

Drought: Here to stay?

Find out at Water Symposium

Nov. 16 at Bell County Expo

The Drought "Is it here to stay?" is one of the many topics to be addressed at the 21st Bell County Water Symposium Nov. 16 at the Bell County Expo Center.

The theme of this year's event is "Our Culture, Our Economy and our Water Use".

The legacy partners of the annual event with the Clearwater Underground Water Conservation District are the Texas AgriLife Extension Service in Bell County, the Bell County Engineers Office, and the Bell County Commissioners Court.

Due to the magnitude of the current Drought, Dr. Nielsen-Gammon, the Texas State Climatologist, will provide a very in-depth look at the current drought and the dire predictions for the coming year as it relates to the La Niña. Dr. Nielsen-Gammon is a Regents Professor at Texas A&M University, Director of the Southern Regional Climate Center, and the Texas State Climatologist.

Dr. Nielsen-Gammon grew up in Northern California and went to school in Massachusetts, receiving a Ph.D. from MIT in 1990. Dr. Nielsen-Gammon joined the faculty of Texas A&M University in 1991 and was appointed Texas State Climatologist by then-Governor George W. Bush in 2000.

Dr. Nielsen-Gammon researches large-scale and local-scale weather, climate, and air pollution, focusing on intense rainfall and droughts. He teaches weather analysis and forecasting courses, climate, climate change, and computer modeling.

Nielsen-Gammon has been asked to address the La Niña conditions in the Pacific Ocean and his predictions for a continued drought that is expected to continue into 2023 possibly mimicking the epic drought of 2011-2012. La Niña means Little Girl in Spanish or simply "a cold event." La Niña has the opposite effect of El Niño. During La Niña events, trade winds are even stronger than usual, pushing more warm water toward Asia. Off the west coast of the Americas, upwelling increases, bringing cold, nutrient-rich water to the surface.

These cold waters in the Pacific push the jet stream northward. This tends to lead to drought in the southern U.S. and heavy rains and flooding in the Pacific Northwest and Canada. During a La Niña year, winter temperatures are warmer than normal in the South and cooler than normal in the North. La Niña can also lead to a more severe hurricane season.

The Honorable Bell County Judge, David Blackburn, will welcome the day's attendees and give an update and understanding of the growth in Bell County which is a serious concern of citizens living in the unincorporated rural areas.

The first speakers of the morning will be David Collinsworth, General Manager & CEO of the Brazos River Authority, and Brad Brunnett, BRA's Lower & Central Basin Regional Manager. They jointly provide an update on BRA's Water Management Strategies including but not limited to the recent announcement of the "Belhouse Drought Preparedness Project".

Ricky Garrett, General Manager for Bell County Water Control Improvement District #1, is the second speaker. The District is a conservation district and political subdivision of the State of Texas, created under the provisions of Article XVI, Section 59, of the Constitution of Texas and operates under the provisions of Chapter 9005, Texas

Special District Laws Code, and Chapters 49 and 51 of the Texas Water Code. He will focus on the history and significance of the district as Camp Hood became Ft. Hood and now Ft. Cavazos.

Clearwater will present updated data per its most recent studies conducted and funded by the district to address many of the new understandings of the depletion of artesian pressure in the Trinity Aquifer in the most southwestern portions of our County. This issue has been discussed annually in a collaborative effort with our Legislators, County Judges and Commissioners of Bell County, other Groundwater Conservation Districts, and the geoscience consulting community in the four-county area.

Before lunch, a panel of experts will have an open discussion on groundwater demands, well construction, legal challenges, well owner concerns, and permitting by both GCDs and TCEQ as it pertains to public water supply wells.

