The 60th Scottish Gathering and Highland Games will be held this Nov. 12-14 on the grounds of Johnny's Outback on Thomas Arnold Road at IH-35 in Salado, Texas. The landmark event is the oldest Scottish festival in Texas having been sponsored continuously by the Salado Museum since 1961. All proceeds benefit the museum, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization.

"Our 59th Gathering was a pandemic-driven virtual event with online videos and a brief bagpiping ceremony on College Hill," says Salado Museum Director Dave Swarhout. "But for our 60th year, we are back! We invite everyone to come, Scot or not, to experience all things Scottish."

The weekend includes bagpipe bands, athletes tossing the caber, Celtic musicians, shopping, food and more. The Clan Village is the largest gathering of Scottish Clans in Texas where clan members share information on Scottish history and genealogy.

Be on the banks of Salado Creek just north of the museum for the Calling of the Clans at 6 p.m. Nov. 12. The Calling of the Clans is a solemn torchlight ceremony recreating the gathering of Scottish clans in 1314 to fight for Scotland's freedom.

The gates open at Johnny's Outback at 9 a.m. Nov. 13 with all the sights and sounds of Scotland, including sanctioned competitions in Scottish athletics, bagpiping and drumming.

Official opening ceremonies begin at noon Nov. 13 with the Bands and Clans Parade followed by presentations and a massed bagpipe bands performance. The parade forms at North Pace Park Rd. and Main Street and will move west along Thomas Arnold Road to the festival grounds.

Performing on the main stage will be Scottish singers Ed Miller and Carl Peterson, renowned guitarist Rich Brotherton, and Celtic band Murder the Stout, with Scottish button accordionist Hugh Morrison. Scottish small pipes musician and singer, Joe Romeo, will perform on the Stirling Stage in the Clan Village.

Gates open at 9 a.m. Nov. 14 for the Kirkin' o' the Tartan followed by bagpipe band competitions, pet parade, children's games, and more music, food and shopping.

The Wee Scots Gift Shop is open all three days at the Museum on South Main Street. For more information, visit www.saladoscottishfestival.com.

The annual parade officially kicks off the Highland Games and Scottish Gathering. The parade will start on the northern end of Pace Park Rd., cross Main St. and head west on Thomas Arnold to Johnny's. The parade begins at noon Nov. 13. (COURTESY PHOTO)

Empty Bowl benefits SFRF Nov. 13

The annual Empty Bowl fundraiser for Salado Family Relief Fund will be 11 a.m.-1:30 p.m. Nov. 13 at the Salado Middle School Cafeteria.

There is ample parking at the Middle School and guests can enter through either the front or back doors.

Each year, guests attending the fundraiser are treated to a delicious selection of hear-warming soups that have been prepared by Salado restaurants and B&B's. Local artists and students from the High School Art Department are busy making new pottery bowls for this year's fundraiser. Guests can purchase soup alone for $10 or soup and a pottery bowl of their choice for $20.

There is also a TO GO option for $20 (32-oz container) for those that wish to participate in the fundraiser but are unable to dine in or would prefer to do pick up. The Empty Bowl Project fundraiser allows SFRF to help families that qualify for assistance with rent or utility payments. SFRF also organizes the Back-to-School Program/

Project Backpack fundraiser, which provides much needed assistance to families with kids in the Salado Independent School District. SFRF helps local families at Christmas by coordinating the collection and distribution of toys and clothing for over 150 kids each year. To learn more or donate, visit www.saladofamilyrelief.com.

These old homes: Owners, architects discuss challenges of restoring local historic landmarks

BY TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

"How do you put modernity in a place that didn't have an outhouse?" James Nolan asked the rhetorical question at the Salado Historical Society annual chili supper Nov. 8.

James Nolan Construction is the firm restoring the Halley House on North Main Street in Salado on behalf of owner Kathy Michaels.

Yet his question could also apply to two other historical properties that are currently undergoing major restoration projects: the Tyler House on Main Street and the Rose Mansion on Royal St.

Derek Barcinski and Maddie Vincent of Atlantis Architects discussed the challenges facing them in the restoration of the 1857 Tyler House, which has been vacant for about 15 years when its doors as Salado Mansion restaurant were shuttered. For four decades of its 164 years, the Tyler House served as a restaurant, first as the Tyler House under Perry Dalby then Blanche Kevlin; later, as Salado Mansion Tex-Mex restaurant owned by Gene Street.

Prior to that, though, the Tyler House was a home. First to John Flint who built the home. Then to its most well-known owner (and for whom the house was named), Judge Orville Thomas Tyler, an early Texas citizen who came to Texas from Massachusetts before the then-Mexican state became a Republic and later a State.

O.T. Tyler was one of the first settlers in what would become Bell County. O.T. Tyler was issued a land grant from the Mexican government for a league of land on the Leon River in the Three Forks area, while it was in the Milam District. The grant document was attested to by a young Elijah S.C. Robertson. Years later, the two would be linked together through the founding of Salado College, the first incorporation of Salado (to build a bridge over Salado Creek and the charter of Salado Masonic Lodge #296.

Barcinski and Vincent are the lead architects for the restoration of the Tyler House for owner Thad Avery.

"Thad has a passion for fixing up older things," Barcinski said. "He has a strong conviction that nothing useable should ever be thrown away."

Barcinski said that they are still in the learning phase of the project.

Some of the things they have learned thus far in exploring this history and building of the two-story Greek Revival mansion include the fact that there is not a single wall stud in the house. Not a single one.

Walls are two layers of shiplap boards (one outside and one inside) in-filled. "We will have to figure out a way to make interior walls that can be insulated, plumbed and wired," Barcinski said.

Then there is a huge cistern that was dug under the house, as well as two other hand-dug wells on the property.

Floor joists are simply logs stood on end. "Gravity and luck has kept it in place," Barcinski said.

Barcinski told the group that there are four aspects to historical landmarks: Preservation, Rehabilitation, Restoration and Reconstruction.

