The Moore the merrier for A Christmas Carol

By JACKIE MILLS
TABLEROCK

This year's performance of A Christmas Carol will feature James and Tonja Moore of Salado.

Tonja Moore is a Salado local who has acted in Tablerock's Fright Trail as one of Macbeth's "strange sisters". She has also acted in A Christmas Carol for the last three years. She played Mrs. Dilber in the past and takes on the roll of Mrs. Pratt, laundress, this year. Tonja works as a literature teacher at Shoemaker High School in Killeen. She loves her freshmen and wants them to be excited about reading and writing. Tonja started acting in order to help with her shyness communicating with her students' parents and school administration. Now she is able to maintain her teaching style no matter if adults are watching or not.

James Moore, better known to his friends as "Jimbo" Moore, retired from active duty in the U.S. Army and became a full time Grandpa. He never thought of himself as a thespian, but has found his niche. He is often the center of backstage shenanigans. His personality allows him to unabashedly transform into whatever character he takes on. Jimbo has portrayed many characters in Tablerock's productions of A Christmas Carol and also in Salado Legends. He thrived and became the character he was assigned to portray when he found himself living in the little town of Salado during the 1850's and marching off to the War between the states. Imagination is a wondrous gift!

Jimbo is the first to arrive at rehearsal and often the last to leave the set. Many friendships have been made among cast members as Jimbo and other locals rehearse and come together to entertain both Salado locals and visitors who come the events at Tablerock Amphitheater.

Tonja and her husband Jimbo have three children and two grandchildren who love coming to Tablerock Amphitheater for the play. They love seeing Grandma and Grandpa on stage while they drink their hot chocolate and feel the Christmas Spirit.

Come join us at Tablerock Amphitheater for A Christmas Carol this Dec. 3, 4, 10 and 11.

You may purchase tickets ahead of time via www.CentralTexasTickets.com or you may purchase tickets at the door on the night of the performance with cash or check. The Bell County Sheriff's Posse will be on horseback guiding you as you park your car in our free parking lot. Doors to the Ticket Office and the Concession Stand and indoor restrooms will be open at 6:15 p.m. Adult tickets - $15, Children 12 and under - $3, Student Tickets - $5. The show begins at 7 p.m.. The Concession Stand volunteers will serve ham and cheese sandwiches, hot coffee and cold drinks, nachos and hotdogs, a cheerful smile and a Merry Christmas!

Market swoons for Thanksgiving

The Markets

Our dear old friend, the S&P 500 Stock Index (SPX), representing the U.S. stock market, put in a 2.2% swoon for the foreshortened Thanksgiving week, dropping to 4594.62, almost all of which was in the half day of trading on the Friday following the holiday. That Friday slump puts the Index down 0.04% for the trailing month, but up 2.79% for the trailing three months, well over 22% this year, and a still staggering 27% from last year at this time. The other stock index we follow, the CRSP Mid-Cap Value Index, showed the resilience we would expect from value stocks and held its weekly loss to 1.53%, closing at 2414.42. The financial headlines jumped on the decline, announcing this was the biggest point decline for a "Black Friday" half-day in history for the Dow Jones 30 Industrial Average and the worst single day drop since, well, sometime last year. Reading further down the story in the Wall Street Journal, one could find the disclosure that many, if not most traders had taken the day off, so one of the issues was that those who wanted to sell were having a field day as the major buyers were sleeping off their Thanksgiving dinners.

The reported proximate cause of the plunge was the announcement that the new "Omicron" COVID-19 variant had been found in a few people who had arrived in Europe. The first, and quite reasonable question pops to mind, "Is this the big one?" As we write this on Friday after the market close, we are going to go out on a limb and say that we don't think so. The stocks that did the initial falling were quite reasonably, airlines, hotels, and other issues that were likely to be damaged by the international border closings announced and likely to be announced in the future. When those stock prices dropped, it triggered automatic defensive selling programs that dumped baskets of stocks, including the whole SPX, which in turn, caused other automatic defensive block sells to be triggered. If after the real traders and senior decision makers at the major Wall Street firms come back next week, the selling continues, we are probably on the way to a full-blown correction, but, if as we suspect, those traders sense an opportunity and start buying, then this will go down in history as just another short blip in a record-breaking bull market.