Following a catered lunch, several other presentations in the daylong event will specifically address the following: Texas Climatic Trends and Drought Predictions for 2022 and Beyond by Dr. John Nielson-Gammon, Texas State Climatologist; Texas State Water Planning & Brazos G Regional Planning by Mr. Tony Smith, Associate Vice President, Carollo Engineers; Aquifer and You, Study of the Middle Trinity Aquifer and Its Users by Dr. Joe Yelderman, Baylor University Geosciences, and Dr. Logan Yelderman, Professor of Psychology, Prairie View A&M University, and Mr. Will Brewer, Graduate Assistant Baylor University Geosciences.

Proceeds of this tournament will be donated to the Mitchell family to help cover medical and travel expenses they endure while fighting this battle against cancer.

The tournament will be a four man scramble: $100

Highland Games, Gathering of Scottish Clans Nov. 11-13

The 61st Scottish Gathering and Highland Games will be held Nov. 11-13 at a new location...on the grounds at Thomas Arnold Elementary School on Thomas Arnold Road in Salado. Proceeds benefit Salado Museum and College Park, the 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization that has hosted the event since its inception.

This is the place to experience all things Scottish -- the skirl of bagpipes, wearing of the tartan, tossing the caber, Highland dancers, Celtic music, men in kilts, Scots shops, good eats and more.

One of the event's main features is the Clan Village, the largest gathering of Scottish Clans in Texas where members of up to 40 Scottish clans and societies will share information with visitors about Scottish history and genealogy.

The weekend begins on Friday evening when a torchlight ceremony is held on the banks of Salado Creek. The solemn ceremony recreates the coming together of the ancient Scottish clans to fight with Robert the Bruce for Scotland's freedom in 1314 at Bannockburn. The Calling of the Clans is free and open to the public and starts at 6 p.m. creek side off Royal Street just north of the museum. A ticketed "Welcome Social" follows at the Museum.

"If you want a preview of things to come on Saturday, make your way to Barrow Brewing Company Friday night after the Calling," says

Liz Patranella, co-chairman of the Scottish Gathering. "Murder the Stout, a rousing Celtic music band, will be playing at the brewery Friday and Saturday nights, as well as at the Gathering on Saturday and Sunday."

On Nov. 12, the grounds at Thomas Arnold Elementary open at 9 a.m. where activities include the Clan Village, bagpiping and drumming competitions, Scottish athletics competitions (including the Caber Toss and the return this year of the popular Hammer Throw), Highland Dancing competitions, live Celtic music, a Bonniest Knees contest, a Scottish shortbread contest, food and shopping.

One of the most anticipated events of the day is the Bands and Clans Parade that forms at Main St. and N. Pace Park Road at Noon and moves west along Thomas Arnold Road to the festival grounds. Official opening ceremonies follow with presentations and a massed bagpipe bands performance.

Spectators can stand along the route or bring lawn chairs for the parade.

Events begin at 9 a.m. Nov. 13 with the Kirkin' o' the Tartan, a traditional Scottish devotional service and continues with athletics competitions, Pipe and Drum and Highland Dance performances, Pet Costume Contest and Parade, Clan tents, live music, shopping and food booths.

For ticket information, visit saladoscottishfestival.com or call 254-947-5232.

U.S economy running at capacity; personal consumption increases 1.4%

Our dear, very old, and preferred market indicator, the S&P 500 Stock Index (SPX) turning in another stellar week as it rose 3.95% to 3901.06 on the 28th. That puts it ahead almost 9% from its recent bottom on Oct. 12, and up a whopping 74% from where it was in March of 2020, not to mention that it is 24% higher than it was three years ago. Of course, the Index is still down over 18% this year and 15% from a year ago. As always, it just depends on the timeframe you are using whether you see the market as “up” or “down.” Our other followed index, the CRSP Mid-Cap Value Index, rose to 2321.17, up just over 6% for the week, but still down 10.63% this year.