"We are going to be doing all four on this project," he said.

The project will maintain its original footprint and interior layout of parallel rooms with a central stairway.

The separate kitchen (made of field stone and rubble stone and plastered) will be restored and protected.

A middle section that connected the main house to the kitchen will be rehabilitated and rebuilt to provide accessibility to the building.

"This is where we will have an accessible entrance and parking," he said.

This area will also provide a big, open space that will open out onto gardens on the property, according to Barcinski.

The project does not have an end date, he said. "We are still in the discovery phase of the property."

The Rose Mansion, however, does have an end date in sight.

"December 10 or we are moving in with the Naegles," Scott Hyderkhan said with a laugh.

The Hyderkhans fell in love with Salado after Scott met with a co-author he was working with at Strawberry Patch. "We knew right away this was where we wanted to raise our kids," Kellie Ann said.

They purchased the Rose Mansion, which had been a Bed and Breakfast for three decades after being a home for the previous 120 years, last year and began work on the property, which includes a summer kitchen, a smokehouse that were original to the property and a handful of buildings that were moved onto the property over the years.

The home was built in 1870-72 by Archibald Johnson Rose, who was pre-em-

The Markets

Our dear old cranky friend, the S&P 500 Stock Index (SPX) cranked out another record close to end the week, rising a nice even 2% to 4697.53. The rise in market value has been nothing short of astonishing with the SPX up 25.07% year-to-date, 33.58% since this time last year, and a mind-boggling 110% since the market bottom last year in March. We've been looking and as far as we can tell, it has also risen so far this year, more than in any first year following a presidential election. We are very much aware of the fear that people had after the election that the policies of a Democrat would cause a market collapse, but history argued for the opposite, and it has come to pass. It is so with each new president, regardless of the party. It is good to remember that the economy and the markets are commonly counter-intuitive. Not to be outdone by its larger, older cousin, the CRSP Mid-Cap Value Index rose 2.51% for the week and is now up 25.61% year-to-date.

The yield on the 10-year U.S. Treasury note slipped almost 7% to close at 1.452% as the potential for extended inflation rises began to fade. The Treasury yield curve continues to be steep, forecasting high economic growth ahead, with the 30-year bond holding just under 2%. West Texas Intermediate crude oil (WTI) joined in the slide, falling 2.52% to $81.25 despite OPEC and Russia's pledge to hold output growth to a gradual rate.

The Economy

A lot happened this week in the economics universe. It should be noted that the Dow Jones Industrial Average topped 36,000, a feat promised in the book "Dow 36,000" way back in 1999. It did take a little longer than the writers assumed but we are there. More, both the Dow and the much larger S&P 500 are substantially cheaper in terms of their price to earnings ratios than

Market & Economic Update

By Jeffrey W. McClure

they were when the book was published. The big news though was the Employment Situation Report issued by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The headline was that the U.S. economy created and filled 531,000 jobs last month but under the headline an additional 235,000 jobs were added to the reports for the preceding two months, bringing the grand total of new jobs reported to 766,000 more than was reported last month. At the same time, the separate, household survey found that the unemployment rate had dropped from last month's 4.8% to 4.6% for October. The reports also indicated that average wages are up about 4.9% from a year ago and 0.4% for the month.

Paralleling the employment report were other data points that tend to reinforce the idea that we are in a healthy recovery and expansion. The weekly report for new unemployment claims, a good proxy of the number of layoffs going on in the economy, showed a drop to 269,000, still a bit higher than the 2019 average of 218,000, but the lowest number since the pandemic hit. The total number of people drawing unemployment benefits also hit a pandemic low of 2,105,000.

In other news, as was widely expected, the chairman of the Federal Reserve, Jerome Powell, announced that the Fed will reduce its open market bond buying by $15 billion each in November and December, a rate that would end the monetary stimulus program by June of 2022. Added to that announcement was his announcement that if inflationary pressures continue to mount, the Fed would be prepared to raise interest rates following the end of the stimulus but did not anticipate having to do so at this point. Interestingly, at least for us economic geeks, was the reaction of the bond market. After a short bump upward, as we noted above intermediate interest rates fell for the week. The stock market, rather than sinking in dismay, rose on the news. In essence, the buyers of stocks and bonds voted with their dollars that this bout of inflation was indeed transitory and would dissipate within a year or two.

In our studies of inflation and why it is or is not present, there are two major driving factors. First, if there is a shortage of supply, prices will rise, but in a free economy like ours, those higher prices will create an opportunity for enterprising investors to create more supply or transportation capability, making the increases fade and in most cases, reverse themselves over time. The other cause is if wages are rising faster than prices so that we are in a feedback loop that leads to a "wage-price spiral" as we saw in the 1970s. So far, the evidence is solid that price increases are running well ahead of wages and are being primarily generated by transportation and manufacturing limitations. This has happened before and historically preceded a period of fast economic growth rather than "stagflation" like we saw in the 1970s. Only time will tell but we see this as a sign of good growth and better times ahead.

There is more, far more news, and we hope to address it on our radio program but suffice to say that all the evidence we can find suggests that the U.S. economy is on a roll with a great deal of momentum and plenty of fuel to propel it forward. We continue to be upbeat and optimistic about the market and the economy.

New T-shirt slogan for Democratic members of Congress as President Joe Biden headed out for the G-20 and U.N. climate change summits: "My Grandpa Joe went to Europe, and all I got was this lousy framework."

Last week, when Biden flew off to conquer the economic, climate and pandemic worlds, he left Congress behind to fill in the blanks of his own domestic economic social program. Now, with a price of $1.75 trillion (that's with a "T"!), it can hardly be called bare bones. But it had already been stripped from $3.5 trillion by abandoning major progressive goals like paid family leave and many aspects of climate change.