In reaction to the stock market decline, the yield on 10-year U.S. Treasury notes, performed as expected, declining about 4.5% to 1.479% as the money fleeing stocks was automatically invested in that benchmark bond. That corresponding decline in rates left the 10-Year T-note yield up about 63% this year in another indicator that this, at least so far, is a minor blip. West Texas Intermediate crude oil fell about 10% for the same reasons as the stock market to $68.17.

The Economy

Now, on to the real economic news. There were several significant economic announcements for the Thanksgiving week that, as is normal every year, were largely buried and little-noted in the holiday and Black Friday hurly-burley. Probably the most important was the fact that, according to the Commerce Department, nominal U.S. consumer spending rose 1.3% in October alone. In an economy like ours where 2/3 of the GDP is consumer expenditures, that is an impressive monthly rise. That figure puts real consumer spending up 6.9% over the last three months, even after subtracting inflation. At the same time, personal income rose 0.5% for October, with wages up 0.8% as the government transfer payments declined. That extra spending above income was reflected in the savings rate dropping to 7.3% from September's 8.2%. That still leaves about $2.6 trillion in excess savings in consumer accounts, so there is a lot more that can be spent. Another announcement from Commerce was that, if we exclude the volatile aircraft orders from the data, durable-goods orders were up half a percent for the month. New orders remain higher than orders shipped, effectively forecasting good business ahead.

In other news, relating to last week's scare, the core Personal Consumption Index (PCI), possibly the most accurate inflation indicator, did rise 0.4% in October, but is up only 4.1% from a year ago, suggesting that real inflation is ebbing downward. President Biden tagged Jerome Powell, the sitting Fed Chair, for another term, suggesting his conservative approach to the economy will remain in place. New U.S. unemployment claims hit a 52-year low last week down to 199,000, well below the pre-pandemic average. The U.S., China, S. Korea, Japan, India, and the U.K. agreed to sell oil from their strategic reserves to lower oil and gasoline prices, irritating the OPEC (+) nations that were trying to drive prices up. Wholesale business inventories were up 2.2% in October, suggesting that supply chain issues are fading as businesses ramp up for Christmas. And... Moody's is forecasting an 8.5% annualized GDP growth in the fourth quarter.

The bottom line for the week is that, yes, there is another new COVID-19 variant, but the underlying economy is still accelerating. So far, there is no evidence that the new variant is immune to the current vaccines but in a bull market, worry blips are the norm, so all still looks good to us.

Harris v. Buttigieg would be the GOP's dream primary

The GOP has had plenty of reason for good cheer in recent months.

Nothing can compare, though, with the glad tidings of a potential showdown between Vice President Kamala Harris and Transportation Secretary Pete Buttigieg to be Biden's successor in 2024 should he decide not to run for reelection.

Surely, there would be other serious candidates in that circumstance, but there is no doubt that Harris and Buttigieg would be high on the list of potential contenders, as various journalistic outfits have noted over the past week.

As it happens, they exemplify the contemporary Democratic Party's electoral deficiencies, while bringing their own flagrant personal political weaknesses to the equation.

If this is really the choice Democrats would face should Biden decline to run, they better hope he defies age, bounces back to robust political health, and is prepared to serve again well into his 80s.

Harris flamed out in the 2020 Democratic nomination well before the Iowa caucuses, unable to settle on a message or political identity. Her staff was obsessed with the progressive hothouse of Twitter, which is a powerful device for creating a false sense of what real voters, even Democratic primary voters, care about.