The yield on the benchmark 10-year U.S. Treasury slipped back down to 4.02% by the end of the week, and with the 2-year note at 4.41%, the traditional Treasury yield curve is still well inverted. Interestingly, the highest yield among various maturities is the 1-year note at 4.55%. That unusual condition indicates that Treasury investors believe that interest rates will rise over the next year or so to about that level but will then fall back into the 4% range, longer-term. West Texas Intermediate crude oil rose about 2.8% to $88.30 in the face of the Saudi-Russia pledge to curtail global oil supplies and push prices up but remained well below the $120 per barrel price we saw following Russia’s invasion of Ukraine.

The Economy

The economics chatter for the week centered on the Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA) report that the U.S. economy grew at a 2.6% annualized rate in the third quarter. That report sorely disappointed those who have been saying and writing that we are already in a recession and things were going to get worse quickly. Digging deeply into the report does indicate that investment in both residential and commercial structures decreased a striking 26.4% and 15% respectively in the quarter but was more than offset by a 14% rise in the value of our exports and a more than 10% rise in equipment purchases. That news dovetails well with the rise in rates for a 30-year fixed rate mortgage to over 7%. The building sector of our economy is shrinking fast, but those who bought new buildings, both home and commercial, in the recent past are stocking them with the appliances and equipment needed to put the buildings in use.

Market & Economic Update

By Jeffrey W. McClure

Critically, the biggest component of the GDP calculation, personal consumption expenditures, rose at a net 1.4% rate. That was good news from several perspectives. First it was a solidly positive number, particularly considering that inflation has already been subtracted from it. Second, it rose at a slower rate than it was rising in quarters before the pandemic. That slower rise in spending is consistent with domestic economic growth returning to a more normal rate, and thereby has the potential to dampen inflation. Another important number in the report indicated that disposable personal income was rising at an annual rate of 6%. In short, people have more money to spend but are not spending it all. That they have more income means that an economic crisis is not at hand. That they are saving most of the excess cash flow, suggests again that inflation may have peaked and that the cushion against a downturn is solid.

With all the attention paid to the Commerce Department’s, BEA GDP report, the Labor Department needed to say something important too, so they released their quarterly employment-cost-index change. The cost of employing a worker rose at an annualized rate of 5% in the third quarter. Unfortunately, the job of the federal reserve is to lower that annualized rise to about 3.5% or less so that the increased wages don’t continue to drive prices up. The good news is that wages did not rise as fast in the third quarter as in the second, so we are moving in the right direction as the number of job openings relative to job seekers declined.

There were two major take-aways from those reports. First, the U.S. economy is running at or near capacity and has a lot of momentum, so it is a long way from approaching anything that looks like a recession. Second, the Fed will almost certainly raise short-term rates another 0.75% in November as they move to moderate U.S. economic growth back down to a level that is consistent with its 2% annual inflation goal. It does appear though that the voting members of the Federal Reserve Board are likely to slow their interest rate increases and may even pause or halt them around the end of this year. Moody’s continues to forecast a “soft landing” in 2023 and we tend to agree. The wild cards are in the hands of the leaders of Russia and China though. Further COVID lockdowns in China or some dramatic escalation of the Ukrainian war could easily upset things. It is likely to be bumpy in the near future, but we continue to be reasonably optimistic.

SMS Seventh graders travel back in time to King Arthur’s Camelot

On Oct. 14, the seventh grade students at Salado Middle School traveled back in time to King Arthur’s Camelot to test their skills as knights, ladies, kings, and queens during a Medieval Festival. Students have been exploring the traditional adventure stories of King Arthur in their Reading Language Arts class and learning about traditional characters and plots in adventure stories and legends.

Students participated in many courtly pursuits, including jousting, horse racing, sword fighting, a STEM (Science Technology Engineering and Mathematics) challenge to build a catapult and storm a castle, weaving flower crowns, wrestling, hammer throwing, archery, and games from the time period. Teams of students competed under the banner of a famous knight such as Sir Lancelot, Sir Gawain, or Sir Galahad. Parents and community members donated supplies for the festivities and volunteered to help the citizens of Camelot have a royal time!