The combined infrastructure legislation and what's left of "Build Back Better" social infrastructure rebuilding are being finessed with compromise promises to revisit the rejects in the months ahead, before the midterm elections, when the president's party might lose control of Congress and it all goes kablooie for him. He effectively has lost control of Congress anyway, with a few "moderates" able to gum up the liberals' hopes.

The names Manchin, Sinema and Gottheimer are not about to set the lefties' hearts a-flutter, but hey, that's what legislation is all about. President Biden made his decades of Washington experience a major selling point, and his own party might fail with a thud to deliver the goods beyond the face-saving stage. He might end the year with nothing more than the knowledge that when you reach for the stars, you can get badly burned. The new political year will be cluttered with hundreds of midterm campaigns, which are more about control of the House and Senate and less about governing.

Between now and then, we are treated to the venomous debate over whether to govern at all, as some federal agencies will flat shut down if the Republicans and Democrats can't figure out some cease-fire in their war to agree to a spending plan for the year. Not only that, but the "it'll never happen" rejection of the nation's borrowing authority could, in fact, happen in about six weeks if some sort of kamikaze group of House members or senators recklessly miscalculates and causes all manner of fiscal chaos worldwide by not voting to raise the debt ceiling, irretrievably embarrassing the United States of America, as if Donald Trump wasn't enough.

I wouldn't want to be Joe Biden as he travels to summits overseas. Other world leaders will relish being able to remind him that the USA was a former world power. Those other world leaders being, for instance, the prime minister of Luxembourg or Prince Albert of Monaco.

But while Joe has been testily negotiating to repair the international damage of the Trump administration, accompanied by first lady Dr. Jill Biden, Trump trumped him in the photo op competition by dragging former first lady Melania to a World Series game in Atlanta, and even persuaded her to join the crowd in the bad taste Tomahawk Chop. Democrats and Native American advocates would never participate in that. Advantage Trump (I realize that's a mixed sports metaphor). Trump showed that in Deep South Georgia he doesn't have to be as invisible as he needs to be in suburbanized Virginia, where Glenn Youngkin's strategy has been to deny that Donald Trump exists.

So while Grandpa Joe has been cavorting around Europe, the Democrats have been hard at work collecting souvenirs for his return ... slogging through the details of the skeletal framework Biden left behind. No matter how successful they have been in avoiding the pitfalls of climate change, for instance, they face a political climate that is full of headwinds.

The Life of Brandon

There's a crisis afoot in the land -- people are being rude to President Joe Biden. The trend of anti-Biden protestors chanting or holding signs saying, "F--- Joe Biden," or the cleaner version that has come to signify the same thing, "Let's go Brandon," is being portrayed as a new low in American politics.

A recent Washington Post report was headlined, "Biden's Critics Hurl Increasingly Vulgar Taunts." It stipulated presidents have always been the subject of derision and abuse, then claimed, "The current eruption of anti-Biden signs and chants, however, is on another level, far more vulgar, and widespread."

Really? Put aside all the abuse presidents were subjected to prior to the digital age, whether John Quincy Adams ("pimp"), Andrew Jackson ("a greater tyrant than Cromwell, Caesar, or Bonaparte"), Martin van Buren ("Martin van Ruin"), Abraham Lincoln ("the original gorilla") or Theodore Roosevelt ("that damned cowboy"). The last few years weren't exactly a mannerly period of polite disagreement in our national life.

As Byron York of the Washington Examiner has noted, Donald Trump's opponents gloried in the F-word, such that without it some of them would have been rendered practically mute. When Robert De Niro introduced Bruce Springsteen at the 2018 Tony Awards, he used the opportunity to declare: "I'm gonna say one thing. F--- Trump." Cue the standing ovation.

A Los Angeles art gal-

lery had a "F--- Trump" exhibit, rapper Eminem led a "F---Trump" call-and-response at a concert in England, and so on.

If lobbying this particular vulgarity is now completely out of bounds, the new progressive rule is "F--- you" for me, but not for thee.

After gaining traction with roadside demonstrators outside Biden events and with college football fans, the "F--- Joe Biden" chant took an unexpected turn last month. The NASCAR driver Brandon Brown won a race at the Talladega Superspeedway and the reporter interviewing him misstated a growing "F--- Joe Biden" chant in the background as fans saying, "Let's go Brandon." The scene was like something out of the Will Ferrell comedy "Talladega Nights." A meme was born. The substitute version of the insult, instantly adopted by the president's critics, is more lighthearted than the original. Fundamentally, it's a joke. It is a gibe at Biden, of course, but also at the misreporting of the chant at the raceway, which is taken as a symbol of the media's ridiculous protectiveness toward Biden.

The chant is also amusingly anodyne, given its provenance. Who can object to the cheering on Brandon, whoever he is?

Not everyone appreciates the humor, though.

When a Southwest Airlines pilot allegedly spoke the offending phrase over the intercom on a flight with an Associated Press reporter on board, the outrage machine kicked into gear in a particularly blatant display of humorlessness and lack of proportion.

Harvard professor and CNN commentator Juliette Kayyem posted a missive supposedly from another pilot calling for the Southwest pilot and the crew all to be fired on grounds that he must have been too mentally unbalanced to operate the plane.

Asha Rangappa, another CNN commentator and a Yale law professor, compared the pilot's statement with saying, "Long live ISIS," as if expressing an anti-Biden sentiment in a jokey way is the same as pledging loyalty to a terror group that would love its acolytes to crash airliners.

Of course, pilots shouldn't make political announcements on their flights, and it'd be better if no one resorted to public obscenities when referring to Biden, Trump, or any other officeholder. But it's one of the privileges of living in a democratic age that people can insult the head of state without fear of jail or other punishment.

Anyone who thinks deriding a U.S. president, especially an unpopular one, is breaking new, dangerous ground knows nothing of our history or what it's like to live in a clamorous continental nation. Partisan insults, vulgar and not, come with the territory.

