

Glory to God

King James Version: The Gospel According to St. Luke, Chapter 2

1 And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

2 And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.

3 And all went to be taxed, everyone into his own city.

4 And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; because he was of the house and lineage of David;

5 To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

6 And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

7 And she brought forth her first born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

8 And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

9 And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid.

10 And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

11 For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

12 And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

13 And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,

14 Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

15 And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known to us.

16 And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger.

17 And when they had seen it, they made known abroad they saying which was told them concerning this child.

18 And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds.

19 But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart.

20 And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

21 And when eight days were accomplished for the circumcising of the child, his name was called JESUS, which was so named of the angel before he was conceived in the womb.

DOROTHY LOUISE
SKINNER HOGUE
FEBRUARY 5, 1948
DECEMBER 17, 2023

Dorothy Louise (Skinner) Hogue of Salado passed away December 17, 2023 after battling dementia for over five years.

Dorothy was born February 5th, 1948 in Spring Hill, Louisiana to James and Janie Skinner their third child and only daughter. Dorothy was preceded in death by her parents and brother William Skinner. Dorothy is survived by her husband Donald Hogue, son Justin Hogue and wife Cris of Salado, son Josh Hogue of Holland, Texas, grandsons Nicholas Hogue of Old Hickory, Tennessee, Aidan Hogue of College Station, Sean Hogue of Salado and her brother James Robert Skinner of Center, Texas.

Dorothy moved to Joaquin, Texas at an early age attended school and graduated from Joaquin High School in 1966. Dorothy started Junior College following high school where she met and started dating Donald in 1967, they were married at Joaquin United Methodist Church on August 30, 1969. She put college on hold while Donald finished college and started a career. The next ten years had nine moves and added two sons. She finished college in Ada, Oklahoma and started her career as a reporter for the Ada News. The family moved to Amarillo where she continued in newspaper as editorial writer for the Amarillo Globe News. The family moved to Tucson, Arizona where she worked as a stringer for the Arizona Daily Star, then began teaching special education in elementary school. She got teaching certifications following college graduation but never intended to become a teacher. Arizona newspapers required bilingual reporters which led to her becoming a teacher which became a passion she did not know existed. The family moved back to Texas and she work as a substitute teacher for the next twelve years in five school districts until retiring to Salado in 2014.

As a reporter in Ada, Oklahoma, Dorothy covered two high profile murder cases with books being written by John Grisham and Robert Myer. The Grisham book was his first non-fiction, but she disputed that non-fiction classification. In Amarillo she got to cover the long running dispute between the city and T. Boone Pickens. Dorothy won state wide awards in both Oklahoma and Texas for her writing.

Dorothy started teaching children's Sunday school, attending bible studies and became a Stephen Minister over forty years ago and continued until dementia started taking her away in 2020.

Dorothy and Donald were married 54 years lived in 22 houses, in 16 cities in six states. She adjusted to moving but was never a big fan as she had spent most of her life in one place prior to this. In 1980, with both sons in school, she finally had time to finish college, go back to work, start a new career, become more active in church and take care of the family. Dorothy and Donald became empty nester and in 2002 moved back to Texas to be closer to family, ending in Salado in 2014. The next six years went as expected; church activities, family activities and extended travel vacations. Then came Covid and dementia which limited us, leading to this place and time.

A memorial service will be held at Salado United Methodist Church December 27, at 10:30 a.m.

Services are under care of Broecker Funeral Home.

Stock market approaching historic high of Jan. 2022

The Markets

Last week we mentioned that the pundits had once more read their tea leaves and seemed to be mostly of the opinion that the U.S. stock market was too high and was due for an immediate fall. As we suspected would happen, the stock market, represented by the venerable S&P 500 Stock Index (SPX), responded by rising 2.5%, mostly on Wednesday, to 4719.19. That rather delightful rise in value left the Index up almost 23% this year, 32% from last October, about 22% from where it was three years ago, and only 1.5% below its all-time high in January 2022. The jump upward on Wednesday was credited to the comments made by Federal Reserve Chairman, Jerome Powell, suggesting that he was a little less concerned about either a resumption of inflation or a pending recession and the resulting drop in yield on the ten-year U.S. Treasury note. Trying not to miss out on the party, our other followed stock market indicator, the CRSP US Mid-Cap Value Index, rose 3.34% to close at 2481.75, up 6.25% this year, 14% since October of last year, but still 4.45% below where it was as 2022 began.

