterans, Heroes in Boots, Gold Star families and other Fallen Heroes," Kimmie said.

Corey is a former Marine and both of Kimmie's brothers-in-law are also former Marines. One is a police officer in San Antonio and serves as a load master in the Air Force reserves. "He delivered a lot of our equipment that has been left behind in Afghanistan," she said.

Volunteers to lay wreaths in Salado section of Central Texas State Veterans Cemetery

By TIM FLEISCHER EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Thanks to the effort of a Salado boy, Salado now has a section of the Central Texas Veterans Cemetery for the Annual Wreath for Vets.

Segiv Eldridge, a seventh grader in Salado ISD, is calling for Salado volunteers to join him at Section 18, which is the Salado section for the annual Wreaths for Vets event at the Central Texas Veterans Cemetery,

Eldridge says that after he met Jean Shine, a founder and President of Wreaths for Vets, he realized that other central Texas communities like Killeen, Harker Heights and Copperas Cove have sections of the Veterans Cemetery that they collectively take responsibility for each Christmas holiday to put wreaths at the gravesite of each veteran buried there. "I realized that Salado did not have any section or volunteers to represent our school district or village to honor and remember our military veterans past and present," he said. "I need your help!"

He is asking Saladoans to join him to adopt Section 18 of the Central Texas Veterans Cemetery off of Hwy 195 north of Killeen.

If you are interested in volunteering, email him at saladowreathsforvets@gmail.com. You can also follow the Facebook page saladowreathsforvets or Instagram @saladowreathsforvets for updates and information leading up to the event.

Wreaths will be put out by volunteers on Nov. 27. Buses will shuttle volunteers to and from the Cemetery from the Volunteer Parking lot at Texas A&M Central Texas campuses beginning at 8 a.m. and ending at noon.

A Wreath Ceremony will be held at the Cemetery at 10 a.m. Nov. 27, followed by the laying of the wreaths beginning at 10:20 a.m.

Family Members will be released first to allow them the opportunity to lay a wreath for their loved ones.

The Master of Ceremonies will then announce that Monument Volunteers will be released to place wreaths.

The MC will then announce that all volunteers may be released to place wreaths.

Eldridge reminds high school students that volunteering for Wreaths for Vets qualifies toward community service hours required for graduation and for scholarship applications.

He asks that all Salado volunteers wear Salado shirts so that others will see that there is a Salado presence for this important event.

He encourages local organizations, businesses and individuals to contribute to the Wreaths for Vets organization, which is tax-deductible.

Visit www.wreathforvets. org to donate to the annual project.

"Salado Wreath for Vets is a great opportunity for community services and will count as hours for the National Honor Society and for other purposes as well," he said.

Wreath Retrieval will be 10 a.m. Jan. 8, 2022. Buses will transport volunteers from the Tedxas A&M University Central Texas parking lot to the Central Texas State Veterans Cemetery beginning at 8:30 a.m. and run through noon.

U.S. personal income up by $47.8 Bil; 12 mil workers sidelined by pandemic _____

The Markets

The old, familiar, and idiosyncratic sometimes S&P 500 Stock Index (SPX) turned in a stellar week, closing at 4605.38, hitting its 54th record close this year, up 1.33% from last week, 22.61% year-to-date, and a mind-boggling 41% higher than this time last year. The driving factor was intensely logical; third quarter earnings are not only coming in above estimates, but largely a lot higher than those estimates. The market seemed to consider slumping as an option when the third quarter GDP first estimate was announced by the Commerce Department but couldn't ignore the fact that despite disappointing GDP numbers, major corporations were seeing record revenues and profits. The bottom line appeared to be that year-over-year inflation gets subtracted from the GDP report but seemed to get added to corporate earnings. The CRSP Mid-Cap Value Index headed the other way, backing off 1.35% from last week's record high.

The yield on the benchmark ten-year U.S. Treasury note backpedaled too, declining about 4.6% to 1.564% even as the 30-year bond slipped below the 2% mark to 1.947%. The yield curve remained steep, hanging on to its forecast of better times ahead and that inflation above 2% was not likely to persist. West Texas Intermediate crude oil prices slipped 0.075% to $83.35, remaining above the psychologically important $80 mark as investors are starting to get interested in doing more drilling.