Thank you to all of the employees, parents, and community members that helped organize and implement this great experience for our students: Jon Gardner, Jared Cruddas, Jenna Perkins, Brent Rechtfertig, Jada Kornegay, Garrison Rafay, Katey Ewton, Tracy Brantley, Rick Maruffo, Blaine Koester, Tyler Bearden, Angela Sitz, Scott Bates, Becky Niebuhr, Stephanie Harris, Blake Vajjert, Mark Humphrey, Silvia Villarreal, Migdalia Burgos Torres, Kaleigh McDaniel, Laci Gunter, Joe Brown, Laura Rechtfertig, Emily Tubbs, Sandi Torres, Shelly Richey, Ashlen

Texans fear of losing access to water is already here

By JEREMY B. MAZUR

An aging water main snapped in Odessa. Drought conditions decimated groundwater supplies to the town of Concan. Millions of Texans lived without water for days when complications from Winter Storm Uri left household taps dry. The eighth annual Imagine a Day Without Water was earlier this month, too many Texans have already been forced to endure this reality.

A toxic mix of drought, extreme weather and failing infrastructure has drained water supplies and inflicted financial damage. Severe drought in a hotter-than-normal summer cost farmers and ranchers over $2 billion in economic losses.

Texans are worried about their water supplies and the condition of their water infrastructure.

Recent polling by Texas 2036 — a nonpartisan policy think tank — found that nearly nine-out-of-ten Texas voters are concerned about their community’s access to water during a drought. In turn, 82% agree that the state should increase investments that expand our water supply portfolio to include new reservoirs, desalination plants and water conservation strategies.

But Texans’ water worries go beyond the need for water supplies in a drought-prone state. After stories of catastrophic water system failures in Odessa, Laredo and even Jackson, Mississippi, concern grew around our aging, deteriorating water infrastructure. In fact, our Texas Voter Poll found that 84% of voters support the Legislature’s creation of a new fund to fix our broken-down water systems.

Astonishingly, as drought gripped Texas throughout the year, more Texans support fixing our failing infrastructure than building new water supplies. Texans are correct about this investment priority.

The American Society of Civil Engineers awarded our drinking water infrastructure with the lackluster grade of a C- due to aging systems, leaks and neglect. Our wastewater infrastructure rates poorly with a D. Other surveys conducted by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency reveal that billions are needed over the next decades to refurbish our dilapidated water systems.

Here’s where Imagine a Day Without Water comes in. This national day of action brings together communities and policymakers to advance greater and more equitable water investments. Given the need — and voters’ interest — to fix known problems with our infrastructure, the Texas Legislature has an opportunity to act when it meets next year.

Thanks to record high sales tax and oil and gas tax revenues, lawmakers will have a projected $27 billion budget revenue surplus. Polling data shows that while voters favor spending this windfall on education, tax relief and the electric grid, they also support investments in water.

Texas voters have already approved a fund for building more water supplies. We can build on this forward-thinking investment strategy by establishing and capitalizing a new fund dedicated to fixing our aging, deteriorating and leaking infrastructure. This fund should be aligned with smart policies oriented towards identifying water systems that are failing or at-risk of failing, forging better outreach to areas with water problems, and structuring regional solutions where communities work together.

Texans have learned hard lessons about what a day without water can be like. It’s a desperate, dirty, miserable experience that ruins economic prosperity and community vitality. As specters of drought and failing infrastructure continue to haunt our state, the opportunity exists during the next legislative session to implement meaningful changes for the betterment of all.

Mazur is a senior policy advisor at Texas 2036.

New Life Methodist Church of Salado formed

A new Methodist church has formed in Salado. The fellowship, New Life Methodist Church of Salado, is holding its services at the Salado Museum, located at 423 South Main Street in Salado. The museum is located across the street from the Stagecoach Inn. Worship services begin at 10:00 a.m. each Sunday.