That 10-year U.S. Treasury note yield change that got most of the credit for the stock market gains, dropped from last week's 4.23% to 3.91% on Friday, a decline in yield of 7.6% and the lowest yield since, well, July of this year. For the short-term Treasury bills below one year to maturity, it was as if nothing happened. Their yields all remained comfortably above 5%, with the one and two-month notes holding the top spots with yields of 5.54%, annualized. Thus, the Treasury yield curve became even more inverted, and the stock markets surged upward. So much for the Treasury yield curve as a predictor of stock market performance. West Texas Intermediate crude oil (WTI) also seemed to not get whatever moved the ten-year T-note and the stock market as it finished the week at $71.74, only about 50 cents higher than last week and near the lowest price we have seen since June.

The Economy

All eyes were on the Federal Reserve Board meeting this week, where incidentally the vote went almost exactly as forecast by Fed watchers with all voting members supporting no change in rates, but there was plenty else to see if you wanted to look. For example, our beloved Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS), at the Labor Department, released its monthly volume of data on the Consumer Price Index (CPI). After not moving at all in October, the November CPI rose a seasonally adjusted 0.1%. Prices were still 3.1% higher than a year ago, but current inflation, if not dead, was at least soundly sleeping.

So, last week we got the news that we only filled about 200,000 new jobs in the U.S. last month, suggesting a slowing in, if not the whole economy, at least its rate of growth. This week, the S&P Global Flash U.S. Composite PMI (Purchasing Managers' Index) rose from last month's 50.7 to 51.0 on a scale where numbers above 50 indicate growth and below 50 economic contraction. The rise was driven by a sharp increase in new orders in the services side of the economy while manufacturing purchase managers continued to report a gradual slowing in demand.

The BLS rolled out yet another report that suggested inflation was out of style. It's U.S. Import and Export Price Index summary indicated that prices for U.S. imports decreased 0.4% in November following a 0.6% decline in the previous month. Longer-term, import prices have fallen 1.4% over the last year. Unfortunately, export prices declined too, down 0.9% for November and 5.2% in the last year, after rising 6.1% in the preceding 12 months. Because we do import a large portion of the things we pay for in the U.S. economy, import prices are an historically good indicator of future inflation.

While at home we are seeing what economists refer to as a "Goldilocks" economy in which growth is not too fast and not too slow, but just about right, the same is not necessarily true in the rest of the world. In the United Kingdom, often referred to as "England" by us less than enlightened Americans, their Gross Domestic Product (GDP) fell 0.2% between September and October. Since they do not annualize their GDP numbers as we do here, that would have been reported in the U.S., had it been our economy and not theirs, as an annualized rate of decline of 3.7%! Over in the other direction, China's economy continues to show signs of stress. Consumer prices in mainland China declined 0.5% over the year ending in November. Unlike the U.S., China's economy is dominated by manufacturing and exports, both of which fell both for the month and year with exports down 6.4% over the last 12 months.

Once again, things are looking good in the U.S. despite the steady drum beat of gloom and doom from most financial prognosticators. Inflation is running well below the Fed's objective while the economy appears to have a lot of momentum and is showing little or no sign of an impending recession.

JAN KAREN WOODS

AUGUST 23, 1955

DECEMBER 6, 2023

Jan Karen Woods, 68, of Salado, TX passed away on December 6, 2023 surrounded by her family.

Jan was born August 23, 1955 in El Dorado, AR to Dorothy Shirey and the late A.J. Shirey. "Jan Karen Shirey!" That's how her parents would call after her as she cart-wheeled down the sidewalks in her hometown, El Dorado, Arkansas. This curly headed little thing could be a whirl. She weighed 29 pounds in the 1st grade, but everyone learned big surprises can be found in small packages.