Readers expound on village, schools, library

Dear Editor:

Some time back when I was hired at Temple College as Professor of Biology, I discovered that the consensus among the faculty at that college was that students from the Salado Public School system were always among the best prepared of the new first-year class each year. It didn't take long for me to agree with that assessment as some Salado High School Students appeared in my classes.

It takes time for a school system to develop the kind of good reputation which Salado has. Unfortunately, the reputation can easily and quickly be lost and it is a long, arduous path to regain that reputation.

So it was with some dismay that I read the front-page article in this past week's Salado Village Voice about some local parents wanting to inject themselves into the Salado schools in some disturbing ways. It seems that some parents were unhappy that they weren't allowed to join their children at some activities. However, it appears that the schools actually are beginning to welcome parents - with some restrictions - for example, to have lunch with their children, attend pep rallies, and go on field trips. Those are good steps for gradually opening the campuses back up in light of the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic problems.

What is disturbing to me appears to be an attempt on the part of those parents to inject themselves into the curriculum. Curiously enough, they seem not to be interested in all courses but only a select few. There was no indication they were interested in meddling in math or physics or biology.

There was mention that some parents are concerned about the teaching of what is known as CRT (Critical

Your Voice

Letters to the Editor

Race Theory) which, from what has been explained to me, is an attempt to protect white students from embarrassment and discomfort from being exposed to the facts that this nation has been a racist nation almost from the outset. This information tells me that "concerned" parents want to intrude in history classes, social studies classes, and civics classes (if they are even called that anymore), and possibly English classes and bend the curriculum to what they, the parents, want taught. That is a perilous path to follow when people lacking the appropriate credentials attempt to tell the instructors of those disciplines what they can and cannot teach. It won't take long for the "word" to get out that the reputation of the Salado School system is being compromised. And that would not be a good thing. Besides, I understand that anything even remotely similar to CRT is not taught in public schools but generally appears only at the college level, if at all.

I am reminded of that old saying: "If it ain't broke, don't try to fix it."

Ben Liles, Salado

Dear Editor:

I am writing these comments on a bittersweet note. It is about the Salado Public Library District. I know all the employees and they all are very likable and these comments are not meant to be derogatory of them at all. I enjoy their services and they are needed.

The Salado Public Library District receive a 1/2-cent sales tax while the Village of Salado receive 1-cent and the County 1/2-cent for a total of 2%. Their financial statements show that their income is $440,500 with total payroll of $250,000. This is their financial statement on the library website for 2020-2021.

They currently have bought buildings to the east of their current location for expansion. They are a public taxing entity that receives one half as much as the village. They report the minutes on the website; however, I was not able to find their monthly statement that is listed in their minutes. Question: should the monthly financial statements (income and expense) also be reported?

There are several questions that should be brought up. They have not had a new board member for about five years. That is our fault — the voting public. Should we have questions about the movements of the Salado Public Library before now — again it is our fault. I am asking the Salado Library board to speak to the public as to their monthly financial statement and the reason they need to spend close $500,000 for the purchase of the two buildings adjacent to their property. Sincerely,
Merle Stalcup

Grace Salado launches “Grief Share” sessions

If you are struggling with grief, or if others might be suggesting you talk to someone about your loss of a loved one, we are here for you. Grace Salado is offering an opportunity to help you while you grieve. Grief Share, a 13-week program is now enrolling, and open to all those in the greater Salado community who are grieving a personal loss. Grief Share consists of a network of 15,000+ churches worldwide equipped to offer grief support groups. The program is non-denominational and features biblical concepts for healing from a person's grief. Each support group meets weekly; where the typical program consists of instructional videos, small group discussions, and workbook activities. As each session is a “self-contained” module, individuals can join in at any of the 13 sessions. The only cost would be for the workbook. Leading the Salado group is Mary Hendrix, MTh., who has served for over 20 years as a hospice Chaplain. For further information on joining the Grief Share program in Salado, please contact Mary Hendrix at 858-232-4692.

Warrior Angels in Boots 5K combats ‘invisible wounds’

We lost 13 of our brave Service Men and Women. My husband Corey and I felt like we needed to do something to honor them, honor our Military, Veterans, Heroes in Boots, Gold Star families and other Fallen Heroes,” Kimmie said. Corey is a former Marine and both of Kimmie's brothers-in-law are also former Marines. One is a police officer in San Antonio and serves as a load master in the Air Force reserves. “He delivered a lot of our equipment that has been left behind in Afghanistan,” she said.

MARY EDNA
 BRADFORD ENGLEKING
 JUNE 27, 1927

OCTOBER 29, 2021

Mary Edna Bradford Engleking was born June 27, 1927 to Adron and Katherine (Ruyle) Bradford in Polk County Missouri.

She passed away on October 29, 2021.

She graduated from Shidler High School in Shidler, Oklahoma and studied secretarial skills in Bartlesville, Oklahoma. Mary and Ray Paul Engleking met in Bartlesville and were married on March 16, 1946. They celebrated 36 years of marriage before he passed away in December of 1982.

Mary was an active partner in church ministry with her husband Ray serving in various congregations including the Dacoma EUB and UMC churches in Mulhall/Orlando, Shawnee, Calumet, and Pawnee/Skeedee Oklahoma. Mary was always involved in ministries to women, children, and the UMW. While living in Salado, TX, Mary was also involved in the Garden Guild and Shepherds. She continued to serve in UMW when she returned to Oklahoma City at her home church, Cornerstone UMC.

Mary loved her work in food service at Tulsa Public Schools, Northwestern Oklahoma State University, Bone and Joint Hospital, and Oklahoma City Public Schools. She especially liked baking pastries and bread for everyone.

Some of her joys and skills included sewing and baking delicious cinnamon rolls, Aunt Ina's bread, and Wacky cake for friends and family. Mary was an avid gardener, enjoyed attending Gospel concerts, plays, and attending great-grandchildren's activities. Mary was also very involved with her local Sunday School classes and Mobile Meals program.