The new church is focused on a Bible based ministry with an absolute belief in the divinity and holiness of Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior.

The new fellowship recently voted to affiliate with First Methodist Church of Temple. First Methodist will provide pastoral and other services until the new church is strong enough to become a standalone congregation. The new church has not yet named a pastor and is utilizing support from First Methodist Church of Temple and other guest pastors.

The new church also recently voted to affiliate with the Global Methodist Church denomination.

The new denomination was formed when many former United Methodist Churches began to leave that denomination over doctrine issues.

The mission statement of the Global Methodist Church is to make disciples of Jesus Christ who worship passionately, love extravagantly, and witness boldly.

The church is currently constructing a web site which will be located at NewLifeMethodistSalado.org. A Facebook page is also being created.

New Life Methodist Church of Salado invites all, regardless of one's current or past church affiliation, to attend and worship with them.

Dr. Woodcock honorably donated his body to science and will be cremated then returned to the family in the spring. A Celebration of Life for family and friends will be held in the spring.

Timothy Woodcock died on Monday, October 24, 2022, at his home.

Dr. Timothy G. Woodcock was born in upstate New York on December 3, 1954, to Gordon Hawley Woodcock and Joyce Ann Van Buren Woodcock. Timothy's family of seven moved to Ft Lauderdale, FL in 1966. From an early age, Timothy loved to take things apart and, usually, put them back together. His first science kit sparked his interest in building radios and later computers. Rumor has it that he even invented the internet (disclaimer: rumor started by his mom). He was active in Boy Scouts and mischief with friends. Timothy was never one to follow the crowd; a one-of-a-kind as evidenced by the top hat he wore in high school. After graduating from Northeast High School in 1973, he joined the Air Force as a radio repairman. Starting in 1975, he attended Florida Atlantic University where he earned a BA in physics, MS in mathematics, and a PhD in computer science. While working on his higher education, he started his career in computers and started his family with Betsy in 1980 and William in 1984. He worked at IBM as an advisory engineer from 1979 to 1998 and a software engineer at Sony-Ericsson from 1998 to 2003. In 2003 Timothy started his second career as an assistant professor at Alfred State College in western New York. From 2009 to 2019 Timothy (Dr. Woodcock) taught at Texas A&M Central Texas in Killeen where he was loved by faculty and students alike. In August 2020 Timothy was diagnosed with Lewy Body Dementia, though the first signs showed up two years earlier. This awful disease rapidly took away his ability to teach, to participate in the activities he loved, and ultimately took his life.

Timothy met his wife Dawn in 1993. Dawn was a Girl Scouts coleader with two children of her own, Rachel and Matt. Timothy's daughter Betsy was in Dawn's troop and was best friends with Rachel. They soon fell in love and became a blended family of six. The family moved to North Carolina in 1995 when IBM relocated Timothy's job there. In 2003 Timothy and Dawn moved to western NY and in 2009 moved to Salado, Texas. After twenty years together, Timothy worked up the courage to ask for Dawn's hand in marriage. They married in May 2014.

Timothy was best known for his sense of humor and for helping others. Timothy had many passions including corny puns, cooking, traveling, camping, fishing, libertarians, and taking his beloved Pinzgauer (a 6-wheel Swiss army truck) on offroad adventures. He loved hats, cats, anything with wheels, and Shiner beer. Above all, he loved his family. He enjoyed helping young people through his teaching, mentoring, and many years as a Boy Scouts leader. He was easy to love and will be sorely missed.

He is preceded in death by his parents. Survivors include his wife, Dawn Erickson Woodcock; two sons, William Woodcock, Matt Erickson; two daughters, Betsy Woodcock, Rachel Sweatte, along with his brother Jon, and sisters Candace, Kimberly, and Connie; and nine grandchildren.

Arrangements are in the care of Young's Daughters Funeral Home and Bereavement Center.