The Economy

The headliner this week was the first estimate third-quarter U.S. GDP release by one of our favorite government agencies, the Bureau of Economic Analysis in the Commerce Department. Most of the pundits saw the quarter's "real gross domestic product" annualized growth estimate of 2% as a downer, but we agree with the market reaction that it really wasn't that bad. We

Market & Economic Update

By Jeffrey W. McClure

can agree that the main issue was the COVID Delta variant, and supply shortages, but there are plenty of ways to view our national growth or decline in profits each quarter. If we look at it in the same way a business would, reflected in the "current-dollar GDP," the annualized growth number was a whopping 7.8%, or $432.5 billion, to a total domestic quarterly profit of $23.17 trillion. Sure, it was a lot less than the second quarter's gain of $702.8 billion, but as the supply chain issues and the resulting price increases show, the U.S. economy is simply not structured to grow that fast. Significantly, the outsized growth in goods purchases drove the GDP gain in the second quarter while in the third, spending shifted to services. Another set of numbers that popped out of the GDP report was that the core Personal Consumption Index, the one-year inflation measure favored by the Federal Reserve Board, declined from the second quarter's 6.1% to 4.5% in the third. It remains high but is headed in the right direction.

There were other nuggets in the BEA report that tell us a lot about what is going on in the economy. Current-dollar personal income continued to rise, up $47.8 billion despite the cessation of government stimulus checks and most federal unemployment extensions. The personal savings rate slipped from 10.5% in the second quarter to 8.9% but remained far higher than we have seen in decades. But the key takeaway, in our opinion, was that consumer spending rose at an annualized rate of 1.6%. Better yet, spending in the month of September was up 0.6% or an annualized rate of 7.2%. Keep in mind that consumer spending equates to about two-thirds of our economic output, so that number suggests a 10.8% annualized growth in current dollar GDP.

Our economy is being disrupted by two major factors, both related to the pandemic. The supply chain/logistics issues are largely being caused by a shortage of truck drivers. That problem stems from another issue that has, until recently remained a bit of a mystery. There were about 10.4 million posted job openings in August, up from seven million in February 2020 even as the labor participation rate of 25 to 54-year-old people in the workforce has risen. In late September, the U.S. Census Bureau, another government agency we love, ran a survey to find out why. Four million workers were home sick with COVID symptoms or caring for someone with the disease, three million were out from fear of COVID, and five million were home taking care of kids because many day-care centers have not reopened and/or schools were intermittently closing. 12 million workers sidelined specifically because of the pandemic explains the labor shortage nicely. It also explains why the cessation of emergency unemployment benefits does not appear to have improved the employment numbers. The key is that as the pandemic recedes and vaccination rates grow, most of those issues will likely clear up. Presuming that happens, both the supply chain and labor shortages should diminish, and prices stabilize. That will be a welcome relief.

Other than those two impediments, our economy appears to be driving forward with a great deal of momentum and energy. More, it continues to have all the earmarks of an economic expansion with room to continue for some time to come.

An Open Exchange of Ideas

Point of View

Pity the poor reporter in any newsroom who is assigned to cover the latest Gallup Poll release on Americans' satisfaction with the treatment on women in society. When respondents were asked "how satisfied with treatment of women in society" they were, 46% of female respondents said they were unsatisfied, and 62% of the men said they were pretty satisfied.

Now, this is not a piece on the disparate role of genders as we stumble through the complex "me too" era. My momma didn't raise no suicidal fool. Besides, it's clear that when it comes to the results, it depends on your point of view.

Instead, I will take on the "ditto heads" of Rush Limbaugh, who are many of the same people who routinely deliver death threats aimed at anyone who dares utter a criticism at any hero of theirs over social media. Why don't I get worked up about those guys? Well, it's because chances are they're small, unimaginative minds conjuring their threats on a computer somewhere. Not that I have anything against small, unimaginative minds. One rode his computer all the way to the presidency.

I speak, of course, of Donald Trump, formerly of Twitter, reduced to grinding his mindless statements on paper now that he's been kicked off both Twitter and Facebook. But he has the same reach. When Colin Powell died the other day, his admirers (including me) lionized him as a great man, a historical figure. Not Donald Trump: "wonderful to see Colin Powell, who made big mistakes on Iraq, and famously, so-called weapons of mass destruction, be treated in death so beautifully by the Fake News Media."