She was no shrinking violet then or anytime in her life. A voracious reader with a fantastic memory, Jan would let you know where she stood on any issue- whether you agreed with her or not.

As a child, Jan was very talented. She learned to play the piano by rote as well as taking many lessons from Mrs. Kinard. She played the flute in the EHS marching band where she made tons of friends.

Jan and her brother Gregg were the closest in age and so had a special connection in their childhood. They made many memories including her helping him climb a tree to catch a raccoon one night.

Knowing her brother's love of all things wild, she generously gave Gregg a notable pet - a baby skunk that she had found. A lover of animals herself, and particularly dogs, she managed to talk her mother into allowing her to have the first Chihuahua to live in the house (a more amazing feat since FiFi slept in her bed to help with her asthma!)

When they were teenagers, Jan and Gregg took their parents' pop-up camper to Florida to go to Disney World. When they got to the campground, the management told them they could not stay because they were not married. When Jan and Gregg protested that they were siblings, the campground managers said they had heard that story before! So, they turned around and drove right back to El Dorado without seeing Disney or spending the night anywhere. Times have changed since 1973!

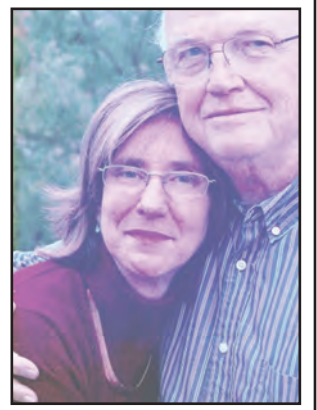

Jan Brewer was a career medical technologist, first with King's Daughters Hospital and later with the VA Hospital in Temple, TX. She was a teacher of men, raising three successful boys through adolescence and young adulthood as a single, working mother with Multiple Sclerosis. As her sons grew up and got into trouble and mischief, Jan would be their most ardent defenders while keeping them involved in the church, boy scouts, music, sports and academic tutoring. Her relentless illness was matched only by her unwavering grit and determination, and the example she would set helped inspire and galvanize her sons as well as the broader community. While continuing to work full time both as a mother and a VA employee, she went back to school and received a Master of Science from the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor. Her motto was always "keep moving forward, we make our own luck."

In 2007, with Dr. Bryan Woods, luck would indeed strike. Both Dr. Woods and Jan were both nearing the ends of their VA careers and started a budding friendship and romance that blossomed into timeless love. They were married on November 27th, 2009 in Temple, TX where they remained inseparable in their devotion to one another, the closest of friends and confidants until her passing. Jan would call Bryan her "angel", and their love made believers of angels out of everyone who knew them. With Dr. Woods by her side, Jan found eternal happiness and joy, rising above a life often filled with struggles, and set-backs. She was a devout believer in Christ and the church. She's no doubt back to cart-wheeling with her heavenly Father above.

Jan is survived by her husband, Bryan Woods; mother, Dorothy Shirey; three sons, Ryan (Lindsey), Kyle (Rande), and Paul; two grandchildren, Ava and Luca; and three siblings, Tom (Robyn) Shirey, Gregg (Lisa) Shirey, and Tonya (Rob) Lambert. She was preceded in death by her father, A.J. Shirey.

Services in the care of Broecker Funeral Home of Salado were held December 16, 2023 at St. Stephen Catholic Church of Salado. Please sign the guestbook: broeckerfuneralhome.com.

Salado on the move, part 2

William W. Reed cabin moved to Salado in 2008

A log cabin built by Bell County's first Sheriff has called Salado Main St. as its home since 2008.

Dating back to the 1850's, the two-room William W. Reed home was moved from its original site near Little River. The relocation of the historic log structure was the joint project of Tim Brown and business woman Kathryn Campbell.

Brown two years on this historic preservation project. "The cabin was deteriorating due to weather exposure and also damaged by a large tree that dropped on one end of it," he says. "Lawrence and Roberta Reed Petrie had inherited this 'double-pen dog trot cabin' and were interested in saving it." Brown explains that the term "pen" describes a room and "dog trot" is the open space in front between the rooms.