As vice president, she's basically picked up where her desultory campaign left off. In the latest USA Today/Suffolk University poll, Harris had a dismal 28% approval rating. It's difficult to rate that low without getting indicted or suffering some other embarrassing scandal.

Her allies, of course, complain that she's being treated unfairly because she's a woman of color. This fixation on race and gender plays much better with the left-wing activist class than with the public. The simpler explanation for Harris' woes is that she's a below-average politician serving under an unpopular president.

Pete Buttigieg has had a happier tenure. With his surprising success in the 2020 Democratic primary, he bootstrapped himself into a Cabinet position and is now enjoying a windfall of resources thanks to the infrastructure bill.

He embodies, to a fault, the party's growing strength among college-educated whites. He's smooth, credentialed, hyper-articulate and a quick study who knows enough -- sometimes just enough -- to charm and impress journalists and other white-collar creative types.

If a management consultant were to design a progressive white Democrat in a bottle, the result would look a lot like Buttigieg, himself a former management consultant.

It's become increasingly clear, though, that the Democratic Party's new base among college-educated voters is a trap if it is pursued to the exclusion of an appeal to working-class voters. The party's poor standing with non-college-educated voters has begun to show up in eroding support among Latinos, a constituency that was presumed to be a key pillar of the Obama-crafted "coalition of the ascendant."

A successful post-Biden Democratic future is more likely to be found in the likes of New York Mayor-elect Eric Adams than Harris or Buttigieg.

He is an African American former cop with a hard-knocks upbringing that gives him working-class street cred. He knows that woke bromides aren't the way to appeal to African American voters, who put him over the top in the Democratic primary. He's a standard progressive in many respects, but he has proven immune to fashionable left-wing causes. He not only defused a hot-button cultural issue -- namely, crime -- he campaigned on it and made it a strength, an ability that most national Democrats have lost as the party has moved left since 2016.

It's far too early to know how his City Hall tenure will actually turn out, but Adams has the qualities and approach that, in theory, could be fruitful for Democrats nationally.

Meanwhile, even if the GOP is on a roll at the moment, it shouldn't get its hopes up. At the end of the day, a 2024 Democratic primary dominated by Harris and Buttigieg is probably too good to be true.

Community Life

Fireman and Police Officers recognized by SAR

The Heart of Texas Chapter #26 Sons of the American Revolution (SAR), recognized two Salado Firemen, an EMS Tech, and two Police Officers for their service to the community during the past year at the November 13, meeting at the Salado Library. They were awarded the Sons of the American Revolution Commendation Medals.

Fire Chief Shane Berrier nominated Reagan Bazar for the 2021 SAR Fire Safety Commendation Award for his work on the scene of fires and at the station. His talented abilities are a huge benefit on the scene of fires and around the station. Fireman Bazar will be awarded his medal at a later date since he was called to duty when the awards were being presented. The EMS medal was awarded to Martin Jackson who is a newer member of the department and responds to most of the calls. His readiness to respond to emergency calls and preparation for the next call were acknowledged as commendable.

Police Chief Pat Boone nominated Sergeant Stephen Hall for the SAR Law Enforcement medal. Sergeant Hall has brought a wealth of knowledge and experience to Salado Police Department making it a better community service oriented department. His previous experience is from 27 years police service in Rhode Island and 5 years as Park Ranger at Yellowstone National Park. He was promoted to Sergeant in February 2021 for his outstanding service to Salado citizens.

This year the SAR made a special effort to recognize two men who have given tremendous leadership to the departments which they serve as Chief. They are Fire Chief Shane Berrier and Chief of Police Patrick Boone. Chief Shane Berrier was awarded the Fireman Medal for his 24 years with the Salado Fire Department responding to numerous calls, providing training for firemen and performing required administrative duties. He is especially commended for his successful campaign to create the Bell County Emergency Services District #1. Chief of Police Patrick Boone is recognized for his leadership in securing grants for equipment, updating policies to address current trends, and pulling patrol shifts in order to save overtime costs. In the small Salado Police department, Chief Boone is there with the other policemen pulling his share of the duties.