Cabin or Cottage? Yes!

By CAROL WILSON
SALADO HISTORIAN

Made of cedar and tucked away in the trees off Van Bibber Drive, the Wilton house feels much like a retreat to its owners and visitors alike.

"Even the delivery people can't find our house," says Lynne Wilton, one of the homeowners for this year's annual Holiday Home Tour. Viewing this charming and unusual house would be well worth the hunt, but we promise to make it easy for you to find on tour day, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Dec. 3.

Once residents of Colorado, Bill and Lynne purchased this 1980s-era home in 2012 and set out to transform it into their dream retirement nest. During the transformation, the couple captured the "before" look in photographs that will be on display during the tour so that people can fully appreciate the changes. The house includes a British "snug" — if you aren't familiar with the term, come and learn more.

The Wilton House on Van Bibber.

Lynne describes the style of furnishing and decor as contemporary rustic and her holiday decorating style as conservative. Don't look for bright Christmas lights and traditional trees and Santas here. A theme and prominently placed sign stating,

"Jesus is the reason for the season" sets the tone for the Wilton family during the holidays. The Historical Society is grateful to Bill and Lynne for inviting us into their home this season. Tickets for the tour can be purchased at centraltexas-tickets.com, or at the library on Nov. 26 from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. and tour day 8:30 a.m.-2 p.m.. No tickets sold at the homes.

Hickory Golf tourney Nov. 5-6

Salado Museum and College Park will host its third annual Hickory Golf Tournament Nov. 5-6 at the Mill Creek Golf Course, designed by golf architect Robert Trent Jones II.

Entry is $150 per player. A set of hickory golf clubs may be rented for the tournament for $35. Clubs can be shared with other players. A commemorative ball of the tournament in a case is $5 while a sleeve of golf balls is $40.

Tee time on Nov. 5 will be noon with dinner served after the round. Tee time on Nov. 6 will be at 9 a.m. with lunch to follow.

The golf tournament is being presented in association with the Texas Hickory Golf Association. Hickory Golf enthusiasts collect hickory golf clubs and play in social tournaments in traditional golf clothing (knickers and caps included). They celebrate the history of the game together by working to keep its traditions alive.

"I challenge our local golfers to compete in this tournament," said Dave Swarthout, executive director of Salado Museum and College Park.

Warrior Angels in Boots 5K

The second annual Warrior Angels in Boots 5K is returning stronger this year with more sponsors to support Boot Campaign on Nov. 12.

Barrow Brewing Company is hosting the race. The Veterans Day weekend event is set for Nov. 12, with registration opening at 8 a.m. It will begin with prayer by Neal Grogan, Elder at Christ Community Church, Harker Heights. Neal served in the USMC as an infantryman and in combat operations in Afghanistan. Our Nations Anthem will be sung by Jasmyn Spain and T.A.P.S. played by Doug Slauson, Pipe Major, of Silver Thistles.

Kimmie Turk, founder of Warrior Angels in Boots, said the event began when the heart-wrenching events that occurred at the Kabul airport in Afghanistan in August 2021 undoubtedly made an impact on our nation's freedom fighters, veteran community and patriots who support them.

The race route will start at Barrow and go up and down Main Street. Barrow Brewing is also offering a Zero K. Sign up for the Zero K and your registration includes a pint from Barrow Brewery. Individuals will meet at the alternate starting line and proceed at a normal clip around the beer garden to be "awarded" a Golden Ale of their choice at the finish line. This Zero K is not timed. Start time is at 10:30 a.m. All proceeds from your registration go to the Boot Campaign.

"Boot Campaign helps our military and Veterans with their physical and mental well-being," founder and organizer Kimmie Turk said. "Eighty-eight cents out of every dollar goes to someone in need and 100% of the proceeds from this 5K will be donated to them."

Opening lead — ten of clubs.