Although word is now seeping out that Trump is starting his own social media company and a "Truth Social" app to spread the poison. But for the moment he is a persona non grata in the digital world.

"Scandalous," harrumphed more than one Powell fan. That violates the afterlife etiquette. Not that Trump hasn't done that kind of thing before. Sen. John McCain comes to mind, and Rep. John Dingell. But I come not to bury Donald Trump, but to praise him (I made that up). We share the same view of postmortem hypocrisy.

When Rush Limbaugh died in February, I wrote: "Limbaugh made a pot of money by preaching to morons. They proudly called themselves 'ditto heads' without comprehending that was a derogatory term."

The ditto heads, aka the Trump base, went bananas. "Franken has hit a new low!" First of all, they are probably confusing me with Al Franken. Secondly, I hit new lows every time I say or write something.

So, let's repeat: It depends on your point of view. Donald Trump is motivated, in part, by revenge, second only to his desperate desire to get attention. In fact, he's almost slavishly devoted to his combination of both. To Colin Powell, Trump was a buffoon, "a national disgrace and an international pariah." They were not a natural fit, to put it mildly. Powell was class; Trump is

But there are millions upon millions of Americans out there who view Trump as a man of the people because he doesn't have class, not in spite of it. These are the same people who embraced the word "deplorable" when Hillary Clinton tried to smear them with it. So, it depends on your point of view, but Colin Powell showed that he, like so many citizens, could bridge the gap between outstanding American and regular guy or woman, who personified progress and being properly humble.

Is Trump's Grip on the GOP Weakening?

Republican politicians can be forgiven for thinking that the GOP is Trump's world and they only live in it at his sufferance.

He not only survived Jan. 6 and his second impeachment -- he has thrived since.

Trump's rallies are still remarkably well-attended, he is making progress in his project of killing the careers of Republicans who supported his impeachment, and big majorities of Republicans tell pollsters they want Trump to run for president again.

And yet, there are reasons to believe Trump's dominance is exaggerated and that it is slowly degrading, such that by the time the 2024 Republican primaries roll around, he'll be challengeable and beatable if he runs.

It's not unusual for a former president to own his party until someone comes and takes it from him --Bill Clinton prior to Barack Obama, for example.

What's different is that parties typically aren't kind to one-term presidents who lost their reelection bids, and generally former presidents aren't so bent on exercising control over their parties once they vacate the White House.

White House.

Part of the reason
Trump has clung to his fanciful stolen-election narrative is to avoid the stench of defeat of Jimmy Carter and George H.W. Bush. On top of this, Trump has an intact political operation that is paying a lot of attention to his potential endorsements and how they will or won't enhance his own power.

This obviously makes

Trump an important player, and maybe more. But there are indications of an undertow and factors that might increase it in the years ahead.

Trump's media footprint is much reduced. Data from SocialFlow shows engagement with Trump stories plummeting in March of this year and it took another jag down in August and September.

As for Trump's polling numbers, Republicans might tell pollsters they want him to run again as a way to stick a finger in the eye of the media or as a general statement of warm feelings toward him. Even if these findings are based on entirely forthcoming and sincere sentiments, wanting Trump to run is a threshold question that falls short of a commitment to vote for him two and a half years from now.

Trump presumably will be vulnerable to electability questions. He lost last fall in part because Biden outperformed Hillary Clinton among suburban voters and independents. Biden is alienating these voters, but there's nothing to indicate that Trump has done anything since November 2020 to make himself less repellent to them.

GOP politicians have every reason to do what they can to keep Trump and his voters on board in the interest of a unified base in the run-up to the 2022 midterms. But if Republicans take Congress next year and are worried about keeping it in 2024, they will be wary of once again needing candidates to run better than Trump in swing districts to keep their gavels.

Trump has an increasingly self-referential message. In 2016, he talked of fighting for his voters and hammered neglected issues of concern to them, foremost among them trade and immigration. Now, he urges those voters to fight for him based on the imperative of denying his loss, which is of overwhelming concern to his ego and continued political viability.