In addition to her husband, Ray, Mary was preceded in death by her parents; a son, Billy Joe Engleking; sister, Virginia Lawson; half-brother, Ford Bradford, half-sister, Athelene Marling; granddaughter, Katherine Engleking; and great grandsons, Gabriel, Elliot, and Miles Snyder. Viewing was held Nov. 1 at Mercer-Adams. The funeral service was held Nov. 2 at Cornerstone United Methodist Church with interment in Memorial Park Cemetery, Bartlesville, OK.

PAID OBITUARY

GARY LEE MCGREGOR
DECEMBER 11, 1951
SEPTEMBER 29, 2021

A memorial service for Gary Lee McGregor will be held at 10:00 a.m. on Saturday, November 20, 2021, at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, 3909 Ermine Trail, Temple, Texas. A livestream of the service will also be available via Facebook.

Gary Lee McGregor, 69, of Salado, passed away at an Austin hospital on the evening of Wednesday, September 29, 2021. Gary had been hospitalized due to complications from COVID-19. Prior to his passing, Gary was not alone, but surrounded in love by his wife and children.

Gary was born on December 11, 1951, in Wichita Falls, Texas, to Lee Roy and Marjorie McGregor. Gary, the oldest of Lee Roy and Marjorie's five children, spent his childhood and most of his teenage years in Dallas and Irving, Texas. The McGregor family relocated and made Salado their home in 1971, and Gary was one of four students in the Salado High School graduating class of 1971.

Despite being considered a "city slicker" by his peers when he first moved to Salado as a teen, Gary fell in love with the big skies and backroads of Bell County, Texas and the village of Salado, and never moved out of the area. After graduating from Salado High School, Gary worked at Griggs Equipment Co. in Belton (later Superior Aircraft Corp.). It was at Grigg's that Gary met his wife. Gary and Helen Hernandez were married on August 17, 1974, in Belton, Texas. Together, Gary and Helen raised three children who all attended Salado schools and also graduated from Salado High School.

Gary spent the majority of his working years as a business manager for the company started by his parents Lee Roy and Marjorie, Welders' Supply Company, in Belton. The McGregor family and their welding supply business were known throughout Bell County for their business integrity, and Gary enjoyed serving the family's loyal customers. Gary loved people and hated to see anyone treated poorly or unable to receive service due to language barriers. Gary never shied away from opportunities to practice his Spanish, and he never said no to a tamale sale. After Lee Roy and Marjorie's retirement from the welding supply business, Gary owned and operated a small bookstore in Belton, and later worked at a U-Haul and storage facility prior to his own retirement from the workforce at the end of 2016.

Gary was a family man who enjoyed living simply. Gary never owned more than two pairs of shoes at a time — one pair for work, one pair for church — and neither pair ever required shoelaces. Gary passed on a love of history and road trips to his children. The McGregor family road trips were the highlight of every summer for Gary's children. The trips were planned with meticulous detail by Gary, who always ensured he had a road map of every state the family would pass through, along with a notepad and a pen. The McGregor family's road trip stops included national monuments and parks, historic battlefields, and museums documenting American history. After Gary and Helen's children moved away from home to begin families of their own, Gary and Helen continued their road trip adventures. Gary would vehemently disagree that modern technology made paper maps obsolete. Gary never quite adapted to GPS.

Gary was an avid collector of books and music. Gary loved perusing garage sales and could come home from a sale with multiple boxes of books, much to his wife Helen's chagrin. Gary was also meticulous in his organization of his record and book collection and loved sharing his love of books and music with anyone who would listen. A lot of people did, including sometimes his children.

Gary and Helen were active members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints in Temple, Texas, which they joined in 1977. Gary and Helen were blessed to be able to be sealed for eternity in the LDS Temple in Salt Lake City, Utah in 1979. Gary was active in his home congregation in Temple, Texas. When the Temple congregation's first Spanish-speaking family arrived for services, Gary immediately approached the family and offered his assistance. Gary's efforts led to the creation of the church's first Spanish-speaking congregation, a congregation that exists to this date, and which Gary continued to attend with his wife Helen up until his passing.

Gary will mostly be remembered for his kind, gentle nature. He loved animals, and animals gravitated toward him. Gary truly loved people. As a recipient of kindness from others when he experienced his own struggles, Gary was always eager to pay that kindness forward. Gary spoke to people without passing judgment, and he listened to what people had to say. If asked for money, Gary's first instinct was never to turn the other way. Gary was a person who stopped and listened, even if the only assistance he could offer was a listening ear. Gary always answered when door-to-door salesmen knocked. And Gary always purchased Girl Scout cookies.

Gary never wanted anyone to feel alone. What most people will recall about Gary is: "He was the one who always talked to me."

Gary is preceded in death by his parents, Lee Roy McGregor and Marjorie McGregor. Gary is survived by his loving wife of over 47 years, Helen McGregor, of Salado; his sons, Joseph Lee McGregor (wife Jennifer) of Little Elm, and Aaron Patrick McGregor (wife Sydney) of Idaho Falls, Idaho; and his daughter, Rachel Elizabeth Caum (husband Tim) of Dallas. Gary is also survived by his two brothers, Larry McGregor of Salado, and Jim McGregor of Temple, and his two sisters, Cindy Fisher of Salado, and Rebecca Woodham of Scurry. Gary is also survived by eight beautiful grandchildren.

Arrangements are entrusted to Crotty Funeral Home & Cremation Services of Belton.

Railroad model display at Church of Christ Activities Center Nov. 13-14 Tinsplate Trackers come to Salado

The Austin Tinsplate Trackers model railroad enthusiasts will have a display at the Salado Church of Christ Activities Center Nov. 13-14.

The display is free to the public and children will have the chance to operate the model trains (with assistance from the Tinsplate Trackers, of course).

The display will be open 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Nov. 13 and noon-4 p.m. Nov. 14.