With the trumps divided 3-0, declarer had no way to reach dummy's A-K of spades for two diamond discards.

After considering the matter fully, South next tried to resolve the problem by leading the nine of hearts! He was perfectly willing to concede a trump trick to East's jack in order to create an entry to dummy's ten.

This play ordinarily would have solved South's difficulties, but East refused to win the trick! East had been taught early in life that if anyone ever offered to sell him the Brooklyn Bridge, not to buy it. To East, the nine of trump looked like the Brooklyn Bridge.

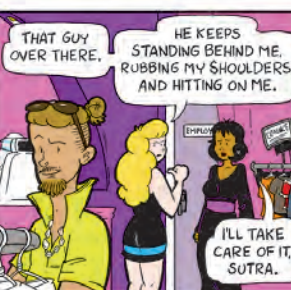

This put South right back where he had been a moment before. He thought about playing the king of trump and then leading a low diamond to the queen, hoping to find West with the king. But he dismissed this notion when he concluded that East almost surely had the king, judging from his refusal to win the previous trick.

And so, consistent with his convictions, South played still another low trump, forcing East to win with his now-singleton jack. This left East with no choice but to return a diamond or a spade, allowing South to gain entry to the dummy and make the contract.

Lady Eagles beat Lampasas in 4

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Senior Katey Bartek served an ace for the final point in the Salado Lady Eagles' four-set win over the Lampasas Badgers in the Bi-District match Nov. 1, 25-19, 27-25, 25-15 and 25-13.

Macy Morris was responsible for two of the final four points in the fourth set, spiking an assist from Ha-leigh Wilk into the setter's face to put Salado up 22-12 and blocking another shot at the net to give Salado a 23-12 lead. The Lady Badgers were able to get the serve back but Salado took the final service when Wilk gave an assist to Livia Niu to put the ball in Bartek's hands for the final service ace.

That ace launches the ladies into the Area round, where they will face the La Grange Lady Leopards, the second place team from District 22-4A that swept North Forrest in their bi-district tilt. The two face off at 7 p.m. Nov. 3 at Elgin High School

Salado came from behind to win the first set 25-19 on a seven-point run on Reese Rich's serve, which she peppered with three of her team-high nine aces, including the set-winning shot. Lampasas led by as much as five early, but the Lady Eagles kept chipping away at the lead, finally getting the lead at 20-19.

The teams fought back and forth in the second set with Salado leading by two 24-22 before letting Lampasas tie it at 24-24 and again at 25-25 before scoring the final two straight points to win the set 25-27.

Salado took the third set 25-15, taking control on an eight-point run on Rich's service to put the girls up 16-8. Rich recorded three of her team-leading nine aces on the run. Elsie Law had three kills in the run.

Salado continued to add to the lead Rich's service developed, winning easily 25-15.

The Lady Eagles jumped out to a 6-1 lead on Wilk's opening service and never let off the gas, winning convincingly 25-13.

Morris led the team in attacking the net with 14 kills, followed by Livia Niu, 10, Rich and Wilk, 9 each.

Reese had nine aces to lead the girls. Wilk led the girls with 20 assists, followed by 16 from Niu.

Fourth grade volleyballers finish season

Salado Eagle Volleyball Thomas Arnold Elementary, Fourth Grade team. This team had no coach, but fortunately for "The Ballers," Salado Dad, Josh Call, stepped in and led the girls through an incredible season. Amanda Cauffman and Kelli Easley volunteered to coach the other teams in the league. All coaches were professional and everything ran very smoothly. Madeline Rakowitz, and her mother Christy, helped teach the game rules and techniques. The Salado High School Volleyball Players helped execute the training and were referees and scorekeepers at the games. The Fourth Graders learned how to play volleyball, bonded with old friends and made new ones. "Thanks very much to Laci Gunter and to all who work on programs for Salado students," volleyball mom Emily Jones said. "Thank you SISD for the great facility and for enabling youth activities."