At the end of the day, what primary voters in both parties most want is to win. And this is Trump's true Achilles' heel. The fact is that he lost to Joe Biden and, despite last-minute changes in election procedures and the media and social media landscape being stacked again him, it was fundamentally his doing.

His chief vulnerability is that, eventually, someone will put this to him directly, and it will land.

Perhaps if Trump decides to make the plunge in 2024, he will clear the field and sweep to his third consecutive GOP presidential nomination. His surface-level strength at the moment, though, might obscure a weakness that will tell over time.

The conference focus was on teaching and sharing different ways that women can study the Bible. Attendees participated in two interactive workshops led by Jodi Miller and Maddie Quick and shared in praise and worship led by Daena Rowe, Tristen Jolly, and Grace Ramsey. Summer's Mill provided a delicious brunch of quiche, burritos, yogurt with fruit and topping, boiled eggs, breads and cinnamon rolls, in addition to coffee and juice. During brunch, there was a drawing for door prizes, all that were donated by Grace church members. Attendees received T-shirts and many received devotional books as a gift from one of the guest speakers.

FAMOUS HAND

This deal occurred in a match between Austria and Italy at the world championship held in Monte Carlo in 1976. It was played at 44 tables, and 23 times South got to six hearts, a dreadful contract that had about a 20 percent chance of making. However, thanks to a fortunate lie of the opposing trumps, the slam was successfully negotiated by 22 of the 23 declarers.

The opening lead was usually a one who failed to make the slam. At his table, Italian star Benito Garozzo chose the diabolical opening lead of the nine of trump! Declarer, in an effort to guard against the possibility that East might have the K-J-6 of trump, covered the nine with the ten and won East's king with the ace.

Declarer then led a diamond to the queen, returned a trump and, when East produced the six, found himself faced with a harrowing guess. He had to decide whether Garozzo's opening lead of the trump nine was from the J-9, which would be an unusual lead against a slam, or whether Garozzo's lead of the trump nine was a singleton, also an unusual lead against a slam.

With nothing to go on, the Austrian declarer elected to finesse the eight and so went down one. Ironically, the slam was easy to make without a trump lead, but once the trump was led, declarer had a chance to go wrong — and did.

any of these leads, declarer's only real chance was to take a first-round trump finesse — leading low to the queen — and next play the ace, hoping to find East with precisely the doubleton king. The 22 lucky declarers found this to be the actual case and, as a result, scored 1,430 points. The Austrian declarer was the only

The Historic Home Tour of Salado, Past & Present

By Carol Wilson
Salado Historical Society

Salado's annual holiday home tour is a fundraiser for the local historical society but this longstanding tradition has developed a history all it's own. Last year's pandemic-driven cancellation was regrettable and unique in the tour's decades-long run.

It may surprise many people to learn that the first Salado home tour occurred in 1959. Lucile Robertson spearheaded the first of this kind of charity event in Salado as a means of supporting the newly established Salado Museum. Equal credit for her early success with the project belongs to Louise DeGrummond, Thelma Fletcher and others, who worked alongside Mrs. Robertson and opened their homes for the cause over many subsequent years. That initial tour was the first of ten in a tradition that became known as the Annual Salado Pilgrimage. It featured three days of viewing, initially including four homes: the Robertson plantation, the Barton House, the McKie House (today known as Twelve Oaks), and the W. R. Berry House. Those 1950-60 era events had one stark difference from present-day tours: they were held in the spring.

A featured stop on the 1982 tour, held in mid May, was this four-story Victorian dollhouse, displayed at the Salado National Bank (now BancorpSouth) during tour hours.

For the decade following, the tours ceased but in 1980 the Salado Chamber of Commerce Ladies Auxiliary reconstituted the idea, hosting a home tour as part of Salado's larger holiday celebration. The following year, 1981, the Historical Society, then known as the Conservation Society, took up the mantle, moving the event back to the spring season. Adult tickest sold for four dollars, payable in "cash, check or money order"

check or money order."

It wasn't until 1983 that organizers permanently moved the tour back to December to coincide with Salado's other holiday events. Can you guess the most often featured site on the tour over the years?