The Tinsplate Trackers of Austin, Texas is a 3-rail O-Gauge Model Train Club located in the Austin area. The club participates in a number of model railroading activities and events in Central Texas.

Membership is open to anyone having interest in Trains.

The club website is constantly being updated so please check back frequently.

The Tinsplate Trackers are people who enjoy the operation of O-gauge tinsplate trains on modules that are basically standardized, yet open to unlimited improvisation. The largest layout created by members was 40 feet by 60 feet.

Tinsplate refers to toy trains and track — such as American Flyer, Marx and Lionel -- built before World War II, when they were actually made of metal. However, toy trains built today are mostly plastic but the tinsplate rails still remain.

Tinsplate trains are larger than most scale model trains and are lots of fun.

A module is a unit, a short section of railroad, built to standard specifications so that it can be joined with other such units to form an oval layout.

It is distinguished from a sectional layout, used by many clubs, which is made up of a number of units which assemble in only one way.

The Tinsplate Tracker modules, made in a few basic types, can be assembled in many, many different ways.

The Austin Tinsplate Trackers model railroaders will have a large display at Salado Church of Christ Activities Center. (FILE PHOTO)

inent in Texas agriculture after striking it rich during the California gold rush of 1849. He came to Belton first and later to Salado when Salado College was founded in order to educate his 11 children.

Maj. A.J. Rose served as Agriculture Commissioner for the State of Texas, served on the Texas A&M University Board of Trustees and was an early member of The Grange movement in Texas, which had its first store in Salado. He was Worthy Patron of the State Grange. He was also Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Texas Ancient Free and Accepted Masons. He was a Past Master of Salado Masonic Lodge #296.

Built in the Greek Revival style that is so familiar in Salado, the Rose Mansion was added on to in 1875 and again in 1885 when a brick kitchen was attached to the building. In 2003, a sun room was added to the brick kitchen.

One of the first things the Hyderkhans discovered was that the brick kitchen had been victim to a fire at an unknown time. "The walls that were there when we got it were facades. We found the timbers underneath were burnt. We had water coming in from the flat roof. Cabinets were literally falling off the wall," Kellie Ann said.

Scott said that the brick kitchen could not be saved. Instead, the bricks were salvaged for use on the property as was the blown glass of the original windows for use in replacing broken panes on the 150 year old house. The old kitchen floors will also have new life in the addition of the living room, kitchen and upstairs master bedroom.

In 1875, an addition was built on to the house, to include travelers' rooms with separate entrances. According to Scott, there were copper gutters inside the interior walls. "They came loose of the fittings, so there has been water damage," he said.

The old smokehouse will have new life as part of a garage, workshop area and upstairs apartment.

After Hyderkhans settle into the main house, work will be done on the cabins on the property.

 James Nolan talks about the Halley House.

THE HALLEY HOUSE

The Robert Bonner Halley House on Main Street is being restored for Kathy Michaels.

Captain Halley formed the Salado Mounted Troops at the start of the Civil War. After the war, he was Sheriff of Bell County and partnered in ownership of a milling operation in the County. The building has been a home for most of its existence, but has had extended periods of vacancy. At one time, it was operated as a bed and breakfast and meeting venue.

It will likely be a venue of some sort in its latest incarnation.

But before that can happen, "We have to undo a lot of doing that was done years ago," Nolan said.

Typical of many historic homes with multiple owners over the decades, projects have been undertaken at different periods of its life. Some have been well done. Others not so much.

Nolan is looking for profiles of material that was used in the original construction of the two-story Greek Revival home. "We have the ability to match the profiles if we can find them," he said.

He found what he was looking for while crawling in the attic of the Halley house. "It was all tongue in groove siding that was what we were looking for," he said.

Unfortunately, not everything can be salvaged, or saved. Such was the case with the windows of the home, which were replaced.

Nolan said that after meeting with the owner and developing a plan for the project, "we will be back on site in a few weeks."

REMEMBERING MARY HODGE

Salado Historical Society began its annual chili supper by honoring Mary Hodge, who Charlene Carson described as "the first lady of Salado history."

Carson shared her firsthand experience of Mary's love for history and in particular, her love for Central Texas and Salado history.

The two co-authored Salado, an Images of America book.

"She provided the photos and I provided the words," Carson said. "That was our agreement."

 Charlene Carson talks about her friend Mary Hodge.

Mary was born in Corn Hill on April 15, 1926. She came to Salado when she married C.B. Hodge at the age of 20. Salado became her home over the next 75 years. "She was a member of the Salado United Methodist Church for 75 years," Carson said. "Can you imagine that?"

"She lived in an era of right and wrong," Carson said. "She knew right from wrong. She was a child of the Depression and a young adult in World War II. She knew rationing."

Mary worked beside her husband C.B. in the grain business, sheep and cattle livestock order buying business, and land development business in Salado.

A member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Daughters of the Republic of Texas and First Citizens of Texas, genealogy and history were important to her. Most important to her was family. Several of her family members were present for the memorial to Mary.

Late in her life, she authored three local history books (Salado with Carson, Salado and Bell County, Texas with Jarrell, Texas with Priscilla King) and archived obituaries at the Salado library.

"We had one final agreement between us," Carson said, "and it was this: that whichever one of us was left would archive the other's obituary as our final one."

SHS members elected by acclamation the following officers for 2022: President Bill Kinnison, Vice President Dr. Wallace Davis, Secretary Nancy Kelsey and Treasurer Bonnie Smith.

Memberships are $25 for individuals and $40 for families. Checks can be mailed to Salado Historical Society, PO Box 251, Salado, TX 76571.

Bentons hosts Chamber After Hours Social Nov. 5

Bentons, the oldest jewelry store in Salado, welcomed the Salado Chamber of Commerce members for an After Hours on Nov. 5.

Jim Sim Benton opened the jewelry store in 1970 in Salado to showcase the artistic jewelry he had been making and selling at art shows, including the Salado Art Fair.