Brown completely dismantled the cabin and inventoried each piece. He then reassembled the cabin at 821 N. Main St in 2008. It housed the Salado Chamber of Commerce and Salado Tourism Visitor's Center before it was home to Axis Winery and now is the office of Quick, Inc. Land Surveying.

The cabin was built by one of the first Anglo settlers in this territory. William Reed, along with his father Michael and brother Jefferson, acquired acreage in 1834 from Land Empressario Sterling Robertson along the north and south sides of Little River. Here the Reeds began to carve out new lives on the rugged frontier.

In 1835, conflict between pioneer Texans and the Mexican government plunged the country into war, and for a time wiped out the small beginnings of colonial development in this area. The Reeds and approximately 50 other early settlers withdrew to more populated areas seeking safety from Indians and the possible incursion of the Mexican Army.

In 1836, after Texas gained independence from Mexico, Reed and other pioneers returned to establish their homes on the acquired lands. This was again short-lived due to frequent and increasingly more serious Indian attacks. From 1837-1843, this area was abandoned due to the threat of Indian attacks. In 1845, the Reeds returned to the Little River area and took up building their families homes while raising crops and cattle.

The oldest Reed son was William Whitaker Reed, born in Bedford County, Tennessee, in 1816 and emigrated to Texas in 1833. He served in the Texan army under General Sam Houston in 1836, and was part of a detachment sent to Goliad to bury the bones of Fannin's soldiers defeated there by the Mexican Army.

In 1841, William Reed married Emeline Cobb. By 1850, this family included four children, James, 9, Martha, 6, Sarah, 3, and Wilson, 6 months. Also listed in the census were 3 slaves.

In the 1840's, William Reed, his father and brothers each constructed sturdy homes of logs on their adjoining properties. These structures were built of bur oak logs cut from the bottom lands along Little River. The logs were hewed, squared, notched and arranged with the help of slave labor. Like other early homes of that period, they typically had no windows, but did have openings which could be used as gun ports. These cabins usually had one or more fireplaces used for both heating and cooking purposes. Furnishings were mostly locally constructed and included chairs built from native woods with rawhide bottoms. Animal skins provided covering for the floors and also served as blankets.

The Reeds soon would become part of Bell County, established by the State legislature in 1850 out of lands earlier belonging to Milam County. One of the first duties of the new county was to elect local officials and William W. Reed was picked as the first Sheriff of Bell County.

The William W. Reed log cabin pictured in 1936. (GEORGE W. TYLER'S HISTORY OF BELL COUNTY)

Reed Cabin

Reed served as Sheriff from August 1, 1850 to August 2, 1852. Later, he served as the fourth sheriff, from August 4, 1856 to August 2, 1858. According to historians, he was said to be a popular and efficient lawman.

William and Emeline Reed lived into their seventies and died in the early 1890's. Both were buried at the cemetery at Sunshine near their former homestead. The seven children divided the land that was owned by their parents.

A son, William Stancel Reed, remained with his father until the latter's death and engaged in farming and stock raising. After his father's death, he and his wife, the former Rachel Houston, lived in the family log cabin into the 20th century.

Afterwards, the cabin appears to have been used mainly for storage.

A photo taken in 1936 shows a piece of farm equipment parked near the front door. Tim Brown reported that when he began work on the cabin, the old plow was still there in the same location as pictured in 1936.

After sitting unoccupied for decades, the old cabin has a new life in Salado.