Congratulations to these five men who have given so much to our community during the past year. Their individual contributions have contributed to our community well-being in ways we do not see. That is why each year the Heart of Texas Chapter of the SAR recognizes outstanding firemen, police officers and EMS for a commendation award for their service to the community.

Individuals interested in researching their ancestors going back the American Revolution to see if eligible to join the Sons of the American Revolution (SAR) can contact the Texas Society Sons of the American Revolution website at www.tx-sar.org, The Heart of Texas Chapter is #26. The goal of the SAR is to honor our ancestors and perpetuate our American heritage.

Hubbs, Lacanne wedding held on Nov. 21

Broecker
FUNERAL HOME

Kylee Hubbs and Camden LaCanne, both of Salado, were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony Nov. 21, 2021 at Lone Oak Barn in Round Rock Texas, officiated by Wes Ferrell, grandfather of the groom.

The bride is the daughter of Luke and Tammy Hubbs of Salado. She is a 2017 graduate of Salado High School and a 2020 graduate of Texas A&M University with a B.S. degree in Public Health. She is currently a nursing student at Concordia University and works as an intern in labor and delivery.

The groom is the son of Brent and Kim LaCanne of Salado. He is also a 2017 graduate of Salado High School and a 2020 graduate of Texas A&M University with a B.S. degree in agricultural economics. He is the owner of Alpha On-Site Design Services, which provides auto-cad designs.

Jenna Calder, best friend of the bride, of Salado, served as Maid of Honor. Bridesmaids were Ashlen LaCanne, sister of the groom, of Salado, Paige Aydell of Salado, Keeley Pucket of Texarkana, Bailee Walker of Killeen, Madison Whitson of Salado, Corinne Moore of Belton and Joanna Steigerwalt of Salado.

Caidynce Fell, cousin of the groom, of Salado, served as Junior Bridesmaid.

Armando Castillo, best friend of the groom, of Salado, served as Best Man.

Groomsmen were Tyler Hubbs, brother of the bride, of Salado, John Dawson, Scout Puckett, Daniel Magadan and Kaden Smien, all of Salado, Clayton Rohmer of Munster and Bailey Harmon, cousin of the groom, of Temple.

Stella LaCanne of Salado and Prim Ferrell of Temple, both cousins of the groom, served as Flower Girls.

Jackson LaCanne and Fisher LaCanne, both cousins of the groom and from Salado, served as Ringbearers.

The officiant, groomsmen and groom walked out to Sharp Dressed Man by ZZ Top.

The colors for the wedding were maroon, dusty pink, emerald green. Their unity ceremony was an Aggie Century Tree planting tradition.

The bride wore a flowing A-line gown by Maggie Sottero with a beaded bodice. Her flowers were tea roses with Italian Ruscus greenery and maroon dahlia. The bride carried a piece of her mother's veil wrapped around her bouquet.

Mrs. Kylee LaCanne

A rehearsal dinner, hosted by the groom's parents, was held at Maggiano's Little Italy in Austin the day before the wedding. It was decorated with flowers, pictures of the bride and groom, and wine bottles to sign for future celebrations for bride and groom. The groom's father gave a heartfelt speech.

Following the ceremony, the reception was at Lone Oak Barn in Round Rock hosted by the bride's parents. A special dance of the bride and groom, bride and father, and groom and mother left many teary eyed. The wedding party entrance songs and acts kicked off things to get the party started. Entertainment was provided by the groom's parents, DJ and spirits. A signature drink, "The Ginger Bug" was inspired by the Bride's 13 year old dog, Ginger who belonged to her late Nana. The photo booth was a hit.

The Aggie War Hymn was played for all the Aggies to celebrate.

The newlyweds were sent-off with sparklers and Aggie Rally Towels to display the path to a white limousine awaiting them.

The couple had a mini-honeymoon to Fredericksburg. They will travel in January to Punta Canal, Dominican Republic.