For decades, Jim Sim and wife owned and operated the business before retiring to South Carolina.

Bob and Laura Hargrove bought Bentons in November 2018, but Bob has worked for the Bentons for two decades beforehand.

Bob began working for the Bentons at the age of 16, working part time during the summer at Ann's store Bird in Hand. A year later, he moved next door to work for Jim.

At first, he began doing odd jobs and errands until his artistic curiosity became evident and Jim needed help with the production of jewelry. Over time, Bob became more of an apprentice to Jim, learning skills in not only the production but the design of fine gold jewelry making.

Several years later, as Jim was gradually heading towards retirement and he and Ann were spending more time at their home and at Jim's studio in North Carolina, Bob began co-managing Bentons and learning more about running a business from Jim.

During this time, Hargrove began establishing respect with existing long-time customers and suppliers, as well as, developing his own, new clientele, offering his learned skills in the manufacturing and talent expressed in his unique designs.

"The experience and knowledge I received from Jim is priceless," Hargrove said.

Since the Hargroves have taken over the mantle of ownership, they strive to continue the artistry of goldsmithing and are proud to continue the legacy that flourished with Jim and Ann Benton. They intend to offer the same level of customer service and the highest level of craftsmanship that is synonymous with Bentons.

Bentons is located at the corner of Main St. and Royal in Shady Villa Shopping Center (401 South Main St.). It is open 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday-Saturday. Phone is 254-947-5767.

Local Music Association holds Annual Music & Arts Festival on Nov. 20

Live music is back at the Annual Music and Arts Festival, sponsored by the Music Association of Central Texas (MACT). "Everyone is just ready to get out and hear some live music," says Board President Casey Stanislaw. The event will be held on Saturday, November 20, on the grounds of Barrow Brewing Company, on the banks of Salado Creek in downtown Salado.

Music will begin at noon and continue all afternoon on indoor and outdoor stages, capped off that evening with headliner

Patricia Vonne is a multi-talented musician, actress, award winning filmmaker and two-time SXSW best female vocalist winner.

She is back with a new album My Favorite Holiday on her label Bandolera Records. The album is Patricia's ode to the most special time of the year featuring 10 original songs (and 1 cover) with the help of an all-star cast including Rubén Blades, Alex Ruiz, Rosie Flores, Stephen Ferrone on drums (Tom Petty), Carmine Rojas on bass (David Bowie), and more! The album, which will be released November 19th is produced by Rick Del Castillo.

For the San Antonio native, Christmas meant gathering with her parents and nine siblings and making music and enduring holiday memories, especially the festive Holiday River Parade, which features floats carrying scores of entertainers (including, in 2019, Vonne herself). Christmas is, and always has been, as the title of Vonne's new album puts it, My Favorite Holiday.

Vonne will take the stage at Barrow Brewing Co, at 8 p.m.

Prior to that, there will be performances indoors and outdoors at Barrow Brewing Co. Performers include these: Cloud Anchor, Midnight Tradesmen, Madstone, Jon and Faith Austin, Dana Spigener, Martian Folk, KCD Band, Frank Exum, Jonna and the Mae Flies, The Soundwaves, The Resistors, Richard Paul Thomas, Scott Taylor, Justin Bravo, Ermoian Brothers, Denver Williams and Wes Perryman.

MACT Board President Casey Stanislaw said, "After skipping last year, we wanted to throw a big event featuring local talent, and we are so lucky to have a beautiful venue and a fantastic closer."

Local artists, artisans, and food vendors will also be set up from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., and craft beer will be available at Barrow Brewing.

Admission is free at this all-ages event. "MACT's mission is to foster and promote live music, and after a long wait we see this event as one way to get things back on track," Stanislaw said.

In the event of bad weather, the music will still continue on the indoor stage. For more information, or to become a member of MACT, visit their Facebook page <https://www.facebook.com/MACTTX> or MACTX.ORG.

Patricia Vonne will headline the Music & Arts Festival Nov. 20 in Salado. She just released a Christmas album, "My Favorite Holiday."

The KCD Band will perform during the MACT Music and Arts Festival Nov. 20.

CIS Shoe Drive kicks off this week

The 14th annual Communities In Schools of Greater Central Texas (CIS) Shoes 4 Kids shoe drive is being held November 10 through December 10. CIS is accepting donations of new or gently-worn shoes for elementary, middle school and high school, children registered in the CIS program which serves the Killeen, Belton, Copperas Cove, Jarrell, Salado and Temple school districts. Donations of shoes for all sizes and ages from toddler size 12 to adult size 14 will be accepted. Tennis shoes/sneakers must be appropriate for school-aged children.

The goal of Shoes 4 Kids is to help ensure students in the CIS program have a decent pair of shoes for everyday use or for necessities such as a dress-up affair or a P.E. class. "Currently there is a need for athletic shoes," said Michael Dewees, local CIS executive director. "Many of these students have outgrown their shoes or have no choice but to wear what is available to them which, in many cases, are hand-me-down pairs or borrowed shoes that don't fit properly."

Dewees noted students in the CIS program kids are from economically disadvantaged families and have very few provisions for a lot of the things many of us take for granted. "Like most youngsters, a new toy at Christmas is on the wish list," he said. "But for our CIS students, a new pair of shoes is at the top of that list. A decent, well-fitting pair of shoes will not only build a child's self-esteem among their peers but is a necessity many of them lack."

Donations for the CIS shoe drive are accepted at the Communities In Schools office located in Killeen at 4520 E. Central Texas Expressway, Suite 106. To follow safety protocols, donors should call the CIS office at 254-554-2132 to schedule a drop-off appointment. CIS will also accept monetary donations to purchase shoes for those kids whose shoe size was not met with the shoe collection. Monetary donations can be mailed to the CIS office at the above address.

Other drop-off locations are the Carlson Law Firm in Killeen and Temple, the Salado Civic Center, Texas A&M University-Central Texas and the Central Texas College Student Center (Bldg. 220).