MANY EXAMPLES OF HISTORIC STRUCTURES SAVED AND MOVED TO SALADO

Historic minded citizens of Salado have successfully moved and preserved various structures, showcasing a commendable commitment to safeguarding its architectural and historic legacy. Notable examples include the relocation of the following structures: House on 401 Center Circle from Georgetown, the Farr House from Belton, and the Historic Methodist Church on Royal from Thomas Arnold. The Dodds Creek Bridge, once in Coryell County, found a new home thanks to the citizens proactive efforts. Other instances of successful moves include the Inn on the Creek at 602 Center Circle, the Boles-Aiken log cabin, and the Denman log cabin from the Belton area on 101 Van Bibber Rd., and the Veranda from Lampasas, now housing the First Texas Brokerage office. The Reed log cabin on 821 Main St., the Masonic Lodge 296, Band building from Belton at 112 Royal, two Salado Square buildings from Santa Anna and San Angelo. All stand as testament to the citizens commitment to preserving its historic architectural treasures from this area.

By invoking these examples, the plea to move the 1908 Old Church Place becomes a call to uphold Salado's longstanding tradition of architectural and historic preservation. The Village's proven track record demonstrates not only a capability but also a civic duty to protect and relocate structures that embody central Texas history.

Preserving the 1908 Old Church Place is not merely an investment in a building; it is an investment in Salado's narrative, a commitment to passing down a vibrant cultural legacy to future generations. As the Salado Historical Society presses forward with its efforts, Salado citizens are urged to consider the pivotal role they can play in securing this legacy, ensuring that the 1908 Old Church Place continues to stand as a living testament to Salado's pioneer rich history for years to come.

Salado defeats Lady Dawgs, 5-1

Salado Lady Eagles varsity soccer team fought for their second win of the season Dec. 12, winning 5-1 over the Copperas Cove Lady Dawgs.

The game started off strong with a banger from junior Shelby Hollywood, assisted by Leyla Peralta.

Soon after, Hollywood scored again off a corner kick from Cassie Vargas.

Then, sophomore Cade Harris scored off another corner kick from Emily Lemus.

Hollywood got slammed to the ground late in the first. This resulted in a penalty kick taken by Sydney Lange. Unfortunately, the goalie saved the kick, but let off the rebound, which Skylar Gardner quickly put away to finish the first half.

In the second half the Lady Dawgs managed to score one goal, but the Lady Eagles responded with the final point of the game once again by Hollywood from Reese Lange. "Shout out to junior Cassie Vargas for her consistently perfect corner kicks, and complete control and grace on defense," assistant coach Amy Thomas said. "We played united and seemed to connect in all parts of the game. It's only the second match in and this team is already dominating."

The JV Lady Eagle shut out Copperas Cove 6-0 Dec. 12.

The goal scoring started out with Brittany Hernandez firing one into the back of the net.

She wasn't satisfied and turned around to score another off of a cross from Georgia Sitz soon after.

Cora Thomas followed with an assist from Avery Hibner scoring the third goal making the score 3-0.

But the Lady Eagles weren't done yet.

Kenadi Smith took the ball down the side for a shot to the corner.

She then assisted Georgia Sitz to bring the game to a 5-0 lead.

Lucy Johnson finished off the night with one last goal and the girls took their 6-0 victory all while Hannah and Amirah Amani shared the shutout in goal.

"These fabulous underclassman have so much potential and talent, we can't wait to see what this young team does next," Coach Thomas said. "We are so proud of their start to the season."

The bidding:

East	South	West	North

Pass	4♥

Opening lead — nine of spades.

with the ten and draws trump, ending in his hand.

South next leads the ten of diamonds, losing the finesse to East's king. Back comes a diamond, declarer taking the ace and then the queen.

South is now at the critical stage of the play. He has lost three tricks, so he cannot afford to lose a club trick. If he follows the standard approach of leading the nine of clubs to the king and then finesses the jack, he winds up down one.

But if South is alive to the situation, as he should be, he rejects this line of play. He remembers that East passed originally and has already shown up with the A-K-J of spades and the king of diamonds. East therefore cannot have the queen of clubs, since he surely would have opened the bidding had he held that card as well.

So declarer credits West with the club queen and adjusts his play accordingly. He leads the jack of clubs at trick ten, planning to let the jack ride if West follows low. If West covers the jack with the queen, declarer wins with dummy's king, returns a club and finesses the nine to make the contract. True, South has to be lucky to find East with the ten of clubs, but this is manufactured rather than random good luck.