Freezing temperatures and icy roads have threatened the success of the tour a few times, most notably in 2013, but it took a world pandemic to pause the tradition. The outing is now limited to a single Saturday but the selection of homes has been expanded to include beautiful and interesting houses of all ages.

The most often listed tour site is Salado's Methodist Church.

Salado Historical Society invites you to join in this year's celebration slated for Saturday, December 4, lasting from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Five homes and the historic Salado cabins will be open and decorated for viewing. Tickets selling for $20 each will be available at the Salado Library at 1151 North Main on November 27, from 9-5 and tickets costing $25 will be available at the library on December 4, (day of event) from 8:30-2. #### Dickens would be proud!

By Jackie Mills

Dickens would be proud! His name and his works live on and on via Tablerock Twenty-Amphitheater! nine years is a long run for a show and this is a short historical catalog of the happening: After several years of winging it on A Christmas Carol script, I contacted Harry Sweet and asked him to "Please write a stage play for Tablerock that is true to Dicken's original story." Harry produced the play for the stage and left his master piece to Tablerock in his will. Harry directed the play for 15 years and then left Shannon Ashe, his Assistant Director, with the duty of following his directions. Shannon moved out of town after a wonderful 12 year run of the show and left Thom Wilson, her very talcarry on for the past 2 years ley." with Dicken's tale told to a capital "T".

The cast and crew of A Christmas Carol have been in rehearsal for two weeks. The 50 members in the cast and crew grows every day. Thom is a good natured Director and "no" is not in his vocabulary! Thom's Assistant Director, Beth Correa, is a polished director in her own right, but she too has a hard time when it comes to telling a willing volunteer that the cast and crew are full to overflowing! The show will keep rehearsing for another month.

One man in the show, who has been the same character for 20 years, is Dr. Howard Horton of Bartlett, Texas. His role of Marley is one that is so fine-tuned that no one dares to audition for Dr. Horton's famous character that is actually called...."Howard's Mar-

Dr. Howard Horton retired from teaching at Mary Hardin Baylor, but can't relax enough to completely retire and so is now teaching again at schools in Whole families volunteer to perform in A Christmas Carol. The Paul Vaccaro family, from Florence, Texas, have the parents and four children in the play. The Gary Maki family, from Salado have the parents and four children in the play. Many of the teens use their roles in "Carol" to earn Community Service for clubs they belong to in High School and then there are the seasoned actors from New York and Hollywood who moved to what they thought was a sleepy little town to retire and find themselves needed at Tablerock! All the above helping Tablerock, themselves as well as their fellow actors.

Eagles de-claw Cougars 77-14

By Tim Fleischer Editor-in-Chief

Salado Eagles secured second place in District 9-4A Division II and another trip to the playoffs with a 77-14 blowout of the visiting Jarrell Cougars Oct. 29.

The win improves Salado's record to 6-3 on the year and 3-1 in district play.

The home team also tried some new plays and players, such as a roll out pass from Hutton Haire to Joshua Huckabee for the first TD of the night, good for 36 yards at 9:03 in the first. Daniel Chtay converted the PAT. Chtay has missed only one kick this season.

The defense was stellar, holding the Cougars to 11 first downs on the night. Jarrell converted four of 14 third downs and two of six fourth downs. The defense held the Cougars to 219 yards on 58 plays, 174 in the air and 45 on the ground.

Salado had 559 yards total offense, 454 on the ground and 105 in the air. The Eagles also converted all six of their third downs and once again never punted the ball. Salado had 28 first downs on the night.

The referees got plenty of work in, too. Jarrell was hit 11 times for 60 yards while Salado was called six times for 85 yards.

Aidan Wilson carried the ball 16 times for 171 yards, including his first TD of 31 yards with 3:54 left in the first to cap a 47-yard, seven play drive. Chtay toed the PAT for a 14-0 lead.

After snuffing out a fake punt on the third three-and-out series, Salado took just two plays to cover 15 yards, with Seth Reavis running it in from the 7 yard line. Chtay's kick made it 21-0 with 2:15 left in the first.

After another three-andout defensive stand, Salado drove 54 yards in four plays, scoring on a 7-yard Wilson run at 11:54 in the second. Chtay made it 28-0.