As a local, nonprofit organization, CIS is dedicated to impacting the lives of children in a positive way, helping them achieve the success they often find unattainable. This past academic year, CIS assisted more than 5,700 students to help them stay in school, improve academically, improve attendance, improve behavior and graduate.

The SHS Art I classes participated in an in-house art competition to replace the Rotary Club art competition that did not take place this year. The theme for the project was "Bright Beginnings." The students could use any 2-D art medium and created their interpretation of "Bright Beginnings." They were judged on both artistic manipulation of the medium as well as their interpretation of the theme. There were three honorable mentions, three top winners, and one overall best of show. The students who received honorable mention were Emme Black, Adam Gilliam, and Keith Osborne. The top three place winners were Kennedy Hewett, Jillian Taylor, and Ben Wickert. Eagles defuse Rockets, 65-7

BY LARNCE BARKER
CONTRIBUTOR

ROBINSON — Aidan Wilson introduced himself to the Robinson Rockets Nov. 5 by scoring the Eagles' first four touchdowns and assisted Salado to a 65-7 rout of Robinson in the District 9-4A-II finale for both teams.

Wilson finished with 194 yards on the night on 15 carries. Wilson finishes the regular season with 180 carries for 1,252 yards and 22 touchdowns.

After Wilson toted the pigskin for a 29-0 lead in the second quarter, a host of Eagles took over. Salado got a 27-yard touchdown pass from Hutton Haire to Josh Huckabee to extend the lead to 36-0 before Robinson (2-8, 1-4) finally got on the scoreboard. A 57-yard run by Grayson Martin closed it to 36-7 to open the third quarter.

Salado put the "Hay in the Barn" with touchdowns from Seth Reavis, Adam Benavides, Dusty Rhiddlehoover and Morgan Adams to enumerate in the win.

Salado (7-3, 4-1) already has clinched a playoff berth and finished second in the district and will face third seed of District 10 Rusk Eagles in the Bi-District Playoff game 7:30pm Friday at DeSoto High School.

Playoffs are not easy road in Region III

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

While the Eagles placed second in District 9-4A-2 to make the playoffs, Salado is in the toughest bracket in the state. In the first round, Salado faces the Rusk Eagles with kick-off at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 12 at DeSoto High School.

Rusk is the third place team in District 10-4A-2 with a record of 8-2, both of their losses in district play. Rusk lost to Jasper, 7-0 in the first week of district play and then fell to defending state champions Carthage in the third week, 35-14.

At the half, Rusk was leading Carthage 14-7, but gave up 21 points in the third and a touchdown in the fourth for the loss.

The Eagles have a mix of running and passing with 2,710 yards in the air and 1,205 on the ground.

Senior quarterback Owen McCown, spreads the ball among 11 receivers with Elijah Ward catching 37 passes for 681 yards and 6 TDs and Aiden McCown catching 22 passes for 527 yards and 7 TDs.

The ball is spread among four runners very evenly with J Session leading the pack with 349 yards and 4 TDs on 50 touches and Owen McCown covering 313 yards on 72 carries and 9 TDs.

Salado is 7-3 on the year with just one district loss coming at the hands of the China Spring Cougars. 48-7. Salado's other two losses were to ranked teams. Salado lost 32-28 in the final minutes of their non-district game with Grandview. The Eagles also lost to #2 Stephenville 48-21.

If the Eagles get past Rusk, they will likely face the sixth-ranked Bellville Brahmas in the Area round.

Ofrendas projects honors friends, family who are gone

To celebrate El Dia de los Muertos, students in Lourdes Cordero Hilfman's eighth grade Honors Spanish 1 classes at Salado Middle School undertook several activities as part of their Ofrenda project. Ofrenda is a Hispanic cultural project that celebrates El Día de Los Muertos which commemorates the celebration of life of a deceased loved one or someone from the Hispanic culture. Day of the dead is celebrated in many Spanish Speaking Countries in Latin America. The students learned about this holiday through various interactive lessons, videos, Coco Movie, creating all the elements that will make an ofrenda complete and also taking a field trip to San Antonio to the RiverWalk, La villita, Mexican Market, Mi Tierra to experience the celebration a highly populated Hispanic city.

Contract Bridge

RIGHT BID, WRONG DECLARER

East dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH

- ♠ K 5
- ♥ A J 5
- ♦ A J 8 4
- ♣ A 7 6 2

EAST

- ♠ J 7 6 4 3
- ♥ K 9 7 6 4 2
- ♦ 6 3

WEST

- ♠ 10 2
- ♥ Q 3
- ♦ 2
- ♣ K Q J 10 9 8 5 3

SOUTH

- ♠ A Q 9 8
- ♥ 10 8
- ♦ K Q 10 9 7 5
- ♣ 4

The bidding:

East South West North
Pass 1♦ 4♣ 6♦

Opening lead — king of clubs.

Furthermore, if it should turn out that his partner does not provide him with a single trick, the 500-point loss becomes very worthwhile, since the vulnerable opponents are then almost sure to have game, if not a slam. From every viewpoint, therefore, the jump-overcall by West is a sound tactical measure.

Consider North's predicament after the four-club bid. It's not clear what he should do. His actual raise to six diamonds — though a shot in the dark — is probably as reasonable an action as any.

The way things turned out, though, North should have bid only five diamonds. West led the king of clubs, covered by the ace and ruffed by East. Declarer later lost a heart trick and so went down one.

However, the outcome does not prove that North was wrong to bid the slam. In fact, had his partner played the hand more carefully, he would have made six diamonds. He should have anticipated the possibility that East had no clubs and protected against it by playing low from dummy at trick one, allowing West's king to win the trick!

If West continued with a second club, South would again play low from dummy and ruff in his hand. With the ace of clubs still in dummy and available for a heart discard, it would then have been a simple matter for declarer to score the 12 tricks he had started with.