The couple will reside in Salado.

Humanities Texas awards Salado Cowboy Poetry, Music Gathering $5,000 grant for 2022

Sharon Douglas and Linda Griffith, organizers for the Salado Cowboy Poetry and Music Gathering, were notified last week their non-profit has been awarded a $5,000 grant from Humanities Texas.

Humanities Texas is an affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities and is one of 56 state and jurisdictional humanities councils in the United States. Their mission is educational excellence with programs that improve the quality of classroom teaching, support libraries and museums and create opportunities for lifelong learning. Receiving this donation, said Douglas, is validation of the importance of preserving the culture and heritage of the American West.

In its second year, the Salado Gathering is adding a social studies event for fourth and seventh graders called Life on the Chisholm Trail.' Ronnie Sexton will present this program at the middle school Friday, May 6, 2022.

Entertainers for the Saturday night concert will also perform cowboy poetry and western music.

The grant will also be used to fund the entertainers performing Saturday, May 7 at the Salado Civic Center. With the support of Humanities Texas, this event will be free. Music and poetry will be performed at the old cabins, gazebo and upstairs at the civic center. The Salado Historical Society will have the cabins open for tour, Maxdale Cowboy Church will host coffee and Dutch oven biscuits from their chuckwagon and the Native Plant Society will share facts about 'going native'

More information about the event can be found at saladocowboypoe.org.

Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi Inducts New Members

The following people recently were initiated into The Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi, the nation's oldest and most selective collegiate honor society for all academic disciplines.

Bethany Edwards of Belton at Lamar University
 Nathan Appleby of Belton at Texas State University
 William Macek of Salado at Texas State University

They are among approximately 25,000 students, faculty, professional staff and alumni to be initiated into Phi Kappa Phi each year. Membership is by invitation only and requires nomination and approval by a chapter. Only the top 10 percent of seniors and 7.5 percent of juniors are eligible for membership. Graduate students in the top 10 percent of the number of candidates for graduate degrees may also qualify, as do faculty, professional staff and alumni who have achieved scholarly distinction.

Central Texas College real estate courses now listed on TREC website

Central Texas College (CTC) recently announced courses in the school's real estate program are now listed on the Texas Real Estate Commission (TREC) website as qualifying courses for those seeking a real estate license. Upon completing CTC's five real estate courses, students are eligible to take the Texas real estate sales agent license exam. After completing the internship course, students can then graduate with a Certificate of Completion in business management real estate sales agent.

"TREC has always accepted CTC courses as qualified training for the licensure exam," said Angela Reese, CTC online manager/program coordinator/professor - Business Management, Business Administration and Paralegal. "Now being listed on their website makes it easy for students to find the required courses, enables students to prepare and map out a course schedule and also provides students with assurance the classes in our real estate program will give them the necessary and required training to take the state licensing exam."

The CTC courses listed on the TREC website students need to qualify for the licensing exam are Law of Agency, Law of Contracts, Principles of Real Estate I, Principles of Real Estate II, Promulgated Contract Forms and Real Estate Finance. These courses along with the internship lead to a Certificate of Completion.

"Upon completing the certificate program, students can apply these courses to earn an Associate of Applied Science degree in business management real estate specialization," said Reese. "CTC offers property management, principles of selling, a real estate internship and other related courses as part of the associate degree program. "Both programs are designed to give students an in-depth, well-rounded approach to a career in real estate."

The CTC real Estate program also includes an internship for both the certificate and degree programs. "The internship provides students real-world application in real estate," said Anthony Rodriguez, CTC adjunct real estate faculty member.

"Students will intern at a real estate agency and get a first-hand look at the job which will enable them to acquire more skills and enhance their employment opportunities. The program is designed to help students with a business plan, scheduling and prospecting and also help the student leave the classroom with a realistic plan for success. While the internship is required to complete the CTC program, it is not required for the licensing exam."