Jarrell got on the Salado side of the field, but the Eagle defense stopped a fourth and 10 pass at the 25 yard line to set up a five play drive, topped by a 50-yard run by Reavis at 3:23 in the second. Chtay was good for a 35-0 lead.

The Eagles forced another three-and-out series and Huckabee returned the Cougar punt 42 yards, but a holding call brought the ball back to the to the Jarrell 39 yard line. Three plays later, Haire connected with Reavis for a 32-yard strike. Chtay made it 42-0 with 59 seconds left in the half.

Jarrell used that time to finally get on the board with no time left on the halftime clock. A defensive penalty gave the Cougars the ball at the Eagle 2 yard line and Andrew Knebel connected with Dakarai Barnes for the TD. Cayden Sanchez kicked the extra point to make the halftime score 42-7.

Jarrell recovered an onsides kick to start the second half, but turned the ball over on downs at the Eagles' 36 yard line.

Nine plays later, Haire bulled in from the Jarrell 1-yard line. Chtay made it 49-0.

Knebel hit Barnes for a 20 yard pass, but he coughed up the ball and Drew Bird recovered it at the Salado 39 yard line. Wilson took the first handoff and sprinted through the Jarrell defense for a 61-yard TD with 6:21 left in the third. Chtay made it 56-7.

Cavahn Wilson recovered a fumble at the Jarrell 38 to set up a five play scoring drive, capped by a 6-yard run by Reavis. Chtay made it 63-7.

Late in the third, Braydon Sumners recovered a blocked punt for Salado to set up the Eagles at the Cougars' 23 yard line.

Kase Maedgen needled his way through the defense to score the Eagles' 10th TD of the game. Chtay toed his 10th PAT for a 70-7 lead, Midway through the fourth, with the game clock spinning, Knebel connected with Barnes for a 39-yard touchdown. Sanchez made it 70-14.

Maedgen scored his second TD of the night on a 51-yard run through the defense with 2:34 left on the clock. Chtay toed the final point.

Reavis carried the ball nine times for 113 yard. Maedgen had three carries for 88 yards and Adam Benavides carried the ball nine times for 54 yards.

Haire spread the ball between four receivers on four-of-six passing for 105 yards: Huckabee, 36 yards; Reavis, 31 yards, Gavyn Keyser, 22 yards and Jesse Makunas, 15 yards.

Texas home sales decrease, median price rises in third quarter of 2021

TEXAS REALTORS RELEASES 2021-Q3 EDITION OF THE Texas Quarterly Housing REPOR

Nov. 2, 2021 – AUSTIN - The Texas housing market slowed slightly following a strong summer sales season, according to the 2021-Q3 Texas Quarterly Housing Report released today by Texas Realtors. The number of homes sold across the state declined 3.5% in the third quarter of 2021 compared to the previous year. This is the first time quarterly homes sales in Texas have decreased year-overyear since the second quarter of 2020.

"Although we're seeing a slight decline in homes sold from the same period a year ago, it's important to remember we're comparing to 2020's record-breaking numbers," said Marvin Jolly, chairman of Texas Realtors. "Across the state, we're still experiencing strong demand for housing, and buyers are moving to Texas from all over the na-

While the total number of Texas homes sold dipped to 115,272, the median sales price of $310,000 represents a 16.9% increase compared to the third quarter of 2020. Of all homes sold in the third quarter, 29.5% were priced from $200,000 to $299,999, the highest share of sales among all priceclass distributions.

search economist with the Texas Real Estate Research Center at Texas A&M University, commented, "The housing frenzy due to the pandemic has possibly peaked. Home prices and homes sales are beginning to slow. In addition, months of inventory and home listings have reached a trough

Luis Torres, Ph.D., re-Housing inventory in Texas decreased to 1.6 months in the third quarter, a decline from 2.3 months in the third quarter of 2020. According to the Texas Real Estate Research Center at Texas A&M University, a market balanced between supply and demand has between 6.0 and 6.5 months of inventory.

> Chairman Jolly concluded, "Our housing supply remains stretched, but we're not seeing as many properties with a frenzy of offers above asking price like earlier in the year. Regardless, buyers in many markets still may find it challenging to get their offers accepted. We encourage anyone looking to buy or sell a home to work with a Texas Realtor to help you navigate the local real estate market."
